As we waited I heard someone crying out and I realized that we were at the last stop for a group coming in. I watched as one by one the people flew in and came to a stop, aided by the staff. Everyone seemed to be having a great time. There were even some younger kids so I figured if they could do it, then I shouldn't have any problems. Still, as brave as I was trying to act I had to admit to myself that I was more than a little nervous. It didn't help when I read one of the brochures while we were waiting. Looking at our tickets, I saw Steve had paid $99 each for the "extreme" tour... oh great. There were twelve zip lines with takeoffs averaging 50 feet high and the highest being 65 feet. There was the typical picture wall where photos of groups were posted so they could buy them when they were finished, just like you see at many amusement parks. I saw some of the people were upside down! Well, I could guarantee that I would not be doing THAT.

Our group number was called and people started to gather in an area where the guides handed out our equipment. I took my turn on a mat while the guy gave me the once over, supposedly to size me up for the right gear but unless he was fitting me for a new bra his eyes lingered a little too long on my bust. Then again, I would've been more than a little disappointed had he NOT. What's the point in wearing a deep cut bikini top if it doesn't draw any stares? Maria had recommended I wear shorts over my bikini bottom and I quickly learned the wisdom of her advice. The straps went down between my legs and then up and under my butt, all of which would have been rather uncomfortable against bare skin. The worst thing was the helmet. It wasn't a full helmet like a motorcycle but more like a hard hat. I guess they didn't want us to bump our heads but my question was what out there that we could bump our heads against in the first place?

Once we were all outfitted, we went to a small area where we got the mandatory safety lecture. No booze, no fooling around, listen to the guides, etc. The guides seemed to be really fun though and they added some humor to keep everything from being too boring and serious.

Sitting there next to Steve, I glanced around at our group. There were twelve of us, which was apparently smaller than most groups but the guides said that would just make it easier to get everyone through. The brochure said that the minimum age was three years old but thankfully we didn't have anyone even close to that age. There was only one family with kids and they both were in their mid-teens from what I could tell. The daughter looked older which was later confirmed when they mentioned she was starting college. The other six were three couples, none of which were married. Steve proudly announced that we'd just been married the past weekend and everyone clapped and congratulated us.

One thing I DID notice was that everybody was dressed for the heat and humidity. All the guys were in shorts as were all the women. A couple of the women were already wearing their souvenir t-shirts. One was the mother and her t-shirt hung loose although you could still make out the outline of her bra underneath. The other was worn by her daughter with a somewhat different approach in that hers seemed to have been shrink-fit on and it was obvious she wasn't wearing anything underneath although she was rather small, maybe at the low end of the B cup range.

Of the others, one of the girls was wearing a tight tank top that was REALLY cut low which only enhanced her large boobs. The other two were somewhat similar to me in that all they had on was a bikini top although I was rather pleased that mine was the skimpiest. The dad gave me a few quick looks as did some of the other guys.

The first thing we had to do was climb stairs to a rope bridge leading to the first takeoff station. The rope bridge did nothing to help my nervousness! One by one we were snapped in just as we had been shown in the safety lecture, then released and on our way. We all wore heavy gloves with a large leather pad in the palm designed to wrap around the cable which became your brake.

The first line was rather short and not too steep, obviously intended to get you accustomed to the routine and gain some confidence. I went before Steve so he could be behind me.

Talk about cool! I loved the feel of the air against me as I went flying down under the canopy of trees. I probably slowed down too soon but at least I didn't stall the way one of the girls did and the guide had to pull himself out to her and get her started again.

The second line was twice as long and a lot steeper. My heart was racing as I was FLYING through the jungle, my hair streaming out behind me. Steve came in close behind, having gained ground along the line.

"Wow, that was wild!" he exclaimed as he cleared out the way for the next person coming in, making our way to the stairs that took us up to the next platform. "So what do you think, is this cool or what?"

As we approached the head of the line, one of the guide came to Steve and asked if we wanted to do the next one together. Steve didn't hesitate to say yes so when we got to the platform the guide had Steve hook up first. Then with him hanging down with his knees bent the guide had me straddle him as he hooked me up.

"Just ride him like you do at home," the guide teased us, winking at one of his fellow guides. I grabbed the cable and bounced on Steve's lap. "Like this?" I teased them back and they just laughed.

With my legs wrapped around my new husband and my arms around his neck, we were given a push and off we went. Steve kissed me for about half the trip and then focused on the end to make sure we didn't go crashing into the platform.

"Hmmmmmm, do you guys do private tours" Steve asked the guide who had joke about me riding him. The guide just laughed but then he didn't say no either.

Now THAT might be interesting should we ever get back here again with more time options.

The guides told us that Line #4 was the shortest one on the tour but it was almost one of the steepest, meaning that everything had to be done by the book. He was right. As I was hooked up I looked down the line and it seemed to me it went straight down but as it turned out I was getting into it by then and I went screaming down like a rocket. The guide caught me at the end with a big grin on his face.

We took a brief break before the fifth line. This time one of the other guides asked Steve if he wanted to go down upside down. Well, he didn't have to ask my guy twice. Steve handed me the camera and told me to go first and then get a good shot of him as he came in. When I go down I turned as quickly as I could with the camera ready to go. Oh my god, he was insane! Sure enough thee he was hanging upside down from the cable. Right next to him was the guide which made sense since Steve couldn't reach the cable to control himself. There were hooked together so it wasn't like they had to hold onto one another. Steve was whooping it up and laughing as they came in and I got some great shots.

As we approached the next line Steve kept pestering me about going upside down this time while he took the photos. I told him he was insane but he kept after me the entire way up the stairs. The guide who had gone with Steve said he would take me and that it was perfectly safe, something he did all the time and hadn't dropped anyone - yet. They both laughed at the poor joke but it wasn't all that funny to me.

Steve was ahead of me but I wasn't paying much attention to him as two guides worked to get me set up. First one of the guides got ready and then the other connected me right in front of him and told me to just relax. Yeah right. I squealed like a little girl as he grabbed my legs and flipped me around until the first one grabbed me by the waist and help me as we started off down after Steve.

OH MY GOD!

At first I just closed my eyes but that just made it worse. The ground seemed like it was at least a mile below me as the scenery flew past us. My boobs were handing down and I thought any second they were going to come flopping out but somehow the bikini top maintained its grip. My legs flopped back over the guides shoulders so he ended up with head right in my crotch. At the moment I didn't care - just so long as he didn't let me go.

I felt us slowing down and just before we got to the platform the guide somehow flipped me around so I came in head-up. Steve was taking as many pics as he could, laughing and pointing at me as he encouraged me to relax.

I thought I might never relax again.

"I'm going to kill you," I said through tight lips as they undid me. I was only half-teasing. My heart was thumping like it was trying to burst from my chest like some alien movie as my hair was a total wreck. My top was twisted with one boob half out as I tried to adjust it back while it seemed everyone was staring at me.

"Oh crap Kelly... you should have seen your face!" Steve went on between laughing.

Then he turned to the guide who had come down with me saying, "Enjoy the view between my wife's legs?" At first the guide looked stricken but then Steve whacked him on the back with a, "Just kidding... no sweat."

Well, we were half-way through the tour after being out for over an hour. Wow, this was a lot more than I had ever expected it to be. I had figured a few quick runs and it would be over but this was turning into quite the adventure.

Steve spoke to one of the guides who let the rest of the group pass us so we would be last. I was thankful at first as I thought he was doing it to give me as much time as possible to calm down. Once I got my breath back it wasn't so bad. Just goes to show you can adapt to most anything given enough time.

"I want you to go first this time," he said as we waited. It seemed to be taking longer this time.

Evidently someone up front must be having problems of some sort. There was one couple with a really dippy girl who never could seem to get the hand of the hookup. It was like she never learned from one platform to the next.

"Ready for some fun?" Steve asked with a mischievous smile. Uh oh.

"No more upside down or anything crazy," I protested, "You can do whatever you want but once was enough for me."

"That's not what I meant," Steve smirked, "I want some shots of you flashing your boobs."

"Steve!" I pretended to be offended, "And what if someone else sees my boobs?"

"Yeah, like THAT ever worried you before," he teased. OK, guilty as charged. "Besides, everyone else will be behind you."

Well maybe everyone in our group but there were always two guides at the rear to keep an eye on things and help the last person to get hooked up. When I pointed that little detail out to him it just seemed to make him all the more determined.

"Oh come on, they've all been staring at your tits all day. Give the poor guys a sample."

Good ol' Steve, he knew just what buttons to push.

After everyone else had gone down the line, Steve stood by as they connected me. He said something to the guide who started to shake his head but Steve seemed insistent until finally the guide shrugged and turned to me.

"He wants us to make it so you face backward," he explained. "You have to be careful and watch him so you know when to start slowing down."

I wondered if he had any idea WHY Steve wanted me to go down that way. Well, if he didn't he was about to find out.

"Take your time babe," Steve said as he got himself connected so he could leave as quickly as possible after me.

With the heavy gloves it wasn't easy to pull up my bikini top but I ended up using my thumbs to slide it up and over my boobs as Steve had his camera ready, capturing as much as possible. It felt so naughty to be going through the jungle with my boobs out in the open with just Steve seeing me. Well, Steve and two guides who were rapidly fading away as I went down the cable.

All too soon Steve motioned for me to pull my top down. Crap, I couldn't get a grip on it with the cumbersome gloves! My hands kept sliding off the thin bikini top, getting it just down over my nipples but nowhere close to covering my entire bust.

"Kelly, forget it, you have to slow down!" Steve called out to me urgently. Oh well, it would just have to be good enough. I reached up with my right hand and gripped the cable, feeling the heat buildup even through the heavy leather strip that was fit into the palm.

The guide at the receiving end grabbed me by the waist as I entered the platform. Quickly I dropped the gloves and adjusted the top but not before I'm sure he got an eyeful. Oh well, not like he was complaining. Steve was there in just a few seconds holding up the camera with a huge grin.

"You gotta see these," he said breathlessly.

We moved over to the side as he switched the camera to review mode and showed me the photos he had just taken. Well, it was something for the personal version of our honeymoon album!

The guide who had caught me took his turn at the end of the line while the other raced to the front. They switched around at each platform, I guess so as not to get bored.

"Would the two of you like to go down together on the next one?" he asked. He pointed ahead and I saw one of the other couples doing that very thing. Well, if they could do it I didn't see any reason why we couldn't, especially if we stayed at the end of the line.

"You thinking what I'm thinking?" Steve whispered to me. It didn't require me to be a psychic to figure THAT out. I quickly reached down and patted him once between his legs. Yep, it was easy to know what he was thinking.

The guide helping us recommended we go down with Steve facing forward and me basically sitting his lap facing him. It was a position I was quite familiar with! It was a little awkward but soon we were on our way.

"Steve!"

My new husband was groping me right in the middle of the jungle while sliding down a zip line in front of people we'd never met before. Granted, wearing those heavy gloves made it almost comical, not to mention a little rough on my skin. It was one of those cases where WHAT he was doing was more sensual than HOW he was doing it.

It only lasted for about fifteen seconds before he had to reach up for the cable to slow us down. My only regret was we should have arranged for one of the guides to photograph us!

Now that we had the position figured out and rehearsed, it was my turn to take the initiative.

"Can we do that again?" I asked the guide. He smiled and assured it that it was just fine with him. The sly grin on his face revealed his ulterior motives but it didn't matter to me. Heck, he would never see us again so what did it matter?

"Do I really have to wear gloves if we are connected together?" I asked once he agreed to my first question. That grabbed Steve's attention as he looked at me curiously.

The guide debated for a second and then asked one of the older guides. The second guy came to us and informed us that the safety rules required that people always wear their gloves. Seeing the dejected look on my face, he grinned and then added, "But sometimes mistakes happen, you know?" He elbowed Steve in the ribs and raised his eyebrows, the grin never leaving his face.

I took off my gloves and handed them to one of the guides. Finally it was our turn to go and by then I was feeling horny as hell. If I REALLY had my druthers we would just stay and fuck on the platform. The guides could watch... heck the way I was feeling they could do me! This time we had the routine down pat. The moment we left the platform my hands went straight down to between my legs where Steve's shorts were unzipped and waiting for me. Clever boy!

"Can you cum in ten seconds?" I joked as I grabbed his dick through his shorts.

"Just about," he groaned as we flew along, oblivious to the beautiful scenery below us.

Needless to say, there weren't that many option given the situation and the short time period we had but it was one of those "make a memory" moments.

"OK, we're almost there," he said and I could hear his glove gripping the cable. I didn't react but instead kept my hands inside our legs.

"Kelly! Now!" he said a little more urgently as we slowed down.

Even before we had taken off I had made up my mind that I wasn't going to let loose of him until I absolutely had to and by that I mean physically had to. I didn't care who saw us. What difference did it make? Maybe I was being selfish but I wanted something that we could share for the rest of our lives.

"You're crazy," he laughed as I felt hand grab me from behind once we were over the edge of the next platform.

Only then did I release my grip on him as we stood up. Steve's dick was sticking out from his shorts and I got a kick how the guides all turned their eyes. Well, no gays were here today. Steve quickly pushed his stiff cock back inside his shorts and zipped them up.

Nobody said anything but I felt rather pleased with myself. I could just imagine the laughs we would have someday when we were older and recalling our wild younger days. It wasn't like we'd be caught having sex.

After that we just rode the next line down without any horseplay. The guides looked noticeably disappointed! I wondered if they had hoped that maybe we would up the ante a little with each line but there was a limit to how far you can go hanging from a cable fifty feet above the ground.

It was the next to last line and for all practical purposes the last good one as we had learned the last one was pretty short. The big question faced us - what could we do after all we'd done so far? I really meant it exactly that way - what COULD we do? The physical limitations were real and maybe if we were a circus act there might have been more options but for now I could only think of one. Somehow I didn't think anyone would object...

"What would you do to get me to go totally topless?" I asked Steve with a naughty grin. "I mean, I'll give you my bikini top so I can't cheat."

Steve stroked his chin thoughtfully, overplaying it a bit but that was OK.

"How about I fuck you all night when we get back?"

I giggled and answered, "You're going to do that anyway so what else?"

He didn't say anything right away of I gave him my offer. "What do you say we stop at Playa del Carmen on the way back and you buy me any dress I want?"

He said yes so fast it made me wish I'd upped the stakes even more as no doubt he would have agreed to anything.

"But we need to do something about the rest of the group," I mused.

"I've got that," he said and then went up a couple of steps to the guide ahead of us. I couldn't hear what he said but then they both looked back at me grinning and I figured whatever it was they had something worked out.

"We're set," Steve said when he returned, "They're going to make sure the rest of the group has moved on. You'll have to bare it all in front of the guys though. I assumed that would be OK."

I just rolled my eyes. He could be so silly sometimes but that was one reason I loved him so.

Finally we were next in line. Usually you would go when the person in front of you was about half-way down but this time we stood there until everyone had traversed the span and were climbing up to the next takeoff platform.

"I'll go first," Steve offered, twisting around in the harness so he could look behind him as he went. He had the camera on his lap with the strap around his neck in case he lost his grip. I'd hate to have to find that camera in the thick jungle below us.

"OK, hand it over," Steve said, holding out his hand.

I reached behind my back and undid the tie, then worked the bikini top up and over my head which wasn't as easy as it sounds with the harness on. Steve grinned as he took it from my hand and stuffed it in his front pocket.

"So what do you guys think of my new wife," Steve asked proudly as I stood there topless.

They all just smiled and I think they weren't sure what to say. That was OK with me, the expression on their faces wrote a book. For a brief moment I imagined all the possibilities if we just stayed there on the platform but those thoughts were interrupted when Steve took off.

I was ready to go as soon as he left such that only about fifteen feet separated us. I held my hand up on the cable with a loose grip so my boobs were on display as much as possible while Steve had the camera going non-stop. Even in the heat the breeze felt cool against my boobs and I could feel my nipples instantly reacting.

All too soon we reached the end of the line. I reached for my bikini but Steve pulled it back just before I had it.

"Maybe you should just stay that way," he taunted me.

"Not if you want to get laid tonight," I warned him, holding out my right hand with my left on my hip in my most demanding pose.

"Here you go then," he said, tossing it back to me.

Holy crap, I missed it and my heart skipped a beat but the guide next to me grabbed it before it feel to the ground. He handed it to me while taking in a good look at my boobs. I worked it back on and we rushed to join up with the rest of the group.

"Last line!" the lead guide called out.

This time we would be going almost all the way to the ground so it would be steeper than any of the previous ones but it was also shorter so we couldn't build up too much speed. Before I knew it we were on the ground. Looking at my watch, it had been almost three hours!

Following everyone else, we returned to the equipment center and removed our harnesses and handed in our helmets and gloves. We thanked the guides and I saw Steve hang back to tip the guides. They'd certainly earned it!

We were led to the lunch area where they served us while we all rested. Sitting down, I suddenly realized how tired I was. Dang, that was a lot of work! Still, I wouldn't have wanted to miss any of it. As we were eating I saw people looking up and I saw a series of monitors where a slideshow was playing featuring each person in the group. I wondered how much they charged for them but that would depend on how we looked. Heck, they should have warned us when the photos were being taken so we could be sure not to be looking like idiots.

Oh... my... god! Steve's photo was the first of our to appear and I immediately knew which line where they had taken the photos - the next to last. Instead of a full head-on photo like most of the previous ones, this was more of a profile with his camera held out in front of him as he was taking photos of something. I knew exactly what he was taking them of, or should I say WHO he was taking them off.... ME!

The system was either automatic or whoever was running it didn't worry about any difference between G and R ratings. Sure enough, mine came up next and I heard a few gasps in the lunch area.

"Hey dad... look!" I heard the kid who'd been up in front with his family.

Sure enough, there I was in all my topless glory, a huge grin on my face as I zipped through the jungle wearing just a harness and my shorts.

"Now THAT'S interesting," Steve chuckled. I didn't know whether to be embarrassed or turned on. It was like everyone had turned to look at me but what could I do? I just shrugged my shoulders and lifted my hands up with a "whatever" expression.

"I've GOT to buy that one," Steve said as he got up to hustle to the desk where they sold the photos. I followed him and all of a sudden it was like the counter got a lot more crowded.

"I want the girl in the last one," I hear someone asking.

My eyes widened. Would they really sell someone else's photo to him? Apparently yes as I saw him handing over a ten dollar bill with a big grin as the girl handed him a photo holder which now held a topless photo of me in it.

Steve finally got to the front of the line and asked for mine. The girl obviously didn't know he was my husband until her had paid and took the photo from her. He opened it up to check and then I heard him say to the girl, "She's my wife" as he nodded to where I was standing. The girl looked over at me and just smiled sweetly. Hmmmmmm, was this a common occurrence?

"This is so cool," he said as we headed out to get on the army truck that would take us to the cenote. Was it my imagination or was everyone looking at me as we climbed aboard?

It was a short bumpy ride to the cenote. I stripped off my shorts and stuffed them in my bag along with the photo as we followed everyone to the top of the cenote. At the edge I looked down where it looked like a miniature lake of crystal clear water. People were already swimming along the edges and then I saw someone zipping down, hanging onto a bar with his hands. Right over the middle he let go and did a cannonball into the water.

"Cool!" Steve gushed and I could see he was eager to give it a try. There was quite a line so it would be a few minutes during which I did some people- watching, one of my favorite hobbies.

We were definitely in Mexico, or at least NOT the local public pool in Pittsburgh. Nobody was nude, or at least not technically as some of the thongs were all but nonexistent. Even those girls who probably should NOT have been wearing thongs were letting their asses hang out and their boobs all but busting out of mini-bikini tops. Heck, if anything mine was conservative as there was actually some material running up the back of my butt and not just a string.

The flight into the cenote was fun but by then I'd about had my fill of zip lines. The best part was the cool water after spending several hours in the jungle heat and humidity. Being we didn't have to wait for a van or bus to collect all its passengers, we could leave whenever we wanted so after Steve took a second run we decided we'd better get going as we had a long trip ahead of us... not to mention some shopping. I wasn't going to let him off from his promise!

7. Did I Mention I'm in Love?

After spending the week in mostly rural areas, Playa del Carmen was like New York City. The traffic was horrendous and I was scared to death we would get in an accident after hearing horror stories of what happened to foreigners having car accidents in Mexico. It wasn't until we finally found a parking space in a ridiculously expensive parking lot and began walking around that I felt at ease.

This would be our last "experience" in Mexico and my husband and lover treated me like a princess. He didn't refuse me anything, not even when I picked out the most beautiful (and expensive) dress in this perfect little boutique shop tucked away from the main drag. We had some drinks, bought some silly souvenirs and grabbed a bit to eat at what looked to be a safe restaurant. I don't think we separated the entire time, walking everyone holding hands or our arms around the other. We must have stopped to kiss a hundred times!

The trip back was fairly uneventful. Both of us were tired and had it not been for the tight suspension of the Jeep I would have fallen asleep long before I actually did. It wasn't until the Jeep lurched into a pothole on the final road to the inn that I woke.

"Have a good time?" Maria asked, offering us food which we politely refused. I started to tell her a bit about our day when Steve reached into my bag and pulled out the photo holder.

"No!" I said firmly but he just brushed my objection aside. He handed the holder to Maria who looked at me and then slowly opened it. A smile came to her face and she shut it again.

"Well, I guess you DID have a good time."

Understatement of the day.

We made our way back to the cabana where the soft glow of the low voltage lights lit the curtains of our neighbors. They would stay on a few more hours before the power was cut for the night. Steve shut the door behind us and then we turned and embraced one another, kissing passionately, our hands all over the other.

Suddenly I burst into tears. Our honeymoon was almost over!!!

"Oh Steve, I love you SOOOOOO much," I sobbed into his shoulder. He pulled me in tight and just held me against him, the strength and warmth of his body making me feel so secure.

I looked up into his eyes and traced my fingertips along his cheeks and forehead and then along his lips. He needed a shave but I didn't care.

"Make love to me Steve... oh darling make love to me like you never have before."

That night on the beach my husband made love to me in the same place where we did the first night we'd arrived only this time it was even better. We had been through so much this past week, spending more time than ever before in such a short time. As much as I knew I had loved him before, now it was deeper than anything I had ever imagined.

How many times did I cum? I know HE came three times. Eventually we made our way back to our cabana and slipped into bed together. I felt fulfilled, loved, so happy. It was almost scary. How could it ever get better than this?

The next morning we made love one last time before breakfast and then there was the long drive back to the airport. I watched as the scenery passed by, trying to take it in as much as possible, trying to drive every detail into my memory.

As we boarded the plane, I looked one more time back into the terminal and said a little goodbye to Cancun. Funny, I'd been here before and left from almost the exact same gate yet this time was so different. I looked at Steve ahead of me and smiled as I quickened my steps to join him.

Our honeymoon was over but something told me the best was yet to come!

Did I ever mention I love my husband?

(Sep 23) Chapter 238: Our First Married Swap

Story codes: MF oral exhib
   Me (26)
   Steve - my husband (28)
   Leon (26) & Tamara (23)

It was really all my husband's idea. Before Steve asked me to marry him I'd always assumed I would be faithful to my husband once I wore his ring. There was only one minor problem with those plans - he didn't want me to be! We'd fooled around with other couples during our engagement but this would be the first time since we'd said our vows that we had sex with people outside my family.

1. Adultery or Not?

How do YOU define adultery? People have asked me that question so many times that it got to the point where I wrote an entire article on it so I won’t repeat everything here.

For those not wanting to take the time to read it, to summarize the article I would say that adultery is defined as the act of sexual intercourse by a married person with someone who is not within their marriage family AND without the knowledge and consent of their spouse. Thus by definition adultery requires two elements, both of which must be present to be found “guilty”: the ACT of sex and the INTENT to cheat. Given that sex is defined as the penetration of a penis into a vagina and it doesn’t matter how far in it goes, even just the tip counts. Thus things like blowjobs, pussy eating and such aren’t legally acts of adultery (not to say that is any consolation to their spouse).

Another important thing to keep in mind is that incestuous sex is by definition NEVER adultery as it is sex within a marriage (incest being further defined as sex within your immediate family - both sides, out to a first cousin). Cheating means keeping it a secret from your spouse unless it’s incest in which case the spouse gave blanket “permission” the moment they said, “I do.”

Admittedly anyone who has been reading my diary over the years would say that this view of adultery is NOT what I've preached in the past and they would be entirely correct. My mother raised me to believe certain things which I absorbed as if they were etched into stone tablets, just a most kids do. However, events of the past few years have caused me to reevaluate the wisdom of some of the things she taught me, the issue of adultery being one of the biggies. That shouldn't surprise anyone as it's only natural for a child to reach the age where they have to make their own decisions and create their own morals and belief systems so I make no apologies for any changes I may have made in mine over the years.

When it came to adultery my mom had it down plain and simple - sex outside of marriage was adultery, no questions, no options, no excuses or rationalizations. Adultery is condemned by the Ten Commandments and thus she considered it a mortal sin. It didn't matter to her what the circumstances, the intent or anything else for that matter. It was because of the adultery aspect that my mom considered swinging as being immoral and an affront to her marriage vows she'd made to her husband, her family and especially to God. It didn't matter that my dad would have been perfectly OK with it as God's will trumped her husband's.

Yet as black and white as my mom was on the issue, even she made a couple of exceptions over the years although they both involved my dad and not her. If there's one thing I can say for my mom, she remained true to her beliefs until their divorce was settled. On the other hand my dad was a man and as such he had needs and feelings he was unable to control at certain times, just as all men do. As a result there were two women that he had sex with that my mom considered adulterous acts.

Interestingly they both involved best friends - my best friend Beth and my mom's best friend Tammy. In both cases my mother was fully aware of everything and while I can't say she was happy about either one, she didn't stop him either. The only thing that kept their marriage intact was her stretching her definition of "family" to include "as good as being in the family." If anything she set an example for me as to how a wife is to submit to her husband whenever possible, even if it means having to bend a little in the process.

Growing up I had every intention of emulate my mother's examples, even when it came to her restrictive feelings about adultery. Thus in my heart I'd long accepted that I would not have sex outside of marriage once I took my vows. Fortunately since “marriage” means “family” that meant that I could still please my dad as that was incest and as I stated earlier, incest cannot be adultery.

If you ask me it should be obvious to anyone why incest is never adultery as it would be just wrong for me to stop submitting to my own father and I can't see how God would ever want that to happen. Even so, as a result I knew that once I was betrothed that there would be a drastic reduction in the number of sex partners that I’ve become accustomed to over the years. True, blowjobs would still be allowed and I LOVED giving those but face it, sucking a dick isn’t the same as feeling one in you.

After Steve proposed to me, we had a lot of discussions over how things would be in our marriage. Of course the majority of those discussions had nothing to do with sex but it was still an important topic. Given my mental preparations regarding sex after marriage you can imagine my surprise when he confessed to me that he fully expected us both to continue having sex with other people after marriage! I would’ve been thrilled had he wanted to get involved with incest but Steve wasn’t interested in incest with his own family in any way. In fact, he wasn't exactly thrilled about me and my dad although he supported me as he knew how important it was to me to maintain my obligations as a daughter. Instead he wanted us to have sex with people outside our marriage which was in direct contradiction with my long-standing beliefs regarding adultery.

When you love someone as much as I loved Steve, you don’t just throw everything away because a speed bump appears in the road. God wouldn’t have brought us back together again just to let us split up over one issue so I knew there had to be something I was missing. Since we were only engaged and not married yet, I agreed to try swapping with him and see how things went from there. At best it was a delay tactic as I knew sooner or later I would have to make a decision as there was no way I could marry someone and not have something this important still on the table. For the next few months we met with some other couples and needless to say, I had some really good times. Still, there is a lot of sin being committed today by people just “having a good time” so that didn’t make it right either. Something had to be resolved.

There seemed to be no way out so finally I ended up discussing the problem with the one person I could always bring anything to - my mother. My mom is not just my mother; she is my best friend, confidante, and at times even my lover. Who was the first person I told after losing my virginity? My mom. Who was my first girl to have sex with? My mom. So who else would I go to in order to bring this issue to a head once and for all? Of course it had to be my mother.

In some ways I suppose I went to her assuming she would reaffirm her beliefs and tell me that I had to either change Steve's mind or hand back the ring. My mom was pretty flexible in many ways but there were a few steadfast rules and beliefs that were beyond compromise so far as she was concerned and adultery was one of them. So you can imagine my surprise when she started to question her own beliefs after seeing how they eventually led to her divorce. Of course my dad's desire to have sex outside marriage was not only reason they split or even one of the major reasons but it was a contributing factor.

It was through these discussions that my mom and I came to the agreement that it wasn't so much the ACT of sex that defined adultery but rather the INTENT behind the act. Just as my dad having sex with our best friends turned out to be just fine, it was only because his intent at the time was not to cheat on my mother but to simply enjoy himself. Needless to say, adding in the "intent" factor when it came to determining if something was adultery changed things significantly.

So now I'm married which should tell you that I got it all worked out. Many people have asked and I suppose with high expectations but from a pure sexual point of view not a lot has happened or changed since our ceremony. It's not like anyone was under the delusion that I was a virgin at the altar although I doubted a number of my guests had no idea by what margin I was NOT a virgin. Granted, in the month since we've been married Steve and I have had a lot more sex than before but that's mainly due to the fact we now live together so there's more opportunity. In fact, we've had so much sex that other than taking care of my father's periodic "needs" I haven't had sex with anyone besides my new husband since our wedding ceremony. It's not that I have anything against such things. It's more the lack of opportunity as in addition to taking care of my husband I've been so busy with school starting and such that we haven't been going to parties lately either.

While things have been pretty much status quo for me, my new husband has already taken advantage of his blanket permission to be with anyone in my family he desires, anytime he wants. It's not that he couldn't before - and indeed he did, but it just seems different somehow now that we're married. He especially likes to be with my Aunt Linda and in fact he's has met with her numerous times while I've been at work teaching. As a realtor it's child's play for her to find free time and sometimes I know he has even meet her at a house while she was showing.

What I find interesting about my husband’s attraction to my aunt is for a guy who is technically a pedophile, for whatever reason he is much more drawn to my older aunt than to her daughter. This drives Kristi nuts of course which I sometimes suspect is part of his plan. Oh well, it doesn’t really matter to me so long as he’s happy.

Sooner or later I knew things would change, it was just a question of when and who.

2. Getting in Touch

It was almost a month after our marriage and so far we had not done anything with regards to having sex with others, at least outside our new marriage family. Steve mentioned it a few times but it was like more in passing than anything concrete. Still, knowing my husband as well as I do I had no illusions that he wasn't thinking about it when we would pass by a pretty girl or we’d get together with other couples.

In a way, I guess it was because now that we were married, it was like everything we had done before was put into the past and we reset the clock when we each said, “I do.” Just as having sex with my new husband became something new and special – I learned the true meaning of “making love” during our honeymoon, so I expected our first time with other people to be new and unique and special as well. Thus we weren't rushing into anything although I knew he was pretty active when it came to checking out the profiles for the swap group we had joined soon after our engagement last November.

When it comes to the swap group Steve normally handles all the details but I’m pretty much aware of the general arrangements. When he signed us up it was like having to get an Ultra Top Secret clearance or something from a spy novel. There was the typical questionnaire which was then followed up by personal interviews with the people who managed the group – together as a couple and then each of us separately. No, there was no “audition” required, that only happens on porn sites! Everything was handled professionally and confidentially.

Once we were informed that we’d passed the initial interviews, Steve had to submit all sorts of personal information about each of us – a lot more than I was comfortable with but the site claimed that it was needed to run credit checks and other security checks. Imposing warnings told us to be truthful up front about everything because if anything bad showed up and it looked like we'd tried to hide it would be cause to have us immediately rejected and forever banned without appeal. The final step in the process was a photo and video session where we had to turn in various types of photos ranging from the everyday "family" portrait style to full nudes. At least we didn't have to record us having sex as I would have drawn the line at that!

Even after all that we were only granted anonymous access to the group web site. No actual names or personal information was available, just member photos (non- nude only) and personal profiles. A critical part of the personal profile was where you indicated what you wanted to be involved in - and NOT. We were sternly warned once again that falsifying this sensitive information was cause for immediate expulsion without warning. Thus if you wanted BSDM, then you had to state so and not surprise your more conservative partners after you met. It was not meant to be restrictive, just informative. Basically nothing was off limits so long as you specified it ahead of time. Some people were into simple straightforward swapping while there were some that were really out there - animals, drugs, pedophilia, slavery, BSDM, you name the perversion and someone out there was a fan.

The way the site worked was that once you found someone who looked like a potential match, then you sent in an invitation which they had to accept for things to move forward. A preliminary acceptance just opened up their profiles to allow you access to their more personal photos (including nudes) and any other information that they may not have wanted to post to the general membership. Provided everything was still with both sides, only then was actual contact information exchanged - phone number only. Real names and addresses were NEVER disclosed through the web site, not ever. If you wanted to know someone's name or address, you had to wait until you contacted them personally. It was this dedication to security that drew my attention to the site in the first place.

Sometimes I would just browse through the profiles out of morbid curiosity and not even use the search tool to filter the weird people out. There were lots of people that were intellectually stimulating as I would imagine there would eventually be times we tried out people with different ideas about sex and such. However since this would be our first time since being married we were being especially choosey. I felt like it would be like the first time I had sex, something that would always be my "first", something I would never forget.

Then one day Steve called out to me to come to the computer and take a look. “So what do you think, perfect or what?” he grinned.

Reading the screen over his shoulder, I glanced through their profile and to be honest, my first impression as that it was some kind of sick hoax. Sure the group made every effort possible to ensure the members were all who they said they were but there were always those people wanting to game the system. Reading more I had to wonder how such people could have ever gotten into this group in the first place? According to their profile they were recent newlyweds having gotten married in May which put them a few months ahead of us. They were each a couple of years younger than us with her being younger at 23 and him being my age at 26. They claimed to be Christians but I’d learned since joining that people can have very different opinions of what THAT means. No kids so at least they weren’t producing offspring prior to marriage. From their photos they looked like your average couple next door with no obvious tattoos, weird hair, or crazy clothes. What had caught Steve’s eye – and then mine as well, was the final statement in their introduction...

“We were high school sweethearts and each of us has never had sex with anyone else. In fact, we were both still virgins until Leon proposed two years ago. Now that we’re married, we want to expand our horizons without going too far overboard. We were hoping to meet with another couple similar to us that can be discrete as well as understanding in terms of our lack of ‘experience’ in such matters. Please, no party invitations or people looking for a notch in their belts. We are quite serious about this and would hope for the same from anyone contacting us.”

Wow, no wonder Steve was so worked up over them. I glanced down and noticed he was stroking himself absentmindedly with his left hand up the bottom of his shorts as I was reading. I smiled to myself as he probably didn't even realize he was doing it – a “bad” habit of his, about as bad as mine when it came to touching myself. Thoughts of my mom slapping at my hand during church suddenly slipped into my head.

“Hmmmmmm, she’s really cute,” I teased him, “And he’s not exactly bad himself.”

Indeed, she was listed as being only 5’2” and 90 pounds, a really petite little thing. She seemed to be part Asian although her features were not as sharp, probably influenced by an Asian parent mixed with a Caucasian one. Her jet- black straight hair looked to be almost down to her butt but it was hard to tell as they were sitting together in a chair in their profile photos. Both wore glasses in their photos which I found a little surprising as most people took theirs off for the camera - people like me. My guess was that they must be a lot more near-sighted than me.

“So... what do you think?” Steve asked although it was obvious he’d made up his mind already.

My response was immediate, “Go ahead and poke them.”

“Poking” was how you told someone that you were interested in them. It sent the couple an e-mail and a link to your public profile. If they were interested, they could accept your invitation in which case we would hear back with a link to their private profile and they would automatically be able to access ours (you basically were giving permission to have someone see your private profile by poking them so it wasn't something you did without due consideration. If they weren’t interested, all they had to do was reject the invitation in which case we would be notified and locked out from being able to poke them again. I guess that was so people couldn’t become “stalkers” and pester those who weren’t interested in them.

The next day Steve received an e-mail alerting us that they’d accepted our preliminary “poke”. Steve couldn't wait to check them out and by the time I got home from work he was already busy jerking off with their photo album open on the monitor. When I finally got a peek it wasn't hard to see why he was so “motivated”. By accepting our poke they allowed us to see their nude portfolio and the girl was indeed extremely petite and even cuter than before.

As with many girls with Asian genes, she may be claiming to be 23 but she was probably still being carded every time she saw an R-rated movie. Her boobs were perky but very small, A-cups most likely and that was being generous. Her figure was perfect though, obviously she was not a child as the curves were all in the right places. There was something about her poses that seemed innocent and almost a bit naïve, like she was embarrassed but still determined to go through with the photo session. She was shaved but any lack of hair was made up by that long straight hair that came down to just above the crack in her ass when she stood on her bare feet.

The guy was also good looking in the nude. It’s surprising sometimes how many people look good in their clothes but when they take them off it’s like they suddenly look all flabby and unattractive. He didn’t have the physique of an athlete but at the same time obviously took care of himself. The guy was pure Caucasian - pale skinned if anything, with short blonde hair and perhaps Scandinavian descent. Steve poked his finger in my side and grinned as he pointed out that unlike the wife, the husband was definitely NOT shaved. When it came to pushing my buttons, my new husband knew me all too well!

Looking at their photos and seeing how my husband was reacting to the nude photos of the wife, I wondered how things were going at the other end where they should be seeing us now as well. Was her husband jacking off to my nudes? Well, hopefully he was jerking off to mine and not Steve’s! It wasn't like mine would have qualified as porn shots; nothing like being on my back with my legs spread out and in the air or anything like that. Personally I considered them to be quite tasteful and I was actually a bit proud of them if I might say so myself. I wondered what she was thinking about my new husband? Steve wasn’t Arnold by any means but he was handsome and fit and that wasn’t just his bride talking but a number of my friends had weighed in as well. From what I could tell, the guys had comparable dicks so at least there wouldn’t be any silly issues about that.

“Well, I’d say I’m ready to respond,” Steve said. Looking down at his cock in his hand, it appeared to me that he already had. Oh well, I would’ve been more worried if he had NOT responded this way. Indeed, the day my husband stops wanting to jerk off at the sight of a pretty woman is the day I check his pulse!

Still I remained skeptical. Were these people too good to be real? I wasn't so concerned about them physically as I had no doubt these were photos of THEM, unlike so many other web sites. The only photos that were posted were the ones you had taken during the interviews - nothing could be submitted to be posted. Thus there was no doubt that the photos represented the people but that didn't mean the profile was true. Granted, they’d checked ours out quite thoroughly but that didn't mean someone couldn't scam the system.

It wasn't their photos but rather their story that seemed far-fetched to me. How did anyone even get find out about this group with such a background? Everyone we’d had anything to do with had been heavily involved in similar activities long before joining. Like me and Steve, we saw the group as an opportunity to expand our social network while improving our security, not to mention not having to deal with all the fakes and perverts. Way back when I belonged to Adult Friend Finder (AFF) in college I soon learned the hard way that probably less than one percent of the people on there were really who they said they were, especially the women and so-called couples. There was no way I would have even considered meeting anywhere from that site no matter how desperate I might have been.

"Hell, what do we have to lose?" was Steve's response when I expressed my concerns. "We can do dinner, scope things out, and then blow them off if they turn out to be weirdoes or whatever."

He had a good point as dinner in public was about as safe as you could get in such situations. Meeting people for the first time at their home or even a hotel room was far too risky for me, even when they were arranged through a private group like ours. It wasn't until you actually met people and started to interact with them that you really could tell who they were and what type of things they were into. For example, some people's idea of what constitutes bondage might be far different than someone else's so they may not mention they are into silk scarves holding them to the bed frame even though they checked "no" for BSDM in their profile.

So with that Steve clicked on the "Ready to Meet" button which brought up a dialog box warning that our personal contact information would be disclosed if we continued. It was just be a phone number, not our address or names, so it wasn't all that risky so long as you used a phone that wasn't listed in your name with the Internet White pages. We kept one of those throwaway phones from Wal-Mart for just such things. It was a small expense for the extra security it provided.

When he clicked on the acknowledge button that brought up an introduction form where we could write in a personal invitation to the people we were trying to meet. Steve looked at me and got up off the chair so I could take a seat. Steve might be perfectly good at dealing with most on-line stuff but when it came down to writing letters and interacting with people he knew where the talent lay in our marriage.

Straightening our my dress under me, I took a deep breath. In the past when I'd written such things it was easy but in this case I felt I needed to be more careful about my wording and approach. Assuming their story was true, they were likely to be overly cautious and nervous. I would think that the last thing they wanted was some "experienced" couple writing them and making them feel out of place.

It took just a few paragraphs for me to complement them on their wedding and state my admiration for their willingness to expand their marriage boundaries. I didn't mention anything about incest, young kids or anything else that might make them skittish as they didn't need to know about such things. I also didn't mention anything about the number of partners we'd had or anything else that would make us seem imposing or otherwise threatening. I DID emphasize that I was an elementary school teacher and a devout Christian so they would hopefully see us as being “normal” people. You can just imagine some of the invitations we’ve received. What amazes me is evidently people must respond to such crude and crass letters or why would they write them. I guess says something about the general population although I’m not really sure what.

A few days later and no response which started me to think my first instincts had been proven correct. Even though the group site was supposedly extremely secure and everyone on it had been personally vetted by the couple who ran it, there were still the occasional perverts and weirdoes who somehow managed to crash the party. It was like the ones who write me after reading my on-line diary in that most of the time they are easy to spot simply because they ARE so crude. There are also certain warning signals that flash like a neon strobe light – like when the only thing they seem interested in is getting you to accept their initial poke just so they can have access to your personal photos and video. Every now and then the clever one comes along who can still fool me – although I like to think I eventually “out” them. Was this “couple” just one of the more clever ones?

What particularly disturbed me about the possibility of them being fake was that from the beginning I’d been extremely concerned about allowing nudes of me to be posted on ANY Internet site. It was only when everyone assured me that the site was as secure as they could make it and only real people would be seeing them who had valid reasons for seeing them. Even so, I drew the line at posting photos of me having sex – alone or otherwise. I know that some people get a voyeuristic thrill from having strangers watching them doing such stuff but not me – at least not when I had no idea who was seeing them or what they were going to do with them.

A week went by, still no response. By now I’d pretty much written them off and was pushing Steve to report them as frauds. Even if they weren't interested, protocol said that they should respond to all personal invitations. You didn't have to do anything if people poked you as those were a dime a dozen. But when you responded to someone and then they invited you, common courtesy said you should at least acknowledge them and say you weren’t interested if nothing else.

Then one day I was home alone and bored so I decided to check out our profile and see if anyone had posted anything. Even though I usually left the management of our stuff to Steve, I still liked to peek in on it now and then to see what was happening. As usual, there was a ton of pokes from people wanting to meet us which I ignored. Steve could sort through those later. To my surprise there was a notification that we had an invitation waiting so I clicked on the link and there it was... from Leon and Tamara, the couple we had “poked”.

The note was written by Tamara who started out by immediately apologizing for taking so long to respond to our invitation. Apparently they’d been totally overwhelmed by the number of responses since they’d posted their profile. It was something I could relate as it had been somewhat the same way for me and Steve when we first went “live”. Evidently a new profile drew attention like fresh meat to all the hungry wolves out there. Fortunately in our case I was accustomed to such attention after eight years of being on-line with my diary so we knew better than to even reply to most of them and thus kept the whole thing manageable. From the sounds of it Leon and Tamara were trying hard to be respectful of everyone and undoubtedly were being swamped by trying to answer everything that was sent to them. I smiled to myself as I thought they would learn sooner or later.

My heart then skipped a beat as she went on to say that they were indeed interested in meeting with me and Steve. She continued by saying how different my letter had been from the others they’d received. Again I could relate as even now the vast majority of invitations we get are from some of the weirdest people. Sometimes Steve would toy with the idea of responding to them just for the fun of it but I kept telling him no. I simply wasn't about to get involved with people who thought food condiments were sex toys. Apparently my adding the bit about me being an elementary school teacher and a devout Christian didn't hurt either.

Now that I had her name and phone number the next step was to give her a call. Maybe I should have waited for Steve to get home so we could talk about it ahead of time but I was too excited to put it off for even just a few hours. Picking up my iPhone, I dialed the number and listened to the phone ring with my heart beating so hard I could barely hear when she picked up the phone. At first I thought maybe I’d called a wrong number as this young girl’s voice answered but then she said her name and I knew it had to be her. I kept telling myself she was 23 but it was hard to imagine someone that old with a voice that young.

For the first ten minutes or so the conversation was pretty vague with both of us maneuvering like boxers in a ring during the first round, jabbing and dodging as we sought out the other’s weak spots. Maybe “weak spots” is the wrong phrase - it was more like probing to better understand the other. Tamara was obviously painfully shy about all this so I tried to be patient and not push her too hard although I had at least a hundred questions I wanted to ask.

Eventually we got around to the true purpose of the phone call and she went on and on about how uncertain she was about everything and how nervous she was. By the time the conversation ended, we hadn’t really discussed anything in detail but instead left things open-ended for our husbands to clear up. Frustrated, I hung up with as many questions as when I’d picked up the phone but at least I’d made contact.

After I hung up the phone I called their profile up again, staring at my favorite photo of her as I tried to connect the voice on the phone to the girl in front of me. It wasn't even one of the nudes but rather just her sitting on the floor in a pair of denim shorts and a skimpy halter top with her legs crossed as she smiled up at whoever was taking the photo. The shorts were cut so high there was just a hint of panties showing in her crotch while the halter top was so tight that is did what it could to emphasize her small boobs. What caught my attention was her smile; it was brilliant and the overall expression on her face was so joyful, almost child-like. Hmmmmmm, so this was the girl I’d just spoken with... not bad... not bad at all.

Later when Steve came home I showed him the letter and then told him about my phone conversation with Tamara. The fact that they were real people got him excited so he immediately called up Leon. They seemed to hit things off from the start and in less than ten minutes the two of them had set things up for dinner the next Friday night. Anyone listening in on the conversation would have thought they were two old college buddies calling up to get together again with their new wives as nothing sexual was spoken or even implied.

Steve hung up the phone and we just stood there staring at each other.

“So tell me... does this make you as horny as it does me?” I asked him, running my tongue over my dry lips.

Steve didn't say a word - nor did he have to. His dick did all the talking...

3. Dinner With Leon and Tamara

Steve and Leon hadn’t wasted any time in getting us all together. That very next Friday night they arranged for us to meet and have dinner at, of all places, an Olive Garden. I can still remember when Steve broke the news to me.

“Olive Garden? Did you say Olive Garden? As in always crowded, lots of families, no privacy, boring Olive Garden?”

I'm not sure Steve knew quite how to take me at that moment. Standing there in front of him, hands on my hips, a look of astonishment written all over my face, he must have thought I was some sort of wild woman gone ballistic.

"Sorry, he was the one who suggested we go there," Steve said holding up his hands defensively as if he was afraid I was going to attack him or something.

"Oh you mean the guy who's never had sex with anyone besides his wife? The guy who's probably never done anything in public before? The guy who was a virgin until he was in his mid-twenties? Is that the guy you're talking about?"

OK, so maybe it was going overboard but I was frustrated. Heck, I could've listed a dozen places off the top of my head that afforded a better atmosphere for this type of dinner. Like, we weren't really meeting for dinner, who was kidding who? This was a prelude to having sex but how in the world do you talk about such things in a wide open public restaurant like Olive Garden with kids and grandmothers sitting right next to you? Damn it anyway, I'd had my hopes set so high about all this. It was going to be our first swap with wedding rings on and I wanted it to be perfect in every detail.

"Oh Kelly, just settle down, it'll all work out. It's not like anything was going to happen no matter where we met," Steve tried to calm me down and then he grinned when he saw my expression, "Well, maybe YOU had other plans but for me this is just a meet and greet."

Trying hard to control my anger, I changed to subject to finding out more about the couple we were suppose to meet. As to where Leon and Tamara lived I hadn't a clue as so far we'd only exchanged first names and phone numbers. Steve then had the bright idea of looking up their phone number on the Internet and sure enough, up popped their full names! Seems nobody had warned them about being careful as to what phone number they provided to strangers. The names matched as did the ages so we figured it had to be them. Their address put them on the north side near the New Kensington area. I wasn't familiar at all with part of the area and neither was Steve. We put their address into Google Earth and there was their home - an older house snack in the middle of town which wasn't exactly the high rent district from the looks of things. We tried to research them further but there were no relatives listed or other connections.

"Well at least we know they're real," Steve mused.

On that I had to agree with him. Nothing like seeing confirmation in the phone book to put on the stamp of confidence.

“So which Olive Garden are we going to?” I asked.

“Some place called Tarentum?” Steve replied, evidently another new name for him.

Together we checked it out and I was a bit surprised that it was located so close to New Kensington. I say surprised as being so close to where they lived it was entirely possible that people there might recognize them. Then again, it’s not like we were planning on having public sex at our first dinner so evidently they had chosen familiarity over privacy.

We checked it out a bit more and saw it was located in a shopping area. Seeing the neighboring restaurants, I noted that at least they hadn’t picked the Red Robin right next door! Talk about the last place on earth I’d want to go for such a get-together...

That Friday in school I was totally distracted. It got so bad that at one point during the day one of my students actually had to call out my name when I started daydreaming about the evening to come and totally phased out from my lesson plan. Shaking my head to get back into the rhythm, I wondered what my adorable little 10-12 year-olds would have said if they knew their teacher in her long dress and conservative makeup was getting horny thinking about having sex with strangers after class? Well, maybe not right after class but close enough. Not that I would ever even consider doing anything naughty in class, I have to say for a moment I did wonder what they would think if I started masturbating right there in front of them. Like THAT was suppose to help - NOT!

By the time I got in my car to drive home it was like I had an itch between my legs that just wouldn’t go away. As soon as I was out of the parking lot and safe from the prying eyes of parents and young kids I pulled up my dress and reached between my legs with one hand while I steered with the other. Damn, the crotch of my white cotton panties were soaked! Pulling them to one side, it was a huge sense of relief when my fingers finally touched my pussy, pressing down on my poor clit where the itching sensation was centered. Talk about something I’d been wanting to do all day...

For once I didn't curse the red lights and if anything I found myself praying for them as I inched my way through Friday evening traffic. When I was stopped I would close my eyes for a few moments as I masturbated, dreaming of what it would be like to be fucked by Leon while my husband was busy with Tamara. Mmmmmmm, how about me and Tamara after that? I wondered if she’d even been with another girl. She claimed to have never been with another guy besides her husband but that didn't rule out some experimentation with the same sex. Sleepovers and college dorm rooms had led more than a few “innocent” girls astray, even if it wasn't something they ever confessed to later.

The guy behind me honked and I realized the traffic had resumed moving while I’d been entertaining nasty thoughts of Tamara’s bare pussy pressing up against my face. And to think people worry about texting while driving! I wondered if the guy behind me would have still honked if he knew why I wasn't paying attention to the light? Who knows, maybe he would have honked all the more.

By the time I pulled up to the parking lot behind out apartment I was flushed and breathing hard. My nipples were so hard they almost hurt as they pressed against the restrictive bra I was forced to wear while working. Turning off the car, I let the seat drop back and started to work on myself with both hands. There wasn't anyone else around and I didn't want to quit for even the few moments it would take to run up the stairs to our little newlywed apartment.

I was soooooo close...

YES! Finally I crossed the line, jumped over the cliff, scaled the mountain top, or whatever metaphor you want to use for achieving orgasm. After spending all day trapped in front of my class without the chance to even rub myself a little, it was like the dam burst and all my horniness that had built up during the day was released in one massive “O”. God it felt so much better to finally do it. I kept rubbing with one hand while I brought the other to my mouth, licking my pussy cum off my fingers, wondering if Tamara’s pussy tasted anything like mine? For that matter, how would she taste with my husband’s cum dripping from her?

No sooner had I lowered my dress than several people went walking by my parking place. I hadn’t even seen them pull in so they must’ve done so while I was cumming hard and not paying attention. Even so, in the dusky light and with me slouched so far down in the seat I doubt they would’ve seen much of anything anyway even if they had walked right by. Then again, so what if they had? Not like it was anything to be ashamed of, right?

Back in our apartment, I closed the door and turned to find myself in the arms of my adoring husband!

“I love you,” he whispered to me as he kissed my neck and ears while planting his hands firmly on his favorite place for them – my ass. Then he sniffed like a dog and grinned at me.

“Smells like someone’s been naughty while driving home.”

I grinned and put my fingers up to his nose. He opened his mouth and sucked gently on them.

“Now THAT is the kind of perfume they need to bottle,” he teased me, quickly undoing the zipper in the back my dress as he talked.

“Steve... we have plans for tonight,” I pretended to protest as my dress hit the floor, soon to be followed by my bra and then my wet panties. I stepped out of them, leaving my flats behind.

“And these just have to go,” he fussed, pulling down my hose, “How do you stand wearing all this crap all day?”

Fair question and one I asked myself usually several times a day when it felt like I was suffocating. Steve knew the school dress code rules as well as I did but that didn't stop him from constantly teasing me about them as he knew how frustrated they made me. He was always challenging me to go to school without any panties on, claiming that with a dress down to my ankles nobody would know anyway. As much as I would’ve loved to indulge him, I just knew that would be the day I slipped down the stairs or something would happen and everyone would see the youngest teacher in the school had been running around bottomless under her dress. NOT a career move to say the least if you wanted to teach at a Christian school, or any school for that matter

“So are you just gonna just stand there complaining about my clothes or are you gonna fuck me?” I teased him, standing there barefoot and naked except for a gold chain with a cross around my neck and my earrings – and wedding ring of course.

“Hmmmmmm, let me decide...,” he said, holding his hand to his chin as he stared at my naked body as if there was a real decision to make.

****************

Somehow or another we managed to shower and dress in enough time to leave the house with at least a shot at getting to the restaurant on time. In figuring out our timing I thought that so long as the tunnel traffic wasn't a mess there shouldn’t be a problem. At least we would be going IN towards the city from the south side instead of out so we wouldn’t be facing the worst of the Friday night madness.

It was starting to get to be a bit chilly in the evenings so I grabbed a light jacket from the closet as we left. Steve, still the newlywed husband and gentleman, took it from me and helped me into it.

“You know you could’ve just worn the jacket,” he whispered into my ear as he kissed me just behind the ear and then down my neck as he pulled the jacket up over my shoulders.

Actually, it wouldn't have been the first time I’d worn JUST this very jacket but never to a dinner with a couple of strangers and certainly not to a family restaurant like Olive Garden. It was white with a belt and came down below my butt but not much further. When I sat down it wasn’t long enough to sit on so it wasn't designed for those cold days that were threatening already – especially if all I had was a bare bottom underneath.

I turned to kiss my husband. “And you would just love that, wouldn’t you,” I giggled and then I playfully patted him in the crotch. “I would’ve thought you’d had enough after the shower.”

The shower was the last place we’d done it, preceded by the living room couch and prior to that the bed. He must have been really horny, that’s all I could say. Evidently he’d been thinking about this evening all day just as much as I had during my classes. Well, hopefully he’d be recharged by the time the evening progressed but knowing my husband I had all the confidence in the world that there wouldn’t be any problems in THAT department.

Steve continued to be the Southern gentlemen as he held the door to his truck open for me and then closed it behind me. The black dress I was wearing wasn’t all that heavy and with just a minimal thong on underneath I may as well have been bare-bottomed. The cool vinyl of the seat gave me goose bumps as I shivered while I waited for him to get in and start the pickup so the heater would get working.

“Cold?” he asked, seeing me wrapping my arms around myself. “Let’s see just how could you really are.”

I had scooted over to be next to him by then, one of the advantages of a bench seat. Steve reached over and unzipped my jacket down to the belt and pulled it aside to take a look inside.

“Either you really ARE cold or we need to go back inside,” he joked, seeing my nipples poking through the thin fabric. I wasn’t wearing a bra, of course, and the wrap-around style of the dress allowed for plenty of cleavage to be revealed.

“Hmmmmmm, interesting.... you’re so chilled up there but yet so hot down here,” he observed as his hand moved down to between my bare legs which I spread for him and then I felt his fingers pressing against my pussy through my thong.

“OK mister, either do something about it or drive,” I came back, pretending to be stern with him. Actually I could’ve gone with either option at the moment.

Steve just chuckled and pulled away from the curb. “Well, sorry but we don’t want to keep Tamara waiting, do we?”

No mention of Leon but that didn’t surprise me. No doubt Steve saw Leon only as the means for him to be able to fuck Tamara. If there was one thing Steve was definitely NOT, it was gay. Like your typical guy, he was always pushing for a threesome but also as a typical guy his idea of a threesome was two girls having sex with him. Yep, no crossing swords for Steve. Even in the past when I HAD been with other guys Steve would watch but he didn’t like getting too close. It was sort of funny in that as much I LOVED dicks, Steve was so repulsed by them (other than his own of course) that I think he would roll over and die if he ever had to so much as touch another guy’s cock in any way.

As we drove I thought about it all the more. Yes indeed, when all was said and done, this evening was more for Steve than me. I don’t mean to imply that I wasn’t looking forward to it but if it wasn't for Steve pushing for it we wouldn’t be doing this tonight. Frankly, I would’ve been happier just to stay home with him and make love. If we were going to go out and party, then I liked it more when Steve let me loose while he watched. Sometimes he preferred to stay in the background, not even letting people know we were a couple. There was something about me having sex with other guys that really turned on Steve and I loved to perform for him. By the time we’d get home he’d be so horny that he would practically jump me before the door shut behind us. The bonus for Steve came when the guy I targeted had a girlfriend that he was willing to swap.

In thinking ahead, while I was looking forward to having sex with Leon it wasn't like I couldn't go without it. For me it was just sex with someone new which was always interesting and hopefully fun. As for Steve, I could see the twinkle in his eyes and the twitch in his dick the first time he saw Tamara’s photos and then when he finally got to see her nude it was like instant hard-on time for him. For him, it was all about the new conquest, a new pussy he hadn’t fucked before. Yes, it was the newness that got him so turned on which was fine with me as I knew that also meant this would undoubtedly turn into yet another one- night stand, as did almost all our previous encounters under similar circumstances. I guess I liked that about him in that he never tired of me so that told me that any lust he might feel for another woman was just that – pure lust. There was nothing wrong with that. Like what man doesn't feel that way?

People who know me already know that one of my favorite "hobbies" is to seek out married men. Leon might indeed be married but he didn't qualify as anything special for me because his wife was involved. Going back to my explanation of adultery, what really turns me on is when a man commits adultery with me. If I was just meeting Leon tonight and Steve was doing Tamara but neither of them knew that the other was cheating, then THAT would have been the perfect night out for the two of us, at least from my point of view. It was also one thing that we hadn't done yet but that didn't mean we didn't fantasize about it sometimes. It was hard enough to find a husband to cheat with me without trying to get his wife to do the same without either of them knowing about the other.

Going through the long tunnel, I looked at Steve as the lights lit up his face. God I loved him so much! Sure I was horny thinking about tonight but the biggest thing for me was that I wanted this evening to be perfect for Steve and I would do anything to make that happen.

Leaving the tunnel, we crossed through Pittsburgh and then started the drive north. Neither of us said a lot as I think we were both fantasizing a bit about the upcoming dinner – and probably even more about what might come afterwards. Still, would they even show up? Then what if they turned out to be total fakes? No matter how much I tried to ignore the feelings, there was the nagging issue that they might chicken out halfway through dinner or something like that. If everything they'd said was true I had to think that right at this moment they were both nervous as heck. They might even be questioning what they were doing. I learned early on that it's easy to post on line and chat and such but making the move to actually meeting someone was a huge step for anyone to take.

Pulling into the restaurant parking lot, I saw that it was a bit crowded but not packed so hopefully that meant we wouldn't have to wait for long. As I looked around I wondered if any of the cars belonged to Leon and Tamara. We hadn't told each other what our cars looked like, not even that we would be driving a pickup truck, so there was no way they would know it was us even if they'd been watching. Steve stopped the engine, got out and started to walk towards the restaurant until he noticed I was still sitting in the truck, waiting impatiently.

"Are we getting spoiled madam?" he asked, bowing deeply as he opened the door finally to let me out.

As I turned to scoot out I let the dress slide up and flash up to my hip for just a bit. “Isn’t this worth it?”

“Well, it would be even better without the damn thong,” he said, pretending to be unhappy.

“Yeah, like you don’t know what’s underneath.”

The parking lot had been deceiving as there were about six people waiting for a table when we walked in. None of them looked like Leon and Tamara though so Steve asked the serve if we could take a look. She brightened up and said that another couple had just been seated that had mentioned that someone would be asking about them so she led us towards a corner booth where I finally laid eyes on our partners for the evening.

After brief introductions we took a seat in the booth opposite Leon and Tamara which sort of put me off a bit. I would have expected that I would be sitting next to Leon while Tamara moved over to be with Steve but for now we took our side of the booth while they kept claim to theirs. I was still wearing my jacket as I was cold but Tamara had hers on the seat over to the side. I noticed when we sat down that she was wearing a rather conservative blouse and skirt that came below her knees even while seated with her legs crossed. She was just as petite as she had looked in her photos, looking almost like a young girl. Leon looked rather handsome, I might say, even in just a dress shirt and jeans which happened to be the same thing Steve was wearing although different colors. Steve was more a dark blue guy while Leon’s was a light green pattern,

For the first few minutes we just chatted about nothing – the weather, the traffic, them waiting for a table, us being a little late. Our server came by and took our drink order with all of us ordering either a soft drink or tea. She was back quickly and by then we were ready to order. Once she left I looked across to Tamara and invited her to join me as I need to use the lady’s room. The guys just shrugged as both of them were well acquainted with the female herd instinct when it came to using the restroom. Funny, but I’ve never once heard a guy say to another guy that he was going to them men’s room and did he want to join him!

Once inside we went to the sink and I got out some makeup from my purse. Of course I didn't need to use the toilet, most of the time women don’t – they just need to talk and socialize without men listening in.

“You look really nice in that dress,” she complimented me, “It’s a bit revealing though, isn’t it?”

I was tempted to say something about how it wasn't nearly as revealing as most of my dresses but that wasn't going to do anything to help so instead I just thanked her and complimented her on her outfit as well.

“So, are you ready for tonight?” I asked casually. It was just the two of us for that moment as a mother and her two young daughters had just left.

“Kelly, I’m soooooo nervous,” she confessed, looking at me with eyes like a deer in the headlights.

“Well don’t worry, we’ll take this as slow as you want and besides, if you decide to change your mind just say so at any time and I promise we’ll respect your wished.”

“No, I’m going to do this,” she said firmly, checking herself out in the mirror. “I want to do this for Leon.”

That wasn't exactly what I would have liked to have heard so I asked, “What do you mean by that?”

“Leon thinks that now that we are married we need to... expand our horizons as he says,” she explained softly. “I think he feels like he missed out on things by being celibate for so long.”

I couldn't help but smile a bit as I remembered the “expand out horizons” thing from their profile introduction. “And you? How do you feel about that?”

Tamara shrugged her shoulders and stared into the mirror. “I don’t know, I guess I am happy the way things are now. I always wanted to save myself for my husband and I am proud that I was able to do that. Well, at least until we were engaged. I was ready to wait until the wedding but Steve couldn't.”

“So you’ve really never been with another guy before?” I asked, looking at her in the mirror instead of directly at her.

“Well, there was one guy in high school that touched me but that was all.”

If we’d had more time I might have delved into that one a bit more but we needed to get back to the guys before they wondered if something was wrong. I turned to her and held her by the arm so she would look at me in the eyes.

“Just tell me one thing Tamara, and trust me, it’s OK no matter what you say. Do you really want to do this?”

For a moment I was afraid she might say no. Granted, I really wouldn’t have wanted her to do anything she wasn’t ready for but at the same time it would have been frustrating to get this close and then have her back out at the last second. Then she got this determined look and my heart slowed down a bit.

"I think so... I mean it's not like I have never thought about it before, just that I was raised that such things were wrong. My mother would faint if she had any idea what we were planning right now." Then she grinned a little and I knew it was going to be OK when she added, "And besides, you're husband looks really cute."

While I wasn't so sure Steve would appreciate being called "cute", I understood what she was trying to say. Heck, I thought the same thing myself!

A couple of older women came in then which sort of cut the conversation short. There was no sense in just waiting around so we headed back to the booth. We were about to turn the corner to our booth when I pulled her arm gently to stop.

"Tamara... how old are you?"

"Twenty-three."

I looked at her in the eyes and asked her again how old she REALLY was. She seems a little exasperated then and I found myself wishing I hadn't questioned her.

"I KNOW I don't look it but you can see my driver's license. I turned 23 the day after we got married. Nobody ever believes me so don't worry about it."

Before we sat down I took off my coat and hung it on the post by our booth.

"Nice dress," Leon spoke up, his eyes zeroing in on my bust and exposed cleavage immediately. He could hardly be blamed as compared to little Tamara I was stacked! I've heard it said if you want to lose weight, hang around with fat people and it will seem like you have. Well, the same goes for boobs. If you want yours to look bigger, hang around with small-breasted women.

"So where did you guys meet?" Leon asked. Steve told him how he and I had been high school sweethearts, how we'd been separated for years after his mother was transferred, and then how we had met up again the previous summer when he and his mom had moved back to the area.

"That's really sweet," Leon said and then Steve asked him how he and Tamara had met. That was something that I was curious about as well so I leaned forward which also caused my boobs to spill out all the more - a point not lost on Leon.

"We met at a church picnic my senior year," Leon said, putting his arm around Tamara and hugging her. "Even though Tam her was just a freshman we just clicked. After I got out of college I proposed to her and a couple of years later we got married."

I looked at Tamara who just smiled across the table from my me. Steve was watching her like a hawk although with the way her blouse was shut at the top there was no chance of getting a view of her small boobs.

“So you two been doing.... ‘this’ for long now?” Leon asked Steve. I glanced again at Tamara who just rolled her eyes and shrugged her shoulders. It was like the two guys were having the conversation while the women kept quiet and in their places.

“Actually we just signed up with the group earlier in the year,” Steve explained, not volunteering any more detail than absolutely necessary. He also didn't mention anything about what we’d been doing since we were teenagers.

“Well as you know, this is our first time,” Leon said softly, leaning over the table so we could hear him. I mean like we’ve never done anything like this before. Heck, neither of us has been with anyone else period.”

For some reason I could buy that line when it came to Tamara but I have to admit I was starting to question Leon. He looked every bit his 26 years and if anything could have passed for a few more. If what they’d been saying was true then he’d kept his virginity until he was 24. Heck, I‘d never met a 24 year-old virgin before. The thing is with guys there’s no hymen to check, you just have to take their word for it. Well, if Tamara was OK with it then I suppose I should be as well.

“Well, so what do you think of my wife Leon?” Steve said although his eyes were on the cute little girl across the table.

“She’s hot,” Leon grinned. Short and sweet but that was enough for me and it was time to step in and move things along.

“Ummmmm, Leon, ‘she’ is right here so you don’t have to act like I can’t understand what you’re saying.”

Leon sat up straight and held his hands up like he was being arrested. “So sorry Kelly, I didn't mean anything bad at all. I was just trying to tell your lucky husband there what as babe he has for a wife.”

I looked at Tamara who was just sitting there with her hands in her lap, not saying a word. It was hard to read her and I wasn't sure if that was a good thing or bad. Our dinner came then and for the next ten minutes or so the conversation shifted back to the food, where to eat in the area and such. Once we were getting close to being finished, Steve perked up and suggested that Tamara and I switch places. Tamara looked at me and I smiled at her, trying to encourage her. She stood up, looking tentative and then I sat down in her place, leaving her with nowhere to go but next to Steve.

“You’re really small,” Steve said as he put his arm around her. She didn't pull away but then she didn't exactly jump in his lap either.

Leon took his cue and put his arm around me. I looked at Steve who just nodded almost imperceptibly and so I scooted over to be tight up against Leon. His hand went to my bare upper arm and held me while I allowed my hand to move to the top of his leg.

“So you guys just got married a few weeks ago?” Leon asked, the first time he’d addressed me directly.

“Almost four weeks now,” I replied, moving my hand over until it was on top of the bulge that was growing under his jeans.

“Wow, makes me feel like we’ve been married forever,” Leon laughed, “It’s four MONTHS for us now.”

“So how old are you again Leon,” I asked. Her replied that he was 26. “That’s my age too... when’s your birthday?”

It turned out he was older than me - by three days. March 4, 1985 was his birthday. That put him a couple of years behind Steve although had I seen them on the street together without knowing either one I might have said just the opposite.

Tamara jumped just a little and from the angle of Steve’s arm I had a pretty good idea. It must have been frustrating to him that she was wearing such a long skirt. Usually when he put his hand on my leg under the table there wasn't a whole lot for him to get out of the way. Still, she hung in there like a trooper and didn’t try to move away from him or anything negative.

Grinning at Steve, I leaned over to whisper in Leon’s ear. “Have you ever had a hand job in a restaurant?”

“Here?... Now?” he blurted out, not so loud anyone around us would hear but enough for my husband and his wife to take notice.

“You’ll have to excuse my wife Leon,” Steve pretended to apologize, “She has a certain weakness for that sort of... thing.”

From there it became like a Seinfeld episode where everyone was using euphemisms for sexual parts rather than saying “dick” or “pussy”. All the while I was rubbing Leon’s ever growing dick through his pants. Under the circumstances I wasn't about to unzip him or anything with all the people around and walking by but it was definitely getting his attention.

“Ready for dessert?” Steve finally said. Leon started to say something about being full but Steve stopped him mid-sentence to say, “I meant dessert at your place.”

He could have added, “you dummy” but as satisfying as that might have been I was glad he showed some restraint. Sometimes it’s best to just leave things unsaid, no matter how great the temptation.

“Ohhhhhh,” Leon mumbled and then grinned. “So how does this work?’

Rookies, I thought to myself. I had a feeling we’d be having to take the lead all night from the way things were going.

Steve signed the credit card slip – we picked up the bill for dinner while Leon insisted on leaving the tip. He sat back and put his hands on the table. “I would suggest we take our cars and drive to your place. Kelly can go with you and Tamara here can ride with me.”

Tamara and Leon exchanged glances but they seemed to go along with Steve’s suggestion. Well, things had to get started sooner or later so the sooner the better of you asked me.

We all laughed when we got out to the parking lot as it turned out that we had parked right next to them. Like, what were the odds? Tamara seemed surprised that we drove a large pickup truck while I was taken a bit off-guard as well to see they drove a Toyota Prius. Sort of two opposites in terms of the environment. Steve opened the driver’s door for Tamara who looked confused at first but then realized his intentions so she hopped up into the bench seat. Meanwhile, Leon beeped his car alarm fob on his keychain and we each got in ourselves. I’d never been in one of these and the first thing I noted was I missed the bench seat in Steve’s pickup! Oh well, it would be a short trip if nothing else.

Steve waited for us to pull out first as he had no idea where to go. As Leon fastened his seat belt I left mine undone and let my skirt ride up a bit to let me him get a much better view of my legs than he’d had in the restaurant.

“So are you ready for this Leon?” I asked softly, “Tamara seems a bit apprehensive.”

“Oh don’t worry, once she gets going I’m sure it will be fine,” he assured me as we maneuvered back to the highway.

“Does she ever masturbate in the car when you drive?”

Leon just laughed saying, “No way... she’s not exactly what you call a ‘public’ girl. I mean, you saw how she dressed.” He paused to look at me again and then grinned. “I take it you’re a bit more adventuresome.”

“Oh a little,” I sighed, trying not to sound too slutty, “Would it turn you on to see me playing while you drove.”

Leon let out a long breath as he looked in the driver's mirror to merge. "Like duh! What guy would say no unless he was gay? And even then he probably still would."

"You mean like this?" I teased as I pulled up my skirt to my waist and reached down inside my panties to touch myself.

"Wow, you don't waste any time, do you?"

"I can stop if you want."

Leon raised his hand and saved me to continue. "Are you kidding me? You can do that all day so far as I'm concerned."

I finally figured out how to lay the seat back which made it much easier. I kept my hand inside my thing so in the dim light he really couldn't actually see anything, just the movement of my hand under the flimsy material.

"I love to play with myself Leon... does Tamara use her fingers or does she like toys?"

"Hell if I know," he grumbled as he tried to watch me without getting us killed as we quickly approached the next exit. "She says she doesn't and I've never seen her do it."

"Not even during sex?"

"Shit, I've tried... even pushed her hand down there but she always pulls back."

"Mmmmmmm, poor girl doesn't know what she's missing...," I sighed as I rubbed my clit.

While I firmly believe that 100% of men masturbate (I go with the 80% admit they do and the other 20% are liars), I HAVE known a few girls that really don't masturbate although they have been few and far between. One of my college roomies was actually against it as she considered it the equivalent of "sex" and she was saving herself for marriage. Now whether or not she started after she got married, I'll never know but it seemed pretty dumb to me at the time.

"I bet YOU do, don't you Leon?"

That brought a smile to his face and maybe had the light been brighter I could have seen if he was blushing.

"I knew it... all men do so it's nothing to be ashamed of."

We were getting downtown and I figured probably pretty close to their house so I quickly pulled my things down my legs and off around my heels. I looped it over the rear view mirror like a garter after a prom date.

“There, something to remember the trip by,” I said as I smoothed out my dress again, “I’ve been told they make nice air fresheners as well.”

Leon laughed again at that one as we pulled into the narrow driveway of an older home. Steve parked on the street behind us as we all got out and followed Leon to the front door. I noticed Steve had his arm around Tamara but it wasn't like they were looking like teenagers in love quite yet as she had her hands in her coat pocket.

“Well?” I whispered to Steve as we approached the door. He just looked at me and shrugged. Evidently Tamara hadn’t been as open as I had been with Leon which didn't exactly surprise me. For that matter I hadn’t been all that crazy with Leon either when you take into account what I’ve done with other men in similar circumstances.

Leon unlocked the front door and we all stepped into the home which looked to be maybe a hundred years old. Well, maybe that was an exaggeration but it was not new by any means. Even the furniture had an old look to it and the carpet would have been politely referred to as “retro”.

“This was my parent’s house,” Leon explained, as if an explanation was in order in the first place, “They’ve retired to Arizona so they left it to me. “Tamara is working to fix it up, aren’t you babe?”

Tamara looked more embarrassed than anything but she smiled and started to talk about the new furniture they were looking at, almost as if she was taking advantage of the opportunity to go off on a tangent and NOT discuss the large elephant sitting in the corner of the room.

4. Getting Things Started

One of the things I love about Steve is that he is one of the few guys with whom I don’t feel I have to always be the one to push or take the lead when it comes to sex. I guess it all started when we first dated and he was the older, mature high school junior while I was just an incoming freshman who had never been on a serious date until I was with him. Steve had been the “experienced” one back than as everything was new to me and he loved to push my boundaries. You could probably say he is more responsible for me becoming the school slut than anyone else.

Having gotten off to a good start, when Steve left I never looked back and took full advantage of whatever opportunities came my way – plus those I worked on

One of my favorite things to do with Steve is to go out on a date where I promise to do anything he says, no matter what. To make this fun, you really do have to do everything as once you start making exceptions it sort of spoils the entire evening. For most people I'm not sure it would work as in addition to being pretty crazy you also have to trust the other person explicitly. While I promise Steve that I will never say "no", sort of our own private version of the "Just say YES" campaign, I also trust that he will never ask me to do anything that would be harmful or embarrassing. If you want a true test of your relationship, try playing this game as you'll quickly find out whether or not you can really trust the other person.

I say all this because at this moment you couldn't ask for two different couples to be in the same room together. Steve and I had been in similar situations dozens of times before, not always as a couple but in some sort of party situation. The last time we'd done something like this we barely even got comfortable before we split off to separate bedrooms for the night. Leon and Tamara were a different case. Now that we were actually in their house, I couldn't help but wonder of one or both of them was having second thoughts. It wouldn't have been hard to understand as many people find that playing on the Internet with the anonymity it provides makes it easy to say things you never would in person. Now that we were all face-to-face in person, there was no hiding behind the keyboard, this was the real deal.

"So ummmmm, how does this sort of thing usually get started?" Leon asked, fidgeting a bit as he rocked from one foot to the other.

Steve started to answer but knowing him, he would have been direct and to the point, NOT what was needed about now judging by the look of desperation on Tamara's face. She was smiling but it looked very forced and there was no laughter behind it.

"Maybe it might help if Steve and Tamara sat over there on the couch while you and me got things started," I offered. Steve looked at me a little quizzically as he knew from past experience that I liked to just be alone with the guy when we swapped but from the grin that followed I knew he was more than willing to sit back and watch his wife go to work on another man.

"Sounds good to me," Leon said and then looked at his own wife, "That OK with you Tam?"

If anything she seemed a bit relieved as she nodded without saying anything. Steve sat down and she took a seat next to him, maybe a little less than a foot separating them. Steve wasn't going to let that continue though as he put his arm around her and pulled her up next to him. She didn't resist but then it wasn't like she threw herself at him either.

“So it’s me and you,” I said gently, taking Leon’s hand in mine as I led him to a large overstuffed chair across from the couch with a tacky coffee table in between. It was one of those large heavy dark-stained pine monstrosities that you see in the cheap furniture stores but that also made it perfect for what I had in mind.

Deliberately ignoring my husband and his wife, I moved the flower arrangement from the coffee table to the floor which left it bare - the perfect stage. Being careful not to fall on my heels, I stepped up on the table and then stood there facing Leon as he sat upright in the chair watching me. It was then I noticed the front drapes weren’t pulled but with only a single lamp on in the corner of the room it wasn't like there was a spotlight on me. Besides, the neighborhood looked deserted when we pulled in and I always get a bit turned on by supporting other people’s voyeuristic tendencies.

We’d taken off our coats upon entering, hanging them up in a small closet by the entrance so all I had on was my dress. Indeed, after leaving my thong in the car ALL I had on was my dress if you discount jewelry and heels. That didn't exactly lend itself to a sexy strip tease but I would just have to make do. Seeing Leon’s eyes fixated on me, I didn't think he would mind one way or the other.

“I’m gonna strip for you now but you have to help out,” I said as I started to sway back and forth slowly, running my hands down my sides and hips. Leon looked at me expectantly so I continued with, “I want you to pull that cock out for me to watch... stroke it so I know you like what you see.”

Leon glanced over at Tamara before he caught himself and looked back at me again. I cupped my boobs in my hands through my dress, waiting patiently for him to do his part without saying anything further. He knew what I wanted so now it was his turn to make a difference.

It didn't take long for him to make up his mind. Slouching in the chair, he undid his belt and then lifted up his hips so he could undo the zipper and then undo the pants so he could open the flaps. Reaching through the opening in his jockey shorts, he struggled at first to get it out and when he finally did it was easy to see why he had problems. His dick was already practically fully erect making it hard to get out of the silly flap in the front of his shorts.

“Mmmmmmm, now that’s what I wanted to see,” I purred, slowly raising my dress up my legs, getting it up to where it was just below my pussy. It was enough to tease but not show anything. “Now stroke it... I want to see you jerk off for me.”

Once again Leon’s eyes shot behind me to where his wife was seated but then he saw that I was watching and he quickly returned them to me. I wondered if Steve was getting his dick out yet. It wouldn’t have surprised me as he took about any excuse he could to jerk off. Sometimes I swear he likes to jerk off as much as love to play with myself.

“That’s it... now tell me what to do,” I said soothingly, pulling my dress up with one hand while pulling it down with the other and then switching directions.

“Just take the damn dress off,” he said, the smile on his face disarming the directness of his statement.

“Not yet... in time,” I assured him but I did lift it up so my bare ass was now exposed to the audience behind me and my shaved pussy was visible to the horny guy in front of me.

“Oh, I suppose I should tell you that I left my thong on the rear view mirror,” I said jokingly over my shoulder to Tamara, “It needed to dry off.”

Oh to see Tamara’s face now! I resisted the temptation as I knew it would just increase her anxieties if we made eye contact. Still, I wondered what her reaction was to my announcement about my missing thong?

“You liked watching me masturbate in the car, didn't you Leon,” I teased as I started to rub my pussy by first cupping it with my palm between my legs and then pressing my middle finger inside of me. As horny as I was it slipped in easily.

Leon was stroking his dick with one had as he stared at my exposed crotch. He didn't even blink! I knew from her nudes that Tamara just trimmed her pussy so had Leon ever seen a shaved pussy that wasn't on a porn site on the Internet? His erection looked so yummy and hard and I loved the way he twisted his hand slightly on it each time he got up to the head. I couldn't wait to get my mouth on it!

When I first got the idea to table dance for Leon, my thoughts had been around doing a slow strip tease while seeing if I could get him to jerk off. Eventually I would get nude and then have him stand up and let me kneel on the table as suck it for his wife and my husband to watch, closely followed by him fucking me. Eventually that should get things started for Steve and Tamara after which we could then go our separate ways for a while.

Seeing how horny Leon was, I started having second thoughts about my original plan. Damn, I bet I would just get my mouth around him and he'd blow! Well, there were always options...

"I love watching you jerk off Leon," I said as seductively as I could, "I think you want to fuck me, don't you?"

Leon was breathing more heavily now so he just nodded - not good enough for me.

"You know Leon, when a guy wants to fuck me it's only polite that he ask," I hinted broadly. He just nodded again so I reiterated myself saying, "Well, do you want to or don't you?"

"I want to," he gasped.

"Want to what Leon?"

"I want to fuck you," he finally said. Good boy! I had to suppress a giggle as I felt like I needed to throw him a treat or something like a puppy who had just learned a new trick.

"That wasn't so hard, was it?" I encouraged him as I carefully dismounted the coffee table and stood in front of him, "At least not as hard as that nice dick I see."

Without looking back at the couple behind me, I crawled up on the chair with my dress bunched up around my waist. Straddling his legs, I scooted up until his lovely erection was right under my wet and hungry pussy.

"Now fuck me Leon... put that hard dick in my cunt."

Normally the word "cunt" was not part of my vocabulary unless I was cursing another woman. While some people think slut is a put-down, I think it's a compliment. I reserve other words for women I don't like such as whore and yes, cunt. Still, I knew men well enough to know that they like a girl to talk dirty and what is more dirty than for a girl to call her own pussy a cunt?

Leon didn't say anything in response but I could feel him working his dick around under me, trying to hit the mark but failing miserably. Rap, I was just as anxious to feel it in me as he was so I reached down and grabbed it from him, easily getting it in the right spot to where it slipped up inside of me like it was greased. I put my full weight on him and sank down to his lap, burying his dick in me completely.

"Oh god that feels so good in me Leon," I moaned as I wiggled my hips just enough to feel it move inside of me.

I put my hands on his shoulders and lowered my head so I could see down to his crotch where my bare pussy was pressed up tightly against his coarse pubic hair. I could just make out the base of his dick in the dim light where it disappeared inside of me. It was quite a sight and it never failed to turn me on to think that that very thing I saw disappearing up my pussy was causing those incredible sensations inside of me.

Leon’s hands found my ass and he squeezed each butt cheek in one hand as I started to rock slowly on his cock. I wasn't lifting myself up and down so much as I was rocking back and forth, causing him to move in me but for the most part keeping the entire cock in me as much as possible.

A little of that and I decided it was time to up the ante a bit and stop pretending to ignore my audience. Lifting myself up, I let his hard cock flop out of me as I stood up on the chair and then twisted myself around until I was facing Steve and Tamara with my bare butt in Leon’s face. Steve was grinning from ear to ear and I noticed his arm was further around Tamara now until he had his hand over her small boob over her blouse. As for her, she wasn't pushing him away but then I couldn't see that she was reciprocating in any way either as her hands were in her lap still.

Once again I found myself wishing for a camera as I watched Tamara. It wasn't that she was doing much, if anything it was the blank look on her face that caught my attention more than anything. It was sort of like, “I can’t believe this is happening” sort of thing yet at the same time she wasn't turning her eyes away either as I would have expected if she was really upset about things.

“OK Tamara, watch now... your hubby’s dick wants back in me again.”

This time I lowered myself down as I face Steve and Tamara, grabbing Leon’s erection when I got low enough and used it to rub my pussy first. I couldn’t help but shudder when the head of his dick ran over my slippery clit.

“Do you ever masturbate using your husband’s dick?” I asked Tamara as I rubbed myself with that very same dick. She shook her head silently so I said, “You really should try sometime... he feels soooooo good against me.”

Enough of that as I pushed the head back until I felt it just under me and then I lowered myself down on him, easily taking him in this time being so wet and freshly fucked.

“Oh my god Tamara, he feels so good in me,” I gasped as I dropped down to my knees and then sat down on Leon’s lap. My dress kept trying to fall down to hide things but I pulled it backup and tucked it out of the way. Leon's hands went around me again but this time they found my boobs and like my butt cheeks, he took one in each hand and squeezed.

There was no sense in making him rub through my dress so I lifted it up and over my head, leaving me all but naked on his lap with just my heels on for the moment at least. It was sort of interesting as I was the only one undressed. Steve and Tamara hadn't even unbuttoned yet and while Leon's dick was out in the open, or as open as it could be while in my pussy, the rest of him still bore the same clothes he wore at dinner.

"Fuck I'm going to cum," Leon gasped as he seemed to try to push me off his dick like he didn't want to cum in me. Well, that was too bad as I was in control which meant I got to say where he came and there was only one option so far as I was concerned - my pussy.

"Watch close Tamara... he's about to cum inside of me," I gasped as I worked my pussy on his cock. No sooner than the words were out of my mouth then Leon let out a loud groan and I could feel his hot sperm being ejaculated in me like tiny blooms of warmth deep in my lower belly.

"Oh yeah, that's it Leon, fill me with your cum," I sighed as I planted myself down firmly around his dick. Of course by then he already had!

I was so proud of my husband. Seeing me getting fucked with the hot girl next to him had to be a tremendous temptation but he was behaving like a gentleman. Heck, he wasn't even stroking himself which in and of itself was a major accomplishment. It was time for his reward...

Lifting myself off of him, I cupped my pussy to keep everything in me and quickly made my way until I was sitting on the coffee table in front to the two of them. I leaned back and put my legs on the couch, one between each of their legs. Taking my hand off my pussy, I could feel Leon's cum drain from me, flowing down between my buttocks and dripping onto the coffee table top.

"So what do you think Tamara?" I pushed her a little, "How does it feel to see your hubby's cum dripping out of my cunt?"

Tamara didn't say anything at first so Steve stepped in with, "Well, I can say that for ME, it's pretty damn hot."

Steve gave Tamara's little boob a squeeze which seemed to waken her from whatever world she was in.

"Oh my god," was all she said as she put her hand to her mouth.

“See how turned on my husband is seeing your husband’s cum draining from my pussy?” I told her, “I bet your husband would feel the same way, don’t you?”

Her eyes widened as she immediately caught on to what I was hinting at for her to do. Steve was in on it too and I could see from the way he was looking down at her that he was more than anxious to get a piece of her.

Steve looked at me and I nodded. Nothing more needed to be said as we both knew what was coming next - or should I say WHO was cumming next?

Leaning over, Steve put his hand under her chin and turned her head towards him as he kissed her on the lips. At first she didn't respond but then she seemed to relax just a bit and returned the favor to him. Soon I could see his tongue pushing against her tight lips and I smiled as I saw them part and allow it to enter and explore. Steve kept kissing her as he reached down and lifted her legs so she was sitting across his lap, supported by his other arm behind her so she didn't fall backwards.

Meanwhile, I had gotten myself out of the way and returned to sit sideways on Leon’s lap so my legs hung over the arm while I leaned back against the other arm. Leon was watching my husband fooling around with his wife but that didn't stop him from taking advantage of having a nude girl on his lap and feeling me up. He seemed to stay away from my pussy as it was a bit messy with his cum (soooooo typical of a guy) which meant my boobs were his primary target. He seemed to be a nipple guy, pulling them and letting the backs of his fingers trace circles around them. As for me, he still had his dick out so at least I was able to feel it pressing against my bottom and there was no mistaking that he was ready to go for it again. THAT could wait as I thought it best we both concentrate on other matters for the moment.

Steve and Tamara continued to kiss and I knew it was Steve’s way of keeping her having to think about who was watching by distracting her from seeing us. It wasn't long before he had his hand up her skirt and was pushing it between her legs which for the moment she held tightly together. It took a little persuasion but she parted them just enough for him to get up between them and to her crotch where he lifted back her skirt to show us all her pink nylon panties. Showing unusual restraint for him, he didn’t immediately try to take them off or pull them to the side but instead starting to rub her through the slippery material.

At first there was no reaction but then slowly, ever so slowly, she couldn't hold back the feelings that I knew had to be building up inside of her. At first it was just a slight movement that I would have missed had I not been watching so intently but

At the moment that left both men fully clothed, with Leon's cock out but otherwise nothing had been taken off, while both girls were either naked or all but naked. We might not be barefoot and pregnant these days but when it came to sex, men seem to like their women to get naked first. Not that I'm complaining...

I was enjoying the feeling of Leon's hands on my breasts as Steve lowered Tamara to her back and then slid out from under her so she was laying on the couch on her back. Lifting one leg until her foot was on the top of the couch, he slid the other over to it fell over the side of the couch, leaving her cute little pussy spread wide open for him. At this point the possibilities were endless so I watched wondering where Steve would go next.

Once again I was impressed by my husband's restraint as I knew there was nothing more he wanted than to drop his pants and fuck this little girl. Rather than jump to the obvious, instead he got in between her legs and then reached under he to cup her bottom in his hands. Then he leaned down, lifting her up to eat her pussy like he was lifting a large watermelon to his face. Her eyes were tightly shut but she was clearly enjoying it and well she should. Steve isn't the type that always likes to eat pussy but when he does, DAMN is he good! So many men don't seem to have a clue what a woman wants but not Steve. Frankly, when we first dated he wasn't all that good but by the time we'd hooked up again someone must have given him some outstanding lessons.

For the first time Tamara started to react on her own as her hands moved to her small boobs, holding them like a security blanket as this stranger licked and kissed and sucked on her pussy. Once the ice was broken, it seemed she was replaced by another woman as in the space of a few moments she transformed from this quiet, shy and reserved girl to a loud sexy girl begging for more.

"Right there... yeah that's it, right there," she instructed him as his tongue worked around her soaking wet pussy. Her hips lifted off the couch on their own as if she was trying to push her pussy up against his face. Steve pulled one hand from underneath her and pushed a finger into her pussy, fucking her with his index finger as she humped like a whore in heat.

"Oh god," she cried out as she started to cum. Lucky girl, she got to cum before me! Her petite body literally shook as her orgasm rose within her. She stopped talking at that point and just moaned loudly as Steve tried a second finger in her.

Steve had shown remarkable restraint up to this point, EXTREMELY remarkable in my opinion so I guess it didn't surprise me when he tried to push the boundaries a little bit. Tamara was still moaning and humping on his finger when her pulled the second dinger out and tried pushing the wet digit up her asshole.

"What the....?" she suddenly cried out as her eyes popped open. She started to reach down but Steve was relentless, pushing it in her even as she tried to push his hand away. I could relate as having anything up my butt wasn't exactly a thrill to me but at the same time I knew that when it came to sex and Steve wanted something, he didn't take no for an answer too often.

"Owwwwwww!" she cried angrily, squirming her butt as the invader pushed in deeper. Steve had his mouth back on her pussy though and soon she was struggling as on the one hand she was loving the feeling of his tongue on her while on the other hand she wasn't too happy about where his other finger was.

Steve evidently had achieved his immediate goal and so he pulled away and quickly stripped. I was so proud of my naked husband! Tamara also seemed to enjoy the sight of this nude stranger with the hard dick pointing out from him like a branch from a tree.

"Mmmmmmm, my hubby's gonna fuck your wife now I think," I whispered again to Leon. He didn't reply but I could feel him shifting himself under me as his dick grew even harder. If there was any anxiety over seeing his wife have sex with another man, nobody had informed his cock, that was for sure. I parted my legs just enough to let it slip up between my legs until I could just see the tip of it appear between my naked thighs.

Leaving her on her back, Steve mounted Tamara, using one arm to keep his weight off of her while his other hand guided his erect dick. I was sort of hoping she would take over and replace his hand but she had her arms to the side, laying there still as she waited for the inevitable.

"Fuck her Steve... fuck her for me," I encouraged him, acting as his cheerleader on the sidelines as he got ready to make the big play.

Another moment and he did just that. Once he had the head in her he let go of his hard cock and now had one hand on each side of her as he used his hips to thrust himself deeper into her. She must have been pretty tight as it took several tries before he was even half-way in her. From there he gave one really hard push and they both groaned loudly together as he buried himself in her.

believe that she was loving it, as if her couldn't believe another man could make her feel the way she was feeling right now. Then again, maybe he was a little upset that perhaps she was feeling TOO good, that she was loving it more than anything he had been able to accomplish with her.

“I think she likes my husband’s cock in her, don’t you?” I returned. Perhaps I was being a little naughty by pushing him a bit on the subject. Hopefully he wouldn’t get TOO upset and bring everything to halt with some sort of jealousy tantrum. Fortunately he was more mature than I had worried.

“She certainly seems to,” he said slowly. Then he squeezed my boobs tighter and it was his turn to push. “But then YOU seemed to like MY dick in you while your husband watched if I recall.”

I smiled at him while keeping one eye on the happy couple a few feet away. Tamara had cum again and her pussy was so aroused now I could actually hear Steve’s cock as it sloshed in and out of her soaking wet pussy.

“Well, after he cums in her maybe you can put it in me again... it you really want to.”

“Fuck, I’m ready NOW,” he growled, shifting himself under me to move his dick even tighter up against my pussy.

“There’s no rush,” I assured him, “I want to see my husband cum in your wife first.”

I COULD have said I wanted to “see him cum in her first” but if I’ve learned anything about turning on guys over the years, it’s how to talk to them. “him” and “her” was impersonal. OK, so the act was sexy but where was that personal connection? “Steve” and “Tamara” wasn't that much better. But calling them “my husband” and “your wife” added that personal touch which seemed to turn men on so much more. It’s like when I chat to men about their desires for their daughters. Saying “your daughter” always seemed to turn them on so much more than just “she” or using her name. As my mom use to say when cooking dinner, “It’s all in the presentation” and that applied to sex as much as Thanksgiving Dinner.

Unlike Leon, who was ready to shoot his load so quick I skipped my one of my favorite parts - sucking his dick, Steve was more experienced and knew how to control himself better. Sure he was still a guy and so there were times he couldn’t hold back and came before he was ready but for the most part he had a good understanding of his personal rhythm and reactions. Most guys would have cum long before now under the circumstances but not Steve. Leon probably never noticed the subtle changes in penetration and speed as Steve would adjust his rhythm to prolong his ejaculation. No doubt he could have gone on like this for quite a while more and had it been different circumstances, like him fucking me, I would have treasured his skill but for now it was keeping me from getting laid.

“Cum in her Steve... I want to see you fill her,” I called to him.

Steve looked at me at first like he didn't understand why I was pushing him but then he saw the expression on my face and understood my personal frustration. He just nodded but that was enough, I knew he’d gotten the message.

The change was subtle but definitely noticeable if you knew what to look for. Now his dick was bottoming out in her with every stroke. When he pulled back he did so until just the tip of his dick was barely in her, followed quickly by a rapid plunge deep into her pussy. The stroke out was slower and more deliberate while the thrust in was hard and fast. Yep, my hubby was working it!

“Watch close, he’s about to cum,” I warned Leon and not a moment too soon. Not more than a few seconds afterwards Steve thrust himself up as far as he could into Tamara’s little pussy and I could see the muscles in his buttocks clench as he jerked time and time again. I knew each time her jerked that meant another load of his sperm was being shot into her and from the look on her face, so did she. Her eyes opened and she looked across at her husband, the look of pure pleasure on her face tempered in part by an expression of guilt as she knew that what she was feeling was maybe the best she’d ever been fucked in her life.

“OK, let’s go to your room,” I said as soon as Steve was done. Show was over, move along...

We stood up and Leon adjusted his pants so he could walk. I reached down and grabbed onto his dick like a leash and started to lead him out of them room. As we walked past our spouses I smiled at Steve as he just laid there with his dick still in Tamara, his chest heaving as he tied to catch his breath. Tamara was still looking at her husband, her face and upper chest flush from the multiple orgasm my husband had aroused in her. I saw Leon’s eyes glance down to where Steve’s dick was resting in her pussy, sitting still for the first time since he’d first entered her.

“C’mon... don’t worry about them,” I told him as I gave his “leash” a tug. I wasn’t sure where the bedroom was but at least I wanted to get out of view of those two so he could focus on what was important - ME.

5. A Strange Bed

Once he couldn't see his wife any more, Leon seemed to come out of the mesmerized state he'd fallen into and seemed able to focus more on me again. He took my hand and led me to their bedroom. I'd wondered where he was going to take me as from the size of the house I was guessing it had at least three bedrooms. Previously when guys would bring me home the results varied. Some guys found it erotic to fuck me in the same bed they slept with their wife, even going so far as to have me lay on her side of the bed and perhaps even wear some of her lingerie. For others, the guilt factor seemed to dominate and so they would take me to a guest room or one of the kid's rooms. The fact that he brought me to their bedroom was interesting.

As soon as we got there before we said anything he quickly dropped his clothes and I saw him naked for the first time. While not in Steve's league he wasn't bad either. Leon was a little shorter and not as hard a build with a bit of a belly but not fat by any means. Perhaps more importantly he had a dick as hard as a spear sticking straight up in the air like a missile launching for outer space.

This time I was going to get what I wanted at the start. Before he could say anything I practically dove for the floor in front of him and once on my knees, all but devoured his dick. Mmmmmmm, it tasted so good and I could still make out the aftertaste of my pussy on it.

"That feels so good," he groaned. He really seemed to be enjoying it and then I thought about Steve and Tamara earlier. While I had foregone sucking off Leon because of my fears he would cum before he fucked me, Tamara shouldn't have had any worries about Steve yet she had never sucked his dick. It made me start to think...

"Does Tamara give good head?" I asked, coming up for air.

He didn't have to answer, the look on his face told me everything but I still wanted to hear the words.

"She's never sucked my dick."

Whoa! Hold the presses we have a new headline. "Like never as in... NEVER?"

"She says it's dirty. She won't let me eat her out either."

Now THAT was interesting as she certainly hadn’t stopped Steve and from what I could tell, she loved it at the time. So maybe that was part of why poor Leon had been a bit jealous. Can’t say I really blamed him if my suspicions were all true.

“So has ANYONE ever sucked your cock?” Leon, took a second to answer as after I asked that I made an extra effort to suck hard on his dick.

“Oh sure, back in high school I had a girl do it but she wasn't very good... her teeth practically killed me.”

Ah yes, the sure sign of an amateur.

“Have you ever cum in a girl’s mouth?”

I looked up and our eyes met as I resumed sucking his erection. He frowned and then shook his head.

“Tamara would never let me cum on her face, let alone in her mouth.”

Once again I marveled over the fact that a couple as inexperienced and filled with such issues could ever have applied for – and been accepted, into our swapping group. Maybe it was more of a joke for the people who ran it to have this naļve couple find themselves with people who might take all sorts of advantage of them.

“Well you can cum on my face Leon,” I said between licks, “and in my mouth if you want to.”

Leon just sighed, a long drawn-out sigh that sounded almost like he’d just been told his cancer diagnosis was wrong and he was not really sick.

“Get on the bed,” I told him. He got on over the covers and laid there with a pillow under his head.

“Well if we’re going to do this then let’s do it right,” I told him as I got on the bed I think he was expecting me to get in between his legs or something like that so it must have surprised him when I reversed directions with him and straddled his face while I held myself up with hands such that my boobs were hanging down to his dick.

“I take it you’ve never 69’d before,” I called back to him as I lowered my pussy to his face while his dick was right in front of mine. “Just remember, if you lick my asshole I won’t kiss you again tonight.”

Being someone who had never licked pussy before, I didn't have much hope for him and as it turned out, I was right although he did give it a good try. It was more for him than anything so at least he could go away telling his friends that he’d finally ate pussy. He didn't have to say it wasn't his wife’s – that would be up to him.

What I was more interested in was that nice hard dick that was aimed straight at my face. Between being in this position and the fact his dick was at the lower end of the average scale, it was easy to take him all in. Deep throat is deep throat when it comes to sucking just one guy. The fact that all of HIS dick gets in my mouth is all that matters.

He was getting close, it was just an instinct I'd developed over the years to know when a guys is about to cum and I've learned to trust that instinct. It would have been easy to just stay there and take it but I wanted to make it more of a memory for him so without taking my mouth of hid cock I twisted around so I was laying sideways on the bed with my head facing him as I finished off his dick.

Just as he was about to spurt, I pulled it out of my mouth and held it about half-way yup the shaft, aiming it at my open mouth. The first burst missed and hit me on the cheek but I wouldn't tell him that it was deliberate on my part. He wanted to cum on my face and so this was my way of letting him. The next load landed on the back of my tongue followed by another in them idle of my tongue. I moved in closer so the next load also reached my mouth but from there the rest was on my chin and cheeks.

"So what do you think Leon? How do I look with cum makeup?"

I was sitting up now, using my finger to scrape the cum from my face and then licking it off. I opened my mouth so he could see his cum pooled on my mouth and then closed it, swallowed, and showed him my empty mouth.

"Mmmmmmm, I LOVE cum," I said, licking my lips as if I was a cat after a bowl of milk.

That was twice now for Leon and I wasn't expecting a third time but then when it comes to men in their mid-twenties you never can tell. Over thirty and it's pretty fair to expect two at most. Over forty it goes to once and after that you're lucky to get him once, especially if he's on blood pressure meds! That doesn't mean they can't cum but it's just going to be oral sex as often they can't get it hard enough to fuck. Teenagers are special - do they EVER go soft? At 26, Leon was in uncharted waters for me. I suppose Tamara would have known but it wasn't like I could just go and ask her home many times her man as good fro in one evening. Well, it never hurt to try.

Leon had already pretty much gone flaccid and he laid there on his back with his eyes closed such that I was starting to wonder if he'd fallen asleep. Not that I would have been shocked or upset, it happens with men. Damn, how many times had I been left to my own fingers when a guy started snoozing after he'd cum? I coughed gently and his eyes opened.

"Sorry, was just thinking," he mused, "You looked so hot with my cum in your mouth. Why doesn't Tamara let me do that?"

Loaded question and one I was loath to answer as there was no good response. Rather than dig myself a hole I snuggled up on the bed next to him, put my arm around his hips and laid my head just below his crotch with his dick right in front of me as it laid down flat on his pubic hair, spent and soft.

"Why don't we worry about something more important Leon... like getting you hard again?"

Leon took in a big breath and let it out slowly. "I don't know Kelly, never did it three times in one night before."

"Maybe you just never had the right motivation," I teased him, toying with his limp dick with my fingers.

With that I pulled my head in closer and took his flaccid dick in my mouth. Actually I don't mind soft dicks when it comes to sucking on them. There's something about feeling them grow in response to my touch that really turns me on. As they swell and lengthen, it's like they are telling me how good I am making them feel, like how much I turn them on.

"Well, I'm game if you are," he sighed as he tucked in a pillow under his had so he could watch without having to strain his neck.

It took maybe twenty or twenty five minutes but finally mission accomplished. The key to resuscitating a cock is not to overdo it. You don't need a lot of action, just constant and uninterrupted action. Stopping even for just a few seconds can be enough to lose whatever gains you may have made in the past ten minutes. So for all that time I kept it between my lips at all times, kissing it, licking it and fondling it as I nursed him back to an erect state.

Victory! I held his erection in my hand and sat up to smile at him. "See, I told you all you needed was the right motivation." Yeah, that a LOT of skill and perseverance.

"Fuck me like you fuck Tamara," I said, sounding more like a little girl asking her daddy to read her a bedtime story than a slut begging to be fucked.

Leon gave me a rather sardonic grin and said, "That's easy... on your back... missionary style."

Like what a surprise... NOT!

This time I pulled back the covers. A quick look at the night stands told me her side was on the right so I laid there on my back, knees bent with my feet flat on the bed with my legs spread apart for him.

“Like this?”

“Yep, you’ve got it,” he almost laughed as he got in between my legs and without any fanfare just stuck his dick in me and started to pound away. Maybe it WAS starting to make sense to me why they were looking for other couples!

I wrapped my legs around him, pulling him into me as he kissed and licked my boobs. Given how long it took just to get him hard again, I didn't imagine he would be cumming any time soon and boy, as THAT an understatement! Not that I was complaining mind you. I’d take a guy who lasts forever before cumming than a one stroke and cum guy any day! As he fucked me I played with my pussy, recognizing that this wasn't in line with how they fucked but the heck with that, I wanted to cum a few times myself!

As it turned out, I came twice more before he finally groaned and let loose inside of me for the second time. As soon as he finished he rolled over to the side of me, panting like he’d just run a marathon.

“Damn, three times,” he said more to himself than me I think.

We just laid there for a few minutes, not a sound in the room as felt his cum start to leak out of me. Using the sheets to clean myself off, I stood up and faced him.

“What do you say we go back and see how they are doing?”

6. Settling Accounts

Somehow Leon managed to crawl out of bed and we both made our way back to the living room. I was half expecting it to be empty, figuring they would head to another bedroom where it was more comfortable but I soon learned that was not the case. Instead, what I saw was a familiar sight. I don’t mean familiar in that I’d seen the two of them I like this before but more so familiar as in I recognized the situation as one like Steve and I have ended many an evening in just this fashion. There was Steve laying on his back on the couch, his head resting against the arm, with little Tamara laying on top of him with her head resting on his shoulder with Steve’s dick resting comfortably in her pussy. No doubt he wasn't exactly hard at the moment so if she were to shift her position even a little bit she would have flopped out but by laying still with her butt pushed down against him it was still in side of her, even if just a fraction of what it had been earlier.

For a moment I felt a bit of nostalgia as Leon and I stood there taking in the scene. I wasn't sure how he was feeling but for me it took me back so many years before when Steve was the only boy I'd had sex with and at the time, assumed he would be the only one I would EVER be with in that way. It was rather ironic that back then when I was just fourteen I would dream about marrying Steve and how we would make love and have children. When I talked to my mom about my dreams she would just smile as I'm sure she recognized a teenager's first crush, knowing sooner to later I would move on. Indeed, when Steve and his family left town I did move on, even if it wasn't easy. I found solace by being with as many other boys as I could but my heart never forgot my first love.

Seeing Tamara perched on top of Steve brought back memories of how I would do the same back when I was fourteen - and about the same size as Tamara was now even though she was nine years older than I'd been at that time. I wondered if this was how my parents felt when they would peek in my room after Steve and I had sex and find me laying on top of him, his arms around me holding me tight as we lay there joined together. For me there was something special about being one with him, of having a part of him inside of me for as long as possible. From a more base perspective we were essentially mating, even if the end result wasn't a baby (thank goodness!).

Steve was out but Tamara must have heard our footsteps we entered the living room because her eyes opened even though she remained still. She saw me first but her eyes quickly moved to her husband who was now naked with his spent dick hanging down. Obviously she knew what we'd been doing, just as we knew what had been going on in the living room. A small smile appeared at the corners of her mouth and I saw her shift just slightly - not enough to cause Steve's dick to fall out of her but enough to feel it move slightly. It was a move I knew well!

"Looks like she likes having my husband's dick in her," I said softly to Leon who was staring at his naked, freshly fucked wife.

Leon didn't say anything making me wonder if he was as turned on as I was or was there a twinge of regret in that expressionless face?

"Why don't we sit down?" I suggested. Leon didn't seem to have a better plan so he went back to the chair we'd started in where I then took a seat on his lap, putting my arm around his neck and leaning in towards him with my head on his shoulder and my breast pressing against his chest.

The silence in the room was deafening. My first thought was thank goodness Steve wasn't snoring! He was usually a quiet sleeper but after sex if he stayed on his back then all bets were off. Fortunately tonight was one of his better nights. In contrast, Tamara was wide awake and I could tell from the way she was squirming that she was still horny as heck. I wanted to call out to her and tell her to just be patient and wait as it wouldn't take all that long before Steve's dick would be growing inside of her again. One of the more interesting things I learned when we first started having sex was that getting an erection was one thing he didn't have to be awake for it to happen.

Meanwhile Leon was just sitting there without saying a word. He had one hand on my thigh, absentmindedly rubbing it and running his had up and down the soft inner skin but as good as it felt I knew he wasn't really paying attention to me. No, it was his sexy little wife a few feet away that had his full concentration.

"This is really weird," he finally whispered to me after a few more minutes.

"Why's that?"

"I don't know, just sitting her like this watching."

"How does it make you feel to see your wife enjoying another man inside of her?" I asked, trying not to cause any hard feelings but at the same my curiosity was just too much to contain.

"A little jealous I guess," he confessed. "She's never done that with me... not like this anyway."

"Well have you offered?"

Leon frowned. "No but still... she doesn't have to look like she's enjoying it so much."

"Maybe it's time for you to be with her," I offered. The more I watched Tamara squirming on top of Steve and listened to Leon trying not to admit just how jealous he really was, the more I thought maybe we'd had enough for one night. Like, I'd been laid and Steve certainly seemed to have had a good time so why push the issue?

"If she wants me... she seems pretty happy right now."

Oh yeah, definitely time to leave. If we stayed much longer I knew Steve would start responding to Tamara's movements. Again, knowing my husband as well as I did, once THAT happened there would be no stopping him until he'd fucked her again. Not that she seemed worried! Frankly, I wouldn't have minded another load from Leon but I had to keep reminding myself that this was the first time either of them had ever done anything like this.

If we quit now, it would allow Leon and Tamara to build upon their experiences tonight and hopefully solidify their marriage by realizing they could trust each other to be with other people yet in the end, it was their partner they really wanted. On the other hand, if things kept going in the direction they were headed, it might result in serious damage to their young marriage in terms of trust should either of them feel like the other was happier having sex with a stranger than them.

One thing that struck me was the idea that maybe Tamara and I could have a little fun before we left. While I'm not one to normally push for such things with a strange girl as I prefer to keep my bisexual activities amongst friends, the thought DID cross my mind with regards to Tamara. There was not a doubt in my head that the boys would mind watching us. Over the years I can't think of any time when guys weren't turned on watching me with another girl. Even my dad loved it when my mom and I would do a special show for him as a treat for his birthday or other special event.

"We really need to get going," I said a little louder to Leon as I pulled away and stood up. Tamara watched me but wasn't making any moves to get off my husband.

"Hey girl, your hubby over there needs some attention and I need to get mine home," I said with a smile to Tamara. Wow, I was actually a bit taken aback when I saw the expression on her face as for a moment I thought she was about to tell me to get lost! She definitely wasn't thrilled about the idea. Sheesh, had we created a monster?

Putting my hand on Steve's head, I shook him gently until he woke up. "C'mon sleepy head, let's call it a night."

Steve looked at me and then to Tamara who had sat up now such that Steve's cock was firmly planted in her again. I saw her hips were moving in slow small circles as she ground her pussy into his crotch.

"Just one more time?" he pleaded, like a small boy begging his mom to stay on the carnival ride one more time around.

I shook my head. "I think it's time."

There must have been something in my face or the way I said it but he seemed to get the message as well as the reasoning behind it. He scooted up a bit and put his hands on Tamara's thin waist, lifting her up off his dick.

"Sorry babe... You know you're REALLY good."

OK, now we definitely needed to go. Tamara reluctantly got off of Steve, taking her dear sweet time about it, and moved over to where Leon motioned for her to sit on his lap. Steve and I dressed – the shower would have to wait until we got home but I didn't think he would mind.

As we got ready to leave, I turned to the still naked couple, thanked them for their hospitality, and then left them with my final words of advice...

“It might not be a bad idea for the two of you to finish off the night in bed,” I advised, “I know that’s where Steve and I will be in a little bit... right honey?”

Steve grinned but I noticed his eyes were on Tamara the whole time. Looked like I had my work cut out for me later!

And so we left the two of them. The ride back home was rather uneventful as we shared our experiences. Steve always loved me to tell him about how I had sex with other mean (my dad being a huge exception to that rule). To be honest, I really wasn't all that anxious to hear about him and Tamara. Talk about a picture tells a thousand words. Seeing her lusting for him to the very end told me more than anything he ever could. Not that I could blame her...

****************

The next day Steve pointed out to me that Leon and Tamara’s profile was missing from the group site. I couldn't but wonder what that meant. Had it been too much for them? I like to think they had chosen widely for their first swap as I could just imagine how some of the other couples we’d met might have taken advantage of their situation. Oh well, we had agreed long before to try to avoid meeting the same couples again. It was the “strange” sex that made it hot for me, not to have resident partners.

So now we’d broken the ice. We’d had our first swap as a married couple and I have to say, overall I loved it! The question now was, what would be Steve's next choice? The first time had been pretty much based on my fantasy of a first swap so I told Steve the next one would be whatever HE wanted. Hmmmmmm, things could get interesting!

(Oct 01) Chapter 239: Indulging My Husband

Story codes: MF Mg Fm inc oral exhib
Me (26)
Steve - my husband (28)
Simon & Martha
Mark (15) - Simon & Martha's son
Elisa (12) - Simon & Martha's daughter

I've always contended that when you agree to marry someone that you'd better know who exactly they are and accept them for being just that way and not assume that you'll somehow "fix" them after the ceremony. In my humble opinion, if there are any major issues that you can't live with before marriage, then it's better not to marry him in the first place as you'll have to deal with them after marriage where your options are much more limited.

1. Husband vs. Father

Background

Like anyone else, I'm sure there are things about me that my new husband would like to change. For instance, he simply can't comprehend why I love watching Dancing With the Stars and then there's my "annoying" habit if stealing his favorite dress shirts for use as evening wear. More seriously, I know Steve's not all that comfortable with me having sex with my dad. Fortunately he understands that I do it out of love for my father as a means of fulfilling my obligations and duties as his daughter. As such there's no threat to our marriage or need for him to ever be jealous as I am most certainly NOT my father's "lover". Still, I can't help but feel at times that if he ever discovered a magic lamp with a genie bottled up inside that one of his three wishes wouldn't be for me to not have sex with my dad ever again.

In return, there are things I've had to accept about Steve that I would've rather not had I been given a choice. Why he can't throw away a pair of sneakers before they fall off his feet confounds me. Mixing ketchup with mayonnaise for his French fries gets to be a pain at times. Still, overall I love him enough that I can see past those little "warts. Perhaps the one thing about Steve that was the hardest for me to accept was his deep desires for young girls. In a way I’m lucky in that I'd already had to deal with that very same issue with another man I love – my father, so I knew that this was NOT something I could ever wish away or ever expect to change. When a man has such an addiction, the psychiatrists all agree that there is no “cure”. In the case of sexual predators we can isolate them and try to prevent them from acting out but those desires will always be there under the surface, waiting to break through at the slightest sign of weakness.

So just as Steve permits me to attend to my duties as a daughter, so I have agreed to allow him to indulge in his own fantasies. Well, I guess technically they aren’t fantasies since he actually DOES them but you get the idea. That doesn't mean either of us has to be involved in the other's activities, but we do support each other and isn't that was marriage is all about in the end?

==========

“C’mon Kelly... you promised.”

“I did no such thing... Not ever.”

“Oh give me a fucking break. You know damn well that you agreed that if I went along with what you wanted for our first swap then you’d let me pick who we did it with for the next one.”

“Well EXCUSE me mister if I assumed that meant the next COUPLE.”

“Well it IS... sort of.”

“Yeah right, now YOU give ME a break.”

It was five weeks into our marriage and Steve and I were having our first real fight. Well, argument maybe. Actually I guess that’s a pretty long time for two people not use to living with one another to go without something boiling over. A week ago we’d gone out on our first swapping date as a married couple. Despite his revisionist version of history, Steve had actually been the one to find the other couple on our swapping group web site. Granted, he knew what my expectations were for our first swap and yes, they DID fit exactly as to what I had wanted for our first time being married. Still, there remained the fact that HE was the one getting the better end of this deal. After all, who got to fuck a young newlywed wife who’d never had sex with anyone besides her husband... until then at least. Sure, I got to have her husband who also claimed he never had sex with anyone but his wife but somehow that just didn't seem as erotic – and Steve even agreed afterwards.

There was no doubt in my mind that under the circumstances no jury of my peers (does that mean a jury of twelve sluts, LOL) would convict me for assuming that when he picked the next couple for us to swap with that regardless of their idiosyncrasies that they would be just that - another couple. Call me naive or whatever but it simply never entered my mind that he might find something like this! When I think “couple”, I tend to imagine two people either engaged or married. Who in their right mind refers to a brother and sister as a couple anyway, especially at this age?

Knowing it was useless to argue further with him when he got this bullheaded, I stormed out of the room and headed straight for our bedroom, slammed the door behind me and threw myself down on the bed where I lay face down with my head buried in the pillow. As my heart rate eventually slowed down I was able to think things through more rationally. Although I wasn't about to admit it to him yet, it’s not like all of this should have come as any great surprise to me... After all, hadn’t I lived with a man almost just like him for most of my life?

*******************

“Every girl wants to marry a man like her father.”

Like any generalization or stereotype, this is not true for everyone, not by a long shot. Like what girl wants another abusive father in her life? What about the drunks and fat and lazy dads? Still, I’d like to think of those as the exception to the rule rather than the norm. At the same time, while I grew up loving my father and wanting nothing more than to please him and make him happy, I can't say I ever recall sitting down and imagining him twenty years younger proposing to me. Like just because you have sex with your own father doesn’t make him your lover. Quite the opposite in fact - it just meant that I was being a proper, respectful daughter doing what every good daughter should.

So if that was the case, then how the heck did I end up “marrying my dad”? I mean that figuratively course. The last thing I ever would do is marry my father. People have asked me if I would ever bear his child. It’s not a question that I can even comprehend, let alone respond. I know there are people out there who do such things and if it works for them, more power to them but NOT me. I am not a proponent of abortion but that would be the one case where I would make an exception.

To most people who know them I would think my father and husband appear quite dissimilar. They have totally different builds, personalities, occupations, seem to think, there aren't any father-husband threesomes for me. Maybe it's because each of them are so close to me and so intimate that they can't just stand there and watch. I don't really understand it and they're both too macho to talk about it. Still, whatever it is at least both of the men who are closest to my heart love showing me how much they love me! Can't ask for much more than that, can I?

The next similarity is that each of them qualifies as a certifiable porn addict. I guess that makes them like a lot of other guys in the world if you believe some of the statistics about porn on the Internet. They both have extensive porn collections consisting of hundreds of gigabytes of videos, photos and erotic stories they keep on various DVDs, portable hard drives and such for safe keeping, well away from prying eyes. In fact, I think this is one of the things that "bonded" them from the start - comparing their "collections" and sharing them with each other. It was like an instant free upgrade for them both! My father looked at porn all the time when I was growing up, masturbating frequently. Steve does much the same, although he doesn't tend to do it so openly since if I'm around he prefers me to the porn stars. Like my mom, I don't see any harm in their little fantasies although sometimes it seems an incredible waste of time.

That sort of leads to their next common trait - neither of them is a "one girl" type of guy. I mean sexually, not when it comes to marriage and family relationships. All through their marriage my dad was faithful to my mother and I have no doubt whatsoever that Steve will be same with me. Still, both of them have wandering eyes and desires which can only be fulfilled by enjoying other women. For my dad, his urges were satisfied mostly with my mom's sister and then eventually his nieces when they got old enough. Because of my mom's definition of adultery, his options were limited as there could be no sex outside of their marriage. Fortunately my mom considered their entire family as part of their marriage so incest was not viewed as adultery. With Steve and me, the definition of adultery has been modernized to include the "intent" clause meaning that so long as there was no intent to cheat on your spouse then sex outside of marriage is OK. Hence the swapping group we'd joined shortly after getting engaged and to which we still remained active members after marriage.

Perhaps the hardest commonality between them for me to deal with is that both of my guys are certified, card-carrying pedophiles. I don't mean this term as a slur or to pass judgment, it's just stating the facts. They are both turned on by young girls which technically and legally makes them pedophiles. I mentioned that while Elisa cheers on the sidelines, so we also enjoy watching when they have sex. They're both great kids and they love to show off so if you're interested in spending some quality time with them and don't mind their parents watching while you do, give us a poke."

The most vivid memories came flooding back and my pussy immediately began to tingle. Wow, that had probably been one of the most surreal episodes I'd ever been involved in up to the time. I was sitting off in the corner while my dad and my Aunt Linda did it with the two kids and indeed, true to their word their parents just sat there fully clothed watching everything. According to the mom they'd never had sex with their kids themselves but they certainly encouraged them to enjoy themselves and I remembered how cute they looked together after my aunt and dad had finished with them. Wow, so this must have been how she found them. I'd always wondered where she contacted such people.

"So what do you think?" Steve asked, a huge grin on his face - not to mention the raging hard-on I could see poking out of his boxers. I loved seeing him when he was turned on.

Now what? Well, I had to tell him. I mean, if we ever did actually meet them then they would probably recognize me and Steve would find out anyway so better to be up front now and get it over with. Steve took the news remarkably well, actually a bit TOO well and then it was his time to confess.

"Yeah, your Aunt told me about all that already which is why I looked for them. The whole thing sounded really hot, didn't you think so at the time?

We talked a while about it. I gave him the full account from my perspective which seemed to go along with what my aunt had said as well so at east she hadn't exaggerated anything much from what I could tell. As I got more detailed I could tell her was really getting turned on and when it got to where the two kids had started having sex that he finally couldn't stop from stroking himself. "Damn, that is SOOOOO hot," he said softly as pulled his shorts off to make it easier for him to jerk off. I was sitting on the bed next to him and it was tempting to give him a hand, so to speak, but instead I just continued on to finish the story. Besides, I always loved watching him masturbate.

"So tell me Kelly... did you wish Mark had fucked you too?" he asked when I was done.

I had to say one thing, the folks we were in contact with were punctual. Once again I was lying next to Steve but this time it was with a pussy full of cum. OK, so I could have gone another round but for all practical purposes I was finally satisfied. Steve was out of it though, practically passing out as soon as his head hit the pillow. I reached down and flipped his dick with my finger. Yep, he was finished! The poor thing just lay there limp and exhausted. Well, one good about them was it wouldn’t be long before it was ready for action again, even if it’s owner wasn't.

As I was starting to say, the folks were punctual in that just as I was about to pull up the covers over us the little “ding” went off again. Wow, could they really have responded back that quickly? I would have thought they would be deluged with people trying to contact them so it wouldn’t have surprised me one bit had they not responded even for a few days, let alone minutes.

Leaving my sleeping hubby in bed, I grabbed a nightshirt and pulled it on as I made my way to the computer on the desk. The t-shirt didn't do much for covering my bottom as I sat down on the cool wooden seat but at least it covered my boobs. If Steve had been with me I would have stayed nude as he would have me naked 24/7 if he had anything to say about it! Having his woman barefoot in the kitchen wasn't enough for him - he wanted me completely bare everywhere.

Sure enough, it WAS from them. They’d accepted our invitation and with it came a phone number. I could tell from the area code that it was a phone similar to the one we’d bought for such purposes, a simple throw-away from Wal-Mart. At least they were more cautious than Leon and Tamara had been the week before. I started to call them but then thought about it some more. This was really something I should let Steve take care of. After all, it was all about his fantasies and desires, not mine. Sure I was excited but I also knew what I felt was nothing compared to how Steve would feel once he read their response.

Leaving it for the moment, I headed back to bed, dropping the night shirt along the way. This time I pulled up the covers over us and fell asleep snuggled up against my wonderful husband.

3. Setting the Stage

It had been less than 48 hours since the arrangements had been made and here we were, sitting in Steve’s truck about to get out and walk into the hotel. Nothing like a little motivation to get a guy to take action fast. Steve had called Simon, the father of the family we'd been exchanging invitation with, and in less than ten minutes the guys had everything worked out. Neither side of the conversation was willing to give out any more personal information than necessary so meeting at their house was off the table. The same went with our apartment although that was more a question of logistics as our single bedroom with one bed would have made things a bit cramped. The easiest compromise was to meet at a hotel where Simon volunteered to book the room. He then emailed Steve the name of the hotel and just a few minutes before Steve had received a text message with the room number which meant they were checked in and waiting for us.

"Now look me in the eye and tell me... are you sure you want to do this?" he asked me as he unlocked the doors. Yeah, like now was a good time to be asking this. It was more a rhetorical question anyway as he didn't wait for an answer but instead quickly got out which allowed me to slide out behind him.

The hotel was a rather upscale Marriott so at least Simon wasn't a cheapskate. We walked through the front entrance, bypassed the check-in counter and quickly located the elevators. As the doors closed behind us I took one last look at myself in the mirrored back wall.

"For goodness sake, quit worrying so much, you look great!" Steve encouraged me.

Yeah, easy for him to say. A quick shower, shave, a few strokes with a comb, some deodorant (hopefully) and dash of cologne and he was finished in the bathroom. Following that his socks, boxers, a pair of jeans and a dress shirt and he was ready to go. Sometimes men make me jealous! I also took a shower but in the process I had to wash my hair and shave a lot more real estate than he did. Unless I wanted my hair to be totally flat there was the blow drier and curling iron to contend with followed by fifteen minutes at least applying makeup. I'd been debating from the start on what I should wear but then did it really matter? I had little doubt that no matter what I chose I wouldn't be in it for long. Still, first impressions are lasting impressions so I didn't want to look like a cheap whore or just your average housewife either. Something to catch the eye but not look like I was trying too hard to do so.

If nothing else, the clerk behind the desk had validated my choice. I couldn't help but smile to myself when he stole a glance at my ass which was clearly outlined in the tight skirt I'd chosen. I'd considered going for one of my tighter jeans to give the same effect but that would've left too many marks when I undressed, not the sexiest thing in the world. The skirt wasn't the shortest one in my wardrobe by any means but it was suitable for the general public without raising too many eyebrows. I had on a light jacket so the white blouse I was wearing wasn't visible. The blouse was rather sheer so I'd decided to wear a bra rather than have my nipples show though which would have been a little over the top for a family affair. Actually the harder decision was what color bra to wear as it would be visible. Black was the automatic choice but I decided to go with a bright red one instead along with a matching thong.

"That bra looks pretty sharp on you," Steve observed as I opened up my jacket to check everything out. "Maybe you should wear one more often."

I turned and gave him an odd look. Was he serious? Steve couldn't help but laugh at himself, "OK, OK. So I'm just kidding... don't get any strange ideas."

The door opened just then and we stepped out into the hallway. My heel caught on the elevator floor where it was open between the elevator and the hallway but Steve was there to grab me before I twisted something, or worse.

"Why do girls have to wear heels THAT high?" he teased me.

"Because guys want our asses and legs to look tight, that's why," was my curt response. Sheesh, do guys think we wear them for comfort? Again, there was a little jealousy in that Steve was wearing brown loafers with flat bottoms. No tripping on floors for him and he could have walked home without being crippled in the process.

According the numbering on the doors, the room was about half-way down the hall. Just as Steve was about to knock I turned to him and said, "Are you SURE about this? We can still turn back."

Steve looked at me like he thought I was joking. Indeed, that was exactly what he said.

"Are you joking?"

Some things are better left unsaid so I giggled like an idiot and pretended that was indeed exactly what I was doing. I knew my husband well enough that when he had that wild look in his eye I could see right then that there was no talking him out of something.

Steve knocked and in a few seconds the door opened and there was a sight I hadn't seen in almost a year and a half – Simon standing there greeting us.

"Steve?... Kelly?... good to finally meet you," he greeted us and ushered us inside. My mind was racing and I had to wonder what he meant by "finally meet you"?

It had been like less than 48 hours since we'd first made contact so it wasn't like we'd been trading e-mails for a year.

"Steve... Kelly... I'd like you to meet my family... My wife Martha, son Mark and daughter Elisa."

Like we needed to be told. Steve had spent enough time staring at their profile the last two days that he probably knew their names better than his relatives''. Sitting down in the room were the three of them, looking exactly like they had on their profile. If anything, I'd have said the profile photos had been taken within the last week as even the haircuts and hair styles looked exactly the same. The only difference was while the parents were actively engaging us, the kids were on the couch fooling with their phones. Well, so what else was new! We had to ban them at my school (or at least they had to turn them in during classes) as even kids that young were glued to the things these days.

Once inside I quickly did a quick survey of the room. It was pretty standard issue upscale hotel style with two queen sized beds, a large desk, a bureau with a big flat-screen TV mounted on top of it, along with a small couch and two stuffed chairs. As we entered I noted a bathroom to the side. The light over the sink was on and I could see it contained a large bath tub which looked to be a Jacuzzi style as well as a stand-up shower stall. The towels looked to be extra-large unlike the napkins you get at the cheap hotels. Interestingly there was nothing laid out. Overall it was a very nice room if somewhat sterile. We could have been in any city in the country for all you could tell from the generic room décor.

Then there were the room's occupants which were NOT generic by any means. Even so, if I'd met them under different circumstances I probably would've categorized them as the stereotypical American family - mom, dad, older brother and younger sister. Heck, about all that that was missing was the family dog and I wouldn't have been surprised to find out they'd left it at home. Simon and Martha would have been right at home at the local PTA meeting with Simon in faded jeans and a Steelers polo shirt (making him an instant pal of mine). Martha was wearing plain khaki pants, simple brown sandals with pale blue blouse that hung loosely but still fit her well at the same time. A true soccer mom and her office-dwelling middle-management husband right down to the obvious tanning salon results for the mom and gold chain around the neck of the husband.

Oh yeah, then there were the kids. At the mall or school they wouldn't have stood out as anything unusual or different, certainly nothing in their appearance or realized and he’d found our private, or so we thought, photo collection which he then showed to his sister. Apparently it gave them ideas...”

Simon once again looked at Martha and smiled. “We decided that what was done was done and that anything we did or said would just make things worse so better to just let nature run its course. I don’t think either of us really expected it to go any further than that though.”

Martha interjected then. “It was actually a bit humorous. Kelly, you’re a teacher so you should know what I mean. Kids think they’re keeping something secret from their parents but they have no idea how obvious they’re being. I remember finding magazines under Mark’s mattress like THAT was some secret hiding place where a mom would never look.”

She looked at Mark who evidently was listening as he shrugged his shoulders and frowned, maybe a little embarrassed at his mother telling such things, who knows. In any case, it didn't stop his mother from continuing...

“At first it seemed like we’d made the right decision as after the initial surge when it was all new to them, it seemed to start to calm down. From what we could tell it stayed at just the oral sex level between them. If anything more was happening we just assumed it was with their friends.”

This time it was my turn to make the discovery,” Simon took over. “As time went on and we didn't say anything it was like they thought we were clueless so they got bolder. Typical kids, always pushing the boundaries. We both woke up one night and we could hear them in their bedroom. Martha told me to go check on them so I looked in carefully and lo and behold, there was Elisa riding her brother like a bronco and it was pretty obvious that this wasn't their first rodeo.”

Martha laughed at that. “God, he came back to be with the biggest hard-on he’d had in ages. I asked him what was going on but he practically attacked me. It wasn't until later he finally told me what he’d seen.”

“So what could we do?” Simon asked rhetorically, “That’s one genie that wasn't going to go back in the bottle and we couldn't go on acting like nothing was going on. We finally decided to bring it up at dinner where we told them we knew what they were doing. Poor Elisa, she looked like she was going to cry but mark didn't seem concerned at all. If anything, I was a little concerned about the way he was looking at his mom!”

He paused, took a breath, and then, “We told them it was OK with us but they had to keep it at home and Elisa needed to get on birth control – which her mom here took care of pronto.”

Martha sighed, “My damn gyno was soooooo difficult about it but I told her either give my daughter the pills or I’d just find someone else. We eventually changed to someone different who wasn't so judgmental.”

Back to Simon… “Really nothing changed. It wasn't like we started having family sex or anything like that. Martha and I just aren’t into that sort of thing on so many different levels. The kids did their thing, we did ours. The next time we met with our friends we gave them an update. That was when they brought up the subject of family sex parties, something I’d never heard about before and frankly, was a bit shocked. Neither Martha or I wanted anything to do with that sort of thing and we weren’t thrilled about the idea of our kids being used by other parents either. They were cool about it though and asked we’d be interested in just getting together and let the kids do their thing while the adults did theirs.”

Simon took a break to catch his breath and continued. “That didn't sound so bad and if anything, Martha and I were concerned about our kids doing it with other kids who might say something so this sounded like a good opportunity. We brought it up with them and they thought it would be fun so we figured why not try it once and see how it worked out.”

“So that was how we got started the first time,” Martha said. “We went to their house and things got started with our kids all getting together.”

Simon cut back in, “Martha and I had expected that the other couple and us would leave them to their own devices but the other couple insisted that we stay and watch. It was a little strange for me to see my daughter having sex with another boy. Actually, I’d never really seen her and Mark together other than just a peek through the door. It was more erotic than I had expected to be honest.”

Martha sighed. “It started to get a little out of hand when the other couple joined the kids. They started with their own which was the first time I’d witnessed a real couple having sex with their own kids but as hot as it was, it didn't make me want to do my own son.

“Now THAT, I have to admit, really did turn me on,” Simon interjected excitedly. I mean, you hear about fathers and daughters and such but I’d never actually SEEN it in real life. His daughter was maybe a year older than Elisa but looked two or three years older. And then the son did his mom which I think got Martha’s teapot boiling, didn't it dear?”

Martha grinned. “What can I say?”

Simon just flashed her a toothy grin and went on... “Then they did our kids. At first I was pretty apprehensive - she IS my little girl after all. Even after seeing her with her brother and the other boy, I wasn't really prepared to see a guy my own age doing her. Yeah, I felt a little jealousy but it wasn’t sexual, more the way Elisa looked at him while he was doing her. She had never looked at me THAT way, I’ll tell you that.”

Martha nodded her head in agreement. “I was sort of the same way. I knew Mark looked at me THAT way sometimes and I have to admit I sort of encouraged him at times but it never went anywhere - and never has. But seeing him do another mom instead of me was a bit difficult to swallow the first time.”

“So anyway, that was the first time we did anything like that,” Simon concluded, “Later at a party they must have told your aunt about it because she approached us and asked if we would like to do something similar with her and your dad. We hadn’t really expected to do that sort of thing again - I mean once was more than enough for me. Still, the kids were all for it, especially Mark. I guess you could say he was afflicted with the classic MILF syndrome.”

Martha brought it to a close with, “Nonetheless, that was the last time we’d done anything like that. It was erotic of course but neither Simon or I thought it was something we wanted to get too much more deeply involved in. It’s one thing for the kids to have fun with other kids but when it comes to other adults then it starts getting risky. Still, when your Aunt Linda approached us and mentioned you were now married and explained how Steve here shared many of your father’s interests and thought we might be a good way for the two of you to break the ice, so to speak. Kelly, I hear you’ve been to a few family parties so you know how crazy those can be. So we set up a profile just for you guys and the rest is history.”

It was quiet for a moment and then it hit me like a ton of bricks. “Just for you guys”????? So the whole thing was a setup? But for that to work then Steve would have to either be incredibly lucky to find them or...

“You set me up!” I accused him. I wasn't really mad, just surprised. Damn, talk about being blonde and clueless!!! How could I have fallen for this so easily?

“Well, would you have agreed to this otherwise?” he said defensively.

He had a point but that still didn't mitigate what he'd done. That also explained some of the other questions I had like concerns about them posting underage sex photos. No doubt they were erased as soon as Steve showed them to me. No wonder he was in such a hurry to download them for himself.

Well, at least now all the cards were out on the table. Now I had a much better idea of the situation and why everyone was doing what they were doing which made me more comfortable about everything. Yes, I felt a little foolish and a bit peeved at being deceived but I could understand why they had done what they had.

“So how does this work?” I asked.

Martha seemed happy to let Simon handle this one.

“Well, remember it's not like this is something we do a lot so it's as much up to you guys as us,” he explained. “I mean, we can get right down to it, talk some more, visit the pool and hot tub a bit... whatever you want. We brought their swimsuits.”

While the pool and hot tub sounded great I hadn't brought a suit and it's not like you can go skinny dipping in the hotel pool without drawing attention. Besides, I didn't feel like dealing with wet hair and while I was pretty sure the bathroom would have a blow drier, why bother?

“Please just remember one thing,” Martha interjected, “As I hope you've gotten clear by now, Simon and I do not believe in parent-child incest and we do our swinging on our own time so we're just here to watch. I know it must sound a little kinky but we really do enjoy watching them. ”

She paused to see if there were any comments. There being none, she continued. “Kelly, your rep for hunting down married men precedes you but Simon stays off-limits – OK? I mean at least for today. Now if you and Steve want to swap sometime I'd love to get my hands on your hunk of a husband but not with the kids around.”

She smiled as I nodded my agreement and then focused briefly on Steve. “I guess we all know where Steve's attention is so there's no need for me to say this but I will anyway. As I just said I'd love to get down and dirty with you but that's NOT going to happen in front of my kids, ok?”

Martha rubbed the alms of her hands together as if she was trying to warm up. “OK, so what do you say we quit yapping and get things started, ok?”

4. Steve's Wish Comes True

There was another awkward silence that lasted for several seconds. I certainly wasn't sure how to proceed. I tried to remember how things got started when they were at my dad’s place but my mind was like mush. Fortunately there were others with more experience in this sort of thing than me.

“Elisa... why don’t you get on the bed with Steve there?” Martha said, more a direction than a question.

Elisa nodded, putting her phone on the small table in front of the couch and then she looked over at Steve and then at me. For the first time since we’d come in she smiled as our eyes met. It was more like a “watch me lady while I do your husband” sort of smile, not the sort of thing you expect to see from a girl her age. Damn, for being so young she knew how to turn it on.

As she moved towards Steve I stood up and took her place on the couch, crossing my legs such that both Mark and his father got a good view of my bare upper thigh as my skirt pulled up. I didn't bother to tug it down as that was the whole point in crossing my legs! Simon might be off limits according to Martha but then a girl can’t be blamed for trying. To be perfectly honest, at that moment I’d rather have him fuck me than his aloof son. I wasn’t blaming Mark, he was behaving no different than any other boys his age. At the same time, BEING a boy his age I also knew that once I got his attention then I wouldn't have to worry about it anymore.

For the moment all eyes were on Steve and Elisa, well all the adult eyes anyway. I could tell from even a few feet away that Steve’s breathing had picked up the pace and I could only imagine what his heart rate was doing about now. It wasn't like this was the first time he’d had a young girl but it WAS the first time I’d seen him with one so I was feeling a little anxious.

“Elisa, you’re not being very nice to our guest. Take those clothes off. I’m sure he wants to see what’s underneath them, don’t you Steve?”

Steve didn't say anything in response to Martha’s coaching of her daughter but the look on his face told us everything, not to mention the huge bulge in his jeans. He stared as Elisa got off the bed and without much fanfare, just undressed until she was standing there naked in front of him. No strip tease, no show, just as if she was undressing in the privacy of her bedroom yet somehow the simplicity and openness was as erotic as if she’d been on stage.

"I've got to admit, I've never been much for the taste myself but she seems to love it," her mother observed.

Indeed, she was aiming him carefully, taking each load on her tongue or towards the back of her mouth, keeping herself and the surroundings free of flying cum. Once he was finished she turned her head to her mom as if to show off like she was a little girl coming home from school with a painting to hang on the refrigerator.

"That's my girl," Martha said smiling at her foxy little daughter. Elisa turned back to Steve and I could see her swallowing down his cum, then opening her mouth to show that it was all down like she had been given a pill and now had to prove she'd swallowed it.

Steve grabbed her by her thin waist and easily lifted her up and onto her back on the couch. For the time being, he ran his hands all over her, caressed every inch of her body with special attention to her budding boobs and fuzzy pussy.

"Aren't you going to get some for yourself Kelly?" Martha asked, nodding her head towards her son, "He's trying to act all cool and pretend he's not horny but trust me, he wants to screw you."

"Mom!" he whined, once again demonstrating he was listening to every word.

"Why don't you treat Kelly like a woman?" his mom suggested although from the tone it was a little more than just a suggestion.

It only took one look into his eyes to know his mother had her son pegged. Yeah, he may have been putting on a show but one look at those big blue eyes and I just knew he wanted me.

"So what do you say Mark, you want to fuck me this time or would you rather do my aunt again?"

Mark lifted one side of his mouth in some sort of grin and I wasn't quite sure if he was smiling or leering at me.

"Yeah, I remember her, she was pretty hot."

"Mark!" his mother corrected him and rightly so. One thing a guy should never do to his date and that is to say another woman was a good fuck before he fucks his date.

"But you're even hotter," he lamely tried to fix his error. It was clumsy but I had to give him credit for at least trying.

"If that's true, then why don't you show me proof?" I teased him gently.

Mark grinned again but this time it was more on the leering side for sure.

fuck and show our true feelings for one another. Maybe tonight was a wakeup call. I knew Steve would sleep right through it so it was up to me.

There are many things I have done sexually in my life and I Can honestly say I don’t regret having done any of them. Certainly there are those that I won’t repeat but to regret having the experience just wouldn't be right. Being fucked by a dog is something I’ll never do again. Taking on dozens of men in a hotel suite is another. As I fell asleep I mentally added another to the list – no more young boys for me. If you can’t control yourself then you shouldn't be doing it and I most certainly had proved this was something I couldn't control.

That said I turned back and laid on my back as Steve slept. My hands went between my legs as I masturbated, dreaming about how I loved being fucked by Mark. My pussy ached for his hard dick, for that unrelenting erection that never seemed to go down. His desire for me was almost animal-like in its intensity. I was just something for him to fuck, nothing more, nothing less. And god did he fuck me good...

After I’d cum the feelings of guilt washed over me like a tsunami. Yet again I swore to myself that I would never do this again.

My hand crept back between my legs and all my resolve faded away once again...

(Nov 10) Chapter 240: A Birthday Surprise For My Dad

Story codes: MF FF oral inc father daughter
Me (26)
John - my dad (47)
Steve - my husband (28)
Tammy - my mom's BFF (47)
Kristen - cousin (24)

What do you get for the father who has everything? It's a dilemma I face several times a year thanks to birthdays, Christmas and Father's Day. Sure he always tells me he doesn't want me to buy him anything, that he's happy just being my father, and all that crap. No matter what he says he can't fool me so I want to get him SOMETHING, even if I don't have all much cash available to spend. Fortunately my Aunt Linda's always there to give some help on the financial side and even my mom pitched in by applying a little "influence" to make things happen when I need the help.

1. For the Man Who Has Everything

When I say my dad has everything, that's not much of an exaggeration. Career-wise he's at the top of his game being a senior partner in large law firm - which also helps out from the financial perspective as well. Yeah, he's got all the boy-toys like a ski boat, radio-controlled planes, and every electronic gadget imaginable including the huge flat screen home theater where he watches the football package which I know he paid a bundle, not to mention his huge porn collection. Well-known and highly respected in our community, he's served in numerous positions in a wide variety of community organizations. At church he's served as deacon and elder. In addition to his time, my dad also contributes generously to a number of local charities.

All that's what everyone sees - the rich, handsome (at least I think so) successful man living a life that most men only dream about. What they probably religious position was that such acts constituted adultery and as such was simple off the table.

Knowing the sexual creature that my mother is, I'm positive that had she not been bound by the Ten Commandments she would have loved to swing just as much as my dad but my mother takes her religion VERY seriously. In all their more than twenty five years of marriage there are only two women that my mom has allowed my dad to have sex with that were not related to either of them – my best friend Beth and her best friend Tammy (not to be confused with my younger cousin Tammy). In both cases she rationalized that the women were so intimate with our family that they were virtual family members so it was OK to treat them as family. Yes, it was rationalizing at its best but sometimes you have to compromise to have a marriage – something I've already learned early in my own marriage.

So with all that in mind, what would YOU give your father if you were in my high heels?

2. Sisters to the Rescue

While I may refer to Beth as my best friend, that is really in relation to my other friends where Beth clearly wins out as being my intimate confidante and most closest friend. However, when it comes down to who is my BEST friend (other than my husband) the answer is indisputable – my mother.

Really, who knows you as well as your own mother? I have always shared EVERYTHING with my mom. Indeed, she was the first person I told after losing my virginity. She was the one that taught me how to properly use a vibrator – even if I don't use one very often. She was the first girl I had sex with starting shortly after my dad started fucking me. One thing I learned immediately was that that having sex with my mother is totally different from being with anyone else, even taking into account my father.

You see, no matter what happens between us, I am always my father's daughter so I would never consider him as my lover when we have sex. Yet when I'm with my mother all that goes out the window. Sure, when we masturbate together or talk it's mom and daughter all the way and even when we just have a bit of fun together the relationship remains intact. However there ARE those times when we lay together and it's like something magical happens. My mom is the only women I've ever had sex with where I consider her as a lover and not just a partner.

So hopefully that explains why when I have a question about family or sex it's my mom who is my first choice for advice and so it was as my dad's 47th birthday approached. We were using FaceTime one night and I brought up the subject of my dad's rapidly approaching birthday.

"So what did you get him last year?" she asked although I knew she already knew the answer. My mom just doesn't forget things like presents or other events.

I shrugged into the camera and answered, "A new shirt."

My mom grinned as I tried to contain myself. What I said was technically true. It's what I did NOT say that was the real story. Yes, I gave him a new shirt but I was wearing it at the time - and absolutely nothing else but a smile.

My mom shrugged back and said, "Somehow I doubt he'd complain much if he got the same present two years in a row."

No doubt she was right but I was hoping for something original and I told her so. She paused for a moment and I kept silent as I watched her nose crinkle as she thought hard about it.

"What about Beth?"

I was surprised by that one as it wasn't something I had even considered. I especially hadn't expected to hear it from my mom as Beth was one of the two women my dad had committed adultery with while they were married. Sure she had been there to watch but the act was still adulterous to her no matter how she rationalized it at the time.

My mom must have seen my expression.

"Hey, she's got great boobs and you know how much he likes that sort of thing."

True, she was right on the money with that observation. It was sort of a conflict in my eyes as on the one hand he loved young girls with tiny breasts but when they were old enough to have full boobs then he liked them BIG.

I didn't respond right away as I needed to do some thinking about this one. Besides, although it had been years since my dad had last fucked Beth so on the one hand I'm sure he'd love to have her again. I didn't really see it as anything special or unique. Sort of "been there done that" sort of thing.

I told my mom I would think about it and thanked her for her help after which I signed off and laid back on my bed to contemplate my options.

Just then my wonderful husband came home. He'd been over at my dad's place and while he didn't tell me what he'd been doing there he reeked with the unmistakable scent of pussy that combined with the glow on his face told me all I needed to know - he'd been fucking my Aunt Linda. It was one of those "benefits" that come with marrying into an incestual family - the right to have sex with other willing family members and Steve took full advantage of it - especially when it came to my Aunt Linda.

Steve's interest in my Aunt Linda It was always a little curious to me. In general he seems to prefer the same sort of girls my dad's interested in thanks in no small part to my aunt's influence. Thus before Steve started have sex with my family I'd assumed he would go straight for my younger cousins Kristen and Tammy. However, Kristen's past history as a highly paid prostitute seemed to turn him off and Tammy is now serious with a boyfriend so those situation never evolved. Instead he got hooked from the outset by my mom's sister. Actually I think it started because my mom wasn't readily available so doing her sister was the next best thing but once things got started he couldn't seem to get enough of her. What could I say? After all, my Aunt Linda had the same effect on my father as well, going back all the way to when she was in eighth grade.

"So... did you enjoy yourself?" I teased him as he got undressed and headed for the shower.

Steve knew I was just trying to push his button so he just smiled and licked his lips as if he'd just finished a delicious dinner - which probably wasn't all that much off the mark knowing my Aunt's love of oral sex. Still, I like to think I give a better blowjob - at least my dad claims as much.

By the time Steve was out of the shower I'd removed my t-shirt and was sprawled naked across the bed with my legs open wide waiting for him. It wasn't long before his fresh-smelling dick was in my mouth and I loved the way it grew and swelled as I sucked on it hungrily.

"Someone horny tonight?" he gasped as I deep-throated his cock to the hilt. There was no need to answer, at least not vocally. My mouth was already doing all the talking that was necessary.

Steve might not be the horny sixteen year-old that took my virginity but even at the ripe old age of 28 he could still recover quickly although I had no idea how many times he'd cum while with Linda. In the end it didn't matter as it only took a few minutes to have him at full erect status. Flipping myself over, I got on my hands and knees and wiggled my butt to tempt him - as if THAT was necessary.

"Fuck me Steve... God I want so bad for you to fuck me," I encouraged him in as sultry a voice as I could muster. Again, not that he NEEDED me to say anything, the pose said it all, but what guys doesn't like to hear a girl beg to be fucked by him? Well, none that I have ever encountered.

We made love for the next hour or so and afterwards I was lying to the side of him with one bare leg draped over his, my boobs pressed up against his side as I ground my now cum-soaked pussy into his hip. Although I didn't say anything, I really could have gone for one more load of his sperm and maybe another "O" or two more for me but he was exhausted.

"So do you guys talk about anything when you fuck her?" I asked him.

Steve looked down at me and I could tell from the surprised look on his face that I'd blindsided him with that one. Normally I never asked about what he did with her, let alone what they talked about, so I could just imagine what was churning in his head right then. What was I up to? There had to be some reason I was asking but what was it? Well, I knew what my motivation was but he was going to have to find out on his own.

"I don't know... nothing much," he mumbled. It was like asking one of my students what they'd done over the weekend... "nothin".

"Was my dad there?"

"No.... late at work I guess."

That didn't surprise me as he was ALWAYS late from work. What WOULD have been a surprise would have been if Steve had said he was NOT late from work.

"You know it's his birthday next week, don't you?"

OK, so it was a loaded question. Heck, what guy remembers birthdays? I sometimes think my dad can't remember his own, let alone mine. If it wasn't for my mom or aunt reminding him I'm sure he'd forget mine every year.

"Yeah, Linda mentioned something about that actually," he grunted as he cleared his throat. I think he'd started to drift off. After fucking two insatiable women in the same evening I really couldn't blame him but now he had my curiosity up so his sleep would just have to wait for a few more minutes.

"Did she say anything about what my dad wants? What she's getting him?"

Steve shifted his weight and twisted to face me more directly. I liked it because he slipped his leg in between mine and his upper thigh pressed into my warm pussy, giving my still-sensitive clit a little jolt.

"Kelly, to be perfectly blunt I really wasn't listening to much of what she was saying at the moment... IF she was saying anything."

He said it in such a deadpan serious manner that we both burst out laughing. Now THAT I could believe.

With that he turned back onto his back and drifted off to sleep as I held his now flaccid dick in my hand. I loved laying like this next to my husband, our nude bodies tight up against each other with his cock firmly in my hand. Of course it would've been better if that cock was in my pussy but you can't have everything all the time.

I ground my pussy tightly up against his hip which caused my clit to rub against the bone, sending a shiver through my entire body. God I wanted him to fuck me again! I loved it when my husband fucked me and even more when he made love to me.

No such luck though as Steve was now sound asleep so I leaned back and grabbed my iPhone off the table by the bed. Within a few seconds I had my aunt on the line. She must have seen it was me calling on her caller ID...

"Hey, don't blame me if he couldn't get it up again," she answered the phone teasingly before I could even say a word.

"Like who do you think you're talking to?" I responded acting like I was surprised she would even THINK such a horrible thing could happen, "Not only did I have him up in less than three minutes, but he came in me TWICE."

"Wow, pretty impressive... you married one hell of stud there honey."

"Well, I could've gone for three but thanks to someone whose name I won't mention he was finished after the second one."

"Well, I can't say I'm sorry about that," she teased me again.

"So anyway... what am I supposed to get my dad for his birthday this year?"

There was a pause and then she answered with another question, "What did your mom say?"

I was startled at first. How did she know I'd asked my mom? While my mother had gotten over much of her animosity towards her sister for what she'd done with her ex-husband so soon after the divorce, it wasn't like they had each other on speed-dial. Then I realized that my aunt knew me so well that she must have assumed that the first person I'd ask about the subject would have been my mom.

"She suggested I wrap Beth up in a big red bow and make her my present."

Well, maybe she hadn't said so in so many words but that was the intent of her idea.

"Not very original," was the first thing my aunt said in response, "Not exactly on his 'to-do' list that I know of either to be perfectly blunt." Then she giggled, "But then I'm sure he wouldn't return her either."

"Well do you have anything better?" I practically pleaded, "I'm fresh out this year."

"Well honey, you know that you can always give him something that he appreciates."

I knew what she was referring to - ME. Still, that was something he could have anytime he wanted so it wasn't exactly anything special for his birthday - or something that would surprise him either.

My aunt seemed to sense my reaction even without the help of a cam. "Yeah I know... been there done that, right?"

"Aunt Linda!" I admonished her, "You know better than that!"

"I didn't mean it like that," she apologized, "I was just trying to say it wouldn't be the first time he got that for his birthday."

"So what do I do?"

"Well... I know a few people that might like to wish him a happy birthday..." she said slowly.

It didn't take a rocket scientist to figure that one out. "No way, I'm NOT going there and you should know better than to even mention it," I scolded her a bit harshly - and meaning it this time as well. As much as I knew he would love it, I was not inviting some family over with underage daughter(s) for him to enjoy himself.

"Well you asked," she whined a little. Then she giggled and said, "Well there's always the other end of the spectrum you know."

My head must have still been a little woozy from my last orgasm as that one went right in one ear and out the other without registering. What was she talking about?

"Oh come on Kelly," she huffed, "You know there IS one older woman he loves to fuck that he hasn't for a very long time."

I was about to ask if she meant my mother but not even my aunt wouldn't be THAT insensitive. Just then the proverbial light bulb went off over my head.

"But how would I ever get her?" I mused. And that would be assuming she would agree to do it in the first place.

"I thought you two got along pretty well?"

True, I DID consider myself a pretty good friend to Tammy, my mother's BFF. We'd done a lot together - including my mother and father. Still, I hadn't spoken to her in ages and I had to think it would feel funny to just call her out of the blue and her if she was willing to allow me to give her as a birthday present to my dad.

"Yeah but how would I even get her here - assuming she was willing to do it in the first place?" I asked my aunt.

From the quick response it was if she had already thought the whole thing through. Then again, maybe she had...

"Tell you what honey... you get her to agree to come and I'll fork out for the ticket... deal?"

What could I say to that? I knew the real estate business had been picking up for her recently so I wasn't worried that she couldn't afford it. besides, if she needed cash there was always my dad she would grab it from.

We came to an agreement and then she said something about my dad pulling in the driveway so I let her go. I returned to my original spot next to my now dead-asleep husband and laid there thinking about this new turn of events. It was a great idea - one my dad would never see coming. Just one small problem... getting Tammy to travel from Oregon to Pennsylvania on one week's notice. What would she tell her husband? It's not like he had a clue as to what she had done in the past when visiting her best friend - or should I say WHO she had done.

Without realizing it I drifted off but then it was like I woke up instantly full awake. Like duh! The answer was there as plain as the nose on my face but for whatever reason I hadn't seen it. Picking up the phone again, I hit the dial button and waited.

"Forget something Kelly?" my mom answered her phone.

I quickly explained my idea, speeding through it as fast as possible so she couldn't answer until I was finished.

"And just what makes you think Tammy would even be interested in something like that?" was her initial response and my heart sank. Obviously my mom wasn't as enthusiastic about the idea as I'd been.

"Well... I was sorta hoping that that was where YOU could come in Mom," I said meekly.

My mom laughed but then responded with, "Well, I guess it couldn't hurt to ask her."

"So you think it's a good idea then?" I asked hopefully.

"Frankly, not your best but then I'll bet it's better than what my perverted sister proposed, isn't?"

She was spot on but then I suppose if anyone knew my aunt it would be her older sister. My guilty silence confirmed her suspicions.

"Well, if that's your Plan B then I'll get Tammy to fly out one way or the other. Just tell that cheapskate sister of mine to buy my friend a ticket in First Class."

We talked a little more and then hung up. This time I fell asleep quickly as it was like a huge weight had been lifted off of my shoulders.

3. Tammy Arrives

With my dad's birthday falling on a Thursday this year it made things more difficult than they would have been had it been on a weekend but one way or another we worked things out. I got a phone call a couple of days after my conversation with my mom and it was Tammy. We didn't say a lot as apparently she and my mom had discussed it at length but I'd already looked up flights and had everything set up by that evening.

Fortunately the arrival time was well after my school day ended so I was able to pick her up after dinner. Steve was home but would be leaving for work in a few hours. I hadn't told him anything, figuring a surprise would be better.

The drive to the airport went quickly. I had to circle the airport and park in the cell-phone lot for a while waiting for Tammy's flight and for her to collect her luggage. Finally my phone rang and it was her, telling me where she was waiting. As I came down and around the curve to the arrival area, there she was by the curb, waving to me with a big grin on her face. It had been ages since I'd seen her but she didn't seem to have aged one bit.

"Hey girl, so glad to see you again!" she greeted me warmly once I'd stopped and gotten out to help with her bag. We hugged and then she stood back and gave me the once over.

"It's been quite a while, hasn't it?" she giggled and then we got in the car and I drove off before the security guard said anything.

For the first few miles we exchanged pleasantries. The usual stuff - her flight and how that went, how things were back home with her sons and husband.

Tammy was what I guess you would call the typical soccer-mom. If you ignored some of her visits to our house then there was nothing in her background or home life to suggest she was anything but the neighborhood mom and loving wife. I'd met her family when me and my mom had visited and it was almost like living in Mayberry. So far as her husband knew, she was conservative in bed and had never cheated on him. That was quite true for the most part - again ignoring a couple of visits with me and my parents where she had the chance to let her hair down, so to speak (her dark blonde hair was actually quite short).

Just as my dad had fucked my best friend Beth, so he had with my mom's best friend. On top of that, I was the first girl she'd ever had sex with! She had been quite shocked to learn about me having sex with my parents but eventually overcame her prejudices in that area. While she may not ever consider doing anything similar back home with her boys, she seemed quite OK with me and my dad.

As we approached the exit, it was like she decided it was time to quit skirting the issue and address the elephant sitting in the back seat.

"You know, when your mom called and proposed this my first reaction was an emphatic no," she sighed, stretched her legs against the front of the car.

Actually, I didn't know, and I told her so to which she sort of giggled.

"You have to admit, after the divorce and now with your mom living out by me I hadn't ever thought I'd be back in Pittsburgh again... let alone for something like this."

"So what changed your mind?" I asked, glancing her way as I turned on the turn signal and prepared to stop quickly at the exit. One thing about the hills of Pittsburgh - they don't lend themselves to long off-ramps.

"I don't know," she sighed as she released a long breath, "If my husband knew the truth I'd be joining your mother in the divorcee ranks."

"So what DID you tell him then?"

Tammy chuckled at that. "Oh he thinks I came back here with your mom for moral support." She paused and put a finger to her lips in thought. "You know, I guess that's about wrong in every category. She didn't come with me and any support I give is going to immoral if anything."

We both laughed at that as I came to a stoplight and waited. Using the opportunity I turned to her and looked her in the eyes.

"Is that how you really feel... that this is immoral?"

"Well, if it walks like a duck and quacks like a duck..." she mused.

"But you're OK with it?"

"Kelly," she huffed, "I'm here, aren't I?"

She had a point.

"So how's the married life treating you?" she asked, pointedly changing the subject.

I could have talked her ear off about that one! I gushed about how wonderful Steve was and how much I was thrilled being married to him."

"Sounds like quite a guy," Tammy remarked. She had never met Steve as back when she was visiting he was living out in California with his mother. "So how does he feel about you `family' situation?" she asked with her fingers making those annoying quotation marks in the air when she said "family".

"He's OK with it" I said, shrugging my shoulders.

"Not exactly a ringing endorsement," Tammy observed, "So what's the story?"

We were getting close to home so I gave her the abbreviated version, explaining how he understood my obligations and duties as a daughter but at the same time didn't want to participate.

I pulled into a parking place in the lot next to our apartment. Before we got out Tammy turned to me and asked, "OK but what's with your Aunt? Your mother didn't say much but I get the idea something's going on with her that she isn't too enthused about."

Loaded question if there ever was one. I knew Tammy had to know that my mom's younger sister had taken up residence in her old bedroom just a few days after she had left. If anything that should be old news by now. Unless I heard anything more I wasn't about to say a word about the youth sex crap that my aunt had brought my father and husband into. Tammy was even more conservative than my mom about such things and I had to assume she knew nothing about it or I doubt she would be sitting in my front seat at this moment.

"Let's just say she and Steve have a thing," I said in a compromise move.

"A thing?" Tammy probed, "And just what does THAT mean?"

"You know..." I returned.

Tammy just shook her head at that one. "And you're OK with that?"

"Well, she IS my aunt and party of our family so what can I say?"

With that Tammy sat up straighter and leaned towards me, her face much more intense suddenly. "He's your husband so you have every right to say anything you want."

Not meaning to get this off on the wrong foot, I smiled and tried to defuse the situation. "Oh no... it's perfectly OK with me. We have an understanding in that regard - both ways in fact."

"So you have sex with other men besides your dad?" she asked, looking a little confused. "I thought you were always going to stop that sort of thing after you got married?"

It was starting to get cold in the car so I didn't want the discussion to go too far so I cut right to the punch line.

"Things change you know. I'm happy with our relationship now. In fact, see that truck? It's his so he's still home in case you need a little post-flight relaxation."

"Now you're pulling my leg," she laughed softly, sitting back in the seta once again.

"Well, what did my mom say about him?"

Tammy looked at me again before she answered. "Actually, the subject never came up. Are you telling me..."

I didn't let her finish but instead just nodded and grinned.

"But when?"

I told her quickly about my birthday party and then the time just before our wedding ceremony. Tammy seemed a little dubious about the latter.

"Now I know you're pulling my leg. Just before you got married? Oh come on, I'm not THAT gullible Kelly."

I wasn't about to debate it so I unlocked the doors and we got out. Opening the trunk I helped with her nag and she rolled it in to our apartment. We got to the door and I had my key out but before I put it in the lock I turned to her and smiled.

"I just want you to understand that anything you do with Steve, and I mean ANYTHING," is perfectly OK with me... OK?"

"We'll see..." she giggled as if we were just teasing but deep inside I got the idea she was just leading me on without any intention of testing my offer.

"Steve!" I said loudly as we entered and I shut the door and dead bolted it behind us, "I've got a surprise for you!"

"Hold your panties!" he called out from somewhere.

I'd more or less hinted to Steve that I was going shopping so he had no reason to think I would NOT be alone - as was obvious when he came out of the bathroom - stark naked rubbing his head with a towel to dry his hair. At first he must not have seen Tammy but then I heard a gasp beside me which made Steve's eyes avert from me to her.

"Oh crap!" he muttered and dove back into the bathroom.

He re-emerged a few seconds later but this time with a full robe on.

"You could've warned me you know," he said pointedly in my direction and then he turned to Tammy and shrugged. "Sorry, as I guess you could tell my darling wife here hadn't told me she was bringing home visitors."

I introduced Steve to Tammy but her name didn't register with him until I explained that she was my mom's BFF who lived near where my mom was living now. Steve extended his hand rather sheepishly.

"Nice to meet you Tammy, sorry for the unsolicited display earlier."

Tammy assured him that everything was OK and indeed, I noticed her gaze would periodically drop down to where Steve's dick had been in display not much longer before.

Steve then looked at me and although he didn't say anything, the look on his face was a definite, "What the hell is going on?"

This didn't seem like quite the circumstances to explain my plan so I told him to get dressed for work and then I could explain everything to him. Reluctantly her returned to the bathroom, leaving Tammy and me alone once again.

"So what do you think of my husband?"

Tammy smiled and said something to the effect he was handsome and seemed very well mannered.

"I meant... what did you think of my husband?" I prodded her.

"I don't get what you're driving at Kelly."

"You saw him when he first came out... what did you think?" I reiterated and then raised my eyebrows and grinned naughtily. "I mean his dick... would you like some of it?"

Tammy's eyes opened wider. "Oh I don't know about THAT Kelly... this is all happening so quick."

Steve was back out by then, dressed in his paramedic uniform. Mmmmmmm, I love a man in uniform!

"So is someone going to tell me what is going on here?" he asked, seeming a little irritated if anything.

He had to leave soon so I gave him the quick version of my surprise party idea for my dad. It didn't take long for Steve to get the gist of the plan.

"So I take it you're a friend of the family?" he asked Tammy directly this time. The way he emphasized the word "friend" made it clear his definition was far beyond the Webster version.

"I guess you could say that." Tammy said, her face noticeably reddening by now.

"Look, you go to work Steve and tomorrow while I'm at school the two of you can catch each other up, OK?" I proposed.

With that Steve gave me a kiss and headed out the door, leaving Tammy and me alone in the apartment.

"We don't have a spare bedroom so it's either the couch or you can share the bed with me," I explained as I gave her the quick tour of our small apartment.

"Well, I'm not as young girl anymore so if it's OK with you I'll take you up on the offer for the bed," she replied. "I'll be seeing my chiropractor for a month if I spend a night on a couch."

With that it was getting late but with her internal clock set three hours behind Tammy wasn't looking nearly as tired as I would have thought after a long plane trip. Still, I didn't have the benefit of jet-lag and morning would be here soon enough as it was so I excused myself and explained I needed to get to bed.

"Well, tomorrow looks to be a busy day so I had better try to get some shut-eye myself," she answered, following me to the bedroom where we both started to undress.

Seeing Tammy in her bra and panties, I suddenly felt something stir in me. It had been years since the two of us had done anything together and while she was about the same age as my mom, she wasn't quite as well preserved as my mother but certainly not bad either. I thought of how her eyes kept averting to Steve's crotch when she thought neither of us was looking. She might be the mousey housewife at home but there was a lot more under THAT facade that just needed the right circumstances to let it be free.

"You've had a long day," I said to her as she took out a nightie from her luggage, "How about a back rub?"

I saw her eyes light up momentarily at the suggestion but then she seemed to withdraw.

"That's not necessary," she said softly, her eyes avoiding mine.

"Oh I insist!" I said, taking the nightie from her hands and turning her by the shoulders to the bed.

"well.... if you insist," she quickly gave in as she got up on the bed and laid face down sideways across it. She was still wearing her bra and panties which HAD to go.

I went to the bathroom and came back with some massage oil. Judging by where I found it I suspected Steve had been using it to jerk off. I have to say he's masturbates as much as I do, maybe even more. Sitting on the end of the bed, I reached over and unhooked her bra. I felt her tense up but she didn't say anything.

"Can't give a decent massager with all this in the way," I explained as I pulled her panties down to her ankles and then off her feet.

Now that she was nude I took off the rest of my own clothes and then got up on the bed and straddled her butt with my feet locking in on her legs to keep my balance. I could feel her warm butt against my crotch and I wondered if she could feel the heat of my pussy as it pushed against her ass.

As I started to work on her back she groaned as I found a knot and worked it out. "Oh god Kelly... that feels so good!"

Working her neck and shoulders, I put more oil on her back and spread it out down to the small of her back and then along the sides of her torso. Working my hands over her shoulders, I let them drift down and then under her arms until my fingertips grazed along the sides of her breasts. I didn't linger there, at least not yet but instead worked my way down the rest of the way until my hands were right up against my crotch which was centered on her butt.

"It's been a long time since someone did me like this," she murmured with her eyes closed.

I giggled and replied, "Like since the last time I did this to you?"

We both laughed at that although it was entirely true. It seemed to break the tension a little and I could feel her relaxing more under me. I unhooked my feet from her legs and wiggled my way down further onto the backs of her legs, letting her bare bottom be exposed. OK, so it wasn't quite like the tight firm ass my cousin was so proud of but then Tammy was twenty years older, not to mention bearing two kids.

"Don't look at my butt," she groaned as I started to rub each cheek with my oil-covered hands and fingers. Just like a woman to say something like that under the circumstances, Like, how was I NOT to look at it in this position?

"Hey, you've got a great ass," I encouraged her. I could feel her huff under me as she came back with, "You mean for an old lady."

"Now I never said that," I reassured her was my hands worked further down until they were on the backs of her upper thighs. As I rubbed my hands slowly but surely worked their way more and more inside and then I let my fingertips roam upwards until they contacted her hair-covered pussy.

"Ummmmm... let's not push things too fast, OK Kelly?" she said over her shoulder to me.

Well, she could SAY anything she wanted but it was her actions that counted so far as I was concerned. She may be telling me to stay away from her crotch but her legs were spreading wider apart if anything. I wasn't quite sure they were entirely under her conscious control at this point.

My fingers were covered with slipper oil and they easily slid up between her pussy lips as my hand reached in higher between her legs. Then I felt the bump of her clit and she shuddered as my fingertip ran over it in tight little circles.

"Oh my god Kelly..." she moaned.

With that encouragement I shifted so I was straddling just one of her legs, pressing my own pussy against her leg as my hand worked its magic under her crotch. I was rewarded with her other leg moving out to the side, making it all that much easier for me to touch her. This wasn't our first rodeo but I hadn't been sure how she would respond after the years that had passed. Well, there had been no need to worry, that's for sure.

"Oh yeah, just like that," she groaned loudly as I inserted my thumb inside of her while my finger maintained contact with her clit.

I could feel her hips starting to rise now, then falling slightly as if she was trying to hump my hand. My hand had been so covered with oil it was hard to tell what was helping more, the oil or her own pussy juices but whatever it was it was making it easy for me to rub her and penetrate her.

"Turn over Tammy," I said softly to her. I didn't want to break the spell but I had more in mind than just finger-fucking her.

I didn't have to ask twice as she rolled over and then reached over for a pillow to put behind her head so she could watch what was going on, Well, nothing was going on YET but that was about to change real quick if I had anything to say about it.

Tammy reached for another pillow which she stuffed under her ass as she grinned at me. She knew what was about to happen and I could see she wanted me to know in no uncertain terms that she was ready for me to resume. Well, I wasn't about to disappoint her or keep her waiting any longer than necessary.

"Been a long time since I had a taste of this," I said with a smile at her as I rubbed her hairy pussy with one hand. She appeared to trim it a little but more to keep it from poking out a bikini bottom than to keep it short.

"Not to mention it's been a long time since anyone but my husband was down there," she said with a wink.

She was laying crosswise on the bed still which made it impossible for me to stretch out between her legs so it was decision time. Kneel on the floor or lay head to toe... or should I say head to pussy. THAT was on decision for the day I didn't think twice about as I stretched out alongside of her. She was a little taller than me which worked out nicely. With one arm under her leg I reached across and grabbed her butt from the side as I lowered my head to her belly and rubbed my nose against her.

"That tickles," she giggled as she squirmed under me.

I kissed her belly and then used my tongue to trace a path down to the edge of her pussy hairline and then laid the side of my face against her bush. It felt a little weird as she had more hair between her legs than most men I've dated have on their heads. I don't mean she was all wild and furry like those pics you see of European women. It was neatly trimmed and shaved outside of a distinct hairline. It was within the "boundaries" where is was long and soft. It felt so good against my face and the scent of her pussy was strong.

Scooting forward (or downward depending on your point of view) I pushed my head down between her legs, feeling the softness of her inner thighs against each side of my face as I burrowed through her thick pussy until my nose pressed in against her pussy. Using my nose to push her hair to the side, my tongue reached out and tasted her. Mmmmmmm.

My tongue worked its way to her clit and I felt her jump under me as I nibbled gently on it, tugging on it carefully with my teeth as my tongue worked over it.

"Oh Kelly... that feels so good," she moaned.

I felt her hand working its way under me and I realized what she wanted so without removing my head from her crotch I lifted my leg up and over her and then pulled myself over until we were in a perfect 69 with my shaved pussy right over her mouth. I could feel her hot breath against me and the touch of her tongue as she reached out to taste me.

How long we stayed in that position I have no idea but it seemed like forever yet at the same time was over much too soon. She came first, her hips thrusting up against my face as she writhed under me, burying her face against my wet crotch. It wasn't long after that when it was my turn. It had been quite a while actually since I'd been with another woman like this and while I'll never tell a guy NOT to eat me, there's nothing that compares to the touch of another woman's mouth.

Several orgasms later we were both exhausted as I flipped over and laid on my back next to me, my head up against her sweating hips with the feel of her head of hair against mine. Somehow I managed to turn around and she rolled on her side to face me as we hugged and kissed. Her large boobs pressed into mine and I could literally feel the urgency within her.

"Oh wow," was all she could say at first. Then we finally pulled apart enough to look each other in the eyes - hers rolling up and then settling back on mine.

"You know, I really wasn't sure what to expect," she started to say and then she went quiet again as if she wasn't sure how to express her feelings at the moment.

I knew what she was trying to say as I had felt the same way. It had been years since we had last had sex. How would we react when we were alone together for the first time? Well, I guess we both know the answer to that question now.

"I haven't been with a woman since out last time you know," she said almost apologetically. It was if she was worried that somehow she hadn't satisfied me well enough.

"Damn Tammy... I came THREE times, I wouldn't worry if I was you."

We both giggled like young teenagers being naughty for the first time during a sleepover and then kissed again.

Before we both feel asleep somehow I remembered that I had to explain a few things. I told her how I had to leave of work before Steve got home from his shift so she would be alone when he came home. My plans for my dad's birthday surprise didn't go into effect until the evening so that left her with a day to kill.

Tammy absorbed all this and then she started to ask me something but then seemed to think the better of it. She told me she was exhausted and thanked me for my jet-lag therapy. I hadn't really thought about it in that way until then but I guess she was right. She certainly wasn't having any problems going to sleep at a normal hour, her eyes closing as she was barely able to keep them open.

We fell asleep in each other's arms until my alarm clock blared. Good thing I had it set to go off every day as I hadn't even thought about it the night before and there was no way I was going to wake up on my own after the past evening's events.

Neither of us had apparently moved a bit during the night as I woke up in the same position I last remembered before I crashed. I extricated myself from Tammy's arms that were still wrapped around me and gently slipped out of bed. Standing up next to the bed in the dim morning light I gazed at her naked body stretched out in front of me. Sure she was almost twice my age and yes, she could lose a few pounds here and there but overall she was a good-looking woman who I was sure still made her husband proud to have on his arm. No doubt her son's friends saw her as one of the neighborhood MILFs although I couldn't imagine Tammy ever flirting or doing anything like that.

One thing I needed badly was a shower - first to wake up but also to wash off the strong odor of sex that still permeated the entire room. Stepping in and turning on the water, it felt great to feel the hot water beating against me. I was still feeling ridiculously horny but I was due in class in less than an hour so there wasn't time to take care of those needs. I did a quick blow dry and just pulled my hair back so I wouldn't have to fool too much with it. A little makeup and I was ready to get dressed.

Back in the bedroom Tammy hadn't budged an inch. I slowly pulled out my dresser drawer, trying to keep as quiet as I could although I probably could have played a drum solo and she wouldn't have noticed. Grabbing a bra and panties (yes, I HAD to wear them thanks to our strict dress code) and a pair of hose, I retreated back to the bathroom where I could see what I was doing.

With my underwear on and finally a dress, I took one last look at Tammy and debated if I should wake her. We hadn't discussed anything about Steve coming home in a couple of hours but then she was a grown woman and could take care of herself so I grabbed a coat and headed for school.

4. My Husband Does Tammy

With me teaching at school I wasn't home to witness any of the events of the day so all I have to go by is the accounts of my husband and Tammy. While their accounts agree for the most part, as might be expected they varied in the details so I had to make some decisions as to what really happened. In the end, does it really matter?

Steve usually gets home about an hour or so after I leave. This morning, knowing who would be waiting for him when he arrived, he didn't waste any time. Entering the apartment, he found a note on the table that I had left for him.

"Dear Steve, Behave yourself but have fun! Love you always, Your Wife."

Nobody can ever say I don't support my hubby!

Entering the bedroom, I can only imagine his expression as he saw a nude woman in her late forties stretched out, sound asleep. From the odor in the room there could be no doubt as to recent events which only served to make his already hardening cock stiffen even faster.

Having already showered before he'd left work, Steve was ready to go and so he quickly undressed and then debated his next move. After all, although I had spoken to him about Tammy in the past, he'd never met her until last night and even that had just been a quick hello. Sure, their first time he'd been naked but that was by mistake.

Steve's immediate instinct was to jump in bed and get started. Had it been me in bed rather than a strange older woman no doubt that's exactly what he would've done. Steve knew it turned me on to wake up with his dick rubbing against me or even probing mouth or pussy. At the same time he was well aware that not every woman shared my enthusiasm in this area.

There was also the letter I'd left behind with a reminder to behave himself. Then again, my definition of "behave" was pretty broad.

Do I really need to work through the rest of his thought process????

Leaning over the bed so as not to disturb it's sleeping occupant, Steve, gently let the back of his fingers stroke along the length of her bare leg, working his way up to her hips where he turned his hand and felt the warmth of her butt. She didn't stir which only encouraged him to go further, reaching down and pushing his fingers between her thighs as she laid on her side with the bottom leg straight out and the upper one bent upwards with her foot resting on her other knee.

"Damn, that is one hairy crotch," he mumbled to himself as his fingers worked their way through it.

Before he found her pussy he pulled his hand back, not wanting to wake her yet. Her large breasts beckoned him so he cupped the upper one under his hand to get a feel for its heft.

"Real," he noted to himself but then from the way they sagged it would've been a far bigger surprise if they weren't not to mention grounds for suing the doctor who performed the surgery.

Holding up Tammy's breast with his fingers, Steve's thumb worried it's way over her large nipple, teasing it as he rotated his thumb over it.

Still no reaction by Tammy.

Steve debated his next move. Again, had it been me in lieu of Tammy there would have been little to decide. Something like, "mouth or pussy?"

Steve's dick was rock hard by now. What a situation to come home to - an older woman laying out naked across his bed. Even better, it was a woman who he knew had travelled thousands of mile for one reason - to get laid. OK, so it wasn't to get laid by HIM but that was just a technicality. Ordinarily this had all the makings of something that normally only occurs in conjunction with a wet dream - BUT...

"Kelly would kill me," he thought as he stroked his cock with his right hand.

It wasn't that he was worried about my reaction to him having sex with another woman. We'd settled THAT issue before we said our vows. SO far as I was concerned he could fuck whoever he wanted so long as I eventually knew about it. Of course that understanding went both ways but so far he'd been the only one to take advantage of it since we returned from our honeymoon. Even then it didn't really :count" so far as I was concerned as the girls involved were less than half my age thanks to the arrangements made by my Aunt Linda for him and my dad. Enough said about THAT. Sometimes "don't ask don't tell" actually works.

No, what Steve was worried about was how I would feel if for whatever reason Tammy was upset by what he'd love to do right then. God forbid she should up and leave for home, leaving all my plans for my dad in a lurch without a backup plan. Now THAT would have been grounds for some pretty heavy-duty response by me.

Still, there WAS the matter of this MILF in his bed and he couldn't complete ignore her. Like, when might he ever get a chance like this ever again? If he just walked away now he knew he'd regret it for the rest of his life.

It's like I've always said... It's not the things I have done that I regret, it's the things I haven't. So why shouldn't the same apply to Steve - so long as he didn't go TOO far.

In the end the decision was made for Steve in that as he was stroking his dick within just inches of Tammy's sleeping face, he could feel that surge building in him and knew that it was too late to stop. In effect the fuse had been lit and now it was just a matter of where he would explode.

Steve frantically stroked his dick, the lust overwhelming him as he put his free hand on Tammy's head, her hair running though his fingers as he twisted it just slightly upwards. Any semblance of rational thought was gone, replaced by his male instincts to dominate and inseminate the female in front of him. While his dick was not in her pussy, he could still at least cover her with his sperm. Which is exactly what he did.

"Oh god..." he groaned, unable to maintain his silence as his orgasm erupted. A thick rope of cum spurt from the end of his erect cock and landed on Tammy's cheek and nose. Another groan and another load of cum, this time landing on her upper lip and then running a trail across her mouth and down her chin. Two more loads and two more trails of cum, one on her forehead and just into her hairline while the next added more to her nose and upper lip.

"Fuck me!" Steve sighed, using his hand to milk the last of his cum from his dick, rubbing the head of his dick on Tammy's cheek to put the finishing touches on his handiwork. Letting go of her head, he stepped back and looked at the results.

"Holy crap," he whispered to himself as reality returned with the unloading of his cum. He shook his head to clear it as he released his now dwindling dick, allowing it to droop down.

Immediately he started to wonder if he'd gone too far. He could have easily cum on Tammy's tits or just cum on the bed and not hit her at all. There could be no mistaking what had been done to her when she awoke. What was she going to say?

Steve shrugged and headed to the bathroom to wash up. There was nothing that could be done now so all he could do was wait and see. Washing his dick and hands, he decided that he had probably do more so he took a quick shower and after drying himself off, wrapped a dry towel around his waist and headed for the kitchen to get some breakfast.

***************

It was maybe only fifteen minutes or so before Tammy began to stir. As she woke, she went to rub her eyes and as she did, she felt something on her face. Steve's cum was still wet but was aging and she could smell something... something unmistakable if unbelievable.

"What the hell?" she mumbled to herself, her throat dry from sleeping. As she did she could taste something on her lips. It wasn't like it was something she tasted often but there was no mistaking the salty bitter taste. Getting out of bed, she went to the bathroom and turned on the light. Her eyes opened wide at what she saw.

"Oh... my... god!" she said to herself. At first she couldn't believe the cum-covered face of the woman in the mirror was her. Quickly she grabbed a washcloth, ran the water until it was as hot as it could get and then soaked the washcloth. She rubbed it over her face, trying to get the offending substance off of her as quickly as she could.

While nobody accused Tammy of being overly chaste as a teen, if there was one reputation Tammy had never had it was of being a cum sluts. Heck, she wasn't even too thrilled to do a blowjob. Boys expected them so she did it but it wasn't like she went out of her way to suck a dick. Early in their marriage she did the occasional blowjob to satisfy her husband but over the years as their sex life slowed considerably, one of the first things to go was oral sex. And now here she was washing a TON of cum off her face - something she rarely had ever done as she hated it when a man would cum on her face.

"Steve!" she huffed between tightly pursed lips. It had to be him, who else could it be? Obviously he had gotten home and done who knows what and ended by cumming all over her like she was some cheap whore. Had he told his wife he was going to do that? She couldn't believe that I would have gone along with the idea as I knew her preferences in this area.

A number of thoughts went through her mind. What should she do? Her first instinct was to call me and tell me what my husband had done to her while she was sleeping. But then she remembered that I was in school and if there was one thing worse than s student getting a cell-phone call during school, it was a teacher getting one.

He next idea was to get dressed and march down to confront Steve and demand an apology. Indeed, as she brushed her teeth and combed her hair that was her intent until the comb stuck and she realized that there was cum in her hair as well. Damn!

Forgetting her next move which had been to get dressed, she turned and started to reach for the shower controls. That was when another idea came to her.. a much better idea, at least so she thought. The shower could wait...

Running her hand though her hair, she ruffled it up and made it a mess again as if she had just gotten up. For a moment she regretted wiping off the cum from her face but it was too late to do anything about that. Taking a deep breath, she left the bedroom and headed for the kitchen.

****************

"Good morning Steve," Tammy greeted Steve as she entered the kitchen where Steve was sitting on a bar stool at the counter reading the paper with his coffee. She noticed that Steve was wearing a towel but it was tied loosely and as such it hung between his legs and to his hips, exposing his legs and hip except where the knot was threatening to come loose.

"Hmmmmmm, not bad... not bad at all," she said to herself but she worked hard to keep her admiration of Steve's body a secret.

"Ummmmm, hello!" Steve stammered as a naked Tammy strode into the kitchen like she owned it. She didn't make any comment about her nudity, nor did she mention a word about what had happened earlier in the bedroom. Instead, she went to the coffee-maker, selected a cartridge and started the cycle to make her cup of coffee. As she waited for the coffee cup to fill, Tammy turned and smiled sweetly at Steve.

"We didn't get much chance to talk last night," she started out, "Kelly's told me a lot about you and I suppose she's filled you in on my history here with her family... am I right?"

Steve was still uncertain how to take it all. What was going on? He barely knew her yet here she was taking a sip of coffee as she leaned back against the counter, acting as if being nude around a man she barely knew was the most natural thing in the world to do. Her face looked clean so she certainly HAD to know what he'd done but then her hair was a wreck so it wasn't like she'd showered as he had expected she would want to do after what he'd done to her.

Meanwhile Tammy was thoroughly enjoying herself. What Steve didn't know was she was feeling as self-conscious as a teenage virgin. Nudity was Not something she ever did at home and to stand like this in front of man she'd only met the night before was WAY out of her comfort zone so far as she was concerned. She was also well aware that barely out of sight under the thin towel was the dick that had only minutes before spewed cum all over her face - while she was sleeping at that.

Steve shifted in his chair. While he had just cum no long before, he could feel his dick stirring at the sight of the nude older woman in front of him. She must have been around the same age as his own mother - making her old enough to be his mother. Personally he thought his mother's body was in far better shape but it wasn't as if Tammy was fat and ugly either. Her boobs sagged a bit and she had a little bit of heft to her butt and thighs but other than the normal signs of aging she was pretty hot.

Tammy notice the movement and her eyes instinctively moved to his crotch where she couldn't help but notice the unmistakable tent beginning to rise before she averted her eyes. She had come in the kitchen with every intention of teaching Steve a lesson by teasing him a while and then leaving him with blue balls... but that was so five minutes ago...

Steve's mind was working at warp speed and finally he came to the decision it was better to beg for forgiveness than wait and have to be at the receiving end of whatever Tammy must be getting ready to say.

"Look Tammy, I know what you must be thinking and I just wanted to explain."

"Why I have no idea what you're talking about Steve," Tammy responded with a devilish grin.

"You know, the face thing."

"Oh! So that was YOU?" she replied, barely able to keep her face rigid as she wanted to break out in laughter.

Steve couldn't help but roll his eyes a bit before he caught himself. Yeah right, like who else could it have been, the mailman?

"Well in my defense, you did look irresistibly sexy this morning," Steve said, trying to sound as complimentary as possible.

"Oh really?" Tammy said, casting our her bait to fish for more compliments. She was suddenly all the more self-conscious of the fact that she was standing there stark naked but somehow managed to keep he hands to her side.

Steve smiled, sensing he was making headway, "I mean like look at you! You are hot!"

This was more than Tammy could take and she turned away from him without even thinking about it, then she was aware all she had done was show off her ass to him instead and if there was one feature of her body she was most unhappy with, it was her butt. So she turned around again but this time with her right hand over her left breast, her forearm partially covering the other.

Steve was thinking to himself, calculating his next move. Well, it was either go big or go home as they said. Standing up from the stool, he undid the knot and removed the towel, allowing his now semi-erect cock to pop out unencumbered.

"Well, if you don't believe me, believe him," he said with a sly grin, pointing down to his growing dick.

Regardless of the circumstances, Tammy WAS a woman and I can vouch for the fact that seeing Steve standing naked in front of you is more than enough to get a woman wet instantly. Tammy was not immune.

"Should we really be doing this" she said softly, her eyes fixated on the cock in front of her that was rising slowly as it grew. It was more a question for her than him but Steve responded anyway.

"Ohhhhhh? And just what are we doing?"

Tammy sighed and shook her head. "Let's stop all this silliness and put our cards on the table, OK?"

Steve just nodded so she continued. "We both know what you did to me this morning and just so you know, I really didn't appreciate it. I understand you may be use to Kelly but I'm not into many of the things she is, including the sex while sleeping thing."

Steve started to say something but she cut him off with a wave of her hand. "That said, I have to admit I've never had a man WANT to do something like to me and so in a way I guess I have to take it as a compliment."

Again Steve's moth started to work but she wouldn't let him get a word in edgewise. "Face it, we both know why I'm here so it's not like I can pretend to be all chaste and innocent, but I hope you also realize that this is NOT something I do on a regular basis... or even an irregular basis for that matter."

Steve didn't have to be told again so now he just stood there and listened. His hand went to his crotch without him even realizing what her as doing and he started to slowly stroke himself, much to the delight of Tammy even though she felt terribly slutty at the same time.

"Look, if you're going to cum because of me then you could at least do it do it right and put it where it belongs... and it wouldn't hurt for me to be awake either."

As Tammy spoke it was like someone else was doing the talking. Was she really saying all this? She was effectively telling him it was to have sex with her. This hadn't been part of the game plan. Yes, she would be committing adultery but it was supposed to be with the only man she had ever cheated with. Tammy loved her husband and had never even considered another man before or since she had sex with my dad. In her mind she had compartmentalized that into something totally unique. To do it again was more less a repeat of a sin she'd already committed but now she was coming close to commit adultery with yet another man - and one that could literally be her son at that!

Steve is pretty sharp and he didn't have to be hit over the head to catch the drift of what Tammy was offering. Indeed, his dick quickly went to full mast at the very thought of it. Before Tammy could think any more about what was about to happen and possibly change her mind, he stepped forward and put his arms around her naked body, pulling her into him until his dick was pressed into her and her breasts were squeezed against his chest.

"I'm gonna fuck you now," he said softly yet firmly in her ear. Tammy didn't respond so he said, "Tell me... tell me you want me to fuck you."

Tammy could feel Steve's raging erection stabbing her as his hands lowered to her ass, grabbing each cheek with one hand and pulling her even harder into him.

"Tell me dammit," he growled this time, "Tell me you want me to fuck you."

Tammy closed her eyes and whatever resolve she had left faded away. "Do it... I want you to do it."

That wasn't going to satisfy Steve. "That's not what I said... tell me you want me to fuck you."

"I want you to... be in me," she said, unable to bring herself to say those words.

"Say it," Steve said louder this time, "If you want me dick in you then you have to beg for it."

"Yes... I want to you to fuck me," Tammy broke down, her entire body now tingling as she wanted that marvelous cock pressing even harder into her deep inside of her. Whatever it took for that to happen she would do.

"Fuck me Steve... I need your dick in my cunt... fuck me... PLEASE fuck me!"

Steve knew when to push and when to take what he had. It made him incredibly horny to see the transformation of this woman right in front of eyes. It was like one minute she was this tame housewife trying to act all cool and nonchalant as she stood naked in front of him. She had been so obviously flustered by her nude scene that it was more amusing than anything but not to see her become this wanton slut as if a switch had just been thrown was almost unnerving.

Grabbing Tammy by the waist, he pulled her up onto the counter top and spread her legs apart. He'd never fucked a woman with this much hair before and for a moment he hesitated. Did he just push through it, push it aside with his fingers, or what? Even when he had fucked my mom she had been rimmed considerably more than Tammy's lush bush.

"Put me in you," he demanded, killing two birds with one stone. Now she could deal with the pubic hair plus her maintained his dominance of the situation.

Tammy lifted her legs which Steve took under his arms and lifted them up. Her hands reached down, the right grabbing Steve's erection while the other spread her pussy apart. She quickly ran a finger up and down her slit and then into her pussy, spreading the wetness to prepare for the intruder about to invade her. She couldn't help but think that when she had sex with her husband she always required considerable foreplay and even then the aid of some form of lubrication before she would even consider letting him try to entre her but now she was as wet as a teenage in heat! Well, it was not much of a mystery considering what she had in her hand was considerably bigger and harder than anything her husband could provide.

Steve just stood there and watched as this wife and mother of two played with her pussy for a few moments and then guided the head of his dick to the wet opening between her legs. She pressed it into her but he didn't push himself in... not yet anyway. Uncertain as to what was going on, she looked up at him and their eyes met.

"Beg for it," Steve said firmly, "Beg for my dick, tell me what a slut you are."

Tammy could feel the pressure of Steve's cock against her pussy, enough to send shivers up her spine yet not quite enough to press her apart enough to enter her. She wanted to scream at him to push it in and get it over with. Her pussy felt like it might explode if he didn't push it in her soon.

"Give me that fat hard dick," she said in a determined voice, "Make me your slut... your fucking slut. Please me like my husband can't... fuck me dammit... FUCK ME!"

Later when she would lay back in bed alone and recall everything that happened, this was perhaps the part that made her feel the most guilty. It wasn't that she cheated on her husband, it wasn't that she was more turned on by this younger man than she had been in longer than she could remember. No, it was saying that her husband didn't please her which really wasn't true. Granted, their sex life was rather predictable and unimaginative but he DID please her and she did enjoy their times together, even though they had slowed to maybe once or twice a month in the past decade or so.

At that Steve didn't say another word but instead thrust his hips forward, driving his rigid dick into Tammy to the hilt in one hard motion. Tammy gasped as suddenly her pussy was filled and she could feel the base of his dick pressing into her crotch, driving her back onto the counter a few inches from the sheer power of Steve's initial push into her.

"Oh god yes... fuck me hard Steve," she gasped, laying her head back with her eyes tightly shut.

She tried to imagine it was her husband fucking her but it was no use, it was Steve fucking her and there was no way she could compare what he was doing to anything that was done to her in the family bed.

Meanwhile, Steve was looking down, watching his cock sliding in and out of Tammy's hairy pussy in a steady rhythm as he fucked her. He thought to himself that this was just the third older woman he had ever fucked, the other two being related to his own wife - her Aunt Linda and her mother. Then he thought again and corrected himself - Tammy was number four as he had fucked his own mother once about twelve years before. For an instant he looked down at Tammy and wondered if this was what it would be like to fuck his own mother today but quickly pushed that thought aside. It was one thing to fuck his wife's mother but not his own.

Having just cum less than thirty minutes earlier, Steve felt lucky to be this hard and even luckier in that he knew he would last longer now than he would have otherwise. Perhaps it had been the right thing to do to cum on her earlier as it just made this time all the better.

Tammy opened her eyes and lifted her head, gazing down to where the younger man was ramming his stiff dick in and out of her. It was almost surreal, as if she was watching someone else as if it was some sort of porn video. Yet there was no denying the incredible sensations she was feeling inside of her that just happened to synchronize with the motion of Steve's dick. She shouldn't be doing this, that much she knew, but she also knew she wanted it... she wanted it BAD.

Back when Mary had first contacted her and proposed the idea that she come to Pittsburgh to celebrate her best friend's husband's birthday her first instinct had been to refuse. Those days, as much as she had enjoyed them at the time, were behind her. She had felt guilty at first about cheating on her husband but then over time the guilt gave way as she rationalized that what she had done was for her best friend more than for herself. It wasn't like she had gone out to a bar and picked up a guy, going to a hotel for adulterous sex. Having done it before, what could be wrong with doing it again with the same man? Again she would be doing it as a favor for her best friend, not for herself.

At least that is how she had rationalized it. Never in her wildest dreams had she imagined anyone else joining in - at least not another man. She knew Kelly was married, of course, but Mary had also told her that Steve didn't want to be part of anything involving sex between Kelly and her dad so she hadn't worried about having to deal with Steve being part of anything. She hadn't thought about something like this though.

For the first time in her married life, at least as she defined it, Tammy was committing adultery against her husband. There was no excusing her actions, no rationalizations that could be made. She was letting this guy fuck her only to please herself with no regard for anyone else or to help anyone but herself. This was sex for HER, pure and simple. She might regret it later but at this very moment the only thing she wanted was more of what Steve was giving her. A LOT more!

"Let me ride you," she gasped.

Steve looked up at her and grinned. Pulling out of her, he allowed her legs to drop to the floor. Grabbing her hand, he pulled her into the living room as there was no way he was going to lay on the cold tile floor of the kitchen.

"God I love that dick," Tammy moaned as Steve laid back, grabbing a pillow from the couch for under his head.

With his arms to his side to steady himself, his dick was standing up at a 45 degree angle or so towards his head, almost quivering form being so hard and stiff.

There was no debate as to reverse or normal cowgirl for Tammy as the last thing she wanted was to have her butt in Steve's face. Far better to have her boobs hanging in his face, even if they did sag considerably more than they had back when she was his age. Kneeling down and straddling his waist, she reached between her legs and directed his cock once again inside of her, dropping down and sitting on his crotch as soon as he was in her.

"Feel good in there?" she asked Steve, grinning wide. Steve just smiled and grunted as she rotated her wide hips around, grinding into him and moving his cock within her. This was something she didn't get to do at home. Sex with her husband meant missionary style - and only missionary style. To be on top of Steve, to control the speed and depth of his cock moving inside of her, was a special sensation for her.

Leaning over with her hands on his shoulders, Tammy let her boobs hang down into Steve's face, letting his lick and suck on her nipples as she swayed side to side to drag them over his face. She'd always had larger than average boobs, even as a teen, and as she got older it seemed they got even bigger, albeit less firm.

As Steve toyed with her breasts, Tammy was rocking on Steve's cock, driving it deep inside of he and then lifting up until it was just barely inside of her. A few times she overdid it and it would slip out but Steve would quickly hold it back up under her so she could get it back in her as quickly as possible.

Tammy was getting into it more and more and before long she wanted it differently so to Steve's surprise she lifted herself off of his dick and moved off of him. She got on all fours with her ass facing him, at this point no longer caring what it looked like to him, "

"Fuck me like a dog, Steve," she encouraged him with a wiggle to her big butt, "Put it in me from behind."

Steve grinned as this motherly slut literally was demanding that he fuck her. No longer was she doing it because he insisted on her saying it. Noooooo, now she was saying it because she wanted it which made him all the more horny - if that was possible. Damn, he hadn't had a fuck like this .... well, since never. This was truly a unique situation for him.

Moving in behind her, he pushed aside her ample butt cheeks to expose her wet, now well-fucked pussy. Grabbing his cock by the base, he aimed it and hit the mark, once again sinking deep inside of he before his lower belly ran into her butt.

Tammy had dropped down to her elbows, letting her ass poke up towards Steve to make it easier for him to enter her. She rocked on her elbows as Steve once again took control of the rhythm. This time though, before he had gone on very long the motion began to speed up and become more urgent. Tammy was no virgin and she knew the signs and what was about to happen.

"Cum inside of me Steve," she moaned over her shoulder, "Stay in me... I want it in me."

Steve was fucking her bareback and since they had not talked much at all before this he had no idea where she was in terms of fertility and protection. Oh well, she was asking for it so she must be OK with it so who was he to argue?

"Oh fuck, I'm cumming!" he groaned hoarsely as his dick began to fill Tammy's pussy with his cum. Tammy closed her eyes and focused on nothing but what was happening to her, trying to feel the hot sperm as it was shot into her from Steve's dick. It was hard to feel anything as hot and crazy as she felt but she knew what was happening.

"Damn!" Steve gasped as he pulled out once he had unloaded into her. He just dropped to the living room floor on his back, completely exhausted. Tammy looked at him hungrily, seeing his cock wet with the coating of sperm and her pussy wetness. At this point her husband would roll over and go to sleep while she went to the bathroom to wash up.

Not today.

Turning around while staying on all fours, Tammy moved over and lowered her head to Steve's crotch. The smell of sex overwhelmed her as she took his dick in her mouth and tasted it. It was wonderful! After cleaning him off thoroughly and catching the few remaining drops of cum that she squeezed out of it (she wasn't totally against eating cum, just that she wanted it under HER terms), she sat back on her hip with her legs stretched out, looking at the naked younger man before her.

"Damn, I just let him fuck me!" she exclaimed under her breath, as much in amazement as in disbelief. There was no doubt the time was coming when she would feel guilty about this but not at this moment. No, now she felt more like a woman than she had for years.

*********************

Later that afternoon I returned home and the apartment was as quiet as a library. No sign of Steve or Tammy. Hmmmmmm, where were they?

As it turned out they were both in the bedroom, almost hidden by the covers over them. I gently pulled them back, trying not to wake them. I smiled to myself as I saw they were both naked and Tammy was laying besides my husband with her arm and leg drape over him. I had a pretty good idea of what had happened at some point during the day and I couldn't wait to hear about it!

5. A Surprise Show For My Dad

My dad would be home from work no later than 7:00 so I wanted to be there at least a half hour ahead of time which meant leaving home by 6:15 at the very latest assuming he typical south side traffic cooperated for once. My dad knew it was his birthday and a such we would be doing SOMETHING for him as we always did. The key was that this year would be something special ad hopefully he admit a clue. My dad's pretty sharp so even a playful hint or two was all it would take to alert him.

By now the pair that had previously been in my bed had showered and were dressed. Steve was the first to join me as I waited in the kitchen rather impatiently. He was wearing a new pair of jeans and a long-sleeved flannel shirt together with a grin from ear to ear. Talk about the proverbial cat who just ate the canary!

"I'm guessing you had a good time today while I was slaving away in class," I teased him.

"What can I say?" Steve replied, shrugging his broad shoulders and his lifting his hands, "Besides, apparently I wasn't the first one to take advantage of the opportunity."

I couldn't help but grin a that and said, "Sorry, I suppose you would have want to watch."

"Ya think? Steve answered, feigning exasperation, "When have I EVER passed on watching you with another girl?"

He leaned over to kiss me, fondling my boobs in the process. I was still wearing my long dress from school but the offending (though mandatory) bra had long since been consigned to the laundry basket. I loved it when he just grabbed for them whenever he could, especially when we were somewhere that Miss Manners wouldn't necessarily approve of his boldness.

"Careful there my horny husband, I don't have time for another shower."

"Yes, he is one horny SOB, isn't he?" I heard as Tammy entered the kitchen. She was dressed no with her hair and makeup in place, looking incredibly sexy in a tight white blouse that was just sheer enough to show off the black bra underneath. A pair of black slacks kept things casual but the heels kept it from being TOO casual.

"Well I'm glad my husband satisfied you, at least I assume he did."

Tammy moved over to Steve and playfully patted him on the crotch. The message couldn't be any clearer.

It was time to get moving so I grabbed my dad's birthday card and we put on our coats and headed out to my car. Tammy went for the back seat but Steve insisted that she sit up front with me. The traffic was heavy but no more than usual so in less than twenty minutes we were at my dad's house. Technically I guess it was mine as well given I'd lived there from the time I was born but now that I was married and on my own so I referred to it as his.

There was no need to hide the car as my dad would be expecting me to be there so I pulled over to the side at the bottom of the driveway by the garage. We entered through the garage side door and made our way through the basement and then up the creaky stairs to the first floor where my Aunt Linda was waiting.

"He just called," she said excitedly as soon as we shut the door behind us, "He'll be here in ten minutes... max."

According to our well-laid plans, we were to go to dinner and then return home where he would be surprised by Tammy. It was tempting to just dump then entire idea and have her greet him at the door but at the same time I'd looked so forward to surprising him later that I fought back the impulsiveness and we hustled Tammy off to my bedroom. Even though it was right next to his bedroom, it was also probably the one room in the house I could count on him NOT going into while preparing for dinner.

The three of us left Tammy and took a seat at the kitchen table just in time as my dad drove down the driveway and into the garage. A few minutes later he followed our footsteps upstairs and opened the door leading into the hallway between the kitchen and the front entrance.

"Happy Birthday Daddy!" I got up and greeted up with a big hug and then a sloppy kiss on the lips.

"Hey baby," he said to me when he was finally able to separate himself from my lip lock, "So you remembered."

I just rolled my eyes at that and then Steve shook his hand and wished him happy birthday followed by my aunt who hugged and gave him a kiss of her own.

"So daddy, get ready, we have to be at the restaurant in 45 minutes," I said, pushing him apart from my aunt who seemed to be trying to see how long she could kiss him without coming up for air.

With a grin he hustle upstairs and soon we could hear the shower running. One thing about a house that was almost 100 years old - not a lot of sound deadening in the construction.

It was only another ten minutes or so and he was back. Men have it so lucky when it comes to getting ready to go out - no makeup, easy hair, and no hard decisions about what to wear. He had on his customary suit and tie, one of what had to be more than a dozen in his closet.

We took my dad's SUV with my Aunt Linda in front and me and Steve in the back. Dinner was relatively uneventful at one of the classier restaurants overlooking the city. What made it fun was watching my dad. Throughout the meal he tried to act nonchalant but I could tell he was waiting for something "special". What I would dream up he had no clue but he seemed fairly certain that at some point in dinner either my aunt or me would do something crazy for his birthday.

Little did my dad know that it was all part of the plan. Had I done something like give him a hand-job under the table or fucked him in the men's room I'm sure he wouldn't have objected but what would be the surprise in that? At one point or another I'd done just about everything imaginable with him in a restaurant Well, that is except to do NOTHING.

By the time the check arrived it was becoming apparent to my dad that indeed, nothing was going to happen, not even a flash for the waiter (which wouldn't have been difficult given the way he kept looking down my aunt's dress when he poured the wine). He didn't say anything but I couldn't help but feel a little guilty in that I had disappointed him - at least for now. Yes, I knew he would soon realize the truth but for the moment I wondered if I was doing the right thing.

The trip home was relatively quiet. I was afraid that if I said anything the excitement building in me would come through in my voice. Steve, seeing me keeping my mouth shut followed my lead. Up in the front seat my aunt was talking about the dinner and the inadequacy of one of the waiters but other than that the conversations were rather restrained. My dad seemed to be sulking. For a guy his age you would think he would not be acting like some spurned teenager but there you go. It just goes to show that when it comes to sex, men never grow up!

*******************

I was ready to burst by the time we arrived back at my dad's home. We had talked with Tammy about how she should appear to my dad when he first saw here and there were a number of possibilities. The ideas ranged from simply sitting at the table in her customary conservative "soccer mom" attire to standing in the doorway naked with a rose in her teeth. Neither of THOSE ideas, of course, had been chosen but that left a pretty broad range in between.

So what was awaiting us? Actually we hadn't settled on any single idea but rather came to the conclusion that it was best left to Tammy based on how she was feeling after being alone in the house for a couple of hours while the rest of us were all out to dinner.

The first hint that our plans were out the window came as we drove down the driveway. Lo and behold, there was Kristen's car.

We had asked her long before if she had wanted to be part of my dad's birthday surprise but she claimed to have "other arrangements". What those could possibly be that could be so important that she would miss my dad's birthday, especially with the surprise we had planned for him, I had no idea. Lately I'd been suspicious of some of her activities. Since I'd moved out to live with my husband she was out at times when I tried to see her and her excuses were becoming more and more difficult to believe. There was only one reason why I could imagine she would be keeping secrets from me - she was back whoring herself again. She knew how I felt about her going back to her old "profession" but then I knew she had loved the excitement and the money.

Well, it appeared that she had changed her mind and showed up anyway. That threw in a whole new set of possibilities. When had she arrived? What had she concocted with Tammy in the meantime?

It didn't take long to find out. No sooner than we had walked into the basement family room than out popped Kristen wearing her birthday suit and by that I mean, the suit she was born in. The only thing she was wearing was a grin and black high heels. I had to admit, she looked incredible!

"Happy birthday Uncle John!" she greeted him with one hand on her hip and the other playing with her hair as she took on her best "fuck me" pose.

My dad turned back to look at her mom and me. He shook his head and pointed his finger at us accusingly.

"Ahhhhhh, so THIS is what you've had up your sleeves all night. You guys really had me going there."

Little did he know that neither of us had a clue Kristen would be here. What we WERE wondering was... where was Tammy?

Kristen reached out her hand to my dad and when he took it, she pulled him towards the stairs.

"C'mon Uncle John, I've got something you might want to watch," she said in a sultry tone. It was no wonder she had made such a great career as a high-end prostitute (and maybe was once again), the girl really knew how to work it.

As we followed my aunt and I exchanged glances. Neither of us knew what was going on. I wondered if she had caught what Kristen had said. The girl hadn't invited my dad to bed or offered to SHOW him something. No, she had distinctly said there was something for him to WATCH.

Poor Steve just tagged along at the end of the procession. I knew he wasn't all that thrilled about what I had planned to be doing with my dad. What I mean is he wasn't too happy about participating. He most likely would have been more than happy to have stayed home but for two reasons. Once, he had to come as my new husband or my dad would have been suspicious as he knew Steve didn't want to be part of anything between me and my dad. Then there was my promise that my aunt would take care of him while Tammy and I attended to my dad. He would never turn down any opportunity to be with his favorite older woman!

As we made it to the first floor and headed up the stairs to the second, I started to conjure up the most likely scenario. There really cold be only one possibility considering the broad hint Kristen had dropped. She and Tammy must have worked out something between them, most likely a girl-girl scene just for my dad's enjoyment. Like what guy doesn't love to see two women having sex? For that matter, what woman doesn't?

Sure enough, I heard my dad gasp as he followed Kristen's bare ass up the stairs. Then he clapped his hands and turned back to my aunt who was right behind him.

"Nice.... VERY nice... I would have NEVER guessed."

I wanted to see that he wasn't the only one but by then we were in the bedroom and sure enough, there was Tammy waiting on the bed. Knowing Tammy as I did, I would have expected her to be wearing a sexy negligee but instead she was almost naked with the exception of a bra and heels. The bra was one of those lace push-ups you see advertised at Victoria Secret and the heels looked perfect for bed as I couldn't even imagine trying to walk in them with the heels being at least six inches and so narrow they would poke a hole in most floors.

Tammy was laying on her side with her arm supporting her head, the bottom leg stretched out and her upper leg raised with her foot on her other knee which gave a blatant view of one the biggest surprise of the evening - she was shaved!

Well, not quite but it was trimmed down to about nothing. Actually that was probably a pretty good idea as I could only imagine how irritated her skin would be to shave it now after all these years.

"Whoa!" I heard escape from Steve behind me. I turned to look at him and saw his eyes were fixated on the older woman in the bed, even though Kristen was standing at the end of the bed stark naked without the benefit of even a bra.

My turned to me and Aunt Linda and smiled. "Alright, so whose idea was this?"

Aunt Linda stepped back and put out her hand upward in my direction as if she was introducing me. "It was all Kelly... with a little help from your ex just so you know."

"Soooooo...." my dad said as he released his breath finally.

"Just have a seat and enjoy the show Uncle John," Kristen answered for us. The room was lit with maybe a dozen candles so even with the overhead light out the room was well lit. My dad took the seat of honor - the only chair in the room for that matter while my aunt leaned against the dresser and I backed into Steve as he rested against the wall by the open door.

If there was any doubt my cousin is a "pro" (not there was any), it was dispelled over the next half hour or so. It was one of the most sexual, erotic, mesmerizing and downright HOT display of two women having sex that I've EVER seen. There was nothing titillating or naughty about it, like when I have watched my aunt and cousin with younger girls. This was sex between two consenting ADULTS that was everything you think about when you think of lesbian sex.

It started with Kristen taking the lead - not much of a surprise there. Laying in the bed alongside Tammy, she gently pressed the older woman onto her back and then leaned over her and kissed her. As the kiss intensified, Kristen lifted one leg and draped in over Tammy's, pressing her crotch into Tammy's hip bone with a definite push.

As they kissed they each were running their hands over the other's body. While both paid ample attention to the other's breasts, for the moment they both steered clear of their crotches. Oh they came close - so close as to tease their audience. Like Kristen would reach down and put her hand on Tammy's knee and the slowly work her hand up her thigh, moving in and out and then along the inner regions until she was within a fraction of an inch of Tammy's pussy but then would veer off and move to her hip or upwards towards her belly and then further up to her boobs.

Kristen lifted her head and then turned to check that we were all watching - as if it were possible NOT to stare at them both. With a slight grin she turned back to Tammy and began to lick and suck on her nipples. Pulling on them gently with her teeth, she would stretch them out and then let them snap back into place after which she would quickly begin sucking on it again.

After a while it was Tammy's turn as Kristen laid on her back and let Tammy return the favor. Tammy wouldn't look in our direction but she had to know all three of us were mesmerized.

Meanwhile none of us said a word or hardly even moved except to shift our weight. My dad was leaning forward in his chair with his elbows on his knees while supporting his chin with one hand. I could feel Steve's breathing quicken behind me and so I reached behind me and pressed my hands against the front of his pants. Mmmmmmm, he was hard as a rock!

Through some unspoken signal they simultaneously pulled apart and the moment we'd all been waiting for arrived. Tammy, being older and a little heavier, took the bottom while Kristen went on top and they began to 69. Neither of them hesitated for a moment before they plunged their faces into the other's pussy and nosily began to lap and suck.

Not for the first time I wondered how much they had "practiced" while we were out to dinner. So far as I knew, Tammy and Kristen had never had sex before when she had visited and they seemed all too comfortable which other for this to be the first time. Well, maybe for Kristen it wasn't a big deal but I couldn't see Tammy just diving into a girl's pussy the way she did without having done it before - even if by "before" it was only an hour or so ago.

Under any other circumstance I couldn't imagine just sitting here and watching them without jumping in myself but this was for my dad so somehow I found the willpower. When it comes to voyeurism, I like to be the one who is watched, not doing the watching myself.

Tammy was the first to cum and she dropped her head back into the pillow from Kristen's wet pussy as she moaned and cried out as Kristen's tongue drove her crazy with pleasure. Kristen was poking two fingers into Tammy as she licked and sucked on her clit, not showing any mercy as Tammy actually begged her to stop. She might THINK she needed to stop but Kristen wasn't buying it. Tammy's hips began to thrust up, almost throwing Kristen off balance with the force. It was like she was being fucked by it was Kristen's fingers in her, not some guy's dick.

My hands were rubbing Steve's erection and I could feel him squirming behind me. "Hot, aren't they?" I whispered over my shoulder to him. He just nodded, probably not trusting his voice.

As Tammy laid there gasping, Kristen lifted up her head and saucily liked Tammy's wetness from her mouth. Looking over at me and Steve, her eyes focused on Steve.

"God I need to cum... can you make me cum Steve?"

I took this to mean the show was over. The guys were both hard as pipe now so mission accomplished so far as Tammy and Kristen were concerned. My aunt stepped forward and moved over to me and Steve, gently but firmly separating us.

"Let's go to Kelly's room," she said to Steve as Kristen appeared at her side. The two of them each took and arm and disappeared around the corner, leaving me and Tammy with my dad. Once more I was amazed at my aunt's intuitiveness. She knew full well that Steve wouldn't want to stay to watch my dad and me with Tammy so she took care of him in a way few guys ever get to experience - a mom and daughter threesome.

6. My Dad Finally Gets His "Present"

For a moment the room was silent as Tammy recovered from her intense orgasm and turned on her side once more. She looked at me and smiled, then nodded towards my dad. I looked and saw that he was standing now, his erection obvious as it pushed out against the dress pants he was wearing.

"Well, what do you think of your birthday present daddy?"

My dad reached for me and kissed me briefly and then looked over at Tammy again. "I can't believe they got you to come out here for this."

Tammy shrugged and smiled back, rolling her eyes slightly. "Trust me John, I can hardly believe it either."

My dad, ever the gentlemen, help unzip my dress in back and slip it off. He nodded in approval as he saw I was sans a bra but wearing a sexy thong. Usually when I was with him like this it was the opposite - missing panties but with a bra or something else on top, or else I was totally nude.

"You know, you good in a thong baby," he complimented me. Well, it WAS his birthday so of course I would wear what turned him on, no matter how uncomfortable it may be.

Without another word my dad stripped down and both Tammy and I couldn't help but fixate on the raging erection between his legs. Yeah, he was ready alright!

"Why don't you lay down daddy?" I offered. I knew he loved me to call him "daddy" when we had sex, even though normally he was "dad".

I stripped off the thong, removed my heels and got up on the bed beside him. Tammy sat up, reached behind her back to unhook her bra and removed it along with her heels as well. The two of us lay on each side of him with our heads in position over his dick. For the next ten minutes (I'm guessing here, not like we had a time clock going) we took turns worshiping my father's cock. Tammy wasn't able to take him all the way in as I could but then I would have to say that I was pretty certain I had a LOT more experience under my belt when it came to sucking dicks.

Tammy was the first to feel his dick in her, I made sure of that. With him still on his back she straddled him and sat up straight as I guided my father's cock into her almost bare pussy. She moaned loudly as first the head worked its way ion and then inch by inch the rest of his stiff shaft disappeared inside of her as she dropped down on him.

"Oh God Tammy... your pussy feels so damn good!" my dad sighed as she started to rock on his cock, working her hips in a circular motion around the dick that had her pinned in place like a butterfly in a collection.

Tammy leaned forward until her breasts were pressing against my dad's hairy chest and then they kissed passionately as he worked his cock in her pussy. I played with my dad's balls as I watched him appear and then disappear.

"Oh John... I want you to fuck me... fuck me John... please fuck me."

Tammy may have started out on top but that was evidently just to get him in her to start. I knew from her past visits that in her heart she was a missionary woman though. My dad did as well and took the hint and they rolled over in bed until he was on top - his dick staying her during the entire move. Once they were in position he began pumping in and out of her.

"That's it John... this is what I wanted!"

My dad got up on his knees, pulling Tammy's legs yup and over his shoulders as he grabbed her ass with both hands and humped her. That left her boobs exposed which I took full advantage of, leaning over her to suck on them. As I did, I reached with my hand down to her crotch, feeling my dad's dick with my fingertips as it moved in and out of her.

"Oh god... like that!" she groaned. I wasn't sure if she was referring to the way I was now tickling her clit or how my dad was thrusting himself as deeply into her as possible but I doubted she meant for either of us to stop. Indeed, within minutes she was cumming again.

By now I was so horny I was ready to scream. I guess I COULD have laid back and masturbated but that just seemed silly with my dad's hard dick right there in front of me. Once it seemed Tammy was about done I patted my dad's hairy butt and looked him in the eyes.

"My turn daddy," was all I had to say. Pulling out of Tammy, he moved over to me and pulled my legs up by the ankles until my butt was on his thighs as he kneeled between my legs. I reached down and positioned his dick until lit was right at the entrance to my waiting wet pussy.

"Push daddy," I told him as if he needed any instruction on fucking me. Over the past ten years he'd fucked me far more than any other guy – even my husband (but that's only because he had a nine year head start). If there was one man in the universe who knew how to fuck me well, it was my dad.

"Damn," I heard Tammy say under her breath as my dad began to pump his dick in me like a wildcat oil well. I turned my head to see her sitting up with her legs under her. "Sorry, it's just sometimes I can't get over what the two of you do." Indeed, when Tammy had first learned that my parents were involved in incest I thought she was going to run for the airport. She simply couldn't believe my dad had sex with me – not to mention a couple of my cousins and my mom's own sister. Even when she grew accustomed to the idea and we would discuss incest in more general manner, she wouldn't even consider discussing her sons in any form of sexual manner.

Sometimes it's best to say nothing so I just grinned and enjoyed my dad's dick in me. While I enjoy missionary, I prefer it more as the closing act when the man came in me. There is more of a submissive feeling to have the man dominating you which went along with the act of his mating me that just made the position seem more natural than any other.

As such, when I pushed my dad off of me just a bit, he got the message and pulled out, waiting to see what I would want next. It wasn't hard to figure out as I got on all fours facing Tammy after which he quickly moved in behind me and resumed fucking me.

"Let me lick you," I said to her as softly as I could under the circumstances. Tammy seemed unsure what I was saying but then she seemed to get the message. Scooting up towards me, she put her legs to either side of me and even pushed one of the pillows under her butt to make it easier for me.

God she tasted good!

As horny as my dad was I was surprised he lasted as long as he did but before long the telltale signs began to emerge - the gasps, the faster motion, the harder the thrusts. As much as I wanted him to cum in me, this was his birthday and I hadn't arranged for his "present" just to let the opportunity to pass him by. I could have his cum almost any time I wanted it but a chance to mate with Tammy didn't come along very often.

Lifting my head from Tammy's pussy, I moved forward to let my dad's dick flop out of me. For a moment the empty sensation in my pussy overwhelmed me and I almost said the heck with it and put him back in but seeing Tammy's nude body in front of me I resisted the temptation.

"In her daddy," I said as he looked at me as if uncertain what I was trying to do, "I want you to cum in Tammy."

For a moment I thought maybe Tammy was going to say something. It was one thing to be nude for a man, another to suck him and yet another to let him penetrate you with his dick. Yet all that paled in comparison to letting him cum inside of you. Allowing a man to literally mate you was gather most submissive and intimate act a woman can share with a man. Regardless of whether there is any chance of pregnancy (and Tammy had confirmed she was on the pill) you were still being mated. I knew Tammy's views on adultery and there was no greater sin than to allow a man other than her husband to release his sperm within her.

Well, it didn't matter what she was about to say because my dad was not to be denied. He was so close to cumming, maybe even in the act as it was, that he literally threw Tammy back against the pillows at the head of the bed and pushed himself inside of her as quickly as he could without another word to her. Almost instantly he groaned and I saw his ass clenching as he began to spew his sperm inside of her.

How Tammy may have felt earlier no longer mattered. She was so far gone now after two orgasms and repeated sex that all she seemed to care about was the organ inside of her and the sperm she was allowing to be shot inside of her. Her legs wrapped around my dad and pulled him into her, as if she was trying to pull his dick even deeper inside of her to drive his cum even further in her.

"Oh yes fuck me John... fuck me... fuck me," she kept repeating over and over like she was saying a liturgy.

Finally my dad collapsed but he managed to fall to the side of her so as to keep his weight from smothering her. As he did his cum-covered cock emerged. I didn't hesitate. Moving in between her legs, I put my face u against her pussy and pushed my tongue into her, trying to get as much of my dad's cum from her as I could.

God she smelled so strong of sex! It was like sensory overload as I licked and tasted her as my dad's cum began to emerge from within her. My dad may have been through but Tammy wasn't. I felt her hands on my head as she pushed me tighter into her crotch and then finally orgasm number three hit her.

Tammy turned, her eyes tightly shut as she reached down to her crotch and palmed it, rubbing it with her hand. My dad turned towards her and put his arms around her, pulling her head to his shoulder as he fondled her butt with one hand and played with her hair with the other.

While a threesome can be fun - as was just proven, the old "two's company but three's a crowd" eventually applies. It was time of me to make my exit and leave the two of them alone. It seemed they were both finished for the night anyway.

Checking out my own bedroom, I saw a somewhat similar sight. There was my husband arm in arm with my aunt in the middle of my bead. Steve looked to be sleeping while my aunt was fading in and out. Kristen was sitting on the edge of the bed and she laughed softly as I entered.

"So you were odd man out too I see."

I smiled wryly as that was probably a good way of looking at it. Kristen stood up and came over to me. Putting her hand between my legs, she pushed a finger up into me and I jumped slightly at the sensation.

"What do you say we young'uns go downstairs and have some fun?" We did.

2012

(Feb 03) Chapter 241: Flirty Mother-In-Law

Story codes: MF pett voy
Me (26)
Steve - my husband (28)
Marlene - Steve's mother (57)

It seems everyone asks me about goes on between my husband and his mother. It's as if people expect that just because someone has sex with her father that it means her husband must also be having sex with his mother. That's just ridiculous. True, they DID do something ONCE, but that was a really long time ago. Besides, what happened almost fourteen years ago doesn't mean a whole lot now. Or does it?

1. Past or Present?

Back in the summer when I was just fourteen and eagerly waiting for my first year of high school to begin, I would've been hard-pressed to imagine myself today. That's not surprising though, is it? Really, what adult can say they're doing today is anything like what they thought they'd be doing back when they were fresh out of middle school?

Perhaps what's surprising is how many things ARE what I'd hoped they'd be...

First and foremost, just as I had hoped for I'm now happily married to the man of my dreams. Sure it took a few years longer than what I might have figured, but better that then to rush into something that you later regret. Besides, in this day and age being 27 no longer qualifies you for old-maid status. While the two darling kids and cute house in the suburbs with a large porch and classic white picket fence haven't come about yet, I haven't lost hope. Second, I'm engaged in the career I've always wanted - teaching. It's what I've wanted to do for as long as I remember. While some girls posed in the mirror imaging walking down the runway and others dreamed of being a nurse or even a queen, I was the one giving lessons to my dolls. OK, so maybe I'm not working in the more prestigious public school system where I thought I'd be, making the big bucks with tenure and full benefits. Instead I'm blessed with a class of wonderful kids who love their teacher in a healthy learning environment supported by parents. That's not doing too shabby if I say so myself.

Finally, I have my family and friends and still am fortunate enough to live in the city I love. Admittedly I never imagined back then that my parents would be divorced, but at least they're still on talking terms and I get to see them both regularly. Unfortunately I don't see my mom nearly enough but with the wonders of modern technology it's not like we aren't in touch almost daily.

Starting my fourteenth summer I was still a virgin - much to my chagrin. It's hard to even imagine being a virgin now after having had sex with hundreds of men (and plenty of women) since then. A skinny young teen with boobs barely out of their training bra, I was totally self-conscious when I compared myself with my friends who all seemed to be so much more developed than me by then.

The idea that I would eventually surpass them and become the undisputed class slut, doing some of the crazy things that I've done, was not something I could even imagine. At the time the closest thing I'd come to having sex was masturbating with my friends while we talked about the hot boys in the neighborhood. Even then we never touched each other except maybe to tease someone.

One of the boys responsible for more rubbing than any of the others was the brother of one of my friends. Steve was sixteen at the time, about to become a junior which made him appear so old and mature to a bunch of newly minted freshman girls. Steve had quite the reputation for being a lady's man and all of us would swoon if he so much as passed through the room - his sister Sharon included.

To say that Steve didn't pay any of us a lick of attention would've been an understatement of gigantic proportions. Not that anyone could blame him. I mean, why should he care about a bunch of young immature girls with no sexual experience when he could have the entire varsity cheerleading squad (a collection of sluts if there ever was one) if he wanted - and apparently did if any of the rumors were even half true.

So when Steve asked me out after a weekend campout at their family camping club with me and a number of Sharon's other friends, you can imagine how thrilled I was. Well, maybe you can't because I was out of my mind with joy and excitement. I'd never even been on a real single date yet and here the most sought after boy in school was asking me out! Me, probably one of the least sexy and most immature girls entering high school that year - at least that was how I saw myself. High self-esteem was certainly not one of my better attributes at age.

I never would have dreamed (well, I DID dream but never really expected anything) that he would ask me, not when there were other girls like my best friend Beth who was already into a C cup and well on her way to an eventual D cup who would have done anything to get him to ask them out - and I do mean anything.

Other than a my dad's porn collection, I'd never seen a boy's hard dick other than the little kids I'd babysat (Not a turn-on for me). Of course there was my dad's but that didn't count as he was... well he was my DAD and who gets turned on by their parents' nakedness? After all, isn't that the stuff of most kids' "yuckiest" thoughts - their parents having sex?

Fortunately my mom had already had "the talk" with me long before and a number of follow-ups since then which eventually included a number of tips and hints on what do. Still, it's a big leap from talking about stroking dicks and actually having your fingers wrapped around one.

Do I even have to say that the LAST thing I was going to allow to happen was for Steve to go home after our first date and tell all his friends how I was afraid to do anything. What could be more embarrassing than to have the sexiest boy in class label you a prude? So when Steve made it clear to me that he wanted me to suck his dick, I did and without a moment's hesitation (or at least that he knew about). Not even the fact that we were in the middle of a darkened movie theater could deter me.

Nope, I was going to prove to him I could be as good to him as any of those older girls. I even swallowed the first time he came in my mouth although I have to admit it was more because I didn't know he was about to do it than any conscious decision on my part.

It wasn't long after our first date that I willingly gave Steve my virginity. When I say willingly, I mean like he could probably have had it on our first date if he'd only asked! Once that dam (or should I say hymen) was broken, it seemed like we were doing it all the time, taking advantage of every chance we had. Thankfully my mom was just as excited as I was about my new adventures and so there was no problem getting on the pill right away. All she asked in return was for me to tell her about everything as soon as I got home - in all the detail I could.

photos? (It's all in another diary entr[9] if you want the gory details.) As things turned out I couldn't have been more wrong. Instead, it turned out to be my first introduction to incest.

Yes, believe it or not that's exactly what happened. I know it sounds like some fantasy and I was as dumbstruck as anyone, but it happened and that was that. As I said before, the details are in another diary entry but in short Steve would up fucking his own mother right in front of me. I don't know who was more shocked of the three of us. I got the feeling it was something spontaneous on her part rather than anything pre-conceived. It was like the stars aligned for that moment and something that nobody could have ever predicted actually happened.

Of the three of us, Steve seemed the least concerned or surprised. I suppose it was that teenage boy horniness thing I mentioned. Put a pussy in front of him and he's gonna fuck it - no matter who's it is. Steve certainly had never made any mention prior to this about being horny for his mom. His own sister flirted with him shamelessly and he just ignored her so who would have ever thought he had any such feelings for his mother who'd never done anything to indicate she had such desires?

As for me, I was flat-out amazed and dumbstruck at the sight of a teenage boy fucking his own mother who was more than twice his age. Oh sure incest was a major theme in a lot of my dad's porn collection but that was just porn which we all know has nothing to do with reality. Anything else I'd ever heard about incest was relegated what I read or heard in the news and that was always something about a perverted father or uncle forcing himself on a poor daughter or niece. In other words, child abuse. Well, trust me... what Steve's mom did with her son was anything but child abuse!

As for me and my dad, at home I was comfortable being naked with my parents and even occasionally masturbating around them but there was never anything overtly sexual about it - at least in terms of anything indicating that they were interested in anything as sordid as incest. So you can imagine what a shock it was to me when Steve came inside his own mother's pussy, and right in front of his girlfriend at that!

When it was over, it was over. Steve never talked to me about or wanted to even bring up the subject again. Steve's mom went on treating me just as she always had - as Steve's girlfriend and Sharon's friend, without so much as a wink or a smile to indicate that such an incredible thing had ever happened. It was like everyone was pretending it never happened.

---

[9] Likely 1999 (Oct 05) Chapter 8: My Boyfriend's Mom Joins In

To the best of my knowledge, it never DID happen again. It was just one of those things where the stars aligned and people did something they might never have ever done and likely would never do again.

Who knows what might have happened between Steve and I had we been allowed to continue our relationship. I knew I was totally in love and was convinced that I was going to marry him. My mother tried to counsel me that I was just fourteen and that a girl's first crush didn't usually lead to the altar but I was blinded by my love for Steve - and mu lust for his dick. He was the only boy to fuck me while we were dating, except for his younger brother who did me one time when I was teasing him but I didn't count that as I did it more to show him what he couldn't have than anything else.

Alas, it was not to be. Steve's mom was transferred to California a few months later which effectively ended our relationship, at least for another twelve years. Even if there had been things like Skype and FaceBook then I doubt it would have changed anything since looking back I realize now that our relationship was as much about the physical as it was the mental. Steve and I didn't go out for a night of titillating discussion - we went out to have sex!

Steve wasn't around two years later when I started having sex with my father except in my case it was totally different than what Steve did with his mother that one time. For them it was one time fling brought on by a perfect combination of lust and opportunity. For us it became a lifestyle change which permanently altered my relationship with my father and mother. I find it interesting to say the least that Steve and his mom were the first to have incest but in the end it was me and my dad who were doing it long-term while Steve and his mother never did anything again.

2. Back With Steve Again

It was more than ten years after they left Pittsburgh when Steve's mom was transferred back to the 'burgh again. Sharon and Jim, Steve's younger siblings, chose to remain behind. The real reason for that was something I wouldn't find about until shortly before I married Steve. Either way it wasn't something either Steve or his mom cared to talk about.

As for Steve, he decided to move back and live with his mom, just as he had the whole time they lived in California. He'd just finished his paramedic training and there were supposed to be more job opportunities in Pittsburgh. I like to think he also was thinking of me when he made the decision to move back.

During those ten years we'd seen each other only once – at his wedding of all places! Seeing how I was the first girl he had sex with AFTER he said his vows, it wasn't much of a surprise when the thing was annulled a couple of months later. Even so the long distance between us prevented anything more from happening even when we ignited that spark for that one special evening.

In the mean time we both went through a series of unsatisfactory relationships. At one point I even thought I'd found the man of my dreams but like Steve, that turned out to be a dud. I was at least fortunate enough to find out before I married the jerk although there were some serious repercussions that took me years to deal with.

As I said earlier, while Steve's sister and brother remained in California he moved in with his mom to save on rent. It didn't take long for him to find me in church one morning and the rest, shall we say, was destiny. For a while we went through the ritual of dating while still seeing others but I in my heart I knew from the very first moment I saw him again what I wanted. The feeling was mutual and a little more than a year later we said our vows.

Along the way I got to know my future (and now current) mother-in-law better and more about her rather peculiar relationship with her son. To say it was "different" would not be doing it justice. From the start my eyebrows were raised and I was a bit embarrassed and confused. Whatever it was between the two of them was more than what you typically saw between mother and son, especially one who was 27 years old. For instance, when we would arrive at their place the two of them would hug and kiss and I don't mean just a peck on the cheek. Rather it was a full on-the-lips lingering kiss. As they hugged his hand would rip her ass and she wasn't shy about letting hers wander as well.

Although I never once saw her naked or anything like that, it wasn't unusual for Marlene to be in nothing but a short robe or a t-shirt and panties. Face it, she wasn't twenty-something anymore so she didn't wear anything too creepy but it was definitely not like anything when I would visit the mothers of any other guy I'd dated in the past.

When we reunited I didn't tell Steve anything about the relationship that had developed between me and my father since our teenage dating days. I'd learned my lesson earlier about not telling someone about such things after what happened to me when I told my secrets to a guy I thought was going to ask me to marry him. Talk about a disaster! And I didn't even get to the "juicy" stuff!

I certainly never did anything with my father in front of anyone, even Steve. Certainly nothing similar to what he did with his mother. It wasn't until we'd been dating well over a year and I knew a proposal was imminent that I finally told Steve and even then he didn't believe me until I proved it to him.

Knowing what had happened when we were younger and then seeing how close Steve was with his mother, I couldn't help but think that maybe they had developed an incestual relationship of their own and just didn't want to tell me for some reason. To tell the truth, I was HOPING they did because then it would make it much easier for me to open up to him about mine.

Well, THAT didn't work out. One time when we were out and having sex I tried to hint at there may be being something sexual between him and his mother and his reaction was a quick as it was explosive. It was like I had accused him of having sex with an animal or something else similarly repulsive to him.

Things got so out of hand that I was afraid for a while that we might even break up over it but things finally cooled down. One thing was clear to me then. No matter how touchy feely they might be, it was just their way of behaving with each other and there nothing sexual between them whatsoever.

I suppose to be fair such a relationship isn't as unusual as you might think. In the past year or so I've been involved in several situations where fathers would have sex with other daughters while watching their own daughter being fucked by other men, yet never fucking their own daughter. At first I assumed it was just for show to somehow rationalize what they were doing with other young girls while maintaining an "innocent" relationship with their own daughters. Of course at home I figured that all went out the window.

Over time as I got to know more such families I found that indeed, that's how it was. Of course that was with men and young daughters, not women and their late-twenties sons but I suppose the same principles could apply. I knew Marlene wasn't a prude and that she dated regularly, often with much younger men so why should I question that she drew the line with her own son at home?

There was one other thing that I had to adjust to when it came to Steve's mom. It soon became clear that not only was she OK with us having sex, she practically insisted we do it when she was home. She declared that we weren't teenagers anymore and that as adults we should all behave as adults and that sex wasn't something we should worry about hiding from her.

Again, if I was being fair it was no different than those men I mentioned who loved watching their own daughters having sex so why should a women be denied the same pleasure when it came to her son? Even my own mother loved to watch my dad fuck me but the difference was that sometimes she joined in!

It was one thing for us to do it when Steve's mom was home, but you can imagine my reaction one night when right in the middle of us having sex Marlene stepped into the bedroom and just stood there staring us without saying a word. Steve saw her but he just ignored her and for a moment I had a flashback to that day in the basement when his mom surprised us and guess what, his reaction was exactly the same - he just kept fucking me!

Unlike the last time, this time I wasn't about to just act like everything was normal. Like, SOMEONE had to say something so I pushed Steve away and sat up in bed, not bothering to cover myself as I wasn't like there was anything she hadn't seen already.

"OK, what the hell is going on?" I said, forcing the words out one by one as I gasped to catch my breath.

"Just ignore her baby," Steve insisted as he tried to mount me again, "It doesn't bother me and it's not like you usually mind being watched."

Yeah, like this was no different than being at some party or something. Nope, I wasn't about to accept that. Meanwhile, Marlene just stood there like a statue, not uttering a single word but she did have this rather amused look on her face as if she was enjoying the situation.

"But Steve... it's your mother for God's sake!"

Steve just shrugged asking "And that bothers you?"

My eyes rolled melodramatically as I huffed in response, "Of course not but shouldn't it bother YOU? I thought you said there was nothing going on between you guys like that?"

Now THAT was enough to illicit a response from his mother. She waved her hands in front of her and shook her head.

"Whoa now, be careful. Steve told me that it would be OK to watch. That's it - nothing more!"

Now I was totally confused. I looked at Steve accusingly and said, "You told her it was OK to watch us? Really?"

Steve shrugged. "I don't know. We were talking about you and me and the subject came up and I just thought she might appreciate it seeing how we were doing it when she was home and having to listen to us anyway."

This was starting to become surreal. Sure back when I was younger my dad would peak in now and then to check on me when I brought a boy home but that was just his way of making sure that everything was OK. If anything it gave me a sense of security knowing my dad was right outside my bedroom door just in case anything got out of hand.

This was different. Steve and his mom both insisted there was nothing sexual between them yet they both were Ok with her watching the two of us doing it. Well, I have always loved being watched so I finally just figured the heck with it and let things go without any more debate.

Since then I've become accustomed to our "guest" whenever I'm at Steve's mom's place. After all this time it has remained the same - she just watches with never a comment or a word or anything else to interfere with us. It was different when my mom would watch my dad doing me as she would usually masturbate and even make a few comments now and then. Marlene never touches herself in any way, not even through her clothes. In fact, I've never seen her masturbate at any time. For that matter I've never even seen her nude. All but, but not all the way.

So that's the way it's been. Even once Steve found out about my incestual relationships that didn't change anything so far as he and his mom were concerned. I'd secretly hoped that once he found out that my dad was fucking me that it might spur him to want to start something with his own mother but that never materialized. Apparently he is perfectly fine with fucking MY mother and her sister but when it comes to his mom the answer remains a clear NO.

3. Just Flirting?

The other night we went to Marlene's house for a visit, something Steve and I try to do at least once a week since he moved out after we got married and found our own place. His mom had offered for us to live with her but I wanted to be on my own with Steve now that he was my husband. Marlene and I got along great and I was afraid that living full time with her might strain that relationship. As much as I love my cousin, moving in with Kristen had sometimes created problems and if we couldn't get along all the time then there was no way it could work with Steve's mom.

After dinner we sat in the living room with Steve in his usual place - sitting between his mom and me. While the winter had been mild it was still a little on the chilly side this night so I was wearing jeans and a long-sleeved blouse. Steve was also in a pair of faded jeans with a flannel shirt.

When we arrived his mom was still in typical office attire - in this case a rather conservative dress which looked to be straight from the Macy's catalog. The hemline came down about mid-calf although with a rather low cut front although nothing out of ordinary considering the styles these days. It's like nowadays you can wear a dress showing half your boobs to church and nobody even bats an eye. The unspoken rule seems to be so long as you keep the skirt length long enough, you can get away with just about anything on top.

After dinner and we had cleared the table of dishes, his mom huffed something about getting out of her "straight jacket" and left the two of us as she disappeared to her bedroom to change. Steve and I moved to the couch where he flipped on the TV with the remote and started going through the shows she's recorded on the DVR.

We sat with him in the middle and me to one side, the obvious implications being that when his mom returned she would take up residence on the opposite side of him from me. This was something that had started shortly after our wedding. Before then Marlene would usually sit in one of the chairs or even on the floor, leaving the couch to me and Steve. Nowadays, though, she had taken to finding he place next to Steve, sandwiching him between the two of us.

As Steve busied himself with the TV, I sat there wondering what Marlene was taking so long to do. Was she showering or why was it taking so long? I was expecting her to return in maybe sweats or even jeans like us so what could be taking longer than maybe five minutes or so?

I might have sort of dozed off after dinner because I jumped in my seat as Steve scooted over a bit to make room for his mom who had entered the room without me noticing. I glanced over and saw she wasn't wearing sweats or anything else I'd expected. Instead she wore a sexy sheer white baby doll nightie with pink trim and lacy edges. Along with the nightie she had on a sheer wrap and over that a thin white cotton robe. I guess when she meant she wanted to get more comfortable she really meant it!

The robe must have been meant for the trip between the bedroom and the living room as it never made it to the couch. The wrap was left open, exposing her nightie underneath. The material was so sheer her dark nipples were clearly visible. Like my mom, she wasn't shaved but evidently trimmed quite a bit as I could make out the darkness of her pubic hair but none of it was poking out along the side of the narrow material between her legs. Even from a couple of feet away I could smell the scent of her perfume.

Taking her seat next to Steve, she put her legs up and under her so she was snuggling up tight against Steve, her head against his broad shoulders. Suddenly I felt distinctly overdressed!

As we watched TV Steve put his arms around us both and before long I felt him groping my boob, just like we were teenagers again on the family couch. The only surprise for me was that he waited until the first commercial break to do so. One of the things I loved about Steve was that he couldn't keep his hands off of me. It seemed he always was groping my butt or boobs or at the very least running his fingers through my hair. More often than not I had to push his hands off my chest when we were in a public setting, pretending to be shocked that he would have the audacity to do such a thing but at the same time secretly loving every minute of it. So far as I was concerned he could fondle me 24x7 and it wouldn't be enough.

My boob wasn't the only one he was paying attention to as I saw him cupping his mom's breast through the material of her thin nightie. It wasn't anything new in that he is always grabbing at her and playing with her boobs. While it got awfully close at times, I'd never seen him reach underneath and actually touch them which to me showed a tremendous amount of self-control on the part of Steve.

Indeed, that was the general rule for them - anything OVER the clothes was OK and indeed that meant anything. But UNDER the clothes was an entirely different matter. Maybe under the back of her blouse or even reaching down the back of her pants or under her dress to caress her butt was OK. Perhaps the easiest way to describe it would be that anything that would be covered by a tiny thong bikini was off limits. Everything else was fair game.

Well, those rules didn't apply to ME so after I'd conveniently loosened a few buttons he had his hand under my blouse and was toying with my nipples which quickly responded to the attention he was giving them. Of course I wasn't wearing a bra although sometimes in public I might wear one just to make it a little more challenging for him.

While he kept his hands outside his mother's outfit, I couldn't help but notice that her nipples were poking out through the light lacey material just as much as mine. One thing I'd seen early on was that Marlene had much larger nipples than mine which was especially noticeable when they became hardened with arousal. It didn't hurt that the lacey baby doll and thin robe did little to conceal them.

Like a good husband should, Steve leaned over and kissed his wife first but then he turned the other way to kiss his mom. We both got lots of tongue which we both enjoyed.

Steve then turned back to me and as we kissed I reached down to his lap but was a bit surprised to find that that Marlene had beaten me to it. Not to be outdone, I placed my hand on top of hers as we both pushed down on the growing erection that was pushing out against his jeans. Again, this wasn't any big deal as like I said, anything OVER the clothes was fair game and both of them seemed to enjoy rubbing the other down there, even it was through their clothing.

After having grown accustomed to this little charade over the past year or so I was more than a little bit surprised when she started to undo his belt and then began to work on the zipper of his jeans. Steve kept kissing me but I could feel him tensing up and I wondered if maybe something new and special was about to happen. Why it would be any different this time than any time before I had no idea but my heart started to beat faster as I watched.

Alas, while for a moment it looked like things were going to get a lot closer between Steve and his mom - FINALLY, it was not to happen. As it turned out she was just giving ME a hand. Once Steve's erect dick was freed she didn't touch it but instead she took my hand and gently placed it on her son's hard cock. It was like she was making an extra special effort to make sure she never came in contact with it.

Then she backed her hand away and placed the palm of her hand on his thigh about midway between his hip and knee.

Damn! I was a little disappointed as I thought for sure that this was going to be that breakthrough moment. One the other hand (quite literally), the feel of his hard shaft in my hand made up for anything else. If there is one thing I'll never grow tired of, it's holding a stiff dick in my hand – especially when it's my husband's. While it's always special to hold my dad's, that more for him than me. Holding Steve's dick may have been good for him, but I did it especially for ME!

As I gripped his stiff cock, Steve turned back to kiss Marlene again which left me free. It wasn't exactly the most subtle move he'd ever made – I knew exactly what he wanted from me so I leaned down and started sucking him off. It was a little awkward trying to lean down that much so I scooted up onto the couch, curling my legs under me so I was laying on my side facing towards the couch with my right arm under me resting on his lap and my left hand gripping the base of his beautiful hard dick.

"You know I always knew she was the right girl from you from the first time I met her," Marlene said softly to my husband, "I don't think I've ever known anyone who loves sucking cock as much as she does."

Steve patted me on the head and ran his fingers through my hair lovingly as I ran my tongue around the tip of his dick while my lips formed a seal around the underside of the head.

"Damn... you can say that again mom," he chuckled as I gave his dick a particularly hard bit of suction, my cheeks drawing in tightly as I made love to my most favorite dick in the entire world.

"Who knows... maybe if I'd sucked your dad as much as Kelly does you..." she paused for a moment as if in thought and then continued, "Then again maybe that's what that skank he ran off with was doing."

"It wasn't your fault mom."

"I know, I know... but then who knows, right?"

I hadn't heard Marlene mention her husband hardly ever except when an expletive was attached so this conversation was a little unusual. It wasn't the first time they'd talked about things while I sucked him off but it wasn't something that happened all that often either so I tried not to do anything that might draw them away from their discussion.

"Oh God..." Steve groaned as I took his entire dick down my throat. I loved the feel of his pubic hair mashed against my face and the musky odor of his crotch that filled my nose as I buried my face into his exposed crotch.

"Now THAT I never have been able to do," Marlene sighed, "Last time I tried with that guy from work I thought I was going to puke right in his lap!"

I quickly pulled my head up as I was about to choke on Steve's dick as I fought back the urge to laugh at her last comment. When you're trying to take a dick down your throat it's not a good idea to be listening to anything that might break your attention, let alone cause you to laugh.

"My bad," she giggled as I looked up and gave her a dirty look. She knew I was just teasing her but I think she felt a little bad anyway.

She turned to face the TV again and crossed her legs, exposing most of her leg to me and Steve. Well, make that ALL of her leg and a good part of her hip. The robe had pulled up long ago as she had let it hand open when we sat down and it's not like the nightie she wore covered all that much. For a women in her early fifties she wasn't all that bad. Personally I thought my bad kept herself in much better shape though.

Back to work on Steve's dick. Personally, I'd of been happy to just lay there for the entire evening and do nothing but enjoy the feel of my lover's erection in my mouth and against my face. I was still fully clothed so it wasn't like I could even properly masturbate so my entire concentration was focused on the dick in my mouth. Not that Steve was complaining.

Indeed, for the rest of that TV show and partly into the next that was just what I did. Steve and his mom just watched the show, Steve's hand running though my hair just as he knew I loved it. From what I could tell they weren't even kissing or necking. I guess whatever the show was, it was enough to keep them watching.

"Mmmmmmm, that feels good honey," Marlene purred. I couldn't exactly tell what was happening above me, only that Steve must have been fondling his mother. Whatever he was doing she certainly seemed to be enjoying it.

Finally my curiosity got the best of me and I lifted my head off his lap for a moment as if I needed to catch my breath. It was just enough that I could see Steve had his hand planted firmly on his mother's breast. For all the resistance the lacey nightie was giving he may as well have had it on her bare skin but they were maintaining protocol and he wasn't touching her directly. It may have been a small distinction - VERY small if you ask me, but it was important to them and it did serve to maintain a line that they never crossed.

As I turned my attention back to my more important things, I wondered what Steve's mom would say if she knew that Steve had fucked my mom, including right before we said our vows. In my fantasy wedding it would have been me with my dad and Steve with his mom in those final moments before we left our parents' care and gave our vows to one another. Still, seeing how his mother wouldn't have gone along with the program it was the next best thing to have my mom fill in for his.

The more I thought about the more I had to wonder how Steve felt about limiting his contact with his mother. Certainly he had to realize something of how it would be to be with his own mother when he was with mine. There HAD to be something just a little more special about fucking the mother of his wife than even doing my aunt or cousin.

From my own personal experience there was just something special about being with my dad that I didn't feel with any other man, not even Steve. I'm not saying it is BETTER to be with my dad than my husband, not by any means. Indeed, the only man I have ever made love to is my husband. My father is just that - my father whereas Steve is my husband and lover. Based on that, didn't Steve have to wonder what it would be like to have sex with his mother? That one time they did it so many years ago must seem like a distant memory to him now. Plus, back then he was just a boy whereas now he could legitimately BE his mother's lover IF that was what they wanted. How could he sit here now with his wife sucking on his cock, fondling his mother's breasts yet now want to move aside that slight bit of clothing and suckle on her breasts? He could protest all he wanted but I just couldn't believe that deep down that's not what he wanted.

What more could I do? I went along as far as they would allow me. Here I was with my mouth full of his dick as they sat next to each other with her all but naked watching TV as if it was the most natural thing to do. Didn't I mention earlier it was surreal?

Maybe if I had more guts I would have just stood up and demanded that they stop the charade and do what both of them had to know they wanted. Then again, I didn't have the guts and I didn't have the courage to take such a risk. So many things could go wrong! They seemed happy with things were the way they were now so who was I to step in and ruin it for them.

Reaching around Steve to allow some muscles to move after being in one position for over an hour, my hand brushed up against Marlene's bare upper thigh. She didn't move or make any noticeably reaction so I put my hand on her as if to steady myself as I raised my head up to get a better angle on Steve's dick. Marlene allowed her leg's to uncross so I could better push against her - or at least that's how I like to think it happened.

I paused for a moment and just let my head rest on his lap, his dick about half in my mouth as I took a brief break to let my jaw relax for a bit. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise - sucking dick can be a strenuous workout, for your mouth at least.

Feeling the warmth of his mom's leg under my hand, I wondered what her reaction would be to me reaching in further and pressing up against her now available crotch. Maybe that's why she uncrossed her legs, to hint at me that she wanted me to feel her up?

I was feeling like a young boy in school must feel sitting next to a girl in the theater, wondering if he should make the next move on his date. Was she sitting there secretly wishing he would do it or was she worried that he might? Was Marlene wondering now what was keeping me from making my move or maybe she was worried that I might be misinterpreting her motion and making assumptions that shouldn't be made.

Wow, it made me glad not to be a guy! This was horrible! It was SO much better to be on the other side with all the control. What was worse - to make the move and maybe regret it or NOT make and almost certainly regret it?

Maybe Marlene sensed my indecision and felt responsible to help me. Maybe she was just anxious for things to move to the next level. Maybe she was just feeling horny and wanted to watch? I'll never know but what I DO know is she made up my mind for me.

"So are you just going to be selfish and let your poor wife do all the work or what?"

She said it just as I was about to make my move but instead I froze in place.

"Huh?" Steve responded as if she had woken him from a deep sleep.

"I just think it's time you reciprocate, don't you?"

"It's OK, really," I started to say as I let his dick slip from my lips.

"Nonsense, this is ridiculous," she huffed, "Men will just take advantage of you if you let them Kelly. You need to speak up for yourself."

What I WANTED to say was, "If this is being taken advantage of then I LIKE it."

What I SAID was... well nothing. I just laid there looking up at Steve waiting to see what he wanted. I KNEW what he wanted - another hour or so of me sucking his dick! It had been ages since I had just done this, laying on my side worshiping his cock for hours on end without any expectations of him doing anything in return other than enjoying himself.

"Yes mother," he mumbled, with all the enthusiasm as if he was sixteen again and she had told him to go and clean his room.

"Well just don't lay there, get those jeans off girl. I KNOW you don't have anything underneath, am I right?"

I couldn't help but laugh a bit at that one. She certainly knew me well enough to know that jeans were not something I typically required panties to be worn under. For that matter there weren't all that many outfits that did.

I sat up and removed my heels and then worked my tight jeans down my thighs and off my feet. Marlene giggled like a young girl as her suspicions were proven - no panties in sight.

"What can I say?" I said meekly, raising my hands up as if surrendering to her, "I hate wearing them."

"Don't you chafe in those tight jeans though?" she said in a conversation tone as if we were comparing clothing in a store.

"Baby powder... Johnson's baby powder," I confided. Indeed, it worked wonders and I also learned early on that guys got off from the scent which made me seem all the more young and innocent when I dated.

I started to turn to lay my head against the arm of the couch but Marlene was in charge now.

"Get up Steve... and keep that thing out of my face for heaven's sake!" she joked (or so I thought). Here Kelly, why don't you lay with your head in my lap."

THIS was different, that was for sure. Marlene was the very definition of your classic voyeur. "Watch but don't touch" was her mantra. It's not like she was going to be touching me, but even for me to be next to her would have been a first, let alone laying my head in her lap.

I wasn't going to argue so I twisted around and laid back until my head rested on her bare thigh. I looked up and saw her looking down at me with her large boobs almost blocking her face. The nightie was so tight and sheer I could clearly see the dark outline of her hardened nipples.

Steve dropped his shoes and his pants and boxer shorts. He started to move in between my legs when his mom stopped him and told him to take off his shirt as well. She didn't say why but I was OK with it. Steve had a ripped upper body and I loved looking at it - and apparently so did his mom. That left me as the only one with anything substantial on top as I was still wearing my long-sleeved blouse. There wasn't a bra underneath of course but it was still buttoned up to my cleavage. I pulled it up to just under my bustline, exposed my midriff.

"Oh to be young again," Marlene sighed softly, "What I wouldn't give to have a belly like that again. Oh well, we'll see how yours looks after three kids and twenty more years."

Totally naked now, Steve got in between my legs. I had one foot resting on the top of the couch and the other leg hanging over the outer edge of the couch so my pussy was as exposed to him as much as I could make it. God! I couldn't wait for him to put his mouth on me!

I didn't have to wait long. Steve had always been one of the better pussy lickers I'd dated. I really didn't appreciate just HOW good he was until he moved away and I started dating other guys. I just assumed that all boys had the same innate talent that he possessed. Seeing as he was the only one to do it for the first six months or so that I was having sex, you really can't blame me for having such unrealistic expectations.

It didn't take long to learn the truth - most guys suck when it comes to licking pussy. It's the thing I like about having sex with girls. It's only natural if you ask me. Of course girls lick pussy better than guys, they know what makes them feel good. For the same reason I've always wondered why boys don't like other boys to suck them. I mean, who should know better how to suck dick than another boy? For me all I have to go by is their reaction31 and sometimes their words. It's not like I have any idea how they actually feel when my mouth is on them.

Suddenly my body just reacted and my hips thrust up in the air as my back arched under me.

"Oh my god!" I moaned as my orgasm surprised even me. It was like it just snuck up on me instead of building up to a climax as it usually did. Too many things on my mind I guess and finally my body just said it was in charge and took control.

This time his mother stayed silent although I was expecting some sort of commentary based on her earlier reactions. How she kept her hand out of her crotch seeing me getting off from her son with his head between my outstretched thighs, I just don't understand. It was like a clinic in willpower. Had it been me I'd of been masturbating from the get-go.

"Make me cum again," I begged him as I closed my eyes and concentrated on nothing but the incredible sensations his tongue was unleashing on my pussy. He did just that, bringing me to another climax, followed shortly thereafter by yet another.

I wanted it then. I wanted it bad. I wanted it more than anything in the world. I NEEDED it!

"Oh god fuck me Steve!"

4. Just Fuck Me

I've always maintained that the two words a girl can say that turn a man on the most are "fuck me" but what are the equivalent words for a girl to hear? I know lots of things men have told me were turn-ons, like "You're so much better than my wife," or "I wish my daughter was like you." I have to say, a new phrase has topped my list - "Fuck my son."

Yes, that's exactly what Steve's mom said as she broke her silence. It wasn't quite the same as what I had just begged for as I wanted Steve to fuck me, to take me I his strong arms and drill his hard shaft deep inside of me. I wanted to be taken, to be fucked.

Marlene put it in slightly different terms though. "Fuck my son." It was like she was protecting him, or seeing to it that HIS needs were addressed first. As horny as I was at that moment, I wasn't about to argue semantics. Indeed, I was more than happy to oblige her.

My pussy was practically screaming to be filled so I wasn't going to waste any more time talking about anything. I moved quickly, first sitting up and then standing up as I practically dragged Steve up onto the couch so he was once again sitting next to his mother. Only this time he was naked as the day he was born.

Climbing on top of him, I leaned up and over him, reaching down behind me to grip and his dick and then lowered myself down as I positioned it in place to penetrate me. By now I was so wet and horny that he met little resistance as my soaking wet pussy literally swallowed every inch of his hard dick.

"Oh god that feels so good in me!" I cried as out as rode his cock, bouncing up and down on him like a bucking bronco girl. Usually Il preferred to start out slow, letting him push into me all the way the way and the easing myself up and off of him until just the tip of his dick remained in me where I would do just the opposite as I dropped down on him. Not this time. No way I was going to wait as I drove him in me as deep as I could, grinding my butt into his crotch as I tried to get every bit of him in me that I could.

Normally when I was doing this with Steve at his mom's house she would be seated across the room in another chair or at least a few feet away. Not tonight. I could feel her thigh against me as I moved up and down on her son's hard pole, grunting with pleasure each time he bottomed out in me.

Steve had his hand gripping the bottom of his shaft to keep it me after he dropped out a few times when I got carried away and there wasn't enough of him in me to keep him on course when I dropped back down again. I noticed his other had was now between his mother's legs which she had parted for him. She still had on her nightie but there wasn't enough material in the crotch to cover her public hair which spilled out in both side.

I was sorely tempted to push Steve's hand out of the way and touch her myself but that have to wait for another time as I don't think we have reached that stage in our relationship or even if we ever will. Still it just made everything all the hotter to see him rubbing his mother's pussy as his dick fucked me. She HAD to be wishing it was in her... she HAD to be wishing it was.

After sucking on him for so long and then the workout I was giving his dick now with my pussy, I was surprised Steve lasted as long as he did but it wasn't long before he was cumming with what seemed to be buckets of sperm in me.

"Fill me Steve, fill me with your cum baby," I begged him, not caring what his mother heard. Why I even thought she might care I don't know but I still couldn't help but fall back on old habits now and then.

After he came in me I stayed on his lap, straddling him with my one leg pressed in between his and his mom's. It felt so sexy to feel her bare leg against mine. I wanted so badly for her to lick his cum from me!! Oh well, maybe someday.

5. What Next?

Later that night when we were back home Steve and made love again but this time in the privacy of our bedroom. While I loved it, I couldn't help but think of how it felt to do it with his mother right next to us. Maybe it was because she didn't have sex with him that made it hot for me, I don't know.

Later when he had finished and we laid in bed still joined - one of my favorite moments I have with my husband by the way, I tried to hint at what had been going through my mind as we had just made love.

"I loved doing it with your mom right next to us," I said softly in his ear.

"Oh, that turned you on does it?"

I smacked him playfully. "You know it does."

"You like it when ANYONE watches us so what's so special about my mom watching?

"DUH! It's your mom silly!"

"She's been watching us for like forever now, so what was the big deal tonight?"

Steve stirred and I could feel his semi-flaccid cock slip out of me. Damn!

"Well, for starts you had your hand on her pussy. THAT was new."

"She had her nightie on so it wasn't like I was feeling up her pussy," he protested lamely.

"Like THAT made any difference," I teased him, "You fingers had to smell of pussy when we were done and its wasn't just mine."

Steve frowned and I worried for a moment I might be pushing things too far but still, I was curious.

"Did you push your finger in her a little bit?"

"Kelly!"

"It's OK Steve, you can tell me. I mean it's only natural for a man when he's horny and has his hand on a woman's pussy to want to push it in her, right?"

"I'm warning you Kelly," he growled, his voice lowering an octave this time. I should have known better but I had to know.

"How far Steve? How far in her did you push your finger?"

I never found out because Steve practically jumped out of bed and headed for the living room where I heard him throw himself on the couch. I felt bad because I knew I had pushed too far but at the same time why should I feel that way? I had a right to know, didn't I?

Frustrated and a bit horny now, I called my mom. Fortunately it was three hours earlier her time so it wasn't too late for her. I poured out my frustrations and as always, she seemed to know just what to tell me. Basically, to get over it and not push my husband where he didn't want to go.

After I hung up I laid back and masturbated for a while, imagining how it would be to watch Steve fuck his mother and maybe then licking his cum from her pussy.

Maybe someday?

swinging would be permissible in our marriage, even sex alone with someone else, so long as we agree upon it as a couple. Steve agreed that "cheating" - sex outside of marriage without the knowledge of the other, is never to be allowed. Think of it as the INTENT is the deciding factor. If the intent is to deceive your marriage partner then that is wrong.

Underage Sex: As a general rule, "Don't ask, don't tell." What that means is I would not question what Steve does with my aunt or father so long as he doesn't tell me about it. I also agreed to periodically accompany him but only under special circumstances - like an anniversary present, father's day, birthday or something like that. These exceptions were expected to be VERY limited.

I'd like to think that through these compromises our marriage will outlast even my parents and we can truly honor our wedding vows and remain together "until death do us part".

2. Preparations

Since our marriage back at the end of August of last year, Steve and I have so far enjoyed what I would call a GREAT marriage. I have to think that part of the reason things have gone so well is that we made sure BEFORE we got married that we brought up potential problems and agreed on how we would handle them, including the two MAJOR issues that I have just discussed.

So how has that all worked out? Well...

So far as adultery is concerned, we've done things in our marriage that I never dreamed would happen. Well, maybe I dreamed about them but never expected it to really happen. Steve didn't waste any time setting up our first married swap and I have to say, it was a LOT of fun. Something about sharing husbands is so different than sharing boyfriends.

With sponsorship by my Aunt Linda we signed up with a VERY private group which had made me feel much more secure and safe than I would if we just went out clubbing or meeting total strangers. It was a real pain getting accepted with all the interviews, background checks and videos that were required to ensure we weren't spies or otherwise trying to scam them. At least we know that whoever we meet is on the level and has the same interests we have.

while I know I had insisted that he not take advantage of my compromise promise, that didn't mean he never could ask.

One night while I was lying in bed feeling wonderful after having just made love to Steve, a thought came to my mind. What better way to show him how I was feeling right now than to offer to him the opportunity to indulge himself once again. Only this time he wouldn't have to feel guilty about asking me as I would be the one to arrange things.

The idea had me so excited I could barely sleep and the next day I went over to see my aunt for help. So far Steve was the one who made all the arrangements so I had no idea how to do things.

Needless to say my Aunt Linda was more than eager to help me with my plans. She knew the sort of girls that prefers as well as my preferences. I have to say that she came up with the perfect compromise. Steve loves sex with young girls, I love sex with married fathers. Why not make us both happy?

Basically I left the arrangements up to her. As I said, I normally don't get involved with such things as Steve always takes care of the swaps. Usually he will show me the videos and pics of a couple he's interested in but other than that he deals with the logistics. In this case my aunt didn't even go that far. She just took care of everything with a cryptic "trust me" when I asked for more details. If anything she seemed to be getting a kick out of surprising the both of us, even though I had a vague idea of what was going to happen.

While I think both Steve and my Aunt Linda would have been fine with doing things at either her house or our apartment, that was where I drew the line. If anything should go wrong, better it happen away from our homes so arrangements were made to meet at a nearby hotel. As it happened, it was the same one that we met the couple for swapping the night before. It would have been a Twilight Zone moment had it been the same room but it wasn't even on the same floor.

Steve had NO idea what I was planning for him. We slept in Saturday morning after the swap and then went out for brunch at an Eat-n-Park restaurant like it was just any old weekend. It was killing me to keep everything a secret but somehow I managed to control myself.

As we got in the car to head home, I turned to my husband and said something about having left something in the hotel room last night and that we needed to go to back so I could get it. Steve had no reason to suspect anything so he just rolled his eyes at my forgetfulness and headed to the hotel.

Once there Steve was going to just drop me off at the front entrance but I gave him my best little lost girl look and so he parked and went in with me to "help", as I put it. Unbeknownst to him my Aunt Linda had preceded us and had the front desk clerk prepped. Of course the girl didn't know the REAL reason for the ruse, but she deserved an Oscar for her performance. She handed over the room key after I explained my so-called "problem". The cool thing about room keys now is that they don't have the room number on them so Steve didn't realize it wasn't for the same room that we had used the night before.

It was in the elevator that Steve got the first hint that things were not as they seemed. I pushed the button for the floor and he seemed puzzled and then finally reminded me that it was the wrong floor. I just smiled and told him that no, it was exactly the right floor. He started to say something but I just kissed him and told him to be patient.

Once in the room, which was empty, Steve finally couldn't contain himself and insisted I spill my guts and explain what the story was. I wasn't about to ruin the surprise so I just told him to have a seat and that all would be revealed before long. I threw in something about wanting to show him how much I appreciated my new husband but then THAT could have meant just about anything so it wasn't like I was giving anything away.

What Steve didn't know was that I was just as curious as he was. Yes, I knew a little bit more than he did but I didn't really know much of anything for sure. My aunt had made all the arrangements and I knew that she said she had worked out something to make everyone happy but then again, THAT could mean anything.

3. Introductions

Thankfully we didn't have to wait long. It was maybe five minutes before there was a knock on the door. Steve rose but I motioned for him to stay seated while I answered the door. I looked through the peep hole but all I could see was a guy getting ready to knock again on the door. Who, if anyone, was with him I couldn't tell. I assumed it was the people my aunt had arranged but I had to be sure.

Keeping the chain on the door, I opened it and looked into the hallway. The first person I saw a fairly decent looking guy, maybe in his mid-thirties, dressed in jeans and a flannel shirt with a winter coat unzipped. Then I looked down and there she was, the cutest little thing in a light blue jumper with a pink winter jacket left

(Mar 01) Chapter 243: My 27th Birthday

Story codes: MF inc father mother daughter
Me (27)
John - my dad (47)
Mary - my mom (45)
Steve - my husband (28)

Twenty-seven years old. Yeah, big deal. Another trip around the sun and what does it get me? Better insurance rates? NO. Right to Vote? Already got it. Right to drink? Already can. What it DOES get me is one year closer to 30! Not a good thing.

Thankfully I have a great family that knows how to cure the birthday blues. It didn't hurt that they benefited as well!

1. Birthdays

Why do we celebrate birthdays anyways? What's the significance of the earth passing a certain point in the solar system once a year? I don't mean to say we shouldn't have them as they're necessary for a few things such as driver's licenses and voting rights. But why CELEBRATE them?

Face it, you're celebrating that you're OLDER. Now I guess when you're a kids, growing older IS something to celebrate as you're maturing and gaining responsibilities and rights. So I would propose that when you're 21 that the practice of celebrating birthdays stopped as from there it's all downhill!

This year I turn 27. Big deal. So I'm one year closer to being 30. Do I really need to be reminded? Do I have to be told that my boobs will never be perkier, my skin will never be smoother, or that my hair will never be fuller? Do I need a kick in the ass telling me that another year has gone by without having a kid and know when they graduate from college I'll likely be in my fifties?

It wasn't so bad when the cake had ten candles on it. Now it's like a bonfire! Last year they didn't even bother putting enough candles on it, instead just putting on a few to symbolize my old age. Talk about depressing...

The only thing different this year was it was my first birthday being married. Not that it should make any difference I suppose, but it did throw a new twist into the works. Still, it didn't make me any younger!

2. An Expected Present

If there's one thing I fully expected on my birthday, it's to be fucked by my dad. Since he first did me when I was sixteen he hasn't missed one yet so this will be the eleventh consecutive year (God, even THAT sounds like I'm getting old!). It was touch-and-go when I was in college as he had to travel several hours one-way but he never missed a single one.

There's something special about maintaining family traditions. Friends come and go and jobs change but the one thing you always have is your family. NOTHING comes before my family (except God but hopefully that never becomes an issue). My Aunt Linda even divorced her husband when he forced her to decide between her family relationships and him. It was a horrible thing for him to do, to put her in a position of having to choose. It had to be like that scenario where a mother is holding onto two children over a cliff but has to reach for safety and thus can only save one. How do you choose? Well, that's why you have priorities and for me the top three are GOD, family, and my husband.

What I mean by all that is the physical act of having sex with my dad on my birthday isn't what's important. Frankly, it's not any different from any other day. It's the meaning of what he is doing that is important. It's the expression of his love for me by ensuring that no matter what, nothing stops him from being there for me on that day. It shows me how important I am to him, how much I mean to him.

It's such an intimate act, something I'm convinced that can only be truly be understood by another father and daughter. Sure there are other emotionally bonding relationships - husband-wife, mother-son, etc. I don't mean to say that father-daughter is more special, just that it is unique. Just as I can never truly appreciate the feelings when a mother and son join together, neither would I expect them to have a complete understanding of how I feel when my dad does me.

I would especially never believe that anyone not involved in incest at all can comprehend the true meaning of the act. For those I think they see it from the physical and erotic perspective, like a porn movie personified. The reality is that sex with my dad isn't about sex, it's about him taking me to be more than his daughter and using me to satisfy the overwhelming urges within him. It's how he shows his love and respect for me in the most open and honest way.

This year was unusual in that it was leap year which meant my birthday was delayed by one day. Normally there was February 28th and then the next day was my birthday. Not this year! It had been a while since this had happened (OK, so it was four years) and I'd forgotten about what had happened until I got a phone call from my dad.

"How's my little girl doing?" he greeted me. I think I will be 50 years old someday and my dad will still be calling me his little girl".

"Fine daddy," I giggle in the phone. It was like a little routine we went through. He would call me his little girl and I would call him my daddy.

"So are you ready for tonight?"

Thankfully we didn't have a video chat going as he couldn't see my puzzled look but he could detect the pause as I racked my brain trying to figure out what he was talking about. We hadn't planned anything that I knew of. With my birthday the next day it seemed sort of overkill to do anything more the night before.

"Awwwwww, so you forgot," he chuckled, "So that's how much your daddy means to you."

"Daddy!" I protested, "Not fair!

"OK, here's a hint... what day is today?"

I started to answer and then it hit me. Of course, it was Leap Year Day. The last time this happened my dad had asked me out to dinner under the pretense that if the calendar had been fair then today would be my birthday rather than delaying it by a day.

"I take it the silence means you remember now," he teased me. "So I'll be over in an hour, ok?"

I said something or another and hung up. Crap, I wasn't even close to being ready!

I ran to the living room where Steve was watching TV and quickly explained to him my dilemma. He just grinned.

"So I guess that mean's your Aunt's free for the night?"

The horny bastard! I just rolled my eyes and hurried back to the bedroom to get ready. It was just like him, thinking with his dick. Then again, he hadn't been over at their house in a while, at least not that he had told me. Sometimes they got together for some of the family parties that he and Aunt Linda went to but usually he at least told me about them.

Damn, what to wear? If I knew my dad, this would be a no-expense spared evening which likely meant dinner on Mt. Washington overlooking the city. No jeans and a blouse tonight! Thankfully my hair had just been done so it wasn't in too bad of shape.

Still, a shower was mandatory so I quickly bent over and pulled the t-shirt I'd been wearing over my head and off, throwing it in the general direction of the laundry hamper. That was all I was wearing - standard evening wear for Kelly around the house, so I hopped in the shower. I KNEW my dad would be doing me tonight so I wanted to be clean and smell good for him.

As I scrubbed my butt and crotch I couldn't help but feel a little bit horny when my fingers rubbed against my clit. Damn it was tempting to do a little more but I knew that if I allowed myself to get started then there would be no stopping until I was done and that could take ten or fifteen minutes even if I rushed things. Noooooo, I knew my pussy was going to be satisfied soon enough so instead I got out and quickly dried myself off. Somehow I'd managed not to get my hair wet so at last that meant a little less to worry about.

With my dad, when it came to makeup I knew less was more. He didn't like me to overdo it, saying it made him feel like I was an escort, not his daughter. Still, men may not realize it but it takes a lot of effort to have that "no-effort" look! By the time I was finished I looked at the digital clock by the bed and my heart pounded. Fifteen minutes!

Going through my closet I debated what dress to wear. Nothing TOO casual like a sundress - despite the abnormally warm weather we'd been enjoying this past week it was still February. Then again, it wasn't prom night so nothing TOO overdone. Finally I chose one of my favorite dresses. It was black of course, cut with a diagonal hemline that started at about four inches above my left knee and then rode up until it was maybe a few inches below my hip on the right. It had full shoulders but with a deep-cut font that dove down to about three-quarters of my boobs showing LOTS of cleavage but not a lot of boob. The sleeves were cut just below the shoulder making it more a winter dress. The waist was cinched tight but there was no belt which kept it more upscale looking.

A long string of pearls with one loop tight to my neck and the other loop hanging below my bustline was all I wore for jeweler besides my wedding ring (it hadn't been off my finger since my Steve had put it there during our wedding ceremony). To finish it off and give some bling I chose my pink open-toed heels with a single strap around the ankle.

Checking myself out in the mirror, I thought I looked perfect for my dad. Not too slutty but enough to draw the attention of every guy in the restaurant, especially when I sat down and crossed my legs allowing the dress to expose almost my entire leg.

"Whoa, you look HOT!" I heard Steve exclaim. I turned to see him poking his head through the bedroom door.

"Not for you tonight," I teased him, "You get the cougar tonight, not the kitty cat."

We both laughed. Indeed, my Aunt Linda definitely qualified for the cougar designation, not to mention MILF and hot mom. Considering she was probably the only woman he lusted for over the age of twenty (his wife excluded of course), it was quite a compliment and I knew she loved the attention, especially when her daughter got all upset about Steve wanting her mother more than her.

Of course there WAS on other older woman he liked - my mother, but she was out in Oregon and out of reach tonight. The only time he'd done her was the day of our wedding and once at Christmas but I knew he wouldn't turn her down given the chance. The same time that my dad was loading me up for my trip down the aisle, my mom was getting hers from the groom. It was too bad he couldn't have done it with his own mother but they didn't enjoy that sort of relationship.

Just then we heard a horn honk outside. I peeked out the shades and saw my dad's big SUV parked at the curb. I was just about to make some snide remark about him not coming to the door to get me when I saw the driver's door open and my dad making his way up the sidewalk. I guess he'd just honked to give us warning in case we were fooling around.

I threw on a light coat and opened the door just as he arrived. He was dressed in his usual attire - a dark suit with a long coat. Most likely he'd just come straight from the office. He stepped in and shook Steve's hand, greeting him and saying something about the crazy warm weather.

"So you're taking care of things tonight Steve?" he asked him.

Steve just nodded and grinned. Yeah, he would be taking care of "things" tonight. More like he'd be taking care of my Aunt Linda's pussy and ass. If there was one thing I knew Steve liked about visiting my Aunt Linda, it was that she was an anal freak, unlike her niece. Oh well, so long as he got his fill from her and didn't take it out on me I was more than happy with the arrangement.

With that I kissed my loving husband goodbye and we headed out to the SUV where my dad even held the door open for me. Fortunately the traffic into the city was light and my dad made his way to the Incline.

I'm told that back in the old days a lot of the steel workers lived up on the hill and worked in the steel plants along the river. To get them back and forth were a number of "inclines" which were basically two cars on a cable such that when one went up the other went down, thereby balancing themselves to make it easier for the climb and drop. Today there were only two left in operation which served more as tourist attractions. Since, it wasn't a real night on Mt. Washington if you didn't start by riding the Duquesne incline. We parked near the lower station and I noted there were a surprising number of cars already there.

My dad took me by the hand and led me across the street to the station. I couldn't help but frown as little as there seemed to be a line waiting ahead of us. Me and the incline have conspired to create a number of memories in the past. The key is to catch it at a slow period so you get the cable car to yourself. That gives you several minutes of privacy while getting a great view of the city. The only catch is half-way through when you pass the other car going the other direction. Usually people wave as they pass. I do to - as I lift my head from my boyfriend's lap to take a brief pause from the blowjob I'm giving him! I've even had sex a few times but it's just for the thrill as there's just not enough time for much else.

Well, nothing like that was going to happen tonight as we packed into the car and took our seat next to a bunch of tourists and others heading to dinner like us. About the only thrill I got, if you can call it that, was knowing the guys standing up next to where I was seated where taking in the view I was giving them of my cleavage. Not that I did anything to discourage them. My dad noticed as well and I think he was proud of me. I'm old enough now that people can't be quite sure what to make of us together. I COULD be his daughter but it's not like I'm a little girl out with her daddy anymore. More likely, and I think this is what he got a kick out of, I was either an escort or a gold-digger. Why else would a woman my age be spending the evening with a man twenty years older than me?

As we left the upper station, we made a brief stop at the overlook which took you out onto a platform way up in the air with an unobstructed view of the city. It was already dark and the lights looked beautiful. It was soooooo romantic! My dad had his arm around me and I turned to him and gave him a hug around his neck. Then we looked each other in the eyes and he kissed me on the mouth. God it felt so hot to kiss my father in front of everyone and it was no peck on the cheek. No, this was long and passionate. Well, we both had wedding rings on so as far as anyone watching, I could have been his young trophy wife. It was a little risky in that someone might have recognized us but in the dark with our coats and out at the edge of the overlook the odds were pretty slim.

"I love you daddy," I whispered just loud enough for him to hear me.

"I love you too baby girl," he replied, his warm breath on my ear as he whispered softly.

It was a brief walk to the restaurant. The Lemont Restaurant is one of the most exclusive restaurants in Pittsburgh. Five Star rated, bring your gold card because the bill is going to be BIG! I'd only been there a few times so I knew tonight was going to be special.

My dad checked his coat but I kept mine as you never know in these places how cool it might be. My dad helped me out of it and then put it over my shoulders as we waited for the maitre d' to escort us to our table. Wow, we got the perfect spot, out by the windows in the center overlooking the city. It was a beautiful sight and I almost missed seeing my dad slipping something to the maitre d'. Yeah, I bet this table didn't come free!

"Wine tonight?" he asked, looking over the wine list.

Normally I stick pretty much to my Diet Coke or a glass of water. Beer has never been to my taste, nor hard liquor. I don't mind a good wine but it's not something I crave. How many people my age can say they've never been drunk? Well, maybe a little tipsy but nothing to warrant a hangover. It's just not something I've ever been into, sort of like smoking or drugs. My biggest vice would have to be sex! I think most people would agree what I "lack" in the other vices I certainly make up for there.

He ordered something but I really wasn't paying much attention, the view was spectacular. Even though we were next to the glass, it wasn't cold so I asked my dad to help me with my coat. He got up and removed it, changing it over the back of my chair as the table only seated two.

"Damn, I can't get over how good you look in that dress," my dad complimented me.

In response, I switched my legs around so my right leg was crossed over the left, sitting sideways to the table so my legs were outside the tablecloth that hung down so he could see the results. My right side was where the hemline came up the highest so with my leg lifted over the other, it only served to pull it even higher. As I didn't do the "ladylike" thing and pull it down, almost my entire leg up to my butt was showing. There was no danger of my panties or thong showing as I wasn't wearing either one.

My dad didn't make any effort to hide his admiration as he looked down at my legs. "You are the most incredible tease," he grinned.

I didn't glance around but I could tell he was checking out the crowd. Leaning over to me, he smiled and said, "You know, if that bald fat guy over at the table with his wicked witch wife stretches his neck any further to stare at you he's going to need a neck brace before the evening's over."

I would have loved to suddenly turn my head and catch him looking but what the heck, let him stare. From my dad's description he didn't sound all that interesting anyways. Now had I been alone or with my cousin Kristen then it would have been a different story. I would have bet my neck paycheck that I could have lured him into at least a blowjob in the restroom before dessert was served. Now I was with my dad and the only guy in the place I cared about was him.

In the meantime my dad ordered for us and we enjoyed our wine, even if I just sipped on mine.

"So what did you get me for my birthday daddy?"

He loved it when I called him daddy, even if I was almost 27 years old. We'd been discussing my job so when I changed the subject abruptly I think I caught him a little off guard but that's not always a bad thing. He straightened up and fixed his tie before answering.

"Birthday?" he asked, pretending not to understand what I was asking. Then he acted as if he just remembered and said, "Oh that's right, your birthday is coming up soon, isn't it."

"Daddy, quit teasing and give me my present," I pouted.

"So what makes you so sure I got you something?"

"Because you ALWAYS do, that's why."

At that we both laughed a little. It was a game we blamed every year where he pretended to forget what day it was and then act as if he hadn't bought me anything.

"Well, it just so happens I might have a little something," he said cryptically. Then he reached in his suit coat pocket and pulled out a small rectangular black box with a tiny gold bow in the middle.

"You know how I am about wrapping," he apologized as he handed it to me, "Happy birthday baby."

He didn't say anything but I knew how he was about cards as well – same as wrapping paper. It didn't matter as all I cared about was what was inside this small box.

I gasped as the contents became clear.

"Oh daddy, it's beautiful," I exclaimed softly. Then I reached in the box to remove the gold ankle chain. It was a weaved rope design where a number of thin small strands of gold were woven and then woven again to form a beautiful chain. This was no costume jewelry, that was for sure. Wow, it must have cost a FORTUNE!

It was the perfect gift from a dad to a daughter. Nothing too ostentatious but still elegant. Something I could wear almost anywhere yet was perfect even for a night as formal as this.

"You want to put it on me?"

My dad seemed a little surprised as that but quickly regained composure.

"Sure... so how is this going to work?"

We were seated at a small square table at ninety degrees to one another, each of us facing the outside glass wall at a slight angle so we both had a view. I uncrossed my legs and scooted back a little bit and then lifted by right leg (it was on the outside as we were seated) onto the top of his leg, dropping me heel on his pants.

"Here you go daddy, put it on me!"

It was killing me not to look around to see who was watching in the crowded room. My dress was pulled up so high if I hadn't been sitting on it then it probably would have pulled up under my butt. Meanwhile my entire bared leg was stretched out straight to his lap.

My dad fumbled with the clasp and then had it undone. After wrapping it around my ankle, he had a hard time getting it done again.

"You know, it might be easier if you would look at what you're doing instead of my leg," I teased him.

Just then he had it and he looked up at me triumphantly. I lifted my foot off his lap and shook it slightly to let the bracelet settle on my ankle. Of course that also had the effect of pulling my dress even tighter but that was just a coincidence of course, LOL. Lowering my leg, I started to scoot my chair forward but as I did it received some help as our waiter lifted it and helped maneuver it back into position for me.

Crossing my legs again, I turned back to thank him but he just smiled.

"No, thank YOU," he said in a low tone so he wouldn't be overheard by the surrounding tables. "That looked VERY nice."

My dad conspicuously coughed and the waiter quickly corrected himself.

"Of course I meant the bracelet sir."

Yeah right! He left and I turned to my dad who seemed to be about to break out in laughter.

"Daddy, that was mean."

"What?" he countered, "And I was supposed to just let some waiter stare at my daughter exposing herself and not say anything?"

"Isn't that the point? So he DOES stare?" I responded with a wicked grin.

My dad reached out and put his hand over mine. "Of course it is and you know I love to show off my sexy little girl. I just couldn't resist."

By then our dinner was served and I noted the waiter seemed to be making an effort NOT to look at me now. That was too bad, I like the attention.

My dad had this monstrous steak while he had ordered me a salmon dish knowing my preference for seafood. Everything was perfect and the service was outstanding. After clearing the table, the waiter asked if we were interested in dessert but I was stuffed and politely declined. As it turned out, it didn't make any difference.

"Happy Birthday!" I heard someone call out as the restaurant hostess appeared carrying a birthday cake with, wouldn't you know it, about a half dozen lit candles on it.

This was the Lemont, not Chucky Cheese, so there was no descending hoard of waiters singing silly songs and making a loud fuss. Things like that were frowned upon here but that didn't mean they couldn't serve a perfect cake. It was about six inches in diameter so in all fairness it never would have held 27 candles.

"Happy Birthday courtesy of the Lemont," she said as she presented the cake and waited for me to blow out the candles.

I paused to make my wish but it was impossible to think of anything I wanted right then so I just hoped for more years of being with my dad. It wasn't a great effort to blow them all out on the first try and then they cut it and served us each a piece.

By the time I was done the wine and dinner had done their work and I needed to use the restroom. I told my dad who helped me out of my chair.

"Would you like to join me?" I whispered to him.

"YES!" he grinned but then added, "but this place has attendants in the restrooms.

"I'm sure they won't mind watching," I teased.

My dad smiled. "You never quit, do you?"

Actually I had hoped he would have accepted my offer. If anything, doing it in a stall with the attendant there knowing the two of us were in it would have just been all more erotic. Oh well, I guess you can't have everything. I made my way to the ladies room I felt my new birthday present on my ankle and I loved the way it looked on me.

We eventually left and as we walked back towards the upper incline station I felt a twinge inside. Like how had we made it through such a meal without doing anything? Not even a hand-job! Damn, I was turning 27, not 72! There was just something about it that made me all the more determined and when I get determined I get more willing to take risk. Just ahead I saw my opportunity to remedy this situation - the overlook.

It was a few hours later now and the night had cooled off considerably. The crowds has disappeared leaving us alone on the sidewalk. As we approached the turnoff to the overlook, I turned to my dad and said, "Daddy, I want to go out there again."

My dad looked at me quizzically. "It's getting pretty cold; are you sure?" he glanced at his watch and for a moment I thought maybe he was late for something but that didn't make any sense.

"C'mon daddy, I have something to show you," I called to him as I went ahead.

He followed me reluctantly but eventually we got there. I went to the outer edge and turned, putting my back against the railing. He moved in close to me and we kissed again, only this time even longer than before. I felt his arms around me, pulling me into him. His tongue reached into my mouth and I could feel the passion growing in him.

My hands reached down to his coat and opened it up, reaching inside until I felt his crotch. Mmmmmmm, somebody was horny! Before he could say no, I unzipped him and reached in for his dick, pulling it out.

"Naughty girl," he whispered huskily to me and then he sighed as I started to stroke his dick with my hand. He felt so warm! Then again, that was as much because my hands were so cold. The coldness didn't seem to be affected him though!

"I love holding your dick daddy," I said to him, looking into his eyes and seeing the lust that was forming there.

My dad looked around, obviously a little nervous at the potential exposure but too turned on to stop me. As dark as it was there was almost no chance anyone was even paying attention to us and with his coat covering what I was doing and the way we were standing I think someone could have been right behind him and not known what was happening right in front of them. For me it wasn't about anyone actually seeing us that turned me on, it was just the idea of stroking my own father's cock overlooking the city that was so hot.

"You know, I can remember when you were little and we use to all come up here to look out over the entire city," he reminisced whimsically, "You use to be so scared of the height and I had to assure you we weren't going to fall. God, I can remember wishing so badly that you would do to me back then what you're doing now."

I smiled at him as I used two hands on his dick. I was probably ten or eleven at the time if memory served me. It made me wonder what would have happened if I had known what he was thinking at the time. Then again, my mom had been with us and I know she would have never allowed such hanky-panky when I was that age. Still, I couldn't help wish I could go back and get a do-over!

His dick was so hard in my hands! I licked my lips and wanted so back to suck him. I knew that he would protest if I tried as that would probably be crossing the line for him but at the same time I would have bet that had I managed to get my mouth on him that he would have given in to me. Heck, once I had my mouth on ANY man's dick it was like I could ask for anything and he'd give it to me so long as I didn't stop sucking him.

Just as I worked up the courage to give it a try, he looked at his watch I heard his breath exhale sharply.

"Something wrong daddy?"

"Hell no," he groaned as I gave him an extra little tug, "What could possibly be wrong right now?"

Still, it seemed he was suddenly preoccupied. Then to my surprise he pushed my hands away and put his cock back in his pants.

"What do you say we go back to the house and do this right?" he suggested. "I have this funny feeling that Linda's preoccupied right about now so the hot tub should be ours for the taking."

It seemed like a good suggestion but I still felt a little let down at missing this opportunity to suck him off in such a public place. Oh well, getting fucked in the hot tub wasn't exactly a bad alternative!

The ride down the incline was uneventful. The car wasn't as packed as it was going up but there were still a few other people so I wasn't able to do anything. When we got back to the SUV he opened the door but I turned to him instead and stuck out my leg so he could get a better view of his present for me.

"Damn I love your legs," he complimented me.

"Daddy, I was trying to show you your new present!"

He laughed and kissed me briefly. "How could it NOT look great when it's being worn on an ankle as sexy as yours?"

I climbed in and he closed the door behind me. It only took about ten minutes to get back home (I still think of it as "home" as I spent my entire life there until I graduated from college). I couldn't wait to strip and get in the hot tub. I LOVED his present on my ankle but now it was time for the present I was really looking forward to... my daddy's birthday fuck.

3. An Unexpected Present

"Last one naked in the tub is a lazy bones!" I called out to him as I raced into the basement from the garage. As soon as I was inside the door I dropped my heels and slid off my dress. The pearls were laid on top of the washing machine for safe keeping but I left my new present on my ankle so technically I wasn't totally nude but close enough.

My dad was right behind me but he had a lot more to get off so it was no contest. He was barely out of his shirt when I was running up the creaky wooden stairs to the first floor. Making my way through the kitchen, I opened up the back door that led to the deck and the hot tub. Ha, I'd be in the tub up to my neck before my dad even made it up the stairs!

The first indication that something wasn't right was the hot tub cover was laying on the deck. My dad NEVER left it off as the heater could barely keep up with the heat loss if it was off for a long time, not to mention the bugs and whatever that seemed to collect in it.

Then I saw WHY the cover was off. Someone was in the tub! My first thought was that Steve and my Aunt Linda had decided to use it but there was only the back of a woman's head with no Steve in sight. Plus there hadn't been another car in the driveway and if anything, Aunt Linda's had been missing from the garage. THAT meant it wasn't her which would have been odd as I couldn't see her being done with Steve already.

All these thoughts raced through my head in literally a couple of seconds and then I put the pieces of the puzzle together. Just as I was about to call out to her, my mom turned her head and smiled at me.

"Happy Birthday Kelly!"

Holy crap! Talk about an unexpected birthday surprise. I'd just spoken to my mother a few hours earlier and she hadn't even hinted that she was anywhere but in her apartment in Oregon. The tricks you can play with cell phones! I had been heart-broken a week before when she had told me she wouldn't get away from work for my birthday but that she would try to make it up to me soon. Boy, talk about taking it all down hook, line and sinker!

Just then my dad showed up, finally naked. I was standing in the middle of the deck, turning back and for the between the two of them. It had been literally years since we'd been together like this and I was virtually frozen in place, stunned by this surprise.

"Just don't stand there girl, come here and give your mom a kiss and a hug," she called out to me.

She turned around and kneeled in the tub, her set breasts dripping as she stretched out her arms for me. I hurried over to her and kneeled on one knee on the bench that went around the tub and we embraced. Without a word we kissed and our lips pressed hard against the others, tongues immediately out searching and probing.

I hadn't kissed my mom in months, not since Christmas. It was a little funny how kissing her was so much different than kissing my dad. With my dad it was all the thrill of me kissing my father, of me being his incestuous little girl ready to give him everything what he wanted. With my mom, it was more like kissing a lover. Of course it wasn't anything like kissing my TRUE lover - my husband, but in terms of a female lover, my mom was as close as it got to having one.

"Ahem!" my dad coughed. He had moved up closer to the tub to watch us. "Mary, do you mind if I join you?"

Although she didn't make any outward sign of it, for just the briefest of moments I felt my mom tense in my arms. After all, they WERE divorced and for a good while things had been really tense between them. It didn't help when her own sister moved in right behind her. My mom had been sharing my dad with her sister since high school but sharing is one thing, taking is another.

"Of course, you both need to get in... just like old times."

Yeah, just like old times. My oldest memories of me and my parents relate to times in the hot tub. When I was little it was like having my own private pool. I can say one thing, we got our money's worth out of it even if my dad did complain sometimes about the electric bill in the colder months. The hot tub was where I learned to be nude with my parents as a normal way of being, not something sexy or taboo-breaking. I sat down next to my mom, pressing my nude body against hers. She felt so good against me!

"OK, so which of you is responsible for this?" I demanded, pretending to be stern.

My dad laughed while my mom just rolled her eyes. "Believe it or not, your husband did," she informed me.

That made perfect sense. Leave it to Steve to arrange something like this. Of course I knew it had more to do than him just arranging for a great present for me. He was always telling me how much it turned him on to fuck his wife's mother, like the ultimate male fantasy. Actually that wasn't true. His ultimate fantasy for my mom was to fuck the two of us together, the old porn standby, mom and daughter having sex together with a stranger. I think he would've been even happy if it had happened fifteen years earlier, but this was better than nothing.

It was almost overwhelming. How many years had it been since the three of us had been together like this? For a brief moment a thought came to my mind and my heart practically stopped. Oh my god, could it be?

My mom could always read me like a book and tonight was no exception. She must have caught the expression on my face as I looked back and forth between the two of them, hoping against hope that the impossible was about happen.

"Oh Kelly, I'm sorry," she said softly as she put her arm around me, "Don't get the wrong idea. Your father and I agreed to call a truce tonight but that's all it is."

There could be no hiding the disappointment I felt. It would have been too good to be true but for just a moment I thought maybe... just maybe..."

"Hey, don't get all moody now," my mom teased me, putting her hand between my legs, "Let's just enjoy the evening, OK? We're doing this for you, for your birthday, so how about showing a little enthusiasm for your present?"

How could I resist? Even when I lived at home and my parent's marriage stood as a testament to all that was good about the institution we never did a threesome very often. It was almost exclusively reserved for something special for my dad - his birthday, Father's Day, times like that. We'd never done it just for me, except way back when I was just sixteen and we did it together for the first time.

"C'mon John, get over her and fuck her before she gets all moody again," my mom said, reaching out for his hand to pull him closer, "Damn, when was the last time I watched you two together anyway?"

It was more a rhetorical question and went unanswered as my dad took me in his strong arms. The light bulb went off finally.

"So this is why you kept pushing me away all night?"

He just laughed as his hands grabbed me above my hips and turned me away from him. Of course that was why. Considering he almost never could resist me, I should have known something was up - besides his dick.

Leaning over the edge of the hot tub, I kneeled on the seat and rested my boobs on the edge, grabbing the sides for balance. As horny as my dad was after resisting my advances al night he wasn't wasting any time!

"Here, let me help," my mom offered as she grabbed her husband's erection and directed it to her daughter's waiting pussy. Was she thinking about how long it had been since she had held his dick?

With my mom's help he slid easily into my waiting pussy, pushing his way in until I felt his crotch pressing up against my ass. For just a moment he held himself there as we both savored this moment as my dad and I joined together in the most intimate way a father and daughter can be.

"Fuck her John... fuck her for me," my mom encouraged him. God, it had been so long since I'd last heard those words from her. Talk about the best birthday present ever!

I grunted as my dad suddenly pulled back and then rammed his dick hard into me again. Again and again he fucked me hard, the water splashing as he thrust himself deep into me as far as he could push it.

"Can I get in on this?" my mom asked as she lifted herself out of the water and took a seat next to me. She spread her legs apart as an invitation, one I was anxious to accept.

My dad did his part to cooperate, temporarily suspending his thrusts and holding himself still in me to give me the chance to reposition myself between my mom's thighs. Her hairy pussy was wet, her thick pubic hair plastered against her crotch. She used her fingers to brush it out of the way and then hold her pussy lips apart for me as my tongue reached out for her.

"Oh god Kelly, eat me!"

My dad wasn't about to wait any longer than necessary as he resumed fucking me once I had established myself with my head up against my mom's pussy. He didn't bang me quite so hard now to let me more easily lick his ex-wife's pussy.

My mom's pussy tasted like bromine at first but soon her wetness and my licking overcame that and I enjoyed the fresh taste of my mother's pussy juices. She must have been REALLY horny! Her clit was huge as I sucked on it like a nipple, teasing it with my teeth and then running my tongue in circles around it. It was a little difficult with my dad fucking me from behind but between his cock in me and my mom's pussy in my mouth it brought back so many memories.

This was what is known as the best of both worlds. Oh sure I've been fucked and eaten pussy at the same time before - many times. That was just sex for fun, for my physical pleasure. This was so much different. This was incest and while technically it was sex, it was totally different, at least for me. This was not just two people I'd just met at a party, this was my parents, the people who had raised me and I'd known for my entire life! This was my father I felt inside of me, my mother I had my tongue pressing into. We were together again as a family sharing something only a family can share.

After a while we got out of the hot tub and my dad laid out the lawn furniture cushions on the deck. Under the stars my mom laid back on the chaise lounge and masturbated as she watched her daughter riding her husband's erection. My dad played with my boobs as I ground my pussy into his crotch, circling his dick as I felt him moving inside of me.

He was close... he was getting close to cumming in me. My mom could tell as well as I saw her sit up and watch closer with her hand still firmly between her legs. Lifting myself off of him, he knew what I wanted. After all, it's not like this was my first rodeo with him!

Quickly we switched places as I laid on my back and spread my legs apart for him. My dad moved in between them and was back inside of me as fast as he could get it in me. He lowered himself down, resting on his elbows to keep his weight from crushing me as his hips rose up and then down as he fucked me slow and deep, trying to hold back as long as he could.

"Cum in me daddy... give me your love," I begged him softly, wrapping my legs around him and pulling him into me.

"God I love you so much baby girl... I so love you."

It was more than just words. Anyone can tell someone they love you but it means so much more when they are SHOWING you at the same time. Yes, my dad loved me!

"Oh daddy!" I cried out as I felt him thrust one last time, deep and hard as he pressed himself into me, driving his erupting dick as deep inside of me as he could. His head lifted back and I heard him groaning as he began to release his cum into me, mating me with his incestuous sperm. Again and again I felt him thrust as he filled me with his love.

My dad let out a huge sigh as the last of his cum was left inside of his daughter's pussy. He looked at me and I wanted to cry with happiness. It was awesome, a mixture of love and pure lust. I'd just satisfied my father in a way only I could, as only his daughter ever could.

Looking over at my mom, she was laying back and rubbing herself. She gave out a squeak and then gasped as her own orgasm erupted. I could only imagine how it made her feel as my mother to see her husband cumming deep inside of me. The effect was clear to see!

What could be better than this? After so many years to have us together as a family, even if only for this one special night, was the most perfect birthday present a girl could ask for. What could possibly be better?

Indeed, what COULD be better? I was about to find out...

4. A Happy Husband

"Now THAT has to be the hottest thing I've EVER seen!"

I immediately recognized the voice but it had to be my imagination so at first I just ignored it and laid there enjoying the feeling of my father's dick as he stayed in me after having just fucked me so wonderfully. God, the things your mind can conjure up when you're in such an emotional state!

"Yeah, I LOVE it when a plan comes together."

The poor imitation of Colonel Smith wasn't my imagination. Looking up I could see the outline of my husband standing there watching us. What the hell?

Steve?"

My voice almost didn't work but it was enough to express my confusion.

"Hey babe, so how do you like my birthday present?"

I was TOTALLY confused now. None of this made any sense but then it did. That sneaky bastard! That wonderful, caring, loving bastard! He must have arranged all of this.

"You know, for someone as smart as you are you certainly can be naive at times," he teased me, "You never saw any of this coming today when it was all right in your face!"

Then behind me I saw more movement. It was my aunt and cousin! It was like everyone was in on this but me.

"Hey Kelly, happy birthday early," Aunt Linda greeted me, "That's OK, just stay as you are, enjoy yourself."

As much as I loved it when my dad would linger in me after he'd finished cumming, this was starting to be a little awkward. He certainly didn't seem to be having any problems with it though. If anything, he gave an extra little shove to keep his now dwindling cock buried in me. It was almost like he was subconsciously trying to show everyone who had me.

What was originally confusion was now becoming just outright surreal. Here I was laying on my back with my dad on top of me after having just finished fucking and cumming in me, my mother just a few feet away slowly rubbing her pussy after having masturbated herself to her own orgasm, and now my husband, aunt and cousin were standing there watching us like we were enjoying a cup of tea watching TV. Everyone was acting so... well so NORMAL. Any moment I was going to wake up in bed and shake my head at having had such a weird dream.

"Ahhhhhh, so there's my favorite son-in-law," my mom greeted Steve, "About time you showed up. I had to do myself!"

"Doesn't look like you suffered too much," her sister remarked, "Besides, he just told me about everything a few minutes ago." She playfully punched Steve in the shoulder. "Of course he waited until he'd fucked us both."

Kristen giggled at that. She was staying in the background, surprisingly quiet for once.

"So anyway, we just had to come over and see for ourselves," my aunt continued, "Kristen and I will leave you guys be... for now."

Kristen started to protest but her mom hushed her and before I could say anything she led her daughter back into the house. Whether they were heading back to Kristen's place (her mom's old house) or just going up to the bedroom I wasn't sure. Since my Aunt Linda loved here now with my dad it gave them a couple of options. Given how my mom felt about how quickly her sister had taken up residence when she had moved to Oregon after the divorce, I was sort of hoping they would go to Kristen's, at least for the evening.

That left the four of us. For the first time we were all together without anyone else around. It was only the second time ever that Steve had seen my dad and me having sex. The first was back when he proposed to me and I finally told him about my incestuous family relationships. At the time he thought I was playing some sort of practical joke on him and it wasn't until I proved it to him that he actually believed me.

Then there was my mom. I knew that Steve wanted to fuck her again but with her living so far away that wasn't something I thought was going to happen again for a while. He'd first done her the day of our wedding, actually at the same time my dad was giving me "something new" to carry in me while he walked me down the aisle! Since then there had only been one other opportunity back during Christmas. Both times I was otherwise "occupied" with my dad so I wasn't able to watch. While I'm normally not anxious to see Steve with another girl, this was one girl I really wanted to see him fuck!

"So are you just going to stand there and stare or get naked?" my mom asked Steve, pretending to be exasperated with him.

Interestingly, for one of the few times since I'd known him, Steve seemed to hesitate at a chance for sex. This was a guy who since high school, where he had a rep for banging every cheerleader, never turned down an opportunity to get laid.

I knew instantly what the problem was, if it could even be called a problem - my dad. Steve had always had a hang-up about sharing me with my dad. It wasn't that he cared if my dad say him fucking his daughter - he had learned to deal with that back when we first dated and my dad would spy on us when we fucked in my bedroom. As for fucking my mom, I didn't think he cared one way or the other about my dad since they weren't married anymore.

No... the issue was sharing me. Since the first time he watched my dad fuck me, Steve had made it clear that he was OK with me being with my dad, just so long as he wasn't involved. Steve LOVED watching me being fucked by other guys - except my dad. Why this was such a hang-up for him I don't know as he won't even discuss it with me. Maybe it has something to do with the relationship between him and his mother. Steve and Marlene are have a unique relationship, to say the least. But no matter how they tease and flirt and kiss, they NEVER touch each other, at least not on the bare flesh. They definitely never have sex. OK, so it's a little weird but that's the way my husband is and I respect him for it, even if I don't quite understand everything.

My mom seemed to sense the same hesitation in her son-in-law. As she always did, she took control...

"Get over it Steve," she told him in no uncertain way, "Get those off and fuck me and quit worrying about those two. They can take care of themselves, believe me."

Steve looked at me but I kept my mouth shut and just grinned at him. Amazingly, though it all my dad was STILL in me, a fact that Steve seemed well aware. I half-expected my dad to chime in but I had to give him credit, he kept his mouth shut the entire time. Really, what could he say? It probably didn't hurt that when he seemed about to open his mouth I squeezed down as hard as I could on his dick. He got the hint!

"What the hell," he sighed as he started to strip. As he did I gave my dad a small push after which he rolled over and off of me. His dick was limp now and knowing him, it would take a while to recover no matter what the visual stimulus may be.

I turned on my side and my dad snuggled in behind me, spooning me. I could feel his warm dick pressing in against my butt as he put his arm around me and pulled me in tight against him. His large hand easily cupped my breast, squeezing it gently with my nipple between his fingers. My pussy was tingling and I could feel his cum beginning to drain from me and down my leg.

By now Steve had stripped and stepped over to where my mom was laying on the chaise lounge. She turned to the side and beckoned for him to move in closer until his cock was right in her face.

I can't say how many girls I've seen suck Steve's dick or how many he's had sex with but I did know one thing. For the first time ever I watched as my husband's semi-erect dick was slowly engulfed by my mother's mouth. My heart beat fast as I thought of how many times she had told me growing up that she couldn't wait for me to get married so she could have a son to have sex with. To think, I was watching her dream come true! Sure, she'd been with him a couple of times before but now there was no rush and I could finally watch.

What's more erotic, to watch a son fuck his mother or a mother fuck her son? I suppose that depends on what your perspective is and since they were my husband and mother I suppose I could see it from both directions. All I know is that this was the icing on my birthday surprise cake - to watch my husband have sex with my mother. To watch AND feel my father's nude body pressed in tightly against mine just made it all the more special and memorable.

My mom sucked Steve's cock for a good ten minutes. If she was surprised at his ability to retain control then she wasn't listening to all the stories I'd told her about our dates in the past. I could suck Steve for hours without making him cum if he was determined enough. It was so amazing to watch as she worked his dick, using her hand to stroke him as she licked and sucked on his dick. Indeed, my mom was responsible for many of my techniques, especially when it came to the importance of using your tongue on a guy.

When my mom's mouth needed a break, she turned back on her side and spread her legs wide open for him. Steve moved down to the end of the lounge chair and kneeled down as she scooted herself down until her legs were up and over his shoulders. Without a word Steve went to work, eating my mom's pussy like a hungry cat at a bowl of milk. My mom moaned loudly and I knew why - Steve was one hell of a good pussy licker!

"He must be pretty good to get her off like that," my dad murmured in my ear.

I knew what he meant. While my mom was good at licking pussy, she was never one to get off from it herself. Oh sure she enjoyed it - what woman doesn't? But to get an orgasm from it? Now THAT was a different story entirely. Even I had a hard time getting her to cum and I consider myself an expert at licking pussy. I may not have as much experience at that as I do sucking dick, but I have the advantage of owning a pussy myself which gives me one heck of an advantage over every man on earth.

Yeah, Steve was damn good. My mom cried out with pleasure as her back arched and her legs straightened out when she started to cum. I couldn't help but feel proud of my hubby!

"Now fuck me!" she demanded in a husky voice.

Steve grabbed her by the ankles and lifted them up, pushing back to raise her butt off the chaise lounge chair to expose her dripping wet pussy. His cock was like an iron rod as he pushed his hips forward and tried to get it in her without any help. My mom was too horny to have that much patience so she reached down and practically pulled him into her.

"That's so much better Steve," she sighed as he pushed deeper into her. I loved it! My husband was fucking my mother!

"She's incredible, isn't she?" my dad whispered and I could feel his dick nudging me.

My dad had always loved my mom and despite the divorce, I knew in his heart he still loved her as much now as the day he watched her walking down the aisle. Was he thinking that maybe he had let her get away too easily? Was it worth losing her for the sake of a relatively few brief moments of underage sex?

"Oh that's it, fuck your momma!" she moaned. I couldn't help but think she was doing it for our benefit as much as hers. Yes, she was finally getting what she had always wanted - a son to fuck her in front of her family.

Steve pulled out of her and grabbed her by the hips and flipped her over on her belly. My mom was on her knees now, bent over the chair with her head down low and her ass up in the air. For the first time since he started fucking my mom, Steve looked over at me and then he grinned at me, like he knew something I didn't.

Steve put two fingers in my mom's wet pussy, wetting them and then rubbing it on his dick to get it even wetter than it already was. He leaned over and I saw him start to lick my mom's ass, sticking his tongue into her asshole. I knew where this was going... why he had grinned at me. Steve knew I hated anal sex but that was one area where I differed from the other women in my family that Steve had sex with, a number that included my own mother.

Steve went upright and grabbed his dick firmly in his hand. With a determined look he positioned his dick up against my mom's asshole and pushed. As hard as he was, his shaft bent a little as he pushed hard and then suddenly it was like he just popped in and half his dick was in her.

"Oh God!" my mom cried out as Steve started to fuck her ass. It wasn't a cry of pain but of lust. She was loving it! She got up on her elbows and I watched her boobs swing under her as my husband's dick stroked in and out of her ass.

"So why haven't you ever..." my dad started to say. He quickly stopped when I elbowed him! He knew better than to even broach the subject with me. If there was thing I made clear to every man who fucked me - my ass was one-way only!

Steve fucked my mom's ass hard and then he pulled out and immediately was back in her pussy again without hardly missing a beat. My mom was rocking on her elbows, synchronizing her motion with his to help drive him into her as deep as possible. In the dim light it was soooooo erotic to watch my husband taking my mother this way.

"Oh yeah!" Steve groaned as he started to cum.

He plunged his dick into my mom's pussy, pumping her pussy with sperm. Unlike my dad who had his tubes cut after I was born, Steve really DID shoot sperm into my mother but it wasn't like she was going to get pregnant any more. Still, it was somewhat erotic to think of about his swimmers eagerly making their way up inside of her, even if it was all in vain.

As Steve was cumming I could feel my dad reacting behind me. Mmmmmmm, his cock was starting to recover well ahead of schedule. Seeing his ex-wife being fucked must have been an inspiration for him! I turned around and saw indeed that he was growing so I lowered my head down and started to suck my dad's dick. Mmmmmmm, he still tasted like me!

In my current position I could still see Steve as he finished off in my mom. As soon as he pulled out of her she immediately twisted around to suck him off, pulling every remaining drop of cum from his dick into her mouth. Steve's dick was sensitive after his orgasm and he practically shook with pleasure as she sucked him.

I don't know how long the two of us sucked our respective guys but it was like neither of us wanted to be the first to finish so it went on for quite a while. I wasn't able to get my dad to cum again but just getting an erection so quickly was quite an accomplishment. My mom was treated to a mouthful of cum before the night was over so she was lucky enough to get some in both in her pussy AND her mouth.

Finally we were just too exhausted to go on so we managed to work our way back into the house and took our seats at the kitchen table. My dad went to the refrigerator and poured us all a glass of wine as we sat around the table, each of us flush with sex. For the next hour or so we reminisced about what had just happened as well as telling stories about things that had happened in that very same hot tub and deck in the past.

As it turned out my Aunt Linda and Kristen must have gone back to her place as we had the house to ourselves. It had been a while I think since the two of them had spent a night together so I felt good that they had this chance. I ended up in my old bedroom with my dad while my mom and Steve spent the night in the master bedroom.

The next morning I woke up to a familiar feeling – my dad's dick rubbing against my face. It was now my official birthday and I knew it would be a day of party and gifts but I'd already received the best gifts last night.

What more could I ask for? For once I had a birthday that meant something and I had all of my wonderful family to thank.

(Mar 24) Chapter 244: My BFF Is Engaged

Story codes: MF FF oral group
Me (27)
Steve - my husband (28)
Beth - my BFF (28)
Max - Beth's fiancé (31)

Beth and I have been best friends since before I can remember. Over the years we've shared everything so why not share husbands?

1. What Goes Around, Cums Around

It seems like friends come and go despite everything. Someone you think is your closest friend and confidante suddenly turns on you leaving you wondering what the heck happened. Sometimes they just move and even though you both swear you'll stay in touch - you don't. Sometimes I think cliques and groups shift and change with the lunar cycle - or at least some other seemingly totally obscure event. Then there's the old issue of what happens when you have sex with a friend - can you stay friends? From my experience the answer is no, at least not close friends.

Then you have that special person who is a true friend. Time and distance can't ruin your relationship although everything changes with time. Arguments are smoothed over before they erupt out of control. Jealousy over boyfriends somehow seem to work out. Even the occasional sex doesn't screw things up.

For me, such a person is Beth. In my dictionary under BFF her picture appears in a gold frame. Although in many ways we are different, somehow we have always been close to each other. Sure I was jealous of her boobs and the attention she got early on when my own were taking their sweet time to make an appearance but it was more frustrating for me than anything I took personal. Our personalities are at opposite ends of the spectrum not to mention our looks and views.

When I come right down to it, there's actually little that we agree on. Politically she is much more liberal than I am. I am extremely religious whereas I doubt Beth would ever darken the entrance to a church on her own. I was the straight A student while Beth struggled just to pass. Beth had a younger brother while I was an only child. My parents are financially much better off than hers although she was not poor by any stretch of the imagination. As I mentioned, she has the huge boobs and a bit heavier frame than me (not fat, just a few extra pounds) while I was always the flat-chested wonder in grade school and thin. I went to college to earn a degree whereas Beth learned to do hair and nails and works in a salon.

Those are the things that most people would say if you were to ask them to compare the two of us. What most people don't see are the differences behind closed doors, are at least not so much in the public eye. Although Beth matured faster than me, I was the first to have sex. Over the years my preferences have been to stick with 1-1 sex but Beth has always been more the party girl, seeking out multiple partners and group events more so than dating guys and dealing with them individually. Thus while I went out a lot more than she did, she probably has had more guys than me simply because so many do her at one time. She has invited me to her parties and I have accepted a few times over the years but I have never been into them nearly as much as her.

Another sexual difference involves incest. I came from a family with an incest tradition, at least on my mother's side, which I have continued starting back when I was sixteen. On the other hand, Beth has never had anything to do with anyone in her own family and has no desire to change that status. Interestingly, we have both had sex with the other's dad but the circumstances were radically different. My dad wanted to do it with her whereas I had to seduce her father. It's not like we've done it all that much - I did her dad only once while my dad has done her only twice. Actually it was the second time when she first learned about me and my dad.

Speaking of sexual preferences, I probably am more bi than Beth. That's not really saying much since I don't do it with girls outside my family hardly ever but Beth tends to stick with men even more than me. As close as we are, the two of us didn't even do each other until late in our teens!

Perhaps the other major area where we diverge sexually has to do with the age of our partners. Generally I prefer older men, married if possible. There's something about the way they treat me and the rush I get when a man cheats on his wife for the first time with me that's irresistible. Beth has always looked for guys more her own age, maybe plus or minus a few years. Nothing extreme either way for her.

Which raises yet another difference - she is steadfastly against sex with anyone underage. Personally I agree with her and if I was in her shoes I would follow the same path. However, I have obligations and circumstances that she doesn't in that I have to sexually submit to my father and husband, both of whom are card-carrying pedophiles and occasionally insist that I participate with them. I've jokingly warned Beth that someday she will be married and so she had better make sure she knows all her fiance's quirks and addictions as she'll have to live with them for the rest of her life.

Well guess what? My BFF just announced she was engaged! The wedding won't be until next spring but at least she has the ring.

2. Marriage Vows and Swapping

One of the things Beth and I have talked a lot about over the years is how our lives will changes after we get married, or even engaged for that part. That brings up a good point... are you obligated to the same restrictions and commitments when you're engaged as those you'll have when you're eventually married?

This was one area where we both agreed - no! Until the final band goes on, all the rest is just a shiny rock and a promise. Until you say "I do" then it's more something between you and your fiance than anything biblical, ethical, or moral. For instance, while after we got engaged Steve and I tended to include each other more in our sexual activities, it wasn't like we never went off and did anything on our own or put something off until the other could be informed or made an offer to join. Personally I think it's only natural that if two people love each other enough to be engaged that they should just instinctively WANT to be together.

Another thing we use to debate a lot was the issue of cheating and adultery. Given Beth's leaning towards group events she naturally expected that she and her husband would be swingers. Until I was engaged to Steve, I took up a rather contrary position based on the teachings of my mother. As such I opposed any sex outside of marriage regardless of whether it was consensual or even encouraged by your spouse. One difference for me compared to Beth was that for me, "outside of marriage" did not include incestual sex leaving me a much wider playing field after marriage than Beth would face given there was no incest in her family.

Of course all that went out the window after Steve proposed to me and made it clear that he had every expectation that we would include other couples in our sex lives - outside of marriage. For the most part that meant other married couples in 1-1 swaps but like my dad, Steve has an addiction to porn and underage sex so again like me dad, he had expectation that I would join him now and then even though he knew it wasn't something I wanted to be involved with.

Given Beth was just engaged, all this didn't really matter to her anyway as technically she and her fiance could have any partner they wished for the time being. The only good thing was that me and my husband could join in, something I had not expected to be able to do back when we were teens dreaming about our futures.

When Beth first announced her engagement, it came as a bit of a surprise to me because I hadn't realized she was even that serious with any one guy. She rarely single-dated and I say rarely only because I don't want to say never in case she did without telling me. It was simple, if you wanted to be with Beth, arrange a party or go to one of hers. I knew she had a few "favorites" at these parties but not that she was THAT interested in any single one of them to where they would propose to her.

When Beth told me who her fiance was, I didn't recognize the name. He went by the name of Max which was short for something MUCH longer but unpronounceable so everyone just called him Max. Even when she showed me a few photos of him I didn't recognize him.

"Are you SURE you don't recognize him?" she asked me for the umpteenth time.

I shook my head and so she dug into her purse and pulled out another one of him. It was readily obvious why she wasn't keeping THAT photo in with the rest - he was nude with a monstrous erection!

"NOW?" she giggled, "I thought you never forgot a dick?"

She was poking fun at me because ONE time back who knows when I had bragged that I could remember very dick I'd ever fucked and sucked. Of course I was just showing off because there was no way that was possible, not with the number that I'd had over the years. Still, she never forgot and every now and then pulled out the old chestnut to taunt me.

"Honest Beth, doesn't ring any bells?" I replied, shrugging my shoulders.

"Well, HE remembers YOU!" she teased me.

I took the photo from her hand and looked at it closely. Nope, she must have confused us somewhere along the line which was hardly surprising considering how many guys she'd messed with over the years.

"Kelly, Kelly, Kelly," she fussed, shaking her head at me, "He fucked you right in front of me for crying out loud!"

This time I REALLY looked at him, paying particular attention to his dick. If he really had fucked me, then I should at least remember his dick!

Nope, no memory whatsoever. I handed it back to her, shaking my head.

"Hey, it's not like I wouldn't mind him fucking me, I just don't remember him is all."

"Well if you really WOULD like him to do you, then why not this weekend?"

At first I wasn't sure what she meant. A threesome? Foursome? Just me and him? Beth knew me well enough to know what I was worrying about.

"Hey, you don't think I'm going to hand over my fiance to your hungry pussy without getting your hunky husband in return, do you?"

Actually it surprised me a little as Beth could have my husband any time she wanted and she knew it. At the same time, I think in all the time Steve and I had been married she had only been with Steve once, at least that I knew of, and that was only because I was busy with something at school that weekend.

"So what is it you're proposing?" I asked her, getting more curious by the moment.

Beth shrugged and I got the idea this had been somewhat of a spur of the moment on her part, not really thought through.

"I don't know? Maybe just dinner and then see where things go from there. What do you say?"

Like I was going to protest? I really did want to meet this mystery guy who could suddenly propose to my BFF without me having a clue as to his existence until then. Not only that, I was curious to see this guy who claimed to have fucked me but I didn't have a clue who he was!

3. Beth and I Put On a Show

It wasn't hard to talk Steve into meeting with Beth and Max. In fact, I didn't even get to the part where she wanted us to meet before he was already on board.

"Sounds like a great guy... so when do we get to get together with them?" he cut in right in the middle of me explaining to him about Beth's engagement. "And I don't mean just dinner if you get my drift."

Yeah, that's my husband, subtle as always. Then again, he knew about my special relationship with Beth, not to mention the parties he'd heard about. Steve and I had never gone to one of them together because one of the rules was "no couples".

The idea was that people were supposed to go there without any entanglements so married and engaged couples were strictly forbidden and even serious boyfriend/girlfriend couples were discouraged. It made me wonder how Beth had managed to carry on with Max without it becoming an issue but obviously they had worked things out.

I finally got a chance to explain to Steve about what bath and I had planned, as thin as it was, but he wasn't thrilled by the concept in general.

"Why bother with the restaurant crap? We're not teenagers anymore. Just invite them over and we can order out and get right to it without wasting a lot of time posturing."

I knew that Steve had done quite a bit with Beth when he first returned to Pittsburgh, most of it before we reunited. He never spoke much about it, preferring to focus on the fact that it was Beth that helped him find me again. Still, there were those times when they would exchange glances or even a nod and a wink that made me wonder just what had gone on back then. No doubt it involved groups and parties as it would have been totally out of character for Beth to date anyone.

The fact that they both avoided talking about their past doings made it even more curious for me. It's not like either of them normally was afraid to brag about their past exploits. Whatever it was pretty much disappeared once Steve started dating me but I wasn't sure which of them drove that decision.

Afterwards I called Beth and explained to her how Steve had reacted. She took it all in stride which did nothing for me in terms of trying to decipher things. It didn't surprise me but then again it did. Things can get sure complicated when your best friend was a past sexual partner with your husband.

The next Saturday night we arranged for Beth and Max to some by our apartment. Normally I preferred not to entertain at home as our place was pretty small and not exactly what you would call extravagant. A motel room would have been my first choice for something like this but that seemed rather cold in terms of meeting with my best friend.

Another reason I would have preferred another venue was that it meant I had to clean house. Ugh! Not that my home is typically a wreck but then that's a relative condition. Little things like dishes and dusting were best handled via procrastination if I had a choice. We certainly didn't qualify for an episode of "Hoarding" but that didn't mean it wasn't on the long-range scanners.

Fortunately I'd been given a few days warning so I managed to get the place in pretty good shape. Some air freshener and carpet cleaner helped as well. If you can't clean it up, cover it up, right? It doesn't help we can't exactly afford the greatest apartment complex either and I refuse to let my dad pay for it. I even cleaned the bathroom - my most hated chore! Sorry to bring up an old cliche but why can't men aim? I can see when they're horny and cumming and can't hit my tongue if their life depended on it but a stationary toilet seat? Really?

We decided to just keep it simple and ordered out pizza and bread sticks. Beth volunteered to bring the wine and beer while I, as usual, was left to supply my own Diet Coke. My only stipulation was no hot peppers or anything too spicy. You can wash your hands and face all night long and it still stings when they're touching you in the more sensitive areas!

Beth showed up right on time as always. Funny how some people can always be on time when other, my cousin a notable exception, can never stick to a schedule. Long ago I learned to tell Kristen to show up at least a half hour earlier than necessary just so she wouldn't be TOO late. Max was right behind as Steve opened the door and welcomed them in.

Beth wasted no time planting a hello kiss on Steve, wrapping her arms around his neck in a big hug as she smashed her large breasts against his chest. It wasn't like there was much in between either as she was wearing a low-cut blouse that was fitted to her shape like a glove, leaving no questions that she hadn't bothered with a bra either. A short denim skirt was already riding up her ass which Steve quickly checked out, planting one hand on each bare cheek. I thought I could see a hint of a thong but there wasn't much material in back, that was for sure.

Once Beth released him, she introduced the guys who just shook hands and eyed each other up. Each of them was in jeans with Steve in a short-sleeved short and Max in a Hard Rock Cafe T-shirt from San Diego. Steve quickly noted the location and commented that he'd lived in the San Diego area for almost ten years and had been to that very place but Max confessed he'd never been there, it was just a gift from somebody.

Beth pulled Max by the hand over to the bar stool where I was seated with the toe of one foot on the floor and my other foot resting on the rail in the middle of the stool. I had chosen a pair of SHORT denim shorts with the bottoms rolled up to make them tight around my thighs to expose as much leg as possible. I'd chosen a tight salmon tank top which felt like Saran Wrap around me that was cut deep into my cleavage and exposed more midriff than would normally be considered "presentable". A pair of plain black heels with a simple ankle strap were good to start things out with but could be slipped off without having to untie a Gordian Knot.

"Kelly, this is Max, my fiance," Beth said as a formal introduction. Then she leaned over and whispered in my ear, "NOW do you remember?"

Honestly I didn't but then I hadn't expected anything different. One of the reasons I avoided Beth's parties for the most part was for this very reason - the impersonal nature. Like this very situation... what does it mean when somebody fucks you and later you don't even remember what they looked like, let alone their name or anything personal. Odds were I never DID know his name if that party had been anything like the others. Usually somebody just came up to you and you went to it without much in the way of introductions or foreplay. One day when I was bored driving I tried to guess how many guys I'd been fucked by at her parties and just gave up as I couldn't hardly remember even where we did it, let alone how many.

Well, I may not have remembered HIM but he certainly seemed to remember ME.

"Ah yes... your best friend Kelly," he said smiling at Beth and then at me, "A woman of MANY talents I must say."

I almost groaned. This was her fiance? For whatever reason my first impression was horrible, like he was trying way too hard to be sophisticated and suave. 'Just be honest with me' I wanted to say to him. Tell me I'm a good fuck or whatever but don't play coy.

Just then the doorbell rang and Steve grabbed his wallet and answered the door. The pizza guy was there and he quickly paid him and brought the food inside to the counter where I was still seated on one of the bar stools.

The guys, being guys, literally attacked and quickly were chowing down. Beth took a seat next to me and we both contemplated the food and decided to have a drink first. She'd brought a cork puller with and opened the bottle of wine she'd brought with while I topped off the glass of Diet Coke I'd been drinking before they had arrived.

"Pigs!" she teased the guys as they just grinned and grabbed a second piece while we hadn't even yet had out first.

Beth opened the bag with the bread sticks and held one up. It was long and warm and I think we both thought the same thing at the same time as we looked at each other and started to giggle.

Beth took her bread stick and holding it by the end, proceeded to do a pretty good simulation of sucking a dick, slowly pushing it into her mouth and then closing her lips around it as she brought it slowly back out into sight. By the time she'd finished the second cycle she had the attention of the guys.

"If you really want it then I've got something better than that breadstick," my own husband said in a naughty tone of voice.

I looked at Beth and winked and she got the idea. Taking the stick from her mouth, she directed it towards mine and did the same routine again, only this time using my mouth and lips instead of hers.

"Same offer applies from me Kelly," Max chimed in.

I looked over at him and grinned as best I could with a mouth full of warm bread. It was a tempting offer but I wasn't going to make it THAT easy for him, at least not yet.

Beth's eyes met mine again and another silent signal passed between us. When you know someone as well as Beth and I knew each other, words aren't necessary for such things. She put the breadstick to the side and leaned over, putting her hand on my bared thigh for support as our lips met and we kissed slowly and passionately.

"Oh yeah... now THAT's what I'm talking about!" Max crowed, clapping his hands once for emphasis.

Steve just kept quiet, showing that he understood me well enough to know that if he just watched and kept still that I'd give him the show they wanted.

My left hand moved up to Beth's boobs and I pressed my palm flat against her right boob as our kiss intensified, then squeezing down on it with my fingers. Her chest lifted in response, making it easier for me to caress her covered breast. I couldn't help but briefly feel a moment of jealousy at how large yet firm her breast was. As for mine, I was pretty proud of how perky and high they were but when I cupped my own in my hands they didn't have anywhere near the heft and weight of Beth's. Then again I could easily get away without a bra in most outfits whereas she had bemoaned to me more than once how her back hurt when she didn't have on a good supported bra.

Moving my hand lower, I reached under her blouse and moved my hand back up to her breast and felt its smooth warmth in my palm and fingers. The guys couldn't see my hand now but they had to see the impression it was making against the tight blouse, sort of like when I play with myself under a pair of panties to tease a guy.

Meanwhile Beth wasn't just sitting there doing nothing. While I was toying with her impressive boobs she had put her own hand down between my legs, clutching my inner thigh and using her grip to pull my leg up against hers and then over it. This had what had to be the desired effect of spreading my legs apart, drawing my shorts in tight against my pussy. The crotch material was so thin that had I not been shaven it would have also have caused my pubic hair to be exposed.

I couldn't help but sigh softly as my best friend's fingers kneaded my inner thigh and then she sent shivers up and down my spine as she dragged the backsides of her nails up and down my thigh from my knee to my crotch. God, talk about being sensitive!

I could tell from the hardening of Beth's nipples that she was really getting turned on. I pinched one of them just hard enough to make her gasp and then rolled it between my fingers.

"God I love it when you play with my nipples like that," she sighed into my mouth as our lips parted briefly.

As if to show her appreciation, she then moved her hand up into my crotch, pressing the side of her fingers into me and then pushing the tight denim into my pussy. My clit took the brunt of her actions, sending more shivers down my spine as out tongues toyed with each other's.

For just a brief moment I glanced over to our male companions. They were each seated on one of the kitchen chairs. Steve was leaning back with one elbow on the table top while Max was leaning forward with his elbows on his knees. Both of them were staring at us like some sort of freak show, mouths hanging open slightly although I doubt either of them realized it.

Beth put both hands down now, working on the button at the top of my shorts. She expertly undid it and then tried to pull down the zipper but it was pulled so tight that I had to scoot down on the chair a little and bend backwards so she could get it undone all the way down. I lifted myself up on my elbows on the arms of the barstool chair, allowing her to slip my shorts down over my butt and then down my legs to my ankles where I kicked them off in the general direction of my husband, leaving me bare-ass on the chair.

If someone were to compare Beth and me, I'd like to think I have the better ass while she outdoes me in the chest department. Not that her butt isn't good but as I mentioned before, a few pounds on the heavy side maybe. Of course, some guys loved the extra beef in her ass but for most men, I think my tight ass is the best.

Thus I felt it was appropriate that if one of us was to be bottomless, at least for the moment, that it should be me.

Using the same logic, that meant Beth should the one who was topless and I think she had the same understanding as me because when I went to grab her blouse she Shifted her weight to make it easier for me to pull it up and over her head. Immediately I noticed the guys shifting their attention to the large breasts suddenly on display and I have to admit, even I took a pause for a few seconds to admire them, once again wishing MINE looked like hers.

Leaning down, I licked all around Beth's nipple, going from one breast to the other and then back again. Meanwhile, she was reaching for my crotch, pressing one finger into my pussy already without much hesitation. I was already so wet from being so horny that it easily slid up into me.

"Oh yeah, fuck me Beth," I whispered hoarsely as my hot breath played over her boob. I almost bit her nipple too hard when she surprised me by suddenly shoving a second finger up into me. Her thumb then played over my clit, making me sigh with pleasure.

I really wasn't sure what to do next as it wasn't like we had planned this out ahead of time. Actually this was the first time we'd ever done something like this. At parties when we would tease the guys it was usually one end of the spectrum or the either. I mean we either just kissed or got naked and went down and dirty fast. The few times we'd had sex privately it was usually laying together in bed and by then we were usually naked and horny which was why we did it in the first place. To be half-dressed and toying with each like this in front of somebody just wasn't one of those things best friends like us did.

As usual, Beth was the aggressor and took control. Gently pressing my head away from her chest, she withdrew her fingers from my pussy and then made quite the show out of licking them and enjoying the flavoring of my pussy. I watched, wondering what she had up her sleeve (but then she was topless sop she didn't have any sleeves... no matter.)

Beth looked over at the guys and I think she even winked at them as she dropped to her knees in between my legs. Putting her hands on the insides of my bare knees, she pushed my legs wide apart and then .licked her lips as she gazed at my wet exposed pussy.

"Fuck I love your pussy," she almost groaned as she sat on the backs of her heels for a moment and gazed between my legs. Then she looked up and our eyes met and I knew she was ready for more.

Pushing her hands from my knees down to my crotch without losing touch of my thighs, she outlined my pussy within a circle formed of her thumbs and forefingers, almost like a movie director visualizing his next camera placement and shot. Then without a word she leaned forward and I could feel her breath on my wetted pussy lips, followed close behind by the light touch of her tongue.

"Oh yeah... like that!" I sighed as she worked her tongue from my pussy hole to my clit, wiggling it like a fresh worm on a hook.

"You taste so good," she mumbled as she licked me like a kitten at a fresh bowl of warm milk.

I leaned back into the chair, resting my arms on the arm-rests. My hands clenching the ends so tightly my knuckles whitened as I closed my eyes and focused on nothing but the incredible sensations being created between my legs by Beth's talented tongue. While I consider myself bisexual, that comes with the caveat that I prefer men whereas Beth was always more into girls than me. While nobody could beat my mom when it came to licking my pussy, Beth as a close second!

As Beth sucked on my clit, she worked her arms under my legs, lifting them up and over her shoulders as she pushed her hands up under my ass to pull me into her face almost like she was eating a large watermelon. To carry the analogy to the extreme, as good as Beth was doing me I was probably just as wet or more than a freshly cut watermelon! I'd like to think I tasted better too. Nothing against watermelon but I LOVE the taste of a horny pussy, especially mine.

Almost as if she was reading my mind, Beth slipped my legs off her shoulders and pushed herself up to her feet and then leaned over me, her long hair draped over my face as she lowered herself down to kiss me. Mmmmmmm, yes indeed, I DID taste so good on her mouth. As much as I loved to reach down, wet my fingers and then put them in my mouth, it was always better to smell and taste myself on someone's face or a guy's dick.

It was just for a moment though, as if she just wanted me to enjoy the moment as she bent her knees this time let my legs drop to the floor as she used my upper thighs to support her arms as her face returned to my crotch. This time it was like she was being more serious and not just doing it for show. Her nose pressed in against my clit as her tongue reached into my pussy as deep as she could reach.

I tried to imagine how we must look at that moment to the guys... me with nothing on from the middle of my torso down except my heels; Beth with nothing on above the waist, her face pressed in tight against another girl's pussy as her incredible breast hung free. The only thing missing was having them stroking themselves!

Oh GOD she was making me feel so damn good! I have to admit, when it comes to me having sex, receiving oral sex is probably the one thing I get the least of as generally it's focused on what I can do for the guy, especially sucking his cock after which usually it jumps to fucking me. It was moments like this when I realized how much I LOVED to have my pussy licked and sucked, especially by another girl.

When my orgasm hit it was almost like an afterthought as it was like I was already feeling incredibly good. The extra jolt was extra good this time as I was practically gushing into her mouth. She didn't back off even for an instant as her face was covered with pussy cum as I groaned and moaned uncontrollably. Oh yeah, now THIS was an orgasm!

Beth was relentless as she pushed two fingers into me just as I thought it couldn't get any better.

"Oh my GOD!" I heard myself saying, crying out my most hated cliche despite myself as I couldn't control myself. I could feel the tears rolling down my cheeks as I lifted my hips and thrust them forward into Beth, almost like I was trying to fuck her face. Indeed, what I needed now more than anything was to be fucked... and fucked HARD!!!

"Fuck me! Oh God please fuck me!" I cried out as I opened my eyes and pleaded with the two guys that each had the one thing I wanted now more than anything else... a good hard dick.

4. Swapping Partners

Somehow or another I just assumed my husband would stand up and do me. I mean like Steve IS my husband and isn't that the sort of thing you expect your spouse to step up and do when you need it so badly? Instead it was Max that rose to the occasion (quite literally judging from what was sticking out of his jeans). Steve didn't even so much as lean forward so I had to think that somehow along the line the two of them had collaborated somehow about this eventuality. Actually at the moment I didn't give a damn which one fucked me, just so long as one of them did... and did it NOW.

Beth stood up and wiped her mouth off with the back of her hand and grinned at me and then turned to my husband with an even wider grin. She cupped each boob with one hand and jiggled them for him which caused Steve to sit up and take notice. Although he was too kind to admit it to me usually, Steve was a boob man and I knew he always had an eye on Beth's rack whenever she was around, especially if she was wearing a bikini or tight top.

Beth took a seat on Steve's lap and he put one arm around her and the other hand went straight for her nearest breast. They both watched Max as he approached me like a lion stalking its prey.

As for me, I hadn't moved hardly an inch since Beth had left me with my pussy pulsing like mad after having just cum so hard. My legs were stretched out wide, almost obscenely so, with my soaking wet pussy in full view of everyone.

Max had pulled out his cock from his jeans such that it was sticking out from between the zipper like a large worm from its hole. He was fully erect and ready for action! I almost drooled as I lusted for his dick and what it was about to do to me. God I wanted to be fucked so bad I wanted to scream for him to hurry up and ram it in me.

Stepping between my legs, the first thing max did was reach down and strip off my tank top, leaving me naked except for my heels and a gold ankle chain that had been a birthday gift recently from my dad. Of course I still had on my wedding rings - those NEVER came off. Otherwise I was as bare as the day I was born and horny as a teenager in heat.

Max pulled off his Hard Rock T-shirt and I admired his chest and flat stomach. Damn, this guy was built! Knowing Beth and her rather shallow taste in men it shouldn't have surprised me but still, she had landed a hot one for sure! Next he undid his belt and unceremoniously dropped his jeans to his ankles. He still had on his shoes so he just left them on and shuffled the remaining foot to so until his dick was aimed directly for where I wanted it so badly - my pussy. Reaching down for his cock, I tugged him in towards me, trying to literally pull him into my pussy.

"Just fuck me for God's sake," I pleaded with him, "Quit teasing me!"

Just as I thought he was about to do just that, Max turned around and looked at Beth, almost like he needed her permission. If there was one thing I knew had to be true when it came to Beth, any guy she fucked would have fucked LOTS of girls before so it wasn't like there were exclusive or anything. She hadn't said they weren't but I just couldn't imagine Beth EVER limiting herself to one guy, no matter how many rings she wore.

Then I realized it wasn't ME he was teasing, it was BETH. It was like she couldn't wait to see her fiance do me and he was toying with her now, acting like he was about to do me and then holding back at the last second. Well... enough of THAT crap!

"Will you quit whatever it is you two are doing and pay attention and fuck me god damn it!"

OK, so I swore, get over it. I was actually starting to get a little pissed off now. Like, here I was practically begging this guy to screw me and all he could think about was teasing his fiance. Best friend or no best friend, it was MY pussy his dick was barely touching, not hers.

I was about to say something when suddenly and without any warning he lunged forward and drive his dick completely into me, like ALL the way in until he pushed the base of his dick into my crotch. The only thing separating us was whatever pubic hair of his that was trapped in between. I instinctively clamped down on his dick, the breath escaping from me as I gasped from the impact of his dick. Damn, it was like one second my pussy was dying for it and the next I was feeling stuffed up to my throat with cock!

"Fuck!" I cried out, more out of surprise than pleasure. Again I swore which was totally against my nature but who could have blamed me as max began pumping his cock vigorously in and out of me as best he could with my pussy trying to do its best imitation of a vise around his dick.

"Oh yeah, that's better!" I gasped as the shock wore off to be replaced by the incredible sensations his erect dick was creating inside of me. He grabbed me by the hips and thrust himself in and out of me, over and over again and then suddenly he pushed extra hard and then just held himself with his cock buried inside of me.

"So is this what you wanted you fuckin' slut?" Max taunted me, "I bet you like my cock in you better than her tongue any day... am I right."

Was he right? Oh god he was SOOOOO right. Sure I loved what Beth had done to me with her tongue, more than almost anyone else could but she didn't have a dick and nothing felt better in my pussy than a hard hot dick. From the first time Steve had fucked me almost thirteen years ago I could never get enough of this, never get enough dick in me. It was like I could live with a dick in me if I could. Then again, there WAS that one time I went 24 hours with a dick in me. Actually several guys traded back and forth but the end result was almost a continuous 24 hours of having a cock in me. The results were mixed. Let's just say too much if Anything can be too much.

But for now I was a long ways from worrying about having him in me too long, Indeed, so far as I was concerned it was just getting started. If anything though, it DID give me an idea... Could I go all evening with one in me? A few hours wasn't asking for too much, was it?

At the moment it didn't matter because just as my mind was clearing as max caught his breath, once again he took up fucking me without any warning, just ramming his dick in me hard time after time. God it felt so damn good!

"You know, you're even better than the last time I fucked you."

That one caught my attention! We really hadn't said much about that so far so I wasn't sure how to respond. Did I tell him I didn't remember or just pretend and go along with it?

"Don't worry, Beth told me you didn't remember," he went on, "Trust me... you're going to remember me THIS time!"

Meanwhile Beth had enough of being the voyeur and had turned her attention more to Steve. She also had stripped off her remaining clothes and helped Steve out of his - at least he took off his shoes! She was straddling him on the chair, humping his hard cock while he buried his face in the middle of her boobs as she pushed them from the sides around his face. I knew he had to be in seventh heaven!

"Let's move next to them," Max said without pulling out of me.

Instead he grabbed me by the ass and lifted me up as I wrapped my legs around his tight ass and locked my ankles. I was mounted on his cock, my weight causing me to sink down until he was deeper in me than he been yet, his cock pressing up hard against my pussy as it literally was holding me up with the assistance of his hands under me. God, if he slipped and dropped me I might just snap it off!

Max sat me down on the kitchen table right next to the chair where his fiance was still riding my husband's cock. I almost laughed as could barely even see Steve's face with Beth's breasts around him. Then he pulled his head back, gasping for breath as he looked at me and gave me the biggest smile.

That was when I decided to make my announcement. It seemed like the right time before Max started humping me again and Beth was taking a seat on Steve's lap with his dick disappearing into her neatly trimmed pussy.

"I love having a dick in me," I started out but Steve interrupted...

"Yeah, like none of us here knew THAT!"

I reached over and playfully smacked him on the back of the head before continuing.

"Shut up husband or I might just get use to this nice big cock that's in me right now."

Max laughed at that but Beth pretended to be indignant.

"Hey, that's MY cock you're talking about sister... you can borrow it but don't get TOO use to it." She stopped as if she was finished but then got this sly look on her face and continued, "Then again, THIS one is filling me up pretty good right now as well."

Max laughed again so I tightened my legs and pulled me into me.

"Quit laughing buster and fuck me!"

"You heard the slut, fuck her!" Beth encouraged her fiance. Then she started humping on Steve again which caused her boobs to bounce against his face leading him to grip them and start sucking on her nipples. Yeah, he was a boob man through and through.

With all the interruptions I hadn't gotten to what I'd intended but then I didn't want Max to stop either so I just somehow managed to say, "Whatever you do to her is fine Steve but save some for me... I want a dick in me ALL night so if you want any of it to be yours then keep that in mind."

"Hey, what about ME?" Beth came back in mock protest.

I smiled sweetly and then came back with, "Tell you what best friend... If your man can satisfy me tonight then I'll let my man fuck your ass. Deal?"

"Whoa!" Steve burst out with a HUGE grin on his face this time, "You serious?"

He was only asking because he knew how I felt about anal sex. Not only did I now like it myself, but I didn't want any part of any dick after it was in someone's asshole, at least not until it had been scrubbed and disinfected. So basically by saying he could fuck Beth in the ass - something I knew SHE loved, then I was saying he would be fucking her last tonight and not me. That sort of went against our agreement on swapping in that we always said it never mattered what we did with the other person so long as we finished the night together.

Beth was also well aware of my hang-ups but she didn't say anything, almost like she was afraid if she DID say anything I might rethink it and change my mind. I don't know if Steve had ever done anal with her before we reunited, but I was pretty sure he never had since then. Fortunately for me my aunt and cousin also loved anal so it wasn't like my refusal prevented him from getting what he wanted. He just had to remember that there were consequences when he returned home to me!

"Will you quit running your mouth and just let me fuck you now?" Max whined. I nodded and for the next few minutes concentrated on his dick in me - not exactly a hard thing to do although it WAS a hard thing in me. He toyed with my clit while I played with my boobs as he established a smooth rhythm of thrusts.

"Over," was all he said but I knew what he wanted. I unlocked my ankles and dropped my legs as he pulled out of me and helped me off the table. I twisted around, wiggling my bare butt at him as I leaned over the table and spread my legs for him. With my heels still on it helped to tighten my butt and he must have had a great view of my freshly fucked pussy.

"Nice ass," he complimented me as he rubbed his dick up and down my ass crack.

As he held his firm dick he passed over my asshole a few times which caused me a moment of tension as I was afraid he might try something but he never did, thankfully. Instead he was soon back in me, thrusting again as I pushed my arms out straight in front of me and let my boob press against the table top as he did me.

Beth lifted herself off of Steve and stood up in her heels as well. Steve got out of the chair and pushed it to the side so Beth could take up position next to me. She got so close she was rubbing up against me and I loved the feel or her warm smooth skin against mine as she leaned over next to me and presented her pussy to Steve.

"Never thought we would be doing this as married couples, did you?" she teased me. Well technically she wasn't married yet but the point was made. Indeed, for years we had fucked like this at parties with guys behind us that I'd never met before. Who could have ever told me back then that someday it would be my husband and her fiance fucking us on top of a kitchen table in our own apartment? Not to mention it was my husband doing her and her fiance fucking me!

After a while Beth looked at me and grinned. "Ready to switch?"

I nodded and the guys must have been watching and listening as in unison they pulled out and within seconds I felt a dick in me but this time it was my husband's. Honestly, at this point with my pussy so well fucked and swollen I wasn't able to tell the difference but I never would have said that to Steve. There comes a time when a dick is a dick. What makes it special is KNOWING whose dick it is. For instance, if I felt a third dick in me now and nobody told me who it belonged to, it would just be another dick fucking me. But tell me it's my dad and that puts a whole different perspective on things.

This went on for the next hour or so as we traded back and forth, finding different positions and locations. We fucked in the kitchen, the bedroom, the living room and even the bathroom. It seemed we didn't stick with one partner more than five or ten minutes before trading.

Along the way each of the guys had cum twice. Somehow I'd been the lucky recipient of three of them but that was just a matter of fortuitous timing than anything else although I don't think Beth was seeing it that way. Oh well, it's not like she hadn't gotten more than her fair share on other nights we'd shared partners.

I wasn't sure about Max but for Steve to have cum twice and STILL be hard was becoming a rather rare event. Sure he was only 29 but that's a long ways from sixteen when he first started fucking me and it seemed he could stay hard all night... and then some. We'd been going at it a couple of hours now and I'd cum several times and I was sure the same was true for Beth. It was probably getting time to call it a night before we pushed our luck too far.

Steve had been fucking me on the bathroom sink while Max was doing Beth while having a seat on the toilet (the lid was closed). My last orgasm was dying down and I knew Steve was getting close to a third and what would be probably a final time for the night so before he got too carried away I leaned forward to kiss him.

"Are you forgetting what I said you could do tonight darling?"

Steve had this sly grin on his face and looked at Beth. Oh yeah, he remembered!

"So what do you say you do it before we call it a night."

Men have such fragile egos so I didn't want to say, "Before you cum in me and can't get it up again" but I think he knew where I was coming from. He pulled out of me as Beth stood up in front of Max, leaving his erection standing up from his bushy crotch like a horny missile.

"Well?" he said to Beth who then took him by the hand and led him to our bed.

Max was still sitting there so O motioned for him to stay seated. As the other two disappeared I turned away from him and slowly lowered myself back down to his dick for the umpteenth time that night. God, how many times had he entered me so far? It didn't matter, I still loved it the first time after we swapped partners.

"What do you say it's just the two of us now and let them do their thing?"

Max didn't seem to have any problems with my suggestion, especially since I was doing most of the work now. I had to admit, my legs were starting to get more than a little tired so it ended up being more like me rocking back and forth on his cock than bouncing on it like I'd been a couple of hours earlier. It had the same effect so far as I was concerned and he wasn't complaining.

Although neither of us was saying much, in the quiet of the bathroom every sound seemed to each off the tile walls. At the moment my goal was just to get him off one more time but after having cum twice already, it was turning out to be a lot more work than I'd expected and it didn't help I was exhausted. Max had his hands on my hips, helping me to maintain a quick rhythm as I did my best bobblehead imitation on his lap. As tired as I was I still loved the feel of his dick sliding in and out of me just enough to stimulate me.

After a few minutes it became almost automatic as I closed my eyes and tried to focus on my crotch. Max was grunting and breathing heavy and now and then he would add his own little hip action to drive himself especially deep. I was so lost in thought that I couldn't help but be startled when I heard a loud moan and then Beth cried out from the bedroom across the hall.

"Oh Christ, you're gonna split me in half!"

The words probably seem different in print than those that I heard. There was no hint of complaint, more like that of lust and desire. The loud moans and grunts from their room continued and I hoped that our neighbors were out for the night or they might be calling the police. For an instant I tried to imagine Steve pushing his hard dick into Beth's ass but it just wasn't there for me. If anything, the momentary image of the dick I worshipped forcing its way into my best friend's asshole made me pause and grimace.

"Hey bitch, don't stop now, I'm almost there!" Max grumbled as he gave me a bit of a nudge.

I shook my head to clear out the offending images and leaned back onto his lap to drive him into me. Max reached up and grabbed my boobs, humping his dick up into me.

"That's better... take it deep like you love it," he literally growled as he squeezed my breasts in his hands.

Indeed I did! I loved sitting down on his lap, putting my full weight on him as I lifted myself up on my toes to settle back onto the dick I was mounted on. I rocked my hips, moving them in a circle to grind myself on his cock. My hand reached down and played with my clit as I went for one more orgasm. Sure I'd already cum more times than I could remember but one more time never hurt.

God I was so close... I wanted him to cum in me and fill me with even more cum. If my husband could fuck my best friend in her ass then least her fiance could do was to fill me with more sperm.

"Oh yeah... there it is!" Max groaned as he pulled me back onto him as he leaned back on the tank.

I was rubbing myself furiously as I felt him begin to jerk under me, each time releasing more cum inside of me. Where it was coming from I had no idea unless he was making it as fast as he was dumping it in either me or Beth.

It was exactly what I needed, the final straw that broke the proverbial camel's back as the feel of his dick thrusting into me put me over the edge. I came as I knew that way up inside of me he was shooting out stream after stream of his sperm inside of me, literally mating me in the process although his millions of sperm were all doomed to the same fate. You had to give them credit for trying though as I imagined them working their way up into me in a vain attempt to impregnate me.

This orgasm wasn't like the first ones. No fireworks went off, I didn't want to scream out loud, it wasn't like the heavens had opened. No, this was more subtle, more even, less intense but longer lasting as it was like I was floating down a river of pleasure. I couldn't move a muscle as I just laid back against the man who was mating me, allowing myself to bask in the glow created by him fucking me.

Had it been up to me I'd of just sat there on his lap impaled on his now spent cock for the rest of the night. It was like when you are having the most wonderful dream and someone is trying to wake you but you resist them, trying to keep the dream going. It just felt so perfect, so RIGHT, so good to sit there and just absorb the feelings and emotions that had run amuck within me when Max fucked me.

Unfortunately, men just don't react the same after sex. Whereas I just wanted nothing more than to stay there feeling his dick in me as my pussy throbbed, he seemed more interested in what was going on across the hall. Reluctantly I reacted to him trying to push me off his lap, standing up and feeling his dick flop out of me, followed by a gush of cum that dripped down the inside of my thigh.

"Damn, you look like one well-fucked slut," he complimented me, or at least that's how I took it. Indeed, I WAS well-fucked and most people would probably agree that I was a slut so it's not like whatever he said I hadn't asked for. Heck, I could think of a lot of things far worse to call me after sex!

"I just have to see this," he mumbled more to himself than me as he grabbed a towel and used it to wipe off his crotch and then holding onto it he headed for the bedroom.

Not wanting to be left out, I followed Max after grabbing a hand towel and running it up between my legs to get the majority of the leakage cleaned up. When I stood up it had felt almost like I was peeing the way his cum just poured out of me!

What I saw on our bed was pretty much as I had imagined it. Beth was laying on her stomach, a couple of pillows tucked under her to raise her butt up off the bed to make it easier for Steve to enter her. Steve was leaning over her, supporting himself on his outstretched arms as his stiff dick stroked in and out of her ass hole.

As much as I LOVED seeing my husband's cock, I have to say this was probably my least favorite setting. His cock glistened with the covering of oil they had used to help him fill her. Neither of them seemed to even notice our entrance as Max and I stood side by side while we watched the sickening show going on right in front of us - at least that's how I looked at it. Obviously Max had a different opinion!

"Cum in her ass, do it man!" Max encouraged Steve who I doubted required any such support. This was one of the few times I'd ever seen him doing anal sex as usually when he did it with my mom, aunt or cousin I wasn't with them.

Speaking of which, I couldn't help but think for a moment that it was a little weird how somehow the anal sex gene had missed me in a family where it seemed to include every other female. As I'd mentioned, the other three women in my family that Steve regularly fucked all loved it. Even my cousin Tammy, who Steve WANTED to fuck so badly but as yet never has, let my dad and her dad and bother have her ass. It's nothing I apologize for, it's just something I won't do.

Steve then leaned back, arching his back as he thrust one last time into my best friend's asshole. He moaned and I knew from plenty of past experience that he was cumming. Beth didn't say anything but simply buried her pretty face into the comforter on the bed as she took every drop of Steve's cum right up her ass.

Steve pulled out just in time for the last shot or two to shoot into her reddened asshole, covering it in a layer of fresh cum. For a moment he glanced at me and I knew what he was hoping for but THAT wasn't going to happen, at least not in my lifetime.

With that Steve rolled over and flopped back onto the bed, sprawled out with his legs out straight and his arms out behind his head. His dwindling dick now flopped over, totally spent - at least for a few hours if I knew him at all.

I made my way over to the side of the bed and laid down beside him, my one arm and leg draped over him as I pressed my cum-filled pussy up against his hip and my boobs into his side. He turned his head to kiss me but I pulled back and shook my head.

"I told you the price if you did her ass," I told him softly as ran my fingertips over his chest. "You kissed and licked her there, didn't you?"

I would have bet Steve wanted to lie but he knew I ALWAYS knew when he did so there was no use in even trying, especially since the consequences of lying to me about such things would always be worse than the original sin. He just frowned a little and turned back to Beth who had no such worries about kissing him now. I just laid my head on his shoulder and enjoyed the feel of my husband's hot naked body against mine.

I sort of expected Max to do something similar, such as lay next to his fiance and cuddle a bit after a few hours of hot sex. If anything, the fact that they weren't married yet made me think he would be all the more ready to be romantic. So you can imagine how surprised I was when he got on the bed on his knees and moved up close to Beth, poking her in the back of the neck with his limp dick as she kissed Steve and ignored him.

Had it been Steve doing that to me, I would have cut him off for the night but they were just engaged so Beth was more accommodating. Twisted her head in the opposite direction, she opened her mouth obediently and took Max's dick back in her mouth. Mmmmmmm, I wondered if she could taste me on him still?

So far as I was concerned they could have stayed the night but Beth eventually said it was time for them to go. Steve and I stayed on the bed as they got dressed and then Beth came over to say goodnight.

"I love you Kelly," was all she said as we shared another kiss together.

Max also gave me a kiss and then Beth kissed Steve. Max didn't kiss Steve of course, but did shake his hand and made an offer that we could join up with them any time again in the future.

Once they left Steve turned to me and started to make a move but I pulled away and told him he needed to take a LONG shower and brush his teeth before we could do anything. Being the wonderful, understanding husband that he is, Steve didn't argue but instead headed straight for the bathroom.

As I listened to the shower, I rubbed myself and imagined what he was going to do to me when he returned.

Mmmmmmm. I LOVE my husband!

(Apr 12) Chapter 245: Two for the Price of One

Story codes: MF FF Fmm mm oral adultery exhib voy inc mother son brothers

Me (27)
Steve - my husband (28)
Marge (38)
John & Jacob - Marge's twin sons (13)

I may have lost the bet but in the end I think I was the winner. Comparing the story codes to the rest of my diary should be enough to tell you that this was quite an unusual experience for me.

1. Games and Bets

Everyone plays games whether they admit it or not. Some games are for entertainment, some are competitive, others are imbedded in the way we live. Although most games are played for fun, some of them can be downright cruel.

Every game includes a bet whether intended or not. The bet may be financial, as in casino games or a friendly Friday night poker game. The bet may be just be for personal honor like when playing a board game of Monopoly or Clue. Sometimes a game may be played with some sort of personal act at stake. In general the loser is required to do something agreed upon at the beginning of the game, typically NOT something they would have done otherwise and usually they would have preferred NOT to do.

Every girl learns to play games when she reaches puberty and discovers that simply by letting Mother Nature take her course she gains the power to make boys do just about anything she wants. It may be something as simple and innocent as pretending to pout when her father threatens to ground her only to find he can't resist his little girl's sad face. At school she learns that boys argue over who gets to carry her books just so she will smile at them. All it takes to have a boy eager to pay for movies and food is to wear a short skirt and a tight tank top, preferably without a again I trusted and respected enough to submit myself for an entire evening. Sometimes we played at home, sometimes we would go shopping or to a movie or dinner. I think perhaps the best was at church where his imagination really came to life. As my Aunt Linda the realtor always says, "Location, location, location."

When Steve and his mom moved back to Pittsburgh a couple of years ago and we started dating (eventually marrying last fall) I had my old game partner back and we quickly resumed the fun. The difference of course being we were ten years older so the demands became more risky but considering I trusted Steve enough to marry him, submitting myself to him for an evening wasn't hard at all.

As far as flirting and other games, I still love to play them. One difference now between being a teenage slut and now being a 27 year-old wife and teacher is that the innocence is pretty much put aside in favor of more "entertaining" possibilities. Face it, I can't get away with as much at my age now as I could back in high school when it was "cute".

Something else different now than when we first dated is that Steve LOVES to watch me have sex with other men. Since getting married we've become immersed in the local swapping scene which provide him with plenty of opportunities to see me getting it on with a strange guy.

When it comes to games today, as a rule I try to avoid making too many bets, especially when the penalty for losing is some sort of crazy sexual behavior. Now that I'm older it opens the door to a lot more possibilities, not all of which are my favorite things to do or even things I feel comfortable doing. When you play these sort of games and make crazy bets, anything can happen and without a strong moral compass and set of ethics and principles, you can easily get lost.

2. Ethics & Principles

Over the years I've pontificated in various articles and diary entries about my ethics and moral principles so I'm not going to talk much about them except how they are relevant to what happened.

Because I HAVE said so much in print about how I feel about a wide range of various issues - adultery, masturbation, incest, underage sex, etc., it leaves me fairly exposed. As I have grown up many of those feelings have changed or even been completely thrown out. Personally, I think that's just a normal part of life. Everyone changes their mind about things, just watch the elections!

The key for me is that there are certain core principles and ethics that can NEVER change. It's sort of like how I feel about churches and religions. I don't care if you're into full immersion or sprinkling, hands over the head or on your lap, dancing in the aisles or sitting stoically. People make way to much about RELIGION and not enough about GOD. So long as you believe Jesus died for your sins and that you have to confess your sins and be saved, what difference does it matter how you do it?

For me it's the same when it comes to sex and its related issues. So long as you respect other people and cause no harm, all the rest is just filler if you ask me. I've taken a lot of heat for some of the changes I've made in my thoughts about issues like underage sex and adultery. As I have gained experience and matured it's only natural that I have different perspectives on many issues. However, I have NEVER changed my core principles. Thus while I may change my definition of adultery, I have NOT changed my position against cheating which unlike the physical act of adultery, causes direct harm to your spouse. Similarly, I may have broadened my definition of what constitutes acceptable underage sex, but I have NOT changed my position against child abuse.

In other diary entries I've written about my feelings about submission and compromise. To repeat the most important take-away, I feel VERY strongly that a daughter should submit to her father and a wife to her husband - but only using the biblical meaning of submission. This is one core principle I can never change. Because of that, I've had to make compromises in other ethical positions about which I'm not so adamant. There is a difference between PREFERRING something was a certain way and REQUIRING it to be that way. So while I freely admit to changing my preferences over the years, I'd like to think I've remained true to my core requirements.

One of those "battles" between my preferences and requirements has been related to sex with underage partners. By this I mean anyone under eighteen (although the legal age of consent varies between states). For most of my life, at least after I turned eighteen, I considered this to be wrong and unethical.

My mother was the primary influence on me regarding this issue. She was always adamant that adults having sex with underage kids was the equivalent of them buying alcohol and giving it to a teenager. On the other hand, my father loved the idea but in deference to my mother, he restricted such sexual relationships to his daughter and nieces.

4. Steve Makes Arrangements For His Fantasy

Steve never mentioned anything about his plans for the next couple of days. Somehow I resisted the urge to ask him anything as I knew there was no way he could have forgotten. Steve may be forgetful about a lot of things, like taking out the garbage or picking up things at the store, but when it comes to anything about sex he has a photographic memory. The things he comes up with sometime amaze me. It's like he can list every blowjob I've ever given him - time, location and where he came!

Whatever Steve was plotting I assumed would take place on a weekend. Doing anything on a week night other than Friday wouldn't give a lot of time as we both had to work the following morning. Thus once I went to work on Monday morning I felt relatively "safe" from any surprises for the rest of the week.

What's that saying about what happens when you assume something...?

Thursday afternoon was no different than most as my classes came to an end and I drove home. I was feeling a little tired and looking forward to Friday coming and going so the weekend would arrive. After a wonderfully warmer than normal March, the weather was back to a normal April which meant cold, damp and rainy. Sitting in the car in my work clothes, for once I was almost happy to be wearing a long dress as it kept my legs warmer than having them exposed to the nasty weather. Unfortunately even the cold and damp didn't help make a case when it came to the discomfort of having to wear a bra and panties all day. At least I'd be home soon and out of them!

When I pulled into our apartment parking lot I was surprised to see Steve's truck. Normally I was home for at least an hour or two before him so my first thought was that something must be wrong. Was he sick? Oh my god, he didn't lose his job, did he?

Hmmmmmm, maybe he was plotting something?

I stepped into the apartment, bracing myself for a potential surprise greeting.

Nothing.

Hmmmmmm, now where the heck was my hunky hubby? The apartment was almost deadly quiet and for a moment my heart stopped. Was he OK? Had he come home and passed out on the bed? Was something wrong? If he was home then why hadn't he called out to me?

Setting down my purse and coat on a chair by the door, I kicked off my heels and called out, announcing that I was home but there was no answer. It's not like our apartment was all that big. While we'd been offered free housing by both my Aunt Linda and Steve's mom, I wasn't thrilled about either option. While my aunt was now living with my dad, my cousin Kristen was still living in her old house and while I dearly love my cousin I really didn't feel the need to deal with her and my husband every day! As for staying with Marlene, she's my mother-in-law so what more do I need to say? I love her dearly but live with her? No.

I turned into the bedroom and almost jumped as there he was. Steve was sitting on the bed with a small overnight bad next to him, grinning from ear to ear like a cat who'd just had an entire pet store of canaries. He'd already changed from his uniform into something more casual - jeans and a long-sleeved dress shirt.

"Ready to go?"

I just stared at him and crossed my arms as I assumed my best "What the hell are you talking about?" stance.

"Let's go girl. Get out of that granny outfit and let's hit the road."

Yeah, Steve absolutely HATED my work clothes. For that matter he pretty much hated most any outfit that covered me more than necessary to keep from being arrested for indecent exposure and even then I'm not sure he wouldn't mind THAT. Talk about keeping your woman barefoot and in the kitchen, Steve's idea of the ideal wife was naked and in the bed. I did my best but I refused to run around the house nude. He just had to be happy with me baring my butt at most although wearing one of his shirts unbuttoned seemed to be OK.

"Well it might help if I had some idea what was going on?" I huffed.

"Sorry, you don't get to ask anything," he teased, "It's time to pay up babe. I'm sure I don't have to remind you about your lost bet, do I?"

Ohhhhhhhhh, so THAT's what it was all about. But on a Thursday night? What the heck was he planning for me? The overnight bag had me concerned as it was still a school day tomorrow so staying overnight wasn't an option so far as I was concerned, not to mention I would need an outfit appropriate for work and that wouldn't fit into the bag, at least not without ending up so wrinkled as to be unwearable.

"But..."

"Shush!" he admonished me, "Just get changed... hurry up, it really doesn't matter what you wear."

OK, so that was at least a hint. Apparently I wasn't going to be wearing much during whatever he had planned as he couldn't have fit a lot into the small bag. I would've loved to see what he had in it but he was protecting it like a mother bear would care for her cub.

"Alright, give me a minute. Can I at least shower?"

"No need... hurry up, we're gonna be late!"

Another hint - no shower required? No what did THAT imply? Was I going to be getting wet or did it mean I'd be getting dirty or sweaty right away so it didn't matter if I started off clean or not?

Intrigued, I quickly stripped and pulled on a pair of jeans, a cami and a blouse over it. A pair of anklets and sneakers and I was ready. Or so I thought.

"Tennis shoes?" Steve whined.

His response was totally predictable as I knew exactly what he wanted - me in heels. God, he could be such a guy sometimes! I once read an interview where an actress said that when she came home alone the FIRST thing she took off was her heels but when she came home with a man, the LAST thing she took off was her heels. Back to the barefoot and in the kitchen thing, Steve would have wanted me naked wearing heels while I was in the kitchen. He's one of those guys that likes his women to wear heels to bed when they have sex. Whatever! If it makes him happy then usually I end up happy was well.

What the heck. I kicked off the sneakers and tossed the socks in the corner. If he wanted heels then I'd give him heels! Reaching into the closet I pulled out a pair I hadn't worn for him in ages. Sheesh, it was like putting on stilts! They were probably the most uncomfortable pair of shoes I'd ever owned but Steve loved them - six inch black stilettos with open toe and long straps that wrapped several time around my ankle. All I had to say was that he'd better be holding my arm tonight when we walked or I might break a leg!

"Now THAT's what I'm talking about!" he said approvingly.

One thing about these heels was that I was almost as tall as he was when I wore them. Still, it already felt like my feet and ankles were on fire but he was happy which meant I was too. My calves stretched, upper thighs tightened and my butt pulled in - just why guys like it when a girl wears them.

Steve helped me with my coat and even opened the door to his truck for me. As he pulled out of the parking lot I noted that he had an address already loaded in the GPS. Now where the heck were we going that we needed the GPS to find it?

I knew that to would be useless to ask so I just kept my mouth shut and did my best not to give him any satisfaction from my overwhelming curiosity. So many questions were running through my head. What was he plotting for me to do? Why didn't it matter what I was wearing? Where were we going? The GPS only gave the next turn and he pointedly refused to let me see the final destination or even the total miles to go. Were me meeting someone? Just one person? A guy? A woman? A couple? A group? Was I going to have to be an exhibitionist or a voyeur? How long was this going to last? Would we both be involved?

Steve drove for what seemed forever as the GPS voice seductively gave directions (he'd downloaded some woman's voice that sounded like a 900 phone sex line operator). When we finally exited there were a number of hotels, restaurants and gas stations - the typical expressway exit venues from what I could tell. If you didn't look for the local signs you'd be hard pressed to know where in the country you were as they all seemed to be the same.

"You have reached your destination," the GPS slut proudly announced as Steve pulled into the parking lot for a large Holiday Inn. My curiosity was really going to town now. A Holiday Inn? Not that they were all that bad but still, not exactly my first choice for a romantic getaway.

We checked in without any fuss. When the clerk asked us if we needed help with any luggage, Steve simply thanked her and held up the small bag, informing her that everything we would need was in it. Then he gave the young girl a devilish wink and nodded towards me. The poor girl blushed and tried not to smile. If she hadn't noticed the wedding rings she might have thought I was a hooker. Heck, even if she HAD noticed the rings, she still might think so!

"What do you say we check the place out first?" Steve asked rhetorically, slipping the room keycard in his front shirt pocket. What the heck, may as well I thought to myself. We'd grabbed a bite to eat passing through a MacDonald's drive-thru window along the way but I could've gone for a little more so with any luck maybe they would have a decent restaurant.

To my stomach's unrest, Steve passed right by anything to do with food as he seemed to be following the signs to the pool. It turned out that the pool was part of a large indoor area in the center of the hotel, surrounded by what must have been at least ten stories or more of rooms. Each floor had a walkway that circled the pool area with the doors to the rooms leading off from it. Several glass-enclosed elevators were located at intervals which allowed the people inside to look out over the pool area as they rode up to their floor.

"Hey, they've got a hot tub!" Steve observed as he elbowed me playfully. "What do you say we go up to our rooms, get changed and come back down to relax a bit?"

I was about to say something about needing a suit but then he must have packed mine in the overnight bag - not that any of mine took up a lot of space. I WAS curious as to which one he'd chosen though. Hopefully nothing TOO risque as this wasn't exactly a couples-only resort given the hordes of noisy kids that were running all around.

The pool area was rather crowded with a number of families with kids. Even the hot tub was in use with a few people lounging in it. Not exactly the greatest setting for any fooling around although it wouldn't be the first time Steve and I had a little fun in a public setting. However those times had been at the beach with rather opaque lake water, not in a clear pool or hot tub, at least not when they were as crowded as they were this evening. Still, I LOVE hot tubs so even if we just relaxed a little before heading back to the room for whatever Steve had up his sleeves, that would be fine with me.

Steve took my hand and we walked over to the elevator with the sign that was closest to our room number. The clerk had written our room number on the paper slip over the key card and I saw it said 1126 so I guess that meant there were at least eleven floors. As luck would have it, we were the only ones in the elevator when Steve pushed the button and the doors closed behind us.

"So how's my sexy wife doing... are you good and horny?" he teased him.

I had my back to the outer glass wall as he reached under my coat and started to rub my breast through my clothes. Although never one to turn away the attention of my husband, I couldn't help but glance behind me as the people got smaller.

"That depends... is there something I should be horny about?"

"Geeze Kelly, we're at a nice hotel all alone in a glass elevator where everyone can see us, I'm feeling up your tits and you don't know if there's anything to be horny about?"

I giggled at his faux outrage. "You know damn well what I mean buster. Are you going to continue to keep me in suspense or what?"

"Me?" he said, pretending to be surprised at my accusation, "Why I have no idea what you're talking about Kelly."

So that was how he was going to play it. Well, something told me that he had been stalling since we arrived for some reason or another. Yep, whatever it was would be waiting behind door number 2 - or should I said room number 1126. I had him all figured out...

We reached the floor just as Steve was starting to work his hand under my clothes. The door opened and there were several people waiting so he quickly withdrew it and acted all innocent as if nothing had been happening behind the closed doors. From some of the looks we were getting I don't think he was quite fast enough - or convincing.

We walked down the walkway, looking over the railing and keeping an eye on the people who were now so far below us. Finally we made it to our room and Steve started to put the card into the slot but then pulled it back and looked at me in the eyes.

"I love you," he murmured, leaning down to kiss me. Our tongues met and for a few minutes we made out standing there in the walkway but it wasn't like anyone could really see us being up so high. In any case we were just kissing, not like we were doing anything unsuitable for public consumption.

"Ready?" he said with a grin on his face as he unlocked the door.

The little lights on the door lock went from red to green and I heard the lock unlatch. Steve slowly opened the door and I held my breath to prepare myself for whatever it might be that was waiting for us inside.

Nothing.

That's right, nothing happened. The silence was deafening as they say as the door opened wide and Steve held it for me so I could enter first.

I walked in slowly, keeping an eye out for anyone that might suddenly pop out and try to surprise me. I peeked into the bathroom but it was empty as well. Oh well, so much for THAT!

"OK, so what's going on?" I asked as I reached the middle of the room and turned around before taking a seat on the edge of one of the queen-sized beds that dominated the room.

Steve kept up the facade, raising up his hands and pretending to be perplexed. "Come on Kelly, I have no idea what you're talking about. Just look around if you don't believe me."

Well, there WAS something - a dozen roses on the table along with a bottle of wine and a card. Like THAT was a big surprise worthy of all we'd already gone through. Not that I didn't appreciate them but it was already almost 7:00 and it was a school night. I politely smelled the roses and slowly opened the card without ripping the envelope. I smiled to myself... typical guy card; all flowers and such with a simple "Love, Steve" at the end. He must have put a lot of time into this one... NOT!

Still, I knew better than to think this was just some romantic getaway involving just the two of us. What was going on inside my husband's handsome head?

"Well, not that THAT is over, ready to hit the hot tub?"

Steve was already reaching into the overnight bag and pulled out his trunks along with my bikini. It turned out to be one of my older ones, bright pink with silver sequins. The top tied up behind my neck and back halter style. While it wasn't one of most revealing bikinis by any means it was more so than anything I'd seen on anyone else during my quick inspection earlier downstairs at the pool.

Steve started stripping without waiting for my response. Feeling my face grow warm, I took a breath as his boxers lowered to reveal his wonderful delicious dick. Mmmmmmm, I don't think I will EVER get tired of looking at it as it hung down limp from its nest of thick dark pubic hair. Steve's was the first real dick I'd ever had for my own and despite the hundreds that I've sucked and fucked in the ensuing years it will always be my most memorable and favorite.

"Are you sure you want to go downstairs?" I asked seductively as I reached for my dick. That's how I thought of it... it was MY dick, especially now that I wore a ring on my finger.

"Down girl!" he teased me, treating me like I was a horny dog trying to hump his leg, "You can have as much of THAT as you want when we get back to the room but I've been looking forward to the hot tub all the way here."

Somewhat dejected at his rejection of my attention, I undressed and put on my bikini as he watched me impatiently.

"Sheesh, why does it take girls so long to put on so little?"

Men! Always in a rush. Well, if he wasn't going to let me in on what the REAL story was here, then I wasn't about to rush things along.

Steve grabbed a couple of towels from the bathroom but I just draped mine over my neck. Really, what was the sense in wearing a revealing bikini if you weren't going to let people see you in it?

On the trip down the elevator we weren't alone this time. Well, we were to at first but the elevator stopped abruptly just as it was getting started, opening up at the tenth floor. In walked another couple dressed much the same as us. They even looked to be about the same age. He was quite a hunk while his wife (judging by the rings they wore) was built with a HUGE chest and a naughty string thong. Well, so much for me wearing the skimpiest bikini at the pool. I felt positively Amish!

Her husband was definitely giving me the once-over and I noticed she seemed to be positioning herself for maximum cleavage exposure for Steve. Suddenly my heart started to race. This was WAY too much to be just a coincidence. Was this the couple we'd be swapping with? Here I had been thinking it had something to do with the bet but it was just another swap opportunity. I don't mean anything by saying "just". ANY swap is fun but it wasn't at all what I'd been expecting.

Then I noticed the guy had pushed the button for another floor. Reading the engraving next to the button, I deduced that they were heading for the spa rather than the pool or hot tub. Sure enough, the elevator stopped short of the pool floor and they got off without a word. Well, so much for THAT idea.

In a few more seconds we were at the pool level.

"Now THAT was what I call a rack!" Steve gushed as we headed for the hot tub area.

In response I elbowed him in the ribs. He knew better. If there's one thing I'm sensitive about when it comes to my body it's my boobs. OK, so they weren't all that bad anymore but all through high school I'd been one of the smaller girls and it was a continual source of embarrassment.

The pool was still crammed full of kids and so far as I was concerned we could stay a mile away. They were jumping in and out, screaming and laughing as they created a din that echoed in the enclosed building. Not quite the mood for what I was hoping for this evening.

Any hopes of having the hot tub to ourselves were similarly dashed. There was a couple already in along with what looked to be their teenage sons. I was guessing they were in their late thirties or early forties while the boys looked to be maybe thirteen or fourteen. Oh well, at least they seemed to be behaving themselves. Interestingly, they looked to be identical twins, both with the same long blonde hair, freckled faces and lean bodies.

"Mind if we join?" Steve greeted them.

The guy looked somewhat annoyed at the interruption which I thought was quite rude. After all, it WAS a public Jacuzzi. He said something I couldn't make out to his wife and got out of the Jacuzzi, grabbing his towel and heading for the elevator.

"Sorry, didn't mean to upset your husband," I apologized as I lowered myself in slowly near the woman, staying opposite her boys.

"Him?" she guffawed, "No, I should be thanking you for scaring him off. The jerk was hitting on me. Can you imagine the nerve? I mean right in front of my sons!"

Steve got in next to me, choosing to sit between the two of us. I'd noticed the look he'd given her when he was standing up getting a good view down the top of the loose two-piece bathing suit she was wearing. After hearing her remarks about the last guy trying hit on her, I wondered if he'd heard her as well and gotten the message?

Apparently not as Steve quickly introduced us to Marge and she then got the attention of her two boys who were talking about something or another. The Jacuzzi was pretty big and with the noise of the pumps and jets it was impossible to make out what John and Jacob were saying.

For the first five minutes or so we just sat there and enjoyed the warmth of the jets. The boys got out as soon as the introductions were over, heading over to the drinking fountains and whatever else had their attention, leaving the three of us alone.

I was starting to zone out as the heat relaxed me. That only lasted a short while until I felt Steve's hand between my thighs, working his way quickly up to my crotch. He wasn't wasting any time! Before I knew it he had pushed my bottoms to the side and was fingering my pussy.

"Steve!" I hissed at him, nodding my head deliberately toward Marge.

"What? She doesn't mind," Steve said with a grin and that's when I noticed he had his other hand at the same angle but in the direction of HER crotch instead. Naughty boy!

Indeed, Marge wasn't having any issues at all. If anything, she seemed to have her own hand where it didn't belong - in my husband's lap. Well, I wasn't about to be outdone so I reached over myself only to find she already had his stiff cock in her hand. All this was going on with people not more than ten or twenty feet away, not to mention her sons. The Jacuzzi wasn't exactly in the traffic pattern which helped, but it still wasn't hiding behind a screen either.

Just as I was about to escalate things a bit (how I wasn't sure but there had to be SOMETHING that would work) when John and Jacob returned, dropping their towels on the floor and slowly lowering themselves into the water again. This time though, instead of taking up residence at the opposite side of the Jacuzzi, one went to the side of me while the other went to the side opposite his mom. Which was which I had no idea!

"Jacob?" I asked.

"Noooooo, I'm John, that's Jacob over by mom," he corrected me. I could only take his word for it and besides, what difference did it make?

John had scooted over a little close to me, close enough that it was more than what I would've expected in a public situation such as this. Jacob was practically shoulder to shoulder with his mom but then it WAS his mom, not a married woman he'd only met a few moments earlier.

All the while Steve had kept his hand in my crotch which I found to be quite erotic, especially now with this kid right next to me who didn't have a clue what was going on. Had he known I'm sure it would have fueled more than few masturbation sessions later this evening. From what I could tell, the other two hadn't slacked off either. I had my hand on Steve's dick now with Marge's hand playing with his balls.

It was right then that I felt another hand on me. I looked to the right and sure enough, horny little John was grinning as he had his hand on my upper thigh. For the moment I ignored him, intrigued as to what his intentions were.

I wasn't sure if Steve knew what was going on under the froth but for whatever reason he pulled his hand from my pussy and put his arm around my shoulder with his hand just under my boob. Was he feeling too shy to fool around me with this kid next to me? If so, that would be a first as Steve was NEVER shy about feeling me up in public, and in a lot more public situations than this.

No sooner had Steve removed his hand from my crotch than John made his move, pushing his hand in between my legs and going my pussy. That was when I realized what Steve's true intentions had been. He had been signaling to John that it was OK to feel up his wife!

"Steve?" I asked him, looking him in the eyes. His answer was just a huge grin and I knew in that instant what was going on. I'd been set up!

"Got you this time!" Steve crowed triumphantly.

Steve turned to Marge and she just nodded her head. The two of them got up, motioning to the rest of us to join them. We moved over to a table and chairs nearby and took our seats while Steve explained to me what was going on.

To sum it up without dragging things out, Steve had gone to my Aunt Linda for advice on how to deal with my "lost bet" issue. Of course by involving my aunt that meant the odds were it would involve something weird and perverted. She

Steve kept doing all the talking. "Well, I hate to waste this Jacuzzi so why not hang around here a bit and then head up to the room?"

He couldn't fool me, not any longer. Any thoughts he might be having about the Jacuzzi had nothing to do with relaxing! Seeing the looks on the boys' faces, I doubted they were thinking about laying back against any of the jets any time soon, at least not unless I was sucking their dicks (not that THAT was going to happen, at least not here.)

We all got back up and slipped in the hot water again as Steve reset the timer. The boys and me took one side while Steve and Marge took the other. Nobody had actually stated that this was the way it would be but it was pretty obvious what the intentions were. I tried to see if I could detect any discernible difference between the two young boys that were on each side of me now but it was useless to even try. It was like they had both been cast from the exact same mold.

"John?" I asked the one to my right.

"Jacob!" he laughed as he corrected me. Assuming that is, that he was telling me the truth and not just messing with me.

That's when I decided the heck with it. Who cared which was which? I would call one of the John and the other Jacobi and not worry about it anymore.

"Give me your bottoms," Jacob demanded. Wow, pretty forceful for a kid who'd only celebrated one birthday with "teen" in it. Still, I wasn't going to be THAT easy for him.

"You want 'em, you take 'em," I bargained.

Jacob just shrugged and dipped down. Next thing I knew he was sliding my bikini off my bottom, down my legs and then held them triumphantly in his hand.

"Look mom!" he called over to Marge, holding up my bikini bottoms like a wet pink trophy.

Marge admonished him saying, "You know better than that Jacob. We're not at the club so you have to be a little more respectful here."

Jacob didn't seem to bothered by her scolding him but he did lower his hand under water so anyone walking by wouldn't see that I was bottomless sitting between two boys less than half my age.

Meanwhile Steve and Marge were getting to know one another better, kissing and making out like two teens in the backseat of their parents minivan. The boys didn't seem to care what their mom was doing, all they wanted was me!

figure out just what was happening. Then she pointed a finger at me and said in a terse voice, "You are a very sick, perverted person and I'm going to report you to the authorities."

With that she stalked off. For a moment we all just stared at one another and then Steve started to laugh, followed by Marge. The boys didn't seem to quite catch what was so funny and I certainly wasn't laughing.

"Give me back my bottoms," I said firmly. Jacob must have been able to read the anxiety in my voice as he immediately handed them to me without any smart-aleck accompaniment and I slipped them on.

"Steve, I think we'd better go," I said nervously, "What if she really does tell someone?"

"Tell them what? She didn't actually SEE anything?" Steve protested. He had his hands back to where it looked like he was grabbing Marge's boobs and I could tell that he wasn't thrilled about letting go.

"She's right Steve," Marge said, taking up my side, "Besides, the room would be so much easier, don't you agree?"

Easy wasn't Steve's primary goal when it came to stuff like this. Fear and lust were his driving impulses and anything that made it more risky or dangerous was alright by him. Marge was having none of it though.

"Well, whatever. The boys and I are heading to the room, right guys?"

For a moment I thought the two of them might stay but then Marge rearranged her top and they got out along with us.

Once in the elevator, I turned to Marge and apologized.

"Sorry, I just didn't trust that bitch."

Marge smiled and then leaned over to kiss me quickly on the lips. "Not your fault Kelly. If my boy hadn't waved your bikini bottom around like a flag nobody would've been the wiser."

Poor Jacob, he looked so dejected. Ignoring the glass walls, I reached over and rubbed his dick over his wet suit.

"Don't worry, I know you didn't mean anything bad."

As we walked to the room with the boys running ahead, I couldn't help but think to myself, what the hell am I getting myself into? Then I thought of my on-line friend. If she could only see me now!

John identified himself quickly, sitting up straight on his knees. I almost giggled at the sight of his erection standing out so hard and stiff. It was curved up such that the head was pointed to the ceiling like a missile sitting on a furry launch pad. Mmmmmmm, if it was a heat seeking missile it would be headed straight for my horny pussy not long from now.

I reached over and grabbed the lipstick from him and before he realized what I was doing, I put a short horizontal line right in the middle of his forehead.

"There... now I can tell which is which."

With that I told John, since he had to deal with the lipstick on his head, that he could remove my bottoms while Jacob was in charge of top removal duties. Neither of them seemed to have any problem with my proposal and before I knew it two pair of hands were fumbling with my bikini and in a matter of seconds I was standing in the middle of the room between the beds totally nude. I looked over at my husband who seemed more amused than anything by my aggressive start with the boys. Marge wasn't even paying attention as her attention seemed more focused on my husband.

Wow, how many times had I dreamed about something like this. Well, maybe never anything quite like THIS but I mean more about me getting it on with two young twin boys. I always loved it when my on-line friends would write me and give me all the details of their last adventures with their twins, one of which was their mom. Both of those boys were proud to be "motherfuckers" - especially given the numbers of mothers they were fucking. It wasn't just their own family and inner circle of friends but now included the mothers of their girlfriends! So now it was finally MY turn. OK, so it wasn't the two I'd been writing and fantasizing about but beggars can't be choosers...

From what I gathered from what Marge had said, the boys' experience was pretty big in terms of numbers, especially when you took into account their age and amount of time since they started having sex, but not necessarily that broad when it came to variety and options. Face it, a sex party is a sex party no matter how many you do. That's one of the reasons I'd never been all that enthused about going to Beth's sex parties. Sure the themes and faces would change but it didn't take long for a "been there done that" feeling to rise.

Seeing as I was the adult - more than twice their age in fact, I felt like it was my responsibility to get the ball (balls?) moving yet at the same time I want to get the full pleasured experience. First things first though...

"Get off the bed and help me take off this comforter," I instructed my naked harem.

They both looked at me with a "what the hell is she doing" look so I explained.

"Haven't you guys ever watched those 20-20 shows where they take black lights into hotel rooms and check them out for sexual leftovers?"

They didn't seem to understand a word I was saying so I continued, "Besides everything else they find, the absolute worst thing in every hotel room is the comforter on the bed. I won't lay on one of those creepy things if my life depended on it!"

I looked over at Marge and she nodded approvingly. Steve didn't seem to get it but he was a guy and as such I don't think he would have cared if an orgy had just taken place on the comforter the hour before with every guy's cum dripping all over it. Ugh!

The sheets at least like looked they'd been washed so I laid down on my back in the middle of the bed on my back with my head propped up by a pair of pillows.

"Dinner is served boys..."

It was like being the Queen of the Nile as my two young man-servants lavished me with their kisses and touches. Actually, neither of them seemed the slightest bit interested in kissing me on the lips. Like I would have expected for boys their age, their attention was far more focused on two other locations - my boobs and my pussy. While their mouths descended on my nipples and clit, their hands went to work fondling and groping me as much as they could reach.

Jacob started on my breasts, kneeling to the side of me and heading straight for the closest nipple as his hands cupped my boob and squeezed it. He'd obviously been given instruction as he knew just how to make it feel good, starting with gentle tugs with his teeth and then sucking the whole nipple into his mouth as his tongue played with it. He licked my breast all over, wetting it with his saliva and then rubbing his cheek against it almost like a cat rubbing against you as it purrs. Meanwhile, his hands split up with one going for my other breast while the other moved up and started running his fingers through my hair.

At the same time his brother had pushed my legs apart and settled down on his stomach with his knees bent and feet up in the air as his arms pushed under my thighs and then wrapped around me with his hands on my lower torso. His arms served to lift my bare butt up off the bed a few inched and with my legs so wide apart he was rewarded with the perfect view of my shaved wet pussy. Wasting no once again I was flooded with a double load of sperm – one in my mouth and the other in my pussy.

Had I not known that they both had cum twice now in the space of fifteen minutes, I would never have believed it. I couldn't remember a time when I'd had so much cum dumped in me in such a short time – or at least when only two guys were involved.

Taking a look at the bed next to us, I saw Steve and Marge were having a good time with her now riding Steve as she leaned over him to let her boobs drop into his face so he could suck them. His hands were planted firmly on her exposed ass (one of his favorite places to have them) as he rocked her back on forth on his dick which had to be buried in her pussy as it certainly wasn't in sight.

Marge's hair was hanging down which kept me from seeing her face but I could just make out him watching what I was doing with her sons. That didn't surprise me knowing my husband but I couldn't help but wonder how Marge would feel if she knew Steve was doing her more out of obligation than desire. Oh sure he had to be enjoying fucking her, what guy doesn't like ANY pussy he can get? Still, I knew Steve's preferences for younger pussy – MUCH younger than her and no doubt he was wishing she had twin daughters instead. The only older women – and by that I mean over thirty, that I knew Steve actively sought out for sex were my mom and her sister. Like what guy doesn't want to fuck his wife's mother not to mention doing sisters – especially when the sister was his wife's aunt.

Even over thirty was pushing it for Steve. While I hadn't realized this while we were dating and going to parties with girls around my age, he really would be happy if all he had were young teenage girls, even some at the preteen stage provided they were mature enough for sex. It drove my cousin Kristen nuts that Steve preferred having sex with her mother than her as at 25 she was almost twice the age that really turned him on. Then again, I knew her background as a prostitute turned Steve off as well although neither of us had ever mentioned a word of that to Kristen or even her mom for that matter.

It made me feel a little proud to know that even with a horny housewife and mother of two mounted on his dick like a Coney dog, his attention was focused on me more than her. Steve LOVED watching me having sex with other men and to see me getting it on with these two young twins had to be one for the highlight reel for him. It was a little odd for me in that seeing him having sex with Marge didn't really Finally I went just a hair too far with John and I could feel him getting ready to cum. I had learned a LONG time ago that once that boulder starts rolling down the hill there's no stopping it so I turned my full attention to his groin and waited for the inevitable.

John groaned in his high-pitched tone and I felt his hips lifting up off the bed as he started to cum in my mouth. Damn, the kid STILL had a decent load left for me! Talk about a sperm factory, his balls must have been working overtime.

With a mouthful of his brother's cum, I turned back to Jacob. Leaning over his dick I spit his brother's cum down over his erection and used it like lotion to lubricate my hand around his hard cock. The I licked up one side and then the other to clean it back off again before taking him in my mouth.

"Oh that feels good!" Jacob cried out as he filled my mouth with more cum.

This time I swallowed it down and then sat back up again on my heels, licking my lips seductively and spitting out a little remaining cum between my lips and then sucking it back in again.

Damn, I'd never expected anything like this when Steve came home and surprised me!!

7. Unexpected Pairing

This time the boys' dicks finally showed some signs of being human and dropped a little bit but they never went totally flaccid. I figured it wouldn't take my effort to get them hard again and already I was planning out which position I wanted them to fuck me in next. It seemed that their mom had other ideas...

"Nice job Kelly!" I heard her call out to me as I turned my attention back to them. Apparently Steve had cum but from the looks of it he'd sprayed her boobs and face. Damn it, I'd somehow missed that and I knew Steve wasn't exactly one for cumming quietly. Guess I must have been busy...

"Why don't you come over here for a moment," she invited me waving her hand for me to move over to their bed. Steve's dick was going to need a few minutes to recover - he wasn't thirteen anymore!

I wasn't quite sure what she was leading up to; SOMETHING seemed to be on her mind as she had this mischievous look to her. What more could she possibly have up her sleeve than we'd already done?

"While you husband here takes a break, I thought maybe the two of us could get to know each other a little better," she started out. Hmmmmmm, from the way she said it, not to mention the way she was looking at me, I had the feeling she didn't mean we would swap recipes.

Sitting next to her with my legs under me, she turned to me and kissed me.

"Mmmmmmm, I'd recognize that flavor anywhere," she said with a grin, "Nothing like the taste of young cum, eh Kelly?"

I just smiled and nodded, not sure where this was going. But then she turned her attention back to the boys who were sitting up now back on their knees like two puppies looking for attention. There was something about their look of expectation that caught my attention, like this was somehow planned out and they were waiting for a cue from their mom.

"See them watching?" she whispered to me, "Have you ever see two boys doing it?"

You didn't have to be a rocket scientist to see where this was going. Was she serious though? Interestingly enough, while I've been involved in a LOT of girl-girl pairings primarily for the purpose of teasing and entertaining men, I'd never watched two guys doing it. It's not like I have made a conscious decision NOT to watch, it's just not something that has come up over the years with the type of groups I've been involved with.

Why is it that when two girls make out that everyone cheers them on but when two guys do it then everyone turns away? Like my husband LOVES watching me another girl even more than having a guy fuck me. Even if all we do is kiss he gets a massive hard-on. But even mention the idea of two guys doing it and he's history. Steve has reluctantly been involved in some MMF threesomes over the years but they are few and far between and then generally only under duress with the promise of some form of payback to make it worth the effort.

I still wasn't 100% sure where Marge was going with all this so I just smiled and went along for the ride to see where it would lead. Marge just nodded to her sons who knew the signal and then the most amazing sight began to unfold right there in front of me. When I think of 69 the first thing that comes to mind is being with another girl, followed close behind by doing it with another guy. That's as far as it goes though, one of two combinations. Yes, there is a third possibility but it's so far out there I never considered it. Well, from now on THAT wouldn't be the case.

The boys quickly "assumed the position" in that one of them, John from the mark that was still on his forehead, laid on his back while Jacob climbed aboard. Before I had time to even mention anything to their mother, they both had a dick in their mouth and started blowing the other.

"Holy crap," I whispered under my breathe, not even really thinking about what I was saying - it just came out automatically.

"They've been doing that for years now," Marge said, "We didn't even have to teach them, it just seemed to happen naturally. I just wish I'd been there the first time they figured it out for themselves!"

I looked over to see what Steve's reaction was but he wasn't watching. If he had seen them to start he wasn't showing any signs as he studiously avoided any indication of having anything to do with the activities going on a few feet away.

Now I've always contended that I thought it was silly that men didn't suck cock as easily as girls would eat another girl out. Of course a girl can lick me better than any guy as she knows what is going on down there. If that's the case, then why don't guys do the same when it comes to sucking dick? Heck, if anyone should know how to give the perfect blowjob it should be a guy. For that matter, who better than your twin brother?

my mom but she lacked that special ingredient - she wasn't my real mother and THAT was the trump card.

When I came it was the best orgasm of the night. Marge seemed to know my body better than myself as she would build me to climax and then back off just enough to prolong things without letting me crest. She was making me feel FANTASTIC!

When I finally regained my senses I was about to just pass out but then I remembered the boys and my heart sped up yet again. My heart skipped a beat as I hoped that I hadn't been so involved in my own pleasure that I'd forgotten about them and missed the climax of the show - literally.

It turned out my timing was perfect by some fluke as just as I looked the first one started to cum. Jacob kept his mouth clamped on his brother's dick, determined not to allow any to escape. I had to wonder just how much cum could possibly be left for John to spew into his brother's mouth! Apparently more than I would've ever imagined as it began to drip from the corners of his mouth and then when Jacob was finished, John opened his mouth to show his mother that he'd swallowed every drop.

It only took John a little while longer to return the favor to his brother. Now the both of them had taken a load in their mouths and just when I thought it couldn't get any more surreal, they turned and kissed, swapping cum between their mouths.

"I've never know two guys to love cum the way they do," Marge sighed, "But they only like each other's - nobody else's."

It was getting late and I had no idea how far they had to drive to get home but I DID know how far it was for me and I had school in the morning myself. Marge seemed to be having the same thoughts.

"Well, I think it's time to wrap things up," she announced. She looked at Steve and smiled, "So did everything go as you had hoped?"

Steve said something about how much better it had been but when Marge started to reach over to kiss him he backed away. She looked a little curious but I could have told her the story. Steve HATED cum and once I took a load in my mouth or pussy, either spot was off-limits until I had thoroughly cleaned up.

"C'mon boys, time to get dressed and back to daddy," she told them but then added, "Get over here and let your mom clean you up a little before you get dressed."

Now had any other mom said that to her kids I would have expected a towel or wet washrag to appear but Marge had other ways to accomplish her task. Once again

(May 19) Chapter 246: Crossing the Line, Committing Adultery

Story codes: MF oral adultery inc father daughter
Me (27)
John - my dad (47)
Rich (48)

When you're married it's a fine line between having sex with another man and committing adultery. Would I ever cross that line? I've always said I never would but does that mean I won't?

1. Words With Different Meanings

The English language is a wonderful thing yet at the same time can be so confusing it's wonder anyone ever learns it at all! Forget the weird spellings and other such idiosyncrasies, just look at how many words mean almost the same thing but yet are really drastically different in how they are interpreted.

For example, take the word "slut". To me, I'm proud when someone calls me a slut as I take that to mean they see me as being sexy and desirable and unafraid to use those qualities to get what I want. A lot depend on who calls me that. Like my dad, when he calls me his "little slut" it's a term of endearment. My mom called me a slut when I was a teen because she knew I was sexually active and not extremely particular about who I did it with. Then there were the snobbish girls back in high school to whom I was a dirty slut. So far as they were concerned the word was synonymous with whore except I wasn't getting paid - at least in cash. Wow, it's amazing how one word can have so many interpretations.

As another example, what's "sex"? Oh sure the answer may seem obvious but I'm referring to what people mean when they say someone is having sex. My definition is pretty straightforward, a bit clinical, and so far as I'm concerned biblically correct. Simply put, sex is the penetration of a female vagina by a male penis... period. I suppose I should add, "regardless of the depth of penetration" as once the tip is in, may as well be all in so far as the act is concerned. Another way of putting it is, if you can't get pregnant as a result, it's not sex.

Despite come people's claims, I'm not all that naive so I'm well aware that many people use a much broader definition. Take the phrase "oral sex". I know what people mean by it, but it's not true "sex" even though many people would disagree with me. It's the same with "anal sex". I can't become pregnant if a guy cums in my ass so therefore it can't be real sex. Fondling, groping, etc.... none of that is sex in my book but there are extremist who would claim otherwise.

The reason I point at the word "sex" with such narrow focus is it directly impacts the definitions and meanings of other words. Take incest for example. Incest is defined (at least in my dictionary) as having sex with someone directly related to you as in a parent, sibling or first cousin. Well, that means anything that does NOT involve a penis penetrating a vagina cannot be called incest. That's a critical distinction as it means that a young girl sucking her father's dick is not committing incest, she's simply sucking his dick.

Sex and incest merge when it comes to adultery. Adultery is when a married person has sex with someone that is not incestual sex. Hopefully now the definitions of sex and incest can be seen as being crucial to the debate over adultery. As a married woman I can blow all the men I want and it's not sex so it's not adultery. I can have sex with my uncle but since that would be incest it falls outside the lines of adultery.

One thing more about adultery. What I just described is all based on how my mother raised me and as such reflects HER morals and values. Now that I'm married my first duty is to submit to my husband. Please, no feminists as submission does NOT mean I'm his slave but rather that I AM his wife. As such since my wedding I've had to adapt my personal morals and ethics to a further restriction on what constitutes adultery - it isn't adultery if your spouse is OK with it. For me and Steve we agreed that this means we have each given blanket authorization so long as sooner or later we tell the other about it. So long as it's all up front and nothing is done behind the other's back, then we both agreed that this was OK for our marriage.

2. The Seven Month Itch

So now a major part of our marriage, at least when it comes to sex, involves other people outside our marriage family. Steve and I swap regularly, enjoy family-style parties and have occasionally met with other people alone. The key to keeping our marriage successful has been nothing is ever hidden. usually we are together, or at least in the same vicinity, when having sex with other people and those few times when we were apart we made sure the other was fully informed as soon as possible afterwards. If anything, I think the trust and pride we have in each other as expressed by such activities has strengthened our marriage more than anything else.

So given all that, why in the world would anyone want to do anything to jeopardize such a relationship?

It reminds me a fable where the frog carries the scorpion across the river and the scorpion stings the frog, causing them both to drown. The frog asked why the scorpion would do such a thing and the response was, "It's my nature."

So why would I want to go out and something I swore I would never do -commit adultery?

It's my nature.

For all my life, at least since I was fourteen and started having sex, I was never happy with just plain old sex. I've always felt like there has to be something extra, some element of risk, something that would shock people, something that would allow people to see me a desirable sexual creature. Just look through my diary and this line of thinking should be obvious. When I was only fourteen I was already sucking boys' dicks in a movie theaters, getting fucked in a mall restroom, even doing it under the stage during an outdoor church service. Once I discovered the thrill of seduction and the ego-boosting results of driving a happily married man to commit adultery for the first time, it has since been one of my favorite "hobbies".

Other things I swore I would never do have turned out to be things I WOULD do with right motivation. It was easy to say I wouldn't when so many things were still new but as time goes by you start looking for even more riskier adventures and suddenly those "taboo" areas are no longer off-limits. When my husband informed me of his need to fuck other women my definition of adultery had to broaden to include men outside of my family.

Similarly my stand against underage sex withered when my husband turned out to have the same uncontrollable needs and desires as my father. Heck, sometime

I jokingly say I married my father but in many ways I did, at least when it comes to his sexual needs.

Granted, there are SOME lines that simply can't be crossed. For instance I would never do anything to bring harm to anyone. Perhaps the most non-negotiable area is my faith as I would NEVER do anything against God or my church. I can live with my husband's reluctance to attend church services so long as he never tries to stop me from going.

So if my husband could drive me to cross so many other ethical and moral lines, should it really be any shock that I would go beyond even those lines behind his back?

What might seem odd to some people is the only reason I chose not to tell my husband about my plans was that I knew if I DID tell him that he would be OK with it and that would eliminate all the risk and excitement. It's like when I fuck married men. When Steve and I swap with other couples it's not nearly as erotic to me when the wife is a part of things as compared to when we do it on his bed and his wife has no clue her husband is fucking me where she sleeps. Maybe a part of it is I just want to see if I COULD get away with it. Every girl's gotta have SOME secrets, doesn't she?

Sorry, I realize that it's somewhat cliche to talk about the "seven year itch" when it comes to marriages. For me it wasn't seven years but more like seven months or so when I first started to think about it. Steve and I'd just finished swapping with another couple and I was lying in bed with a virtual stranger (well, not as much as stranger as he had been a few hours earlier) thinking about all that had happened between us. It suddenly occurred to me that while I had a good time to be sure, there really hadn't been anything all that erotic or exciting about it. It was just sex. Yes, it was GOOD sex but just sex all the same. We'd gotten together knowing ahead of time what would happen, it happened, and that was it. Where was the challenge? What was the risk? Did anyone care about what we did? His wife certainly didn't, not judging from the sounds coming from the other bedroom!

It was then I started to fantasize about going out on my own to meet another husband who was looking for someone besides his wife. He needed to be a decent man and loving husband and father but one who just couldn't bear not having sex as his wife had closed that door after the third child. Even then it was always the same, a little fondling and kissing, then missionary style until he came. She never even orgasmed during sex and as for oral sex... forget it! As you can see I pretty much had my fantasy lover all figured out.

as Steve is, well maybe not QUITE as excited as him but I'm getting a little closer each time.

All this was after we had started swapping so in the space of less than one year of marriage, virtually every limitation that I'd envisioned would apply to my marriage had been eliminated. Wow, makes me wonder what will happen in our second year!

Now, laying in my bed after a pleasant if not overly memorable evening of sex with a man who wasn't my husband, I asked myself what was left? I don't have any interest in anything weird like BSDM, scat or bestiality so within the boundaries of "normal" sex could I be at my peak already before my 28th birthday? Face it, the specter of turning thirty draws closer every day and I know I'm not looking like a sixteen year-old school girl anymore as it is.

It was suddenly like being claustrophobic, like someone has squeezing me and I couldn't breathe. My chest felt like it was wrapped with steel bands. I felt trapped in maze with nowhere to go. Steve is a wonderful husband and doesn't restrict me in any way, at least when it comes to sex. If I want to have sex with someone, anyone for that matter, he is fine with it. If anything he encourages me to go out and do it with other guys. He especially loves it when he gets to watch! Granted, a part of his insistence that I do it with other men might have something to do about assuaging his guilt about wanting to be with other women - or girls in his case, but I like to think it's because he loves me and trusts me.

What could I do to escape the trap I was in? All my life I could find ways to shock people, to cross the line. Now it was like the line was behind me with nothing left to go after. My husband had freed me from all the restrictions of marriage yet I still felt like a lioness in a cage. Talk about being confused!

Well, he'd freed me from everything except adultery... I mean REAL adultery, not just the technical term. I mean adultery as in CHEATING which means doing it behind your spouse's back. We'd never agreed to doing that but then I knew he was going out with my aunt to have sex with girls and wasn't telling me. Didn't that give me the right to do the same, at least in principle?

The whole thing was driving me crazy. Really, if I was going to keep my sanity what other choice did I have? There was only way to feel complete and rid myself of this feeling of entrapment before it ruined my marriage was to cheat on my husband.

At least it made sense to me.

3. Motivation

A lot of men and more than a few women have contacted me over the years to tell me about how they've cheated on their spouse. Sure there are those jerks who just can't control themselves and even though their spouse does everything humanly possible to please them, they have to have more. Well, I have absolutely no respect for these people. Why did they get married in the first place?

Thankfully those kind of people are the minority. I say thankfully as otherwise I might have a pretty cynical view on life in general if they represented the majority of marriages. In most cases the adultery occurs because one half of the marriage no longer feels the desire, no matter what the reason, to sexually please their partner. I'm sure the real statistics are more equal, but given the nature of my forum I suppose it's only natural that I hear about it more from men than women.

WHY the one person turns away from sex has about as many reasons as people writing me. Age, kids, work... all factors. For many it's losing sex appeal when their partner gains 100 pounds or something like that. Everyone has a reason and it's always the "fault" of their spouse. There have been a few that take responsibility for their situation but those honest souls are VERY few and far between.

I would suppose that people could look at someone like me and wonder why in the world I would ever want to commit adultery. First off, it's not that easy simply because anything I might want (at least when it comes to sex) I know my husband would approve of if he knew about it! Given that adultery is defined as the act of sex with someone other than your spouse or relative without the consent of your spouse, that makes it pretty hard for me to do no matter how I feel about it. It's almost like I have to commit TWO acts - first to have sex without Steve's consent and then to hide it from him. So if I'm lucky enough to have a husband who essentially has given me blanket permission to have sex with anyone I want, whenever I want, just so long as I tell him, why in the world would I want to commit adultery?

First, it's not like I want to "commit adultery". What I want is to experience sex with another man and keep the experience to myself to treasure. The fact that this type of act is also defined as adultery just complicates the situation. Sometimes it's just important to have something for yourself, something only you know about, something you can smile about when you're with your husband and you think about it but he has no idea what's behind that wry little smile on your face.

It's like when I'm at a store and run across a man who fucked me behind his wife's back and now she's walking alongside of him with their two kids in tow. The feeling I get inside of me when I see them and smile, then look directly into his eyes and seeing the terror of worrying what I might say (but never would) is what makes me so horny I'm masturbating in my car later on the way home.

In a non-sexual context, it's like buying that naughty app for your iPad and not telling your husband. Or maybe buying a new pair of shoes just for you and not telling him about it. In both cases he wouldn't mind but it makes it feel so much naughtier that he doesn't know.

So it was after nine months of marriage. It wasn't like I was unhappy or frustrated, especially when it came to sex. I could NEVER ask for a better lover than my husband. When I learned that he wanted to swap with other couples it just added a delightful twist to our marriage I'd never anticipated. Even his obsession with little girls, while a little weird at first, was good in terms of opening my eyes to new possibilities and bringing some excitement to our lives when it was most needed.

Yes, I definitely couldn't complain about the quantity or variety of my sex life after nine years of marriage. Like how many women can say their sex life improved after marriage?

So again, why commit adultery?

Ok, so I was getting enough sex to satisfy three women and enough variety to spin my head but it all had one thing in common - Steve. God, this is SO hard to explain so bear with me...

I love Steve more than anyone or anything I ever have in all my life. I love him more today than the day I said my vows. I love him more than I ever thought was possible to love someone! Still, there are times when I wish he wasn't involved in every aspect of my sex life.

If I'm really honest with myself I'd have to say it's more than just some horny feeling inside that's driving me. One thing that DID surprise me about my husband after we got married was how similar he is to my father when it comes to certain addictions and sexual needs, especially when it comes to pedophilia. After seeing what happened to my parents' marriage when my mom didn't deal well with the issue, I was determined not to let my marriage suffer the same fate as theirs over it.

Whether I morally agree with everything my husband craves isn't the issue. I'm his wife and as such compelled to submit to him so it was up to me to find a way to deal with it. In a way it makes me feel a little hypocritical - not because I found myself doing things I swore I'd never do (what choice did I have?) but rather that I enjoyed doing them as much as I did. It was like I used my vows to rationalize something that I found that I also wanted but couldn't admit it, not even to myself. Yes, it IS wrong but god I love doing it!

Is it any wonder that having to deal with such demons that I don't feel just a little resentment towards Steve for placing me in this situation in the first place? He knew I was against adultery - adultery as my mother defined it in which case spousal consent had no bearing. Yet knowing how I felt he till demanded that we swap with other couples. Do I enjoy it? Hell yes! Do I feel guilty about how much I DO enjoy it? Of course I do - you don't erase twenty years or so of conditioning and just through all your morals and ethics out the window and not feel SOMETHING. Who can I blame but Steve for putting me in this position?

Like adultery, it's Steve's fault that I feel the way I do now about young boys and girls. For over 26 years I adamantly opposed sex with underage kids, at least by adults, unless it was incestual. When I learned that my mother had to leave my father because he could no longer contain his desires for twelve year old girls, I was bitter to say the least. So imagine how I felt the first time Steve told me he felt the same as my father?

It was bad enough that Steve wanted to be involved in such things but then he insisted I do what my dad had made me do - get involved. As his daughter, my dad had the right to insist but at least he only pulled that cord a couple of times. Steve, on the other hand, expected much more from me. Like swapping, the problem I faced was that once I got over my initial revulsion and saw it for what it was - consensual sex, I found myself just as enamored with it as my husband and father. It's like an additive drug that an dealer gives to you for free and without knowing it's happening you find yourself hooked.

All this because of my husband. When I walked down the aisle holding my dad's arm I resolved to be faithful to my husband for the rest of my life. I felt no need to have "family" sex. I was prepared to give up the swinging lifestyle. I was determined to raise a family in a healthy environment and basically be the best wife and mother I could be.

Well, if Steve could change all those dreams, then didn't I deserve something for myself? Didn't I deserve a little bit of payback?

I did... and I would get it.

As anyone who knows my background will tell you, many of my biggest fantasies revolve around seducing a married man with a teenage daughter. Preferably he's never cheated before and while he might fantasize about all sorts of naught encounters, he's pretty resolved himself to his circumstances. Yes, his teenage daughter drives him nuts to the point he even sneaks a pair of her panties to masturbate with, but he would never have the courage to actually go any further. So when he finds out that he has the chance to be with a girl like me, it's thrilling for us both. I do it just for fun and excitement, not to have an affair or hurt his marriage. The last thing I want is for his wife to find out. Ruining someone's life isn't good for anyone involved. Still, that doesn't mean I don't enjoy smiling at his wife if I ever see them together!

Fantasies are easy. Actually FINDING this guy is a LOT harder than what you may imagine. My best luck has always been in church but over the years even that has become more difficult as I've pretty much tapped that resource.

There's an old saying my dad use to love to quote - "Beggars can't be choosers." What I take from that is you can't always have everything exactly the way you want. While I've just described one of my ultimate fantasies, that doesn't mean I don't compromise my ideals at times. The only limitation for me is he has to be married. I would prefer his wife not know but I really would rather she not be directly involved. Watching is one thing, participating is another. If a husband wants to see me with his wife then their marriage must be good enough to support such things so why does he need me?

So why married? First, it makes the odds of anything bad happening from a medical perspective. A husband who isn't a serial cheater more than likely isn't carrying anything whereas the single guy hitting the bar scene may be a walking Petri dish of god knows what.

Second, single guys are easy. Most of them can't get laid so they'll all but pay you for sex - and some have offered. The ones that DO get it on a regular basis don't appeal to me. I want to be someone special to them, someone they will remember all their lives, not just another notch on their belt.

That also applies to why I like married men for sex. Assuming I'm the first girl they cheat with, imagine what they think about every time they are intimate with their wife after that? It really builds my ego knowing I am now a permanent part of his life, someone he will never forget after having done something he will always remember. If he feels guilty about it, so much the better as then he may never do it again - leaving ME as the only girl he ever cheats with, the only one he remembers when he is with his wife.

Gee, I've really rambled on but hopefully I'm getting my point across as to why I felt the need, the compulsion even, to go out and have sex behind my husband's back.

4. Finding the One

I suppose I could have easily headed for the nearest club or bar wearing a slutty outfit and let the first guy to hit up on me take me home but where was the fun and challenge to that? I've always maintained that ANY girl can get laid in the next thirty minutes if she really had to and wasn't particular about who did her. No, if I was going to do this then I was going to make it worth it. In the previous chapter I explained the type of guy I was looking for and why. Now it was just a matter of finding him.

Then it struck me... like DUH!

I quickly grabbed my iPhone and called. My dad answered the phone...

"Hey baby girl, everything OK?"

I think when I'm fifty years old my dad will still be calling me his baby girl but I didn't mind. It went along with the other descriptions of me I cherished - "precious", "princess", even "my little slut".

For a moment I felt guilty. It had been a while since I'd called which is why he must have thought something was wrong.

I didn't waste any time, we could catch up on things later and after all, it had only been like five days since he'd last fucked me so it wasn't like I was being a total stranger.

One thing a lot of people don't know about me which I find amusing is that I fly radio controlled model planes. Actually I think my dad tells people that I "crash" them more than fly them but that's his interpretation. My dad has been into the hobby since he was a teenager so it was natural for me to tag along with him to the air strip as a little girl to watch. As I got older he would let me fly with him keeping control on another controller but eventually I was soloing... and crashing with regularity but he never seemed to mind. He just kept buying cheap trainers for me and never let me touch his "good" planes.

RC planes are pretty much a guy thing. The club my dad belongs to has maybe forty to fifty members with perhaps anywhere from 3-10 flying on a given night. Most of them are his age or older although a couple of younger guys show up know and then. Virtually all of them are married but for the most part their wives never come with them or their families. My dad always took a little ribbing for me tagging along. Funny how that ribbing died off as I got older!

I always have an instructor with me when I fly as my dad has never felt comfortable with my going totally solo. It wasn't the planes he was worried about, it was when I almost crashed into the prep area that he realized I was a bit of a walking safety hazard. Well, as the only girl flying I never had a problem finding someone to volunteer to help me fly. It didn't hurt that I tried my best to flirt and wear slutty shorts and tank tops, that sort of thing.

It has been years since I flew with my dad. I'm not sure why we stopped but it was like once I went to college and got out of the habit, it never started back up again. Plus, not living at home had a lot to do with it since flying was usually a spur of the moment thing with my dad's crazy work schedule so when I was living at home it was easy to keep up with him. As a result I hadn't really thought about it much but now I was psyched - why hadn't I ever thought of this before?

When I explained to my dad what I was thinking he quickly bought in.

"So baby, you got your eyes on anyone in particular?" he asked, "You know the membership has changed a bit since your last time so maybe you should just come and check things out before jumping into anything... or anyone."

It was a sensible idea and as luck would have it, my dad said he was thinking about heading to the file in the next few days and he would call me to let me know. Then he added...

"Of course there's a little matter of a finder's fee," he teased me.

"Oh daddy!" I sighed.

My dad never quit. It was like ever since he'd first fucked me almost twelve years ago now that anytime he did anything for me there was always a "fee" of some sort. It wasn't like I didn't mind paying my fees! If it turned him on to play his little game then I was more than happy to please him by going along with it.

"As always, all fees payable up front," he continued, trying to sound all serious like some announcer at the end of a TV commercial.

"Oh daddy!" I sighed yet again but this time I added, "You know anytime you want to fuck me all you have to do is ask!"

The husky chuckle at the other end of the line told me all I needed to know.

"Dad! Are you masturbating about me right now?"

"Me?"

Yeah right, like I couldn't tell.

"Why don't you come over and find out?"

My pussy tingled and I really did wish I could. If he had come right out and asked I would've gone, no questions asked. In the past twelve years I've never once refused my father, at least not when it came to sex. The fact that he put it the way he did was his way of saying he wouldn't mind fucking me but at the moment he wasn't in dire need of anything. In this case I was busy with things around the house so it worked out best for me not drop things just to perform my duties as his daughter.

Just a note... this was one of the things I loved about my dad. I can see where some men might abuse their position and insist their daughter do things anytime they want without regards to her feelings or needs. Yes, there WERE times when my dad would impose a bit but he really did try to minimize such things. Like tonight, I knew he would fuck me if I came over but he also wasn't pushing me to do it if I was busy. I love him so much for being such a considerate dad!

Sure enough, the next evening he called and said he would pick me up in twenty minutes. I'd been expecting the call so I was already dressed and ready. RC planes are usually flown in the evening when the winds are at their calmest. It was mid-May and the weather could go both ways but fortunately tonight was a warm spring evening so I had chosen a pair of killer denim shorts that were cut off right at my butt. A stretch tube top was all I wore besides the shorts and I rubbed my nipples through it and was pleased to see them poking through. A pair of heels would have looked great but not exactly the thing to wear at a grass air strip so I thought about going with a pair of pink sneakers with white anklet socks. Then I thought about it again and thought what the heck, why not and grabbed the heels. I looked through my closet and found an old Steeler ball cap. Pulling my hair back in a ponytail, I ran it through the back of the cap.

A plain gold anklet around my right ankle, a couple more around my neck, followed by a pair of small diamond earrings. I loved to wear them when I was out with my dad as they always reminded me of my 18th birthday when he gave them to me for Christmas. Well, he gave them to me when I was sitting on his dick Christmas morning! Like I said, special memories...

Other than that I didn't even need a purse or a wallet as you don't need a driver's license to fly a model airplane. I heard my dad knocking on the door of our apartment and hurried to greet him.

"Hey baby," he greeted me after giving me a big kiss on the lips, "Damn, you're looking hot tonight! Where's your husband?"

There was something in the way he asked me about Steve that caught my ear. My dad was OK with Steve being my husband and they shared many interests (however models planes was NOT one of those). While they each had the same feelings for me, at least sexually, my dad was never comfortable doing anything with me when Steve was around. The funny thing is, Steve was the same way when it came to my dad. The really funny thing is neither of them has any issue having anyone else watch them fuck me. If anything they got turned on by being watched. So when my dad asked where Steve was, my Spidey senses were alerted.

"He's working an extra half-shift," I explained, "Someone called in sick so Steve and another guy are covering for him."

"It's going to be another hour before prime flying time... don't you have a fee to settle?"

Ahhhhhh, so THAT was where he was going with this line of questioning. Duh, why hadn't I been expecting it knowing my dad!

"Well, unless you're going to fuck me in the open door then you'd better come in and close it."

My heart skipped a beat as he looked around as if to see if anyone was watching or could see us. For a brief moment I thought he might just do that! Then the common sense lawyer took over and he took a couple of steps in and shut the door behind him.

We kissed again, this time more passionately with our tongues intertwined. He had one hand on each of my butt cheeks, pressing his crotch into me so I could feel his hard erection poking through the gray sweat pants he was wearing. Hmmmmmm, I had a feeling that was ALL he was wearing from the way it was poking out!

"So what are you waiting for? Pay up little girl. Get on your knees and suck your daddy's dick."

Like he had to tell me! Actually, I preferred it when he did, it seemed so much hotter when my dad told me what to do.

"Yes daddy," I said softly, assuming a submissive position as I dropped to my knees before him.

It wasn't like I was his slave but at the same time I WAS his daughter and as such he deserved my respect as well as my submission. Besides, he loved it when I acted like this so I laid it on pretty thick.

"Take off those shorts, you know how I hate you covering up your bottom."

"Yes daddy," I said, smiling this time. Oh yeah, indeed I knew!

The sweat pants he was wearing didn't have an opening in front. It was more than obvious now that my dad wasn't wearing any underwear. There was clearly nothing containing his erection under those pants. I couldn't help but smile to myself at his involuntary reaction. Actually that's one of the things that turns me on when a man becomes erect - the fact that it is totally out of his control. No man I've ever heard of can will himself to either become erect or not. Thus when I see a man react as my dad was now to me, I know that it is a true indicator or how he feels about me. A man can SAY all he wants about how much I turn him on or how good I look but it's his dick that never lies!

Standing back up again, I wiggled my way out of my shorts, leaving my tube top in place, at least for the moment. Slipping them over me heels, I just let them drop next to me on the floor leaving me wearing nothing but my tube top and heels. Before I resumed "the position", I twirled around to let him get a good view of my butt.

"Now THAT's much better," he mused, spanking me lightly on the right butt cheek as I turned, "Damn, what an ass!"

Smiling, I bent down again until my face was level with his crotch. Reaching out with both hands, I grabbed his sweat pants by the waist band and worked them down to his knees, freeing his rigid dick such that now it was staring directly at me as it emerged from the thick bush of dark pubic hair at its base.

"Mmmmmmm, somebody's horny," I teased as I reached out and grabbed the shaft with my right hand, using my left to cup his hairy balls and gently work them with my fingers.

My dad just sighed and put his hands on my head, pulling it into his crotch.

"Damn it Kelly, stop teasing and suck it."

He must have been REALLY horny as usually he liked this sort of foreplay where I would just stroke him and play with his cock, maybe kissing it or giving it a quick lick with the tip of my tongue. Then again, judging from how firm it felt in my hand, he didn't need any more encouragement!

At first I just took the tip of his dick into my mouth, my lips sealing around his shaft just under where his helmet ended. It left me with plenty of room inside to run my tongue around him, teasing the hole at the tip and then working all around the smooth warm surface. My efforts were rewarded by his moans of pleasure and more pressure on the back of my head as he tried to push himself into my mouth further.

Pushing back against him, I let his dick slip from between my lips and looked up at him with my eyebrows furrowed.

"Now Daddy, you know better... don't push so hard."

Without waiting for a response, I resumed my attention to my dad's dick, this time licking the shaft up and down, then running my lips along it as it got wet with my tongue just barely sticking out between them.

"Fuck this, I need to sit down," he said, releasing my head and moving over to the couch where he sat down on the edge with his legs spread apart obscenely.

I was close behind. This was actually better for both of us as I could now actually kneel given the carpet under us. Also, it was easier to keep my balance by resting my forearms on my dad's legs as I gripped the base of his dick and bent it towards me so I could take it into my mouth again.

"Oh yeah Kelly... just like that!" he groaned as I took his dick completely in my mouth, the tip of it pushing down into my throat.

My dad pushed my head down, driving his dick even further down my throat as I fought back the gag reflex and then felt my face pressing into that hairy bush of pubic hair I knew so well.

For the next few minutes I blew my dad. Pretty standard stuff, just bobbing on his dick but he wasn't complaining! In fact he wasn't saying a word other than grunting and moaning but that didn't bother me. It's when he doesn't say anything that I know he's really enjoying what I'm doing to him.

He was getting close. God, how many times had I sucked this dick? Probably more times than every other dick I'd ever sucked combined I bet if I could somehow get an official count. While my husband now got most of my attention, it would be a long time before his scores equaled my dad's given the head start my dad had on him.

"God that feels so good," he sighed and then surprised me by pushing my head away from his dick. I looked up at him and our eyes met as he smiled at me and said, "But I don't want to cum in your mouth... I want to fuck you... I want to cum in my little girl."

At 27 I was hardly his "little girl" anymore but I guess age is all relevant. Sometimes I think when I'm forty I'll still be his "little girl".

My dad pushed himself back further into the couch, bringing his legs together while motioning for me to climb aboard. My tube top was feeling restrictive so I quickly slipped it up and over my head, tossing it on the couch next to him. Cupping my boobs in each hand, I tugged on my hard nipples with each thumb and forefinger, twisting them and pulling on them.

As I got up on the couch I was now totally naked with the exception of my heels as I knew it turned my dad on to fuck me when I was wearing something on my feet. Not sure why, but something turns him (and a lot of men it seems) when I wear sock, sneakers or heels when they have sex with me. They may prefer me nude otherwise, but shoes or socks can really get them going.

At first I just kneeled on the couch, straddling my dad's bare legs as I leaned forward and wrapped my arms around his neck, smashing my boobs into his chest as I did. We kissed and I could feel his tongue exploring my mouth, meeting my tongue and toying with me. His hands moved to cup my butt, one cheek in each as he squeezed them and rubbed them alternately.

"I love you daddy," I whispered as we kissed, "I want to make you happy."

Indeed, that is what I really wanted more than anything at this moment - to please my father and make him happy. Really, why else would I have sex with him. He was my father, not a lover or even a boyfriend. He definitely wasn't just some guy I picked up to have some raw sex with. No, this was the man I'd known all my life, the man who gave his sperm to conceive me, the man who raised me, the man who had given me so much over my lifetime. After having given ME so much, how could I not want to give him back what he needed most?

"Tell me what you want daddy... tell me how to please you."

My dad looked me directly in the eyes, a look of lust and desire filling them. It was at times just like this moment when I knew no matter what anyone might say, what I was doing was right and moral. There was no mistaking what he wanted yet I loved for him to say it out loud.

"Oh baby... my baby... I want you," he sighed letting out a long breath, "You know I want you more than anything. God I NEED you... you know what I want... do it."

It wasn't quite what I was hoping for but good enough. Still, rather than just taking him in me I could do one more thing for him...

"Fuck me daddy... I want you to fuck me."

I thought he was going to cum right then the way he groaned at my words! Without further delay, I reached down between my legs and grabbed his steel-hard dick, directing it to my waiting pussy. I don't know who moaned louder as the thick head penetrated me!

"Oh yes daddy, fuck me... I want you in me."

Actually in this position it was me doing the fucking I guess you might say as I controlled his penetration in me, even though his hips were instinctively thrusting upward to try to speed up the process. Despite his efforts, I tried to take him in me as slow as I could, trying to enjoy the feel of every inch as it force its way into my pussy, stretching me out and filling me with his manhood.

Finally I bottomed out, my butt pressing down on my father's lap as I put my full weight on it, driving him into me as deeply as he would go. My ass was tickled by his coarse pubic hair as I ground myself slowly on his shaft. I leaned back as he supported me with his hands while he leaned forward as well to suck on my nipples. Mmmmmmm, I loved the feel of his tongue and lips on my boobs, especially when my nipples were as hard and sensitive as they were now.

As my dad attended to my boobs, I reached down and felt the base of his dick with my fingertips. There wasn't much to touch as the rest of it was inside of me. OMG I loved the thought of him in me - not to mention the feel of it. It was a sensation I doubt I will ever grow tired of - the feeling of my own father joined with me, our bodies coupled together in the most intimate and loving way possible.

I slowly rode his dick, using my pussy to squeeze him and then release him as I worked my ass in circles to pleasure him. He was getting close as he leaned back against the couch and looked down at his crotch to watch his dick moving in and out of me.

"Cum in me daddy... give me your love... show me how much you love me," I begged him over and over and then over again. My exhortations were rewards as he grabbed my hips and pushed me down onto him, thrusting his hips upward as he began to ejaculate within me.

"Oh fuck!" he cried out as he came, shooting one load of cum into me after another.

I have no idea how much cum my pussy has received over the years from all the guys who have fucked me but I imagine it must be measureable in gallons by now. It didn't matter. It seemed like every time my dad came in me it was like the

What more could a father say to his daughter than that? It was what I had hoped he would say, that was for sure!

5. Making a Connection

We were at the air field in twenty minutes as thankfully the traffic wasn't too bad. On the way we talked about the various options I might find. It was sort of strange, as if my dad was acting as my pimp. Even so, it seemed to turn him on to talk about various guys and whether or not he thought I might enjoy fucking them.

"What about that guy who flew the helicopter?" I asked.

"Oh Larry? Haven't seen him much this past year. I think he was having marital issues so I'm not sure if maybe they've split and he's moved away."

My dad turned his head briefly to look at me as he waited at a stoplight.

"So you're thinking about someone like Larry then? Isn't that a little old even for you?"

He had a point. I was remembering these guys as I had back when I was flying so they were all years older now.

"What about Rich?" he suggested, "His daughter's in high school now and from what I hear, quite the looker."

"Does she come?" I asked.

My dad shook his head, "No, you're really the only daughter that ever shows up... I mean use to show up."

"Did any of them ever say anything about me?"

That my dad smile. "No, I AM your father after all most men aren't going to say anything like that about you, at least not to my face. Still, it was pretty obvious who they had their eyes on. Besides, it's not like you ever had problems getting an instructor to help you."

It wasn't until we parked and my dad turned off the SUV that he addressed the elephant in the back seat.

"So what's this all about anyway Kelly? Does Steve know about this?"

I shook my head without saying a word so he continued, "Something going on in Paradise I should know about?"

"Oh no, nothing like that dad," I protested, maybe a little too quickly. My father the lawyer was quick to pick up on that.

"I guess I always thought you and your mother shared the same feelings about doing things behind your husband's back. I know you guys swap so you've past THAT hang-up of hers but I hadn't realized you were sneaking around behind his back now. Is he doing anything?"

I knew my dad which meant I knew that he wasn't going to let up until he got the truth from me, just as he always did while I was growing up, so I told him about my suspicions about Steve's activities.

"Well I suppose I'm the last guy to say anything about your aunt's ability to 'suggest' things you know better than to do."

Yeah he was right on that one. I know that as close as my mom is with her sister, she will always be a little peeved that my aunt had enabled my dad to meet up with young girls against the wishes of my mom. Now she was doing the same thing with Steve but at least I wasn't going to divorce him over it. No, I was just going to go out and do a little for myself as well.

"Well, if you think this is the best way to handle things, I guess I won't stand in your way," my dad finished and got out of the SUV.

Before long we were on the line, saying hello to the guys - and as usual, it was ALL guys. Seeing me, a number of them said hello and remarked about how long it had been since I'd been there. I also noticed that almost every one of them gave me the once-over as well. Of course it didn't bother me - I'd been disappointed if they hadn't!

As my dad set up his gear and prepped the plane, I walked around and watched the others. As much as they were looking at me, and thinking lord only knows what, I wondered if any of them realized that I was "shopping" as well.

At first I didn't see Rich and after all my dad had said about him I felt a little disappointed that he wasn't around. Then I noticed someone approaching from the pavilion where the rest rooms were and I was almost sure it was him. Again, it had been a few years since I'd seen him.

"Hey, it's Kelly!" he greeted me as he came closer, "Haven't seen you in ages... wow, married woman now I hear?"

I flashed my ring and smiled but left it pretty much at that. I couldn't deny I was married but that didn't mean I needed to dwell on it and scare him away.

"Yeah, been a year now," was all I said and then changed the subject, "SO I hear your daughter is in high school now. I teach 8th grade so I guess I missed her."

"Yep, a big sophomore this year. Just a few weeks and she'll be having her Sweet Sixteen birthday party."

"Awwwwww, so sweet, I bet she has lots of boyfriends."

Rich rolled his eyes and groaned a bit melodramatically, "I have to swat them away like flies to a cake. Now don't take this wrong but my daughter is pretty hot."

An odd thing to say but I just smiled and let it pass.

"Well, my number's up next so catch ya later," he said, giving me a wave with his hand as he headed to his plane.

I returned to see how my dad was doing. He had it fueled, batteries checked and was ready to go.

"Saw you met up with Rich," he observed.

"Yeah, he said his fifteen year-old daughter was hot," I said with a smile.

"Well, I haven't seen her but from what I hear, she is," my dad confirmed, "he must have said more than that though."

"We didn't have much time, he was up next," I said, looking over and seeing him at the flight line with his plane already up.

"Well, we're right with him so give me a hand if you're going to be here."

I carried the starter and his flight box while he carried the plane which had a wingspan almost as wide as he was tall. It was one of his favorite plans which meant I would just be watching. He didn't mind me flying his little planes or the trainer but my track record was pretty poor so I never even asked to fly his better models.

Rich was done and had landed his plane safely so it was my dad's turn. I watched as he set the plane in place and then I grabbed the glow plug for him. In doing so I had to lean over and as I didn't exactly bend my knees I knew I had to be giving the group of older men a better show than they'd seen at the air field in quite some time. If the cool feeling on my butt was any indication, at least part of my ass was exposed when I leaned over, not to mention a good view of my cleavage as the tube top was barely wide enough to stay on me.

Once my dad's plane had started, I moved back as he took his spot and away his plane went. I backed away to give him room and just happened to find my way alongside Rich as he was refueling. He was kneeling on the ground as he pumped the fuel and didn't notice me until I squatted down. It was a little tricky with my heels in the grass as I had worried back when I was getting dressed but I managed to keep my balance. I could feel my shorts pulling up tight in my crotch and once again, that cool feeling of air against the bottom of my ass.

"So your daughter's hot?" I said, getting straight to the point.

Rich looked a little surprised at my question and even blushed. I noticed his eyes wandered to between my legs which I had somehow forgotten to keep closed. I knew the thin material in my crotch had to be pulling up tight against my pussy - it was driving me crazy! Then he seemed to notice that I saw him and he quickly looked away but it wasn't long before his eyes were making their way back to my 34C bust.

"Ummmmm, yeah I guess so," he stuttered, "I didn't really mean anything by that."

"That's OK, my dad use to tell me I was hot when I was her age and I know it made me feel special so I'm sure your daughter feels the same way when you tell her."

Rich's eyes widened a bit at that. "I... I never actually TOLD her that."

I smiled at Rich, trying to keep him from feeling TOO uncomfortable.

"Well you should you know. Every teenage girl needs all the encouragement she can get, especially from her father."

Rich was finishing up the refueling and putting away his jug of fuel so he didn't say anything right away, leaving it up to me to continue.

"Do you think I'm hot Rich?"

Now THAT one took him by surprise and I almost laughed at how big his eyes grew. His face was beet red by now but at the same time it didn't deter him from almost instinctively glancing at my boobs again. The he looked over at my dad who was concentrating on his plane in the air as if he was sure that my dad had heard everything.

"It's OK Rich, he doesn't care," I tried to reassure him.

"Aren't you married now Kelly?" he said in almost a squeak.

I almost feel over as one of my heels pushed into the soft earth so I had to catch myself with my hand and readjust my position. Through it all my legs spread wider apart and my boobs bounced under the tank top - all of which he was taking in.

"So are you Rich," I reminded him with a grin, "So what?"

Rich glanced around to be sure nobody was listening but he was at the end of the flight line area and nobody was close enough to hear over the din of the planes.

"So you didn't answer my question Rich."

"Huh?" was all he could say being totally flustered now.

"I asked you if you thought I was hot. You know, like your daughter."

Now he was looking really flustered. "I really don't think we should be talking about this Kelly," he stammered.

I was pushing him a lot harder than I probably should have at this point. Heck, it had been quite a few years since he'd seen me and I really knew nothing about him either. Just because he made some comment about his daughter being hot didn't mean he was looking to cheat on his wife or fantasize about sex with his daughter. Granted, my guess is that 90% or more of husbands and fathers DO think about such things but almost just as many keep such thoughts to themselves and never act on them. While I'd found that many of them CAN be persuaded if you give them the proper "motivation", usually I knew a lot more about them and so had a pretty good idea of what direction they were leaning before I pressed them.

Still, I had come here today with the intent of finding someone and judging by the looks of the other geezers, Rich was my only option unless I was prepared to REALLY lower my standards.

"Just talkin', nothing wrong with that, is there Rich?" I said in a cheery voice while at the same time shifting my weight around to give him a better view of my crotch.

Rich finally stood up after which I did as well. It was easier to tease him squatting down but my knees were killing me! I grabbed the tops of my tube top above each of my boobs and tugged it up as if I was trying to get it to cover me better but in the process only made it drop even lower.

"Stupid top, won't stay up," I pretended to complain. Rich didn't say anything so I went on saying, "My dad says it's too small for me... what do you think Rich?"

Rich couldn't help but look at my chest again to make his "evaluation". He glanced over where my dad was getting ready to land. Sheesh, only three minutes had passed? It seemed like a lot longer.

"Well I'd say it look just about right on you," he finally decided.

"Thanks Rich!" I came back with a big grin, "Does your daughter wear anything like this?"

Rich again hesitated. It was one of those "damned if you do, damned if you don't" questions.

"I haven't seen her in anything like that but then you're quite a bit more... well more endowed up there than she is."

"What size do you think I am Rich?" I asked, trying to keep the conversation going in the right direction.

Rich was going to strain his neck if he kept twisting it back and forth between where my dad was now collecting his plane and me.

"Ummmmm, I don't know... 34C?"

I smiled at him and winked. "Right on the money Rich! Wow, you're pretty good at judging boobs."

He smiled at that one, like he enjoyed the compliment but yet didn't want to make too big a deal out of it.

"So what size is your wife?"

This time he game a strange look, like he was wondering where in the world that one came from. But now he was into the game so he answered, "I have no idea. Marge is rather... big. I mean big all over. Just say I have twice the wife I married."

Judging by the way he reacted to thoughts of his wife, I figured that would be a good topic to steer clear of, at least for the time being. Still, it gave me a new piece of information - fat wife to go along with his daughter. Man, my dad knew how to pick 'em!

"So how old are you Rich, 37... 38?"

Rich turned to face me directly. "OK, now I KNOW you're playing me. I haven't been 37 for eleven years."

I pretended to be hurt and pouted, "I was just being honest, you don't look to be as old as my dad is all I'm saying."

Rich chuckled. "We were friends all through school, didn't you know that?"

Actually, I didn't. My dad hadn't spilled that vital piece of information. Rich continued as it looked like I'd finally hit a hot spot for him.

"Yeah, we were quite a team back then. Hmmmmmm, if he hasn't told you that then I bet you didn't know I use to date your mom back in high school."

Wow, another piece of news. I knew my mom was quite the slut back in her school days but she hadn't given me a lot of specifics back then. Sheesh, and to think my dad never said anything back when I use to come here to fly with him back in my teen years.

He must have confused the expression on my face as I was evaluating this latest tidbit because he quickly came back with, Oh I'm sorry Kelly... didn't mean to bring up anything bad."

"No, that's cool," I assured him without saying much more. "So you must have had your daughter pretty late then."

Rich shrugged. "Actually she's the youngest. We had three other - two boys and a girl pretty early. They're all married with kids and all that stuff. You might say Lindsay was a bit of a surprise."

"She must keep you young."

"She keeps me something I guess, not sure if it's young though," he said with a bit of a laugh.

My dad had his plane back in place and walked over to join us.

"Hey Rich, making the moves on my daughter? Hate to say this but you missed the chance long ago - she's married now."

Rich didn't say anything but playfully punched my dad on the shoulder. It was funny, I'd never realized that they were classmates before. Guess back when I was coming her with my dad I just didn't notice such things. I was usually more interested in what guys were looking at (hopefully me) than anything between them.

"Yeah, she flashed me the ring right away," Rich replied, "Guess I missed my chance."

They were just two guys digging at each other but still, I liked it that with my dad around Rich seemed even more open. It was sort of like when Steve got together with his friends and each tried to one-up the other.

"I need to run to the hobby shop real quick," my dad said to me, "I don't like that last batch of fuel I was using, plane seemed sluggish."

"You can borrow some of mine John," Rich offered but my dad politely refused, saying he needed more anyone and it would only take twenty minutes to get there and back.

"Now watch my girl while I'm gone," my dad said, pointing to me, "Don't do anything I wouldn't do."

It was all I could do not to laugh. If Rich only knew what door my dad was opening for him! Poor rich, if he only knew that a little more than an hour earlier I'd been sitting on my dad's lap with his cock spewing cum inside of me! Then again, what if he DID know?

"Well, I guess it's time to get it up again," Rich said, looking back at his plane until it hit him as to what he'd just said.

"Oh god, I didn't mean THAT Kelly," he quickly apologized.

I smiled and replied in as innocent a voice as I could muster, "That's OK Rich, I'd LOVE to help you get it up." I licked my lips naughtily and put my hands on my hips, giving him my "model" pose.

"Ok, Ok, that's enough of that," he said quickly but at the same time he was taking in another view of my boobs.

Suddenly he startled me with a sharp, "SHIT!"

I looked down at where he was leaning over the engine. Rich was shaking his head and cursing rather eloquently under his breath.

"Something wrong Rich?"

"Damn it, I thought for sure I'd charged the batteries last night. See that indictor? All but dead."

I wasn't sure what to look at but there was this thing that looked like it was taped to the inner wall of the plane with a bunch of bars. They were all red except the last which was barely green.

"I ALWAYS check them before I leave... at least always except tonight I guess. Crap, this really pisses me off!!"

"So now you can't fly?"

Rich looked up and me and then stood up again. "Nope, all done for the night. I'd head home but I promised my dad I'd keep an eye on you."

Whatever opening he was going to give me, I took it.

"Well I was sort of hoping you'd be keeping BOTH eyes on me Rich."

Rich started to lean down to pick up the plane but then he stood back up and crossed his arms defensively in front of his chest.

"OK, enough is enough. I haven't seen you in what, ten years? Now tonight you show up with a ring on your finger and not much else on, all the while hitting on me like a downtown hooker. What's going on? Did your dad put you up to this, like some sick practical joke?"

This wasn't exactly going as planned. Fortunately I'd prepared a Plan B. I put on my best "hurt" look, checked around seeing that the old geezers were still clueless, and replied with, "My dad had nothing to do with it, it's all my idea. My dad just mentioned you would be here tonight, I guess because you were high school buddies, I don't know."

"So it's tease the old guy tonight?" he said accusingly, "You were always a cockteaser back in the day but I figured being married and teaching that you'd have grown up a bit."

I quickly cupped my boobs, lifting them in the tube top and letting them drop.

"Well, you DID say I'd grown up."

Rich looked a little pissed now. "You know what I meant. Really, what's the story?"

Here goes Plan B. Plan A was seduction with the hopes of winning him over. Plan B was being honest - much riskier but highly effective when it worked.

"My husband's out with another girl and I was looking for a little revenge sex," I said. What I didn't mention to him was that the "girl" was half my age - if that old.

Rich wasn't buying it though. "So someone looking like you come HERE for that? I don't believe that and if I did, why here? Makes no sense to me."

I wasn't about to go into all the details of my fixation on m0lder married men - especially older married men with teenage daughter, especially ones with HOT teenage daughters.

"So I've got a daddy's girl thing going, is that so wrong?"

Rich gave me an odd look and then recovered chuckling, "Knowing your father as well as I do, that doesn't surprise me..." and then trailed off before saying anything more.

This was becoming more and more interesting. Actually I knew very little of my dad's personal life outside of our family. He always seemed to be at work so I'd never given much thought as to who his friends might be away from the job. Anytime he talked about "the good old days" it was always about him and his younger brother Jim with nary a reference to anyone else and now I find out that Rich is some sort of comrade of my fathers. Another time and place and I might have explore this more but I knew my dad would be back before much longer so it was time to move things along.

Whatever I was going to say was interrupted by Rich picking up his things and heading to his pickup. It was rather old, rusting in a few places, with a cap covering the back end. He opened the back, lowered the tail gate and put the plane and gear inside.

With everything in, Rich turned and took a seat on the tail gate, sitting far enough back his legs were swinging in the air. He patted the metal pate next to him.

"May as well take a load off your mind until your dad gets back. But then with the traffic that direction who knows when that will be."

I did as he said, sitting just a few inches from him. My head came about to his shoulders so he looked down to talk to me which also allowed him to look down my cleavage at the same time.

"You know Rich, it's getting really chilly," I complained. It was true, not to mention the cold steel under my exposed butt.

Rich couldn't help but laugh a bit saying, "Well if you would wear some clothes it might help."

I pouted again, "Why, you don't like what I'm wearing?"

Rich leered at me this time as he said, "Its more what you're NOT wearing that I like."

"Oh you silly," I giggled, smacking him on the thigh playfully, leaving my hand on him after I did.

Rich looked down at my hand and then back to my breasts although I'm sure if questioned he would have sworn that he was looking at my face to talk directly to me.

"I'd give you the blanket in back but it's pretty dirty and lord knows what's slept in it where I park this rig," he offered.

I wrapped my arms around myself and shivered.

"Would you mind taking me home Rich? I'm really getting chilled. If you need proof..."

It WAS chilly. Maybe not as chilly as I was making to out to be but enough to bring out a reaction from my nipples, not that flirting with Rich wasn't helping matters. In any case, I dropped my arms down to reveal my nipples poking through the thin tube top.

"See what I mean Rich? I'd really appreciate it if you took me home."

Rich hesitated and for a moment I thought he would refuse. Things had progressed really fast in the past fifteen minutes and he looked like his mind was running about five minutes behind in terms of assimilating everything.

"What about your dad?"

"Oh he won't care, I just get in the way anyway."

"Well, I DO need to get home. Where do you live?"

I gave him my address which brightened him up a bit.

"That's even better - we're practically neighbors!" he said with a grin, "Alright, hop in and let's get going."

For a moment I questioned the whole idea when I couldn't open the passenger door and he motioned me to come around to his side and get in.

"That door hasn't worked for years," he explained, "Got bumped by some snot-nosed kid in his parent's fancy car and figured I'd just pocket the insurance money."

The floor on the passenger side was filled with what looked to be old car parts and rags. Even the seat didn't look exactly appetizing. I scooted over to the middle and brought my legs up under me so I wouldn't have to step on whatever those things were with my heels.

"Sorry, wasn't expecting to play limo service tonight," he apologized, "This is sort of my truck to run around in. The rest of the family uses the Rolls-Royce."

He laughed and I went along with his poor attempt at humor. I looked for a seatbelt and he said, "Sorry, if you're looking for a seatbelt this buggy was built before they were required. Grandfathered now."

Wow, I knew this wreck had to be old but not THAT old. Surprisingly it started right up. There was this big stick coming up from the floor which I gather was used for shifting. Come to think of it, I think this was the first vehicle I'd ever been in that had a manual transmission!

Rich pushed his foot down and then reached over my lap to grab the stick lever. He moved it around then pulled down and it dropped almost in my lap, his hand with it as he ended up with his hand right on top of my bare thighs.

"Sorry, have to shift," he grunted as he looked out the back mirror to back up out of his parking space.

As we headed out to the gate I saw my dad's SUV pulling in. Damn! Talk about rotten timing. Rich stopped as my dad approached, rolling down his window as my dad pulled up alongside us.

Rich poked his head out saying, "Hey stranger, your daughter was crying about being too cold so she conned me into taking her home. I guess now she can go home with you."

My dad just laughed saying, "Well, tell her if she wore some clothes she might not get so cold."

They both laughed and then again when Rich explained to my dad that he had told me the very same thing a few minutes before.

"Well, if you don't mind I'd like to try out this new fuel. Hell, she lives almost right door to you so do you mind?" my dad asked.

I could have kissed my dad! Talk about picking up quick on the situation and playing along...

"Sure, see you next week," Rich signed off as we continued our travels leaving my dad behind.

"So you dated my mom?" I asked as he pulled out into the main road.

"Well, me and I think every other boy in school," Rich said with a grin.

I laughed and added, "Yeah, my mom has confessed that she was a slut back then."

Rich started to say something but then thought better of it, instead saying, "Well, YOU said that, not me."

"So she was then!" I giggled.

Rich let out a long breath before answering, "I guess you could say that."

"Nail her?"

I thought Rich was going to choke with that one. I guess it's not every day a woman asks you if you had sex with her mother back in high school.

"Well?" I prodded him.

"That was a long time ago Kelly before she married your dad."

I grinned at him and put my hand on his leg as I said, "You don't have to apologize or anything, my mom's told me she was a slut in high school... same as I was."

Rich glanced down at his lap and then back up again as he drove. I noted that he didn't mention anything about my hand resting at the top of his leg just inches from his crotch.

"Well, now that you mention it... you did have a bit of a rep back then," Rich said, starting to open up a bit more.

"Sort of like your daughter does now?"

THAT brought a grin to his face as he replied, "Well, I don't think Lindsay is quite in your league, at least not yet."

"My league?"

Rich's cheeks puffed out and then he released his breath with an expression that clearly said, "What have I gotten myself into?"

"Heck Kelly, even your dad admitted you were the class slut back then so don't blame me."

"Sorta like you say Lindsay is one now?"

Again that expression of "Now what do I say?" but this time he wasn't as quick to respond so I decided to push a few more buttons and see what happened. We were only a few minutes away from my apartment so it wasn't like I had much more time. It was make or break time.

"So tell me Rich, how many times did you fuck my mother?"

"Let's just say more than a few times," he came back almost immediately. His quick response surprised me. Maybe he was just relieved to get off the subject of his daughter.

"Did I use to turn you on back then?"

We were just pulling up to a stop sign a few blocks from our apartment complex. As he pulled to a stop he looked in the rear-view mirror to see if anyone was behind us. Evidently not as he twisted slightly in his seat to face me. As he did his hand slipped off the stick shift lever and landed on my thigh. This time he didn't take it off or pretend it was a mistake.

"Not sure where you're going with this Kelly but yes you did. Not to mention every man around you so I don't think I was out of line or anything."

With that he turned back to the front and we drove the remaining couple of blocks in silence. The only difference was when he wasn't shifting, he rested his hand on my leg although it wasn't like he was fondling me or anything.

Rich pulled up to my apartment and I directed him to my entrance.

"You know, if we hadn't turned in back there my place is just down the road," Rich observed.

"Cool, so it won't take long for you to get home."

"Yeah, just a couple of minutes at most."

My heart was racing. I was pushing this WAY faster than I normally ever would but then the circumstances were different as well. Usually I had to get to know the guy and develop a relationship. Rich was a friend of my dad, knew me from years back, and even had sex with my mother when she was in high school. He obviously had SOME interest in me or why the hand on my bare thigh, not to mention his playful banter about his daughter and my mom. What the heck, why not?

"Well, since you're almost home anyway, would you like to come in for a drink? You were so nice to bring me home I just wanted to thank you."

"I don't know Kelly, doesn't feel like it would be appropriate. Is your husband home?"

I couldn't help but smile and wondered what he would say if I told him where Steve REALLY was and who I suspected he was fucking. Now THAT would have been a little too much!

"He's out with some friends," I said instead, shrugging as if it meant nothing to me, "I don't expect him to be back until late."

"Well, what would he say if he knew I came in for a drink while he wasn't there?"

Again I couldn't suppress a smile. The REAL answer is Steve would want to watch but again, that would be more than a little over the top for Rich no doubt.

"Steve and I have a.... let's just say we have an understanding about such things."

Rich looked at me more seriously now and I noticed the hand on my leg tightening, probably without him even knowing it.

"Sounds interesting."

It was my turn to squeeze his leg as I licked my lips and answered, "Well, if you want to know more than you'll just have to come in."

"Well, just for one drink... you got beer?"

I didn't answer as it seemed more like a rhetorical question than anything. There was a parking spot close buy so he pulled in. Once he was out, he held out his hand to help me get out on his side. Without a word we quickly made our way to our apartment. As I opened the door and stepped inside, I couldn't help but remember what had happened in here just a couple of hours earlier. Wow, what would Rich say if he knew my dad had recently fucked me almost right where he was standing?

Well, in my wildest dreams I hadn't expected the evening to work out like this. As Rich made his way to the couch, I headed for the kitchen to grab a beer for him from the refrigerator.

Now what?

6. Crossing the Line

By the time I returned to the living room with his beer, Rich was seated on the couch, leaning back with one leg crossed over the other. I handed him the can which he quickly opened and took a few swallows.

"Ahhhhhh, that hits the spot!" he sighed and then he looked at me asking, "Nothing for you?"

I explained to him that I hated beer and usually just drank Diet Coke.

"Breakfast of champions, that's what I always say."

I let that one slide and took a seat on the couch next to him. Again memories of my dad's earlier visit returned as I noted that Rich was sitting exactly in the same spot as my dad had been when I was riding his dick. Feeling more and more horny, I twisted towards him and put my hand back on his leg again over his jeans.

"I really do want to know Rich... tell me more about how you fucked my mother."

Rich took another sip of his beer, uncrossed his leg, and put one arm along the back of the couch behind me but not touching me.

"You DO realize that it's really weird for me to have the married daughter of one of my best friends asking me to tell her about banging her mom thirty years ago while sitting next to her alone in her apartment while she's half naked, do you?"

We both laughed at that while at the same time I inched my hand a little closer to his crotch.

"I'd say that sums things up pretty well Rich," I said softly, shifting so I was sitting on my hip facing him.

Rich glanced down at his lap and continued, "Not to mention the same gal's practically groping me!"

I inched it such that now I was only maybe an inch or so away from what was clearly a growing bulge in his crotch.

"Is that so bad?" I teased him.

Rich laughed somewhat nervously this time. "Nope, I never said it was bad. I just worry that you're husband's going to come in and get the wrong idea."

This time I went for broke and moved my hand so my palm was pressing down on his dick. "And what idea would that be Rich?"

"Wow," Rich said softly, "Maybe that I was fooling around with his wife."

I started to rub his bulge with the palm of my hand, going about it in small circular moves as I pressed up closer to him. "And what if his wife WANTED you to fool around with her?"

Rich laid his head back against the couch and let out a long breath of air. I used my fingers to grip his dick through his jeans as best as I could, enjoying the feel of his growing erection.

"This isn't happening," he sighed as he closed his eyes with his head still back.

"Well you just keep telling yourself that Rich," I murmured just loud enough for him to hear a I started to undo his belt and then his jeans.

Rich didn't resist as I unzipped his jeans and put my hand inside the elastic of his boxers where his erect cock was waiting for me. At the same time, he wasn't DOING anything either so that needed to be fixed.

"You know Rich, if I'm going to suck your dick the least you can do is touch me," I prompted him.

Without giving him a chance to respond, I leaned over and pulled his cock out as best I could and took the head of it in my mouth.

"This is NOT happening!" Rich again insisted to whomever he was talking to in his head.

I turned my head up to look at him and saw he now had his eyes open and was watching me. I smiled at him as naughtily as I knew how and purred, "Mmmmmmm, your dick is really nice, I think it likes me!"

It was like something switched on in his mind, like he made some decision to go for it and stop holding back as suddenly he was pushing his jeans and boxers shorts down. He still had his shoes on so everything sort of stopped at his ankles but he didn't take the time to remove them and just left everything bunched at his ankles. Sitting back again, he scrunched forward a bit and then leaned back against the couch which helped me to get to his waiting cock all that much easier.

"Tell me what you want Rich... tell me," I whispered to him as I stroked his hard shaft with my hand.

"This is SO wrong," he groaned but then he answered, "God I want you to blow me."

"Mmmmmmm, I can do that!" I said excitedly as I stretched out on the couch and put my face over his erection.

As I sucked his dick, Rich became more animated and vocal. He seemed to like holding his dick while I sucked him, sometimes even smacking me about the face when I would let it out of my mouth.

Given he was the same age or so as my dad, I knew odds were his dick would react about the same meaning I had one shot at this - literally. As much as I would have loved to get him off with just my mouth, this wasn't Steve on the couch who could fuck me right after I'd sucked him off. Besides, it wasn't like we had all night as I figured he was already going to have to explain to his wife why he was late as it was.

Dropping his dick from my mouth, I got up off the couch and faced him standing up. His eyes were glued to my boobs so I slowly pulled it down to reveal my breasts until the top was now wrapped around my waist.

"God you have the most incredible tits," he complimented me without taking his eyes off of them for even a moment.

With that I worked on my shorts next, turning away from him and then bending over at the waist as I dropped them slowly to expose my bottom to him. Sliding them down to my ankles, I stepped out of them, keeping my heels on. For a moment I debated about the tube top and then figured what the heck so I pulled it down as well and stepped out of it, leaving me wearing nothing but my heels.

Still facing away from him, I again bent over at the waist and put my right hand between my legs to play with my pussy as I spread my legs apart. God, I was soaking wet! Twisting my head, I saw he had his dick in one hand as he stared at my finger that was now up to the second knuckle inside my pussy.

"See how wet you made me Rich?" I teased him, "I bet I know where that hard dick you're holding wants to be."

If the loud groan that emerged meant anything, I was right! Of course the odds of me being wrong were virtually zero. Turning back to him, I stepped between his legs with one hand cupping my boob and the other palming my crotch.

"So now Rich, tell me what you want now," I said seductively.

"God I want to fuck you," he practically whispered but in the silence of the living room it was like a bullhorn.

"Well Rich... I want you to fuck me too," I said as I climbed aboard and straddled him.

As much as I was horny and needed to be fucked, what was REALLY getting me off was the memory of my dad in this exact same position on the couch and me doing almost exactly the same thing as I was now to him just a few hours previously. Wow, to be fucked by my dad AND his best friend in almost the identical manner was really hot!

As I positioned his dick at the entrance to my pussy and began to bear down on him, I could feel his split me apart as his cock head filled me.

"Oh Rich, your dick feels so good in me," I sighed, pulling his head into my boobs, "Am I as tight as my mother was?"

Richard was too anxious to take my nipple into his mouth to answer right away so I continued to descend onto his shaft until once again I was bottomed out on a dick in the middle of my living room. As I ground myself into his crotch, I pulled his head away from my boob and looked him in the eye.

"I want to know Rich... I want to know how I compare to my mom. Does my pussy feel as good around you as hers did?"

Poor Richard. I think all he wanted was to suck on my boobs while his dick fucked me and here I was practically interrogating him. Still, I was so turned on after I learned he'd done my mom that I had to know more so the next time I was with my mom I could tell her all about it.

"She was great but so are you... just like your mother," he gasped as I bore down on his dick with my pussy, squeezing him as tightly as I could.

"I bet you'd like to fuck us both together, fuck me and my mom, am I right Rich?"

Now I was back to rocking on his dick, causing it to stroke slightly in and out of me as I leaned back and forth. Mmmmmmm, I loved the way my clit rubbed against his crotch with him sitting up like this.

"God that would be so hot," he gasped again and then drove his head back into my chest again. His nose was in the middle of my cleavage so I pressed my boobs from the side against his face.

That seemed to be enough talk for him as he reached under my ass and leaned forward until he was able to stand holding up as I was mounted on his dick. Turning 180 degrees, he bent his knees until I was the one on the couch, keeping his dick inside of me for the entire sequence. I was on my back with my head up against the couch such that I was able to look down past my boobs and could see his cock as it drilled my horny pussy.

"Fuck, you have no idea how long I've wanted to do this," he cried out as he banged me deep and hard.

"That's it Rich, fuck me harder, fuck me like you want to fuck Lindsay."

It was a shot in the dark but in his aroused state I hit a bulls eye. Men may say one thing most of the time but get them horny and fucking and that's when the truth comes out. It's like sex is some sort of truth serum for men.

"Oh god yes... I want to fuck her so bad," he groaned as he lifted my legs up and held them by my ankles. Over and over he banged me, slapping his crotch into my pussy and pushing me tight up against the couch with every thrust.

"Oh yeah, fuck me like you want to fuck your daughter Rich... cum in me like you want to cum in her."

"Oh god Lindsay... daddy's cumming!" he groaned as he began to thrust and pump his sperm into me.

Each time he would pull out just a little and then slam it into me as he ejaculated. Finally he was drained and he released my ankle but I wrapped my legs around him as he fell forward on top of me, barely keeping his weight off as he rested on his elbows.

For a minute or so we both just rested as I felt his dick twitching inside of me. Keeping himself in me, he raised his head and had this odd grin on his face. Then he said the words that totally changed everything.

"You know, you're even a better fuck than your dad said you were."

7. Tables Turned

If Rich hadn't been on top of me I probably would have jumped right off his dick out of sheer surprise and shock. Instead, he kept me pinned down and started to grind his crotch into me, causing his dick to move which felt so wonderful in my cum and dick filled pussy.

"So you still haven't figured it out?" he taunted me, "And here I thought you were supposed to be the smart one. Kristen would have put it all together in a heartbeat."

Now I was really confused, as if I hadn't been from the instant he dropped his bombshell. Kristen? What the hell did my cousin have to do with this?

"Oh this is precious," he smirked, "Talk about taking it hook line and sinker!

Then he looked down where he was still buried in my pussy and added, "Well, make that taking it in the pussy!"

With that he chuckled and continued to grind himself in me.

"I should have said one thing though... you're pussy is the best between the four of you."

Seeing the complete confusion in my eyes he continued to grin like an idiot and explained.

"Yeah, I've done them all... your mom, her sister, and that whore of a cousin you have."

Rather than try and recreate the next five or ten minutes, let me just sum it up...

first time. I could only imagine if someone brought in one of those black lights they use in hotel rooms and took a look at our couch!

"So what do you say Kelly, clean me off so I can go home?"

He was standing there with his wet cock glistening in the light right in front of me. It was sort of funny in that he'd never removed his short the entire time.

"Why not?" I answered rhetorically, leaning forward to take his dick in my mouth. Mmmmmmm, it tasted so good! Nothing like the taste of my pussy all over a man's dick, especially when you add in a nice layer of cum.

When I was finished I dropped him from my mouth and wiped my lips off with the back of my hand.

"You know, you COULD have just come right out and told me all that from the start, I still would have let you fuck me."

Rich was pulling up his underwear and shorts as he answered, "Nahhhhh, where would the fun be in that?"

I laid back on the couch with my head on the arm and my legs outstretched. My pussy felt so much better now but I was still horny which I suppose drove my line of questions.

"So Rich, do you really want to fuck Lindsay?"

Rich grinned and sighed, "What father DOESN'T want to fuck his own daughter? You if anyone should know the answer to that one. Your dad's the luckiest guy in the world - first he gets two sisters and then a daughter and niece."

I started to rub myself slowly as I spread my legs apart a bit to make it easier. Rich was watching me as he buckled his belt.

"So why don't you?"

"Why don't I what?" he asked back at me.

"Fuck Lindsay?"

Rich was finished dressing now and he couldn't resist coming back over to the couch to rub my boobs with his hand one last time.

"It takes a pretty special family to have what your father has," was all he said. With that he leaned down and sucked on my nipple a bit, then stood back up and left without another word.

For the next half hour or so I masturbate on the couch, reliving the day's events in my mind as I imagined Rich going home to his young daughter and masturbating later as he dreamed that it had been her instead of me that he had fucked.

Well, I guess I was doing myself a little longer than I thought as somewhere in my fantasy world and after a series of incredible orgasms I was surprised when the door opened to the apartment and in walked Steve!

"Couldn't wait until I got home, eh?" he said as he started stripping off his clothes on his way to the couch.

Well, it looked like our poor couch was about to get a third set of fresh stains!

As Steve fucked me, I couldn't help but wonder who he'd been doing that evening? Since he hadn't told me about it, it meant it was with someone I might not approve of, or at least not approve of her age. It was one thing to do it now and then but sometimes it seemed that's all he cared about. Well, not at this moment, that was for sure!

could tell it was fully consensual, again I rationalized my thoughts and have participated with my husband and even helped provide him with some unexpected opportunities.

However... sometimes "never" means just that... NEVER.

So what are the things I would NEVER do, even if it meant having to divorce my husband, just as my mom finally had to do when faced with having to violate some of her "never" conditions? Well, this is a partial list but I'm sure you'll get the general idea:

1. Anything that would go against my Christian faith.

Yes, I know some people would claim that acting slutty, engaging in incest and underage sex, helping men commit adultery and other such things are not exactly biblical but I would maintain that such things are a matter of interpretation. Face it, if everyone agreed on the exact meaning of every phrase in the Bible we wouldn't have thousands of versions. For example, the Ten Commandments forbid adultery. Well, I define adultery as sex outside of marriage that is done without the knowledge and consent of your spouse so as far as I am concerned, I am on board. You say incest is on-Christian? What part of "Honor your father and mother" am I missing? How much more can a girl honor her father than to submit herself to him in every way?

2. Anything that brings harm to someone be it physical OR emotional.

Is it really necessary to comment on this? Humiliating someone, causing them to have unwanted pain, ruining their reputation, all these things are totally wrong. Unless, of course, the person deserves it as punishment for their transgressions.

3. Anything sexual that has to do with the toilet or such body functions.

No piss drinking or other perverted crap like necrophilia. Frankly I find such activities revolting. I may not agree with a lot of what some people find sexually exciting - BSDM, anal sex, etc., but there are some things that just should not be done by anyone at any time.

4. Child abuse.

This is a bit redundant with #2 but important enough to emphasize. I would also consider sex with a minor under the age to where they understand the significance of their actions. For example, a six year-old can't begin to grasp the consequences of a man having sex with her so it would be abusive for him to do so, no matter how much she "wants" it.

5. Anything sexual with someone I am responsible for professionally such as when I babysit or teach.

Putting aside the obvious - it's illegal and would lead to loss of my license and potential jail time, what's more important is the trust factor which is something that I would never violate.

Parents allow me to care for their children and that's a responsible I take VERY seriously. They did NOT leave them with me to teach them about sex.

So far as the events of this diary entry are concerned, #5 above applies.

For years now I have tutored during the summer and over time have developed several steady clients. In fact, this summer I have almost a dozen students! Most are teenage boys as it seems they have the most academic issues. If they want to be in sports (the usual reason for wanting better grades), then they call on me to get their grade point average up. Most of them are either just entering high school or in their first year or two although I do have one who wants to get a scholarship to college next year but his grades suck.

It's one thing to say you'll never DO anything but that doesn't mean it's not tempting. Yes, some of my students ARE very cute (boys and girls) and I'm sure I wouldn't have any problem getting laid by some of them. In fact, a number of them have already tried to make a move but I'm firm about that sort of thing from Day One. Not that I don't sometimes tease the poor boys. Not only do some of them deserve it, a girl has to have fun too sometimes, right?

One nice thing about tutoring in the summer - the dress code is a lot more relaxed both for me and my student. It's not unusual for us both to be wearing shorts and not a lot on top. I'll be the first to admit more than a few times I couldn't wait to get home before fingering myself in the car after a lesson with some hot little freshman boy.

Despite whatever temptations there may be, I'm a professional and in the end it's all nothing but innocent teasing. If one of my students locks himself in the bathroom and masturbates after I leave, what's the harm? Actually, I'd be rather disappointed if they didn't!

2. Tutoring Bambi

Most of the kids I tutor are boys. I don't think that it has anything to do with the relative intelligence of boys versus girls. At the ages I tutor it seems to be more the consequences faced by boys as compared to those a girl would have to deal with. Typically this revolves around sports as virtually all schools tie athletic eligibility in some way to academics. If a boy wants to play football in high school, he better keep his grades up!

Of the twelve students I tutored this summer, only two were girls. One was from my 6th grade class that just "graduated" from the small Christian School where I taught to the public middle school system. Her parents were just overachieving. I knew her well enough from having taught her for three years that she didn't need tutoring - she just needed motivation to keep her mind off the boys and on her school work long enough to do the work. But hey, they paid me pretty well so why argue?

As for the other girl, I didn't even get to meet Bambi when I interviewed with her parents as she was out with friends or whatever at the time. That's not all that unusual and there have even been cases where everything was done by phone and the first time I met anyone in the entire family was the first lesson.

It might be stereotyping but I almost giggled when they told me that their daughter was a cheerleader and her name was Bambi. All sorts of images came to mind - none of which were exactly complimentary. I found out later that Bambi wasn't her real name but rather the one she preferred to use. I didn't blame her - what girl in this day and age would want to be called "Barbara", even if it was in memory of her great grandmother?

Bambi's tutoring needs were based similarly to those of the boys I tutor. Her parents had explained to me that she needed demonstrate that she could get her grades up if she wanted to be on the freshman cheerleading squad. When I first heard that I was tempted to say that if all she wanted was to get her grades up then just have her get her teachers "up". Of course I knew better than to say anything like that to her parents!

In keeping with my stereotype image of cheerleaders, it didn't surprise me when it was obvious from the first time I laid eyes on her that Bambi was a slut. Again the same thought came to mind that I had with her parents. Given the way she dressed and talked I had little doubt that she wouldn't have had any problems following my suggestion for getting better grades. As with her parents, I never said anything even remotely like that to her but when I thought about it in private I couldn't help but wonder where she might have taken such a suggestion.

Knowing ahead of time that Bambi was a cheerleader I hadn't expected her to be fat and ugly but I was still pleasantly surprised the first time we met. Her dad had warned me that she was fourteen going on twenty but I assumed he was referring to her attitude. Well, it was more than that as she already had a killer body that made it hard for me to believe she was only fourteen. Had I seen her in school or on the street she could've easily passed for sixteen or seventeen or even older depending on her dress and makeup.

Unfortunately for Bambi, in the Ying and Yang of the universe whereas she was more than blessed in terms of her physical attributes, it seemed to have come at the cost of her intellect. To be blunt, she was just dumb! Oh well, let her parents worry as it kept me employed.

When I show up for the first lesson with a new client I usually dress rather conservatively so I am taken seriously as a professional and not some glorified babysitter. However on this morning it was already in the mid 90's and it wasn't even noon yet so I went with shorts and a tank top. I knew Bambi's mom would be at work and her dad hadn't seemed the type that would complain that I wasn't wearing something more "professional".

In deference to my position as a teacher, the cutoffs I chose were the ones I sometimes refer to as my "Goldilocks shorts". They weren't my shortest by any means and they actually covered my entire ass, coming down over an inch or so below my crotch. They weren't the longest pair in my drawer either but those I reserved for church. They were tight enough that I didn't need a belt to keep them on but still loose enough as to not present an obvious "camel toe". On a slutty scale of 1-10 where one is suitable for church and ten gets me tossed out of public places, I'd rate them maybe a three or four at most.

"You're not what I expected for a tutor," she said suddenly about half-way through the lesson in a sullen tone.

I sat back in my chair and smiled at her, trying to avoid being confrontational. "Oh, and just what WERE you expecting?"

"Don't know," she shrugged indifferently, "Some old maid or whatever. You seem cool. So you're married?"

I flashed my ring at her and she whistled softly.

"Wow, that's really awesome!"

Personally I agreed wholeheartedly with her. I smiled as I remembered every detail of that wonderful day when Steve gave it to me and proposed to me. Since then I've barely ever taken it off.

"Yeah, I've got a wonderful husband," I told her.

"I think my parents are getting a divorce," she said with a frown.

Now this was clearly not part of the lesson plan but it was our first day so I figured it might not hurt to get to know her better.

"Oh? Why do you say that?" I asked gently, "Have they said anything to you about it?"

She shook her head. "Noooooo, but I hear them argue a lot and last night mom said something about a lawyer when they thought I was in my room."

When I'd met them a couple of weeks earlier I hadn't noted anything that would've led me to think there were any serious marital problems and I'm usually pretty good at picking up on vibes like that. After all, that the sort of thing that usually means there's an opportunity for me! I mentioned something about that to her but she just shook her head more.

"Yeah... They put on a good show, don't they? Mr. and Mrs. America"

"Do you think either one of them is cheating?" I asked. OK, so maybe that wasn't an appropriate question to be asking a girl her age about her own parents but she had me curious.

"Noooooo, dad likes to flirt - as I'm sure you already know, but he's too scared of my mom to do anything."

For what little was left of the hour I tried to assure Bambi that even if her parents DID divorce it wasn't the end of the world and how my parents were divorced but I still got along great with them both. Of course I never mentioned that I also had sex with them both as well!

By the time that the lesson had ended I felt like Bambi and I had made a deeper connection which I figured should make future lessons easier with less distractions. I also find that the more I know about my students, the better job I can do when it comes to teaching them.

3. Teasing Bambi's Dad

For better or worse Bambi's not the first high school slut I've tutored and likely not the last. So far as I was concerned she really wasn't anything all that special or noteworthy - there are at least a few of her type on every cheerleading squad. Being I am a professional tutor it wasn't like we were ever going to play around together or do anything stupid. No... it wasn't Bambi that had my attention after the lesson - it was her father.

Rod (short for Roderick but I like to think about his "rod") is a PE instructor and so was off for the summer. His wife works full time as some sort of administrative assistant so he's always home alone during the day when I come over for Bambi's lessons.

Actually the only time I'd even met Bambi's mom was when I interviewed. Jackie was very professional, a little aloof almost. The one thing I could say about her was that it was easy to see where her daughter got her looks! I had to wonder what it was that was causing the strife in their marriage. Then again, married people argue so maybe Bambi was just blowing things out of proportion.

I also knew from my interview that Rod serves as a wrestling coach with a history of wrestling in college and still maintains an incredible physique. He's a bit shorter than me and stocky but it's all 100% muscle and it was clear from the moment I showed up for Bambi's first lesson that he loves to show it off. He answered the door wearing a muscle shirt and gym shorts which left little to the imagination. Mmmmmmm, there weren't any underwear under those shorts either from the way things were pushing to escape.

Like so many of the fathers of the kids I tutor, Rod started hitting on me from the very first day. What was different with Rod was that unlike most fathers who try to make sure nobody else sees anything, Rod made his moves right in front of his daughter. As I already mentioned, during our first lesson she confided that her dad liked to pretend to be a lady killer but that he never actually did anything so I should just go ignore him.

"Yeah, she's a real daddy's girl," he sighed as he watched her in the pool. "She has me wrapped tight around her finger, I'm not afraid to admit it."

Rod looked me in the eyes then and shook his finger at me adding, "Now don't go off with any weird ideas... she's my daughter and I'm not a perv but that doesn't mean I can't appreciate her."

I replied cautiously, commenting that I thought her suit may be a bit revealing but it was still tasteful - which was relative term I guess. Tasteful as compared to wearing one of my sluttier bikinis but I doubted she would be wearing it to the local public pool any time soon, at least not for long!

"She conned me into letting her buy it. Her mother hasn't seen it, thank God. She'd probably have a stroke, especially if she knew she wore it when her boyfriends are here."

I was about to snicker at the "conned" remark as I had no doubt that all Bambi had to do was pout a little and drop those big brown eyes and daddy would buy her anything.

"So I take it she's not at a loss for boyfriends," I commented.

Ron grimaced as he answered, "Oh yeah, she draws them like a magnet. God only knows what would go on if I wasn't home to keep an eye on things."

"So she doesn't go on dates yet?"

Ron chuckled and shook his head, "Oh she started those after she turned fourteen." He paused and sighed, "Don't take this the wrong way but as a man there are times I'm a bit jealous of them. I never got to date a girl anything like Bambi when I was in high school. They were all out of my league!"

We sipped our drinks as Bambi emerged from the pool dripping wet. She stood right in front of us, drying herself off with a large beach towel. It was quite a show. For a girl her age she certainly already knew the moves like when she would dry off her legs and feet without bending her knees such that her ass poked out right at us. It probably took at least two or three times longer for her to finish that was needed but her dad wasn't complaining or hurrying her along. When she was finally done she gave her dad a peck on the cheek and headed inside, that tight little bare ass wiggling the whole way. Oh yeah, she had it and she knew it!

After the show I figured what the heck, why not take a shot in the dark so I turned to her father and asked a leading question.

"I assume she's 'active' so has her mom talked to her about protection?"

"So what's with the slut outfit then?" she asked, going back to the original question.

"Well Bambi, teasing doesn't stop when you graduate from high school. It still works. You DO realize that I don't do this for free, right? Anything extra helps as well."

"So you're just doing it to get a big tip?" she said, grinning now.

"Whatever works?" I answered, going along with where she was heading. Hey, if that's what she wanted to believe then I wasn't going to ruin it.

"Cool!" she giggled, "I have friends who waitress that do the same thing."

Just then Rod walked in and greeted us. Bambi gave her dad a big hug and a quick kiss in the cheek before we all headed out to the pool.

Once there we essentially followed the same routine as last time except this time I also undressed down to my bikini. Rod whistled and Bambi seemed a little irked at my thong seeing that it was skimpier than hers. Still, after our recent conversation I wasn't sure if it was because her dad was looking at another woman or he wasn't paying attention to her.

Probably a bit of both.

This time around Bambi only swam for a few minutes, just enough to cool off, and then got out. Before she even had a chance to do her towel-drying exhibition her iPhone rang which took priority over everything. After she was finished she told us that she was getting dressed to go out with friends. She didn't even ask her dad, just told him but he didn't seem to mind. Once again we both got a nice view of her butt as she wiggled out of sight.

Alone again with Rod, this time as I laid back in the lounge chair next to him I was showing off a lot more skin. Not surprisingly, it wasn't long before his wandering hand once again was on my leg. This time the preliminaries were dispensed with and he immediately grabbed a handful of my soft inner thigh. I glanced over at his crotch and sure enough, the circus must've been in town as the tent pole was rising fast!

We both pretended as if nothing was happening while we chatted about Bambi's lessons and teaching in general. We both bemoaned the state of education in the United States and the hardships teachers face in these days. All the while Rod's hand was slowly worked its way up my thigh until his thumb was right up next to my pussy but not quite there. Just as I thought he was about to make the final move I twisted onto my side to face him, effectively causing his hand to slip off my leg.

"Did you know that Bambi's worried about your marriage?" I asked him. Clearly he was thinking more about where his hand was - or wasn't at the moment so I had to repeat myself to get his attention.

"Kids... you can't hide anything from them, can you?" he sighed, shifting to his side now to face me.

"So what's the story with you and Jackie?" I probed.

From the frown on his face I got the impression that this wasn't what he had in mind when we laid next to each other but he seemed to sense that I wasn't going to let it go so he went along with it.

"You remember what I said about the virgin shit and the blowjobs?"

I nodded.

"Well, the virgin part was true but I may have exaggerated about the BJs."

"Oh" I responded, "How much?"

The look on Rod's face was priceless as he took a deep breath. "Let's just say all of it... she's never sucked my dick - or anyone else's for that matter, at least so far as I know and I'm pretty sure about it."

"Well, you can't divorce her because she doesn't give head," I countered.

Rod groaned and he reached down to arrange the bulge in his shorts that must have been getting uncomfortable. Frankly I don't know how guys deal with that thing between their legs to start with!

"I gave up on that dream a long time ago but I still expect a LITTLE excitement in bed."

"Like what do you mean?" I asked. This was getting interesting...

"Would you believe the only position we've ever done it in is missionary?" he answered, "Lights off, in the dark, only in the bedroom."

I whistled softly. Yeah, I could see where that might be a problem in a marriage. Still, it was one thing to whine about it, another to DO something about it and I had the impression so far that Rod was just a whiner.

Shifting the subject, I laid on my back again with my knees up and spread apart, giving him a good view of my crotch.

"I also hear you enjoy Bambi's friends being around," I teased him.

"Oh, what did she tell you?" he asked quickly. I wasn't sure if he was worried or hopeful.

"Just that you tend to be like THAT when her friends are around," I said, nodding towards the blatant erection under his shorts.

"So what do you do with THIS when they're around?" I asked naughtily as I reached out and gently slapped his erection with my forefinger. I brought my hand back to my side and tried my best not to laugh at his expression - priceless!

"Well, what would YOUR husband do in my situation?"

That was easy - he'd fuck them! But I wasn't about to tell Rod that so instead I just answered, "Jerk off."

Rod seemed a little surprised at my direct answer but he hung in there and said, "Well, there you have it."

"So what does Jackie say when you do THAT?"

The look on Rod's face was so funny as he answered with, "She thinks masturbation is dirty and that I'm somehow cheating on her when I do it so I never let her know about it."

"Wow, that's too bad," I commiserated with him. Then I leaned over so my boobs showed more and said seductively, "You know Ron... I LOVE to masturbate."

Ron's eyes widened and I could tell he was already thinking in his head, "Dear Penthouse..."

At that point I figured things had gone far enough for now. If Rod had been ready for more we wouldn't have gone on this long with just the talk and gotten down to action. Oh I had no doubt that had I reached over he would have let me blow him and probably even sit on his dick but I sort of enjoyed where I had him right now - horny and wanting me. Just not yet...

Standing up, I reached for my shorts and pulled them on. Rod looked at me like he didn't understand what was going on.

"I need to get to my next session," I lied, "Besides, I think you need to take care of something."

I nodded to his erection again and smiled as a small wet spot had appeared. God he must have been super horny!

As I started to walk away, Rod called out to me.

"Kelly, do you remember what I said about cockteasers?"

I just smiled at him and replied, "Maybe next time."

He could take that for anything he wanted - which was my exact intent when I said it. Without another word I turned away to leave him to his own devices. I would have loved to stay and watch him jerk off but I was so damn horny myself I couldn't wait to get home to do it myself!

That night I practically jumped Steve when he came in the door. Little did he know I'd spent the last couple of hours in bed playing with myself as I fantasized about Rod fucking Bambi with my help! Oh well, my husband certainly wasn't worried my motivation as I ground my ass into his crotch while his dick was buried inside of me!

5. Taking the Next Step With Bambi's Dad

It was a week before I had another lesson with Bambi. This time I decided to dress a little more conservatively, packing my bikini in my purse and wearing a pair of white shorts with a semi-sheer black blouse that only hinted at the black bra underneath. I even put on a pair of heels instead of flips flops or sneakers to be a little more formal.

Bambi immediately was curious.

"Being more professional this week?" she asked.

As for Bambi, she certainly wasn't doing anything different. The shorts were a different style but generally had the same coverage. Instead of just a bikini top this time she had on a cut-off t-shirt that hung down just enough to cover her boobs. From the way her nipples were poking through she wasn't wearing a bra and I had to wonder if she even owned one. Not that I had many when I was a teenager.

I just shrugged and ignored the comment, getting down to the business at hand without much small talk. Bambi seemed to get the message, even if she wasn't sure what it was. Still, her attention span was simply too short for her cooperation to last very long.

"So did my dad screw you last week?" she suddenly blurted out as if she'd been holding it back and just couldn't contain herself any longer.

I tried my best to look shocked as if the very idea was inconceivable.

"Why in the world would you think THAT Bambi?" I replied, "I AM married you know... and so is your dad."

"Well I saw the way you were dressed last week and the way he looked at you," she said accusingly, "And when I got him he was jerking off in the bathroom."

Interesting...

"How did you know he was jerking off?"

Once again Bambi had that look of "what an idiot".

"The only time my dad locks the door to the bathroom is when he does it," she said, "Besides, he always has that look on his face afterwards. He thinks I don't notice but I do."

So many ways to run with this one...

"So what do you think about your dad doing that?" I decided to go with.

"It's gross," she snorted, "It's bad enough he gets a hard-on."

"Everyone masturbates Bambi. I mean, you do, don't you?" I asked, seeing how far I could push this.

Bambi looked at me suspiciously. "Do you?"

"Of course, like I said, everyone does," I said matter-of-factly.

"Well that's wrong... my mom doesn't," she countered, "She caught me once and told me I was a whore for doing something so dirty."

"Well, that's just silly. I bet all your friends do. Me and my friends use to do it during sleepovers and such."

"Really?" Bambi said wide-eyed, "That's awesome! I've never done it with anyone before."

Oh my god, if she only knew the thoughts that were going through my mind right then! Damn my rule against doing anything with a student!! My pussy was throbbing as I imagined the two of us in her bed...

"Kelly... you OK?" Bambi said, giving me a nudge. I guess I must have been dreaming a little more than I thought!

"Have you ever let your boyfriends watch?" I said, trying to get those thoughts out of my mind.

"Noooooo, you're kidding, right?" she said as if it were the craziest thing she'd ever heard.

It was time to establish one thing before we said anything more so I just came out and asked.

"Well, do you guys have sex?"

She hesitated and then nodded.

"Do you like to suck his dick?"

This time she didn't hesitate before she nodded, a slight grin on her face now.

"Does he cum in you? I mean without anything on him."

She bit her lip this time but answered, "Sometimes... I know I shouldn't let him but sometimes I just forget to have him put it on."

Oh boy, pregnant at fourteen here we come! This girl needed some serious talking. Oh well, it wasn't my problem but still, I felt I had to say something.

"You know it just takes one time..."

"One time for what?" her father said as he entered the room. I prayed he hadn't been listening to the previous part of our conversation.

"Hi daddy," Bambi greeted him, her face reddening.

"Lesson over?" he asked me, thankfully not pursuing an answer to his original question.

I nodded and he smiled saying, "Great! So did you bring your bikini with?"

I reached in my bag and pulled it out. It easily fit in one hand.

"Doesn't seem like much is there," he observed with a grin.

"Oh, it's enough," I answered.

I asked Bambi if there was someplace I could change and she took me to her bedroom. I expected her to leave me but she closed the door and started to take off her shorts. Surprisingly she wasn't wearing her thong this time - in fact she wasn't wearing anything.

I undressed without a word, trying to act casual as I stood there nude in front of my hot sexy student who was also naked now as she went to her dresser to find something to wear. Again I cursed my rule against getting involved with a student! Sure I'd seen her 99% naked before but there was just something different about seeing her totally naked that really turned me on.

Thankfully nothing happened as we both got dressed in out bikinis. This time I'd brought a suit that was similar to what my dad had always called "Kelly's Slut Bikini". It was a bathing suit in name only as you could never wear it in public. If anything it looked like it would be more at home at a joint with a pole, not a pool.

"Wow, that' really hot," Bambi said, her first words since we started dressing, "I wish I had one like that."

I grinned saying, "Just ask your dad to buy one for you. That's what I did when I was your age."

"Really?" she answered and it was like I could see the gears spinning in her pretty head, "Cool."

With that seed planted we headed down to the pool where Rod's eyes opened wide at the sight of us. He was checking us both out which I knew Bambi had to be aware of just as I was.

"Daddy, Kelly said you would buy me a suit like hers if I asked," Bambi said to the surprise of both me and her father. Like I had intended for her to ask him eventually but not in front of me!

Rod looked at me and I could tell he was trying to figure out how to respond but then, what choice did he have?

"Anything for you baby."

"Oh daddy, thank you!" she giggled as she reached up to hug him. I couldn't help but notice his hands were briefly on her bare bottom as they hugged - not for long but long enough - too long for it to be just an accident.

Just then her ever-present iPhone rang. Her eyes lit up as she hung up and turned to us.

"Sorry, that was Kyle, he wants me to come over for a while, is that OK daddy?"

Rod seemed a little disappointed but he nodded, then adding, "So long as you put some decent clothes on first!"

"Oh daddy!" his sexy daughter sighed as she ran off to her bedroom.

"Kyle?" I asked him.

"The flavor of the day," her dad sighed, "Last week it was Robby and the week before Gary - or was it David? Who knows who it will be next week or even tomorrow."

"You know you really need to speak with her," I said carefully.

"Oh, something I should know?"

I hesitated, unsure if I should be telling him what she had confided in me but then it was important and SOMEBODY needed to deal with it if her mother wasn't.

"She's having unprotected sex," I said slowly so I wouldn't have to repeat myself, "She's been lucky so far but..."

The light bulb went off over Rod's head. "Ahhhhhh, so that was what the 'it only takes one time' was all about."

"You need to get her on the pill," I encouraged him, "Sooner than later."

"But she's only fourteen!" he protested, "And besides, her mom is the one who deals with 'woman' things. I think so far as Bambi in concerned she doesn't think I even know she has periods!"

"Sure she's only fourteen but she's having sex with God only knows how many guys so if you don't deal with it - and fast, you're going to have a bigger problem on your hands as in the size of her belly."

Rod just shook his head and then went to our usual chairs by the pool and laid back. I noticed his erection was in full mode. Evidently talking about his daughter having sex was turning him on, even if it was about keeping from getting pregnant!

"So what did YOUR parents do when you were her age?" he asked as I took a seat next to him.

"My mom got me on the pill," I explained, "Really, it's the only way if your daughter is going to be sexually active."

"Sexually active...," his voice trailed off as if he was trying to wrap his head around the topic.

"Turns you on, doesn't it?" I teased him, reaching over and tapping his erection that was trying to burst through his shorts.

"I suppose you think I'm some sort of perv, thinking about my own daughter that way," he said, his face turning a little red.

As much as I would have loved to explain to him about my incestuous relationship with my father, it simply wasn't something I told people, not even most of my friends. No doubt it would have had an impact on him and who knows where that might have led but it was just too risky.

"Noooooo, actually I think it's pretty hot," I said with s naughty grin, "So tell me more..."

"You mean about how I think about Bambi?" he said uncertainly.

I just nodded at first, licking my lips seductively. Then I reached up and cupped my breast in my hand and squeezed saying, "It really DOES turn me on Rod... tell me more... make me horny."

As if I wasn't already! Fortunately, unlike him I wasn't making a public declaration of my sexual desires. It's great to be a girl!

"I really don't know how to say this," he said softly, "Not even sure I SHOULD say anything. I've never told anyone about any of this."

I kept my hand planted on my boob as he slowly began to tell me about how he'd first started masturbating about his daughter when she was just twelve and starting to sprout boobs and growing a figure. At first he seemed hesitant, as if he want sure I was serious about wanting to hear all this - or if he should even be telling me about it in the first place. As he told me about how he began taking her panties from the laundry and sniffing them to smell her pussy odor I lifted up my top so he could see my boobs in hopes of encouraging him to go on.

It worked...

"Mmmmmmm, so tell me how you imagine fucking your daughter Rod," I said, inserting a finger into my wet pussy while at the same time making sure he was getting a good view.

God this was so erotic! I love to be watched masturbating and to have this father telling me all his naughty thoughts about his daughter while her jerked off in front of me was so hot. My clit was so swollen and sensitive I thought I was going to jump off the chair as I rubbed it.

As Rod told me about his fantasy it was pretty much straight from a porn flick. A dark and stormy night, Bambi was scared and slipped in bed with him wearing nothing but a nightshirt. Of course they eventually had sex. As he went on I would occasionally break in to have him add more detail or to express himself better which seemed to turn him on all the more until he had his shorts off and I FINALLY got to see that massive erection.

Most guys seem to be embarrassed when they masturbate and over time I've found very few who will let me watch outside my dad and husband. In this case I think Rod was so worked up and horny that he just didn't care - which made it all the better for me. Seeing his hand jerking his hard dick, working it as only he could do, was fascinating. Actually, when I was younger I learned a lot about how to please a man by watching my dad pleasing himself.

My first orgasm hit me right in the middle of him telling me how he dreamed it would feel to cum in his daughter's pussy. God it felt so good! Normally I close my eyes when I cum so I can focus better on how I feel but in this case I kept my eyes on Rod's dick where his hand seemed to be stroking faster with each passing minute.

Then it was his turn as suddenly he groaned loudly and sperm began to spout from the end of his dick like a fountain. The first couple of shots made it all the up to his chest with the rest pooling on his stomach and pubic hair. Om my god, I wanted so bad to reach over and lick up every drop.

It was enough to drive me to my second orgasm although perhaps technically it was an extension of my first but what difference does it make, it's not like I was keeping score. This time I did close my eyes, imagining Bambi's pussy dripping with her father's cum as she sat on my face and let me lick her clean.

"Fuck, I can't believe this!"

What is it about men, especially older ones, that once they cum it's like someone turns off the horny switch? How many times have I been with an older guy and it's all hot and erotic until he cums and then it's like show's over. Well, it's not over for ME! Sometimes I have to masturbate right after he fucks me just to satisfy my own needs while he drifts off to Never Land.

Such was the case with Rod who seemed to have suddenly realized what he'd been doing for the past hour or so. He didn't say anything more but it was like Adam and Eve eating the apple and realizing they were naked. Rod reached for his shorts and pulled them up without even cleaning off his cum first as if he was embarrassed for me to see him after having just masturbated for me.

"Mmmmmmm, PLEASE don't hide that wonderful dick Rod... I loved watching you do that," I tried to encourage him.

After his initial qualms he seemed to be settling down as I laid there still naked in front of him.

"You're not going to say anything to her about this, are you?" he almost pleaded with me.

Who did I think I was? Of course I would never tell his daughter about her father's fantasies. What I didn't tell him was that I had a good idea that she already knew about them.

Sitting up, I felt a little lightheaded at first but then everything straightened out. I gathered up my bikini and reached over to kiss him on the forehead.

"I think it's time for me to leave," I whispered to him.

No doubt had I stayed longer and given his dick some tender loving care he would have recovered quickly and fucked me but I thought we'd accomplished enough for one day. All in all it had been quite an informative day, that was for sure.

Later that night Steve again was the lucky recipient of my pent up lust. Again I didn't tell him about the day's events as what would be the point? I didn't have sex with Rod so in the big scheme of things it really didn't matter what we did. As I laid in Steve's arms afterwards, my pussy was throbbing from the incredible fucking he'd given me but my thoughts were on a different dick and I wondered if Rod was masturbating with his daughter's underwear at that very moment...

6. Bambi's Father Finally Fucks Me

The next time I came to their house for another tutoring session I wasn't really sure what to expect. A lot had been said - and done, the last time and I knew from past experience that such things can be good or bad depending on how people handled them afterwards. Was Bambi overly embarrassed by our sex talk? Would Rod be shy now after having confessed his incestual feelings for his daughter, not to mention openly masturbating in front of me?

My fears at first seemed to be unfounded as everyone acted as if nothing had happened the last time. Bambi was in her usual summer outfit - did she having anything but shorts in her dresser? Rod was also in uniform although the shorts this time were a darker shade of grey. It was obvious he was still shunning underwear so nothing had changed in that department.

This time Bambi actually made it through the entire hour without going off on some tangent about her sex life or parents' impending divorce. In fact, we didn't discuss anything outside the lesson. I hadn't really realized until she clammed up how much I'd been looking forward to an update but my professional ethics bound me from being the one to instigate such discussion.

As the end of the hour approached and I came to realize that nothing was going to happen, it was MY turn to be distracted. Was she having sex with her boyfriend? Was he the same one or had she moved on to someone else? What about birth control? Had her father bought her the sexy bikini she'd asked for last time?

Other than saying hello, and a rather curt one at that, Rod had stayed away from us during her lesson. Of course that is how it SHOULD be but that didn't lessen my disappointment. Had he freaked about telling me some of his darkest secrets? Was he afraid to look me in the eye now after letting me watch him jerk off? Maybe he was worried about what I might tell his daughter?

The lesson ended and I was packing up my material, wondering if maybe I'd pushed things too far the week before and possibly ruined a good thing, or at least what might turn out to be a good thing. Bambi had run off as soon as I'd released her so it was just me in the kitchen all alone when finally Rod made an appearance.

"All done for the day?"

I nodded and so he asked, "Have an appointment to get to?"

This time I shook my head. Silence...

"I have to run Bambi over to a friend's house for a birthday party. Will you still be here when I get back?"

Now THAT was an interesting way to put it. Like, I was ready to go NOW so why would I still be here when he got back unless I made a deliberate effort to stick around? It was obviously an invitation but one veiled such that if I chose not to accept it then it looked like it was all my decision.

"I guess that depends," I said after a pause, "Why would I WANT to be here?"

Rod looked back to be sure his daughter was still occupied before he answered, "I think we both know why."

That wasn't good enough for me. Moving closer to him, I stood up next to him and looked up into his face.

"You're going to have to be a lot more specific than THAT!" I said, "A LOT more."

Rod seemed nervous, again checking over shoulder to be sure his daughter wasn't listening.

"You're just going to have to deal with that," he said more adamantly this time.

I picked up my bag and purse and started heading for the front door.

"Hey, where are you going?" be called out after me.

I paused and turned to answer, "No more games. Either you're up front with me or I walk... and I won't be back."

It was a bluff but then that's why they call it a bluff. The job paid well, especially considering the tips I'd been getting lately, and I enjoyed teaching Bambi, especially when she needed some extra credit. The question was, would he call it?

"Alright, come back here then," he caved.

I stepped over until I was right in front of him, looking at him expectantly and waiting for his next move.

Yet again he looked back and yet again the coast was clear.

"Alright, have it your way then... I want to do it."

"Oh? Do what?" I asked as if I had no idea what he was talking about.

"You're not going to make this easy, are you?" he said rather accusingly.

I just smiled sweetly at him until he finally said, "OK, I want to have sex with you."

"I'll be waiting," was all I said in response.

Just then Bambi was back and the two of them left without another word to me, leaving me alone in the house. Whether or not Bambi was curious about why I was still in the house, who knew? Did it really matter anyway?

It felt a little odd to be alone in the big quiet home. I figured I had at least twenty minutes before he could get back under the best of circumstances so there was no rush.

Out of curiosity I went to his bedroom and started to snoop through his wife's lingerie drawer. Damn, he was right about her being uninterested in sex. There wasn't a sexy or revealing thing in the entire dresser! No toys either, not even in the nightstand. Looking through the closet all of her outfits were "business professional". Even her dresses looked like they were way too conservative for anyone under the age of 80!

To be honest, at this point I really wasn't interested in a lot more flirting and gamesmanship. I was horny and wanted to be fucked - period. The only questions were where and how could I speed up the process?

Usually when I have sex with a married man my preference is to do it on their bed, preferably with me laying in the same space on the bed as his wife normally did. Sometimes I would wear some of her lingerie even, anything so long as it enhanced top mood. In this case I really wasn't looking at Rod through the eyes of adultery but more about his fantasies about his daughter. Well, that made the final decision pretty easy...

The last time I was in Bambi's room was when we changed into out bikinis so I was already familiar with the general layout. Glancing at my watch, Rod could be getting back any time now depending on the traffic so I needed to get myself moving if I was going to be ready when he returned.

My plan was simple yet elegant - strip naked, lay on Bambi's bed in some obscene pose and let him take me. Preparation was easy - I just stripped down and left my clothes on the top of the dresser, keeping on my heels. I forget what older Hollywood actress said it, but the quote was something like, "When I come home alone the first thing I take off are my heels. When I come home with a man, the last thing I take off are my heels."

I debated as to whether to lay on top of the covers or pull the covers down and lay on the sheets. If this had been a hotel room the decision was a no-brainer as lord only knew what had been done on the comforter and it probably hadn't been washed in years. In this case I wasn't worried about the covers and while I was doing this to turn on her dad, I didn't think it was all that wise to rub it in his daughter's face which is what literally we'd be doing if we messed up her sheets.

Laying back on her bed naked I wondered how many boys had fucked Bambi in this very bed or if she only did them away from home. If nothing else I would have bet my year's paycheck that she had laid in this very same spot and masturbated lately. I started to play with myself when I heard the door opening to the garage - Rod was home (or at least he better be).

Now that I knew he was back I got more serious with my masturbating, trying to get myself worked up well before he showed up so we could get straight to it - as if I needed all that much more encouragement. My pussy was already soaked an I had to believe the odor would be unmistakable when he entered the room.

"Holy shit!" I heard and for the briefest of moments I had this nightmarish vision that it wasn't Rod but instead Jackie had come home early. God, how would I ever explain myself? Amazing how many thoughts can through you mind in the space of a second or two.

Then he entered the room and all was OK.

"Looks like somebody got started without me?" he chuckled, unbuttoning his shirt.

"Don't worry, there's plenty left for you," I teased back.

Rod was pulling off his shorts when it was like he finally recognized what room we were in.

"Really Kelly, you want to do this in her room?" he asked although I got the idea he wasn't all that concerned.

As he made his way to the edge of the bed I grinned and answered with, "Don't call me Kelly... I want you to call me Bambi."

"Oh you've got to be kidding," he chuckled but at the same time he didn't protest, "OK Bambi, so you want your daddy top fuck you now?"

Well, he picked up on the concept quickly, I had to give him credit for that.

"Oh daddy... I've been wanting you for so long now... please do me."

I wasn't sure if Bambi was into dirty talk or not so I sort of ran the middle ground until Rod took the lead.

"You little fucking slut, your daddy's gonna show you how a real man fucks you."

Well, THAT certainly showed me!

that way about their daughters so I took a shot and hoped for the best. Turns out Rod had those feelings as well - in spades.

"Cum in me daddy... I want your baby daddy!" I begged him.

"Oh yeah Bambi, here it comes, I'm going to cum in you..., Oh yeah baby, take it all! Oh fuck me I can't believe this!"

I felt him thrust extra hard and then hold himself deeply imbedded inside of me as he began to pump me full of his "incestuous" cum. Actually it was more like "adulterous" cum but that was MY fantasy, not his.

Over and over he unloaded inside of me and I was starting to wonder if he was ever going to quit! Finally he pulled out and rolled over on his back next to me, groaning and moaning. I could feel his cum running out of me and down to my ass where I knew it was probably forming a wet spot on Bambi's comforter. Oh well, hopefully by the time her party was over and she made it home it would be dry again. If it wasn't then so what, it wasn't like she didn't know what sperm was and smelled like.

Mmmmmmm, his spent dick looked so awesome in the natural light, wet and glistening with our juices. I HAD to suck it and so I got up and leaned over him, taking his sensitive dick in my mouth and tasting the unique flavor.

"God that feels so good," he sighed dramatically, "Don't stop."

For a moment I thought he might recover but it was soon obvious he was packing a single shot but that was OK with me. Mission accomplished so far as I was concerned.

All in all the sex itself wasn't all that great but to be honest, it wasn't the sex per se that I was after. I mean, if all I wanted was to get laid I have plenty of options available. Noooooo, I wanted the horny father with the hot daughter who was frustrated with both of the women in his life - one for not giving him the sex he deserved, the other for not knowing he even wanted sex.

"You know Kelly, I DID cheat on Jackie once before," he said as if he felt the need to confess his sins to me now. "It was early in our marriage but she caught me and swore she would take me to the cleaners if I ever did it again. I've never even touched another women since then... until now of course."

Big deal so far as I was concerned but if it made him feel better to get it off his chest then so be it. I was thinking of other things...

"So are you going to fuck Bambi next?" I asked. I knew the answer already but it never hurt to ask.

"Hell no!" he insisted, "THAT's never going to happen but it was great to do her through you."

Once I had his dick cleaned off I rose up to kiss him but he pulled away. I almost laughed but then it was just a natural male reaction. So few guys will kiss me after a BJ and even fewer after they cum in my mouth. It's sort of funny in that they expect me to eat it and love it but they won't even take a taste.

7. A Bridge Too Far

Another of my "rules" is that I do it once with a guy like Rod and then never again. Well, seeing as how I would be going to their house twice a week for another month it was going to be all but impossible to say no - and frankly I didn't WANT to. Thus it became our little routine where I would hang around after the lesson until Bambi left for whatever reason and then we'd fuck somewhere in the house. My only disappointment was we never did it while she was home but then you can't have everything.

What I really wanted was for Rod to take me out on a date or otherwise take me out on the town and fuck me someplace more public, even if it was just a motel room. So far he's been hung up about getting caught so it's only been at his house but her lessons won't last forever and then what? I knew the answer - it would all end, but that didn't mean we couldn't have as much fun as possible now.

Oh well, sometimes guys just can't go out of their comfort zone but at least I tried to talk him into it.

I'm sure Bambi knows something is going on but she has been rather discreet. She DID confide in me that her dad was planning to take her to the doctor for birth control pills.

Lastly, I still haven't told Steve about any of all this. I know we're suppose to tell each other everything we do, at least sexually, but I have been viewing this as my own little private affair which makes it all the hotter for me. Besides, it's not like Steve doesn't get enough of my pussy now as it is!

(Jul 29) Chapter 248: My Husband Visits His Mother-in-Law

Story codes: MF oral
Me (27)
Steve - my husband (29)
Mary - my mom (46)

It was really both of us visiting my mom but the star of the show was my husband. My mother had always wished she had a son and now it had been almost a year since she gained one through marriage and yet barely had any time with him. Then there was her best friend...

1. Mother-in-Laws

A marriage results in more than just the union of a man and a woman. Each person also gains a new set of parents sometimes known as "the in-laws". In some marriages that becomes a dirty word - the onerous mother-in-law is legendary. In others a close relationship develops. I would guess most fall somewhere between the two extremes.

In my husband and my marriage, the emphasis is more on our respective mothers than our fathers. Steve's father dumped his mother when he was a young teenager for a bimbo in the office and has never been a part of his life since then. When it comes to my dad, Steve accepts the fact that my father and I share a special bond which is often expressed through sex. I say "accepts" because he's not entirely sold on the concept of incest, at least not when it involves his wife and her father. Oh sure, he gets into incest porn as much as any other guy but when it gets too close to home then THAT is another story.

Other than that little issue he and my dad get along well but I wouldn't say they're especially close. They really don't share a lot in common that doesn't involve me other than a fanaticism for the Steelers. They both love me as much as any two men can and so whatever differences they may have are put aside for my sake and I love them dearly for that.

encouraged it once we started. After I started having sex with my dad, my mom and I also did it although not nearly so often as I did with my dad. My mom wanted Steve as a son for sex, plain and simple. Steve's mom, on the other hand, enjoys watching his son having sex with his wife but she and I have never even so much as swapped tongues while kissing.

Soon after my wedding mom went back to Oregon and since then she has visited a few times but the trips were always hectic and involved family and friends. As much as she had waited all her life for a son, now that she finally had one she hadn't really been able to truly enjoy him for almost a year now. Well, that was about to change.

One nice thing about them having an amicable divorce is that my parents still love and support the other. True, things were a little tense when my mom's sister moved in with my dad while her side of the bed had barely cooled. The fact that Aunt Linda had supported my father's perversions and since the divorce had arranged for various parties and get-togethers with young girls and their families didn't help. Still, my mom slowly came to accept the situation, especially since now that she wasn't his wife anymore and had little say over the matter.

Thus when I approached my dad and asked him for some financial help in arranging for a trip to Oregon of Steve and me before my school year started, he was more than willing to foot the bill. Of course I thanked him as only his daughter could afterwards, but then I would've given myself to him no matter what his answer had been. The great thing about my dad is he never puts me in a position where he disappoints me AND then expects to have sex with me. If that makes me a little spoiled, I admit it but I'm not ashamed to do so.

Just to show how great my dad is, I have to tell about what happened while we were having sex after he agreed to pay for our trip. We were lying in bed spooning with his dick still in me - still firm after having just cum inside of me. I had my eyes closed, focusing entirely on the feelings of lust and satisfaction that rippled through me post-orgasm. I was so happy at that moment, like my entire world was perfect. My father's hot nude body was pressed up tightly against me from behind, his strong arm and hand wrapped around my naked form, cupping my breast in his large hand as I felt him pressing his crotch into my butt to try and keep his dick in my pussy as long as possible.

"Oh daddy... you're the most wonderful father a girl could ever ask for," I sighed softly as my pussy tingled.

"And you're the perfect daughter," he responded in a soft deep voice, "God I love having you this way."

"I'll always be your little girl daddy."

"Yes you will baby... yes you will."

A squeeze of my boob and then he surprised me a little when he asked, "So your mom really wants to screw your husband, doesn't she?"

At first I wasn't sure how to answer so I hesitated and he quickly picked up on my concerns.

"Awwwwww, don't worry baby, I didn't mean anything by it. The old girl deserves it. You really have to give her credit for sticking to her principles all these years. I'm not sure I could've done it."

I bit my tongue before I said something to break the mood. He might not be sure but I certainly was. For my dad, staying faithful to my mom was relatively easy as he had several women in the family more than willing to have sex with him. There was his daughter (me), his sister-in-law (Aunt Linda) and her daughter (cousin Kristen), and finally his youngest niece (Tammy), the daughter of his younger brother. While he had four "legal" opportunities for sex besides my mom (legal in that incest is not adultery), my mom essentially had none - at least so far as my dad knew. His younger brother Jim was an asshole and my mom refused to have sex with him, though I did for a while so my dad could have Tammy.

What my dad didn't know was that my mom had been fucking his older brother Paul on and off for years but that was still a super-secret between us. Any way you look at it my mom didn't have near the opportunity my dad had during their marriage to have some variety in her sex life.

In the absence of any response from me, he continued saying, "So how do you feel about your husband having sex with your mother?"

That was an odd question. Like, Steve had to deal with his wife having sex with her father for over a year now so why would it be any different for me? I'd known for years that my mom couldn't wait to have sex with whatever man I married. By me marrying him that would mean she wouldn't be committing adultery by having sex with him although now that she was divorced it was a moot point.

"Well I think it's wonderful," I finally answered back.

"So are you gonna watch or leave them alone?"

Hmmmmmm, why was he so interested in all this? Was he maybe a little jealous of Steve? Face it, for over 25 years he had pretty much been the only man to have sex with her (so far as he knew anyways) so was the idea of some other man satisfying her sexually a threat? Of course he had to know she dated and had sex with other men since the divorce but I guess it's different when it's his son-in-law poking her.

"I don't know," I said slowly, trying to stall for time to dream up a better answer, "I guess that will be up to them."

"I bet you'd rather SHE watches you and him, like his mother does, wouldn't you my little exhibitionist slut."

He had me there. Well duh! Of course I'd ALWAYS rather be the one being watched rather than do the watching. It had been a little weird back when Steve's mom first started watching us yet insisting she not be involved but over the past year or so I'd come to look forward to putting on a show for her. If nothing else, Steve seemed to always put in an extra effort when his mom was watching!

"This trip is for him and mom, dad," I insisted, twisting around on the bed to face him. His cock had dwindled to where it was barely in me anyways. I reached down and held the poor thing in my hand. It would be at least an hour before he could recover these days but I still enjoyed holding him.

"It's ME you're talking to Kelly," he chuckled, "Not some sucker on a chat line. You can't fool me. I KNOW you too well."

Yes he did, that was for sure. He knew me in so many ways! Nothing brings a father and daughter closer together than sex. It's sort of difficult to keep anything secret from your father when your mounted on his dick like a corn dog waiting for him to release his cum in you.

"You miss her, don't you dad," I said gently, putting my leg between his so I could press my damp pussy against his thigh.

He didn't answer but I could tell from the sigh and downward look that I had hit the nail on the head. My heart went out to him. I'd always admired my parents for their loving marriage and when they were divorced it ripped my heart out because I knew no matter what their differences, they both loved each other more than ever.

"Let me help daddy, " I whispered, "Close your eyes and think of mom."

When his eyes closed I maneuvered on the bed so my head was above his dick and slowly began to suck on my father's cock. It was soft but that didn't matter. All that DID matter was I was giving my dad what he needed more than anything else at that moment - the memory of his beloved wife doing what he loved her to do more than anything else. It didn't hurt that it tasted like my pussy as well. Mmmmmmm!

When I finally returned home and broke the news to Steve, he was ecstatic. I didn't mention to him what I had done to thank my father for his generosity but then I figured he would assume it anyway knowing me. It was one of those idiosyncrasies about our marriage. Steve LOVED to watch me with other men except for one man - my father. It was the incest, not the man, but it still was something I had to accept early on. I'd always figured I would have both my dad and my husband after I got married and while I do, it's not the same as having them together at the same time. Oh well, you can't have it all.

Steve then took me to bed and we made love for over an hour before both of us passed out in each other's arms. Was it because he wanted to reclaim me from my father's loving embrace? Or was he just horny with the thought that soon he'd be fucking my mom? Mmmmmmm, did it matter?

2. Not Wasting Time

My mom was waiting for us when we arrived at the tiny airport near where she lived in the high country of Oregon. After departing from Pittsburgh's large facility, it was sort of quaint to walk off the ladder and straight into the airport to gather our luggage at the single carousel. No sooner had we walked in than I heard a familiar voice.

"Kelly!... Steve!"

Sure enough, it was my mother. Damn she looked hot and it wasn't just the 100 degree weather. Although I knew she was closer to fifty now than forty, I doubted any of the men eyeing her legs as she walked as swiftly towards us as her heels would allow would've pegged year anything higher than late thirties. The loose sundress with thin straps exposing her bra straps underneath didn't hurt either. Her tanned legs were what seemed to be drawing the most attention as the hem tended to ride up to mid-thigh or more as she strode quickly towards us.

Hugs and kiss for all as we greeted one another and then Steve gathered our luggage as my mom directed us out to the parking lot just outside the entrance. We approached what looked to be a new black Lexus and I saw the tail lights blink as she pressed the security fob that she had pulled from her purse.

"Wow, nice wheels Mary," Steve observed admiringly.

"Yes, it's nice to have a guilty ex when it comes time for your birthday present," she laughed lightly. Then a more serious look came over her as she put a finger in Steve's chest.

"And it's MOM when you address me, none of this Mary shit," she said forcefully.

Poor Steve wasn't sure how to take what she had just said and then my mom stepped back and laughed. "Oh you poor boy. I was just messing with you seriously, I'd love it if you called me mom."

"Sure MOM," Steve answered, heavy emphasis on the second word. We all had a laugh at that as Steve loaded our luggage into the trunk.

"Wanna drive my new baby?" my mom asked me, dangling the keys in front of me.

I just rolled my eyes and grabbed them. Compared to my little beast back home, this was luxury all the way and I wasn't going to pass up the chance. Then I saw her and Steve get in the back seat and I knew I'd been played.

"Wanna drive my new baby?" I said sarcastically over my shoulder as I started the car, trying to imitate her voice, "More like you wanna drive my husband."

"Who? Me?" she came back trying to act all innocent. Then I saw in the mirror as she turned to Steve and added, "You heard the girl, what are you waiting for?"

This was all going a little fast, even for Steve as he looked me in the eyes through the mirror as if asking for my permission. Yeah, like he ever needed my permission to have sex with another girl. Sometimes he did just to be polite but I was under no illusion that he would ever say no to someone just because he didn't have my permission at the time.

Steve's hesitation seemed to frustrate my mom. I think somehow she must have had the impression that Steve was pulling at the chain waiting to be let loose to do her and now that the first opportunity had arrived and he wasn't jumping her bones she was feeling a little let down.

"If you're going to be my son then you'd better learn to please your mother," she scolded him.

Now that I was in traffic it was harder to keep track on what was going on behind me so I had to listen for clues more than anything. It wasn't long before I heard a zipper being pulled down and rustling in the back seat, closely followed by a gasp from Steve.

"Oh Mary... I mean mom... that feels great," Steve gasped as my mom was apparently going down on his dick. She wasn't saying anything which wasn't surprising. It can be difficult to speak clearly with a hard dick filling your mouth.

I reached a red light - one of those few times in my life I was actually GLAD that the light was red. Sitting up high in my seat, I tried to check out what was going on behind me in the rear-view mirror. There was Steve laying back against the door with one leg up on the seat and the other down to the floor, or at least as best as he could with his jeans down to his ankles. Settled in between his legs was my mother with her sundress pulled up to her waist and her panties hanging on to one ankle. I couldn't see much of her but from the position of her arm and the movement she was making I was pretty confident she was fingering herself as she sucking on my husband's raging erection.

Well, she certainly wasn't wasting any time. True, we only planned to be here for a few days but at least she could have sat in the front seat with me and talked a little bit with her daughter before jumping my husband first thing! Not that I really blamed her - I would do the same in her shoes.

Traffic was heavy so I couldn't really pay a lot of attention to the doings behind me. The Lexus' windows were tinted enough in back that I doubted anybody driving by us had any idea what was going on. Even had they been clear, with her head so low in his lap it would have been difficult even for a trucker to see inside to catch the events unfolding.

"So Steve, what do you think of your mother's welcome?" I teased him over my shoulder.

"Ohhhhhh Gawddddd!" was all he could answer as my mom slurped away on his stiff dick.

We were nearing her apartment complex so the question now was would she finish him before we got there or would they have to go inside to complete the deed? If I knew my mom, she would want to prove her skills by bringing him off under the deadline. As horny as Steve was during the trip I didn't see that as being all that difficult a challenge. Sure enough, while still a block away Steve climaxed.

"I'm cumming Mom!" he exclaimed in a soft tone. I would have loved to have stopped the car and turned around to watch but I was in a line of cars on a winding two lane road with no chance of stopping safely so all I could do was listen.

"That's it my son... fill my mouth with cum... give it to you momma."

"Oh yeah.... OH YEAH!" Steve cried out as he ejaculated into his mother-in-law's waiting mouth.

I was just pulling into a parking space and quickly put it in park and twisted around in my seatbelt to watch. Steve had already cum and my mom was licking tip of his dick to draw whatever few drops remained. She took the head in her mouth and her cheeks pulled in as she suck on it hard, followed by her tongue running all around the base of the head to clean off whatever cum she had let drip from her mouth.

Finished, she raised up in the seat and gave a cum-covered smile to both of us. "Now THAT'S how to please your mother Steve... and don't forget it!"

I wondered if either of them was thinking what I was at that moment regarding Steve's REAL mother and how he should please her when we returned…

3. Dinner with Friends

We only had a few days as Steve needed to get back to work being he was taking unpaid leave for the trip. As such we didn't do much sightseeing but instead spent most of the time in my mom's apartment having sex in one combination or another. Of course the focus was on Steve and my mom but while Steve may be a healthy young man he's not a robot so when he needed to recover my mom and I would get together to reminisce and have some fun together. Steve slept with our mom but he still found time so I wouldn't feel TOO left out. I mean technically we all slept together in her king size bed but in reality the two of them snuggled together and had sex while I was usually somewhat the third wheel on the bicycle.

One thing my mom wanted to do was to have Steve meet her best friend Tammy. Tammy was to my mom what my best friend Beth was to me - girlfriend, confidante, and occasional lover. Well, the occasional lover part is a bit of an exaggeration. Expect for a few visits to our house she and my mom never had sex together or anything like that. Tammy was always the more conservative of the two even back in their high school days. My mom was the class slut while Tammy was little Miss Perfect. Most people probably wondered why they were even friends but I think it was their differences that brought them close.

Tammy and I had also had a few "experiences" during some of her visits and I even introduced her to incest - at least with regards to me and my dad. Tammy had two sons herself, both now married and living away from home in Seattle and Portland. She never even once made any connection to them even after she learned about me and my parents. I've always maintained that incest was not for everyone and it certainly wasn't for Tammy.

Tammy had married soon after high school to her high school sweetheart. After he graduated from college he took a job in Oregon and they had lived there ever since. She was well known as the traditional soccer mom, especially given two active boys. She and her husband had a great marriage, served in church together and were very much in love. Yes, she did have sex with my dad a couple of times but so far as I knew, those were the only times that she had sex with anyone but her husband. A Classic "What happens in Pittsburgh stays in Pittsburgh" to borrow a phrase. It was obvious even in Pittsburgh that she felt guilty about cheating on her husband (although that didn't seem to stop her from letting my dad fuck her) so I can only imagine how she felt when she returned back home and was in bed with her loyal husband.

My mom wanted to show off her new "son" to her best friend so she and Tammy arranged a dinner for the three of us to stop by while her husband cooked out on the grill for us. I had been to Tammy's previous house before during previous trips, even staying the night once when my mom was still looking for a place of her own, but this was my first time at their new place.

"Wow, nice place," Steve said admiringly as we got the tour from Tammy. Indeed, it was and more. They had just moved in a few months ago and it even smelled of new paint in some rooms. What caught my eye was the pool out back - it was HUGE! It even had a separate hot tub set in a large deck. Everything overlooked a small canyon behind them making for as much privacy as you could ask for in a developed neighborhood.

"Don't even THINK about it," my mother whispered to me as I admired the pool. "Tom is strictly off limits and you know it so get your horny mind out of the gutter."

What is it about mothers that they seem to be able to read your mind no matter how old you are?

Indeed, my mom had insisted that everything stay on the up and up during dinner, even to the point of making me wear one of my more conservative outfits, including bra and panties. She wasn't taking any chances that Tammy's husband might suspect anything at all about the trips that Tammy took occasionally to visit her best friend out east. Of course that just made him all the more desirable to me but I would never do anything directly against my mom's wishes so I went along with everything.

The guys took care of burning dinner on the grill while the three of us did the lady chores in the kitchen. They were probably debating the merits of the Steelers versus whoever Tom rooted for while indoors the discussion was little more personal...

"You'll never guess what mom did on the way home from the airport!" I gushed to Tammy as soon as the guys were out of earshot.

"Ready to back that up with a bet?" she teased me in response. I knew better! Then she looked at Mary with an odd sort of expression that I wasn't quite sure how to interpret.

"So you're doing it then with him, eh Mary?"

"Now Tammy, do you really need to ask?" my mom responded teasingly.

"You know Mary, I still can't quite get my arms around all that stuff you guys do," Tammy said softly shaking her head slowly as she tossed a salad.

"It's more a matter of getting your hands around it than your arms," I interrupted but from the looks I got from both of them I left the rest of the discussion to them.

"As I was saying," Tammy continued, "Like he IS quite the stud - score one for Kelly, but is it really right for the two of you to do... that?"

"Well, it's not like he is my actual SON," my mom emphasized, "We're not talking about you doing your boys after all. It's not even legally incest. If anything, it's adultery and when it comes to that, well Kelly over there is the one you should be talking to as I'm single!"

Tammy shrugged and turned to me asking, Mary's got a good point there Kelly. What DO you think about your husband having sex with your mother?"

My first impulse was to say something like, "Duh! What the fuck are you talking about?" but I was more diplomatic to my mother's best friend.

"Well if he's going to do it with anyone wouldn't my mother at least be the first choice?" I tried to reason quickly with her, "Like, we swap all the time and that doesn't bother me so why would I think twice about him doing my mom? I think it's pretty hot actually."

What I did NOT tell her was it was also better than him fucking girls less than half my age but I figured THAT was a subject best left untouched.

"Swap?" Tammy said, almost choking on a piece of salad she had snitched. She looked at my mom accusingly. "And you knew about all this and didn't tell me? What happened to all that 'no adultery' crap you were always throwing out when you were married?"

"Things change Tammy," my mom said shrugging her shoulders, "So I was wrong, I admit it so don't take it out on my daughter."

Whoa, things were starting to get a bit tense but fortunately at that moment the door opened to the patio and the guys walked in with dinner. The rest of dinner went along just fine with everyone being polite and sticking pretty much to non-controversial topics - except football of course.

After dinner the guys headed back out poolside with their beers leaving the women to do the dishes. Humph, talk about male chauvinism! Actually we'd used paper plates and pretty much everything was disposable so it was more a matter of picking things up than actually cleaning. Rather than beer Tammy offered us wine which we took to their den overlooking the back yard and pool.

"I wonder what Tom would say if he had any idea about you and Steve," Tammy mused. I wasn't sure if she meant that good or bad and based on the last time I interrupted I decided to keep my mouth shut for now.

"Forget THAT, what if he knew what you and John did back home?" my mom teased her.

"Oh God Mary, don't even joke about that!" she sighed, shaking her head, "He'd divorce me in a heartbeat. Tom may be a forgiving man in many ways but adultery? No way, that would be a deal breaker no matter what."

"But you don't regret doing it with my dad, do you Tammy?" I couldn't help but blurt out.

Tammy seemed to struggle for an answer but my mom and I waited her out patiently.

"That's so hard to answer," she said haltingly, "Did I enjoy him? Of course I did, that would be silly to try and say otherwise as you both were there and saw it all. But I have to say the first night back with Tom and I felt like the Whore of Babylon. It was months before we could make love and I wasn't thinking of what I'd done behind his back."

Then my mom dropped the bomb...

"Well, since you enjoyed having sex with MY husband, don't you think it's only fair that you do the same with my daughter's husband?"

Tammy laughed as I think for a moment she thought my mom was pulling her leg. Then she looked at my mom in the eyes and realized she was being serious.

"Oh my God NO!" she gasped, "I could never do that... and not here in any case. What if someone saw us? I could never do that to Tom. He would know in an instant - I would look so guilty without enough time for it to wear off."

My mom held up her hand to make an observation.

"You know Tammy, everything you just said was all about being caught and nothing about whether or not you wanted to do it or not."

"That's not fair Mary," she said accusingly.

My mom chuckled at that one. "Your point?" she said with a sly grin, "Live a little."

Tammy rolled her eyes and sighed. "Easy for YOU to say Mary but for God's sake, he's not that much older than my sons."

My mom smiled even more at that replying, "Again... your point?"

Tammy shook her head this time. "Oh no, we're not even going there Mary. I've accepted what you and Kelly do despite my personal feelings about the subject so please give me the same respect."

"Fair enough," my mom replied, "But that's not Tim or Will or there, it's a gorgeous hunk of a young man that will make you feel like you haven't in a long long time. C'mon, when was the last time you were in bed with a 29 year-old?"

Tammy looked up at the ceiling with her lips moving. "Ohhhhhh, I guess it would be about seventeen or so years." We all laughed and the tension began to die down a bit. "You know I've never cheated on my husband... well, you know what I mean."

"So look out there Tammy," my mom encouraged her, "Forget about all that and just be honest with yourself. Tell me you don't want that. C'mon, it's ME you're talking to. Heck, I know what it's like when your husband's performance isn't what it used to be."

At that Tammy practically grimaced. My mom looked at her questioningly and Tammy muttered in a low voice, "Yeah, He's had ED for a few years now. Not even Viagra helps."

My mom took that and ran with it. Turning to me she asked, "Well Kelly, do you think Steve would be willing to fuck his mother-in-law's best friend?"

At that I couldn't help but smile broadly. That was like asking if he wanted season tickets to the Steelers. My first thoughts were that Steve would have been much happier if she had a young daughter to offer but then I had to think just the situation would be enough to get him all horny. Yeah, we swapped and such but so far as I knew, Steve had never been with a woman that was cheating on her husband. It was sort of odd when you think about it given my fixation on cheating husbands.

"Oh yeah Tammy, he'd do you in a heartbeat."

I was being a little generous. Guys like Steve would fuck just about anything with a pussy. Tammy wasn't fat by any means but she hadn't been shopping in the single digit sizes for a long time now. It would help if she wore a little more makeup and did her hair better. It was almost like she had given in to being the loyal housewife and didn't worry about her looks the way she did when she was younger. Then another thought came to mind... maybe her husband's ED was more a lack of interest rather than anything physical. For that matter, maybe HE was cheating on her!

"Oh I don't know," Tammy mused as she looked out the window at my husband. Actually listening to them talk about him it made me feel proud of Steve, proud to be his wife. Maybe this was a little how Steve felt when he would watch other men have sex with me.

Tammy was biting her lower lip as she watched our husbands chatting at the table next to the pool. Finally she let out a long breath.

"OK, I'll do it."

4. Getting Prepared

On the way back to my mom's apartment we broke the news to Steve. He didn't seem all that surprised but then I guess he knows me pretty well by now so it would take a lot for me to surprise him, at least when it comes to such things.

"So how is this going to work?" he asked, "Is she coming over to your mom's place, are we going back to her house, hotel, whatever?"

I recalled Tammy's reaction when my mom suggested that the three of us return to her house the next morning after Tom had left for work.

"Oh my God! No way!" she had responded, "It's bad enough that I'm even agreeing to be with him but to be WATCHED? No way! That may be fine for you two but would never be able to do it."

So in the end we had agreed that Steve would stop on over by himself. I felt a little dejected in that I would have loved to see the two of them together. Normally

I'm not all that excited to watch Steve with another woman. It's not jealousy or anything like that, I'm just not turned on by it the way he gets turned on watching me with other men.

That night when Steve fucked my mom there seemed to be something extra between them. Maybe it was my imagination but it was like the idea of doing her best friend had inspired him?

The next morning I woke first and took care of my immediate needs. Returning from the bathroom, I stood at the end of the bed and took a few moments to take in the scene in front of me. My husband was laying on his back, snoring just a little bit while my naked mother was snuggled up tight against him, one leg draped over his with his flaccid cock held in her hand like she was a young girl holding her teddy bear for security. She had her head on his shoulder and was sound asleep.

How many years had she dreamed of being in such a position with her son? Sometimes I almost felt a little guilty in that she couldn't have any more children because of the problems she had delivering me. Of course I knew it wasn't my fault but I also had wished over the years for a brother. Being an only child has it benefits to be sure, but almost all my friends have siblings and sometimes I feel like missed out on something. While I will never have a brother (Steve's brother was living with his sister and we had never been that close in the first place), at least now my mom finally was fulfilling her fantasy.

I threw on a t-shirt and headed to the kitchen to fix some breakfast. I was so intent on catching up on e-mail and the news on my iPad that I jumped a little when my mom entered the kitchen. She was nude, something I still was having a hard time adjusting to as she NEVER ran around nude when she lived with my dad.

"Your husband's doing his thing in the bathroom so I figured I'd see how you were doing," she greeted me.

She poured some coffee I'd made for her - I don't drink it but I CAN fix it. We sat down and talked about the news and things back home and such. She was always wanting to know more about what my dad and her sister were doing, even though she didn't seem to like what she heard most of the time.

"So you guys really are into the swap scene now I take it," she said, changing the subject away from her own husband and sister.

I grinned and nodded. "It's fun to be with someone new," I said and then added with a wink, "But it's not quite the same when the wife is OK with it."

We both laughed as my mom knew how much I got off from seducing married men and pushing them to cheat on their wife for the first time.

"You know, this is the first time Steve will be bringing a wife over to the dark side," I observed, "So far as I know at least."

"Well technically she has already cheated on her husband," my mom countered.

"Yeah but that was with dad so it's not the same, at least not to me," I countered.

"Ahhhhhh, so THAT'S what this is all about then!"

My mom and I both turned to the kitchen entrance where Steve was standing there without anything on, his hairy dick out for us to see and salivate over.

"So it's about me getting Tammy to cheat on her husband," he said wryly, "and here I thought it was all about me getting some new MILF pussy!"

We all laughed as Steve sat down and poured himself a bowl of cereal. After breakfast he went up to get dressed while my mom and I continued our chat. Before long he was back, dressed in jeans and polo shirt.

"Well, I'm off!" he announced as he leaned over to give each of us a kiss.

Once he was out the door my mom turned to me and reached out for my hand.

"You know sweetie, there's no sense in just those two having some fun this morning..."

I smiled at her as we both rose up from the table and headed back to the bedroom.

5. Results on Taped Delay

I had no idea how long Steve would be gone. There were so many variables... would they talk a while or just get to it? Foreplay or straight to the sex? Just once or multiple times (Steve was usually good for at least twice, three with enough incentive)? I wouldn't have been surprised if he returned in an hour any more than I would have it he wasn't back until later afternoon. In any case he had to be out before Tom came home and I knew Tammy would be nervous enough about that such that Steve would be gone well in advance of any possibility of Tom's return.

To be honest, I found myself hoping he wouldn't be back until the last minute. It been a long time since my mom and I spent an entire day in bed together and I wanted it to last as long as possible!

People are always asking me how sex with my dad compares to doing it with my mom. All I can say is it is two entirely different experiences. With my dad, it's all about pleasing him and satisfying his needs and desires. Of course he likes to make me feel good two but that is covered under the "pleasing him" clause. With my mom it's much more a mutual event and typically less intense to start, building more slowly with time.

Perhaps the biggest difference for me between my mom and dad when it comes to sex is I have NEVER considered myself my dad's lover, girlfriend, or anything other than his daughter. Even when I dress up like a naughty nurse or French maid, it's not that I become a nurse but I am his daughter dressed like a nurse. The father-daughter relationship is ALWAYS there. I would never consider having his baby as that would make me his lover or mistress. I LOVE being my dad's daughter and that's all I ever want to be for him.

With my mom it's totally different. Once we get in bed of course I am still her daughter but I become much more - MUCH more. As we kiss and fondle each other it's like being in bed with a partner and lover. There is no parental authority with my mom like I have with my dad. Thus when I get to spend an entire day with my mom, it is something I treasure and hold dear to my heart long afterward.

As it was, we didn't get the entire day but a good part of it. Steve returned shortly after 1:00 looking all full of himself.

"Well? How did it go"? I asked when he entered the bedroom.

At first Steve didn't answer as he seemed more interested in what was happening on the bed in front of him. At the moment my mom and I were laying back on our elbows sharing a long dark double dildo between us. It was one of the few toys I really enjoy and I had turned my mom onto them years ago.

Now ask a girl how her date went and she'll take a half hour giving you every detail and nuance. Ask a guy and you get a grunt and MAYBE a few words. Steve was no different.

"It went OK," he shrugged as he stared down at our crotches where the dildo was moving between the two of us.

"It went OK?" my mother repeated it back, "So is THAT all you're going to say about the past few hours, it was just OK?"

Steve grinned and folded his arms defiantly.

"Alright then, I'll make a deal... let me see the two of you get off with that thing and I'll tell you everything."

Typical guy! But then it was a bargain I was more than willing to take on and my mom didn't seem to mind either.

"Deal!" my mom blurted out, "Now shut up and just watch."

This was the first time Steve had seen his wife and her mother doing anything like this and I could tell from the flushness in his face that he was turned on majorly. He sat on the edge of the bed and twisted to watch the two of us.

Ten minutes and few orgasms later, my mom and I were exhausted as she slipped the dildo from her now soaking wet pussy leaving it just in mine. The extra weight of it as it hung from my pussy made me jump from the stimulation and then I pulled it out as well, licking my pussy juices from it for Steve to see.

Laying back on the pillows, I kissed my mom for a few minutes and then we both turned to face Steve.

"OK, we did our end of the bargain stud, so let's hear about it. And I mean ALL of it."

For the next twenty minutes or so Steve gave us the blow-by-blow (literally) of his encounter with Tammy. Well, actually if left to him it would have been less than five minutes but between my mother and I we managed to act like dentist and pull the teeth of the story out. So here's the key points as best I can relate them...

When Steve arrived he was greeted by Tammy at the front door. She was dressed more like she was heading out to go shopping than welcoming an illicit lover - khaki pants, a basic blouse, flats and minimal makeup and jewelry. Her hair was tied back such that for all intents and purposes she was just your everyday housewife greeting the delivery man.

Tammy explained her appearance by saying she always gets dressed before her husband leaves for work and so she had to wear something that didn't seem out of place. Once dressed, even after he left she was so nervous she just sat in the living room to wait without even thinking about changing clothes.

Listening to the start, once again I had to wonder if Tammy's husband was suffering more from boredom than ED!

Steve said Tammy was extremely nervous and wouldn't even look him in the eye to start. While he had no idea how this was supposed to go, he knew that what would NOT happen was an immediate jumping in between the sheets. At least he remembered my words of caution - no mention of her husband if possible and most of all, NOTHING about her sons. The last thing that was needed was for her to be reminded of how close in age her sons were to Steve and in any way associate what they were doing with incest - even so remotely connected.

Thankfully my husband isn't shy about approaching women so he made the first move, offering to take a seat on the couch next to her. Over the next twenty or thirty minutes he gradually calmed her nerves. He laughed as he recalled it, saying it was like dating a virgin back in high school where he had to start out slow and gradually work his way around the bases.

Actually, this was the one thing that Steve said turned him on the most. Whenever we swapped or went to parties, the women there wanted sex just as bad as the men so there was nothing he ever had to worry about other than being too slow to get down and dirty. Tammy may be almost twenty years older than him, but the experience was like being back in high school and trying to get to second base with a shy girl.

Indeed, Steve's eyes lit up as each step was made starting with simply touching her face and neck, stroking her hair, and resting his other hand on her thigh. That finally led to their first kiss and even THAT was a throwback for him as at first she kept her lips together until finally she parted them and their tongues touched and explored the other's mouth.

It was while kissing her that Steve started to unbutton her blouse. At first she started to pull away but Steve used the kiss to distract her as he opened it and then gently lifted her bra up and over her large breasts. Steve's always been more an ass and leg man but he tried to pay enough attention to Tammy's boobs to make her feel good about herself.

It was when he had her topless that Steve suggested they take things up to the bedroom. At first she tried to steer him to the guest bedroom as doing it in her own bed must have seemed like it was going TOO far but Steve would have none of it. I knew exactly how Steve felt. He was going to fuck her in her own bed so the next time she and Tom were laying together in bed she would be thinking about what he had done to her while her husband lies there clueless. My pussy tingled as I recalled my own experiences where just knowing that his wife would later be laying exactly where I was when her husband violated his most sacred vows was enough to make cum right then!

Steve said he debated whether or not to ask Tammy to blow him. As it was he was having to make the first move for everything so if she was going to suck his dick, it would have to be because he told her to do it. In the end he decided to tell her to blow him but from the way he looked as he described it I got the feeling it was more to dominate her and have her submit to him than anything else. I knew from past experience that Tammy could give a pretty good BJ when given the opportunity if my dad's reactions were any clue.

That's also probably what drive him to cum in her mouth without warning her – that perception men have of domination over a woman. Personally I've always found such thinking to be a bit backwards. Like, who is dominating who when I have a guy's most sensitive body part between my teeth? As for him cumming in my mouth, other than my pussy that's where I WANT him to cum as it's nothing but a mess when he sprays his cum all over me and my hair.

My mom and I debated earlier what positions they would fuck in. We actually both agreed on the same results which is exactly what turned out to be the case. Steve likes it when I start out the sex by mounting him and taking him inside of me on my own but the odds of Tammy being so aggressive were nil to known. Again, for Steve it was a trip down memory lane as he laid Tammy on her back, gently spread her legs apart, and guided his dick into her pussy. Needless to say after two boys and over thirty years of sex Tammy was no tight virgin but he said it still was a thrill to penetrate her knowing he was the first man she had taken besides her husband since her marriage. Of course he conveniently forgot about my dad but that didn't really make a difference.

One thing I was curious about by then - what was Tammy saying as Steve started to fuck her? Steve told us that she had said almost nothing after they started kissing. When he was about to enter her for the first time with his erection poking her pussy, just a push away from entering, he DID ask her if she really wanted him to do this.

God what I would have given to have had a recording of her response! Steve said she didn't say anything at first so he had to ask again, telling her he couldn't do it unless she said she wanted it.

Finally he got part of the answer as she closed her eyes and whispered barely audibly that yes, she wanted him to do it. Steve wasn't satisfied with this vague answer so he pushed her until she confessed that she wanted him to "put it in me". Again, that wasn't good enough so he pushed her to be more specific.

"OK, OK... I want you to fuck me, is that what you want me to say, that I want you to fuck me hard?"

Or words to that effect, I have to trust Steve on this but in any case it was good enough for him as he buried his wonderful dick deep inside Tammy's wet pussy... and she WAS wet according to Steve.

As Steve described how he slowly fucked Tammy, my own mind was filled with memories of him doing exactly that to me. Glancing over at my mom, I saw she was masturbating herself slowly as she was undoubtedly also thinking about how she had been the recipient of his cock just the night before.

As horny as Steve was by then it didn't take long for him to cum and before long he was releasing himself into her pussy. As he groaned and thrust himself deep inside, Tammy must have realized what was happening.

"Oh my god, you can't cum in me!"

Steve didn't have to tell me what happened next, I knew him well enough to know that once the launch sequence begins, nothing stops the rocket between his legs. "Pull out" is simply not in his vocabulary!

Steve said after he had cum in her he stayed in her and kissed her and her breasts. Eventually she told him not to worry, she was in the pill just I case her husband ever did want to have sex. For her the act of Steve releasing his sperm into her was more the symbolism than anything else. Having sex with Steve, committing adultery in her marriage bed, all that was bad enough but to allow him to mate with her was a step beyond sex. It was the difference between a physical act of pleasure and a union of a man and a woman in what to her was a spiritual, if not even holy, act.

Steve didn't push her on it, thank goodness. Instead he did something I gave him a lot of credit for - he ate out her pussy with his cum dripping out. It was a surprise for Tammy and just as much for me! He was between her legs and his face in her pussy before she realized what he was doing as undoubtedly she never even considered him doing such a thing. Knowing my husband's phobia of sperm and anything to do with another man sexually, I gave him a lot of credit. Heck, he doesn't even eat MY pussy after he fucks me!!!

No matter how confused or upset Tammy may have been, she was still a woman and I don't know of any woman who can have a man eat her pussy and NOT respond. By the time he brought her to orgasm, Steve's cock was ready to go again. This time he turned her on her side and spooned her from behind. He said he had been inspired by the large mirror on her dresser which was on that side of the bedroom such that they could both see themselves in the mirror as he fucked her again. Damn, I wish I could have been that mirror!

This time Tammy didn't say anything when Steve emptied another load of sperm in her. He said they laid together with his dick in her for a while, neither of them saying anything yet their eyes met in the mirror. At least he said she was smiling!

By now my mom was so horny she was actively masturbating in front of both of us. My mom has never been one to masturbate as openly as I do although she isn't exactly shy about it, just more discreet shall we say. Yet here she was, legs wide apart with one hand on her breasts with the other fingering her pussy. Steve certainly had taken note of it and I knew it was time for me to leave them alone for while (or as it turned out, a few hours!)

While my mom and husband were celebrating his conquest of her best friend, I was tempted to call Tammy to get her side of the story but figured her husband was probably home by now and besides, she was probably more apt to be willing to tell my mom more than me.

Before the trip was over we met with Tammy one last time for lunch. It was at a restaurant so it wasn't like we could talk TOO openly about everything but with enough innuendos and hints she basically confirmed everything Steve had said. Still, there was one thing that obviously had grabbed my mom's attention...

"So tell me Tammy, what was it like looking in the mirror and watching my son-in-law doing you?"

Tammy glanced shyly at Steve who had a huge grin and undoubtedly a massive erection by now.

"So you told them about that," she said softly, shaking her head slowly as if it was something she couldn't hardly believe had actually happened. "You know, I don't think I've ever seen myself having sex before and then for it to be someone besides Tom... Oh my god!"

It was interesting, at least to me, that after the trip the one thing Steve talked about the most wasn't fucking his mother-in-law, it wasn't running around naked for a few days in her apartment with his wife and her mother, it wasn't even the trip to the strip club. No... it was having sex with a rather ordinary housewife!

"So now you know why I get all hot and bothered about doing a married man behind his wife's back," I teased him one night after we'd made love.

Steve just grunted and then replied, "You know, I COULD get sort of use to the idea... maybe I should give it another try sometime."

I poked him in the ribs and hopped back on his erect cock before he could say anything more to get himself in trouble. Even so, while I was riding my husband's dick I couldn't help but think what a cool thing it would be to find a couple and me go after the husband while Steve goes after the wife with neither of them knowing the other was cheating on them for the first time. OK, so the logistics were pretty insurmountable but still....

Just say no? Drugs and alcohol never appealed to me. Don't you dare wear THAT bikini in public? Heck, my dad was buying me thongs before I was even a teenager.

So basically I approached my impending marriage with virtually the same principles and ethics as my parents, more so my mother though. The only thing I had not anticipated was the effect of submitting myself to my husband. Not submittal in the BSDM sense of the word but rather the giving over of myself to my husband for the purpose of establishing the proper boundaries of our marriage.

I've heard it said that women tend to marry their fathers. Of course that's not meant literally (at least most of the time) but in my case it was scary close. Outwardly my dad and my husband are two very different people in almost every way - looks, professions or political views. Even when it comes to incest they aren't on the same page. My dad is unusual in that he PRACTICES incest while Steve just gets off SEEING it in porn like most men.

No... it's the inner part of them, the secret part, the side that nobody ever sees but me that makes them so similar, at least when it comes to me.

First, they both love me - totally and unconditionally. Of course each is a different form of love but that's a no-brainer as one is my father while the other is my lover. Either way, when they express their love for me in the most personal and intimate way possible by joining their body with mine, all I know is either way I feel complete in a way I can't properly describe in words.

As I said, each has a different form of love for me. My father loves me as his daughter. Dad has needs that only I can satisfy because I'm his only daughter. I love it when I see the burning lust in his eyes, the smoldering craving for me that tells me he sees more than as just a daughter but as a sexual being that he wants more than any other woman. It makes me feel special in a way almost nothing else can. When my FATHER penetrates me and cums in me, filling me with his incestuous love, I know at that very moment with all certainty that I mean everything to him.

In contrast, when my husband makes love to me it's entirely different but even so, it's just as special in its own way. When I am with Steve I feel my LOVER penetrating me. I can feel our bodies joined in a union that can be formed only by a husband and wife. When he cums inside of me I feel like I am fulfilling my purpose in life as he takes me as his mate - just as the male has taken the female throughout human history. Sometimes after we make love it's like I wish we could stay coupled together forever as every thought and feeling is focused on my lover's dick deep inside of me.

2. Recognizing the Needs of Men

I prefaced my comparison of my father and husband's love for me as the "first" thing they had in common. The other common bond they share is something most men share - the NEED for sex. I don't mean the type of sex that they have with me which is based on love and respect. No, I'm talking about the purest form of sex - the pure lust and instinctive craving that men have of women for their own selfish gratification.

When I use to dream about being married I fully expected that I'd be faithful to my husband forever after we said our vows. What I mean by that is that I'd forsake having sex with any man outside of my marriage. Understand that for me and my family that takes on a bit of a different meaning than most families we consider incest as sex within marriage. This is a very important distinction as it means being married doesn't preclude me from having sex with my father or other men in the family (women don't have dicks so the issue of sex with women is moot).

One other factor in my favor is that one of my favorite "hobbies" - blowjobs, is technically and legally not "sex" because a dick doesn't penetrates my pussy. Thus it's OK even after marriage to have oral "sex" with anyone provided, of course, my husband approves.

For a woman to commit herself to a single man is rooted in biology and genetics, just as it's instinctive for a male to desire multiple partners. Think about it... you never hear of women having multiple husbands but plenty about men with more than one wife. As much as I LOVE sex, I was ready to take my vows with my husband and be his mate, just as my mother had done for over twenty five years with my father.

I've often said that whether or not a man is faithful to his wife is dependent on his options. It's easy to claim fidelity when you're too afraid to do anything because of the consequences. The REAL measure of marital fidelity is what you do when you HAVE the opportunities.

Well, as it turns out I was thinking too much about MY side of the marriage and not my husband's. As I said, it's simply not in a man's DNA to limit his seed to one woman. Like all men, my father craved sex with other women but his love for my mother kept him in check for over a quarter of a century, just as it does for most married men. Still, as time went by and he saw his youth fading and opportunities

One other thing I know is that Steve has approached their dad several times and asked if he would ever allow him get together with the two girls in a more private setting. Much to Steve's annoyance he's always been turned down flat without a good reason being given. Oh the rejection was gracious to be sure but still a solid NO.

So far my husband's fucked them both at two different parties and I know that he always enters into a new one hoping they'll be there as well.

One nice thing about having your husband fawning over two young girls like a schoolboy with his first crush is that you don't have to worry about being jealous. Like I mean be real. It's not like he'd ever want them more than me or leave me for them. It's all just good innocent fun so what's the harm in me letting him indulge?

At our last party I took a break and just watched while Steve was having fun with his two favorite playmates. Typically I don't usually get off watching Steve fucking other women. Sure, he seems to love watching his wife getting it from other men but the feeling isn't all that mutual. It's not that I'm jealous or anything silly like that. I KNOW Steve loves me unconditionally and that him fucking other women is not the same as making love to me. I just don't get a rush watching other people having sex. OK, so it's not nearly as bad watching it live as compared to a porn video but it's still not my cup of tea.

For whatever reason, seeing these two young girls anxiously approaching my husband and teaming up on him like they had it all planned ahead of time was just plain erotic. Becky seems to be more into blowjobs than her sister while I think if Phoebe had her choice she would have a dick inside of her from start to finish. I may not have had that right based on the limited times I'd seen them in action but they definitely DO know how to tease based. I couldn't help but smile seeing how they played with each other in front of Steve, making him even hornier if that were possible. When they would lick each other's pussy and rub themselves against each other I could see it wasn't just a show they were putting on for my husband but rather something they seemed to truly enjoy.

Maybe it's the sheer joy in Steve's face that makes this more enjoyable for me to watch. Usually when he's having sex it's like all business – serious work with a mission to achieve. With Becky and Phoebe it's like he's having FUN. When he first cums he always tries to give each of them a little which only seems fair since they act as a pretty darn good team.

I don't doubt that if I were to approach them that Steve would mind if I joined in but so far I've never so much as touched either of them. They know I watch and they glance my way, especially when Steve is cumming in one of them, grinning from ear to ear as if to tease me that they were getting it and not me.

I think that's when I had my idea - as I watched Steve close his eyes and moan loudly as he was cumming in little Becky's fuzzy pussy. I knew I had to do something that would make my husband the happiest man on earth - as if being married to ME hadn't already done that. LOL

4. Convincing The Dad

Unbeknownst to Steve, my aunt and I had been talking about his little crush on Phoebe and Becky. When I first brought it up, Aunt Linda just smiled and shook her head.

"Yeah, they seem to have that effect on most of the men here. And to think, they aren't even twins!"

We both chuckled at that stereotype. Like what man hasn't fantasized about having twin sisters - at any age for that matter but in their young teens years it would be heaven on earth for most men.

I mentioned him striking out with their father and she just smiled wryly.

"Yeah, he's not the first to ask and I'm sure not the last. Their dad is very protective though. I think the only reason he allows them to have sex with other men is so he can do the same with other daughters. You know, I've heard it rumored that he doesn't fuck them - never has for that matter. Can you believe that?!"

It WAS a little surprising. I'd heard it rumored that many of the families who came didn't engage in incest at home, leaving that sort of thing to the parties and not mixing it up in their personal lives. Still, this was the first time I'd encountered an actual living case.

"Have you tried asking him?" my aunt asked thoughtfully.

"Huh? Me?" I stammered, unsure of where she was going with this line of thought.

"Well, the problem as I see it is that Steve hasn't anything to offer him in exchange for his daughters seeing as how the two of you have yet to even get pregnant!" she said pointedly, a not so subtle hint at the fact I was past the age of 27 now and still no baby. At this rate I'd be nearing fifty before the kid leaves for college!

"He could offer me, couldn't he?"

Aunt Linda rolled her eyes and looked at me like I was asking the dumbest question ever.

"Kelly, I hate to be the one to tell you this but have you looked in the mirror lately?" she said gently, "You're not exactly a seventh grader anymore you know."

Ouch, that one hurt. Still, I knew what she was alluding to. While I may technically be a daughter when my dad is in attendance, with Steve I was more a mother than a daughter. Indeed, there were some mothers about my age As it was! God, suddenly I felt SOOOOOO old!

Aunt Linda was reading my face like an open book and laughed saying, "Oh give me a break Kelly; wait until you're approaching fifty and THEN you can put on the sad eyes about getting old."

"So what do you propose I do?" I asked, perplexed now.

She just stood there looking at me like I was supposed to already know the answer but I was clueless. Finally she huffed slightly and said,

"You're not thinking like a man Kelly," she said more seriously now, "You're forgetting what you already know all too well for yourself - that a man loves the taboo more than anything. Take that away and you take away most of the fun for him. Just like you love doing married men, imagine men with the same ideas except directed at the wife instead of the husband."

Like duh! Of course, it made perfect sense to me now. I DID have something to offer their father that Steve didn't - ME. I don't mean just me in that he would do me with Steve's permission. No, it would be for him to fuck me knowing that Steve had no idea about what we were doing. Of course the same would go for me - HIS wife couldn't know either.

My aunt went to her phone and checked her contact list.

"Here, I'm sending you his personal cell phone number so be discrete, OK? We could both get kicked off if anyone knew I was giving this to you so you better be convincing."

I meant to write about my husband and what happened to him so I won't go into all the details. Besides, if anything this was rather quick and to the point...

I did call him but rather than trying to explain things to him by phone where it would be easy for him to blow me off, I asked him to meet me in the parking lot of a local restaurant. When he arrived I quickly got in the front seat and started to talk to him about my plans. When I first explained what my intentions were his immediate reaction was to start to say no but before he could do anything I was leaning over the console and pulling out his dick to suck him. You might say he realized I was serious!

That eventually led to a quickie at my apartment as Steve was at work where I promised him that I wouldn't tell Steve so long as he didn't tell HIS wife AND so long as he was OK with his daughters meeting up with Steve.

The only catch was that in order to NOT tell his wife about our little escapade, he couldn't exactly tell her that it was OK for the girls to go out with someone as she would suspect something in a heartbeat. What he DID promise was that if his wife asked him if was Ok that he wouldn't oppose it as he always had in the past.

Well, that was good enough for me. Now the question was how to pull this off?

5. Meeting at the Mall

My Aunt Linda has told me everyone's real names by now, including the mother who was 35 year-old Dawn. With her husband out of the way, now I had to get Dawn on board with my scheme...

It's one thing to imagine doing such things with a couple of young teenagers but quite another when it comes going to their mother and asking of permission. I really didn't mind asking their dad as he was a man and men just think with their little heads when it comes to sex. Moms are an entirely different matter though.

The major factor in my favor was I wasn't going cold to her and asking for something crazy out of the blue. This was a mother who was OK with unleashing her two daughters on any number of strange men so they could have their way with them. She'd undoubtedly seen Steve fucking them both so it wasn't like I was going to be asking for anything all that unique.

This time I decided to do it by phone as I didn't trust my face to not expose my eagerness and excitement and maybe scare her off a bit. So I called her and introduced myself. At first she seemed a little surprised that I even had her number; let alone her real name, but once I started my pitch she seemed more assured. By the time I'd finished explaining my intentions, if anything I think she was as excited about the scheme as I was.

Now to just make it happen...

If there's one thing that Steve hates to do with me, it's to go shopping. Men just seem to be able to understand that a girl simply can't buy the first dress that fits her! The only time I can lure him into a store is when it's with the promise of something naughty - like blowing him behind a clothing rack or letting him fuck me in the change room.

The promise of change room sex worked this time... like it ALWAYS does. LOL!

The best places for such things is in one of the larger department stores with lots of rooms so people aren't waiting for the only change room to open up. You also have to find one with decent size rooms and doors that came down low enough to hide what was going on inside. Finally, it had to be a place fathers and husbands frequented as well so Steve wouldn't stick out like a sore thumb.

Macy's was my favorite locally. The dressing rooms were HUGE and they had like a half dozen or more so there usually wasn't a long line, if any. While not so many in number, at least one or two bored husbands also tended to be hanging around to return outfits and such.

The other thing that made Macy's perfect was the fact the women and girls sections were close enough that when the girl's dressing rooms were overflowing they would move down to the women's - perfect so far as my plans concerned.

It was nearing 2:00 and I was getting nervous - no sign of Dawn or her daughters. Of course that was the way it was SUPPOSE to be at this point but that still didn't make me feel any better. I was mad at myself for not making some sort of signal between us so that I would know for sure that they were hanging around. Oh well, if they didn't show we'd still have fun!

Steve helped me pick out a couple of bikinis to try out - naturally the ones he chose had the least amount of material. He seemed to judge them more by weight and cross-sectional area than style! We made our way to the dressing rooms where Steve stayed behind while I tried on the bikinis first. This was typical for us in such situations where I would try to give Steve and any other men hanging around a little "motivation" before he slipped in to fuck me.

Changing quickly into the thong and bikini top - God, it was REALLY small on me!, I stepped out into the hallway and looked for Steve. At first I didn't see him so I moved out away from the change room and to the entrance to the change area where I found him - sitting on one of the man-chairs with two girls on each side of him, grinning from ear to ear.

"Hey Kelly, look who else is shopping today!" he said admiringly as he looked back and forth between Becky and Phoebe.

Meanwhile, I was standing there all but naked in the skimpiest of bikinis and not a word was being said! Oh sure the sixty year-old guy was drilling holes though whatever little material was hiding my crotch but other than that everyone else was focused on the girls.

I glance around quickly but didn't see any sign of their mother. Again, that was all according to plan - the idea was to get Steve turned on first. Well, that wasn't going to be too difficult based on what I saw the girls holding in their hands.

"So you guys trying on swim suits?" I asked smiling as best as I could.

"Yeah, you guys wanna tell us how we look?" Phoebe said, taking the lead as usual while little Becky let her sister do the talking.

Steve nodded and that was all they needed - my opinion didn't matter it seemed so they went laughing and giggling to the change room.

"Earth to Steve!" I teased him as he stared after them, still all but ignoring me, "So what do you think of MY swim suit?"

Steve looked at me and then quickly glanced around. He leaned over and whispered to me, "Judging from the stares you're getting I would say it's about perfect!"

Amazingly, the girls were back in a matter of minutes. Then again, it wasn't like they had all that much to take off having worn just shorts and tank tops with flip flops - standard teenage girl uniforms for summer these days.

"What do you think Steve?" sexy little Phoebe asked, twirling about.

Phoebe and Becky had on matching suits, at least matching patterns. What little was on top was definitely filled out more by the older sister but both were displaying almost completely bare asses in the string things they were wearing. I didn't even know Macy carried such things in their sizes and I suspected they had brought them with them just for this purpose.

Even though Steve had seen both of them totally nude before - heck he had even fucked them both several times, it was like he was seeing them for the first time. I suppose it's like what the trippers say - it's what you DON'T show that gets them excited. Granted, there wasn't much not showing but it was just enough to get the creative juices flowing - and more than that judging from the tent pole rising in his shorts.

"Girls! Behave yourselves!" I heard their mom admonish them as she made her appearance.

I turned and Dawn gave me a wink.

"Ah Mommmmmm!" Phoebe whined, pouting.

I had no doubt it was all an act and while I'm sure it worked with their dad, the performance had little effect on mom.

"Stop showing yourselves off in public and get dressed," she said sternly.

From the way her voice was strained I got the idea it was all she could do to kept from breaking out in laughter but she did her best to maintain a stern composure.

The two of them headed back but I noticed they were wiggling their butts provocatively at Steve as they did. Just before reaching their room another mom and her daughter stepped out of one of the changing rooms. The look on that mother's face when she saw what they were wearing was priceless!

"Sorry guys, they can be a handful sometimes," Dawn sighed, taking a seat in the empty chair next to Steve. "It's like sometimes you just need a break from them."

That was my cue...

"Well, they could spend the night with us if that would help," I offered.

I cringed inwardly. Running though my lines beforehand it seemed like such an easy thing to say but now in the real world it seemed so contrived and artificial that I couldn't believe Steve was going to buy it. Well, I didn't take into account the fact that the head Steve was thinking with now wasn't all that discerning when it came to such things.

"Wow, would you really want to that?" Dawn asked.

Again, it sounded SOOOOO fake but that was how I heard it. Steve must have been listening to a different version.

I turned to Steve and asked, "What do you think honey, would you mind if the girls spent the night? It could be like a sleepover"

Later when we looked back at these events I asked Steve if he was just playing dumb or if he really didn't have any idea what game was being played. He swears that he was taken totally by surprise but somehow I just don't believe. Maybe it's more I just don't WANT to believe my husband can be this ridiculously gullible but then again, he IS a guy so who knows, maybe he's telling me the truth!

The girls were each grabbing one of Steve's arm, pleading with him to say it was OK. Yeah, like there was any chance he would refuse! When he finally said it was fine with him, they both jumped up and down and giggled like little girls. Then again, they WERE little girls.

Dawn and I quickly ran through the logistics although it was more a show for Steve as we'd already discussed everything earlier by phone. We decided the girls didn't need to bring anything with them as having extra clothes and such would have been way over the line so far as trying to sell this as a coincidence to Steve. It's not that we had to fool him, I just wanted it to be more special for him when her remembered it later. Besides, it wasn't like they would be needing much in the lines of clothes if things went the way I expected.

Just as I was congratulating myself on a plan well done, Dawn threw me a curve.

"You know Kelly, here's an idea... how about I drive the girls to your place and help you get them settled in?"

Now what she meant by "get them settled in" I had no idea, all I DID know was she was making some flimsy excuse I an obvious move to come over to our house with her girls. Dawn was one of those parents who spent most of her time watching at the parties, having just enough sex with some of the boys to satisfy the rules but no more. It was like one quick fuck or BJ and then she sat back and watched her girls for the rest of the night. Was this just her way of being overprotective or what?

Well, what was I going to say? It wasn't like I was in a position to negotiate as to refuse would probably bring an end to everything. I tried to put on a happy face and told he that of course it would be just fine for her to stop by for a while - with emphasis on the "for a while".

On the way home Steve was practically giddy with anticipation. I tried to reach over and grab his dick but he actually pushed me away!

"Now Kelly, I need to save myself for the my girls," he teased me.

My husband might be 29 now and not quite as virile as he was thirteen years ago when we first started having sex, but he was no old man yet either and he definitely didn't need any Viagra. He was just teasing me and again I found myself wondering if he was just playing along and using this as part of the game.

6. Apartment Complex Pool

Dawn followed us to our apartment complex and she and the girls were right behind us as we made our way to our little home. We passed by the pool and they both looked at their mom and then at us, pleading to use the pool. Apparently they didn't get to go to a pool often and since they had their bikinis they wanted to have some fun.

Dawn just shrugged and Steve didn't seem to mind. Sheesh, was I the only one who remembered what their bikinis looked like? This wasn't a private party and for girls their age to wear bikinis as revealing as these would certainly draw some attention - and not necessarily the right kind of attention. I mean, they may as well be naked if you looked at them from behind and even from the front there wasn't a lot that wasn't exposed.

Once in the apartment the girls immediately stripped down in the middle of the living room and donned their thongs and bikini tops. Yet again I couldn't help but roll my eyes. God, if I tried wearing anything like that they would surely toss me out but maybe at their age it would be considered "cute" and they could get away with it. Come to think about it, there were lots of things I use to be able to get away with when I was a teen than now as an adult I have to be more careful about.

Personally, I didn't want to get my hair all wet and I didn't figure we'd be down at the pool for long anyway so I decided not to change. Dawn didn't bring anything with her and given she was quite a bit bigger than me there was nothing I had that would come close to fitting her.

Steve declared that someone had to be in the a suit in case the girls needed help in the pool (there were no lifeguards). Yeah, like he was really taking one on the chin for the team! His suit was really large baggy shorts like most guys wear now which helped hide a lot at times as I knew from personal experience.

Stopping in the kitchen quickly, I grabbed a couple of drinks from the refrigerator for us and we all headed down to the pool. As we drew closer I was reminded of why we seldom came down here as the din of little kids screaming and making noise got louder and louder as we approached. There WAS an hour in the late evening reserved for adults and sometime we would come down for that but as a rule, the pool was one benefit at the apartment that we seldom used.

The sun was still pretty bright and hot so I felt fortunate that there was still a table open with a canopy. The three of us took seats while the girls shed their towels and headed for the water. I nudged Steve and tilted my head toward some of the other parents around the pool. No sooner had the girls left their towels behind than I saw the looks and conversations hidden behind hands begin. Dawn was smiling too as she noticed the reactions.

wasn't a little girl anymore. The thin wet material of her bottoms were plastered tightly into her crotch, emphasizing the hairy patch underneath. She did trim it but when she first got out I noticed it had pulled to one side, exposing her hairline. She quickly repositioned it but I knew anyone else watching must have gotten the same view as I had.

Becky hadn't yet developed much in terms of a bustline but what little she had seemed to be magnified by the small triangles of wet cloth plastered over them. Phoebe, with almost a B-cup already at her young age to show off, also had much larger nipples than her little sister. The tiny bikini top wasn't quite large enough to fit under her boobs so the bottoms were exposed. I also saw that now that the material was wet, it had become semitransparent as well, allowing the outline of her hard nipples to appear. Was it the cool water or was she horny - or both?

"I hope you don't think badly of me Kelly," Dawn sighed as the two of us watched the show in front of us.

"Why would you say that?"

"I mean letting my daughters flaunt their bodies like this, letting men have sex with them, that sort of thing."

"Well, why DO you do it?" I asked.

Dawn just shrugged and smiled, "I guess because I love seeing the reaction of other people around them. It turns me on to watch them with strangers. Maybe someday you'll understand when you have kids."

Suddenly at that moment I had a thought. Maybe this was the same way Steve's mom feels when she is watching me and Steve have sex. Like Dawn, Marlene only watched and never joined in. While I've learned to accept this odd behavior, I've never quite understood why she does it. Now here was Dawn in a similar situation. She never had sex with her daughters but yet she loved seeing them flaunting themselves and allowing other men to do whatever they wanted with them. Was the something along the same lines?

I would have loved to dig into this more but not in such a public place and besides, now that they were cooled off the girls and Steve were ready to head back to the apartment where I had no doubt things would be heating up pretty quickly!

7. A Different Kind of Sleepover

Once we were back the girls quickly stripped off their wet suits and tried off. I showed them my blow drier so they could dry their hair and went in to the bedroom to see how Steve was doing.

"Well, what do you think?" I asked as he stripped down and dried himself.

"What do you mean?" he responded, "You talking about the girls?"

"Well duh!"

Steve grinned. "It's a little insane but hey, I'm not complaining."

I peeked out into the hallway to make sure nobody was listening. Turning back to Steve I whispered, "What do you think the deal is with their mom?"

Steve just shrugged. "No idea... she's a strange one." Then a big grin appeared and he continued, "But hey, so long as she lets me fuck her daughter's I'm not complaining."

Spoken like a true man, LOL.

"Hey Steve, watch doin'," a pair of voices chimed in from the hall, effectively ending our conversation, at least for the moment.

We both turned to face the door where two cute young sisters were standing with their arms around each other, stark naked and grinning from ear to ear.

"Kelly, can Steve fuck us now?" Phoebe said with a naughty look.

"Now girls...," her mother said, stepping in behind them. She was still fully clothed, which didn't surprise me a bit.

"Sorry, it's my fault, I might have given them a few hints on how to get things started," Dawn said with just a hint of a smile but her eyes told so much more.

I looked at the girls and then back at my husband. Steve was hard as a steel pipe already so it was obvious what he wanted. Then I turned my attention to Dawn.

"Well mom, I guess the two of us should leave the three alone for a while. Let's go to the kitchen. Do you like white wine?"

With that I kissed Steve, gripping his hard dick in my hand and tugging on it gently. Mmmmmmm, I would have loved to kneel down and suck it!

I started to head for the door but Dawn once again surprised me.

"Actually I was thinking we could all go out to the living room," she suggested although it I could tell it really wasn't a suggestion. The implications were clear - "you want to fuck my daughters, you have to do it in front of me."

Why this surprised me I don't know, I should have seen it coming. No wonder her husband had caved in so easily. I felt like an idiot for being played so well by the two of them but there wasn't time for self-incrimination. Besides, the results were basically what I'd been shooting for, albeit with a bit of a twist, so why beat myself up over nothing?

I turned to Steve who just shrugged his shoulders. It's not like he was shy about having sex in front of people. In his mind I'm sure he couldn't have cared less if Dawn watched. He was just thinking about one thing at this point - how his dick would feel inside the two hot little pussies that were waiting anxiously for him.

Just a typical man!

Steve stepped past me and took one hand of each girl and led them down the hall to the living room while Dawn and I followed. The living room was really just an open area next to the kitchen. The kitchen area, which included a small dining table, was tiled and then it turned to carpeting where the living room theoretically began but that was all to separate the two.

The trio ahead of us headed for the couch while Dawn took a seat at the table and I went to the refrigerator to pour a couple of glasses of wine. It was just boxed wince but then I don't drink a lot of wine usually and Steve tends to favor beer so there was no sense in us stocking up on expensive wine. I filled two large wine glasses almost to the brim - I had a feeling this was one of those times when a Diet Coke just wasn't going to cut it, and handed one to Dawn who smiled appreciatively.

"This is the part I really like," she said softly as she leaned over the table on one elbow while sipping on the wine, "Don't you think it's hot to watch them getting started? It's like watching your favorite movie for the umpteenth time. Sure you know what's going to happen but you can't wait to see it again."

Well, it wasn't like there was a lot to wait for as no sooner than Steve had taken a seat on the couch than Phoebe jumped up next to him and leaned over to start sucking on his super-hard erection. Becky kneeled so she could reach him better and they started to kiss while her sister enjoyed my husband's cock.

"Phoebe's always been a little cock hound," Dawn said as she stared at her daughter's and my husband, "Never seen a girl who loved a dick as much as her."

My first thought was that she obviously didn't know a lot about ME but I wasn't going to argue the point. However, it DID provide me with the opening I was looking for.

"So when did she start?"

I nodded and waited.

"I mean, what sort of mother would NOT want to watch?" she challenged me. "It's beautiful to watch your own daughter being taken. I'm so proud of them both for the way they handle themselves. I mean I could watch them all day..."

She paused again as the girls changed positions. This time they both were kneeling on the couch facing the back with their butts up in the air to give Steve the perfect view of their wet pussies. Steve stepped up behind Phoebe first, plunging his dick into her. After a few strokes he switched over to her sister, fucking Becky for a few moments before returning back to Phoebe.

"Wait until you have kids someday Kelly," Dawn sighed, "I think you'll understand better when it's you own daughter with someone else's husband."

Once again I thought of Steve's mother. Was this how Marlene felt when she watched her son fucking me? When my mom watched I know it turned her on because she would often masturbate and in some cases even join in. However when it came to Marlene and Dawn while both seemed obviously thrilled to watch, neither of them even hinted at wanting to do anything, not even masturbate.

For the next ten minutes or so Dawn and I kept quiet and enjoyed the show. Indeed, it WAS like a show as all three of them would periodically look over at us and smile as if they wanted to be sure we were watching. Becky in particular seemed to be keeping one eye on her mother most of the time, as if she needed her mom's constant approval.

The couch eventually became too restrictive so Steve tossed a couple of cushions on the carpet and they moved to the floor. The girls more or less took over, acting like a team. Well, I guess they'd had plenty of practice! Steve was told to lay on his back with his head under a cushion while Phoebe mounted his cock yet again but this time Becky straddled his face, facing her sister who was rocking back and forth on the hard cock inside of her.

"They make a pretty good team, don't they?" Dawn observed, obviously thinking along the same lines as myself, "I was worried at first that one might be jealous of the other but I'd say they're closer now than ever.

It wasn't the first time I'd heard something like that before. A number of parents have related to me that letting their kids have sex with each other was the best thing they'd ever done so far as them getting along. I guess it's hard for a brother and sister to be mad at each other for long if they have sex later that day!

(Aug 22) Chapter 250: Eighth Grade Again

Story codes: MFF inc mother daughter
Me (27)
Steve (29) - my husband
Mary (46) - my mom

For the last few years I've taught 4-6 grades at a small Christian School. This year I was finally accepted to teach at the local middle school where I once was a student. While the rules and culture were radically different in the public school system, that change was nothing compared to the hormonal differences between a 6th and 8th grader - and I don't mean just the boys!
Warning: Most stories like this have warnings about sexual content and such - always about there being too much for some readers. In this case the warning is just the opposite. There is very little sex and what is mentioned is mostly in passing as a reference more so than an experience. This is mainly intended to help my steady 'fans" to keep up with my life's journey, not to serve as a "stroke story" for those just passing by.

1. Needy

For as long as I can remember I've wanted to be a teacher. Never a nurse or even something as wild as an astronaut. Nope, I KNEW what I was going to be when I grew up - a teacher. Maybe it started because I always loved school, even the homework (well, most of the time). Yes, I was one of those kids everyone hated that always sat at the front of the class, raising my hand to answer questions, eager for my teacher's approval.

Actually someone once suggested to me that it was that very need for approval that drove most of my behaviors at school and elsewhere. The fact that the person who told me this was my own mother provided some credibility to her argument to say the least. At the time it was part of a larger discussion about me in general - one of those "mother-daughter" talks she liked to have with me now and then. In this case it was a little more a "mother-daughter-husband" talk as my husband Steve was with us. We were visiting my mom and it was our last night with her so after sex while we were still in bed we started talking about assorted family stuff and somehow or another the topic got around to psychoanalyzing me. It was two against one, not good odds.

"So what's your perspective Mary," Steve was asking my mom, "Do you think being slut just comes naturally for Kelly or is that something you helped her out with?"

We'd been talking about our families and the differences between them when this just popped up out of the blue. I playfully smacked him but he just ignored me and pressed my mother for her answer.

My mom took it all in stride, grinning as she laid her head back on the pillow. Her hair was a mess but she didn't seem to care. Watching her, I couldn't help but admire the way her breasts remained firm with just a little sag to the sides in deference to her age. The rest of her nude body was pretty tight as well. I mean when you're in your forties things don't quite hold up like they did in your teens but for an old broad she was in pretty good shape. From the way Steve had been nailing her just a few minutes earlier, I'd say it was a pretty good bet that he felt the same way about her.

"Oh I'd like to think some of it's in her DNA from me," she sighed, "But then to be fair she did pretty much most of it on her own."

Then she looked at me with a funny smile, as if she wasn't sure how to word what she wanted to say. Turning back to Steve, she continued, "If you ask me, she's always been a little needy so that's probably been part of it."

"A little NEEDY?" I protested as I sat up so I could lean against Steve who'd been spooning me from behind. Up until then I'd been enjoying the feel of his still rigid dick pressing against my bare butt but now my attention had shifted elsewhere.

My mom just smiled at my protesting and continued, "Oh come on Kelly, stop pretending. You're not fooling either of us. You've always had to have everyone's approval... especially your father's."

Steve seemed to find all this interesting so he joined in the conversation by saying, "Sounds interesting Mary... go on."

I glared at him but they both ignored me as if I wasn't even there.

"Well as you well know she's STILL a daddy's girl but you should've seen her back when she was younger. You know, before they started doing 'IT'. I tell you what, that little girl knew EXACTLY what buttons to push to get everything she wanted from her daddy."

Steve chuckled adding, "Yeah, I can relate to that!" as he reached around and cupped my boob in his hand, "She can be quite... persuasive."

My mom was eying the way Steve was fondling me, probably wishing for some of the same attention but then he'd fucked her last, not ten minutes ago at that. Heck, he even came in her so she had nothing to complain about. Still, I couldn't blame her for wanting more of my sexy husband's dick. Like what sane girl wouldn't?

"Like I was saying...," , my mom continued, "even when she was little she was always seeking John's approval. Whenever he'd bring home some new outfit for her to wear she'd immediately run off to her bedroom to put it on and then come back down so she could pose for him in it. Yep, she learned early to be quite a tease, even in grade school."

They both looked at me as if expected a response but what could I say? I had to agree with her on that point. Yes, I could well remember the outfits and bikinis that my dad use to buy for me. Of course since he was the one buying them they all were either super-tight, ultra-short, very small, revealing or some combination. And yes, I learned early that he liked it when I'd pose for him and I also knew just HOW he wanted me to pose. Granted, my mother had to be given a lot of the credit for that, providing me with tips and feedback afterwards like she was scoring me. And yes, I DID love it when he would tell me how pretty I looked and how much he loved it when I posed for him.

"Oh yeah, I've seen some of the photos he took of her back then," Steve sighed wistfully, "If I didn't know what I know now I don't think I could believe she was just posing. Wow, some of those outfits were pretty risque and suggestive. To this day I still find it hard to believe that she wasn't doing more when the camera was put away."

"Oh so what you REALLY mean is... was she sucking his cock after he took those naughty photos of her?" my mom asked rhetorically, "No but trust me, it wasn't for lack of desire on HIS part. Hell, he would've let her do it in a heartbeat. Actually it was all my fault. I had this thing back then that I didn't want her doing anything like that until she was ready and asked on her own. Yes, I realize now that I could've handled things better but I guess I was a little gun-shy back then after the way my own parents handled things with me and my sister."

Wow! Talk about a revelation. That was like the first time my mom had EVER openly admitted that she'd been wrong to hold back my father when he first started to lust for their daughter. Of course his feelings back then are pretty obvious to me what it was like to be free of any relationship... well it was like no boy in class was safe after that."

Both she and my husband had a laugh at that one and even I couldn't help but crack a smile. She had me there - indeed once I started dating other boys it was like letting a homeless person loose in a buffet line. Mmmmmmm, I couldn't wait to try a little bit of everything, or everyone in my case.

"Now if THAT wasn't being needy, then I don't know what is," she concluded.

"Needy?" I disagreed, "Nawwwwww, I was just horny."

My mom shook her head and continued the debate with, "EVERY girl at that age is horny but even you have to admit that there aren't that many who put out on the first date... and every time at that."

"Now wait... I didn't 'put out' most of the time - mostly just gave blowjobs," I interrupted to correct her. Even it was a minor point I thought it was an important distinction. "Actually I rarely had sex on the first date - and sometimes not even on the second one, and you know it."

"Blowjobs, fucking, whatever. Call it what you want but it seems to me like you're splitting hairs," she huffed, "Still seems like it was pretty needy to me. It was like you had to have the seal of approval from every guy that dated you - or should I say cum-stain of approval."

For some reason I couldn't understand both of them laughed at her last line.

"No, I just wanted their dick," I cut in again, "And besides, the last thing I wanted was yet another cum stain ruining another outfit."

But she didn't stop as she went on with. "Oh pshaw... you wanted them to like you and you know it. You were always so ridiculously self-conscious over your precious boobs. It was like you always had to prove you were sexier than your more endowed friends like Beth."

"Yeah, as I recall she had some BIG tits," Steve sighed, "I think she was growing them big in 6th grade already if I remember correctly."

It was more like 5th grade but I wasn't going to support his fantasy memories any more than they already were. It had seemed so unfair to me back then. Why did some girls get such great breasts so early yet I was barely out of a training bra at the end of grade school? To this day I can't walk around the house topless without feeling uncomfortable, even though I'm pretty proud of my 34 C's these days.

"So enough of 'pick on Kelly' hour, OK?" I finally whined. By now Steve had a full erection behind me judging from how it was poking me hard in my back. My mom had her load so I felt like it was time for mine.

"Where were we going with this conversation in the first place?" my mom laughed, "Oh yeah... something about why Kelly went into teaching, right?"

"I think she gets off having those horny young boys staring down her blouse and up her dress all day," Steve offered.

I elbowed my husband sharply in the belly for that one. He deserved it! First, because he knew it was absolutely NOT true and second, I knew my mom wouldn't like it and indeed the sour look on her face told volumes.

"You know better than that you jerk," I said, only half-teasingly.

Indeed, if there was one cardinal rule I'd always followed from the time I first started babysitting it was, "no messing with the kids". The same rule applied when I started working with the church youth groups, then as a tutor and finally as a teacher.

Sure, I'll admit that sometimes it gets a little erotic seeing one of my young students with a cute little erection as he stares at my chest for the entire lesson. Still, that's a FAR cry from doing anything to tease him or otherwise make him think I was in any way even aware of his lustful attention. Even when that attention became rather blatant I just ignored it. Bottom line... there was nothing good that could come out of making the matter public.

"Well I would certainly hope that's the case," my mom murmured. I'm sure she would have been quite disappointed had I responded to Steve's accusations any other way.

Well, I'd had about enough of all this...

"OK, OK, I hope you too are having great fun at my expense but you both know the truth. I love to teach because I love being with kids - and not THAT way you horny jerk," I directed at Steve who had this silly grin going, "and I love the look on their faces when they suddenly grasp something I've been trying to teach them all day."

"Awwwwww, that's so sweet," Steve said, a little too mockingly for my comfort. "I know what they were trying to grasp." He was still pushing the teacher-student sex thing and I was simply NOT going to go there.

"I have a better idea... Why don't you just shut up and fuck me?"

Steve looked at my mom who just shrugged her shoulders as if she had nothing to say about the matter. She didn't and this time I was the one to get my husband's cum while she had to watch and wish it was her getting it.

Ha! Who was needy now!

2. In-Service Week

I was thrilled, scared and nervous to death, all at the same time. It was InServ week, the week before school officially starts when teachers come to school to get prepared for the upcoming school year. The vast majority of the teachers had taught the previous year so they would start a day later as the first day was devoted to new teachers, or at least those doing their first year in this school district. The rookies...

OMG! Driving to the school on my first day I was SO excited. This was what I'd been waiting for so many years. What I'd worked so hard for. THIS had been my goal since I was a young student myself. It seemed almost impossible to believe that I was actually heading back to the same school where I'd been a student not that many years before.

Actually I was pretty lucky to even get the job. I'd been on the waiting list for years, during which time I took a position at a small private Christian school. The pay sucked and the benefits non-existent but at least it gave me some experience on my resume. As it turns out, that made the difference and so now I would be making twice the money with benefits.

The schedule for the first looked as boring as it did daunting. It was almost like something from my last year at college in an ethics course. There were lectures on harassment - both giving and receiving, codes of ethics, state and federal reporting laws for signs of abuse, and so forth. Most of it was so boring it was hard to stay awake but it was the examples that interested me. Kind of like taking a Driver's Ed course where they show pictures of car wrecks to try and scare the kids into being better drivers.

A good deal of time was spent regarding proper conduct between students and teachers. Granted, our students would be fourteen and younger it wasn't the same as being a high school or college teacher. Still, there were public cases of teachers having sex with eighth graders and now doubt younger that had been kept out of the national press.

Personally I never understood how anyone intelligent enough to get a teaching certificate could be stupid enough to have sex with an underage student of theirs. Did they really think a boy that age wouldn't go running off to their friends to brag about their conquest? Interestingly, at least to me, was that almost all the focus was on female teachers and male students. Apparently all the focus on child abuse tended to zero in on young girls so the perverts grew to focus more on young boys, at least that's how it seemed to me based on the evidence I'd seen.

During the lunch break after our "teacher-student sex" session, a group of us gathered together in the cafeteria for lunch.

"Now THAT was a waste of time," one of the older ones huffed, "I just can't believe anyone reaching a position in this district could do something so stupid and immoral. Did we really need two full hours? I would think five minutes would have been overkill."

"I take it then you've never had a student come on to you or even be a little forward with you between classes?" commented a good looking woman who was probably a few years older than me, "What have you been teaching, Kindergarten?"

The rest of us tried to suppress our smiles with little success. If anything, her comment opened the subject to more discussion and surprisingly, even a couple of confessions.

The lady next to me was the next to speak saying, "For me it started with seventh grade. I guess I never really even had given it much thought as I was doing mostly first and second grade before. I had a boy actually stand beside me while I was seated at my desk and deliberately lean over to look down my blouse! Thanks god I was wearing a bra."

Then it became a game of one-upmanship. One spoke about having to deal with erections, another with girls rubbing themselves. I kept to myself for the most part other than a knowing smile. I'd of loved to have related about how one of my sixth grade girls turned out to be having sex with her father who had in turn asked me to join (I refused of course). Now that would have been a little TMI (Too Much Information) even for this risque conversation.

I noticed that all of the examples were of students coming on to their teachers. None of them admitted to having any fantasies of their own but I would've been more shocked if they really hadn't. Besides, there's nothing wrong with fantasizing about most anything so long as you didn't cross the line in real life. Somehow I didn't think that line of thinking would've been socially acceptable with this group though.

The next day at lunch I took a seat alone at one of the round tables only to be joined by the same woman who had been sitting next to me at lunch yesterday - the same one who had related about the boy looking down her blouse. By now I'd learned her name - Naomi. She would also be working with eighth graders, same as me, but this was the first time we'd really had a chance to talk one-on-one.

At first it was the usual small talk - what schools we'd gone to, what we'd been doing since graduation, some basic social information - husbands, kids, and the like. Naomi was about four years older than me and had also graduated from the same highs school as me although she went on to college in central Pennsylvania while I chose mid-Ohio for my undergraduate work. She'd been a fulltime substitute here for the past several years and was surprised that I'd somehow managed to get in without having "paid my dues" so to speak. A potentially sticky situation was avoided when she changed to the subject to our previous lunch conversation.

"I noticed you didn't say a whole lot yesterday," Naomi commented, "That tells me one of two things... either you've been remarkably clueless or it was something you didn't want to share. Now you don't look like the clueless type so..."

She left it hanging for me to finish. Obviously I wasn't about to tell her anything like I had been thinking about the day before and I wondered just what she was fishing for from me... and why?"

"Well except for a student teaching stint with eighth graders, I've only taught sixth grade and below," I said, trying to avoid the question but she seemed to read me like a book and I knew I wasn't fooling her one bit.

"That good, huh?" she said in a soft voice, smiling at me with a conspiratorial look.

I must have blushed or something to give myself away because she continued with, "You can tell me. Don't worry, I won't tell anyone else."

Yeah, and whatever it was she was going to do wouldn't hurt not to mention she was from the government and here to help me. Next thing you know she was going to tell me she loved me and would respect me in the morning. Like I hadn't heard THAT line before.

Seeing I wasn't about to share anything "juicy", she leaned over close to me and whispered, "Would it help if I admitted that I left an extra button undone that day the boy had looked down my blouse?"

I smiled at that and answered, "Maybe... so did you?"

Naomi smiled back saying, "Didn't you say your dad was a lawyer or something? I can tell."

"I suppose a little rubbed off," I answered, shrugging my shoulders.

"Well, I never have sex with a student so don't get any wrong ideas," she hurriedly said, "But then haven't you ever gone home a little horny seeing those cute little boys all worked up over you?"

Where the heck was she going with all this? So far she really hadn't such much of anything. Nothing she mentioned was anything she said she had DONE, just asking me IF she had done them then what would I think. It was all a little too cagey for me and suddenly I felt a strong feeling of paranoia. Was I being set up? Better safe than sorry, right?

"Look Naomi, this is making me a little uncomfortable," I protested, gathering my things.

That effectively ended our conversation and we went our separate ways amicably. As things turned out, by the end of the week we learned that one of the teachers had been quietly let go but not quietly enough to avoid the rumor mill. Apparently my Spidey-senses had been on the money. "Naomi", or whatever her real name was, was indeed an undercover agent or whatever, working for the school and police to identify teachers with potential issues regarding improper student-teacher relationships.

Boy, talk about dodging a bullet!

3. First Week of School

If students think THEY are nervous the first week of school, then they should know how their new teacher is feeling. They had one new teacher to deal with, I had 32 new students. They had one name to learn, I had dozens and that's not including nicknames.

It didn't help that memories of the last eighth grade class I'd taught were still etched deep in my memory. True, I was much younger and less experienced then, not to mention constantly under the thumb of my mentor, but they still haunted me. I guess somehow I'd forgotten what it was to be that age or maybe kids were just maturing faster now in the thirteen or so years since I'd been in their desks. Whatever it was, nothing prepared me for the blatancy of the little pervs!

What I mean is that when kids are younger (and I say this based on years of babysitting experience), the idea of sex is either something they don't even think about or it's just a big game to them. In either case it doesn't result in anything actually happening from a sexual point of view. Sure there are plenty of "naughty babysitter" stories written by men who probably never got anything closer to being a babysitter than driving one home but they usually involve the sitter doing the initiating work.

Then there are the high school kids and here I draw on my own memories. While I may have teased my share of teachers, I never actually DID anything with any of them or even came close. At that age it's just all too easy to flirt and flash but I was more interested in the boys in class than the guy teaching in front. From what I saw, the guys were hot for some of the younger teachers but maybe it was our school policies or whatever, they just didn't DO anything - at least not like you see on TV these days.

Seventh and eighth grade is different though. The hormones or kicking in and it's like giving a kid keys to the car without any driving lessons. Face it, most parents may have "the talk" but it never what the kid needs to hear - or know. It's almost amusing in some ways to see them, the boys especially, stumble about trying to maintain that they aren't really interested in girls yet at the same time obviously wanting to know a lot more about them. It's like the slightest stimulus brings them to erection and sometimes I wonder if they even know it's happening. All the potty talk and teasing is just a cover-up for their emerging desires.

Meanwhile, as their teacher I have to try and give them the education they need while dealing with this flood of hormones that is distracting them at every turn. I suppose I could have dressed in a potato sack every day but even then I don't know if that would have put a damper on the boy's interests in me.

The girls were just as tough to handle but in a different way. Whereas the boys become boisterous and obnoxious, the girls turned into little princesses, acting like the world owed them everything and that they had the answers to anything. It wasn't about class work for them, it was all clothes, boys and sex and not necessarily in any particular order.

4. Parents

Parent-teacher conferences are one of those things that are looked at differently by everyone involved. As a student you worry about what great secrets about you are going to be divulged - by both sides of the table. As a parent I imagine the concern over how your kid is doing compared to the rest. Of course you KNOW yours is the best behaved and the perfect student but does that stupid teacher know it?

Now I have the joy (being sarcastic) of experiencing it from the teacher's perspective. One of the good things about our school being located in a high-rent area with Type-A rich parents is the high level of participation by the parents in their child's schooling. Then again, one of the worse things about it the same parents participate actively in their child's schooling!

What I mean is that it's great to see the classroom packed with parents, generally mother and father for the most part unlike the inner city schools where half the kids don't even have one parent representing them. On the other hand, these same parents seem to feel their ridiculously high school taxes and upper-class standing entitle them to a say in how the school is run - in particular how I as their child's teacher behave and operate.

If there is one thing I DID learn over the course of an exhausting evening was that all this crap in the erotic story universe about parent-teacher conferences is just that - crap. The favorite fantasy of a divorced father showing up and hitting on the impressionable young teacher - who of course welcomes such advances, and instantly falls to her knees to blow him right then and there in the classroom basically has absolutely no basis in reality!

Oh sure, the fathers LOOK. One nice thing about a public school versus the private Christian school I taught at previously is that now I can actually wear a normal skirt and blouse instead of an 1800's vintage dress that looked like a prop from Little House on the Prairie. Although the public school dress code doesn't specifically call out a requirement for a bra (unlike my previous employer's version), it does warn against "inappropriate" and 'revealing" clothing which pretty much leaves a lot open to interpretation. We were warning during InServ week that all such interpretations were made by the school so we shouldn't plan on reporting to class looking like a streetwalker and then try to claim that it's our personal interpretation of "inappropriate".

Personally I like to hold parent conferences seated at the student desks instead of doing them from my own desk. The idea is to make it less dominating and overbearing when I talk to the parents. In doing so my skirt tends to ride up a bit which and it always pleases me to gather my fair share of discreet (and some not so discreet) looks but nothing in terms of actual advances, at least not this early in the school year when everyone is still new to one another.

It also probably didn't help that in our school system parental involvement is incredibly high so the wife was usually there next to her husband which tended to keep them in line. Even so, the few single fathers that showed up were just as careful not to cross any lines. Of course it didn't bother me a bit to see their eyes drift down to my chest or to my exposed thighs. Let's be honest, I would've quite disappointed if they hadn't!

Each conference only lasted ten minutes as this early in the school year there was really nothing to repot in terms of progress or problems. The point was more for introductions and to answer any questions the parents might have about their child's education. Also, many parents want to meet their child's teacher and ensure that we knew THEIR child was special and gifted. It's amazing that 90% of the class was in the top 1%, at least according to their parents.

Even though I was a "new" teacher, it's not like I just fell off the turnip truck. With several years under belt at my previous school these weren't my first experiences with parents so I felt pretty confident ahead of time. Perhaps the only thing that had me concerned me was the same thing that I worried about earlier...

When my dad, and then later mu husband, insisted I attend a "family" sex party with them, one of the things that worried me was whether I would meet the same families outside of a party, like shipping for groceries or just walking through town. That would have been easy to deal with compared to my greatest fear – having the parents of one of the boys who did me come walking into my classroom. Heck, maybe even the dad had done me too!

Thankfully nothing like that happened but still, the mere fact I had to worry about it was reason enough, at least so far as I was concerned, to stop doing this sort of thing. Just because I'd dodged a bullet this time didn't mean I would the next and I would have to live with this apprehension for years to come if not more.

6. Looking Forward

So now after not quite a month of class in a totally new environment, what's next?

If I was trying to tease and make my "fans" happy, I'd say something like scoping out the dads and trying to find one to fuck me, maybe even with his son as a threesome. My forecast could include wild student sex parties with one or more of my students involved, perhaps including some of the girls in class too.

Unfortunately, it would be all too easy to write up some ridiculous fantasy story about such things. The sad thing is I think there are some people who would think it was all true as that's how they see me as a human being and a teacher.

What will really happen, heck if I know. It's almost impossible to foretell what WILL happen but I CAN say a few things that will NEVER happen.

First, I will never have sex with a student. That's always been a basic moral principle of mine, not to mention the legal and career ramifications of such inappropriate behavior in today's society.

Next, I will never has sex at school with an adult (students are covered in the first rule). I love risk and adventure, especially when it involves sex, but you can also go TOO far sometimes and whatever fun and enjoyment I may get from I far outweighed by ruining the rest of my life.

So what are my hopes and dreams? In between the two extremes outlined above, there are LOTS of possibilities and opportunities. While middle school is dominated by female teachers, there are certainly more than in grade school. My old private school was only K-6 and there were NO male teachers! Middle school male teachers tend to be younger, earlier in the career than their high school peers. Some are married, some are not. In less than a month I haven't really developed any strong feelings about any of them yet but only time will tell.

Of course there are the fathers - my favorite category of men for sex, outside my husband and father of course. With a daughter and/or son in middle school, what better time to "help" them pursue their fantasies about the emerging sexuality of their daughter - or a friend's if they only have a son?

So after only a month into my newest career move I would say while I haven't done anything really "dairy worthy" or naughty, there is plenty of time for that sort of thing to work its way out on its own.

(Aug 25) Chapter 251: Cousin Surprise

Story codes: MF FF oral F-solo inc cousins
Me (27)
Kristen - cousin (25)
Ben - Kristen's husband (44)

Of all my cousins, Kristen is the closest to me in every sense of the word. Raised more as sisters than cousins, we shared everything and at times were as competitive as any siblings. It was like she was always trying to one-up me with an "anything you can do I can do better" attitude. Just when I thought there was nothing left she could to surprise me, she proved me wrong yet again.

1. Cousins

In my diary over the years I've spoken of my cousin Kristen many times. Indeed many of the entries revolved around her. When I sat down to write about our most recent experience I realized that most of what people knew about her was just bits and pieces gleaned over the years. People have asked me all sorts of questions about her so I guess it's about time I expanded on things a bit.

Let's start at the beginning...

Kristen was born on May 11, 1987 to my mother's younger sister Linda and her husband Don. Her baptism was probably the last time she was referred to as Kristen. Indeed, I would say most people don't even know that she was named anything other than Kristen.

I suppose to most people they were the typical suburban middle class family. Like so many of the false impressions we have about people, imagine if the neighbors knew what her parents argued about behind closed doors. In essence, Don was so upset because his wife was openly having sex with other men. At least openly in the context she wasn't hiding it from him.

Although she WAS having sex with men other than her husband, my aunt wasn't cheating. Sure she'd been quite the party girl growing up but once she said her wedding vows, she made a solemn commitment to be faithful to her husband,

Growing up in a home environment permeated by sex, it Kristen dropped out of college to pursue a full-time career as a prostitute. No, she wasn't walking the streets. She worked through a high-end "escort" service and made a ton of money. She'd always looked young for her age and was often carded just to see an R-rated movie so she was quite popular with the clientele.

While I had tried the escorting thing myself back in college, a bad experience caused me to quit after just a few gigs. Even then I was doing it more for my own pleasure than the money. Kristen, on the other hand, was in it for the bucks and as such she would do just about anything if she was paid enough - multiple partners, gang-bangs, facials, BSDM, even a few bestiality episodes and that's what she's told me about so who knows what's the full story. So far as I knew she only drew the line at anything super gross or physically harmful.

Kristen eventually quit the prostitution business after a few years but by then she had quite the bank account. Amazingly she actually managed to get a real estate license - something I was quite surprised to see her finish, and now works with her mom as a team for a local realty. While she may have given up the full-time whore career, that didn't mean her "talents" weren't being put to good use. Both she and her mom managed to keep up a good income even in the middle of the recession as they both were willing to do whatever it took to get a sale.

Throughout it all I couldn't even begin to count how many men Kristen has dated and had sex with. Even in school she never stayed tied down to one guy and so far as I knew at the ripe old age of 25 she still didn't have a steady boyfriend.

Then again, if there's one thing I've learned it's that I never seem to know much about what my cousin is doing until after it's happened!

2. Doing Myself

Before I got married I was living with Kristen in the house she was raised in. After my parents divorced my aunt moved in with my dad (a little TOO quickly if you asked my mom), leaving the house feeling empty. At the time I was working as a teacher at a small Christian school where the pay was minimal without any benefits. Making my apartment payments was getting harder every month without help from my dad so when he suggested I move in with Kristen it seemed like the perfect solution.

I know that people must think that when we moved in together that we had constant sex and orgies but the truth was quite different. Of course there were times when we DID sleep together and yes, there were more than a few times we invited one or more guys over but for the most part the house was more of a "sanctuary" where we both could relax and not compete. We slept in separate rooms and even when one of us brought home a partner the other usually stayed in her own room.

When I married Steve I suppose her could have moved in with us but I wasn't worried about him and Kristen having sex - he was my husband so of course he could. It was just that being married I was a little selfish and wanted him for myself when we were home. Steve was more than welcome to go off and fuck my aunt and cousin but at home he was mine!

Still, there are those times when I'm home alone while Steve is at work or out with friends that I will lay in my bed in our apartment and listen to the silence.

This was one of those nights...

Sometimes when I masturbate it's just a spur of the moment type of thing like when I'm driving or maybe watching a movie or even at a restaurant. It's one of the great things about being a girl - the ability to get yourself most anywhere without having to deal with the inconveniences men face when they get horny - an obvious erection.

Perhaps that's also one of the things that makes masturbation potentially dangerous for me - it's TOO easy to do and sometimes when the temptation gets overwhelming there's a tendency to do it when discretion would say otherwise. When I was just eleven or so and first learned the wonders of what my fingers could do to me, my mother would often poke me or even pull my arm to stop me when I'd forget where we were and start to reach between my legs without really even thinking about it. Fortunately I don't recall any particularly embarrassing moments but then again, who knows for sure what people saw?

Overall I'd say the vast majority of the time I masturbate that's all it is - a spur of the moment thing where I take advantage of the situation and just do what comes natural. Sometimes I do it to turn guys on, like when I'd be on a date or some other situation where it was fun to see the guy's reaction when I'd lift my skirt and pull my panties to the side and start rubbing myself in front of him. My husband Steve really gets horny whenever we're in a situation where there's nothing he can do but watch, like when he's driving.

While it's usually just a quick response to an immediate need, once in a great while it's nice to take my time and make it more meaningful. It's not meant to be a substitute for a REAL date but rather more a date with myself.

This was one of those nights...

It was a beautiful Saturday and I'd spent most of the day with my husband shopping the Strip in Pittsburgh. I love all the various shops and the food choices. Steve probably isn't into it as much as I am but he indulges me. Our first wedding anniversary was only a couple of days away and I was dropping major hints as to what I wanted for my present.

A perfect afternoon was capped by a perfect round of sex when we returned to the apartment. I'd been teasing him all day, flashing him and flirting with other guys so by the time we walked through the apartment door he was so horny the first load was bursting out of him within minutes of me sucking him!

Steve had plans to meet with some friends at some joint for the evening so after we finished he took a quick shower, kissed me and headed out, leaving me still in bed naked, my pussy dripping with his cum. Mmmmmmm, I love my husband! It was almost impossible to believe that in just two days we'll have been married for a full year! If possible I think I love him more now than I did when we said our vows.

Thinking of our anniversary was making me nostalgic. After the good fucking he'd given me I really needed a shower but instead I turned on my back and threw off the sheets, letting the cool breeze from the ceiling fan gently blow over my naked body. My nipples tingled as I closed my eyes and just let my hand and arms lay on the bed at my side with my legs spread slightly apart.

It almost made me cry as I started to think of all the ways God has blessed me. Wonderful parents, a supportive family (for the most part at least), a decent looking body if I say so myself, a career I'd dreamed of since I was a child, and the best husband in the whole world. Overall, how could I ask for anything more?

Just then my phone rang and I knew from the ringtone who it was... my cousin. For a moment I debated letting it go to voicemail but just in time I picked it up and answered...

"Hey cuz, watcha doin'?" her typical perky voice burst from the speakerphone.

"Ohhhhhh, just finished being fucked by my wonderful husband," I replied as if I was giving her the time and temperature.

"And you didn't ask em over to share him?" she whined, pretending to be hurt at being left out. Actually, she probably WAS disappointed.

"Maybe next time," I promised while crossing my fingers.

"Yeah... promises, promises," she huffed, "So anyway, you wanna come over?"

"What? The town slut's not going out on a Saturday night?" I teased her.

"Hey, can't I just ask my cousin over for a night without the grief?"

She actually sounded a little hurt so maybe I'd teased a little too much. It WAS a bit odd she wasn't out getting laid so maybe there was something I didn't know about and had accidentally struck a sore spot.

What the heck? My hubby was going to be out for the evening if past experience had anything to say about it so why not? Besides, it had been quite a while since the two of us had a girl's night out. After my husband's attention and then my own I felt as satisfied as I ever could be so a quiet evening with just the two of us sounded like a nice way to close out the perfect day.

"OK, give me an hour or so. I need to clean up."

Kristen giggled, said goodbye and hung up, leaving me alone once again.

Once again my nostalgic mood returned only this time I was thinking about Kristen and all the things we'd shared over the years. I said a quick thank you to God for giving me a cousin like her. Being an only child has its benefits but there were times I wished for a sibling so having Kristen as my virtual sister came in handy at times.

Mmmmmmm, lying in bed naked reminded me of the first time Kristen and I had masturbated together. It was at our grandparent's farm and while we didn't touch each other, it was the first time I'd ever masturbated with the distinct purpose of having someone watch me. Oh sure my parents had seen me doing it tons of time but it wasn't like I was putting on a show for them. So far as they were concerned it just didn't make sense for me to go running up to my room and hide it when I felt the need. All they asked was I didn't disturb them.

My hand started to reach between my thighs as I closed my eyes and recalled the excitement of watching my cousin masturbating for the first time as we sat facing each other in the hay loft. I felt a rush as my fingers touched my clit while I visualized Kristen's fingers pushing into her wet pussy.

God it felt so good to touch my pussy as my thoughts moved on to the first time I had sex with my cousin. I'd returned home for summer break after my freshman year of college. On July 4th we had our first family orgy where I watched my dad fuck his niece for the first time. Well, at least it was the first time I saw them. Our parents loved seeing the two of us in our first 69 together.

Oh yeah... I loved the feeling when my finger was in me, feeling all warm and wet inside. Rolling over on my side, I pressed my thighs together tightly to squeeze down harder on my finger as I used the palm of my hand to put pressure on my clit.

More thoughts of my cousin filled my thoughts as my breathing deepened. I recalled how she and I had posed as hookers for my dad so he could "entertain" some high-rolling clients. They had no idea we were his niece and daughter so for once he got to fuck us right in front of someone not in our family. God it was so erotic to have my own father fuck me while the other two watched us and traded off with Kristen!

My other hand joined my first as I rolled over on my belly and humped my hips up in the air like I would if my husband was going to fuck me from the rear. My fingers ran up and down between my wet and swollen pussy lips, pressing against my hyper-sensitive clit and then running little circles around it. Oh my god, I was SOOOOOO close...

Then there was the time Kristen enlisted me to join her on one of her escorting gigs. It was at a suite at a hotel where a convention was being held. Wow, talk about a once in a lifetime experience! I'd done a couple of bachelor parties before but nothing like this. Men were coming and going while Kristen lay on the couch and I was on the bed. For over two hours it was like non-stop fucking and sucking, one guy after another. Some of them didn't want to fuck a whore (I couldn't blame them for assuming I was one) and just jerked off, shooting warm cum all over me from my toes to the top of my head. By the time it was over I was a total wreck. My pussy was sore and dripping with cum, my entire body seemed to be coated with sperm and my hair was a stringy mess. It took forever to get to all off of me!

The memory of that awesome evening tilted the scales and I felt my orgasm surge through me. I clamped my hand tight on my crotch, pressing down on my pussy and clit as I shuddered with ecstasy.

Did I mention the other great thing about masturbation - that NOBODY knows how to get me off better than myself!

I slumped down on the bed with my hand still between my legs and just lay there breathing like I'd run a marathon. I was bathed in sweat while at the same time covered with goose bumps as if my body was totally confused as to how it should be reacting. All I knew was I felt so damn good!

Suddenly I looked over at the clock by the bed and sat upright. Damn, where did the last hour go? It felt like it was just minutes since I was talking to my cousin on the phone, promising her that I'd be there by now.

As much as I was late, there was no way I could go anywhere smelling like fresh sex so I took a quick shower and dried my hair without doing anything special. I was just going to be spending the evening with my cousin so it wasn't like I was worried about doing myself all up.

Damn, now I was REALLY late but then again, it wasn't like it would matter all that much. We could just start the movie when I got there and a few more minutes wouldn't kill her. I threw on a pair of loose gym shorts and one of Steve's short sleeved shirts. If I was going to spend the evening on the couch swapping sex stories with my cousin then I may as well be comfortable. Who knows, maybe I'd be doing myself again before the night was out so I may as well keep myself accessible.

3. Kristen's Surprise

It took about twenty minutes to navigate the traffic to Kristen's place which was typical for south-side traffic. Sometimes I swear I would walk there faster! I parked by the curb outside the front door and walked in without knocking. Heck, I use to LIVE here so it felt like home.

"Hello!" I called out.

It's not like the house was that big. Downstairs was the kitchen, dining room and living room. Upstairs were the bedrooms and bathroom. For years two of the three bedrooms were filled with junk until I moved in. Now my old room was the guest room although I doubted any of Kristen's "guests" ever stayed in it.

"Sheesh, are you EVER on time?" I heard from the kitchen and then my cousin appeared.

She was naked except for a pair of pink flip flips but that didn't mean anything - she was ALWAYS naked around the house, just like her mom. If anything, she MIGHT put on a pair of panties or a thong but the only time I ever saw her with anything on top was when she had company, at least the type that didn't enjoy seeing her half naked.

I grinned and snickered at her accusation. "Really? Like YOU are ever going to say I'm the one who is always late?"

Kristen just brushed it off, like she does anything that she doesn't want to talk about. Clearly she had something else on her mind. Oh well, I started to say something about ordering out a pizza when she put her fingers to her lips and shushed me.

"Who gives a crap about pizza? I have something MUCH better to eat waiting upstairs."

The way she grinned and her eyes twinkled I could only guess where she was going. With anyone but Kristen I would've had a pretty good idea but trying to predict anything about her made weather forecasting look easy.

"OK, I'll play along... what's upstairs to eat?"

My cousin was practically hopping up and down like it was Christmas morning and she was waiting to see what Santa had brought. I had to say that seeing her petite nude body bouncing freely with her firm boobs barely moving was quite an erotic sight. It was a good thing Steve hadn't come with me – he'd already be on her like a cat on a mouse.

Speaking of Steve...

Kristen moved up next to me and wrapped her arms around me. "I've got somebody upstairs that wants to fuck your brains out," she giggled.

She didn't come right and say it but it all fell in place. So THAT was what Steve was up to tonight! All that bit about going out with the boys and making love to me before he left was just a ruse to through me off track from his REAL plans for the evening. Well, I can't say I didn't enjoy it at the time so I wasn't complaining!

"That bastard," I huffed, pretending to be annoyed, "It's just like him to pull something like this to surprise me."

Kristen pulled her head back and looked at me with a surprised expression which she quickly replaced with a deliberate blank look as if she was trying to hide something. Hmmmmmm, maybe there someone WITH Steve upstairs? This was starting to get interesting...

Without another word Kristen took my hand and headed for the stairs.

As we walked up the squeaky wooden steps, we passed a mirror and I glanced at myself going by. Crap! I'd been planning an evening with just my cousin so makeup and hair wasn't high on my priority list. I looked like I'd just gotten out of bed but then it's not like Steve hasn't seen me like that before. Oh well...

As we got to the top Kristen slipped in front of me, glanced inside the bedroom and grinned at Steve, then turned around and put her arms out against the door jambs to block me from entering.

"Ummmmm, don't you think you're a little overdressed?" she taunted me.

By "overdressed" she of course meant being dressed at all. Oh well, she was already nude so why not join her? I quickly slipped out of what little clothes I was wearing and left them in a pile on the bed in the spare bedroom.

Now that I was properly "dressed" for the occasion I was ready for whatever Kristen had planned for me and my husband. Was she going to make it a threesome - or more? Was anyone already in there with Steve? "That's MUCH better," Kristen said approvingly as she reached out and ran the backs of her fingers over my boob to tease me. "You ready?"

I nodded and she stepped aside to allow me to enter. I walked through the door to greet my husband...

Only it wasn't Steve on the bed!

"Surprise!" Kristen whooped as she saw the startled expression on my face.

I'd never seen the naked guy on the bed before. He was laying on his side and obviously quite horny. If I had known it was not going to be Steve, my next guess would've been one of her young boy toys - or two for that matter. The LAST thing I would have guessed was someone who looked to be in his mid-thirties or so with a shaved head and a chest full of hair. He had his head up on his hand supported by his elbow on the bed with his other hand on his hip with his arm against his side. Sticking out from an incredibly hairy crotch (no man-scaping here) was a thick erect dick which drew my immediate attention. Damn, the dude was built!

"Kelly, this is Ben and he wants to fuck you," Kristen matter-of-factly said as her way of introduction.

Nothing about who the hell he was, why he was here or why he wanted to have sex with me. OK, so most men want to have sex with me but not before they even see me!

There was a bit of a pregnant pause as we all sort of just waited for the other to speak. I wasn't sure exactly what Kristen was expecting from me. OK, so a naked older man with a large erection wanted to do me. I could live with that but still it would be nice to know a little more about him before I just jumped on his dick.

"Ummmmm, are you going to tell me anything more?" I finally asked her, breaking the silence.

Kristen giggled and shook her head. "Nope, not yet at least. Go on girl, he's obviously ready for you."

So she just expected me to get on the bed and mount this total stranger without any explanation? What kind of girl did she think I was?

Well, obviously the kind that gets on a bed and mounts a naked strange man with an erection without asking anymore questions!

Really, why not? I never turn down a good fucking, he was obviously wanting to give me one, and everyone seemed to agree on the course of action so any further explanations could wait. If anything, it made it all the more erotic NOT to know anything about him.

Kristen seemed obviously pleased with herself as she circled around to the other side of the bed and jumped on to sit with her legs crossed Indian style under her where she could watch. She was licking her lips as I mounted the bed from my side, albeit a little more slowly and cautiously. Once on the bed I was on my knees and turned to face the object of my desire. I started to reach out for his magnificent dick when Kristen suddenly chimed in.

"C'mon Kelly, forget the foreplay crap and just fuck him!"

I could do that! This whole thing was surreal enough as it was so why not go straight to the main event. The appetizer could wait until after the main course. It wasn't like this was some porn movie where the same series of events always seems to occur - sucking his dick, maybe him licking her out, followed by her sitting on his dick facing away, then spinning around to face him, after which a little doggy and then finally finishing up in missionary position. Of course he always pulls out (unless it's a "creampie" episode) and she eagerly gets on her knees to take it on her face. BORING!

So far Ben, if that was his real name which I doubted, hadn't said a word to me but rather just rolled onto his back such that his dick stood upright like a rocket on a launch pad. I was on my knees so I sat back such that my butt was on my heels and started to rub myself to get my pussy all wet and slippery. It wasn't really necessary as I'd started to respond to the sight of that incredible deck from the moment I'd walked in the bedroom.

Mmmmmmm, my fingers tasted so good when I raised them from my now wetted pussy to my lips and tongue. There's something special about the taste of your own pussy and I loved the flavor and scent of my own best of all.

"You gonna ride him or just sit there frigging yourself?" Kristen urged me on.

I was getting hornier by the second but I still had desires and one of them was to listen to a man tell me he wanted me. It was really no different than when I would tell a man, "Fuck me" and see the emotions on his face that told me how badly he wanted to do just that.

"So tell me Ben... what do you REALLY want?" I asked him softly as I played with myself off to his side.

Ben looked over at Kristen who nodded. It was pretty clear who was running the show here.

"Just what she said," he told me, nodding towards Kristen, "She's been telling me about her sexy cousin and promising me that I could do her."

"So you really want to fuck me?"

Again he looked over at Kristen but I could tell that she was starting to get impatient from the way she had her arms crossed and was looking at me with this, "Get on with it!" expression.

"Hell yeah," he finally responded with a smile.

Good enough for me.

Without saying anything else, I swung a leg over his hips and sat back down on the top of his upper thighs with my knees bent under me. I looked over at my cousin as I reached for his hardened dick.

"Now you KNOW I have to at least taste this before I put it in me," I said jokingly, even though it really wasn't a joke. As wet as I already was little more lubrication never hurt.

Without waiting for her approval I leaned down and took the head of Ben's dick in my mouth and ran the tip of my tongue around it. I smiled as I heard him moan slightly. Now THIS was a dick, not one of those miniature versions that came with the boys Kristen usually preferred.

I looked up towards Ben's face where I saw him watching my every move. He had a couple of pillows under his head so he could get a better view more easily. Our eyes met as I took more of his dick into my mouth. My fingers cradled his hairy balls as I gently rolled them back and forth. Slowly, ever so slowly, I worked my way down on him, feeling him fill my mouth completely but still with a couple of inches left to go. Time to separate the girls from the sluts...

Relaxing my throat as much as possible, I took his dick into my throat and fought back the immediate impulse to gag. It doesn't matter how many times you do this, the body reacts in the way it was designed to react so the secret was to understand those reactions and how to deal with them. The key was to get past the gag reflex and once you did that you were home free!

"Oh my god!" he groaned as my face pressed into his thick coarse pubic hair at the base of his dick. I had his entire dick in my mouth now but this would only last for a short while as I still needed to breathe!

As slowly as I could, I lifted my head up and dragged my tongue along the hard shaft until only the tip of his dick remained between my lips. Then I came off the rest of the way and started to lick his shaft from top to bottom and all around, paying special attention to the underside of the smooth helmet top.

"That's enough cuz, he's gonna cum if you keep that up," Kristen admonished me.

I was about to respond by saying, "And your point IS?" but she DID have a point. This wasn't Steve on the bed so if he DID cum in my mouth then it might be a little while before he was ready to go again. Granted, that would give some time for me and Kristen to play - a double bonus for the guy if anything, but apparently not in accordance with Kristen's plans for the evening.

One last kiss to the tip of his prick and I sat back up straight again. Lifting myself up on my knees, I scooted up until I was centered on his cock. At that point Kristen couldn't contain herself any longer and she reached over to grab Ben's dick at the base to line it up with my pussy.

Oh yeah, again this was how a dick is supposed to feel when it first invades your pussy - like you're being split in two and you swear it's impossible that it can ever fit. None of this finger-sized young teen dick that barely even spreads me open when it made its entrance. No, there was no mistaking that what I was taking into me was a MAN's dick.

"He's big, isn't he?" Kristen said proudly to me even if she was stating the obvious.

I looked at Ben and then at Kristen as I held myself in that initial position with just the tip of his dick within me. God it felt so good in me! So many nerves were concentrated in this area that the extra thickness of his cock head actually felt as good or better than having him all inside of me.

Well, I may have been enjoying the moment but Ben had other plans. I saw he was looking down at his crotch where he could see his dick as it disappeared inside of my pussy. Then I felt it push further into me as he humped his hips upward to drive himself deeper inside of me.

"You want it all in me, don't you Ben?" I said rhetorically, knowing full well what his answer would be - what ANY man's answer would be in this same situation. I can't say I've EVER had a man put his dick in me part way and NOT want to push it all the way in.

Ben's answer was to reach out and grab my bare hips and literally push me down onto his dick. I didn't resist as I felt my pussy feel the pleasurable sensation of his cock filling the void inside of me. Ben's pubic hair tickled my bottom as I ground my crotch down onto the base of his dick.

"I bet you weren't expecting THIS tonight, were you cuz?" Kristen giggled as she watched us with one hand between her legs.

Well duh! That qualified as the understatement of the week, if not the year. My original expectations had been for a relatively quiet evening watching a movie and eating popcorn and pizza. MAYBE we might get a little horny and masturbate and MAYBE done a little more but that wasn't a given by any means. Then I thought I'd be fucking Steve and while I could never imagine being disappointed having sex with my husband, THIS was certainly something special that I would never have predicted.

I was rocking now on Ben's cock, using the motion to move his dick in and out of me as I established a rhythm that felt comfortable. The goal wasn't to see how fast I could make him cum but rather to find out how long I could extend this exhilarating feeling that was being generated within me. Lesbians can say what they want but nothing beats the feeling of a REAL dick inside my pussy.

"That's it, ride him cowgirl!" Kristen cheered me on as she rubbed herself faster.

I had my hands planted flat on Ben's hairy chest, his thick chest hair running through my fingers as I leaned forward to support myself while I rocked back and forth on Ben's erection. My boobs swung over his face and he lifted his head up to grab my nipples between his teeth and tug on them.

God he felt so BIG in me! As much as I love my husband, he's pretty much average in the dick department but Ben was MUCH bigger. He wasn't so long as he was thick which was what I preferred. I loved being on top like this where I could establish the rhythm and depth of him in me. Sometimes I would just flex my hips and then I would rock way forward until I felt his head about to slip out of me only to drive myself hard back down on him.

"Let's see if you can twist around without losing it," Kristen said as she acted as the director for the show being put on in front of her.

Ha, THAT was going to be easy with the size of Ben's dick but I wasn't going to give up any advantage I had in meeting her challenge. Indeed, it turned out to be quite easy as I twisted myself 180 degrees so my ass was now facing Ben while I remained impaled on his cock.

This time I put my hands on his knees as I deliberately leaned as far forward as I could so he had a good view of his dick as it slid in and out of my soaking wet pussy. If there's one thing I've learned it's that men LOVE to watch themselves fuck me. I have to admit I get off seeing them moving in and out of me as well as I can relate what I SEE to what I FEEL inside of me.

Ben responded my placing one hand on each of my bare buttocks and helped me to rock on his cock.

"She's got a GREAT ass, eh Ben?" Kristen told him, like I was being sold at some slut market. Then again, I WAS proud of my butt so I didn't mind her pointing out the obvious to him.

"You can say that again," he groaned, "And one helluva tight pussy. You sure she's married?"

Before she could answer I reached my left hand behind me and flashed my wedding ring in front of his face.

"Almost a year," I declared proudly.

At that moment I couldn't help but think of Steve. Wow, I hadn't even thought about my husband since I first laid eyes on Ben and his magnificent cock. It was hard to imagine that before we got married I would have sworn that I'd never have sex with anyone outside my family once I got married and now look at me, screwing a total strange without hardly even a thought about my husband.

Well, I didn't feel all that guilty. First, I knew that Steve wouldn't mind even if he DID know about it and besides, who knew what he was really doing tonight himself. He SAID he was going out with the guys but I knew that could have just been a ruse on his part. For all I knew he had met up with my dad and Kristen's mom and was off fucking some young pussy.

Well, Steve could keep his preteen pussy for all I cared, - give me a MAN's dick any day and believe me, Ben was all man when it came to his equipment!

Up until now Ben had more or less gone with whatever Kristen or I wanted but as he fucked me more he started to take control which was fine with me. I like a man to know what he wants and then use me to get it. None of this cuckolding crap for me, I want a MAN!

"Let's try this," Ben said as he maneuvered me onto my side facing Kristen.

Mmmmmmm, I LOVE spooning sex and with Kristen right there to watch it just got better. I lifted my leg up and put my foot on his upper leg as Ben's dick pressed against me freshly fucked pussy. Once again Kristen helped out, grabbing the thick shaft and directing it where it belonged - in my pussy!

Kristen and I looked at each other as Ben took control and started to pump his cock in and out of me. As I looked at Kristen and saw her eyes drift at times toward where she could see Ben's dick doing its thing with my pussy, I couldn't help but start to wonder just what was going on here.

Who the hell was Ben? It was so unlike Kristen to bring home a man older than her, let alone maybe ten years older that I could hardly believe it was happening. Was he married? I hadn't notice any rings but then not all men wore them, especially when they were out cheating on their wife.

Hmmmmmm, as he a client? Had she decided to earn a little money on the side? Was the realty business slowing down? If he WAS a client, then she should of at least share some of the profits with me later. Not that I was doing this for the money but a few extra bucks never hurt.

It WAS strange but then with Kristen, it's always something surprising so why was I surprised? My thoughts were interrupted as Ben pulled out of me pushed me onto my stomach.

Kristen and I have worked together often enough to make quite the team and she immediately provide me with assistance by tucking a pillow under my stomach to lift my ass further up to make it easier for him to enter me.

I grimaced as I felt Ben trying to position his cock at my asshole. Noooooo, no tight Ben! I tucked my butt down as much as I cold and turned my head to Kristen with "The Look" in high gear. She knew what it meant and took the correct action - thankfully.

"Sorry Ben, she's not into that," she said to Ben, "Don't worry, you can fuck my ass later."

When it comes to sex I'm open to most anything - literally, but anal is the one thing I prefer NOT to do if at all possible. Considering every other woman in my family that I have sex with loves it, I don't really know why the gene skipped me but I truly hate it. Yes, I've done it - plenty of times, so I do know what I'm talking about. It's just one of those things my husband had to deal with but at least he has plenty of other options for it when he feels the need.

Ben didn't seem to really mind as he rammed his cock into my pussy from behind. Typical guy - so long as his dick is in SOME orifice he's happy!

As Ben hammered his thick cock into me, I was expecting him to go for missionary next as that was the typical routine for most guys. Thus it surprised me when suddenly he groaned loudly and thrust himself tight up against my bottom, driving his dick as deep into me as he could.

"That's it Ben, cum in her," Kristen encouraged him, "Fill her up for me. Give it to her!"

As hot and horny as I was, I still had enough wherewithal to wonder what she meant by that last remark. "For me"? For her entertainment to watch? For her to enjoy after he was done? What was she really wanting from all this?

Did it matter? All that DID matter to me then was the feel of Ben's magnificent dick pulsing inside of me as it shot one load after another of his sperm deep into my welcoming pussy. This was the best part - him cumming IN me instead of on my face, boobs or in my mouth or wherever some guys liked to spray it like a dog in heat.

Ben collapsed over me, barely keeping from crushing me under his weight with his elbows. I could feel him starting to pull out but then Kristen reached out to stop him.

"Stay in her Ben," she instructed him, "At least until I tell her the news."

News??????

4. Kristen's REAL Surprise

So far it had been a night of surprises but I was pretty happy so far with how things had worked out. Well, more than just happy! It certainly had been better to be fucked by a stud with a big dick than trading war stories with Kristen to see who had the craziest sexual experience (she always won but by then, who cared?)

For a moment we all remained still and quiet. It felt a little weird to just lay on my belly with this guy still plugged into me after he'd just finished cumming in me while my cousin looked on with a big grin on her face. Hmmmmmm, she had something up her sleeve.

"So tell me Kelly, did Ben fuck you good?"

Another "duh" moment but I played along and nodded.

"What was that cuz? I couldn't hear you?" she pushed me.

"YES, he fucked me great... STILL feels great in me for that matter." Indeed, I WAS enjoying the feeling of Ben's dick in me. To my mild surprise he wasn't going to take long to recover from the way I could feel him stiffening already inside of me. Oh well, if he was ready I wasn't going to argue!

"Would you want him to fuck you again sometime?"

Crap, where was she going with all this? It wasn't going to be long before he would be fucking again based on the feelings I was getting from his dick.

So anyway, I answered, "Of course... he can fuck me again NOW if he wants."

Kristen was beaming and I knew she was leading up to something.

"Well, you let your husband fuck me whenever HE wants so I guess it's only fair that I let MY husband fuck you whenever HE wants."

It took a moment for it to sink in and even then I was stunned. It wasn't possible!

"That's right cuz, you just got fucked by my brand new husband and now he's gonna fuck you again!"

It was his cue and this time Ben DID fuck me missionary before releasing a second load of cum in me. In spite of how good it should have made me feel, I hardly even noticed as I couldn't take my eyes off my younger cousin who was grinning like the Cheshire Cat.

Oh my god, my whore of a cousin was married!

5. Postlude

My intent when I started writing this was to let it end with the revelation that my cousin was married. To describe in detail the rest of the evening as the three of us fucked and sucked seems almost anticlimactic after this revelation. No matter how much Kristen licked my pussy eating her husband's cum (I still can't wrap my head around writing "her husband's cum"), I couldn't get my mind off the shocking news. It was like she was determined to see how much cum her new husband could fill her "sister" the first time they met. (It was a LOT!)

When we were done Kristen finally filled me in on some of the details. As it turned out Ben was a client of Kristen's back in her whoring days. Apparently he was smitten by more than her sexual charms as she was with him. Without telling anyone they'd been seeing each other on and off in the years since. He had been married back when he first hired her. Fortunately there were no kids involved but still, so long as he wore the ring there was never anything more they could do other than the occasional fling.

Over time they fell deeply in love and it became impossible to hide it from his wife. The divorce has just been finalized a week before I met him and they wasted no time in sealing the deal. The only people at the wedding were her mother who served as Maid of Honor and one of Ben's best friends. How her mom had kept it a secret for the past few days was mind-boggling!

Of course my Aunt Linda had been the first woman in the family to get laid by Kristen's new husband being she was the mother of the bride. Still, while she hadn't invited me to the wedding I felt honored that she wanted me to be his second in the family.

Make that I felt honored AND damn good! I've got a good feeling I know where I'm going to be looking when my husband is off with his little girls…

technically I should be having sex with the fathers, not the sons, but to most of the fathers I was way too hold to be interesting while at the same time as a "kid" I wasn't supposed to be having sex with the boys who essentially saw anyone over twenty as being the same age. It all worked out in the end but you can see why I was uncomfortable going to them.

One of the biggest concerns I had with such events was privacy and security. Sure the club was worse than Fort Knox when it came time to grant gain entry for a new member. First there were all the background checks and interviews. Assuming you made it past those then there was the "blackmail" video which was intended to ensure that people weren't trying to get in "undercover" to expose everything. If things could have been kept within the walls of the party room I wouldn't have had any issues. Unfortunately these were real people with real lives so what happens when you cross paths at the movie theater or even church? Was there a secret handshake, a wink and a smile, or were you just suppose to pretend you didn't know them? (As it turned out, the last option was the preferred one.)

As a middle school teacher I face even more dangers as can be seen on TV when a schoolteacher is involved with one of her students, even when they are of age and it's "legal". What would I do if one of my students turned out to be one of the boys who had fucked me the weekend prior? What if a teacher-parent session resulted in me being face to face with the man who had cum in me the night before? True, the odds were astronomically against such a thing ever happening when you take into account that the families come from all over southwestern Pennsylvania and neighboring Ohio and West Virginia. Heck, my aunt some came from New York and Maryland for the bigger get-togethers! While the odds may be very low, people win the lottery and look at those odds!

As it turns out, maybe I need to start buying lottery tickets...

This is my first year in the public school system. Previous years I've taught at a small Christian school with less than a hundred total students where I knew each student by name and recognized their parents when they came to pick them up. Now I'm at a huge middle school with hundreds of students, most of whom I only glimpse in the hallways between classes, and depend on their name badges to call their parents by name.

It was only a week or so into the school year when Karma struck. I was standing outside my classroom between classes monitoring the students as they made their way through the crowded hallway to their next class when someone make the best of it but to my surprise it was if anything just the opposite. Even when I finally DID spot him he stayed on the other side of the hallway. Still, he WAS a fourteen year old horny boy so he couldn't resist a brief look my way and a smirk but other than that, no contact whatsoever.

The more I thought about Ryan in the next week, the more concerned I became. In all fairness he never did anything to warrant such concern but that didn't stop me from becoming more and more paranoid. What if he decided to blackmail me? Even worse, what if he told his friends he was doing me - although I still wasn't sure that he'd even fucked me. Even if he hadn't, it wasn't like he hadn't seen me nude having sex with numerous other people.

There was only one person I could turn to in such a situation - my Aunt Linda. After all, it was really all her fault that I was in this predicament in the first place!

3. My Aunt Deals With It

"So you're SURE he was at one of them?" was her first response when I told my aunt about my situation.

Well, it's not like I had photos from the party although I knew the club did video everything for security purposes. Whatever we'd done it couldn't have been anything all that special for me not to remember him specifically. Still, there was no mistaking the lust in his eyes and the smirk on his face when his eyes all but bore through me.

"OK, so let's assume the answer is yes," she went on, her hand to her chin like she was related to Sherlock Holmes, "So what do you want me to do about it? Has he threatened you in any way?"

"Oh no!" I responded instantly. If anything I had to say he'd shown much more respect and privacy than I would've expected from my own husband back in our school days. Steve had wasted no time telling the entire school the very next day after he'd first fucked me!

"Well, how about I check to see first so we know what we're dealing with," she concluded, writing down his full name I'd given her on a Post-It Note.

When we met for drinks a few days later my aunt told me that she had been able to confirm a few things by checking out the attendance and video records of the last few parties I'd attended. Now more than ever it really helped that she's one of the top leaders after having been involved now for over twenty years or else she never would have been able to get access to such confidential information.

As it turned out Ryan and I only crossed paths during the one party so that sort of relieved me. It wasn't like I didn't remember him or didn't meet him at any others, it was just the one time. You'd think I'd remember everything from a time like that but afterwards it all sort of blurs like it's enveloped by some sort of haze or fog.

My aunt obviously had more to tell me based on the grin she was wearing so I finally managed to coax it out of her.

"Well, I watched the entire tape, fast forwarding through most of it but I kept track of all the ones you fucked - and didn't," she teased me, "Believe it or not, your little Ryan didn't fuck you or even come close although he DID do me."

My eyes widened a bit but then I'm not sure why I was surprised. My aunt loved young boys just as much as my dad did the girls and Ryan DID look like just her type. There had to be something else.

"Ok, I'll tell," she laughed, "Turns out his old man had a thing for you... fucked you twice from what I could tell although I'm not sure he came the second time."

It was like the proverbial light bulb went off over my head, only this one was a blazing searchlight. I may not remember Ryan but I had no problem remembering this guy. I just hadn't realized it was his father that had fucked me so well! Now that put a different spin on things. What made me really remember him was that he was the first one that wanted to fuck me which is sort of unusual as most fathers all go after the youngest girls first. So that sorta made him stick in my memory.

While his father - or at least his dick, was firmly imbedded in my mind, I couldn't for the life of me remember his mother although my aunt said according to the records she was there as well. I've found that usually unless their son is fucking you, most mom's don't care all that much to watch. Also, since they discourage incest at the parties to keep everyone mixing it up (which is sort of odd in that parents have to prove that they DO fuck their kids in order to join - and provide a video for security purpose as proof), I didn't see him with his mother.

The more I thought about it the more I figured that maybe that's why Ryan hadn't done anything more so far than look and a grin at me. He'd probably seen his dad fucking me but since he hadn't done me then it wasn't like he wanted to do me again. Like, he had a chance to fuck me and for whatever reason didn't take advantage of it so maybe I'm not his type, who knows? Maybe he'd been as surprised as I had been to cross paths in school. Still, it was like something hanging over my wasn't exactly on my Top Ten List. Doing him at a party was one thing as being a girl I'm more or less obligated to service anyone who asks.

In addition to providing numerous options and opportunities, the party environment provides me with what I always enjoy - an audience. The idea of just having Ryan's dad fuck me alone without even so much as Steve doing his wife didn't turn me on all that much. It wasn't like he would be cheating on his wife or anything like that which would have made it exciting.

The idea of watching my aunt being fucked by a kid half my age also wasn't something I was getting all worked up over either. Unless it involves my husband I'm not much of a voyeur and even when it IS him in the mix I still prefer to be the one being watched, not the one watching. My dilemma was my aunt has done a lot for us and I sorta felt obligated to help her out. Even though I'm sure she could've worked something out on her own with Ryan, there was still the issue of him at school cluttering my life up and I thought maybe if I did his dad then he would help keep his son on a short leash. Now it was all getting all the more complicated, one of the things I'd feared when we got into this whole scene.

Thankfully my aunt is pretty perceptive, not to mention creative, so she came up with the solution - include Ryan's mom. As it turned out THAT required some negotiating as neither of them was likely to be exactly thrilled with the idea. Steve would've been more than happy had they a daughter and she would've been the same had we a young son for her enjoyment. Still, it's no different than when we swap. Sure Steve would prefer to swap with a guy's daughter but he knows what I prefer and as a wonderful husband he tries to keep me happy too. Besides, no matter what he might say I've never seen my perpetually horny husband NOT get an erection with ANY woman he's been with!

4. Driving Over

Naturally Aunt Linda took care of all the preparations. Without any kids other than Ryan to worry about (no babysitters or other complications) she set things up for their house.

Steve drove me and my aunt over in his pickup truck with me squished in the middle of Steve and Aunt Linda. I was a little miffed at her when we first picked her up and I saw her outfit. She'd told me to just dress casual as I wouldn't be wearing it for long anyway. Taking her to her word and given it was a cool fall day, I just wore a pair of jeans and a simple blouse with sneakers. No bra or panties but why bother?

Well, my aunt tells me that and then SHE shows up in a short miniskirt, sheer white blouse with ruffles down the front, unbuttoned to below her breasts, white hose and garter belt with what had to be five or six inch black stilettos! So I look like the local babysitter and then she comes out like the local streetwalker! Talk about playing unfair...

"Now THAT is an outfit," Steve gushed as my aunt stepped into the pickup, not even pretending to not notice that her skirt hiked up to her ass in the process. He made a pointed effort to look at me and shake his head as if he was disappointed in my efforts.

"But she told me...," I tried to redeem myself but my aunt cut me off.

"Oh shush it Kelly, I can't believe you fell for that," she laughed at me with my "loyal" husband joining in. She reached over and cupped my boob with her hand. "Well, at least you didn't wear a bra!" Again, the two of them seemed to find something funny in my distress.

For a woman who has celebrated her 39th birthday multiple times, my aunt looked really hot in an outfit more suited for a high school cheerleader. God, I hope my legs look as good as hers in fifteen years or so. Granted, she'd had a boob job a few years before but that was just to tighten things up again. Way back she had a scare with a lump that turned out to be benign but the doctor was still leery about any form of implants. Actually, I think her boobs look great as they are not to9 mention they feel natural as well. I've felt up a few girls with silicone implants and it was a real turn off to feel how hard and unnatural they felt.

"So is somebody gonna tell me what the story is here anyway?" Steve asked as he turned down at the next stoplight. I'd given him the details on my school encounters and what my aunt had told me about the party.

"So no daughter?" had been his first reaction.

Can't say it surprised me knowing my husband. In all the parties we'd been to, I can't recall seeing him with even any of the older girls, let alone a mom. Still, when we swapped it was usually with a couple at least our age or older so it wasn't like he couldn't get it up for a MILF. Then there's my mom and aunt who he can't seem to get enough of when the opportunity is there.

The one older woman who I know Steve won't fuck is the one I wish the most he would - his own mother. Wow, talk about a complicated relationship! I've discussed it in detail in other diary entries so I won't repeat everything now, but how a mother and son can kiss and grope but always keep everything over their clothes and never exposing themselves, at least not without something or another over them even if sheer, is beyond me. It's like there is this invisible line that they push up tight against but never cross.

Yes, if we had arranged something like this with a family that had a twelve or thirteen year-old daughter, Steve would be driving twice as fast as he was now, that was for sure!

"So is this just one big swap?" he probed further, "I mean do we have assigned partners or what?"

I looked to my aunt for help as I wasn't quite sure myself.

"Me and Ryan, Kelly and the dad, you and the mom," Aunt Linda clicked off counting each pair off on her fingers.

"So I don't get to fuck you or my wife?"

Actually it was something I wanted to know myself so I looked at my aunt expectantly.

"Give me a break, you fuck your wife every day and sometimes I think you do the same with me!" she teased him.

Actually, based on what I knew it was more like once or twice a week so far as he and my aunt with but I wasn't gonna act as the fact-checker in this conversation.

"She isn't fat, is she?" he grumbled.

I smiled at that one. I often claim that my horny husband would fuck ANY girl given the right opportunity but that wasn't quite true. There was something about overweight women that just turned him off, cooling down his lust like a bucket of water on a fire. Even my best friend Beth, who was maybe ten or twenty pound heavier than she should have been, was on the edge with him. Fortunately she's one of those girls that when she gains weight it goes straight to two places - her hips and her boobs more so than her belly and face.

"Oh quit whining," my aunt chastised him, "You know we have standards and being obese is one of the immediate disqualifiers."

Steve just grumbled more. He clearly wasn't overly thrilled with everything but then he knew how important this was to me to have this issue put to bed - in several ways.

Then it was my turn to express a concern. It was something that had been bothering me since that first time I saw Ryan at school.

She was speaking to my husband but she was talking to me. I wasn't sure what she was talking about but it didn't take a rocket scientist to figure it out. Steve had gone out with her to one of "those" parties as we liked to call them now. I was asleep by the time he came back and in the morning when we woke up I just treated things as if nothing had happened. Steve honored his end of the bargain by not trying to tease me about it or worse, bragging about it. Our deal was he could do whatever he wanted so long as I knew about it and when he came back we only discussed it if I asked first.

Unfortunately my aunt wasn't a signature to our agreement...

"God you should have seen him Kelly... your husband is a hit with the girls, that's for sure. Compared to some of those older dad he's practically a god!" she said, trying not to giggle as she did. For a 40-something mother, she could certainly act like a teenage princess sometimes.

I could tell Steve was torn between responding to her taunts and keeping quiet next to me. He had to be bursting to say something to me. Those few times when I did encourage him to tell me about his evening he practically rattled on non-stop, making sure to cover every detail. I was never quite sure if he was just so excited afterwards about everything, bragging, or thinking he might be enticing me to join in the next time. The first two options were fine with me but he was just wishful thinking if he thought the third was ever going to happen. Yes, I would go if my husband asked, just as a wife should submit to her husband's authority. At the same time I wasn't about to volunteer!

His mouth may be shut but there was one response he couldn't control and my aunt was as quick to notice it as I was.

"Oh look Kelly, I think someone's horny and I bet I know who."

God, how far was it anyway? Years and years of past experience had taught me one thing - the only way to shut up my aunt was to give in to her or get away from her but there was no way you were ever going to shut her up once she was on a roll. It was like trying to tear away a tennis ball from a bulldog!

"Oh Kelly, lighten up," she said, poking me playfully on my upper arm, "Besides, tonight is Lady's Night, right Steve?"

Steve just rolled his eyes, keeping them on the road ahead which was filled with the usual 'burgh area traffic.

"Aunt Linda...," I tried to intervene if for nothing else than to protect Steve from her playful taunts. His dick was straining against his slacks and from the way he was licking his lips and staring straight ahead I knew it was taking every ounce of will-power to stay quiet. Then again, what would he say if he could?

"Yep, just us old ladies," she went on, leaning back against the passenger door now allowing her skirt to ride up to expose her black thong, "But then Steve likes fucking mothers, doesn't he Kelly? He's a real motherfucker!"

"C'mon Linda!" Steve finally burst out, unable to contain himself any longer.

"Oh don't tell me you don't want some of this," she countered, pulling her thong aside to reveal her trimmed pussy. She taken to trimming it lately instead of the bushy look she and my mom had always preferred. With her one hand pulling it to the side, the other started to rub her crotch, pushing inside of her pussy to wet it and then circling her clit.

What could I say? Actually I didn't do it with my aunt all that much considering how often I saw her naked and having sex with my dad and husband. I'd never say this to anyone but she did have a hotter body than my mom and while my mom was as sexual as any woman, when it came to sheer sluttiness and exhibitionism, my aunt won the battle of the sisters hands down. I couldn't help myself as I stared down at her masturbating as Steve tried to navigate and get a glance without causing a car wreck.

"So tell me Kelly, what do you think of your motherfuckin' husband? Let's see... he's done your mother and the mother of your cousin - me. Tonight he'll add another notch to his belt. Who knows, maybe someday he'll finally do his own mom."

I stiffened as soon as the words were spoken. Damn, she knew better than to say anything about Steve and his mom. Sure, he and Marlene did it once but that was over thirteen years ago and today was a forbidden topic of discussion. If I so much as hinted at the subject Steve would go into a funk and sometimes not talk to me for the rest of the night.

"Yeah I bet you both would like to watch THAT, wouldn't you?" Steve responded.

As I worked to get my jaw back in place I looked at my husband as if I was seeing him for the first time.

"I don't know who you are but where's my husband and what did you do to him?" I asked in disbelief.

"Lighten up Kelly," I was told now for the second time tonight, "Just teasing you know."

As he finished he pulled into the driveway of a home in a relatively new subdivision. It was one of those tracts where every house seemed to look the same with only the numbers on the identical mailboxes giving any clue as to which was which. Judging from the size of the trees and the sparse lawns it looked like it wasn't all that old.

"Awwwwww, just when things were getting interesting," my aunt whined as she tugged her thong back in place again, licking off her fingers in the process.

As we got out of the car, something told me the "interesting things" were yet to come…

5. Sacrificing to the Karma Gods

Heath answered the door. I instantly recognized him, even with his clothes on. He was over six feet tall with a build that suggested an earlier career in football or some other sport. He either was shaving his head and past due for maintenance or just kept his hair extremely short with just enough showing to reveal a graying along the sides. His dark brown eyes practically bore a hole through me as he greeted us and welcomed us in.

No sooner were we in and the door closed behind us than Ryan's mother came out from the kitchen wearing nothing but an apron. It was one of those that came up to your chest but still did nothing to hide anything in back and even in front her boobs were plainly visible. Obviously she wasn't wasting any time!

Last to come in was Ryan. As he came down the stairs both my aunt and me looked to watch his make his entrance. After seeing his mother's choice of wardrobe I was half-expecting him to just stroll in nude but he was wearing a loose pair of gum shorts and a tight cotton muscle shirt. Wow, it was hard to believe he was only fourteen.

"Why don't we all take as eat for a moment and get to know each other," his mother said, introducing herself as Susanne as her husband never bothered making the proper introductions. It might have had something to do with his fixation on my ass...

Judging by the general decor, I'd say Ryan's family wasn't exactly listed in the social register. Everything was neat and clean but the furniture looked old and well-used and overall the place was barely decorated. Definitely not one of the "1%ers".

Steve and I took a seat on the love seat while my aunt sat on a chair, leaving the couch for the three of them. Ryan took one said while his dad took the other, leaving the idle for Susanne. I found it interesting that Heath leaned on the arm of the couch, away from the others while Susanne snuggled up tight against Ryan as Ryan's hand worked its way under the apron onto her bare thigh. Hmmm, what was that my aunt had called him.... a "Momma's boy"?

After a rather awkward pause my aunt took up the lead.

First I want to say I think it's great that everyone agreed to meet today and work this out. As you know, we don't get this sort of thing very often so we don't really have an established protocol."

Ryan looked confused and seemed about to speak when his dad spoke first saying, "She means they don't have a clue what to do."

Aunt Linda just smiled and nodded and continued, "I'm sure you both understand Kelly's concerns as a teacher when she realized that Ryan remembered her from the party this past summer."

"Like who would forget?" Heath cut in, still staring at me.

"Heath, behave yourself," Susanne admonished her husband, smacking him lightly on the leg.

"Sorry babe, I have NO intention of behaving myself," he replied with a grin as he locked eyes with me.

"Ignoring my ridiculously horny husband," Susanne continued almost apologetically, "Personally I thought Linda's suggestion was better than anything I would've thought of."

I couldn't help but think to myself why everyone couldn't simply have agreed to just follow the rules and shut up, leaving it at that. Still, if this is what it was going to take to make everyone happy - and close-mouthed, then I was up to the challenge.

The three of us hadn't hardly said a word other than hello but Susanne seemed more than willing to carry the conversation all on her own so we let her go on.

"There WAS one thing that the guys suggested that I thought was a pretty good idea though."

If I was my Yorkie then my ears would have been pointed up stiff and straight. Something was coming up that was going to screw everything up, I just knew it.

"I know we'd agreed on the pairings but before that starts..., well as you know the rules keep certain thing from happening at the parties, you know?"

My mind was racing trying to solve the puzzle of her story before she concluded. There really weren't all that many rules once you were in. Indeed, it was getting in that was the hard part! That left only a few things on the table... full nudity 100% of the time except socks or shoes, no incestual sex (that was for home, not the party), no voyeurism - you had to stay actively involved although breaks were permitted. Of course everything had to be consensual but that was pretty much a given if you were there in the first place unless you took into account things like no anal.

Well, that pretty much left just one thing then and sure enough, that was where Susanne was heading - incestual sex.

"I don't know about you Steve, but I know my guys would LOVE to see Kelly and her aunt get it on. As for Ryan here, it's not often he gets to have an audience when we do it, right baby?" she asked as Ryan looked hungrily at his mother as she sat all but nude beside him.

My first reaction was something like, "What the f....?" but when I looked at Steve he seemed totally into the idea. I guess when I think about it he hadn't really seen me with my aunt all that often, as in hardly ever. Based on the amount of mother-son "incest" porn that proliferates on the Internet (yeah right, like the two paid skanks had ever seen each other before the camera was rolling), the image of a young boy with an older woman especially his mother, seems to be extremely erotic for most men.

Looking over at my aunt, I was hoping she would see the confusion in my eyes as I just sat there waiting for someone to say what to do next. It's not like I'm exactly shy, but given I hadn't been entirely confident about this entire affair now that a new wrinkle had been thrown in I was just looking for a little guidance.

"Well, I think that's enough small-talk, let's get this party started," my aunt said a little too loudly, standing up and clapping her hands together once as if she needed to get everyone's attention. Judging from the adoring stares of the three men (I guess you could call Ryan a man in this situation) it was totally unnecessary.

As she started stripping in the middle of the room, she turned to me and waved me up with her hand saying, "Let's go girl, get 'em off."

So much for worrying about what to wear. In a few moments it didn't matter that my aunt had dressed to the nines while I was just casual, in the end we both wore the same suit - birthday suits that is.

Meanwhile Susanne had easily removed her apron and the three of us stood in a row as Steve moved over to take Susanne's place on the couch. It was a little snug, especially for men, but their thoughts were far away from worrying about any latent homosexual concerns.

As for what happened next, let's just say the old adage, "Two's company, three's a crowd," proved itself to be once again applicable, at least when all three are the same sex. While I could never be a full-blown lesbian (I love cocks WAY too much to even think about such a thing) I don't mind the company of another woman now and then. For me the difference is that I can more or less enjoy myself with just about any man so long as he can achieve an erection. I mean like one dick is pretty much like another and if all I want is sex then does it really matter who it's connected to?

With another girl it's a much different situation. Face it, she's not going to fuck me as she doesn't have the essential equipment and I'm really not into strap-ons and dildos for the most part. Yeah, a double ended dildo can be fun but that's about the extent for me. To just have sex with another woman for the sake of sex doesn't make sense since technically we can't have sex! So why bother?

For me being intimate with another girl means just that - being intimate. That's why for the most part I only do it with close friends and family, in other words people who mean something to me emotionally. The first woman I ever had sex with was my mother, followed closely by her sister. Yet when people ask me who the first girl I was with I usually say my Freshman roomie at college as she was the first girl I was with just for the fun of it (not to mention I was horny as hell under the restrictions imposed by my ultra-strict university).

I've often said that sex is 20% physical and 80% emotional. The best sex is more than just a dick in my pussy, it's when it means something for it to be there. Like when my dad fucks me it means my own father is expressing his love and respect for me. Like when my husband makes love to me and I know he loves me more than any other woman in the world. It's like when a married man fucks me despite the risks and the betrayal to his family just because he craves my body more than his honor and marriage. Take away the emotional aspect and it I may as well masturbate - well, not quite that extreme but you get the idea.

That's when I have sex with a man... With a woman the numbers change to maybe 5% physical and 95% emotional. Sure I love the feel of a woman's smooth naked body against my own. Yes I believe that there are few men who can lick my pussy as well as most girls and practically none for whom it's something they do instinctively well. Of course a woman can bring me to orgasm and I LOVE the taste and smell of pussy but it's not the same as being fucked by a man and tasting his cum and dick.

So here I was, standing in the middle of the room with three horny men watching while my aunt and Susanne wasted no time going at it. It's like one moment they were just getting up from their seats and the next they were in a 69 on the floor with my aunt on top of Ryan's mother, leaving me standing there like a third wheel – a naked third wheel at that!

I guess I could have butted in and maybe we could have gotten into a circle where each of us was eating the other out but it was almost like the two of them wanted each other more than being worried about putting on a show which is what I had thought the intention of this little show had been. I knew my aunt was heavy into women (not to mention young girls) and apparently so was Susanne, or at least she was taking full advantage of the opportunity.

Looking over at the guys, all three of them were sitting on the edge of their seats staring at the two older women just a few feet in front of them making lewd comments and comparisons. Steve glanced my way once, maybe more out of guilt than anything, but even her was more interested in the lesbian action than me at the moment. What the hell, I figured why not take a seat and enjoy the show myself so I returned to the love seat and nestled back into the corner. I lifted one leg up and put my foot on the seat while allowing the other to hang over the side with my foot on the floor for balance. This served two purposes – it made it easy to masturbate and hopefully gain some attention from the peanut gallery.

Not surprisingly it was Ryan who was the first to succumb to his urges. Without taking his eyes off his mother he reached down and undid his jeans enough to get his hard dick out and started stroking it slowly. It wasn't long before the other two matched, even my husband who I knew want all that thrilled about masturbating in front of other men. One thing I can definitely say about my husband, he doesn't have a homosexual gene in his body! No crossing of swords when Steve was involved.

It was more interesting than erotic for me to watch the two mothers licking each other to orgasm but I always enjoy masturbating so for the moment I focused as much on my own shaved pussy as the other two hairy ones in the room. I even managed to get a few looks from the guys but when Susanne reached orgasm first all see earlier. It was like they enjoyed what they were doing to me but they were also getting off being watched by the guys. I guess you could say it was the best of both worlds.

Some orgasms sneak up on you, building slowly and then they are there without almost realizing it. Not this one! I was already pretty worked up from masturbating so it wasn't like my two benefactors were starting from scratch. Then with the two of them using every bit of experience from their thirty or so years of sexual activity it didn't take long for me to cum. Oh god did I cum! It was like somebody took the volume control on my pussy and suddenly gave it a twist, going from soft and mellow to hard rock screaming loud. My hips thrust up against Susanne's face as my arms reached out to my sides and my fingers dug into the carpet.

"OH MY GOD!" I cried out as my entire body felt like each cell was going to burst with pleasure. Talk about the big "O", this was one for the books as both women continued their assault on my boobs and pussy, undeterred by my cries of ecstasy and writhing about. My pussy felt almost like I was taking a pee as my cum poured onto Susanne's waiting tongue, lapping it up like a cat at a bowl of warm milk.

"OK, my turn... let me have taste of that pussy," I heard my aunt say as she released the grip her teeth had on my nipple.

Susanne apparently wasn't ready to put up a fuss as I felt her hair lift off my leg and soon my aunt's mouth and tongue replaced hers, licking my up and down my pussy slit.

"Mmmmmmm, one thing I have to say Susanne, my niece has always had a great tasting pussy, especially after she cums hard like this."

I had my eyes close, laying there flat on the floor, letting the last vestiges of that fantastic orgasm slowly fade away, only to be jolted back no and then when my aunt would tease my clit with her tongue.

"So when did you first get to taste her?" I heard Susanne ask. I had a feeling she was asking as much for the sake of turning on her audience as she was interested in the response.

"Sweet sixteen," my aunt replied, getting back up to her knees again, "If it hadn't been for her mom I would have been her first."

Evidently that was enough background information for Susanne. I opened my eyes and saw Susanne turning to face the three horny guys in front of her.

"Well, was that enough to get you guys ready?" she teased them. Yeah, like they really needed anything from the moment we all walked in!

They nodded and grunted agreement so Susanne took control saying, "Then why the fuck are you still dressed?"

They didn't need any further encouragement, each of them quickly standing up and stripping off their clothes, throwing them back on the couch in three piles. I was so proud of my hunk of a husband as he clearly had the best physique - not to mention the biggest dick. Steve may not have an exceptionally large dick but today he had the distinction of being the "big man". Heath had the edge when it came to thickness though. While his was the shortest, it was unquestionably the fattest and I could remember back at the party how my hand barely fit around it. Ryan won the award for the hardest by which I mean when they stood up Ryan's dick was pointing straight at the ceiling with a hint of droop. Heath's, even when erect, still hung down while Steve's was almost as stiff in the upward direction as Ryan but just not quite there. In any case, Steve's was easily the longest which I'm sure he'd already figured out. Guys always say they have no interest in dicks but ask them who has the biggest in the locker room and they can tell you in an instant.

When Steve and I swap we almost always split out into separate rooms so I just assumed we would do that as well but then I guess I was the only one thinking of this as a normal swap. Then again, there hadn't been anything "normal" about all this from the first time my eyes met Ryan's in that school hallway.

Eventually the guys just moved in on us and things just sorta morphed into sucking and fucking right there in the family room. We started out in the pairing I'd expected - Steve took Susanne, Ryan went to Aunt Linda, while Heath and me were back together again. Seeing how I was getting a replay while Susanne and my aunt were getting first timers, I felt a little jealous but then it wasn't like heath was a slouch when it came to sex.

As I'd expected, once Steve got into it he was more than happy to fuck Susanne, even if she was three or four times older than he would have preferred. He even came in her twice! During the course of the day he pretty much stuck with her although he did fuck both me and my aunt briefly, just enough to show he cared but not really as much as I would have liked. Then again, he was 100% mine after we left so in the end I got the better deal.

As for Ryan, he eventually won the award for most loads of cum with a total of four. Actually he probably could have gone for more as he was still hard when we left. Yes, the advantage of being a young teenage boy, LOL. Ryan's first load went in Aunt Linda's pussy, then he turned his attention to my mother as he and Steve switched places. I think Steve preferred my aunt actually as she WAS my aunt which made it sexy for him compared to just doing another mother. The fact she had a daughter who loved to join in didn't hurt things either I'm sure.

Meanwhile Heath was giving me all of his attention. I was the only one he fucked the entire time, showing no interest in my aunt and I could only figure that his wife would get it later so why waste precious resources on her now? He confessed early on that he'd taken a heavy of Viagra which probably was helping him maintain an erection as loving as he did. It was no four hours like the commercials warn against but he still maintained it for a respectable time before he finally released himself deep inside of me.

Before that though we went through the usual sequence that seems to happen when you have sex with a guy who watches too much porn. First he stood as I squatted down in front of him and sucked his rigid dick while playing with myself. He had a nice thick crop of pubic hair which always turns me on, especially when I would take his dick fully in my mouth and push my face into his crotch so the coarse hair pressed against my face. He'd obviously showered from the faint scent of body wash but that was overpowered by the thick musk of his lust which turned me on even more.

I probably could have easily gotten him off with just a blowjob and evidently Heath was well aware of that possibility as well so he only allowed me to suck him a short while before taking a seat on the couch and beckoning me to get up and ride his dick. I started out facing him, my hands on his shoulders as he held his fat dick up for me to drop myself down on. Like most guys with really thick cocks, he didn't have the stiffness of a thinner dick like his son's but it was enough to get the job done. As wet as I was after my recent ministrations from my aunt and his wife, even as thick as he was he was able to push it in me without a great deal of difficulty.

"Oh Heath, if feels so big in me," I sighed as I dropped down on him until my butt was sitting on his lap with his dick now completely out of site as it penetrated me. Never hurts to massage the male ego!

"Fuck you're so tight!" he groaned, returned the favor.

Even though I knew he was probably saying it out of the heat of the moment, I still appreciated it knowing how many young pussy's he'd probably fucked over the years. Also, I'm pretty proud of how tight I've been able to maintain my pussy over the years. Still, to be honest with myself I'm almost twice the age as I was when I took in my first cock and since then hundreds more have followed. To expect me to still be as tight as I was as a fourteen year-old teenager was simply unrealistic but then Steve told me I was still tighter than my cousin and she was two years younger than me. Of course god knows what her pussy had been through during her whoring days but I still loved the comparison anyway.

Once I'd ridden his dick for a while - and noted that in his position he was able to watch the others as well, I laid on my belly on the couch with one leg hanging over and he entered me from behind. It was actually quite comfortable! I had my head on a pillow with another under me to make it easier for him to get in me and once he was in he did most of the "work", allowing me to enjoy the feel of him in me while at the same time observing my husband fucking Susanne and Ryan doing my aunt.

That didn't last long though as Heath evidently didn't like this position as much as soon he pulled out of me and flipped me over on my back, keeping the pillow under my ass so my pussy stuck up in the air towards him.

"I've been waiting to fuck you since that last party," he said in a voice husky with lust as he grabbed his fat dick and positioned it at the entrance to my pussy. "Perfect combination... married but still young enough to be tight as a teenager."

Ahhhhhh, so THAT was what was making him want me so much. Well, whatever gets his rocks off I guess. Evidently he liked fucking other wives, probably swapped a lot like Steve and I did. Still, I suppose most of those other couples had kids and face it, no pussy ever fully recovers from that sort of abuse. I've actually heard of women having C-sections just to keep their pussies tight and firm!

With my head propped up on the arm of the couch and my pussy pushed up by the pillow, I had a ringside seat to watch as he pressed his dick in me. Oh sure, this wasn't my first rodeo and I'd seen a lot of other dicks doing exactly what his was doing now. That didn't matter - the rest were all past history. What DID matter was the one I was watching now - the one I could feel as it forced its way into my wet pussy, stretching me out as it slowly penetrated me. I think I could be fucked by a thousand dicks and still feel that thrill as I watch a man entering me and at the same time feel it inside of me.

Heath continued until he was bottomed out in me with the base of his dick now pressed against my bare pussy, his pubic hair smashed in between us and rubbing me like a hair brush as he rotated his hips to move his dick inside of me. It sort of tickled yet at the same time was erotic.

Meanwhile the others had swapped after having cum in their respective targets but Heath was obviously trying to extend himself as long as possible. Odds were that even with the Viagra he was going to be a musket compared to the other's machine guns with just one load before an extended recovery time. It was no different than when my dad fucked my these days so I understood why he was taking his time. Sometimes when he must have been getting close he would just stop thrusting and stay still inside of me, probably leaking precum but holding back the grand finale.

"You can cum in my mouth Heath," I offered to him.

The reason I said that was I knew that for some guys it was a bigger turn-on to cum in my mouth. They wanted to fuck me until they were just about to ejaculate and then rush their dick so they could watch their cum shoot into my open mouth and cover my tongue after which I would swallow it all down. Personally I preferred them to stay in me but I try my best to make guys happy and so long as they keep it out of my eyes and hair it's not all that bad.

"Oh no," he all but chuckled at my offer, "You're getting it all where it belongs - your tight little cunt."

Just then we both turned as Ryan called out loudly, "Oh mom, I'm cumming!"

Considering how much sex I've been involved with over the years, it may be surprising to some people who little I'd witnessed this - a son cumming in his mother. I know my mom had often expressed her disappointment in not having son to fuck her - hence her glee at having a son-in-law finally. But as for watching a mom and son having sex, this was a rather unique opportunity for me!

"You like seeing your son fucking his mom?" I asked Heath who was holding himself still with his dick buried as far into me as he could push it.

Heath laughed softly before answering, "It was a little weird at first, I'll admit it, but these days he helps keep her satisfied so I'm not complaining."

I was thinking his son was doing more than just that but then he added on his own thoughts on the matter.

"Besides, he's my ticket to the dance," Heath said with a naughty grin.

Another time and I would have loved to hear more about just how Ryan and his mom had gotten started and then how as a family they got involved with the other families. Like how did they even hear about it? If it wasn't for my aunt I wouldn't have a clue such a group even existed! Instead, as Ryan finished cumming in his mother his dad returned his focus to fucking me, stroking himself harder and faster now. Evidently seeing his wife taking his son's cum had motivated him to cum himself!

"Well, if you insist," he teased me, stroking his erection in front of me, "But just this once, OK?"

Now who was lying through his teeth. I saw the way he was looking at me, the way his eyes fixed on my pussy as he rubbed his hard dick. He wanted to do me as badly as I did him and there was no way he could say otherwise.

I turned back over my back and spread my legs, reaching out to him with my arms. There was no foreplay, not even a kiss. He didn't even touch me except to press my legs a little further apart as he worked his way between them. Putting his hands on the armrest on each side of my head, I reached down to guide his dick into me. No sooner than he felt the warmth of my pussy against the tip of his cock, he thrust himself into me, sliding all the way in as his dick was lubricated by my wet pussy along with the remains of his father's cum.

Neither of us said a word the entire time Ryan fucked me. I turned and say the other four were watching us, my husband with his arm around my aunt while Susanne and Heath remained seated on the floor a few feet apart. Was this what they had been waiting for, to see Ryan fucking me? To see the student fucking the teacher? Granted, I wasn't one of his teachers but it was close enough.

After having fucked my aunt twice and his mother once you would have thought the fourth time would take a bit of work but either he was just a young stud or the excitement of fucking a teacher was enough to get him going again. Maybe a bit of both? In any case it seemed like he had just started doing me when he grunted and turned to look at his mom and I knew he was cumming in me.

In that instant yet another moral principle crumbled - I was fucking a student and letting him cum in me! Of course every boy I'd fucked was technically a student but in this case it was one I actually saw in school. It would have been even worse if he was actually in one of my classes but meeting in the hallways was close enough.

Once Ryan has unloaded, he leaned back and pulled out of me, returning back to the arms of his mother. Wow, talk about impersonal sex. He'd fucked me, cum in me, and now was off me having touched me with not much more than his cock and never having said a word the entire time.

That pretty much ended the day. As we dressed Heath pulled me aside and asked if we could meet again more privately but I told him it would have to be at another party. I tried to be polite but I really wasn't into doing a guy in his situation. There's just something about having his wife's permission, make that encouragement even, that just doesn't appeal to me. That said I wouldn't be opposed to a regular swap sometime without Ryan's involvement but we typically try not to meet with people a second time unless they were really special.

Once he had struck out, Heath gathered his things, said a quick goodbye and headed off probably to take a shower. Ryan and his mom took a seat on the love seat while the three of us sat on the couch. We were all still naked but it wasn't like anyone really was making a big deal out of it. I almost smiled as I thought about how my mom use to fuss if my dad and I sat on the furniture after sex, telling us to get cleaned up first if we were going to stay naked.

"Well, THAT was pretty good if you ask me," Susanne broke the silence, reaching over to grab her son's dick.

It wasn't like she intended to really do anything but more like she just enjoyed holding it. I could relate as I often did the same with Steve when we would watch TV or sit in a movie theater. Just the feel of his cock in my hand made me feel secure and loved.

"I think so too," Aunt Linda responded, "Your son there is quite a lover."

Susanne smiled and wiggled Ryan's dick a little in her hand. "Yeah, I've got quite the little motherfucker on my hands."

"Mom!" Ryan protested and I got the impression this was a routine they'd played out before.

"Sorry, you're definitely not little!" Susanne corrected herself and then she leaned over to kiss him.

Steve was looking a little bored so I reached onto his lap and took hold of his dick, giving it a playful squeeze. He wasn't flaccid by any means even after satisfying my aunt and Susanne, but his semi-erect dick was no match at the moment for young Ryan's.

Then my aunt turned her attention to me saying, "So Kelly, another milestone?"

I looked at her sharply but she didn't take the hint and instead seemed to think I didn't understand what she was saying.

"You know, screwing a student?" she went on, "After all that fussing about it you certainly didn't seem to mind when it finally happened."

What was I supposed to say? I was wrong all those years when I vowed this sort of thing would never happen? That I was now going to act as a wolf in an unguarded herd of sheep, seeking out every young charge in my class for sex? Well, THAT was never going to happen and she knew it.

There was no sense in trying to argue with her. My aunt was like dealing with a huge supertanker - you couldn't stop it but you could change its course.

"So tell me Susanne, how did you and Ryan get started?"

It worked. My aunt was obviously more interested in the answer to that question than teasing me as she turned her attention to Susanne.

Susanne just shrugged as if it was no big deal for me to ask her and she then spent the next five or ten minutes giving us the rundown on her family. Like most of the people I'd had a chance to talk with who were involved with their kids, they were first generation in that incest was not in their DNA. What I mean is that they didn't have sex with other members of their family, not now or any time in the past.

Apparently it was actually Ryan who got things started. As an only child with a father who travelled a lot for work, he spent a lot of time home alone with his mother. While not intending anything sexual, she had let him sleep next to her at night when Heath was gone on trips, not realizing the effect that was having on him as he got older. While not dressing in full pajamas, she didn't wear sexy lingerie at night but rather typical nightgowns like most women wear to bed.

Things began to change when puberty hit Ryan like a truck and he learned what his penis was for. Ryan blushed as his mother told us about how he was a masturbating fanatic when he was twelve. Like most kids, he had no idea that his mom knew pretty much everything he did. I smiled as she poked Ryan and said, "You didn't think I could smell those wet tissues that started filling the garbage can in your room, did you?"

Then there was the crusty underwear and pajama bottoms, not to mention the porn he starting hiding under his bed. He started locking the bathroom door, taking much longer than usual to finish his business. Susanne said she had mentioned all this to heath but they had agreed it was all just a normal part of a boy becoming a man.

The straw that broke the camel's back was one day when Susanne was making Ryan's bed and while tucking in the sheets she noticed something under the mattress which turned out to be a pair of her panties that had obviously been stolen from the laundry as they weren't clean. Not only had they not been washed, but she noted that they were covered with dried cum as well. Again, she brought this up to her husband and was mildly surprised at his response - he'd done the same with his mother's underwear so it was just a phase Ryan was going through.

Susanne wasn't exactly all that straight-laced when it came to sex and actually considered herself rather open-minded. She's given up her virginity when she was sixteen and had a healthy, if somewhat limited, sex life for the remainder of high school. She had planned on going to college but then she met Heath and they got married - against their parent's advice. While happy in her marriage, they both knew their sex life had dwindled since the birth of their son so Heath found out about this swapping group and they managed to get admitted.

Some of the other couples they swapped with had sons as well and Susanne learned that her son wasn't much different from the rest. In fact, one mother had told her she should feel lucky that Ryan wasn't trying to spy on her or even trying on her underwear. They almost unanimously had the same advice - give him some rope, don't embarrass him and he'd grow out of it.

There was one mother though who hinted at something more. While not coming right out and saying it, there was a definite hint that a son could be satisfying in more ways than one. The idea of having sex with her own son was shocking to Susanne, but at the same time it got her thinking about it...

Not long after she was doing laundry and was carrying the laundry basket to Ryan's room with his fresh clothes. The door to his room was cracked, as if he had meant to shut it but it hadn't fully shut and was now opening up slightly. Just as she was about to knock and walk in she heard a groaning sound and at first she about burst in thinking something was wrong. Just as she was about to push on the door she heard Ryan inside.

"Oh mom, I want to fuck you so bad!"

Well, THAT got her attention so she laid the laundry basket down and tried to look through the crack but she could barely see his head as he laid on the bed. Ever so carefully she pushed on the door gently until she could see inside. To her shock and amazement, there was her baby boy laying naked on the bed rubbing his dick with what had to be a pair of her panties while holding up a photo of her and him that was supposed to be on the coffee table in the living room. Evidently he'd been at it for a while because as she watched she saw him grown and start shooting his cum into her panties.

Not knowing what else to do, Susanne backed away from the door and picked up the laundry basket, trying to sneak away without alerting her son that she'd seen what he was doing. Unfortunately the floor squeaked loudly as she stepped back,

It was dark in the room once he got in bed and she turned off the light. Susanne had been masturbating to get herself ready, afraid that if she wasn't really horny she might not go through with it. She could only imagine poor Ryan in the dark next to her, next to his half-naked mother who he'd been masturbating about so much lately.

Knowing that as the mother it was up to her to make the first moved, Susanne snuggled up to Ryan and draped her leg over his, pressing her crotch in against his hip. Ryan didn't move, like he was frozen.

There was so much she wanted to say to him but she didn't trust her voice. As much as she wanted this to happen, how could she actually SAY it? The room was deathly quiet, the only sound the deep breathing from Ryan which was definitely quicker than it had been before.

Reaching down, Susanne pushed her hand under the waistband of her son's boxers and reached down to find his erect dick waiting for her. From there one thing led to another yet the entire time, neither of them said a word. By the time they eventually fell asleep in each other's arms, Susanne had sucked her son's dick and felt him on top of her with that same dick buried deeply in his mother's pussy, followed not long after by the first of several loads of cum he would release into her that night.

The next morning she woke first. They were both nude in bed, the covers flung off so she had the perfect view of her son's naked body. Her first thoughts were something like, OH my god, what have I done?" but those soon cleared to make way for, "God I HAVE to have that again."

This time they spoke. With the room lit she could now see his dick as it entered her and they each expressed their pent up desires for the other. Now that the dam was broke, it was like she had unleashed a sexual monster. While Heath was away, it was like he was asking her to let him fuck her all the time and with the regenerative powers of a boy just entering his teens, it was almost overwhelming for Susanne.

Susanne actually told her husband what happened on the phone that day but it wasn't until he returned that he got to see it for himself. Ryan was really worried and nervous when Susanne said his father wanted to watch but once his dick was in her mouth it was like he didn't even know his dad was in the room.

That was pretty much it until a few months back. Susanne was feeling rather guilty that she was getting all the joy of a son while poor Heath was getting sloppy

6. Postlude

It goes without saying that I was a nervous wreck the next school day. On the one hand I couldn't believe I'd let Ryan fuck me - and that I had been the one to ask at that. On the other hand it was like a load had been lifted from my shoulders in that it was done and over. No more sly looks in the hallway, no more worrying about whether he would say anything to me or worse, to anyone else.

The best thing about the whole affair was confirmed the first time Ryan passed me in school. He looked at me, smiled, and then just walked on without even a smirk like he'd done before. It was like we now shared something that was between just the two of us and didn't need to expand beyond that. I have to say I had never expected it to turn out this well. Yes, Ryan had fucked me but it was about as impersonal and basic as sex can be. He hadn't even touched me, let alone kiss me! It was like he was telling me, yeah, I can fuck you if I want but I really don't want to.

Had almost any other man told me that or even implied it I would have been offended majorly. But this was something special and unique. Yes, I'd fucked a student but that's all it was. It was done and over so should anything happen in the future it wasn't like I would be violating a scared vow. Not that I plan on starting to have sex with my students - far from it. I still have way too many fears about being found out to think of ever doing anything like that.

If I wanted to be technical, Ryan was no more one of my students than any of the other boys I've been with recently so let me close with this... I will NEVER have sex with one of my students. And this time I mean it!

(Nov 25) Chapter 253: Thanksgiving With My Grandmother

Story codes: M+F+ oral inc father daughter aunt uncle niece
Me (27)
John - my dad (47)
Steve - my husband (29)
Kristen - cousin (25)
Ben - Kristen's husband (44)

It wasn't what we'd originally planned but even though it was last minute everything worked out in the end. Given my grandmother's passive opposition to incest we knew things might become a bit uncomfortable but at the same time maybe the "naughty factor" of doing it despite her misguided sense of morals helped things along.

1. Family Changes

For Thanksgiving our family normally rotates the duties to a different home each year so one family isn't burdened with all the housecleaning and preparations. As a rule this means my dad's side and then Christmas is typically reserved for my mother's side.

This year was my dad's turn to play host which seemed to surprise him. The last time the family gathered at his house he and my mom were still married and my mom did all the work. Somehow or another he apparently figured that since he was now living alone that it somehow disqualified him from the list. Well, he learned that he can't have his cake and eat it too. His older brother Paul solemnly informed him that so long as he was shacking up with his ex-wife's sister then he didn't qualify as "living alone" - even though both of my aunts were rather horrified with the arrangements. In the end though, they were willing to put aside their personal feelings in exchange for not having to host the dinner themselves. Isn't it amazing how people can adjust their principles when it suits them?

Having my Aunt Linda there to help was actually not the least bit of help. Unlike my mom the perfectionist home keeper, her sister was pretty much useless around the house. Her primary "duty" was to have sex with my dad and everyone knew it. Even when she and Kristen were living together Kristen did all the housework or the place was a wreck. Come to think of it, it was usually a wreck!

With my mom out of the picture things quickly deteriorated so my dad had to hire in a maid to do the laundry and housework. When I heard about his Thanksgiving predicament, against my better judgment I offered my help which unfortunately (at least for me) he quickly accepted. While I may not be Martha Stewart, compared to my Aunt Linda I belong on the cover of her magazine, LOL. The one good thing about the deal was how my dad showed his "appreciation" for all my hard work at the end of each day. Somehow I still think HE was the one that got the better deal - housework done AND sex most every day with his daughter.

After all my hard work and just a few days before Thanksgiving, wouldn't you know it but our plans were changed. My grandmother on my mother's side called saying she was depressed and was hoping somehow her family could visit her for Thanksgiving rather than leaving her all alone. Well, what can you say when you get THAT sort of phone call? Next thing I knew we were all packing up in my dad's SUV. I can't say the rest of the family was all too thrilled with my dad bailing out on such short notice but it's not like they had to change flights or anything serious.

Sadly, there was one other "casualty" from our change of plans. Steve's mom had reluctantly accepted my invitation to join our family for Thanksgiving as her other two kids still live out in California. Once we changed our plans and chose to go out of town Marlene decided to stay home rather than make the trip. I think she already felt like a fifth wheel no matter how much we told her it wasn't so and that she was more than welcome to come with us. As things have turned out it's probably best that Marlene didn't come as the SUV was packed between the six of us and our luggage but then I'm sure we could have found a way around it.

Another reason that it was probably good that Steve's mom didn't come was that coming over to my dad's house for the day with the rest of the family was one thing. Traveling and spending a few days away from home was quite another. Steve's mom didn't believe in incest, even though her two youngest kids were now "married" and living as a couple - something that definitely didn't thrill her. Steve and I have never disclosed the incestual nature of my family to his mom so trying to hide anything over the course of the long weekend would have been difficult to say the least.

Even without Steve's mom the family status quo at my grandmother's house was going to be a little... unusual to say the least. When you look at my mom's side of the family, basically all of us are involved with each other sexually to one degree or another so it would be natural for an outsider to assume that my grandmother would be as well. Ahhhhhh, the dangers of assumptions...

To briefly put things in context for this who haven't read the entirety of my diary, my grandfather was actually was the one to initiate what has become a family tradition by taking my mom's virginity just after she turned fourteen. I say "took" as that is more correct than any other phrasing as she really didn't have much say over the matter. For whatever reason he somehow decided at that moment that she was old enough for sex. It didn't happen on her birthday or any other special time. He simply came to her bedroom one night and took her for his own pleasure. He never told anyone exactly what drove him to do it and now that he is dead we'll never know.

My mother didn't fight him or say no but then she was barely fourteen at the time and my grandfather was not the type of man ANYONE said no to, let alone a young teenage girl taken by surprise in the dark of night. Some people have told me they feel that he raped her but my mom has always maintained that it was consensual. Planned? NO. Something she had dreamed about? NO. Something she accepted and learned to enjoy? Definitely YES.

Sometimes you hear about such things and the father tries to hide what he is doing from his wife but not my grandfather. He didn't even try to hide what he was doing from my grandmother. If anything, he told her right afterwards what he'd done, almost as if he was daring her to do anything about it or protest. My grandmother definitely didn't approve of what he'd done but she kept her mouth shut. As you might be getting the idea, my grandfather was a very controlling man and neither his wife or daughters dared to confront him. Not surprisingly there was no saying "no" when he wanted something and that included his oldest daughter's virginity.

Seeing how my mom shared a bedroom with her sister, it wasn't like Linda didn't know what was going on between her dad and sister. Whereas my mom once told me that it took her a while to fully understand and accept what her father was demanding of her, her younger sister Linda was more than anxious to be included.

Like most younger sisters, she wanted everything her older sister had and that included sex with their dad. So as you can see, the two of them have always had quite different attitudes about incest from the very beginning with my mom having to slowly adjust to it before truly embracing the idea whereas Linda has always been a "fan".

Knowing their different approaches to sex with their dad also helped me to better understand why they raised their daughters so differently. While my mom was holding my father back from realizing his dreams of sex with his young daughter, Linda was practically throwing her daughter at other men from an early age. Now that the dust has settled, so to speak, with both Kristen and me married I guess in the end it didn't matter all that much how we were raised. True, we both got to where we are walking down quite different paths but nowadays we aren't all that much different. She will always be a little more "out there" than me but I would say that's true of any two people when you compare them.

One of the reasons that things were a little more crowded than on the last trip was that we were now joined by Kristen's new husband Ben who she had secretly married a few months earlier. Actually he helped to round out the numbers as now we were three couples instead of Kristen having to be the odd girl out.

2. Wednesday - Sleeping Arrangements

The trip to my grandmother's house took over ten hours and I think I slept nine of them. I wasn't tired, just bored. With six people in the SUV and all our luggage it was cramped to start with. Then there was the constant strong of phone calls. Being a teacher I was the only one who officially had the day off. Everyone else was playing hooky and it was like someone was always calling them. I read a few magazine on my iPad and soon fell asleep with my head on my husband's shoulder.

Once we arrived at my grandmother's house it soon became apparent that with Kristen being married now that our sleeping arrangements were a little more complicated this time around - not like they weren't before. In the past my Aunt Linda would sleep with Kristen rather than my dad, at least to start out the night. Now with Ben being with Kristen and no more bedrooms available that meant she had to sleep with my dad - not that either of them minded. But then the issue wasn't with them - it was my grandmother that posed the dilemma.

As I said, my grandmother has never endorsed incest - "barely tolerate" would probably be a better description. Perhaps even better would be, "Don't ask, don't tell." She and I have had many talks over the years about it and I know she doesn't approve of my dad fucking me. Even so she has never openly challenged him about it or said anything directly to me even when I would visit with my parents and sleep with them.

Of course that never stopped "the look" but at the same time we've always tried to respect her feelings and not do anything openly in front of her, at least not the way my mom told me that my grandfather would do with their daughters. My mom told me he would do things like bring them to bed with him while my grandmother was "asleep" and have sex with them next to her while she pretended to remain asleep and act as if nothing was happening next to her. My grandfather dies of a heart attack years before I started having sex so I have to wonder to this day what sort of things he would have done with me in front of her as well. In the end my dad and Aunt Linda took the larger spare bedroom (don't even ask how my grandmother feels about her younger daughter sleeping with the divorced husband of her oldest daughter). Steve and I took the smaller bedroom while Kristen and Ben had to do with the roll-a-way third bedroom which served more as an office and ironing room.

For the first night we were all tired from the drive so there wasn't much thought given as to anything other than the obvious arrangements - each couple in their own room - treating my dad and aunt as a couple of course, even if they weren't married.

As tired as we both were, Steve wasn't about to let a new bed go "unchristened" as he liked to put it. It was like anytime we had the opportunity to have sex in a different place he was all for taking advantage of the situation. Being exhausted from the trip it was one of those nights where I was glad to let him take over and do the heavy lifting - literally. All I did was lay on my back and fight to keep my eyes open a Steve fucked me until he came in me. I felt a little guilty at my lack of attention - it must have seemed to him more like he was fucking a sex doll than his wife I'm afraid. Still, he came and that seemed to relieve him somewhat - typical guy!

The next morning we woke up refreshed with Steve sporting his typical "morning wood". I don't know what sort of dreams men have but they must be pretty awesome some times. In any case, my real pussy was better than any of his dream girls as I mounted and rode him until we both had cum.

Downstairs at the breakfast table I noted Kristen also had that "I just got fucked" look and when our eyes met she grinned and winked at me. Then lo and behold my aunt came in looking a little flustered herself. Wow, I guess all three of us had made up for lost time this morning!

3. Thursday - Swapping Husbands

It was Thanksgiving which meant lots of food which was the best part of the day. After the boredom of visiting and watching football on TV, Kristen and I decided to spice things up and bit and trade husbands for the evening. Although it may surprise some people, we've actually only done this once since her marriage. I guess I can't blame anyone that really doesn't know me other than through my diary to think that we would be swapping all the time. Even so, if they really think about it they would recognize that family "orgies" and swapping has never really been a big thing for my family.

For the most part, incest has been a means by which I demonstrate my love and submission to my father. For him it serves to satisfy his most secret and base inner needs and desires. When it comes to me and my mom it's entirely different - something we reserve for those special times we get together like mother-daughter nights and such. Finally, when it comes to my cousins and uncles incest isn't really a big deal per se. It's really more just a good opportunity for casual sex without any worries about relationships or commitments than anything else. Heck, the fact that it's incest really is more a technicality than anything that means anything one way or the other.

Besides, is fucking my uncle who I rarely see all that much different from fucking any other married man? In both case their wives don't know about it and it's not something we do all that much so if you ask me, it's only "incest" because of how the world has defined it.

When I moved out from Kristen's place after I married Steve, my sexual doings with Kristen took a marked downturn as I focused on our marriage and being a loyal and biblically submissive wife to Steve. Since Kristen married Ben we've seen even less of each other as our circle of friends are almost entirely different. Ours are mostly close friends and work colleagues whereas theirs tend to be focused around parties and such. That's one thing different about us - I've always had a close-knit group of friends like Beth while Kristen was more independent and less social.

We DID swap one night just because it seemed like it was something we needed to get off the table more than anything else. Until then whenever we were together it was sort of the "elephant in the room" so to speak and so to get things back to normal we decided to swap one night so as to get it out of the way. We debated on who should have to go to whom but in the end the girls won out (what a surprise... NOT) and the guys each travelled to the other's house while Kristen and I remained home for the evening. It wasn't by any means a first for me as Steve when it comes to swapping but it WAS sort of special for me knowing I was sleeping with a relative that I would be seeing for a long time and not just some stranger.

Since that one night, while we would meet at times for dinner or for the guys to watch football or something else on TV, we haven't had sex or do anything like the swapping thing again. It wasn't that I was opposed to it - not in the least! Spending the night with Ben had been exhilarating and he fucked me pretty good on top of it all (well, I was actually on top a good bit of the time).

As for Steve, he's always enjoyed fucking Kristen but since she got hitched I've noticed that those interests had waned a bit. While he won't admit it, I think that her working as a whore for so many years turned him off more than just a little. Well, not so much as to make him not want to fuck her of course but when she married one of her clients it seemed to amplify those negative feelings.

We actually started the swap in the family room watching TV with me nestled up against Ben while Kristen had her head on Steve's shoulder. I was wearing one of Steve's flannel shirts with no panties while Kristen had on a sheer black baby doll nightie with an almost invisible matching black thong underneath. My grandmother had stopped by earlier to say goodnight and while she didn't say anything when she saw how we were matched up, not to mention what Kristen was wearing next to my husband, her face told an entirely different story. Oh well, at least my cousin waited to started sucking Steve's dick until our grandmother closed the door to her bedroom!

For a while there I was beginning to think that we would just all do it in the family room and forgot about heading to the bedrooms. My grandmother had closed her bedroom door barely a minute before Kristen was undoing Steve's pajama bottoms while my dad and Aunt Linda started making out like two horny high school kids on the couch. As for Ben and me, he was undoing the last couple of remaining buttons that I hadn't already undone. Soon the shirt was wide open, exposing my boobs to the cool air. Meanwhile Kristen was busy bobbing her head on my husband's erection now that she'd finally worked it out through the opening in his pajama bottoms. Not to be outdone, my dad had his hands all over his sister-in-law's long legs and was working his way up towards her ass when Ben started to suckle on my nipples like a hungry baby.

My dad, the senior-most amongst us, assumed the "adult" role at that point and declared, "OK everyone, what do you say let's take all this behind closed bedroom doors?"

It really didn't matter to me where we did it although I knew my opinion didn't necessarily match that of the others. For me, I tend to prefer a more intimate setting when I have sex unless the entire purpose is to show off or be watched - like at a party. Otherwise, for me one-on-one sex gives me more privacy so I can concentrate on the man I'm with and I also like to know that he isn't being distracted by anything - or anyone else. I especially don't get off watching Steve having sex with anyone else. It's not anything to do with jealousy or such, it just doesn't do anything for me and tends to be more a distraction than a turn-on.

My husband and I share a lot of the same thoughts and opinions but this is one area where we're 180 degrees apart. Steve LOVES watching other men fuck me and goes out of his way to encourage me to let him watch. Hey, if he gets off from it then I certainly don't mind. When I say I want privacy during sex, that means no others having sex around me, not that I don't like an audience. Thus I'm sure that if Steve had his way we'd of all stayed right where we were just so he could watch Ben fuck me.

As for Kristen and her mom, what more do I need to say? You don't work as a high-end prostitute for years and have any hang-ups about doing it in front of people. As for her mom, like mother like daughter I guess you could say. After all, it's not like Kristen didn't do all the things she did without the full support and encouragement of her mother. Whereas my mom was flabbergasted when Kristen became a professional, her mother was as proud as a peacock.

I'm sure my dad wouldn't have minded a little voyeurism as well but he was undoubtedly more concerned that his conservative mother-in-law would come out for a glass of water or whatever and find us all doing the dirty deed in the middle of her family room - and not with our respective spouses. Odds are she would just turn away and go back to her room without a word as that was what she'd always done in the past when she caught me and my dad together but still, why push it? After all, we were the guests in her home so it was only polite to follow her rules.

One nice thing I soon learned about swapping at my grandmother's place was there was no travel involved like back home - we simply split up when the evening was over and headed for our respective bedrooms. My grandmother was already in bed by then so it wasn't like she saw what we did although frankly I was so horny by then that I wouldn't have cared.

Leaving my shirt undone - what was the point in buttoning it, I followed Ben to the bedroom he and Kristen shared while the others made their way to the others. Once inside, he firmly closed the door and then immediately stepped behind me and dropped the shirt from my arms such that I was left standing there nude. Stepping back and then a few feet in front of me again, he just stared at me, moving his eyes from my head to my toes as he took in my naked body like he was trying to memorize every detail of my body.

"Damn, you really are hot," he said softly, licking his lips in anticipation, "If I just looked at you long enough I'd probably cum in my pants."

This was actually the first time he'd seen me nude in quite a while. Besides the swap I mentioned before, the only other times had been shortly after he and Kristen got hitched and Kristen tricked me into fucking her husband without me realizing who he really was. Well, I should say that it didn't take much for her to convince me to have sex with him, The REAL tricky part was her not telling me that she was married to him until after he'd cum in me!

I started to step towards him but he motioned me to stay still as he moved back to the bed and took a seat without taking his eyes off of me for a moment.

"Don't move," he said in a voice husky with lust, "I just want to look at you... god you're so beautiful."

Hmmmmmm, I was starting to like him even more! He certainly knew how to make a girl feel good about herself, that was for sure.

Ben took in a big breath and released it slowly. "Touch yourself," he said to me softly, "I want to watch."

Ahhhhhh, so he wanted a little porn show first. Well, I could do that! I always like it when a man just looks at me with that expression that tells me he desires me and wants nothing more at that moment than to possess me and take me as his mate.

A little music would've been nice and had we been in my bedroom I might've pulled out my phone and played something sexy. One of my favorite "stripper" songs was "Don't Cha" and it would have been perfect right about now. Knowing my cousin she was already blowing my husband or even fucking him by now so I didn't want to go in and disturb them to get my phone. Under the circumstances I was left to improvise...

I smiled sweetly at Ben and ran my fingers through my hair, pushing it back and then shaking my head to let it fly about and land back on my shoulders. Then I ran my hands and fingertips from the sides of my neck, then down in front until they reached my boobs. Cupping one in each hand, I jiggled them like a woman in the grocery store comparing melons before squeezing them with my nipples pressed between my fingers. My tongues ran across my lips seductively as I watched for Ben's reaction and I wasn't disappointed. He was fidgeting on the bed, adjusting his jeans to accommodate his growing erection.

After playing with my boobs a while and tweaking my hardened nipples, I let my fingertips drag down over my smooth belly and then up my sides back up to my boobs where I played with them again briefly and then repeated the maneuver. Each time I went down a little lower, going first just to my belly button and then a fraction of an inch lower every time my hands descended until I was finally down to the top of my pussy. I wanted so badly to touch it but I knew Ben wanted me to even more so I resisted the urge to hurry and did my best to tease him by just missing it and going on down to my thighs.

Ben seemed transfixed, his eyes following my hands without hardly even blinking. As I swayed to the imaginary sounds of music in my head I moved up closer to him slowly but surely until I was just between his knees as he spread his legs further apart to accommodate me. That was when I ran my finger down the center of my pussy slit and pushed the tip slightly inside of me, moaning softly as I did. OK, so it may have been a bit overly melodramatic but Ben didn't seem to mind.

"Damn... I can smell you," he whispered, almost inaudibly, "I can smell your cunt."

Considering how wet and horny I was by then, I would've been amazed if he didn't! I started to rub myself with the middle finger of my right hand while my left hand caressed my left boob. God I was so damn wet! Pushing my finger in to the first knuckle, I pulled it out and put it in my mouth, sucking on it and licking my pussy wetness from it. It was wonderful! Ever since I was a young girl I've LOVED the taste of my pussy when I was horny.

From the way Ben was breathing and staring at me as I tasted my own pussy, I knew what he wanted but he wasn't going to get it that easily. Rewetting my finger, I briefly touched it to his lips but when he opened his mouth to try and touch his tongue to it I pulled it back and smiled naughtily at him.

"If you want it then you have to ask for it," I instructed him, "I'll do anything you want... ANYTHING mind you, but ONLY if you ask and you have to be specific... make that VERY specific."

Privately I'll say when it comes to men and sex, I like to be the one in control. Yet control can manifest in many ways. For instance, I think a lot of men believe that they are dominating when a woman sucks their dick but I would counter that the exact opposite is true. After all, who has their mouth and teeth around the most sensitive part of whose body? For me, I don't like to control as in being a dominatrix. Instead, I prefer to be more subtle. Leading and persuading are more difficult but yield such rewards. When I allow a man THINK he is control but yet totally determine the course of action, to me that means I'm in control. Following Ben's directions would make him feel in control, but he was doing it because I told him to, not because he was controlling me.

"I want to taste your nasty cunt," he demanded but from my response he quickly learned the rules of the game.

"Gotta be more specific than THAT," I teased him as I once again put my finger to my mouth and licked it off. Mmmmmmm, again I LOVED the taste of my pussy!

He frowned at first but then brightened up as he grasped the concept. "Alright then... put your finger up as far as you can into your pussy and then let me lick it off."

That was better. After all, it wasn't like I didn't want to do it myself! Reaching down I pressed my middle finger up into me, bending over slightly to get the right angle so I could get it in all the way or at least as far as I could. For a few moments I stroked my finger in and out of me, imagining how much better it was going to feel in just a little bit when it was replaced with that beautifully erect dick that was trying to burst from his jeans.

Pulling out my finger, I put it on Ben's lips at which point he opened his mouth and took it in like a pacifier, sucking off my pussy taste.

"Fuck you taste good," he sighed a I removed my now "clean" finger. "Now put your leg up here and let me get it straight from the source."

He reached out and put one hand on each of my buttocks and pulled me in closer. The reaching down with his right hand, he lifted my left leg up sop my foot was on the bed next to him. Then he scooted back until he could lean over and pushed his face into my crotch. His tongue reached out like a snake and started to lick the outer parts of my pussy as I held onto his shoulder to keep my balance. Soon he had his hand cupping my crotch and then was working his own finger into me, first one and then followed by a second.

"Fuck you're wet, aren't you?" he mumbled with his mouth against me.

Ben's tongue worked down as he finger fucked me, licking my clit and then my pussy was his fingers moved in and out of me. God it felt so good! For a guy he was pretty good at eating pussy, better than most I would say.

I pushed out my hips to drive my crotch into his face as his tongue worked its magic on my clit and his fingers continued to stroke non-stop inside of me. I was soooooo close!

"That's it Ben... lick me right there," I gasped as he flattened his tongue against my clit and pushed it around, "Oh god, don't stop... don't you fucking stop now!"

With one hand on his shoulder I used the other to push his head into my crotch. Whether he could breathe or not wasn't my concern - I just wanted to cum... and cum hard.

Then it hit... my orgasm screamed though me as I thrust my hips into his face, trying to keep from falling as my leg felt weak under me. Oh wow, this was it! Wave after wave of the most pure pleasure surged through me, driven by the intense sensations generated by Ben's mouth on me together with what now must have been three fingers up my pussy. He had his other hand gripping my ass, his finger exploring the entrance to my ass and then pushing its way in so he had fingers in both my holes now.

When I finally came back to earth all I could think about was one thing - I wanted to be fucked. It didn't matter to me what position or even whose dick it was, I just wanted a cock inside of me. At the moment there was one readily available and if I had anything to say about it then it would soon be buried to the hilt in my throbbing pussy. Fortunately Ben had the same idea...

Pulling his face away from me, he looked up at me with a grin as he wiped my cum from his face with the back of his hand.

"Bend over," he said roughly, grabbing me by the hips and twisting me around to face the bed as he got up behind me.

I leaned over the bed, my ass rising up in the air as he pushed my feet apart with his feet, his shoes still on as I heard him unbuckle his belt and drop his jeans.

He didn't even bother to take of his shoes and step out of his jeans and underwear before I felt the tip of his erection poking against my butt.

"Damn, I've been wanting to fuck you all day... hell, ever since we left Pittsburgh," he growled as he maneuvered his dick into position. No sooner did I feel the head of his dick against the entrance to my pussy than he thrust forward, driving his hard dick into me all the way in one swift motion.

"Oh Godddddddddd!," I cried out as it felt like he was filling me with his dick.

I love the feeling I get when a man first enters me, it's like I'm empty and in need and then suddenly he fills me and I feel complete. Usually I prefer to feel him push into me slowly, gradually entering me as I take in every inch of him. This time though it was like one second I was empty and then the next he was drilling deep inside of me.

"Fuck me Ben... oh god fuck me!" I groaned as he started to stroke quickly in and out of me.

With each thrust he slammed his crotch against my ass, his balls swinging out to hit me. I was so wet it sounded almost obscene as he would slowly draw himself out until just the tip was in me and then drive it back quickly back in me again, only to repeat the process over and over.

"Shit, you're so much tighter than Kristen," Ben groaned as he fucked me faster.

Talk about music to my ears! I loved knowing my pussy was tighter than my cousins, even after having fucked hundreds of men over the years. Lord only knew what things men did to her when she was hooking so it wasn't a big surprise that she wasn't exactly as tight as a sixteen year-old anymore.

At the rate he was going I was wondering how long he would last. It wasn't like he was a spring chicken anymore and I had no idea how fast he could recover so I wanted this first time to last a while.

Ben seemed to sense the same as suddenly he pulled out without warning, grabbed me by the waist and all but threw me up onto the bed on my back. Stripping quickly, he dumped his clothes on the floor and jumped up onto the bed, pushing me onto my side as he moved in behind me.

"Fuck I want more of that tight pussy," he said gruffly as he lifted my upper leg so my foot was resting on his leg.

I felt him reach down and position his dick once again but he was so anxious to fuck me again that he was having trouble lining up so I reached down and brushed him aside so I could guide him to the target. I was rewarded for my efforts by the feeling of him in me again, only this time he had his arm around me and was squeezing my boobs with his hand as I felt his hot breath against the back of my neck.

"You love it don't you?" he asked rhetorically as he fucked me, "Just like your cousin and her mother... you're whole family is nothing but a bunch of cock-loving whores... I bet you'll do just about anyone just to get laid, won't you?"

Another time, another place, and words like that would have earned him a slap in the face but this wasn't that time or place. I knew it was his dick doing the talking now and I also knew what he wanted to hear and so I didn't disappoint him.

"Oh yeah, fuck me... fuck me like a whore," I came back, "Fuck me like the hundreds of men before you."

Now some men might be turned off if the girl he was screwing reminded him of just how many men had fucked her before him, especially when the number was in the triple digits. Not Ben. If anything he seemed all the more turned by the numbers.

"Damn, I can't believe that many men have had this pussy... and STILL so fuckin' tight," he countered, "I'm gonna fuck you better than any of them."

Well, now it WAS all his fantasy as I've been laid by some pretty incredible men. Physically, I've had cocks that would have made Ben's look downright puny but cock size doesn't really mean anything so long as it's big enough to get in me and fill me enough to make me cum. What really makes it memorable for me is all about the emotional aspects. That's why my "best" fucks have all been by my husband and father. Like, how can sex with ANY man compare to having the man you pledged your life to, or the man you have fully submitted yourself to?

Then there's all the crazy circumstances where it's WHERE I've been fucked that makes all the difference. Wow, where do I even begin? Heck, even my first BJ was memorable being in the middle of a movie theater and me a total virgin - pussy AND mouth. What about the time my boyfriend fucked me in the lake with all the kids swimming all around us?

Then there was my dad "hiring" me and my cousin to act as escorts for his clients while he joined in, them having no idea what his true relationship was with us. I could go on and on but you get the idea. Yes, I LOVED Ben fucking me but to say he was better than all the ones before, hardly. Still, I was certainly enjoying it!

I had my eyes closed and was focused on the action between my legs when again Ben pulled out without warning and this time he pushed me on my back while he moved on top of me in a classic missionary position. I knew what that usually meant - he was getting close.

Once Ben's dick was buried in me again I lifted my legs and wrapped them around him, locking my ankles to pull myself tightly into him. Ben was holding himself up on his hands, lifting himself above me as he drove his hips into me to drive his dick deep inside of me. I lifted my head up and looked down to where I could see his hairy crotch up against my pussy, his cock out of sight but I could feel where it was - in me! He must have been really close as he was just circling his hips causing his dick to move around in circles inside of em and then he groaned and held himself still as I felt his cock surging inside of me, telling me that he was shooting his load into me.

"That's it Ben... cum in me, fill me with your sperm," I moaned loudly as Ben released load after load of into me, taking me more like he as mating me like a bitch in heat. There was no love, no emotional attachment. He was fucking me, pure and simple, with the sole intent to feel good and take me as a man only can when he mates a woman.

When he was done he dropped down and for a moment I was afraid he would crush me but he caught himself just in time on his elbows. He was breathing so heavily and his face was so red I was concerned he might have a heart attack! Finally he rolled over beside me, his cock spilling out of me, leaving a part of him inside of me.

His cock was still hard but I knew that wouldn't last for long so somehow I picked myself up and bent over him, taking it in my mouth to savor the rich flavor of the mixture of female cum and male sperm that coated it. Mmmmmmm, talk about a treat! Ben groaned as I sucked on his overly-sensitive dick but he didn't make any effort to stop me. Unfortunately, any hope of salvaging his erection for another round quickly disappeared, just as the size of his dick did while it was in my mouth.

Somewhat satisfied, I laid on my side and draped my leg over him, pressing my freshly fucked pussy against his hip and rubbing myself on him like a dog in heat. My boobs pressed against his side as he put his arm around me and pulled me in tightly against him.

As we laid there on the bed, naked and momentarily exhausted after sex, I wondered how long it Would take him to recover. I only knew that if he thought he was only to cum in me once then he had better think again!

4. Kristen and Me With My Dad

Night #3 came quick as the guys had slept half the day away after gorging on our Thanksgiving feast leftovers. On the brighter side, it meant we could change to the TV to something other than boring football games. Alas, all good things must come to an end and by supper their stomachs were ready for more leftovers after which we all got stuck watching more football - BORIONG!

During the day as the guys snored away we girls debated as to what out plans would be for the evening. It took a while to decide as we could only discuss things when my grandmother was out of the room which wasn't all that often as she enjoyed having a houseful of relatives over at last. Not for the first time I felt a sense of relief that Marlene hadn't come with us.

As part of our discussion it was sort of fun to reminisce about the past and how much things had changed since we were teens. My aunt was the one to bring up the first time Kristen and I had sex together with my dad.

"You have NO idea how much I wish I'd had a video camera that day," she said to me ruefully, shaking her head in mock despair, "Actually I was amazed that we were able to keep it all a secret from you for so long as we did."

Of course she was referring to the Fourth of July family picnic the summer after my first year of college. The picnic itself was something we'd done for as long as I could remember but that year's had been something special - it included our first family orgy. When I'd left for college I knew my dad would miss fucking my young pussy and indeed, I missed it myself... a LOT! Still, it wasn't like he didn't have options with my Aunt Linda always available at his beck and call.

While I was consigned to masturbation and lesbian sex with my roomie, I thought my poor dad was suffering manfully while he waited for me to return home. Well, little did I know that I was barely out of the house when my cousin Kristen stepped in as my "replacement"! Somehow during breaks they managed to keep it a secret from me and indeed, for almost two months into the summer break I still hadn't a clue. Sure the signs were all there but unless you were looking for them they were pretty easy to mistake for business as usual. I mean like to see my cousin and her mother running naked around our house wasn't exactly fodder for the nightly news and having the two of them flirting with my dad was just normal uncle-niece playfulness so far as I knew.

The whole story is in my diary so I won't repeat it here except to say I was quite shocked to learn the truth although I quickly adapted and for the first time had sex with my dad with another girl that was younger than me - the previous two being my mom and her sister.

Actually, other than our annual tradition which now took on even MORE traditions, Kristen and I seldom were together with my dad. Not that he didn't fuck her - he did that a LOT, especially when I was off to school. It was more like when I was home I wanted him to take ME and not have to share him with anyone, not even my mom for the most part unless it was something to celebrate like his birthday or Father's Day.

While I certainly didn't mind anyone watching, I much preferred just one-on-one sex with him where he could take me and give me his love and show his true feelings of lust and respect for me. The lust part was obvious, LOL, but the respect came from how he never took advantage of his position. As his daughter and a Christian I submit totally to my father and I would do ANYTHING he asked me to do. Still, while he knows he can ask for the world, my dad also knows that there are things I don't enjoy and some that I even despise such as anal sex. The fact that my dad LOVES anal sex yet never asks me to allow him to fuck my ass is a tremendous testimonial to the respect he has for me as a woman and his daughter.

My Aunt Linda was actually the one to suggest that Kristen and I sleep with my dad. My immediate reaction was to wonder if she was thinking more of my dad or her? Like, it was certainly generous of her to think of how to please my father for the evening. Still, at the same time that left her alone with our husbands - a situation she had yet to take advantage of so far as I knew. Whether it was curiosity or just being a little playful, I decided to call her out.

"Sounds great Aunt Linda but if we're with my dad, where does that leave our husbands? I mean like I don't see the two of them sleeping together."

Everyone laughed at that as if there was one irrefutable point it was that neither guy had a gay bone in his body. The very idea of them even sharing a bed, let alone having sex, was simply unimaginable.

All eyes turned to Steve and Ben, both of them who obviously knew what Linda had in mind when she made her suggestion. Ben looked at Steve who shrugged and turned to the rest of us.

"Well I guess that means Ben and I will just have to keep Linda warm tonight."

Again everyone laughed and Ben picked up the conversation saying, "Well, if we really HAVE to, I guess I could do it."

Yeah right, like the instant boners they both had at the very idea wasn't a dead give-away.

My dad returned then with my grandmother after talking about something in the kitchen. We all tried to hold back our laughter but it was obvious something was going on.

"Ummmmm..., something you guys want to share?" my dad asked.

It was all each of us could do not to laugh out loud again as my dad seemed puzzled as to what he had said that we found so funny.

I was sorely tempted to answer with some smart remark like, "Oh you'll find out later," or "We'll share it with you soon," but I doubted my grandmother would have appreciated the humor. As it was, it was already a little uncomfortable in that it was pretty obvious we had been discussion something we didn't want her to hear and that generally meant something incestual.

When bedtime finally came, or at least time to go to bed, we all dutifully headed to our "normal" bedrooms. Steve closed the door behind me and I didn't waste a moment stripping off my clothes.

"Somebody's horny," Steve teased me, taking a seat on the edge of the bed.

I wasn't quite sure how to respond. On the one hand, I WAS horny! If there was one thing I knew turned on Steve (well, there are LOTS of things that turn him on but this was one) it was to see me getting all hot and bothered. All I had to do was get a little flushed and reach between my legs to grab his full attention. Standing in front of him totally nude except for a gold ankle bracelet, my pussy was aching for relief and when he hinted at something like he just had, I knew he was hoping to see me start to masturbate for him.

On the other hand, what was making me all horny was the prospect of being fucked by my dad along with my cousin in just a few minutes. Steve was not exactly a prude by any definition of the word and if anything he loved to watch me having sex with other men. He once explained it to me that the more a guy got off with me the more he loved it as he knew for that guy it was usually a one-time thing and all he could do after was to wish for more. What turned him on was knowing that HE could have me anytime he wanted for as long as he wanted - and that the other guy was jealous of him because of it.

The only time Steve had seen my dad fucking me was back before he proposed to me. I knew he was getting close and I didn't want to have to postpone my answer while I waited for him to deal with my incest responsibilities. I had learned from my Aunt's divorce what could happen if you married a man without having his full consent regarding incest and I wasn't going to make the same mistake. Thus I wanted to get it out in the open and out of the way before I agreed to marry anyone. At the same time I didn't want to say anything TOO soon in case he never actually proposed in which case who knew who he would tell depending on how bad the breakup went.

What I ended up doing was hiding Steve in the closet while my dad fucked me in the cabin where we were all meeting for Thanksgiving that year. Honestly, I think Steve thought I was pulling his leg about having sex with my dad and didn't fully believe me until he actually saw my dad's dick inside of me and witnessed my father filling me with his incestual cum.

Whereas most every guy I know loves to fantasize about incest, at the same time it's almost always about someone else having an incestual relationship. In Steve's case, while he was extremely intimate with his mother, much more than what the majority of people would consider "appropriate", there was still a line never to be crossed. Even the thinnest, most sheer negligee was enough to create a "barrier" when it came to touching his mother's breasts. So long as there was no actual skin-to-skin contact, it was OK.

So it was with how my husband viewed me and my dad. For me to run around half naked in front of my father was fine with him. I could sit on his lap while he sported a raging erection but so long as I had a nightshirt between his dick and my butt, all was cool with him. It even went one step further than with his own mother in that so long as he couldn't actually SEE anything it was OK. Like, I could reach into my dad's pants and stroke his dick so long as there wasn't anything to actually see.

As far as Steve was willing to go, for me to actually have sex with dad in front of him... well THAT was too much. I guess technically I could've sat on my dad's lap with a robe or something covering me and rode his dick with Steve in the room but I knew it made him uncomfortable and that all goes back to the respect thing again.

So anyway... here I was with a warm wet pussy, about ready to leave my husband for my father's bed, and I didn't know what to say to my husband. Well, there is ALWAYS one thing a wife can say to her husband that is ALWAYS OK...

"I love you Steve," I said softly as I reached over to put my arms around his neck and kiss him.

I felt my husband strong arms encircle me and pull me into him until my boobs were pressed against his chest while his hands each grabbed a fistful of my bare ass. Mmmmmmm, as horny as I was if I didn't leave soon I Knew that I wouldn't be leaving for a lot longer time!

"Have fun with Aunt Linda," I whispered in his ear and gave him one last peck on the cheek.

Now THAT I knew was something I need not worry about. For whatever reason Steve loved fucking my aunt and I knew that he was often over at their house to get a piece of her whenever I wasn't available. In fact, I think he fucked my aunt a lot more than my cousin, as in almost always my aunt - especially now that Kristen was married to Ben.

This would be the first time that he would be doing her with a guy other than my dad which I thought would probably be for the best. Steve would never fuck me along with my dad and I think that influenced him somewhat with anyone my dad fucked, even Linda. To do her with another guy closer to his age was probably going to be a dream come true for them both.

"See you in the morning babe," he said, blowing me as kiss as I stepped through the doorway. I probably should have worn a robe but my grandmother's bedroom door was shut and I wanted to make an "entrance" when I entered my dad's bedroom. What better than to be 100% nude?

Walking swiftly down the hallway, I listened at the door and thought I heard something but wasn't quite sure so I turned the doorknob and opened the door. I was just about to jump in wearing nothing but a smile when I saw my dad wasn't alone. Wouldn't you know it, my cousin had beat me to the punch!

"Hey cuz, what took you so long? Sorry, I couldn't wait."

Kristen was grinning from ear to ear, obviously pleased with herself to be the first to get my dad's dick for the night and she certainly hadn't wasted a moment in climbing aboard. My dad was laying on his back with his head resting on a couple of pillows pilled in behind his head while Kristen was riding him reverse cowgirl such that she was facing the door as I entered. I doubted it was a coincidence that her first position was such that she could look me in the eyes as I came in while she was bouncing playfully on my father's rigid erection.

Well, I wasn't about to give her the satisfaction of showing any sadness or displeasure. Instead, I simply climbed up on the bad and swung one leg over my dad's chest and held onto the headboard while I positioned my wet pussy directly over my dad's face.

"Hi daddy!" I greeted him cheerfully with my first words of the night.

"Well hello yourself little girl," he said back with a grin as my pussy dangled just inches from his mouth.

"Eat my pussy daddy," I demanded, trying my best to ignore the rocking movement as my cousin rode his dick behind me.

Lowering myself downward, my dad put one hand on each of my hips and pulled me into his mouth, his tongues extending to lick my shaved pussy as it came into contact with his face.

God it felt so good to feel my father's tongue on my sensitive clit! My dad knew exactly where and how to lick me after having done so more than any other man in my life (although Steve was making a valiant effort to catch up). Other than my mom, my dad was probably the best person when it came to eating me and that includes women as well. Well as they say, practice makes perfect.

My grip tightened on the headboard as Kristen was moving around behind me. As it turned out she was twisting herself around such that she was facing me while on her knees as she straddle my dad's torso. I felt her arms around me as she put them over each of my boobs and started playing with my nipples between her fingers.

"Mmmmmmm, been a while, eh cuz?" she murmured in my ear as I tried to focus simultaneously on my dad's tongue and her talented fingers.

She was right, it HAD been a while. It's amazing how fast time can go by and it had been months since the last time we got together for some fun. For a moment my mind drifted to a few nights we'd spent together when we both were horny without a date... wow!

"Oh daddy... just like that!" I exclaimed, jumping a little as my dad's tongue pushed up inside of me. Any thoughts of Kristen were pushed aside as my dad brought me to my first orgasm of the evening.

"Already?" was all Kristen said as she reached down to touch my pussy as my orgasm peaked, "Damn, I'm jealous!"

She pulled her hand away so I took one of mine off the headboard, using the other to rip for dear life as I felt like I was going to leap off the bed at any moment if my dad didn't stop his relentless assault on my poor pussy. God it felt so damn GOOD!

Kristen started to groan and moan as my orgasm slowly waned and I knew why she had pulled away from me - she was doing herself as she fucked my dad.

"Oh yeah!" she cried out, a little too loudly as I was sure my grandmother would hear her in the adjoining bedroom, "Fuck me Uncle John... Fuck me harder!"

In reality it was HER doing the work as my dad more or less just laid there on his back. Really, what could he do with two girls on top of him, one riding his cock while crying out from her first orgasm of the night and the other rubbing her wet pussy against his lips and cheeks?

"My turn," I said rather demandingly as I pulled away from my father's face and laid down in the bed with my back up against my father's warm nude body - make that HOT nude body as he was already glistening with seat and the night was still young.

"Hang on.. almost done," Kristen groaned as she rubbed her pussy furiously to keep her orgasm going as long as possible. She gave one more heavy groan and then more or less fell to the side, allowing my dad's glistening cock which was still rock hard.

My neck was getting sore from twisting around to watch so I straightened it out and was rewarded with the feel of my dad turning to spoon me.

"I bet your little pussy's hungry for some daddy cock, am I right?" he teased me as he snuggled in closer to me, his dick poking me in the lower back.

"Oh daddy, stop teasing me and fuck me!"

As wet and horny I was now after him licking me to an orgasm, his hard dick slid easily into me as he pressing his crotch into my bare ass to plunge himself deeper and deeper into me. Within seconds he was stroking his incestuous dick in and out of me in slow steady movements. Oh yean, now THIS is what I'd wanted so badly to tell Steve that I was looking forward to, the feel of my own father's cock filling me as I laid there in total submission.

At the moment I had no idea what Kristen was doing but she was the last thing on my mind. I closed my eyes and focused on just one thing, the feel of my father's erection as he moved it slowly in and out of me as if he was trying to stretch out the time it took him to cum so he could fuck me as long as possible. I felt his hand work

A sharp thrust and then a quiver against my ass as he started to ejaculate within me. I knew that with each thrust yet another rope of his thick cum was spying from the tip of his dick deep inside of me.

Again as we all watched the riveting replay later the next day, I wondered if this was for the camera but no such thoughts were in my head as he pulled out and let the last couple of loads gush out over my pussy. Once he was done he quickly pushed it back into me and gave me a couple more strokes before just lying there still with his throbbing dick still in me.

"Oh daddy, that feels so good," I moaned with my eyes shut tight. Little did I know how well that line would go over when the others watched. They all teased me a little but there was no mistaking the intensity of my feelings at the time.

While I was pretty confident that my dad had taken his pill beforehand, he still was going to take a while to recover as he finally turned onto his back allowing his withering cock to slide from my cum-filled pussy. "Here Uncle John, take this while I do Kelly," Kristen said as she handed the phone to my dad.

With a shove she pushed me on my back and then she got back in bed again, kneeling between my legs.

"Ready?" she asked. I knew she wasn't asking me - it was my dad she was waiting for as he fumbled with the phone.

"Just push that thing on the bottom to the left for photos," she instructed him as he seemed unsure as to what to do.

He figured it out and took a shot of her as she posed with her face right over my freshly fucked pussy. Turning the camera to Kristen, she nodded her approval and waited for him to get ready again. Once he gave her the thumbs up she lowered her head and started to lick my pussy and lick the cum from my pussy where my dad had sprayed it just a few moments before.

"Oh yeah, not THAT's that I call a midnight snack," she said all with a grin as she licked her lips to get the last drop of cum. I didn't tell her it wasn't anywhere near midnight but why spoil her mood?

"Here, lift your fat ass cuz," she teased me as she tried to shove a pillow under my butt to make it easier to eat me.

I just let the "fat as" dig go by, she knew full well how had the bigger ass between us and it wasn't me, not by a long shot! I lifted my butt so she could shove it in under me and then she put her hands on my inner thighs and pushed my legs up to lift my butt up even more. Pausing a moment to pose for my dad, she plunged her face into my wet pussy, almost attacking it as she gobbled up the cum which was now draining from my pussy down to my ass and the pillow below it.

"Oh god!" I exclaimed as her nose pressed against my sensitive clit.

"She's pretty good, isn't she?" my dad observed.

"Don't worry daddy, you're still the best," I comforted him even though it was a slight white lie in that my mom was in a league of her own when it came to oral sex.

"God that's so fucking hot!" he groaned as he got up on his knees to get a better angle of my cousin's face in between my legs.

Yep, two girls - always a winner for the guys. Two cousins, even better. One licking his cum from the other's pussy after he'd just fucked her... priceless.

"Don't you dare stop," I threatened her as I felt another orgasm arising within me, "Don't you fucking stop now!"

"OH FUCK!" I couldn't help but cry out as she made me cum. My pussy gushed and the remained of my dad's cum flooded out of me into Kristen's waiting tongue as she lapped it up like a cat at a bowl of warm milk. Hopefully her camera had a lot of memory from the number of pics my dad was taking. I didn't care... all I cared about was my cousin's mouth as she licked me and rubbed her nose against my clit.

"Come here," I begged her, my arms reaching out to her.

Kristen moved her naked body on top of me, her boobs pressing against mine as we kissed and she shared the delicious flavor of my freshly fucked pussy. Damn it tasted so good!

We twisted until we were on our sides and for the next few minutes we just kissed and hugged each other like tow lovers. Damn, it had been ages since my cousin and I had made out like this and I realized just how much I missed doing this with her.

"Ummmmm, do I get any attention?" my dad finally broke in or we might have gone on all night.

We both looked at him where he was stroking himself as he watched us. His dick wasn't at its fully erect state, not by an means, but it wasn't entirely flaccid either. From plenty of past experience I knew the only difference now was just a little attention...

We both started to go for him but I pushed Kristen aside gently but firmly.

"You fucked him first so I get to suck him first," I said, "It's only fair."

In a way it was rather funny in that normally I would have sucked my dad for as long as possible before he fucked me but today it was all upside down. Kristen has been in such a hurry to one-up her cousin that she had just mounted him immediately without so much as a lick on his shaft.

Well, I corrected THAT in a few moments, taking my dad's semi-flaccid cock in my mouth and sucking on it softly with my tongue playing along the tip. His crotch had a thick heavy musky odor now that was tempered by the smell and taste of pussy - mine and Kristen's. Mmmmmmm, it was so erotic!

"OK, now I get some," Kristen demanded after I'd sucked on him for a few minutes. I wasn't about to pushed away THATY quickly though and I refused to give ground, keeping his dick firmly in my mouth.

"Now girls, no fighting," my dad chuckled, "There's plenty for both of you."

What I REALLY wanted was to feel my dad grow in my mouth. It was one of those things that really turned me on when I suck any cock - to feel it grow in my mouth. Face it, 99% of the time by the time I get a guy's dick in my mouth he's at full erection mode already. It's rare that I get to actually feel it enlarge and become thick and hard inside my mouth. Don't ask me to explain why, it just fascinates me and really turns me on.

At this moment that was exactly what was happening and I was not about to give it over to Kristen now just as it was starting to grow. Indeed, he had already grown substantially since I'd started and I knew it would only take a few more minutes at this pace to get him fully erect... and THEN Kristen could have it.

"I know what you're doing and it's not fair!" she huffed, obviously disappointed as she could see what was happening when I let him slide out of my mouth a little. Oh well little cousin, life isn't fair!

Soon my dad had regained his erection to where he was pressing against the back of my throat when I took him in all the way. Lifting my head up, I grinned at Kristen and nodded at my dad's dick.

"OK, you can have it now."

She just glared at me but she didn't waste any time replacing my mouth with hers. Meanwhile, as my cousin blew her uncle I moved up and offered him my boob to suck on. I loved the feel of his lips as he tugged ion my erect nipple and then the soothing touch of his wet tongue as he ran little circles around it. My dad was more a leg man and pussy lover but he wasn't about to turn down my boobs, at least not when I practically pushed them in his face.

After a while I went back down and joined Kristen as the two of us finally shared his dick between us, running our tongues up and down opposite sides and then switching back and forth to take him as deep into our mouths as we could one after the other.

"Damn girls, if you keep doing that I'm not going to be able to stop myself," my dad sighed, followed by a deep groan as Kristen took him down her throat, " Yeah, I mean like that."

Pushing us gently away, he sat up in bed with his wet cock pointed up to the ceiling. The two of us sat back on our heels, waiting to hear what he wanted next... and who. He'd fucked us both but I'd gotten his cum so it was only fair that Kristen get the next load as it would likely be the last but then again, as I'd told Kristen before, life isn't fair!

"It's like trying to decide between impossible choices," my dad sighed as he looked at me and then at my cousin, "I guess there's only one choice - do you both."

With that he positioned us both doggy style ion the edge of the bed with our knees on the edge and our lower legs and feet hanging off the side. We were side by side, our naked bodies pressed against one another as he had us lower down to our elbows so our pussies were more easily accessible.

"Now THAT is one incredible sight," he said as he stood back and stared at us, "Damn... stay that way for a minute... don't move a muscle."

He hustled over to the bed and pushed the covers around until he found Kristen's phone.

"OK, say cheese," he teased us as he moved around until he got the shot he wanted, "Finger your pussies now."

Dutifully we did as he told us, spreading our pussy lips apart and then rubbing ourselves and pushing our fingers in our pussies as he took one shot after another. I couldn't help but feel like one of those porn stars on the internet as it was such a classic pose.

"Fuck, enough of that, I'm gonna fuck some pussy now," he grunted as he laid the camera aside and moved up behind Kristen first.

Without any hesitation, he rammed his dick into her to the hilt, pushing her forward as she grunted from the force of his entry. Rather than pull out and do it again, he pulled out and quickly moved in between my legs and did the same to me. Like Kristen, I couldn't help but grunt as he suddenly rammed it deep inside of me and pressed in hard against my ass like he wanted to see just how far he could get it in me.

Well, he had said he was going to do us both and indeed, that was just what he did. Back and forth he went, a stroke in her and then in me and then back in her again. Finally as he tired he started to do two and then three strokes before he would switch pussies.

"Oh shit, I'm getting old," he gasped finally after going on for a while this way. He was fucking me at the time, now getting in maybe a half dozen stroked before he switched back to my cousin.

He pulled out of me then but instead of entering his niece he took a seat on the edge of the bed and pulled Kristen on top of him. She was still on her feet facing away from him as he pulled her down onto his dick.

"Sorry babe, I can't keep doing all the work, now fuck me."

Kristen knew what to do as it was pretty obvious what he wanted. I sat on the edge of the bed next to them, one leg bent under me with the other foot on the floor. My pussy was screaming for more attention and while it really wanted my dad's dick, for the moment it made do with my finger as I masturbated and watched my dad being fucked by my horny little cousin.

"OK Kelly, your turn," he said to my surprise. Wow, he was really holding out this time!

Kristen reluctantly made room for me as I got into position and reached back for my dad's dick. Kristen proved to be a good sport of it and instead she grabbed my dad's wet shaft and guided it into my pussy for me as I sat down and felt it slide into me.

He must have been closer than he had realized as I'd only been riding him for less than a minute when he suddenly pushed me off and motioned for Kristen to get aboard.

"Sorry sweetheart, I promised her a load too," he apologized as Kristen grinned at me.

His attention quickly switched back to my cousin's pussy now enveloping his dick as he moaned while he came inside of her. Kristen was grinning from ear to ear as she looked at me, obviously pleased that she was getting it instead of me.

Now it was my turn to eat my dad's cum from my cousin's pussy. This time my dad didn't worry about the camera as he leaned back and let Kristen lay on top of him as I licked and ate her pussy right over his rapidly dwindling dick. I even got in a few licks of his dick while it was available. It didn't take long before she was do with either two brothers (not necessarily mine) or a father and son both taking me at the same time.

For my dad, you could say he hit the Trifecta! Not only did he get to fuck me as a teen as well as my cousin Tammy when she was only fourteen, but he got to do two or more girls at the same time (either me and my cousin Kristen or me and my mom or some other combination). Then to top it all, he got the mother-daughter box checked off when me and my mom joined forces to please him. Not many men get to realize all three of the top fantasies - and at the same time no less!

My husband Steve pretty much has the same opportunities as my dad and trust me, he takes full advantage of them. Sometimes I wish his mother would join in with us but that doesn't seem likely to ever happen. Unfortunately for him there's nobody younger left to fuck in the family so anything like that he has to do with my dad and Aunt when they go to their family parties. Still, overall I would say Steve's sex life is better than he ever could have imagined growing up and how many husbands can make THAT claim?

Then there's Ben, my cousin Kristen's new husband. When you marry a woman you met as a prostitute then it shouldn't come as any surprise that she doesn't exactly have a typical family life. Still, I have to wonder if he really understood what he was getting himself into... or should I say WHO he would be getting into? LOL. No doubt he had to expect that his wife wouldn't exactly be monogamous but so far as I know Kristen didn't reveal her incestual leanings until after their vows were exchanged. Again, while I'm sure it had to be a bit of a shock, it couldn't have been anything nearly as great as it would've been had he married a "normal" woman, meaning one that wasn't turning tricks for years with him as one of her clients.

We'd been quietly debating all day what to do this evening. There were even suggestions like heading up to go clubbing in Chicago but we didn't think it would be right to leave my grandmother when we were supposed to be visiting.

In the end the decision was sort of surprising to me. It was something we hadn't done in quite a while, in fact not since my mother had left my dad and moved out to Oregon. The guys were pretty all for it, even my dad who I would have thought would be the one to oppose it. I guess after a couple of nights of hot sex he'd loosened up a bit - at least for the holiday weekend.

No sooner had my grandmother's bedroom door shut than we all gathered in my dad and aunt's bedroom. I have to admit I felt both excited and a bit worried. In our previous "family orgies" it was always my dad with multiple girls - his wife, daughter, etc. Tonight the numbers were even which meant rather than being the man in the middle so to say, he would now be just one of three hard dicks. Oh well, he hadn't said anything to oppose things so I guess we would just have to take him on his word.

My aunt assumed the motherly role to get things started, telling everyone to just strip and get it over with rather than fooling around with any kind of strip teasing or whatever. Now that sort of thing would have been fun for me but I could see her point. The room was crowded enough with six people so hers was probably the best suggestion. Within minutes everyone was naked and either seated on the bed or standing next to it. All the men were already fully erect but I guess I couldn't blame them for their lack of self-control.

Once again it was my aunt directing things and her experience clearly showed as she knew just what to do to get things off on the right foot. It was an easy decision actually as I have never met a guy who didn't enjoy watching two girls having sex - with three being even better.

6. Breakfast With My Grandmother

It probably should go without saying that Sunday morning came way too soon. Even so, my internal alarm clock worked perfectly. OK, so my bladder may have had something to do with it as well but either way I was awake at 7:30AM while everyone else was still sound asleep.

Looking around the room, it was quite a sight. Nothing but naked bodies draped over one another in no particular rhyme or order. The strong odor of sex lingered in the air. Whew, some air freshener was in order!

Grabbing a robe that I think was my aunt's, I wrapped it around me and hurried to the bathroom to deal with my immediate needs. As I stepped back out into the hallway, I was startled to almost run into my grandmother.

"Good morning," she greeted me with an odd smile, "So are you going to the service with me? Starts at 9:00 you know."

Well duh, like what was I supposed to say? My body was telling me that another couple hours of sleep wouldn't hurt but my heart and soul was tugging me to attend church. I really don't like to miss it and I always feel guilty when I do.

To answer her I just nodded to which she responded, "I'm guessing the rest won't be joining us."

She nodded her head at the bedroom door and it was immediately obvious she knew everyone was in the room together. Well, it wasn't up to me to explain our actions so I figured best to just let it go and she wasn't exactly pressing the issue anyways. I was just like always with her pretending that things happening right under her nose never happened.

I started to follow her to the kitchen but she politely but firmly put out her hand and wrinkled her nose.

"How about I get breakfast started and you take a shower first?"

While she didn't exactly say WHY I should take a shower, it was pretty obvious. First, my hair was a disaster and it didn't help that I could feel clumps of dried cum in it when I tried to run my fingers through it. I hadn't really noticed anyone cumming in my hair the night before but obviously someone had been shooting with some pretty good range!

Besides my hair, I knew I had to wreak with sex and it was going to take more than a little deodorant and perfume to mask the odor. Besides everything, the more I woke up the grungier I felt. Although first I felt a little embarrassed, I realized it would have been nothing had I sat down to have breakfast with her in this condition only to realize later how bad I must have looked and smelled to her.

As the hot water cascaded off my shoulders and head I scrubbed my well-fucked pussy thoroughly. One of the additional benefits of shaving your crotch is it makes it much easier to clean up after a good night of sex! As my fingers worked their way between my legs, memories of the night before came back and I started to rub myself more than necessary to get myself clean. Then I remembered my grandmother was probably cooking breakfast for me and it wouldn't be polite to be late just because I wanted to masturbate first - plenty of time for that after we ate.

Wrapping my hair up in a towel, I started to put on the robe but when I held it up to my nose I realized that wearing it would negate the benefits of the shower so I just found a larger towel to wrap around me. I glanced into the bedroom before heading to the kitchen but nobody had moved a muscle since I'd left!

"Better?" I asked as cheerfully as I could muster when I entered the kitchen.

"Yes, thank you Kelly," she said softly, "Sorry, I couldn't help but say something."

I gave her a hug and kissed her on the cheek and it seemed like everything was OK between us, at least for the moment. As I sat down I recalled how many times she and I had done this very thing - share breakfast while the rest of whoever was with us slept soundly away. It was sort of like our special time together and we'd had some pretty interesting conversations over the years! It appeared soon that this time would be no different.

"So I take it you all had fun last night after I went to bed?"

Whoa, now THAT one came out of the blue as until then we'd been talking about the new pastor and how she wasn't happy with the way he'd changed around the order of the service.

"I guess so," I said slowly, trying to stall for time so I could see where she was taking this.

"You know Kelly, I'm not all THAT naive," she said but her eyes stayed focused on the plate in front of her and never met mine. I waited patiently for her to continue, not wanting to say anything unnecessarily that might make things worse.

"It seems to me now that your mother is gone that you've lost whatever sensibility she maintained. I just can't see the sort of thing you people did last night in my own house happening if she had been here."

Several things alerted me... "the sort of thing you people did" and "in my own house" were the ones that hit home the most. It was like it was bad enough we had an incestual mini-orgy but what seemed to bug her the most was that we did it all but right in front of her. It wasn't like the old walls exactly muffled the sound of what was happening on the other side of the bedroom door, especially something like last night's heroics.

I fidgeted in my seat, adjusting the towel which was threatening to drop. Yeah, like THAT was just what I needed right now. Of all the similar conversations we'd had in the past, this one was perhaps the most uncomfortable for me. Prior to this they usually centered around her concern for me, like she was making sure that whatever was going on between me and my dad was something I wanted and not anything he was forcing upon me. It all stemmed back to when my grandfather first took my own mother. It wasn't rape as while not entirely against her will, it wasn't like she protested or told him "NO". In the end she was even thankful although I knew she never felt quite right that her mother didn't approve.

Yeah, this was different. My grandmother wasn't worried about ME this time, she was more pissed off that we had disrespected HER. It was like our "don't ask, don't tell" policy had been stretched past the limits to the point where she wasn't able to entirely ignore everything.

"Well grandma, you DO know that mom has changed quite a bit lately herself, don't you?" I started to say. Indeed, now that my mom wasn't bound by her marital vows she was a LOT more slutty than I ever could have dreamed she could be but my grandmother wasn't listening to any of that.

"No you just be quiet about your mother Kelly," she scolded me, her face turning a bit red, "She was always the good one, not like her sister god help us all. Just look at yourself and be thankful you had her for your mother instead of turning into what your cousin became."

I couldn't let that slide entirely so I started to respond saying, "Now Grandma, you know Kristen stopped doing that stud a while ago. She's even married now."

I paused to catch my breath but before I could continue my grandmother cut back in with, "Like I said Kelly, I'm really not that stupid. Do you think I don't know how she and Linda manage to sell so many properties?"

Wow, it was ALL coming out now. She must have been even more upset than I'd thought. Actually, I was a little surprised that she even knew about the "benefits" of buying a home from my Aunt Linda. Then again, it's not the sort of thing you can keep a secret amongst family forever.

Then she leaned over and said quietly as if worried someone might hear her. Judging by my last peek into the bedroom the odds of THAT happening were about zero but I didn't say anything.

"I'm sorry Kelly, it's just so hard for me to comprehend sometimes, even after all these years. How can you even think about setting foot in church this morning after what you did last night?"

Well, I could take only so much before I had to draw the line. "Grandma, I didn't do anything last night that I am ashamed of in the slightest. If anything, I'm proud of it."

Now it was her turn to be exasperated. "Kelly, you committed incest and adultery. How can you be proud of that?"

"Well, incest maybe but not adultery," I muttered under my breath but as old as she was she still heard me.

"Listen Kelly, don't give me any of that crap about it not being adultery if it's incest. Committing one sin doesn't offset another. You're mother tried pulling that one and I didn't buy it then and I most certainly am not buying it now."

"I'm sorry Grandma, I just don't see it that way. Now do you want me to go to church with you or am I too unclean to sit next to you in the pew?"

Maybe a little too much but she got the message and the conversation ended in what could be best described as a draw. I helped her with the dishes and then hurried to my bedroom to change. Thankfully we hadn't used that room last night so my clothes were pretty much all where I'd left them. I'd brought along a rather conservative floral dress just for church, at least it was conservative for me. Although still a few inches above my knees, it was perhaps the longest in my closet.

Back in the kitchen my grandmother was waiting for me, her Bible open in front of her - no doubt to the anti-incest and adultery pages but I wasn't about to reopen that conversation again. She looked up at me and her eyes covered me critically.

"No bra? Really Kelly?" she sighed with exasperation as she closed her Bible.

In the first place, I hadn't brought one so it wasn't like I made a conscious decision NOT to wear one. I thought the dress was thick enough that my nipples wouldn't be poking through and an earlier glance in the mirror hadn't drawn any attention but apparently she was able to figure out I was missing something - probably the lack of a strap line.

"Well I hope you're at least wearing underwear then," she muttered shaking her head.

I just ignored that one. Of course I was wearing underwear! Like, I WAS going to church with my ultra-conservative grandmother, not my father, so I wasn't about to even think about drawing such attention to myself. Not that they were exactly granny panties but then they weren't a full-blown thing either. Tasteful is how I would classify them.

"How do you girls even walk in those things?" she asked as we went out to her car for the short drive to church.

I glanced down and shrugged. It wasn't like I was wearing six-inch stilettos or anything like that. I thought they were rather classy - black strapless with maybe a four-inch heel. Not like they were clear stripper heels!

In the end church went just fine. My grandmother introduced me to her friends and even the pastor. I almost laughed when even the pastor managed a quick downward glance at my cleavage although I doubted anyone noticed it was so fast. Hey, he's a man too and most men can't entirely stop the instinct so it didn't bother me at all.

By the time we got home the rest of the gang was up and my dad was already packing the SUV. I hadn't planned to wear a dress on the trip home and especially not the heels but my dad had already packed the suitcases so I wasn't left with a choice. Seeing how the guys were looking at me in my dress, somehow I don't think it was entirely coincidental that my clothes had been locked up so quickly!

We all kissed and hugged my grandmother goodbye and it was back on the road for the ten hour trip home. You would have thought that after all the sex the night before that everyone would have been worn out and settle in for the trip.

You might have thought so but then you would've been wrong, LOL.

7. The Trip Home

Actually, with the SUV loaded up as full as it was we didn't really get into any sort of crazy doings on the way home. Kristen was the one to start flashing her boobs at the truckers. Not to be outdone I flashed a few of my own and we even finally managed to talk my aunt into doing it a couple of times herself. It made me wonder what the truckers were saying on their radios to each other. Were some of them making deliberate moves to pull up alongside of us?

The only other real "event" was when my aunt dared me and Kristen to relive one of our older car games that we use to play when travelling together - see who could cum first. Back as teens even before we started having sex together we use to masturbate all the time. Whether it was because I "practiced" more than her or whatever the reason, I usually won like 80% of the time or more.

This was a first for Ben whereas for Steve it was sort of "been there, done that" type of thing. In the end it was sort of funny because neither of us wanted to "win" the contest as we both enjoyed what we were doing too much to have to stop. Finally she couldn't hold off any longer and as soon as she started hers and I was confirmed the winner when I allowed myself to finish as well.

It was late in the evening when we finally got back to the 'burgh. My dad dropped Kristen and Ben off first and then pulled up to our apartment.

"Maybe next time your mom can join us," Aunt Linda said to Steve as we gathered our suitcase.

Now had I said something anywhere close to that Steve would have gone off the deep end and chastised me for bringing up the subject, fiercely denying that he had any such desires for his mother. To my shock,. In response to my Aunt's comments he simply kissed her gave her a "who knows" sort of answer. Was he just teasing her?

After being cooped up all day in the SUV, Steve was anxious for a little relief and then we finally slept in our own bed again. I fell asleep thankful for having such a wonderful husband and family. Wow, this was a lot of fun so maybe we should plan something similar for Christmas!

(Dec 03) Chapter 254: Swapping Recap

Story codes: MF FF oral adultery
Me (27)
Leon (26) & Tamara (23)
Stuart (66) & Lisa (61)
Craig (20) & Jenny (18)
Ken (32) & Corianne (31)
Hugh (33) & Naomi (30)
Derek (43) & Amber (44)

I'd assumed all my life that once I got married that having sex would be limited to my husband and family. You can imagine what a surprise it was for me when my husband told me that he wanted us to swap partners now and then and not necessarily even together! While I've enjoy doing it, I can't say every time we did it has been "diary worthy". Over time some of those I never wrote about have added up to where I thought it might be interesting to tell a little bit about each of them.

1. Changing My Views

First, check out my September 11, 2011 diary entry[10] for a synopsis of how we handle swapping. For more detail about how I have reconciled my earlier convictions with my husband's new directives, read "Appendix (D.1) My Thoughts About Adultery". For those who just want to get on with this one and without repeating everything I've written in past diary entries on the subject, let me summarize things quickly...

Even though I know many people take issue with it, I define adultery as "an act of sexual intercourse outside of a marriage without the knowledge and consent of the spouse". Yes, it's rather long-winded but it's a complicated subject where a quick sound-bite can be easily taken out of context.

By my definition adultery requires two essential elements, BOTH of which must be present to be found "guilty":

---

[10] Don’t know what this entry is really called.

1. The ACT of sex. When I say "sex" I mean the penetration of a penis into a vagina. It doesn't matter how far in it goes as even just the tip counts. This is an important distinction as it means blowjobs, pussy eating, and such are NOT acts of adultery.
2. The INTENT to cheat. Cheating means keeping it a secret from your spouse. The only exception is when it's incestual sex because a spouse automatically gives blanket permission for their partner to have sex within their family from the moment they say "I do".

My views on adultery have changed over the years but I won't get into that now. What's important is what I believe NOW. Changing my views doesn't mean that I was wrong in the past or that I'm just trying to rationalize my current actions. It just means that I'm adapting to new elements in my life and new situations that I hadn't considered before when establishing my values and morals. I feel that people who refuse to change when presented with the better information and a more mature outlook are the real hypocrites.

Before our wedding Steve and I discussed many things about our future - everything from the proper position of toilet seats and sharing of tooth brushes to babies, incest and swapping. I'm not saying we agreed on every point but at least we put everything out on the table and agreed to disagree in some areas.

A few months before the wedding I learned that there were a few things that Steve hadn't been totally forthcoming on, most of which were inconsequential. The one thing that WAS significant was his desire to be in the swapping scene. I don't mean group parties and "open" marriages. He just wanted us to meet with other married couples and exchange partners. In our earlier discussions I'd been adamant about how I felt that swapping was adultery and a sin, regardless of whether or not "permission" was granted by the spouse.

Maybe I'd been TOO adamant as evidently Steve had been concerned until then that my rigid positions on adultery (no) and incest (yes) were non-negotiable. While he wasn't totally happy about the incest part, he agreed because it also benefited him. He knew that I wouldn't object to him having sex with anyone in my family and he really had an eye on my mom and her sister. It was the "no adultery" thing that he kept silent on, not so much because he wanted to commit adultery but because his definition was a little different than mine on one crucial point - consent.

For me being raised with my mother's morals, adultery was adultery - black and white simple. If you had sex with someone outside your family it was adultery regardless of whether everyone agreed or not. Just because people didn't care didn't change the fact of what was done.

I have to say that while I accepted my mother's ways as mine, deep inside I struggled at times with the premise. I mean like if your husband is OK with it then why is it wrong? After all, it's just sex and not like you are falling in love another man.

While I may have debated it internally, I never voiced these thoughts to anyone - not even to my mother or my husband. If that was the way a marriage was supposed to be, then it was up to me as a Christian to honor and follow the scriptures. It wasn't until Steve finally confessed to me how he felt about the subject that I was forced to reevaluate my position. After much prayer and thought, two things caused me to change my mind.

First, I've learned over the years to listen to my internal "voice". Whether it's my guardian angel whispering in my ear or the Holy Spirit influencing my thoughts, whenever I feel THAT strongly about something I've learned that it's best to listen and just do it. In this case I'd been hearing that little voice for a long time and tried to push it aside which should have told me something. Deep down I knew that it couldn't be considered adultery if my husband was on-board so why continue to fight it?

Second, and far more important than any of my own reasons, it's what my husband wanted. As his wife and a Christian I'm biblically bound to submit to his will knowing that he loves me and respects me enough to never abuse that authority and thus cause me to do anything harmful or against my core religious beliefs. Thus if my husband wanted to swap with other couples, then who was I to say no?

Given that my husband is the head of our family I have to believe that he is influenced by his faith and relationship with God to make the proper decisions in such matters. When I look at our long history together, seeing how he was the first boy I'd had sex with, then the long separation only to see us get back together again and finally marry, I KNOW our marriage must be ordained by God. If so, and if this is what my husband wants, then my own views on the matter must have been wrong.

After Steve confessed to me his true feelings on the matter, we swapped a few times before we got married just to see what it would be like. We'd had sex with other couples before but that was just friends so going out with total strangers added an entirely new element to the equation. Seeing as we were only engaged at the time, it was "safe" from the view of any worries about adultery and cheating.

Needless to say I'd some really good times and I felt better about going into our marriage with this issue resolved.

Steve and I have been married over a year now and in that time we've had sex with numerous partners. In terms of events, most of these have been with other couples like us. Usually when we swap it's what I call a "pure" swap where we actually switch partners and go to separate rooms or even homes. That's my preference and Steve has pretty much gone along with it. There may be some interplay before the "split" but the focus is usually on couples, not groups. There have been a couple of times when we made it a "foursome" where we all stayed together but I have to say I enjoy the intimacy of being alone with another man much more as being all together in a small group. It just makes it feel more like some sort of sex show than anything else.

While swapping has pretty dominated our "external" sex life (I'm not counting incest as that's a whole different thing) we've been to a couple of parties with friends. Then there are the family parties which have been primarily Steve's thing, something he does more often than not with my dad and Aunt Linda without me in the picture. Also, there have been a few times when I've met with other men independent of Steve but that's always been when he was with someone else like my Aunt Linda or at a family sex party so it's not like I left him home alone or anything.

I had to do some considerable thinking before writing this entry. I started out by writing down as many of the couples that I could remember us being with. In many cases I didn't remember their names anymore, only the event, but that didn't matter as I wouldn't use their real names in public anyway. I then grouped them by "theme" and finally chose the one couple that I thought served as the best example. Thus these short entries aren't from the "top" of the overall list but rather a compilation of different types of people we've met since last year.

Except for our first swap with Leon and Tamara, I haven't written diary entries about any of these encounters until now; the reason being that I only like to write up events that were either unique or in some way impacted my life - good and bad. It takes me a lot of time to write a typical entry so I try to reserve my efforts for the really important events so a lot of things go by without any mention. That doesn't mean I didn't enjoy them or they weren't erotic, just setting priorities.

In each entry I've condensed things down quite a bit but overall I believe that I stayed essentially true to what happened. I just didn't go into the detail as I would have if they were individual diary entries. My objective isn't so much to tell the story but to offer a collage of various types of people we've swapped with since getting married.

2. Leon and Tamara - First Married Swap

Leon and Tamara were the first couple we had sex with after our marriage, almost a month to the day after our ceremony. Being it was our first time I wrote about it in my diary (see 2011 (Sep 23) Chapter 238: Our First Married Swap) so I won't repeat it all here. Still, being they were our first couple I think that makes them important enough to make it into this entry as well.

By this time in my life I'd had sex with literally hundreds of men, many of them married, so it wasn't like Leon was anything special from a purely sexual perspective. What WAS unique was for the first time I was having sex with someone outside my family while wearing a wedding ring! Until that very moment when Leon entered me for the first time and we joined as one, the whole concept of adultery and such was an intellectual exercise. It's easy to SAY you're OK with something and that you accept a fundamental change in personal morals and values that's you held onto for years. It's quite another to actual DO it.

At the time, and even later when I wrote about it, I really wasn't quite ready to admit just how nervous I was when Leon was about to fuck me. It's almost ludicrous for me to expect anyone to understand how I could be nervous about sex after everything I've done in the past thirteen years but my head was spinning with all the ramifications. My god, I was about to have sex with someone other than my husband! This was something that just a few months earlier I never could have imagined ever happening. Oh sure I've had sex with my dad since the wedding but that's incest and doesn't count.

As I've already said, seeing Leon's erect dick approaching my pussy was one of the scariest moments I can remember in a long time, at least so far as sex goes. Maybe even more so when I felt him press against me and then start to push into me. THAT was the point of no return. It was almost like giving up my virginity all over again. No matter what happened now or in the future, once his dick was in me I would never again be able to say what my mother was so proud to say after 25 years of marriage - that I'd never been unfaithful to my husband.

Oh sure I was going along with the "no cheating" modification to the adultery argument and I knew that Steve would never consider me to be cheating on him. If anything, I imagined he would have loved to be there with me as Leon fucked me. Still, attitudes built by twenty-some years of listening to my mother don't get erased overnight regardless of good intentions.

Thankfully once Leon started fucking me all such thoughts and worries quickly disappeared. All that poisonous negativity was finally replaced for good when my body experienced an intense orgasm which I think was driven primarily because I DID feel a little guilty which only made the sex that much hotter. Leon was my age and a great partner so I have to say I really enjoyed him fucking me.

Afterwards when Steve and I compared notes about our evenings I could see he was concerned about how I'd handled everything. To see his face light up when I told him how much I'd enjoyed myself told me that we'd made the right decision and after that I never looked back or questioned our decision again.

3. Stuart and Lisa - Grandparents

Whereas Leon and Tamara had been close to our age (26 and 23 respectively) Steve was well aware of my fetish for older married men so it was like he wanted to test my boundaries. Stuart and Lisa were in their 60's making him the oldest man I'd ever had sex with. For Steve, Lisa was well beyond any previous woman as my mom had been his oldest and she was only 45 the first time he did her. With me being 26 at the time this happened, that made Stuart forty years older than me! Lisa, at a "young" 61, was still 33 years older than Steve, more than twice his age.

Interestingly, Stuart and Lisa had only started swapping about a year earlier and thus far had only been with a few couples, all of them more or less their age until they met us. During dinner he confessed that they'd been leery of meeting with us at first after Steve had extended the invitation. Once the acceptance was made, they could see more of our profile and recognize that we were both younger than their three kids, two of which even had kids almost our age. Stuart was quick to point out that they didn't want us to role-play as their kids or anything like that. I almost laughed at seeing his concern that he might have somehow offended us with any notions of incest.

What was rather ironic was that each of us wanted to know why the other started swapping. Of course I wanted to know why after almost forty years of monogamous marriage they decided to have sex with other people. From their perspective, they couldn't understand why Steve and I would want to extend out sec life to other couple so early in our marriage. The difference in perspective were interesting to say the least.

I answered for Steve and me. My explanation was really quite straightforward – we both loved sex and didn't want our marriage to get into a rut by making any drastic changes in our sex life just because we now wore wedding rings. Lisa asked how much sex we'd been having before marriage to which I stayed a little vague. I was worried that they might change their minds about us if they had any idea just how many partners we'd had over the years, especially me.

Lisa seemed a little surprised even at what I did tell her, saying she and Stuart had waited until marriage to have sex. Well, I guess things were a lot different forty years ago!

Stuart then did the talking saying that for them it seemed to be more a matter of "do it now while we still can" than anything else. Of course over the years they'd both wondered what it would be like to have sex with someone else, especially given that they'd each only done it with each other. Stuart had already passed the age where an erection was assumed every time and he playfully patted his pocket where he kept his "sex pills".

Lisa had apparently not been exactly happy when he mentioned the idea but then at their age it wasn't like their marriage was going to be affected or anything else. What I found interesting was when Stuart smiled at Lisa after describing their first time. I couldn't let that pass so I asked Lisa what was the story and she almost sheepishly admitted that after the first time, SHE was the one pushing for doing it again.

I was still curious about why they agreed to meet with me and Steve seeing how all their previous partners had been about their same age. This time it was Lisa looking at Stuart rather pointedly and we all laughed together as Stuart sat up and turned a bit red.

"OK, I'll admit it," he said, not entirely happy it seemed but what choice did he have now? "I wanted to have sex with a younger girl. At my age I know most girls aren't interested in someone like me so when Steve contacted us I was both surprised and elated."

He paused for a moment, looked at his wife who nodded, and then continued, "But how do you tell your wife you want to have sex with a girl not much older than one of your granddaughters without sounding like some sort of pervert?"

He seemed uncomfortable so I chimed in with, "Well you know Stuart, some girls LIKE to be with older men. I find them to be much more caring about my needs and not so much like I'm just a notch on their belt."

Lisa poked Stuart saying, "See honey, I told you not to worry so much." Then she looked at Steve and then grinned rather naughtily at me adding, "I have to admit too that the idea of being with a hunk like your husband isn't exactly all that bad either."

With that the two of them leaned together and kissed. It was easy to see why their marriage had lasted as long as it had.

Later Lisa and I went to the restroom together which I think was more to do with her wanting to talk to me privately than any bladder concerns.

"So you really want to do this?" she asked, looking me in the eyes, "I mean don't get me wrong, I love my husband but compared to Steve..."

Wow, how could I explain all the thoughts I had then to her in just a few words? How do you explain to someone who had been only with one man for over sixty years and was barely into the swapping lifestyle what it meant for me to have sex with other men besides my husband? I still got the idea she felt it was more than a little naughty to do what they were doing rather than as a natural extension of their sex life. How could she possibly relate to my life and feelings?

"Trust me Lisa," I said, putting my hand on her shoulder, "This has nothing to do with Steve. I enjoy sex and I like older married men, it's just that simple."

She seemed to accept that but there was one thing more I was curious about.

"So Lisa, do you always just do the other husband or have you ever tried anything else?"

At first I think she wasn't sure what I meant but then it became obvious when she understood. Her hand went to her mouth and she blushed slightly.

"Oh no Kelly, I could never be a lesbian," she said in a hushed tone even though we were the only ones in the restroom at the time, "Did you think... I mean are you asking... well I guess I'm trying to ask if that's what you were expecting?"

She looked so concerned that I think if I'd said "yes" she might have fainted. I suppose being with just older couples that the issue hadn't come up before but I never really thought of being bi-sexual as anything limited by age. Still, I couldn't resist tweaking her a bit.

"Well to be honest Lisa, I wouldn't say no if you were willing but I understand where you're coming from so don't worry."

She still seemed as bit flustered. "I'm sorry Kelly, I don't mean to seem like a prude. I just can't ever imagine myself doing something like... like THAT."

I smiled and touched her hand gently and noticed she didn't pull back. "Well, if you decide to change your mind about THAT I'm sure our husbands wouldn't mind."

We both giggled like girls at that.

"I know, Stuart has talked about it before," Lisa explained, "I don't understand why guys like watching two girls having sex with each other but when it comes to two guys together... oh my gawd!"

With that we needed to get back to our guys so that was the end of that conversation. I had to admit to myself that Lisa didn't exactly turn me on as I like older MEN, not so much women. I don't mean the younger ones that Steve and my dad enjoy, but more around my age is my preference.

With dinner over it was decided that each of the women would return home with the other husband to spend the night and that we would meet again for breakfast the following morning. This was apparently also something new for them in terms of making it an overnight event. Evidently in the past they'd met at a hotel with adjoining or nearby rooms and once the "deed" was over they returned back to their spouses. Even though the arrangements had been made ahead of time, I could still see that Lisa was a little concerned.

"You know, I've never spent a night away from Stuart before," she said to me as the guys retrieved our coats.

"Never?" I responded incredulously. I couldn't see how that was even possible.

"I'm serious," she replied, "Even when he had his heart attack I was in his room all night and he did the same when I had my hysterectomy."

Wow, now THAT was incredible. At the same time, it made it all the more erotic for me knowing that I was the only woman Stuart will have ever spent the night in bed with besides his wife. I could see how that was a big thing for her at the same time I didn't feel sorry or anything as it's not like they didn't know what they were getting into when they accepted our invitation.

As for the sex that night, it wasn't anything special. If anything, Stuart was more the "missionary" kind of guy but I was able to loosen him up a bit and try some doggie and even to let me ride him cowgirl for a while. There were a couple of things which I think made it a night he would never forget, I mean besides the obvious.

First, he'd never gotten a BJ while driving before. His reaction was so funny when I started to undo his pants on the way back to their house. I'm sure he'd fantasized about it before but to have it actually happen was something I don't think he ever expected.

Next, while it normally isn't something I do,. I made it a point to undress as soon as we walked in and I didn't put on anything else until we got ready to leave in the morning, staying nude for him the entire time. I loved the way he stared at me but then when was the last time he'd seen a real girl naked that wasn't a member of the AARP?

Finally, when he woke up to find me sucking on his dick I think he thought he was still dreaming. It was obvious the entire night that Lisa wasn't as infatuated with blowjobs as I was. He made the point numerous times that he'd never had anyone suck his dick as much as I did.

The next morning at breakfast we found Steve and Lisa had already arrived with Lisa beaming like a newlywed.

"So everything went OK last night?" I asked her quietly as I took a seat next to her in the booth.

"Oh yeah," she sighed, her eyes rolling into the top of her head.

Her reaction didn't go unnoticed by the men and Steve was beaming like a proud father with a newborn baby. As for Stuart, he seemed a bit conflicted. Men and their egos! On the one hand it was fine for him to have one of the best nights of sex he'd ever had (his words, not mine) but then when his wife expressed her satisfaction then the jealousy kicked in.

After breakfast and we were getting ready to go our separate ways, I pulled Lisa aside and smiled as I took her hand.

"I'm so happy Steve was good to you last night."

Lisa glanced over to the men to be sure Stuart was out of hearing range before she answered, "Oh my God Kelly! You are so lucky. I never knew sex could be like that."

I just smiled and then leaned over to whisper in her ear, "Well, if you think THAT was great, if you ever decide to do it give me a call and the two of us can have some private time together."

Talk about blushing! To be honest I knew my offer would never be accepted but it was fun to get her reaction. Who knows, maybe she might change her mind someday and surprise me!

4. Craig and Jenny - Newlyweds

Having been married less than six months at the time, I still considered Steve and I to be newlyweds and would until our first anniversary. Yet compared to Craig and Jenny, we were old-timers. They had been married only two weeks when we met with them. Interestingly, the arrangements had been made before their wedding so it was like they entered into marriage knowing they would be swapping shortly afterwards. A quick honeymoon and now they were already looking for new partners. Heck, even Steve and I had waited a month!

At twenty and eighteen, Craig and Jenny would also be the youngest married couple that Steve and I'd met with Jenny having celebrated her 18th birthday on the same day as their wedding, something I'd never heard of before but then I guess it must happen more often than one might think. Neither of them had gone to college with Craig working for his father's construction business and Jenny having just graduated from high school the previous spring.

Apparently his parents were supportive while hers had been firmly opposed which is why they waited until her eighteenth birthday to tie the knot. While I could empathize with her parents' concerns, I couldn't believe that anyone could be so cold as to refuse to even pay for their daughter's wedding because she was going against their wishes. Fortunately his parents were well off and took over the financial responsibilities.

Rather than our usually met and greet at some neutral location like a restaurant or bar, Craig and Jenny had asked that we just come to their house directly which was fine with me. Sometimes all the foreplay got a little old so it would be nice for once just to go straight for what we all knew we wanted in the end anyway - sex.

For a young couple they had quite a nice home but then during the tour Craig mentioned about his father owning a construction business and that the hoe had been a wedding gift. Wow, must be nice to be rich! They had both greeted us in robes and I had to imagine that they weren't wearing anything underneath. Walking up the stairs Jenny's bare ass was plainly on display under the short robe and I wondered if the show wasn't deliberate as a means to get Steve turned on. Yeah, like he needed any encouragement!

Indeed, it was easy to see Jenny as still being in high school. She looked younger than eighteen, that was for sure! Small boobs and a petite frame, she was barely five feet tall if I was to guess and probably something like 90 pounds - or less.

On the other hand, Craig looked like a linebacker which was confirmed when we passed by a series of family photos with a few of him in his high school football uniform. One of them had them both in it with Jenny in a cheerleader uniform. THAT didn't surprise me at all as she seemed the stereotypical cheerleader type - bubbly and perky to the point of being annoying.

We paused by some wedding photos on a table and I turned to Jenny to ask, "So you guys just got married... that's so sweet. Is this your first swap since the wedding?"

The two of them looked at each other and grinned. Craig answered saying, "Well, the first since our honeymoon."

Jenny giggled - just like an annoying cheerleader. Craig smiled even more broadly as he added, "We went to an adults-only resort south of Cancun... VERY adults only if you get my drift."

"But we DID spend the first night together," Jenny cut in almost defensively. I had to wonder who she slept with on the other nights but it seemed pretty obvious it wasn't her husband - or least not just him.

"So you guys must have been pretty open about things before you got married I take it," Steve observed.

"She was a slut, no doubt about it," Craig said, looking at Jenny who was beaming at her husband, "The first time I met her she was banging half the team with a few of the other cheerleaders."

Jenny was sounding more and more like my type of girl, LOL.

"Well, it's not like YOU didn't have a rep," Jenny countered, looking more amused than upset. She looked at me and whispered in a conspiratorial tone which everyone could still hear, "I think he did the entire squad his senior year."

Craig looked pretty proud of himself and then Steve stepped in, not wanting to be entirely outdone.

"That's great, both of you," he said nodding his head but then he turned to me with a look of pride, "Now Kelly here was quite the slut herself in school. In fact, I was her first when she was not even a freshman!"

"Oh really?" Jenny said, then she got that mischievous look on her face again. "I did it in sixth grade the first time.

I looked at Steve who seemed ready to rush to my defense and put my hand over his, squeezing it to signal him to back off. Face it, Jenny was an even bigger slut than I'd been in school!

"I even did my brother once," she boasted, "He thought I was his girlfriend because the lights were off but we planned it ahead of time so he would do me."

"You did your own brother?" I asked in a tone of disbelief. I was NOT going to get into an incest one-upmanship game even thought I knew this was one area I could more than likely blow her away. It was more fun to egg her on and see where she'd go.

"I know, it was so naughty of me and boy was he mad because I was still in seventh grade and he was a junior," she went on like she was telling us the weather.

"Well, I was an only child so you got me there," I said half-jokingly only she had no idea what the other half was.

"I always wanted my dad to do me but no matter how hard I tried he never would do it," she said in a disappointing voice, "And I tried REALLY hard."

Craig chuckled and said, "Yeah, she was hitting on both our fathers at our reception. They just thought she was drunk."

"We've got a hot tub out back if you're interested. No suits allowed of course," Jenny invited us.

Something told me that if we all got in the tub together that we wouldn't be leaving for quite a while and to be honest, I didn't know if I could take much more of Jenny the Cheerleader. Girls like her annoyed the hell out of me in school and I really didn't want to spend any more time with her than we'd already done.

Steve, on the other hand, seemed infatuated with the little girl look which didn't surprise me. He accepted her invitation to the hot tub while Craig took my hand and led me off to the bedroom.

"She can be a little overwhelming at times," Craig said apologetically after we were in the room, "It's funny but after all she's done she still gets nervous when something like this happens. Actually I find it sort of sweet."

With that he dropped the robe, standing nude in front of me with his erection poking up as I remained fully clothed.

"I'd love it if you just sucked me without getting undressed," he explained.

That was fine by me!

Don't ask me why but there's just something exciting and erotic about sucking a man's dick while I'm fully clothed. It's like it all about his dick and my mouth without my nudity distracting him from what I am trying to accomplish with my mouth and hands.

After I'd sucked him off he quickly regained an erection - one benefit of swapping with younger couples, and this time he insisted on fucking me with everything on, even my thong which he simply pulled down and to the side to make room for his dick. He unbuttoned my blouse enough to reach in and grope my boobs as he did me from behind, standing up as I leaned over the bed for him. Other than that, I never took off a single piece of clothing the entire time!

What made it extra special for me was after fucking me on the bed for a while he pulled out and told me to stand by the window and look out as he reentered me again. As he fucked me I noticed that the hot tub was right below the window on the back patio with us on the second floor overlooking everything. It sort of reminded me of my old bedroom as a kid where my window also overlooked the hot tub on our deck. It was that very window from which I observed my parents making love for the very first time when I was just sixteen - an observation which eventually led to me having sex with my parents.

"Looks like they're enjoying each other, doesn't it," Craig observed as he leaned over me to look out.

Down below us I watched as my husband sat on the edge of the hot tub with Jenny sitting back on his dick, bouncing on him like she was doing some sort of cheer. God, it was wonder she wasn't snapping off his dick!

"I love her," he sighed as he leaned back and fucked me harder, "I don't think there's anything she won't do if I asked her."

Well, watching below I soon saw one thing she WAS willing to do that I wasn't as she put both hands on the edge and lifted her little ass to Steve, letting him fuck her in the ass.

"She LOVES it in her ass," Craig remarked, almost like he was a commentator for some sort of TV show featuring his slutty wife.

"Don't even think about it," I said firmly, cutting him before he went where I knew he was going.

"Hmmmmmm, looks like Steve likes it though," he chuckled as he stood back and pushed me on my back onto the bed with my legs dangling to the floor.

Steeping in between my knees, once again I felt his dick entering me and before long he was filling me with cum.

"Damn, that was good," he groaned after finishing, "Mind if I clean up?"

At first I thought he meant using the bathroom but then I quickly learned he meant it in quite a different way - in that he wanted to clean ME up. Kneeling between my legs, he lowered his head to my freshly fucked pussy and licked me clean, cum and all. OK, I might not let Steve fuck my ass but if he insisted I would let him. On the other hand he would NEVER eat his own cum regardless of what I said. Steve was so homophobic that he didn't even like TOUCHING his cum, let alone taste it.

"Mmmmmmm, now THAT was good," Craig said, wiping his mouth with the back of his hand, "Time for seconds."

Once again he fucked me but this time he came in my mouth, telling me not to swallow. Then he kissed me and I knew what he wanted so I pushed his cum into his mouth with my tongue. Now THAT was a first - snowballing with a guy! Again, I could never even conceive of Steve ever doing something like that.

Although we had never really said one way or the other, that finished things so far as Craig was concerned. I'd cum a few times and he had now done it three which seemed to satisfy his lust. I looked out the window and saw the two of them still in the tub but now just sitting there. Jenny's hand was under water in Steve's lap and I had a feeling what she was holding! Still, it seemed more out of habit for her than anything she was actively pursuing as they were talking away about one thing or another.

The two of us walked out to the patio, me fully dressed with Craig still naked. Nudity certainly didn't seem to be an issue with him, even around other guys - unlike my poor neurotic husband.

"Was she good?" Jenny asked excitedly as Craig joined them in the hot tub, taking a spot on the opposite side of his wife from my husband.

Craig looked at Steve and they high-fived which more or less answered the question for both of us.

I looked at Steve expectantly and he got the idea quick enough, getting out of the hot tub and drying himself off before getting dressed. Meanwhile Craig has lifted himself up on the edge of the hot tub and Jenny was sucking his cock.

"They could at least wait until we left," Steve mumbled to me.

We said out goodbyes and left them to their own devices. I have to say one thing, Steve REALLY worked hard on my when we got home which I appreciated more than he might realize. It's fun to get fucked by someone like Craig but I'll take making love to my husband over that any day!

5. Ken and Corianne - Marriage Counseling

Ken and Corianne were probably the most unique of all the couples we've met, at least so far. Almost the same age as us, their marriage was a lot older and it seemed the proverbial "seven year itch" had struck hard, at least for Ken. He'd cheated on Corianne with a nineteen year-old intern at work. Naturally he claimed that she was the one to come on to him when Corianne inevitably found out and threatened to divorce him. He pleaded for her forgiveness so they met with their pastor who passed the buck by referring them to a marriage counselor. When I learned about his methods I had to wonder what sort of pastor they had! If this is what he had in mind, no wonder he had to find someone else to prescribe the "treatment".

To make it simple and short, after listening to both sides their counselor felt that the best way to resolve Corianne's anger issues was to let her give her husband a taste of his own medicine. In other words, a revenge fuck. She could have just gone out and had sex with another man but that wasn't enough; the counselor felt it was essential to the healing of their marriage that Ken watch and feel firsthand how it felt to see his spouse being satisfied by a total stranger.

Personally, to me it was like telling someone to put out a fire by pouring gasoline on it. Then again, my psychological training was limited to a few courses in college whereas he had the diplomas on the wall so who was I to argue?

There was an added wrinkle to the "therapy" in that her deeds needed to be more than just an act of revenge. Corianne was told by the therapist that just being equal wouldn't teach her husband a lesson. She needed to go one step beyond what her husband had done, to do something that would really drive home to him the seriousness of his transgressions and make him understand how she felt to be left alone at home while he was out screwing a college girl.

One thing the counselor had to help him in his practice was access to our sex group. We learned later that he was the one who had sent us the invitation on their behalf - they had no idea how he had arranged a couple to meet with them.

When Steve and I were first contacted through the group we had no idea of all this craziness. It seemed no different than any other invitation - a married couple saw our profile and wanted to know if we'd be interested in meeting with them for sex.

Although Steve is usually the one to handle these sort of things I know that we must get at least a dozen or more such requests every week, often from the same people as we'd turned down before. Steve's pretty picky about who we meet so it's only the ones that really stand out that he even bothers to open up their invitation and check them out in any detail.

At a glance, Ken and Corianne were one of those couples who initially didn't stand out in any way. Both were in their early thirties with no kids and no history of swapping, was it worth the effort of having to deal with newbies? While we also tended to avoid the 'serial" swappers - the ones who seem to do it every night, we've also learned that a little experience can really make the whole experience go smoother. When both couples have done it before they know the drill with the "new" factor worn off and no hesitation or guilt. After all, the whole point is to enjoy yourself, not to train someone.

For whatever reason, Steve was in one of those inquisitive moods (or maybe he was just horny) so just for the hell of it he clicked "Yes" in response to the request but instead of the couple contacting us, he heard from the therapist instead which was a bit unusual to say the least.

After hearing the situation from the therapist, Steve finally told me about it and asked me how I felt getting involved. Frankly, I still wasn't sure what "involved" meant, especially for me. It sounded more like him fucking Corianne while me and Ken watched. I doubted Ken was suppose to be getting any satisfaction from the deal.

To say that I wasn't initially thrilled would be an understatement. Watching Steve fucking a woman we'd never met while her husband and I watched was NOT on my "to do" list by any means. In any case, I've never been much of a voyeur, at least when it came to this sort of thing. When it comes to Steve and me, HE is the one who likes to watch while I prefer to be the one doing. It's always nice to see my husband enjoying himself but it doesn't do much for me sexually except make me want to have sex with him afterwards.

Steve agreed to talk to Ken and Corianne on the phone - we keep one of those prepaid ones for such occasions so we don't have to reveal our "real" cell phone numbers. For whatever reason he wouldn't tell me what they told him but whatever it was it certainly had him smirking. All I knew was that he told me not to worry and to trust him that everything would be just fine so far as I was concerned. Well, Steve was my husband so what choice did I have? If I couldn't trust him, who could I?

We arranged to meet for an evening at a local hotel - with just one room I noted when we all checked in. We'd just met a few minutes before in the hotel lobby for the first time so this was my first opportunity to get an impression of them both other than the photo on their profile.

My first thought when I saw Corianne was why in the world would her husband want to cheat on her? My goodness, she was gorgeous... stunning even! Once in the lobby she'd removed her coat to reveal a red dress that was form fitted to her figure emphasizing every curve, including what had to be at least a D-sized bust. The dress was made of one-piece stretch material that you pull down over your head and then down to your hips. There were no shoulder straps, depending on the tightness around her boobs to keep it from slipping down any further than it already did. It didn't even seem to have a lining as her nipples were clearly outlined. She had rather wide hips - not fat, just her body shape and the dress barely came down low enough to cover her butt. The effect was to show off an incredible set of legs, highlighted by the tall stilettos on her feet.

Steve was infatuated at first sight. As for me, I was more interested in Ken, both physically and intellectually. There was obviously a lot going on in their marriage we didn't know about to cause him to risk losing a woman like her. Why had she married him in the first place? Had I seen him anywhere else he wouldn't have gotten a second glance. Shorter than his wife, even if she wasn't wearing the heels, he had a bit of a belly and was half-bald already. While not ugly, he wasn't what I would call handsome either. My first thought was he must have had one hell of a dick!

"Shall we go to the room?" Ken said, not so much a question but a suggestion.

The elevator ride was uneventful without anything being said. It was like we were all still checking each other out and not quite sure what to say. I noted that while Corianne wasn't making a move on Steve, at the same time she wasn't exactly cuddling up to her husband either. Obviously things were still a little strained.

One thing I DID find interesting was the way she was looking at me. I hadn't dressed nearly as provocatively as her, just a plain black skirt with a white pullover top. Compared to her outfit I was downright conservative. I guess I figured since this was going to be starting out immediately in the room, what was the point in getting all dressed up, especially if I wasn't going to be the main attraction - a point that still bothered me, even more so now that I'd seen Corianne.

Once in the room, suddenly Corianne spoke up for the first time since a quick hello when we first met.

"First, I want to thank you two for coming tonight. I have to say I've been a little nervous about all this as you might imagine. Since we've been married I haven't had sex with anyone but Ken."

She made a heavy emphasis on the "I" when she mentioned not having extramarital sex, with a glare at Ken who squirmed as he sat in the chair by the desk. Definitely some unresolved issues here!

That was about the end of my rope. "OK, so is someone going to tell me what's the game plan? Is this all just so you can fuck my husband in front of yours?"

Corianne looked a little surprised at me being so blunt but she seemed to recover quickly. She looked at Steve as if wondering why he hadn't told me something. Steve just shrugged, patted me on the leg and let her answer.

"Well, he certainly deserves it but I guess your husband didn't tell you everything." She seemed a little worried now as she continued, "Well this is a little awkward now, isn't it?"

I looked at Steve and he knew better than to keep quiet.

"Well... the idea was that you two would start out first and then both do me."

I rolled my eyes. So THIS was the big secret? Good grief, it wasn't like I'd never put on a show before with another girl. Besides, one look at Corianne and why wouldn't I want to do it with her? It would be just for the guys to watch but then I felt pretty confident it would be fun for me too. Certainly not like having sex with one of my friends or my mom, but still nothing to turn down when it was handed to you on a silver platter.

So that was the therapist's plan for "punishing" Ken and allowing Corianne to exact her revenge. How this was supposed to "cure" their marriage problems was beyond me but then I wasn't the one being paid to help them. Whether or not it worked... who cared?

The first thought I had was how seeing me and Corianne going at it was suppose to punish Ken? Based on all my experience, guys beg to watch two girls getting it on so wouldn't this be more like a reward for bad behavior? Heck, if this was the result of him cheating, odds were he'd be banging every girl I the office in hopes of being "punished? again! Well, I wasn't about to argue about it as Corianne stood up and approached me.

"You ever do this before?" she asked softly, keeping her eyes focused on mine as if she didn't want to look at either of the guys.

I just nodded and smiled then answered, "You?"

She bit her bottom lip and shook her head. Wow, a babe like her and she'd never been with a girl before? No wonder she was looking nervous. Hmmm, was this the real plot behind their therapist's plans, to introduce her to lesbian sex so maybe down the line she had her own alternative when Ken ignored her? A little farfetched but a possibility I guess.

"Let's just make it simple then," I said softly, reaching out to take her hand in mine, "Kiss me."

Our lips met and I could smell her perfume as we hugged and pulled in tight to one another.

The kiss lasted a few minutes after which we both undressed. I couldn't help myself - I HAD to know and a quick glance at Steve showed he was thinking along the same lines. I couldn't help but stare as she pulled down her thong to reveal her pussy and sure enough... a real redhead! Corianne looked to trim it down considerably when it came to length but in terms of square inches of real estate she left a pretty large patch.

I pulled back the covers on the bed and we laid down next to each other and continued our kissed and fondling. Frankly, I could've done this for hours. We didn't cover ourselves so the guys could watch yet at the same time after a few minutes I wasn't even thinking of our "audience".

Supposedly Corianne had never kissed a girl before but I took that with a grain of salt as what girl hasn't played around a little at a slumber party or otherwise, even it was just on a dare. Whatever the truth was, she certainly didn't seem to have an issues with kissing me nor was she shy about putting her hands all over me. At the same time I knew how she must have been feeling as I was doing the same with her.

What I mean is as much as I love to touch Steve and put my hands and mouth all over him, a guy is just built differently than a girl. When I touch a man I admire his strength and physical attributes and the musk of his manhood. With a girl it's more the enjoyment of soft skin and perfume. Caressing a man's dick and balls is sensual and erotic because of what it represents - his male sexuality. In comparison, a woman's breasts just feel nice to caress and cup in your hand.

I don't mind a little hair on a guy so long as it doesn't get to where he looks more like a cousin to some gorilla. The only exception is his crotch where the hairier the better so far as I'm concerned. I LOVE running my fingers through it as I reach into his pants and the feel of it against my face as I suck him adds to the eroticism of a blowjob.

When it comes to as woman, I'm definitely not into the European scene. Except for her head I can't deal with hair anywhere else on a woman unless it's a well-groomed patch between her legs. For a long time now I've been shaving mine down there although recently Steve has been hinting that he gets turned on by a landing strip or something like that - not enough to have to part before he licks me but something to play with when he's just fondling me.

My hand was the first to reach between a pair of legs as I caressed her butt and then her hip, working my way down her thigh and then pressing between her legs. Corianne lifted up her leg allowing me to work my way up. God her thighs felt so smooth and soft! Evidently she liked it as well as she moaned softly into my mouth as we kissed.

Finally I worked my way up to the convergence of her legs and at first just palmed her pussy, enjoying the feeling of her warmth against the fingers of my hand as they pressed into her. Slowly I rubbed her, working my middle finger into her pussy lips gradually until the tip of my finger was at her pussy hole. A little push and it was in up to the first knuckle.

"Oh Kelly...," she moaned softly as I felt her body stiffen when my finger invaded her pussy.

As I finger-fucked her slowly, she put her right foot on her left thigh, making her pussy more easily accessible to me which I promptly took advantage of in order to sink another finger into her wet pussy. Her eyes were closed as I broke off her kiss and began to work my way down her neck and upper body, kissing and licking her continuously.

When I reached her boobs, Corianne twisted back over onto her back, her eyes still closed as if she couldn't bear to watch me as I kissed and sucked on her breast. Looking up, I smiled as I noticed the guys had each taken a chair and brought it right up to the bed so they had ringside seats. Both of them looked as if they had raging erections poking up through their pants and I had no doubt that both of them would have gladly joined us on the bed given half a chance.

Ignoring them, I slowly worked my way down her belly and to the upper parts of her hairy pussy, never once during the entire time allowing my fingers to slip out of her soaking wet hot pussy. Just as I was about to lick her I repositioned myself between her legs, laying on my belly with my bare feet hanging off the end of the bed. Resting my head on her perfectly smooth inner thigh, I watched up close as I played with her pussy with my fingers. She wasn't watching but instead keeping her eyes closed as she laid her head back into the soft pillow. I wrapped my right arm under her left leg, using her thigh like my personal pillow as my finger moved all over her pungent pussy, pushing into her to wet them as needed to keep her clit nicely lubricated.

Looking over again, I smiled at our husbands as they watched. I knew what they were hoping to see and I teased them by stretching it out as long as possible but eventually even I had to give in to my own lust and desires as I moved my outstretched tongue toward her pussy hole until I was rewarded with the sweet aroma and flavor that I loved so well. Mmmmmmm, she tasted so good!

It wasn't until her first orgasm died down that I withdrew my face from her crotch. I moved up over her until I could kiss her again. I half-expected her to push me away because of the smell and wetness of her pussy that remained on my face and mouth and tongue but she again showed no signs whatsoever of discomfort or distaste. Perhaps she was like me, having grown up enjoying the taste of her own pussy whenever she masturbated or just got horny. I've found that girls who like the taste of their own pussy typically have no problems with tasting other girls' pussies.

Corianne then pretty much mimicked my moves on her, from the kissing of my neck and books to resting her face on my inner thigh until she was licking my pussy and making me cum.

More than likely had their therapist been controlling the "session" at this point he probably would have considered it "mission accomplished so far as the lesbian part of the show. Since he wasn't, I wasn't about to not take full advantage of the opportunity. Twisting around yet again, I put my head between her legs with my own pussy in Corianne's face as we moved into a 69 position. Now THIS was heaven! The smell and taste of her pussy while I felt her own face and tongue on mine.

Again, Corianne acted as though all this was old hat to her. Maybe she had watched enough porn videos over the years that she was as prepared as much as she could be. Then again, maybe she was a covert lesbian? Well, I was soon to find out that the latter couldn't have been any more wrong!

"She's ready," I gasped to Steve as I came down emotionally from yet another orgasm courtesy of Corianne. She had also just cum again and if she was feeling anything like me, she was absolutely craving a warm stiff dick in her pussy.

Steve looked at Ken who just shrugged. Naked in a heartbeat, Steve was quickly located between Corianne's outstretched legs facing me, stroking his cock as he gazed upon another man's wife's pussy, confident that in a matter of moments it would be yet one more notch on his belt.

Reaching over, Steve grabbed a pillow and stuffed it under Corianne's butt to make her pussy more easily accessible. I put my elbows on the bed on each side of her hips, my pussy still smashed into her face, with my hands under her butt to help he lift it up even more. I watched with my face just inches away from her red-haired pussy as my husband held his dick by the base and brought it up close to her pussy. At first he just rubbed the tip against her, sliding it up and down her slit between her clit and pussy hole. Each time he touched her clit with it I felt her shudder beneath me.

Opening my mouth, my eyes met Steve's and he smiled as he leaned forward to let me taste her on his dick. I sucked just the head for a moment and then he pulled back and this time he simply put it against her pussy and shoved it in her. Seeing it all so closely was incredible. God, my husband's dick was suddenly buried in the pussy of a woman we hadn't even met until a short time ago and he was doing it with my pussy resting on her face while I had a front-row seat to the show.

I could just imagine how Ken must have felt seeing this strange couple fucking his wife. It had to be even "worse" for him than it would have been had two guys taken her. With a couple, he was seeing her not only being satisfied by another man, but he also was witnessing her hereto unknown bisexual instincts as well. As hot as his wife was, he had to be well experienced with seeing other men lust for her, and maybe even her for them but had he ever imagined seeing her with another woman?

It was almost enough to make me cum just seeing Steve's thick black pubic hair mixing together with Corianne's short but dense red bush, mashing together when he would drive himself all the way into her and then rotate his hips to move his dick around inside of her. Mmmmmmm, how many times had I felt him do this exact same move to me?

Speaking of which, nothing had been agreed upon so far as him fucking ME so why not have some of the same? Moving off of Corianne, I told Steve to sit back for a moment as I positioned her on her side to face her husband and then directed Steve to spoon her from behind, lifting her leg up in the air so Ken had a straight-on shot of his wife's pussy with Steve's hard cock back inside once again.

Standing up naked and sweating next to Ken for a moment, I tapped him on the shoulder and couldn't help but dig in a little.

"So Ken, what do you think of how my husband's fucking your wife?"

Ken didn't seem to want to answer at first but I was persistent. In any case, it's hard to ignore a naked woman right next to you, especially one that had just 69'd your wife just moments before.

"I don't know," he stammered a bit, "I hate it but yet it's so damn hot."

"Bet you're wishing now you hadn't banged that intern, eh?"

He didn't answer that one, instead for just a moment I saw an odd expression but it disappeared before I could figure it out. Was it a smirk? What was the real story here?

"Well, sort you can't join in but I want some of my husband's cock for myself," I teased him as I got back up on the bed again.

Steve took my return as a hint (which it was, duh!) and pulled out, dropping Corianne's leg limply down and then rolled her over onto her stomach. I got on all fours next to her, wiggling my butt as I gave Steve the signal as to what I wanted. LOL, he hasn't fucked me hundreds of time not to know what it meant when I did this.

"Fuck me Steve," I groaned as he entered me from behind without any fanfare.

My husband was in the zone now, that netherworld he disappeared into whenever he was super horny and in the middle of doing something about it. In this state it was like he was a robot programmed with one prime directive - fuck someone. I really don't think at this point it even matter whose pussy it was, he just HAD to have one.

"Get up," I nudged Corianne who seemed ready to pass out after her last orgasm. Damn, how many times had she cum already? She certainly hadn't taken any time to become adjusted to her new lifestyle.

Corianne got on all fours next to me, leaning against me for support. No sooner had she done so than Steve moved over behind her and once again she took his dick in her. Back and forth he went, from his wife's pussy back to Corianne and then back to mine again. It was like he would do a few stroked in one and then move to the other, just enough to make me feel good and then out again he would go.

It was my turn to enjoy Steve's cock when I heard him groan, "Oh fuck, I'm gonna cum!"

Looking over at Ken, I quickly nudged Corianne to get ready and turned my head back to Steve over my shoulder saying, "In her Steve... give it to her."

Normally I get rather possessive when it comes to my husband's cum. I don't mean when he's off with someone else like during a swap or a party, but more like when we were together I felt like it was my prerogative as his wife to enjoy the feel of my husband's warm sperm as he ejaculated. This time though I wanted Ken to watch as my husband mated his wife. For just a moment I reflected how we hadn't discussed anything about prevention. Was she on the pill? Well, hopefully so or this would turn out to be a lesson for them both!

Whatever the case, Steve wasn't going to be stopped no matter what anyone said now. Once a man starts his orgasm, there's no stopping him and Steve was all man! You could've hit him over the head with a bat and I wouldn't be surprised if his dick kept right on shooting cum.

So it was as he barely got back into Corianne than he started ejaculating. While I couldn't see his sperm erupting from the end of his cock, I'd certainly been on the receiving end enough times to know what she must be feeling at that moment. Not only was a man mating her, but for the first time since their wedding it was not the man she had married. I remembered the first time Steve and I swapped after our vows. Sure in my case it wasn't nearly as dramatic as it must be for Corianne, but there was still that inner revelation that it was something you could never take back or forget. No matter what happened to their marriage after this, Corianne would always have to live with the knowledge that she'd had sex with another man besides her husband.

Corianne felt forward onto the pillows in front of her as Steve remained coupled and feel forward as well onto her back, pinning her to the bed as if she was a butterfly with a pin driven through her abdomen except in this case while the "pin" was steel hard, it wasn't made of metal.

I moved over, putting laying on my side so I was pressed up against them both, pushing the hair out of her eyes so she could see me – if she ever chose to open her eyes again. Finally I caught her squinting out at me, a smile on her face. Steve groaned and rolled over his back, his dwindling cock flopping over after its recent workout.

Turning back to ken, I sat up in bed and laid back against Corianne's freshly fucked nude body.

"I think she liked it, what do you think Ken?"

"Yep, she sure did," he said almost like he was proud of her.

Yet again I felt this odd feeling... something wasn't kosher. Based on what I'd heard, Ken was supposed to be grief-stricken or at least jealous enough to show him the error in his ways. Instead, he seemed more happy than he had the whole time we'd been together.

"You guys did a great job," he said to me, smiling and nodding his head, "Couldn't have asked for things to work out better."

"Huh?" was the most philosophical response I could muster. Where was he going with all this. Even before he spoke I think I had it figured out. Damn, what a ruse!

Ken stood up and gestured to us to get off the bed.

"Thanks guys, I think you can go now. Corianne and I have a few things to work out now."

Steve was becoming more alert as the blood returned to his big head. He looked at me questioningly but I told him just to get dressed and I'd explain it all to him on the way home.

Ken was already undressing before we were ready to go. I turned to him and held out my hand.

"Congratulations... I think," I said shaking my head, "Just one question..."

Ken stopped what he was doing and just nodded.

"There was no therapist, was there?"

Ken looked over at Corianne to check that she was still more or less out of it before replying and even then it was barely loud enough for him to whisper in my ear.

"Does it matter? SHE thinks there was."

Steve didn't hear what we were saying and so he started to move over closer but I just turned and motioned for him to leave with me following behind. I closed the door but as I did, the last thing I saw was Ken stripped naked, crawling in bed with his wife. OK, so he wasn't a hunk but the way I felt right now I'd of fucked him!

Steve was pestering me in the elevator and then all the way to his truck as he tried to get the full story out of me but I waited until we were on our way home before I said anything. Even then I wasn't about to lay it out for him like a book,. Some things would finally sink in eventually.

In a villainous sort of way I had to admire Ken. After enjoying an intern and then getting caught, someone he had managed to manipulate his wife into learning about a change in lifestyle that I assumed he'd been unsuccessful in coveting her up until now. So now who REALLY had the leverage? It certainly wasn't going to be Corianne, not the way she so easily took to everything we threw at her. Then again, maybe those desires had been just under the surface for her as well and she just needed someone to help bring them up and out of her.

Now that the genie was out of the bottle, would it ever return?

6. Hugh and Naomi – Foursome

As I mentioned earlier my preference for swapping is to meet to get to know each other and then split off, preferably for the entire evening. To just have sex and then jump out of bed to go back to your husband or wife seems to take the air out of things, ruining the impact as it makes me feel like I was doing something wrong instead of becoming an emotional and heartfelt event to treasure later. Even THAT is assuming you split off to separate rooms or homes.

So what happens when you don't?

Well, the answer isn't all that hard to figure out. We only did this once and then only because I didn't know that was the plan beforehand or we wouldn't have accepted the invitation. It's not that I didn't enjoy myself – quite the opposite. It just isn't what I look for when we do this sort of thing. I'd rather keep this type of sex more between family and friends. It's like being at a sex party but only one other couple shows up. If I'm going to be with multiple partners in multiple combinations, then there need to be more people involved to get the most out of it. The way I see it, a straight sex foursome is like playing poker with only two people at the table.

Like I started to say, Hugh and Naomi were a great couple. A few years older than use, they already had three kids – two girls as bookends with a boy in between. The oldest was just starting kindergarten so they were all left with a babysitter while we got together at a local hotel just for the evening (another strike but that's another subject).

Steve still swears to me that he hadn't realized that Hugh was only making reservations for one room but sometimes I know my hubby likes to surprise me only this time it wasn't a good one. Personally, I think he knew the story all along but he knew what my response would be so he waited until it was too late to back out before spilling the beans.

Take two married couples close to the same age, put them in a hotel room with a king-sized bed, mix well and then what do I really have to say? Add in a few pertinent facts like ONE of the girls (if you know me then you know which one) allowed anal sex. Also, ONE of the men (again, if you know Steve then you know which one) was bisexual. Finally, BOTH girls were bisexual so there's no mistaking identities there. Stir well and I'm sure you can imagine the outcome probably better than I can explain.

We only had a few hours thanks to the babysitter situation and the distances between us so there really was not much time for sitting back and talking or getting to know one another - at least from other than a physical standpoint. It was pretty much a meet and greet in the hotel lobby then straight to the room and directly to bed - do not pass GO, do not collect $200.

Alright... a few of the highlights for me. As I said, it wasn't as if I didn't enjoy myself, it just wasn't what I'd of done if I'd been given the option of something else at the same time...

We agreed from the start that all cum had to be directed at the other wife, regardless of how it was encouraged. So if her husband was fucking me, then it was easy but even if Hugh was fucking Naomi or she was sucking his cock, then he had to make sure that he moved quick enough to give it to me either orally or vaginally. Steve was under the same constraint only he had a third option - her ass. It may seem like a silly rule but it led to a few interesting contortions at times.

Another "rule" established up front was that the guys were in charge and that the women had to do whatever they were told - within limits. Of course I made sure the "no anal" rule was in effect, at least for me as Naomi wanted it for herself.

We discussed condoms at the outset. We all quickly agreed that none of us liked them yet given our sexual histories, should we use them? Given neither couple had been with anyone outside the group in the past few months we agreed that our recent tests covered us. Interestingly, that's not a subject that gets raise often and I was worried at first that they were going to insist on using them. It's not that it makes all that much difference to me WHILE he is fucking me although I can understand why men don't like insulating their dicks during sex. Then again, I hate them because they deprive me of his cum which is now something the guy could probably care less about, at least physically. Not only that but dealing with used condoms is sort of gross.

If I had to guess, I would say that 60% of the time was just 1-1 sex between couples with maybe 80% of that swapping while the other 20% was doing your own spouse. Of the remaining 40% of the time, It was probably 30% girl-girl with guys watching, 9% threesomes with me and name switching off with the two husbands.

The remaining 1% was something I'd never seen before and probably never will again - Steve getting sucked off by Hugh. In all fairness to Steve and his hang-ups with homosexuality, he didn't "give in" to temptation or compromise his position on gay sex - Hugh tricked him. I was sitting on my husband's face while Naomi was supposedly sucking him off when I realized to my fascination and horror that Hugh was taking the pace of his wife and sucking Steve's cock. By then Naomi had him almost ready to cum so it only took maybe another minute for Steve to cum - right in Hugh's mouth. He backed off and THEN I got off Steve's face so he really didn't know that it wasn't Naomi that had made him cum. That is, he didn't know until Steve started to thank Naomi and she pointed to her grinning husband who opened his mouth to show him Steve's cum still coating his tongue.

For a moment I thought Steve might do something drastic and I was even a little scared at first but I was proud of him when he backed off and took it all in stride - but with a VERY stern warning to Hugh that anything more along those lines would not be tolerated, whatever THAT meant. Later in the car he made me swear NEVER to tell anyone but he should have known better than that, LOL.

7. Derek and Amber - Stepfather's Lust

Derek and Amber were also a unique couple in that this was the second marriage for both of them and each had kids from the previous marriage. Derek was forty years old with a son and daughter in high school with the son a Senior and his daughter a sophomore. At 44, Amber was older than Derek but must have started her family later as her daughter was just in eighth grade.

While Steve and Derek had been working out the arrangements, Derek and confided to Steve that we would be the third couple they'd swapped with but the previous two times hadn't gone all that well. This time was either going to work for them or it was "three strikes and you're out". That was all he had said so at first we were a little concerned as to whether or not to accept their invitation. Until we actually set up a meeting place and time, no personal details were exchanged so we could back out from the deal at any time without any repercussions.

It was Steve that pushed for us to meet with them. He figured we could bring things out in the open during dinner or whatever was worked out as a prelude and then make a final decision. After seeing their profile, I knew what was REALLY driving his decision. Amber could have passed for the twin sister of Bree on "Desperate Housewives", red hair and all.

Steve has always had this thing for redheads - "natural redheads" in his words. Something about a red bush got his motor running! Of course if the girl shaved then there was no telling what was missing but at Amber's age odds were she was still hairy down there to some degree. I know my mom and her sister, both close to Amber's age, trimmed a bit but otherwise preferred the "au natural" look. Not to mention the ease in maintenance compared to keeping it shaved.

Another thing I noticed in their profile - no family photos, just the two of them. One the one hand it didn't surprise me, 99.9% of married couples did the same but it also told me they weren't advertising any other possibilities which relieved me. I was looking for as simple swap with no dramatics so keeping the kids out of it, even at their somewhat older ages, was just fine with me.

Rather than meet for dinner, Derek suggested a local bar which, like many Pittsburgh drinking establishments, also included a small menu and eating area. It was on the South Side near the river and we'd been there before so it was easy to come to an agreement. It wasn't a "bar" in the sense of a smoke-filled dark biker joint. In fact, it was a fun place to gather and have a drink with a light sandwich or appetizer. One thing that stood out was rather than sporting a collection of cut-off ties as some places do, this one specialized in hanging bras from the ceiling taken from those women who made the mistake of wearing one inside.

Another thing I recalled, less favorably, was the bar itself which dated back a hundred years back to the steel mill days. At the foot of the bar ran a copper lined trough under the brass foot rail. The first time I was there I naively asked what it was for and it was explained to me in more detail than necessary that in the old days the place would be crammed after work and getting a place at the bar was coveted. If you left to use the restroom - which was inevitable given the amount of beer men "rent". To do so would lose his spot so the trough was essentially a urinal! Thankfully these days it's just for memorabilia purposes!

I chose to wear one of my "little black dresses" of which I kept a small collection in my closet. This one was not my most risque by any means but it still did a nice job of showing off my cleavage especially. It was cut so low down the middle that let's just say there would be no questions as to whether or not I was wearing a bra - which of course I wasn't.

Steve and I arrived first and found a table off to the side. There was no such things as a "private" table considering how tight everything was packed in but it did afford a better spot than most of the others. Once we were seated Steve helped me with my coat. Our waiter was a guy which pleased me, especially the way he made no effort to hide his interest in my boobs.

"I see you know about our dress code," he said with a smile, nodding at my cleavage.

I just smiled and Steve had his own self-satisfying grin, reveling in the interest the waiter was showing in his wife. Yeah, the waiter could look but Steve was the one I'd be sleeping with later. Then again, not tonight I suppose!

Derek and Amber arrived shortly after and I'm not sure who was more turned on, me or Steve. Amber was every bit the redhead her profile photo had promised. Not so bright as to appear fake but more auburn and natural. The rest of her wasn't too shabby either, especially for a woman in her mid-forties. Like me, she had chosen a black dress but while hers covered more of her large boobs, it was cut so short that I wondered at first if she planned on sitting down!

Our waiter was back promptly and he smiled as he took in Amber's ample bosom. I was guessing a D cup, maybe even DD. Obviously a boob man as he barely even acknowledged her incredible legs that were shown off to their full advantage when she took a seat and crossed them under the table. Amber was wearing heels but even without them she would've towered over me but her legs seemed almost unnaturally long in proportion to her body.

"Ummmmm, ma'am," the waiter said as he put down the drink napkins for them, "It's our policy that no bras are allowed so if you wouldn't mind..." and with that he pointed up at the ceiling where hundreds of other girls had contributed before her.

Obviously neither of them had been here before, at least not Amber and I was starting to get suspicious of Derek as he didn't seem any too shocked. Heck, if anything he was winking back and forth with Steve. I smelled a setup but Amber went along without complaining.

"Well, it would've nice had someone TOLD me about this before I wore on of my better bras," she said teasingly toward her husband.

I expected her to excuse herself to the restroom for a moment but not Amber. Whether it was just her or she was trying to make an impression on us, she turned her back to Steve and said, "Would you like to do the honors Steve?"

All three men were enjoying this already as I just sat back and watched the spectacle. Steve reached down the back of her dress and unhooked her bra. She then reached down the front and pulled it up and over her boobs, then through one arm and then the other. Tugging at her dress to arrange her boobs back in place, I was impressed that without the bra her boobs didn't sag nearly as much as I would have expected which made me suspect implants. Oh well, I was sure Steve would find out soon enough for himself and fill me in later.

Amber held out her black bra which the waiter took and hung up over our table. From the quick look I got it didn't look like all that expensive which made me wonder if this wasn't prearranged. I guess one way or the other, did it matter? The only question I had now was whether or not she was wearing panties! As high as her dress rode up there were no signs but that could just as easily mean a thong so again, I would have to wait for Steve to inform me.

With the formalities over, we each ordered a drink - the guys had a beer while Amber and I each chose wine - me white and her a red. I was going to say something about red wine for redheads and white wine for blondes but the more I thought about it the sillier it sounded so I kept quiet.

We'd all read each other's profiles so it wasn't like we were starting from scratch in terms of knowing about each other. Still, that was just the stuff they posted in their profile. What was always more interesting was the stuff that people left out...

Amber seemed to be the talker of the two of them and she led off with, "So tell me Kelly, how many other husbands have you been with since you guys got married?"

It was a little more direct than I'd expected, especially for the opening question so I took a minute to answer during which she quipped, "THAT many?" and everyone laughed which helped to break the ice a little.

"Derek will be number twelve," I answered to which Amber's eyebrows raised a bit.

"And you just got married last August?" she returned, "Guess you guys have been busy."

Rather than answer, I replied with a question of my own, basically asking her the same thing even though I knew the answer but I wanted to use it to lead into another question.

"Steve's number three for me," she said, reaching over to put her hand over his and squeezing it gently.

"So how did the other two go?" I asked, even though Steve gave me a warning look that meant I shouldn't push the issue.

Amber frowned and sat back in her chair with her back straight. "Well to be perfectly honest, not so well." We all just sat there looking at her so she huffed a little adding, "So I suppose you want to know why."

I shrugged my shoulders and smiled. She was right of course.

"Well, maybe it will help so we don't repeat anything," she mumbled to her husband, "OK, quick and dirty... Couple #1 was their first time and they felt so guilty that we didn't even finish before they went home. Couple #2 was more concerned about me and her getting it on and it turned out the husband was more interested in Derek than me."

Whoa, no wonder they weren't so happy! Then again, I was afraid it would be something more complicated. Heck, these were easy to address.

Steve and I looked at each other and couldn't help but smile. He nodded at me so I took the ball.

"Well I can assure you first of all, there's no guilt here," I started out, "If anything Steve loves me to be with other guys and so far as I'm concerned, whatever he wants is OK with me."

Amber and Derek smiled at that so I continued, "As for the other, while I wouldn't mind a little playtime if you were interested, that's not why we swap and trust me on one thing... Steve hasn't got a gay bone in his body!"

At that Steve murmured his agreement and this time it was Derek who sighed rather melodramatically at the good news. I looked at Amber expectantly but she just gave me a wry smile and shook her head almost imperceptibly but the answer clear - boy-girl only. Actually I was more than happy with it. I'd only mentioned it to see how she would react.

Steve was the next to speak up saying, "So did you guys swap in your previous marriages?"

Derek answered, as if since the girls had answered each other then it was the guys who responded to the guys.

"No, neither one of us. I was only married for four years so I was single for quite a while with the kids living with their mom. Then I met Amber..."

Amber picked it up from there with, "What Derek failed to include was that I was married at the time. Sort of goes without saying it wasn't a good marriage. I divorced the cheating jerk six months ago and we has a quick ceremony as soon as the papers were signed."

"So why this?" I asked.

"The two of them looked at each other as if debating who should answer. I expected Amber to be the one but Derek replied with, "Why not? We both had rather sexless first marriages, barely enough for two kids for my part, so we thought we'd see what it was like to be more adventurous. We just didn't realize how crazy it could be."

"So how did you find out about the group?" I asked, curious as to how that happened.

Amber was the one this time to answer... "It was just pure luck. You're the first ones we've met since joining - the other two we met on-line. I was telling one of my friends about how horrible they had gone and it turns out she was a member so she recommended us."

Derek cut in with, "I have to say though, if I'd known what it was going to take I don't know if we would have applied."

we reached our floor he already had his hands over her boobs. As for me and Derek, I went straight for the crotch, tugging up on him as we watched our spouses making out.

Our rooms were on opposite sides of the hallway. I left Derek for a moment and moved over to give Steve a kiss, whispering to him, "Enjoy yourself." Steve just grinned and gave my ass a squeeze after which I went into the other room that Derek had just opened without a look back.

Confident that my husband was set for the night, I turned my attention to Derek and my own needs. As for him, he seemed a bit nervous so I knew it would be up to me to get things rolling. Any number of options came to mind but given his current reaction and past history I thought a more subtle approach would be best.

Thus for the first half hour or so, I didn't even undress or touch his dick as we made out on the couch in the room. He fondled me of course but only over my dress or what was exposed of my legs. It sort of reminded me of a high school date! Actually, that was the way I was treating this - as if he was a nervous young teenage boy about to get laid for the first time.

It worked. By the time we got in bed naked with each other any trepidation on his part was over and for the next couple of hours we had some great sex. There wasn't a moment of hesitation when he got on top of me to fuck me the first time and as he slipped into my soaking wet pussy I couldn't help but wonder how long it had taken Steve to get his in Amber... and was she really a redhead?

Surprisingly, Derek ended up cumming a total of three times if you count the morning sex. The first time was so quick I think he was a little embarrassed and it took me a while to get him hard again but I actually enjoy that sort of thing. It's different to suck a guy when he's flaccid and then to feel him slowly rise back to full glory again while inside my mouth is incredibly erotic for me.

Honestly, other than the fact it was our first divorce couple swap, it wasn't all that much unique based on the sex alone. Yeah, Derek knew how to fuck a girl and I came several times during the night so I wasn't about to complain because he wasn't kinky or had any weird fetishes. Thankfully he didn't even try to go for my ass, at least not my asshole although he DID seem to enjoy holding my butt whenever he had the chance.

As I said, what made it interesting for me wasn't the sex per se but what Derek told me DURING sex. It was after he had cum for the first time and after I'd sucked him back to an erection again and he was spooning me from behind. He was moving

"Do you masturbate watching her?" I asked as I sat down onto his cock, driving it deep inside of me as I wiggled my butt to work it in tight little circles inside of me.

"Yeah... I use her panties... Amber would KILL me," he gasped as I squeezed down on his cock with my pussy.

"You want to fuck her, don't you?" I teased him, "What's her name?"

"Patricia... she HATES to be called Pat or, god forbid, Patty."

I leaned over, drawing his dick out of me until just the head remained and then leaned back again to drive him in. Then I leaned forward again but keeping my ass down so he would stay in me as I dangled my boobs over his face and outstretched tongue. Without moving anything else, I lifted and dropped my ass to stroke him in and out of me while meeting his eyes with mine the entire time.

"Soooooo... what do you want to do to Patricia, eh Derek?"

Derek groaned as I worked my pussy on his dick. "I want to fuck her... GOD I want to fuck her so bad. I want to be her first... teach her everything."

"What about Amber?"

"I want her to be there too... licking Patricia, getting her ready for me and then helping me into her for the first time."

Wow, he had some serious fantasies going. Too bad Amber didn't know about them. Then again, from what I could tell about her feelings about her daughter maybe it was a good thing she didn't!

It was fun egging him on, using my pussy to drive his dick crazy and my words to draw out his inner feelings and lust.

"I bet you'd love to watch Patricia and Lindsey together... with Amber too... right?"

That one really drew a loud groan from Derek and even though he didn't answer I knew I'd hit the mother lode of his fantasy world.

He came soon afterwards and I had to wonder if in his mind he wasn't fucking one of their daughters more so than me. Oh well, it didn't really matter as I all I cared about was getting fucked and the more he was turned on the better he fucked me.

The next morning after we had sex again and showered, as we dressed Derek asked me to be sure not to say anything about Amber so far as his thoughts about their girls. I wondered if perhaps he was regretting what he had told me now but I assured him that he had nothing to worry about. Whatever we'd done, Amber would only know what he told her.

Derek seemed relieved at that and started to say something about getting together again, maybe just the two of us but I cut him off quickly. Yeah, I enjoyed the sex but I didn't want to get involved in a family situation that was so potentially volatile. Besides, Steve and I had a pact that we wouldn't swap twice with the same couple and no "follow-up" sex with either partner but I didn't tell Derek that.

While we had agreed to meet "for breakfast", in reality we just met in the lounge and each of us went our separate ways. I couldn't help but wonder if Derek wasn't anxious to avoid any possibility of me spilling the beans to Amber.

On the way home I told Steve about Derek's feelings for their daughters and he seemed to think it was funny so I asked him to explain why.

"Can't say I blame him," Steve started out with a big grin, "She showed me pics of all their kids and I can confirm that both girls are really HOT." He paused for a moment and looked at me with a sly grin, "I wonder if Derek would be interested in sharing?"

I punched him in the arm playfully. Yep, that's my husband!

(Dec 09) Chapter 255: Building Self-Worth

Story codes: MF oral inc adultery exhib
Me (27)
Kyle (52)

Ego, self-esteem, self-worth... we call it many names but what it comes down to is this... How do you feel about yourself when you look in the mirror? If you're not happy with what you see, what can you do about it? I guess that depends on how determined you are to do it.

1. Fragile Ego

Some people are lucky in that no matter what happens, how they look, what they do, or what others do to them, they always seem to have a positive outlook about life in general and themselves in particular. Some might call them optimists, others may declare them naive, but the funny thing is such people probably wouldn't care what other people named them anyway.

For the rest of us more practical people, and I like to think I have lots of company, looking in the mirror can sometimes be a difficult chore and when we finally work up the courage all too often what we see isn't all that wonderful - at least so far as we see it. I can remember as a young teenager being full of angst and self-doubt to the point I almost wouldn't even look in a mirror. The alarming image that looked back at me of a skinny girl with underdeveloped boobs and pony legs was not what I would dream about. Heck, I didn't even have to dream. All I had to do was look at the other girls my age to realize what they had and I didn't.

At least I had one thing many girls like me didn't - supportive parents. As an only child there were no sibling rivalries or favorites, it was just me. Although at times I found it hard to believe, my mother use to be a teenager and so she seemed to sense my insecurities. She was always trying to help me by buying me outfits that enhanced whatever meager assets I had. She would always tell me that while I may not be at the front of the bell curve in terms of boob development, I DID have a cute butt. Thus she would buy me really short shorts, extremely tight little skirts and skimpy bikini bottoms that most mothers would never allow their daughter to wear.

Even Sharon, Steve's sister who was my age, was jealous of me. I knew she'd had a crush on her brother for years although he never gave her the time of day, let alone a second look which was too bad as she was pretty amazingly hot in my opinion.

Sure enough, on our first date Steve expected me to give him a blowjob. He didn't even really ask, he just told me. Well, needless to say there was no way I was about to tell him I'd never done one before. I'd seen enough of my dad's porn to know the basics of what I was supposed to do. Also, my mom had given me some advice when I went to her with my worries, even including a banana for a teaching tool. I even swallowed my first time although it was more because I was surprised when he suddenly ejaculated without any warning than any preplanning on my part. I must have been good enough as he asked me out again and it wasn't long before I willingly gave him my virginity. It made me so proud to finally joined the ranks of the other girls in school who put out for their boyfriends, especially to a guy like Steve.

Steve and I dated for the next six months which became the highlight of my life up until then. Until he left he was the only boy I had sex with (well, his brother once but that was just to tease him) and he pretty much stuck just with me. I felt so proud walking the halls with him, knowing that everyone knew what we were doing as Steve of course had immediately bragged to all his friends about doing me. My parents were proud of me as well. It was so cool to see them smiling when I would lead Steve up to my bedroom. Yes, for a brief period of time I was in heaven!

Then the most horrible thing imaginable happened – Steve's mom was transferred and suddenly he was in southern California, gone forever. Once I got over the initial heartbreak and shock I realized that there were other fish in the sea. It didn't hurt that he was barely gone before the other boys to start hitting on me given the reputation I'd earned being with Steve. It was like they all wanted to know was if I was really as good a lay as Steve had been saying. While it was different from the more loving attention that Steve gave me – I had been madly in love with him, it WAS attention. Indeed it made me feel much better when I looked in the mirror knowing that so many boys wanted the girl I was looking at. It's not that the image changed so much as it was how I perceived that image.

After losing Steve I wasn't ready to have that sort of relationship again. Indeed, I didn't know if I ever COULD after how I'd felt about him. Also, I learned that going out with a new guy was much more fun than dating the same guy over and over. On our second date they knew what was coming and it became just about the sex but wanted me when I was sixteen so long as I spread my legs wide open for them. Then the day comes and you're walking through the mall and suddenly you notice the husbands checking out the high school girls and you realize they don't give you a second glance! The pervs who all wanted to chat endlessly on the Internet when you were a teen now suddenly seem to disappear when they learn your real age. People start asking you if the little girl next to you is your daughter (now THAT was a real downer for sure when it happened to me the first time).

Of course when you're older there are also different opportunities from what were available as a teenager. While most guys love to LOOK at underage girls, at the same time they're are well aware of the legal and social consequences of doing anything more than a quick glance. When it comes getting a man to make a move, it doesn't hurt to be a little older if you're into that sort of attention.

One of the positive things I found about being married is that the ups and downs get smoothed out a lot. Having a man permanently in your life that tells you every day how beautiful you are and how sexy you look definitely has some plusses! Of course I know that there are days when he's just being kind but yet I like to think that even when I'm puffy or sick, to my husband I'm still as beautiful as the day he married me.

One thing I hadn't expected so far as marriage and self-esteem was how good it would make me feel when my husband shared me with other men. Maybe sharing isn't quite the best word to use... more like he is loaning me out. It almost takes me back to my escorting days or even to my high school class slut status. What does it say when your husband is so proud of you that he gets off seeing you satisfying the lust of other men? What does it say about the trust and faith he has in me to see how much I enjoy doing it and yet knowing that I will always be his in the end? Finally, just knowing that I can still turn men on enough to drive them to cheat on their wives has always been one of the biggest ego boosters for me since I was fifteen and got laid by my first older man.

As wonderful as my marriage may be, there are still the occasional down days. That's to be expected as no marriage can be perfect. For example, while I try to put on a good face about it I don't generally feel the same way about seeing Steve fucking other women as he seems to feel about when he watches other men doing me. I guess it's a man thing but for whatever reason he just can't get enough of watching me having sex with other men. Even he can't seem to explain it but I think it's something to do with the fact that he likes them to know what HE is getting all times in high school where a boy wouldn't fuck me after I told him it was OK. Maybe it was a religious thing, worries about my past partners, concerns over pregnancy or whatever, it didn't matter to me. The point was that any guy dating MUST have known my reputation so why bother taking me out if he wasn't going to fuck me?

I don't mean that every guy I dated had sex with me, quite the opposite in fact. While in general I didn't mind blowing a guy if for nothing else than as a thank you for dinner or a movie, sex was much more carefully rationed out. There's a difference between being a slut and a skank - a fine line but one nonetheless. The key for me was it was ME that made that decision, not him. Once I made up my mind to have sex with a guy, then I expected him to fuck me without any questions.

If it hurts being turned down by a boy at school, then imagine how it makes me feel to offer myself to my father or husband and have them say "no". Actually they never really say no, they're far too diplomatic and loving to be that blunt about it. Maybe they're just "too busy" or not feeling good or some other lame excuse. It's easier for me to accept that from Steve since we live together and I can't expect him to be ready to screw me at the drop of a hat 24/7 (although he seems to think that I can when he wants it, LOL). It's when my dad turns me away that really hurts as we do it so much less these days than we did when I lived at home. Yes, I know it's very selfish of me but what can I say, it's who I am.

3. Feeling Down

Such was the case this past Sunday. I woke up a little late and had to hurry to get to my dad's before church started for our traditional "pre-church fuck". It's something we'd started years ago as a whim, my dad fucking me just minutes before we left so that when we walked in and took a seat barely ten minutes later I was still tingling between my legs and his cum would be dripping out of me. Mmmmmmm, talk about an erotic situation! It was even better if my pastor was there to shake my hand without a clue as to where it had been a few minutes earlier.

Typically Sunday morning sex with my dad is was what I call quick and dirty sex. I don't undress but rather simply lift my skirt or dress up to reveal my panties. True, wearing them is a bit of a waste of time but he seems to get off taking them off of me. Once my bare bottom is exposed and ready for him to fuck we don't waste any time with foreplay. Usually I'll play with myself during the drive over so I'm ready as soon as he is - which is as I walk in the door and he is standing there with a full erection in anticipation. Typically he cums in just a few minutes which is good as we end up late to church half the time. It's more of a "tick in the box" sort of thing than a real fucking but it's important to me that we maintain the tradition, especially now that I'm married. Steve rarely went to church with me so it's just me and my dad, the way it used to be.

This morning I arrived to find my dad in the garage packing up his football tailgating gear. Damn, I'd forgotten it was a Steeler game day! Oops, Steve was still sound asleep when I left the house, something my dad was quick to point out.

"Hey, where's your horny husband Kelly?" he asked as he packed, "We should've left a half hour ago. You didn't delay him, did you?"

Didn't I wish! My last view of Steve was laying naked on his side in bed, his wonderful dick all soft and flopped over against a lush bed of black pubic hair. Yes, I HAD been tempted but as late as I was already there just wasn't enough time.

"Noooooo, but you better call him as he was still sound asleep when I left."

My dad cursed softly and I admonished him for his language at which he just rolled his eyes.

"Daddy, it IS Sunday so of all days not to swear..."

"Yes my little church girl," he teased me, reaching out to pat my butt.

"Speaking of your little church girl...," I said softly, lifting my skirt and pulling my panties to the side to reveal my bare pussy, all wet and ready for him.

My dad sighed, "C'mon Kelly, how about a rain check? I'm already running late and your husband's not helping matters."

That may be true but by now his favorite parking spots would be taken anyway so what would it hurt to spend another five minutes maintaining our tradition? It was what I WANTED to tell him but instead I was an obedient daughter and didn't say anything more although my pussy certainly wasn't happy about the outcome. Like damn, I'd passed on Steve and now my own dad wasn't going to do me. Not a good start to my day.

My dad kissed and reached under my skirt to finger me quickly.

"Mmmmmmm, you're a horny girl this morning... Hmmmmmm, why don't you see if your Aunt Linda's hungry?"

As much as I knew my aunt would make me feel good, what I needed right then wasn't pussy – I wanted a hard COCK! It was one of those times when suddenly I wanted to be fucked so badly it was like my pussy hurt. Maybe it was because I was

NOT going to get laid that made em so horny for it, who knows. Whatever it was, I was really feeling low suddenly.

"Daddyyyyyyyy, PLEASE... I want YOU to fuck me!" I begged him, reaching for his crotch and pressing against his dick.

"Kelly, how about just once giving your old man a break. I don't want to be out a mile away from the stadium and if the guys can't hold my space, that's where I'll be if I don't get going now, especially if I have to wake up your husband. So blame him, not me."

With that he kissed me and got in the car and drove off, leaving me standing there in the garage horny as hell. I looked at the large round Coca-Cola clock on the garage wall and saw I still had a half hour before the service was underway. The sign outside said it started on the hour but I knew it was more like a movie where the first fifteen minutes wee advertisements.

For a moment I thought about going up to see if my Aunt Linda was awake yet but then that would mean missing church. Unlike my dad who could get off in five minutes - given the right incentive, once I got started with my aunt it would be an hour at least before I could get away again and I didn't want to miss church. Bad enough not getting laid but I wasn't going to compound things by not showing up for service either.

Hmmmmmm, fifteen minutes more or less... time for one thing to cure my "problem". I stepped into the basement from the garage and flopped down on the couch, my favorite spot in the family room. Many a time I'd laid here and gotten off, either by myself or with someone's help. Why not once more?

Pulling up my skirt, the couch felt cool against my butt as I sat back and spread my legs apart. Touching my crotch, it was slick with my wetness as I'd been practically dripping while hoping my dad would do me. It didn't help when he'd briefly put his finger up inside - not long enough to accomplish anything but enough for me to want more.

It took me less than ten minutes to get off as I rubbed myself with one hand and cradled my boobs with the other. While it may sound fast, in reality I was so horny that I had to hold myself back to stretch things out longer. Somehow or another my aunt didn't wake up although being two stories up from the basement I suppose the neighbors would've been complaining before that happened.

Feeling somewhat satiated but not fulfilled, I headed for church where hopefully I'd relax and settle down a little after being spurned by my father. While my pussy was tingling when I took my seat, it just wasn't the same as when I was holding in my dad's cum. Worse, when I got home I knew Steve would be gone to the game with my dad and who knew what time they'd be home. After the game they liked to hit the casino right down the block from the stadium. For all I knew they might be home until midnight, or later.

I knew things weren't right when in the middle of the pastor's prayer I found myself thinking about how much it bothered me to have my dad just toss aside our little tradition as if it meant nothing to him. Yes, I knew I was being harsh and with the exorbitant price he paid for his season tickets who could blame him for not wanting to be late. And yes, it was partially my fault for running so late that I was pressuring him when had I been on time then maybe he would have wanted to do me.

During the boring sermon I daydreamed about sex with my dad and how it has evolved over the past eleven and a half years. I wondered if the older couple beside me had any idea why I was smiling to myself. What if they knew my thoughts were about how I use to wait anxiously for him to come home from the office so I could throw myself into his arms and beg him to do me. It was like having sex for the first time all over again in that I couldn't get enough of his attention. True, he'd always paid me a LOT of attention before but nothing like the kind of attention he was giving me now.

During my college years things cooled down between us of course for no other reason than I wasn't home. During those years my father turned to my younger cousin Kristen and I think that was when things really changed between us. Not that it was anything bad, just more mature and less frantic. After all, by the time I graduated I wasn't a teenager anymore so who could blame him for seeking one out?

It should go without saying that the biggest thing to happen to me which changed my relationship with my father was my marriage. It only makes sense as I was marrying a man to be my lifetime soul mate, partner and lover. I pledged myself to him, vowed to submit to him as the Bible commands, even more strongly than to my father. While my dad was still extremely important to me, my husband was now the number one man in my life and there was no way this couldn't be reflected in my sexual relationship with my dad. Still, I WAS still his only daughter and that was something no other man could claim. Steve was my husband but he never can take the place of my father in my heart – or my pussy.

As church finally let out I just sat there in the pew for a few moments, praying and looking to God for guidance. Over the past hour or so I'd done a lot of thinking and my mood had changed to something more melancholy than horny as it had been when I arrived. For the first time in ages I found myself doubting myself, almost like back when I was a young teen wondering if the boys would ever want me the way they did my best friend Beth with her ridiculously early developing bustline.

Indeed, ten years ago my dad wouldn't have turned me down for sex in ANY situation. When it came to concerns about his season tickets or his little girl's needs his priorities were perfectly clear. True, it wasn't HIS responsibility to submit to me like I did to him but still, he never turned me down out of love for me. Not that I had any doubt that he loved me now but obviously I didn't turn him on the same as I did as when I was a high school slut.

What really ticked me off was that even my own husband hadn't bothered to wake up to fuck me before I left. Sure he'd been out late the previous night with my Aunt to some sort of family sex party but it wasn't like he was drunk or anything as alcohol isn't even permitted at those events due to all the underage attendees. OK, so maybe I could've helped jump-start things by starting to suck on his dick while he slept but I was already dressed in my Sunday church outfit so I would've had to undress first and then been even later to my dad's - not that it would've mattered as it turned out.

After leaving church I sat in my car, placing my Bible on the passenger seat and fastening my seat belt. Just as I was about to start the car I watched as a guy walked by with his two young girls in tow. Ahead of them were three teenagers I knew from the youth group, all three terrible teases. From what I'd heard that was all they did - tease, but they obviously had a great time doing it.

I smiled to myself as I watched the father holding his girl's hands but his eyes were fixed on the girls asses in front of them. Wow, when was the last time a man like him stared at MY ass? OK, so maybe I didn't wear quite as short of skirts as the girls were but then at 27 people stopped shaking their heads at "youthful inappropriate behavior" and started accusing you of flashing young boys and arresting you.

Wow... suddenly I felt SOOOOOO old. I bit my lip as I watched the girls move on, suddenly insanely jealous of their youth and blissfully naive existence. Those days had been so much fun and now they had passed on out of my life, at least it felt like they were.

The more I kept thinking about things the more I wallowed in self-pity and indulgence. No doubt had my cousin Kristen been with me she would've just slapped me and told me to get a grip which probably would've worked even up to this point. As it was I started the car but when I reached the end of the parking lot instead of turning left to go home, suddenly I made a hard right turn, almost smacking into a car that blared its horn as it swerved to miss me. The driver flashed a middle finger at me and I couldn't help but think he had probably just come from church. Just another hypocrite.

Where was I heading? For the moment I didn't know other than it wasn't home. No way was I about to sit in our lonely apartment and feel sorry for myself all afternoon and night. For now I was just heading towards the city, destination unknown…

4. Teasing

It was like I was on autopilot as I navigated the busy post-church traffic and entered the long tunnel heading into Pittsburgh. Breaking out into the sunlight on the other, I smiled as I always did as if by magic the city that hadn't even been visible on the horizon a mile or so behind me was now suddenly laid out in front of me. Crossing the river I headed downtown to my favorite hotel. I guess when you're feeling down there's no better place than one filled with pleasant past memories.

Seeing the hotel ahead I wondered how many times had I'd been here now for one thing or another. Everything from meeting one lonely husband for a night of adultery to being one of the "party favors" along with my cousin at a company party where for over three hours I was fucked almost non-stop and finished the night literally covered in cum from head to toe (yes, some men actually like to cum on a girl's feet... go figure.)

I recalled once how Steve had brought me here once while we dated, daring me to see how many men would try to hit on me. He scored me on a scale of 1 to 10 where a one was leading from them groping me on the dance floor all the way to a ten if they tried to give me their room key. At the time that's all it had been - one massive tease for the benefit of my boyfriend but at times like this it brought back so many memories and thoughts.

Thanks to my antics with Steve, I found myself thinking the large lounge that was always filled with business travelers from out of town of all shapes and sizes. It was early Sunday afternoon but I imagined that for men travelling it would be a time when they had nothing better to do than to sit in the lounge and drink while they watch the game on the big screen. No doubt being away from home they'd be a bit horny. Mix that with a few drinks to lower their inhibitions and who knows what they might do if a girl walked in all by herself. Hmmm, maybe I should find out?

By now I was at the entrance and decided to splurge on valet parking. Hotel garages can be dark and creepy, especially when you're a single girl all alone. As I came to a stop the valet opened my door and I smiled as I noticed his eyes drifting down to where my dress was pulling up as I worked my way out of the car. I suppose a "nice" girl would've tugged it down as she turned in the seat but the last thing I was in the mood for was to be a "nice" girl.

Taking my valet ticket I started to turn to go inside when I thought for a moment and asked him to wait. Undoing my coat, I tossed it out flat on the back seat so I wouldn't have to worry about it inside. Maybe they had a coat check but if they didn't then I wouldn't want to carry it around with me all afternoon. I felt goose bumps rise on my exposed arms and shoulders but it was a quick few steps to get inside where it was nice and warm again.

First things first... the ladies room to check myself out and freshen up a bit. All I had with my was a small purse just big enough to hold my driver's license, a small hair brush, one tube of lipstick, a VERY small bottle of perfume (the samples they hand out in stores work great for this purpose) and a little cash. It was just a carry purse without a strap but a girl can't leave without something in her hand.

Looking at myself in the mirror, I fixed my hair and added a little lipstick before stepping back to take stock. My dress wasn't one of my sluttier ones as I had to wear it to church but at the same time it wasn't exactly overly conservative. I smiled as I thought to myself that I had to maintain my reputation after all. If I ever showed up there in a long dress to my ankles I think people would have stared more at me than they do now. It had thin straps to hold it up which to me worked better than going strapless as straps allowed for a deeper cleavage and it didn't have to fit so tight against me to keep it from falling down. It wasn't like some of my "little black dresses" where half my boobs show nor did it ride up as high as my typical "date-night" dresses and skirts. The fact I wasn't wearing panties wasn't obvious and I would have had to practically pull up the hem for it to ride high enough to show anyone.

What I DID like about this dress was the way it clung to me. It was like pulling over a tube top that extended below my hips. Tight on my ass, it then pulled in tight along the tops of my legs all the way down to maybe a third of the way to my knees. I remember the first time I wore a dress like this and how weird it felt to walk in it. It was like somebody had wrapped a huge bandage around me from bust to thighs. Being so tight it didn't ride up all that much as a loose skirt would but at the same time when I DID pull it up, it stayed up - a useful trait at times.

One thing I liked about this hotel was that they provided warm cloth washcloths in the restroom. I dampened one with hot water and went inside the handicapped toilet where I had enough room to move around without banging into the toilet paper holder. Lifting up my dress, I reached down and cleaned my pussy to wipe off any of my dad's cum that had leaked out of me during the service. The guy who left it there might enjoy seeing it but I didn't think anyone else would be turned on seeing dried cum on me, especially down there.

Using a second washcloth to dry me off, I pulled my skirt back down and straightened it out. Opening the door, I almost bumped into a couple of older women that had somehow entered without me hearing them. Thankfully I'd hidden inside the toilet as I could just imagine what they might have said had they walked in and seen my cleaning dried cum off my pussy and thighs. One last touch of perfume to my neck and wrists and I was off... Entering the lounge, it was obviously game day as every TV in the place was tuned to one game or another, half of them to the Steelers of course. For a moment I thought of my dad and Steve and wondered how they were doing. It wasn't raining yet but the skies were threatening. Why people want to sit in a cold football stadium in the rain when they could be home warm and dry is beyond me - especially when I could be sucking their dicks as they watched the game!

I took a quick look around, debating where to sit. There were a few tables as well as booths but they didn't seem appropriate for what I was planning. The bar area had high stools and at the moment only had a couple of guys there so I walked over slowly and lifted myself up to take a seat. Crossing my legs, I could feel my dress trying to pull up but as tight as it was on me it only came up a few inches keeping my ass well covered. I was sitting sideways on the stool so I had to twist myself to face the bar, leaning on it slightly to keep my balance.

The barkeeper came over quickly and asked if he could help me. For a brief moment I was tempted to tell him just HOW he could help me but instead I just asked softly for a white zinfandel. He poured me a glass, a little fuller than I think he normally would have and I just smiled and asked if I could run a tab. If I was lucky, I wouldn't be paying it!

Looking around as discreetly as I could, I counted maybe five men in the place. Not surprisingly there were no women except for the waitress wearing just a football jersey and dark fishnet stockings. From the looks of things there wasn't anything else under the jersey. She looked maybe in her late teens or early twenties and was obviously working for tips given the way she was flirting with each guy and moving her hips as she walked the room.

So much for the competition, LOL. All the guys were mostly in their thirties and forties from the look of it. One guy might have been older than the others but then it could have been just the grey hair. A couple were in dress shirts and slacks while the others were more casual - like jeans and a polo shirt, that sort of thing. The old guy wore a sport coat but he seemed to be the type that never went anywhere without it.

The other two guys at the bar were each a couple of seats away on either side of me. They seemed more fixated on the game than anything else. My eyes met one guy's seated at a table a few feet away. He smiled at me and nodded, almost like he was acknowledging my outfit and how I looked in it - or at least that was HOW I hoped he was thinking. I smiled back, nothing overdone but enough to let him know I was available.

He apparently got the message which both excited and worried me at the same time. Excited because he started to pick up his drink and napkin to move over to next to me. Worried because it was just a little too easy. Was he a player? The last thing I needed was a serial adulterer looking just to add another notch to his belt.

"Hi, my name's Kyle," he introduced himself, holding out a hand for me to shake. I noticed the wedding ring immediately.

"I'm Kelly, nice to meet you Kyle," I responded, accepting his hand and shaking it briefly. I saw him glance down at my hand and he certainly couldn't have missed the diamond on my ring finger.

"So pardon the cliche Kelly... but what's a nice girl like you doing in a place like this on a Sunday afternoon?"

Cliche... yes. Did I mind... no. I glanced at his hand and saw the wedding ring which made me feel good. It was the single guys you really had to watch out for.

"Nothing really, just thought I'd have a little wine."

Kyle looked at my wine glass, then at my legs and then finally up top my boobs and over to my hand where I was sure this time that he noticed my own wedding ring.

"So you're a Steelers fan?" I nodded and he smiled as he asked, "I take it your husband is as well?"

"Well, he's at the game with my dad so I guess you could say that," I said with a slight frown.

"And he left you home all alone?"

I just nodded and he continued, "Well I have to say, if MY wife looked like you I that dress I'd never leave her home alone, let alone in a place like this."

"Thanks," I said trying to act embarrassed at his compliments.

"Seriously... that dress fits you like a glove."

"Well I'm glad SOMEBODY noticed today," I sighed, taking another sip of wine.

Kyle put his hand out and rested it on my knee. It was a little bold but nothing overly so. I pretended I didn't notice.

"So why are YOU here today Kyle?"

Kyle rolled his eyes and answered, "Business... I'm from Atlanta and this is my first time in Pittsburgh. It's a nice city. Was hoping to get tickets to the game but with the weather and all I guess that it worked out for the best."

Not exactly telling me much which was actually a good sign. Guys who jabber too much are usually just all talk and no action.

"Family?" I asked.

"Just the wife these days... empty nesters. Two daughter, both graduated and married," he replied and then asked me, "And you?"

Hmm, obviously I'd misjudged his age. He had to be in his mid-forties I was thinking based on his introduction. Oh well, why not? "Just married last year, no kids yet."

Kyle huffed a little saying, "Don't rush into it, enjoy life. We got pregnant two months after the wedding so it was like barely had a honeymoon and then it was all about kids for the next 25 years."

"We can't have kids," I said with my eyes downward, "But we're looking to adopt."

I didn't see any reason to explain WHY we couldn't have kids. Besides, it might not help me along here if this guy found out that my husband was sterile from an STD he'd picked up before moving back to Pittsburgh with his mother. It wasn't anything that could hurt me now but during his last physical the doctor did some tests in case we wanted to start a family and that was when we learned the awful news.

Kyle at least had the common sense to avoid pursuing the subject. In any case I changed the subject quickly.

"So it must be nice now to have the house with just you and your wife," I said, trying to draw him out a little.

"You would think," he answered, looking a little dejected now himself, "Things don't always work out that way. Now if I had a wife like YOU then I wouldn't be looking for an excuse to leave town every chance I get."

With that he moved his hand up my leg. It was just a fraction of an inch and almost imperceptible should anyone be watching but I could feel his touch against my skin.

"And I bet you wouldn't leave me home for a stupid football game."

With that I acted as though I was fidgeting in my seat with the effect being I pulled my leg up a little but higher to expose just a little more thigh. Kyle responded with some movement of his own such that he was now sitting right up close to me with his hand now firmly on my thigh.

"You know Kyle, I bet your wife wouldn't appreciate where your hand is right now," I teased him but making no effort to push him away.

"I really don't give a crap what she thinks anymore," he grumbled, spreading his fingers apart to cover more of my leg with his hand.

At that point something happened on the TV as groans emerged from the other guys watching which caused us both to look up and see what had happened at the game across the river. Personally I could have cared less but it seemed the appropriate thing to do at the time.

The result was a bit of a reset as Kyle moved his hand back to my knee again. We started talking about Pittsburgh, things to do and such. Other than what he had told me earlier, the topic of his family and marriage stayed off the table... or the bar I guess in this case. Actually that was a good sign so far as I was concerned. Had he brought out the family photos and bragged about his wife then anything more than a creeping hand would have most likely been off the menu.

One glass of wine down and another magically appeared. Kyle smiled and told me not to worry, he was on an expense account and would take care of my bill. Yep, works every time!

One glass of wine was unusual enough for me but to tackle a second was definitely not my normal routine. I'd have been just as happy to order a Diet Coke but then I'm sure Kyle was working on the assumption that if he got me drunk then I'd be easier prey. Little did he know just how easy I was planning to be!

"So tell me Kelly, you're pretty dressed up and here you are wandering into a hotel lounge on a Sunday afternoon," Kyle said offhandedly, trying not to appear as nosey as I knew he wanted to be, "I hope you don't mind if I ask why?"

I hesitated before answering, not because I didn't know how to answer but I wanted to appear not to know.

"Well, this is what I wore to church today and I didn't go home to change."

Kyle smiled at that and I noticed his hand moved back up again to where it had been before.

"Really? Wow, I need to start going to church if babes like you come dressed like this," he chuckled and then added, "You know, I've always wondered how a girl can even sit in a tight dress like that."

We both laughed at that one, more than it qualified for but it didn't matter. Then he just sat there and waited for me to respond to the other part of his question. Again I paused for moment and averted my eyes as if I was embarrassed to say anything.

The hand inched up a little more to where he was just a couple of inches from the hem of my dress.

"Hey... it's OK, you don't have to tell me if you don't want to."

I took another swallow from my wine glass and sighed softly.

"Guess I'm just a little depressed is all."

Kyle squeezed my thigh and said, "So why don't you tell me a little more about this husband of yours."

About the LAST thing I was going to tell him was the truth so I made up what I thought was a pretty nifty story.

"I don't know... we were high school sweethearts and I've never really dated anyone else. He's never ignored me like he did today... well for the most month or so."

With that I pretended to hold back tears and noted that Kyle took advantage of my "weakness" to inch his fingers up until the tips were just up to my dress.

"Sorry," I said with a little choke in my voice, "I just worry he's cheating on me."

Kyle leaned over until his face was maybe a foot or so from mine.

"Well, all I can say is that if you were MY wife I'd never even look at another woman."

Little did he know just how many other women my husband had done a lot more than just look at since we got married, LOL.

"Well, I noticed his shirt smelled of perfume that wasn't mine after he came home late from work last week. And then it seems lately like he isn't interested in... well, you know... sex."

Rather than push his fingers under my dress which would have been pretty forward given how tight it was around my legs, Kyle started to slowly rub my leg, running his hand from my knee to my dress hem.

"Sounds like a jerk to me," Kyle murmured and then he quickly apologized, "Sorry, that was uncalled for and I shouldn't have said anything."

"No it's OK," I assured him, "I guess I was just thinking that maybe I should give him a taste of his own medicine.

"Have you ever cheated on him before?" Kyle asked in a tone that was maybe more optimistic than what would have been considered appropriate.

I just shook my head and bit my lower lip before answering with, "Oh no! Actually he's the only one I've ever done it with."

Well, that was quite a whopper but one thing about men... they'll believe just about anything if they're horny enough.

Kyle sat up a little and I wondered if maybe I'd laid it on a little too thick but then I knew I had my hook caught.

"You know Kelly, that's pretty incredible. You just don't meet many people who can say that these days... you know, they've never been with anyone other than their spouse. Especially someone that's as beautiful as you are."

That was sweet of him to say about me, especially given that such compliments and observations were exactly why I decided to take this little jaunt. Another drink of wine and I pretended to be getting a little bit tipsy. It wasn't all that hard as I was indeed starting to feel the effects.

Kyle's hand was slowly working its way from the top of my leg in to between them but with my legs crossed it wasn't all that easy. In any other situation I would have kept them crossed but in this case I thought a little un-ladylike behavior was warranted so I lifted my leg and placed it aside the other with just a little bit of separation, using my heels to grab the bar-stool underneath to keep my balance.

The whole time Kyle never moved his hand so when I was situated again I leaned over and whispered, "Does this make it easier?"

For just a moment I thought Kyle was embarrassed but then I think he figured if I was going to be so bold then why not go for it?

"You know Kelly, for a young wife who hasn't been with any other man other than her husband you're being pretty forward."

I knew where he was leading me. Was this real or just a setup? Maybe I was a hooker looking for some action. Even worse, what if I was an undercover officer looking to bust some out of town guy on the hunt for some local pussy?

"Ok, you got me," I confessed and I could have laughed at the expression on his face. Even his hand started to pull back so I reached down and put my hand over his, pulling it back until he was in between my legs.

"I HAVE had sex with another guy but that was at my bachelorette party and they got me so drunk I didn't know what I was doing. The only reason I even know it happened was because they took a video of us. Well, I know better than to drink too much since then!"

As if to emphasize the point, I reached over and grabbed my wine glass, taking a good couple of gulps this time.

"So THAT's what you weren't telling me?" he asked, looking a little bewildered.

"Isn't that enough?" I said as if I couldn't believe what he had said, "It's not like I'm some kind of prostitute or undercover cop or anything like that."

"Well that's not what I meant," he quickly said, backtracking from the conversation.

"So then tell me Kyle," I whispered just enough to be heard above the game, "what DID you mean?"

The gears were spinning in his head as he seemed to be debating with himself on what to do next. Was I just a tease? Was I on the hunt? For that matter, could he believe anything I'd told him? Was I worth the risk?

Considering my entire purpose in being here today was to see whether or not men were interested enough in me to take whatever risks were needed to have me, I'd say I'd probably already achieved that goal. Kyle wanted me, no doubt about that. I felt myself warming inside as his hand moved along the inner part of my thigh, my most sensitive part of my leg.

He wasn't answering so I decided to up the stakes a little bit.

"I tell you what Kyle... let's make a bet. What do you say... am I wearing panties or not?"

"And how will I know if you're telling the truth?" he said, a smile coming to his face.

"Let's just say you won't have to just take my word for it," I said in a teasing voice as I put my hand over his and pressed it against me tighter.

Kyle then pretended to go through this soul-searching muse as to what to do when I knew what his answer would be from the start. He didn't disappoint me.

"So what if I get it right? Wrong?"

I giggled and licked my lips just enough for him to see me do it.

"Does it matter?"

At that Kyle laughed again but I could see the lust building in his eyes. For the first time since we met I felt confident that he was going to fuck me. The only questions now were when and how.

"Why don't you stand up for me then and let me get a good look at your butt?" he asked rhetorically.

I just shrugged and slipped off the edge of the stool, not bothering to hike my dress back down to where it should have been. Well, "should" from the standpoint of Emily Post, not mine.

"So... like my ass Kyle?" I teased him as I turned slowly in front of him. he started to reach out to touch it but I pushed his hand away and warned him, "No touching, that wouldn't be fair. You have to guess based on what you see only."

Kyle acted as though he was making a determination to bring about world peace or some other momentous decision. Putting his hand to his chin, he gazed at my ass for far longer than it should have taken for such an easy decision. Finally he sat back and crossed his arms almost defiantly as he rendered his decision.

"It would be easy to say you weren't wearing anything under that sexy dress based on how tight it conforms to your body and the total lack of panty lines. Still... given the technology today panty lines aren't as easy to spot these days and frankly, you just don't seem like the type who would go out in public commando. Yeah... you talk a big game but I suspect that's all it is.... talk."

Wow, he really didn't have a clue! Still, I thought it was pretty hot that he had no idea about my background I wondered what he would say if he knew the truth about the hundreds of men who have fucked me over the years, not to mention the who knows how many that I've blown.

"Oh really?" I said, my turn to cross arms.

"Yeah, it may not be much but it's there I'll bet," he said rather smugly as if he had me nailed.

He waited for me to respond but I just sat there with a slight grin, teasing him as best I could. Finally he couldn't take it anymore.

"Soooooo? Am I right or wrong? I KNOW I'm right so pay up sister.

I leaned back in the stool and crossed my legs once again, letting my dress ride up even higher this time but still well low enough that he couldn't verify his guess one way or the other.

"Let me put it this way Kyle," I said slowly, "What you see is what I got."

Kyle just laughed softly and shook his head in protest. "No way, I bet you've NEVER gone out bare ass in public."

I almost choked trying to hold back the laughter. Just goes to show you can't judge a book by its cover.

"So what do I get for my prize?" he asked.

Shaking my head, I answered, "Noooooo, you don't get a prize because you're wrong."

"Prove it then," he came back quickly and rather forcefully this time.

"Here? In the middle of the lounge?" I protested in mock modesty. I shook my head answering with, "No way, there's people watching us for goodness sake."

"Well, it appears we're at a standoff. I claim I'm right and you say I'm wrong but yet you won't provide any proof one way or the other. Doesn't seem quite fair to me."

He seemed to be becoming truly agitated but I wasn't about to go out of character this easily and just sat there silently as if I didn't know what to say which just seemed to agitate him all the more.

"So what's this all about anyway? You some kind of cock teaser or what? Hubby leaves you all alone so you go out on the prowl but when things get a little too personal you pull back? Yeah, I should've seen it coming."

I pretended to be hurt by his comments and if I was a better actress I'd have tears streaming but it was the best I could do just to look down and act as though I was upset.

"I am NOT a cock teaser," I murmured just loud enough for him to hear.

I'm sure in his mind I was playing right into his hands. Lonely housewife spurned by her husband out trying to act out her revenge only to have her bluff called and now wanting to prove she wasn't bluffing in the first place. Of course all that meant was now I was in position to do what he wanted... or so he thought. Little did he realize that now I had HIM in the exact position I wanted!

Kyle reached into his short pocket and pulled out his room key, putting it on the bar and sliding it over in front of me.

"The prove it... here's my room key. Go up ahead of me and I'll be there in a few minutes."

I wanted to grin and give a big "YES!" but instead I stayed in character and acted as though I wasn't going to take it.

Kyle reached out and put his hand on my leg, this time sliding it up until his fingers were under the hem up to his palm placing them precariously close to me crotch but still far enough away as to keep him in the dark as to my underwear status.

"C'mon Kelly... you know you want it," he urged me, "Don't you want to show your husband how it feels to be left all alone while he goes off and has a good time at the game. I bet he's flirting with every girl he sees. Why let him do this to you without fighting back?"

I picked up the card key but just held it between my thumb and forefinger, holding it against the bar and rotating it slowly from one edge to the next.

"I don't know... I guess I really hadn't thought this through..."

Kyle huffed and held out his hand, "Screw it then bitch. Give me back my key and then go back to being a slave to your asshole husband. You deserve him."

I clutched the key in my hand and held it to my chest defiantly.

"Fuck you," I said which was quite uncharacteristic of me as I almost never swear but then everything I was doing was not "normal" for me so why not? "I'll show you... but you better be there in two minutes or I walk."

With that I slide off the chair and without bothering to pull down my dress I started to walk out of the lounge. Just as I reached the entrance I turned and headed back to him, pretending to be sheepish.

"What room number?" I said with a slight frown.

Since he hadn't told me I couldn't tell from the key where to go. Of course I knew that from the moment I picked up the key but I thought it added a nice touch to emphasize my lack of experience in such situations.

"628... turn right out of the elevator and it's on the left," he said, clearly pleased with himself.

I headed back out again and couldn't help but notice the looks from several of the guys. Maybe they were no wishing they'd been the ones to approach me when I came in instead of Kyle.

Without a look back I made my way to the elevators and pushed the UP button. A door instantly opened and I was on my way up.

The question was, up to what?

5. Sex in a Hotel Room

My first impression upon entering the room was that obviously Ryan hadn't planned on bringing a girl back when he left for the lounge. The double bed closest to the window was still unmade and I had to wonder why the maid service was so late. A single suitcase was open on the other double bed with clothes scattered around. I didn't see any signs of pajamas so either he slept in the nude or his underwear.

A quick check of the bathroom had the usual suspects - toothbrush, toothpaste, razor, a can of gel shaving cream, and a can of body spray deodorant. A couple of towels were in the bathtub which made me happy as it looked like he'd showered in the morning.

Then I saw one last thing that really told me he hadn't been expecting visitors... a couple of porn magazines next to his suitcase, Oh well, I guess that just meant he was a normal male, LOL. At least he obviously wasn't gay.

That was all the time I had for an assessment as there was a single knock at the door and I knew it could only be one person. Opening the door, I was startled to see that I was wrong - it was the maid finally making her appearance. She was a young girl in Muslim attire and she seemed quite shy.

"Maid service," she asked in a soft voice, her eyes looking downward rather than meeting mine.

I smiled as sweetly as I could and answered, "Not now... I don't think he wants to be disturbed for a while."

She looked at me and then I think she realized what the situation was and she quickly nodded and headed away just as Kyle came walking down the hallway. I held the door open for him to enter.

"I take it she didn't want to join us?" he said jokingly.

I just ignored him which hopefully signaled my response better than words. Without saying anything I walked back to the center of the room between the two beds and then turned to face him with my arms folded in front of me. For just a moment I felt distinctly aware of my situation and considering how quickly his temper had flared at the lounge I couldn't help but wonder if I was making the right decision.

"Well, let's see the proof now," he demanded, motioning to my dress, "No excuses anymore, there's nobody to see you but me."

I turned away from him and raised the hem of my skirt up until it was over my butt such that there was no doubt I wasn't wearing anything underneath. Without turning around I pulled it back down again and now if anything it was lower on my legs than before.

"Ahhhhhh, so we're going to be playing games now," he grumbled. I still didn't say anything but gave him a questioning look instead. "Still teasing... rear view only, eh?"

"Well there was nothing about which side of me you got to see," I said with a slight smirk on my face which only seemed to antagonize him.

"I've had enough of this shit," he suddenly growled, "Take off the dress... now!"

I hesitated and he took a step words me warning, "Either you take it off right now or I will."

That funny feeling in my stomach that I'd felt before was coming back. Damn, what had I gotten myself involved in? Kyle was more than a head taller than me and obviously a lot stronger so if he got violent there would be nothing I could do about it. Apparently he saw the fear on my face and he softened his tone.

"Hey, just kidding," he said smiling now at me, "Why should you be the only one to do the teasing?"

It wasn't his request that I hadn't liked, it was the manner in which he made it. Even though he'd offered me a way out, I really wasn't looking for one. In fact, I had sort of wondered how this was going to play out and if this was how he wanted to do it then it was fine with me.

Actually, I pleased when he did a reversal from the domination role. After all, what I really wanted was to have my ego massaged and to feel sexy and wanted – not dominated. Fortunately, it was looking like I was in luck...

"Damn you look sweet," he said huskily as I lifted my dress up and over my head.

Since it was all I was wearing, I was left naked except for my pumps which I left on knowing how men seem to get off from a girl keeping her shoes on during sex. So long as I didn't have to stand in them much longer I was happy to oblige.

"Do I look better than your wife Kyle?" I asked softly, pretending to be unsure of myself.

"Holy crap... she NEVER looked like this, not even as a teenager in high school," Kyle said after letting out a long wolf whistle.

I stood there, waiting for him to make his move which he finally did, moving up close to me and putting his hands on my bare hips, rubbing them softly.

"You feel so soft... your skin's like silk," he whispered to me as his hands began to explore me.

First he moved in closer so he could put his hands on my butt, squeezing me and lifting up with his hands cupped under my buttocks. From there it was up my sides and then over my shoulder blades until he held my neck with both hands. It wasn't like he was throttling me, more like caressing.

He leaned down to kiss me and I turned my head up until our lips met. As out tongues touched his fingers ran though my hair, tugging gently as he went from my scalp to the ends. Putting my arms around his neck, he moved his down until he had my ass again, pulling me in tight top him such my boobs were crushed against his lower chest.

"You taste like honey," he softly spoke, "God I love the feel of your ass... so soft yet so firm."

I imagined how flabby his wife's butt must be and it made me feel good to have him compliment mine.

We kissed again as he directed me backwards to the bed. Laying me back against the pillow, he pulled the rumpled sheets back until I was able to lay on my back against the bottom sheet without anything under me. Kyle stood up and gazed down at me, his eyes running up and down my exposed body as he wet his lips with his tongue.

"Ahhhhhh, you shave your cunt," he observed, running his fingertips along the region right above my pussy, "That's so hot, my wife's won't even trim hers."

So his wife didn't shave or even trim her pubic hair. Well to be perfectly honest I'd been contemplating lately as to whether to allow mine to grow out a little bit. Not a full-fledged bush but just a light covering right above my pussy, keeping it short and well-groomed but still something for guys to play with. I guessed this wasn't the time to bring up those plans however.

Spreading my legs just slightly, it was enough to send him the signal that it was OK with me for him to explore a little more and he ran his fingers down and between my pussy lips until the tips were pushing against my pussy hole. As wet as I was from anticipation, it slipped easily into me up to the second knuckle.

"Ahhhhhh, you like this... don't you?" he grinned.

Still not having spoken anything, I just nodded and let him explore me further, pushing his finger deeper inside of me. Once he was in as far as he could reach, he pulled it out and then started to slowly fuck me with his finger as he used the palm of his hand to apply pressure to my clit. Mmmmmmm, it felt soooooo good!

"Oh yeah, right there," I encouraged him, speaking my first words since we started.

Kyle reached out with his other hand and started to massage my boobs as he continued to play with my ever wetter pussy. I loved the way he tugged gently on my nipples, not enough to really hurt but at the same time making them tingle and harden.

"You have perfect tits," he complimented me, "Not those fake ones... I hate those. Yours are just right - firm and perky and not a lot of sagging."

Before I could answer he let go of both my boobs and crotch and was moving up and onto the bed, pushing my legs further apart. Grabbing a spare pillow, he pushed it under my ass to lift my butt up in the air and then dived into my crotch without saying a word, going straight to licking and sucking on my clit. God it felt wonderful! Although I can't really say why, for some reason I just hadn't pegged him for being all that great a pussy eater. Just goes to show you can't judge a book by its cover.

"Oh Goddddddd," I moaned almost continuously as his tongue manipulated my clit, even better than most girls which is quite a compliment from me.

I could feel my orgasm rising and then he pushed two fingers into my wet pussy, fucking me with them as he tugged on my clit with his lips. My legs draped over his shoulders as I couldn't concentrate on holding them up in the air anymore but he didn't seem to mind. My ankles locked and I pulled him into my crotch, trying to increase the pressure against my clit and crotch in general.

Wow, talk about an orgasm! I didn't say a word not because I didn't have anything to say but more that I couldn't get anything to come out as I gasped for air and my body stiffened while my pussy convulsed around his fingers. Like a pro he didn't miss a beat, his tongue working against me to drive me deeper and deeper into whatever world my mind goes when it loses control of my body and it's like nothing exists except the feelings that surge within me.

As to how long that continued... your guess is as good as mine. All I know is I never wanted it to stop but then all good things must come to an end and so it was with this. My stomach was hurting from doing what essentially amounted to a series of crunches that under normal circumstances would have had me begging to stop.

Kyle, realizing round one was over, looked up at me and raised his head with a grin from ear to ear. He knew he'd made me feel REALLY good and he seemed quite proud of himself. Moving his way up and over me, he kissed me and I could taste my cum on his tongue and mouth. Mmmmmmm, I LOVE the taste of my pussy, especially just after having cum so hard.

"Feel good?" he whispered as our eyes met.

"Oh... my... god!" I gasped, still short of breath, "That was like incredible. Where did you learn to do that?"

Kyle smirked as he answered, "Let's just say it wasn't my damn wife."

It wasn't much of an answer but right then I didn't care as my pussy was still so sensitive that just the feel of him brushing over my clit was enough to make me jump and shudder.

With that he got off the bed and I expected him to strip down and join me. Instead, all he did was undo his belt and pants and unzip them. Then he pushed them down just enough to let his semi-hard cock pop loose. It was the first time I'd actually seen it other than outlined in his pants. While certainly nothing to earn him a role as a porn star, it was more than adequate, right there in the middle of the pack from my experience. I would say maybe just a little bit smaller than my husband's cock but about the same as my dad's.

One thing that caught my eye immediately was how hairy his crotch area was. It was like it started up on his belly and just got darker and heavier the further down you would go until by the time you got to his crotch it was like a small forest between his legs. I LOVED it! Nothing is worse than a guy who shaves his crotch. Frankly, I think a shaved dick looks sort of like a shave sheep - unnatural and looking like something's missing. Give me that thick coarse pubic hair any day to run my fingers through and then feel up against my face and eventually my crotch.

"Well?" he asked.

I wasn't really sure what he was asking me. Did he want me to comment on his cock size? Surely he'd been in enough locker rooms to compare himself against other guys so unless he was fishing for false compliments he must know that he wasn't all that spectacularly endowed. Was it his dense hairy body? Now for many girls that can be a real turnoff and to be honest, I prefer a hair crotch but not a hairy body. A guy doesn't have to look like a gorilla, that was for sure. Hairy backs and shoulders don't really do it for me.

If there's one thing I've learned over the years, you can NEVER go wrong complimented a guy on the appearance of his dick. Really, do they ever actually LOOK at them in the mirror? Whatever, it's like they live in some sort of dram world and I've never met a guy yet who thought his dick didn't LOOK good. When it comes to size, well they can't fake that but appearance is always open for discussion.

Looking at his crotch and then up to his eyes, I went back to gazing at his dick as I licked my lips seductively and answered slowly, "I love your cock Kyle... it looks beautiful."

Let's be honest... NO cock LOOKS beautiful, especially the uncircumcised ones. Actually, the vast majority of the ones I've seen (and I'd like to think I've seen a LOT more than your average girl) are sorta ugly. What makes a cock "beautiful" to me is not how it LOOKS but what it signals to me and what it tells me about the guys it's attached to and what he is thinking of me.

Face it, if I'm sitting naked in front of a guy and his cock is limp, that's not exactly a defining moment of me. What I LOVE is when a guy gets an erection and I know that I'm the reason for his uncontrollable reaction. So far as I know, no man on earth has ever been able to achieve an erection on his own just by wishing for one (ignoring "morning wood"). Thus if a guy's cock grows when he looks at me it's a sure sign that he finds me desirable and that he wants to have sex with me. I like to call them the perfect lie detector. A guy can say anything to me about how I look and what he wants to do to me and most I take with a grain of salt. The only thing I believe 100% of the time is his cock. Yep, a dick never lies!

So anyway, Kyle seemed happy with my assessment of his dick and I was reminded by the expectant look in his eyes of his "Well?" statement just a few moments earlier. It wasn't like I didn't know what he was expecting - the same thing EVERY guy at least hopes for when a naked girl's head is just a matter of inches away from his exposed cock. In Kyle's case it was more than just wishful thinking - he EXPECTED it and I can't say I blamed him at this point after what he'd done for me.

As I leaned forward I could almost feel the Kyle's excitement his cock literally twitched in front of me. At this point I had two options - stroke him a while first or go for the mouth from the git-go. Usually I prefer to stroke a guy for a while and feel his dick in my hand. It helps in my decision that generally a guy has an erection by the time I can lay a hand on him. The times when I like to take him my mouth from the start are those rare instances where he's still soft or at least semi-flaccid. Mmmmmmm, I LOVE to feel a dick rowing inside my mouth!

In Kyle's case his erection was already in full arousal mode so I reached out and took his shaft in my hand, wrapping my fingers around it with my thumb running up and along the underside of his dick head. Leaning forward, I spit on his shaft to make it easier to stroke and very slowly ran my hand down his shaft until it was pressed against the base of his crotch and covered by his thick and lush pubic hair. I paused stroking him for a moment to run my fingers through the dense coarse hair.

"Mmmmmmm, I just love running my fingers through your pubic hair Kyle." I said sweetly looking up at him and grinning naughtily.

Kyle grinned and answered, "That's a relief... I was afraid when I saw you shaved cunt that you would expect me to be shaved as well. Obviously that's not the case."

Shaking my head I said, "Oh no.... I LOVE it thick and long, just like this."

He seemed anxious and I knew it was enough talk so I gently took his cock head in my mouth and licked the very tip of him as I grasped the shaft at the base to keep it still in my mouth. When I ran my tongue around the head I could feel him shudder and I knew he liked what I was doing to him but it never hurts to hear it from the source.

"So you like that?"

Kyle groaned and pushed my head back on his dick which was answer enough for me.

As I took his dick deeper, I pushed his pants down to his ankles but he still had his shoes on so I couldn't get them off. Kyle had both hands on each side of my head, gripping me and pushing me onto his cock, driving it deep into my mouth and throat. At one point I had to push back to restore my senses and get a breath. It was just a moment as he was super-anxious for me to get back to work again on it.

"God it feels so good when you do that," Kyle gushed at one point where I twisted my head around his dick as my tongue ran over it while I slowly drew up from my face buried in his crotch until just the tip was in my mouth. I like to think of that as my signature move and practically every guy begs for it over and over again. Kyle was no exception! Mmmmmmm, talk about an ego booster!

Theoretically I guess I could have continued until he blew his load in my mouth but I don't think either of us really wanted that to happen, at least not yet. Indeed, he started groaning louder and his hands were gripping my head more forcefully when suddenly he pulled back, his dick popping out of my mouth with a wet slurping sound.

"Whew, that was close," he whispered huskily, more to himself it seemed than to me.

It didn't take a psychology degree to know what was coming next but at the same time I like it when a guy has to at least make an effort to fuck me so I sat there as if I had no idea what he wanted to do next. I didn't wait long...

"Lay back," he said in a soft but firm tone as he put his hands on my bare shoulders and pushed me backwards.

I reached behind me and pulled one of the pillows under my head to make it easier for me to watch what was going on between my legs. Silently I lay there as reached under legs and put his elbows under my knees to lift me up until my ass actually came off the bed a few inches. His dick was pressing against my crotch but an inch or so off the mark if he was going to fuck me. With both his hands occupied it was left to me to reach down and guide him home.

Kyle was so anxious to fuck me that it was a bit of challenge lining his quivering dick up with my pussy hole. He kept thrusting it forward every time I moved him whether I had him in the right spot to not which caused him to poke me in all the wrong places but finally, more by luck than design, the stars aligned and before either of us knew it really he was half-way in my with one stroke. It didn't hurt that I was still soaking wet from his earlier ministrations.

"Damn!" he cried out as he pushed again to drive himself in further.

From his tone it was clear he wasn't cursing but more that he was expressing the feeling of his dick being surrounded by my warm wet pussy. While I knew how wonderful it felt to have him IN me, sometimes I wonder what it's like for a guy to have this THING protruding out from his crotch and then pushing it inside a woman. I suppose it's no different than a guy wondering how it feels to have boobs but then again, I've seen a few guys that could use a bra.

"Fuck me Kyle... I want you to fuck me."

The words that EVERY man loves to hear... a girl begging him to fuck her. It's amazing that after all the hundreds of times my dad has fucked me that he still seems to get a little extra stiffness when I whisper those words in his ear, the only difference is then I say, "Fuck me DADDY."

"Oh yeah... beg it for it you slut," he groaned as he thrust hard into me, driving himself deep inside of me until his hairy crotch pressed in tight against my bare pussy. I could feel his balls slapping up against my ass each time he drive himself into me.

If that's what he wanted...

"Oh Kyle, your dick feels so good inside of me," I cried out as I wrapped my legs around him, crossing my ankles to pull him into me. "Harder... fuck me harder Kyle."

Actually any harder and he'd drive me across the bed but it was the thought that counted.

"I want to ride it... let me ride your dick Kyle," I begged.

"Whatever you want Kelly," he groaned as he gave one more thrust into me, holding himself still in me for the first time as he pushed himself into me as far as he could. "God your cunt so fucking tight... I don't EVER remember Ann being this tight."

Evidently that was a reference to his wife, at least I hoped so. It wasn't fair of him as she'd borne two children but I wasn't about to point that out to him. Then suddenly it was like my pussy felt empty and I realized he had pulled himself out of me.

Kyle laid back on the bed next to me with his pants down to his ankles and his shirt still on but the important thing was his dick as it pushed out from his hairy crotch, stiff as a steel pipe.

"Front or back?" I asked with a slug grin as I sat up and got on my knees.

"Front," he said immediately but then he seemed to think better of it and changed his mind saying, "Noooooo, I just HAVE to get a better view of that incredible ass."

Given a choice I usually prefer facing the guy when I ride his dick as I like seeing his face and having him play with my boobs or even suck on them. Then I saw that the way he was laying I would be facing the mirror on the wall which offered the best of both worlds. Swinging my leg over him, I lifted myself up on my knees to get his dick under me with my ass in full view.

"Oh god.... it's perfect," he sighed as I felt his hands on my butt, one on each cheek. He squeezed them like a woman checking melons in the grocery store as I lowered myself down onto his stiff dick.

"Slow.... take it slow," he said suddenly as I felt his cock begin to penetrate me once again, "Lean forward... I want to watch it go in you."

I looked into the mirror at my naked reflection and smiled as I slowly dropped down on his dick, gyrating my hips just enough to make him move around inside of me. I had just the bulbous head of his cock in me now and it felt so damn good to have it tease my pussy. Reaching down to touch myself, I played with my clit as his dick worked its magic in me.

"That's it Kyle, play with my butt," I said over my shoulder. It's sort of funny I guess that for a girl who hates anal sex, I LOVE my butt being touched and played with. So long as he stayed away from my asshole I was in heaven.

"Christ," he groaned as he tightened his grip on my butt, "I've NEVER felt an ass like yours... I just love it."

Then my orgasm struck as my fingers flew across my clit and I cupped my left boob with my other hand. It was like I couldn't be stimulated any better with my own hands doing their work together with his hands on my butt, not to mention the nest part of all - his adulterous dick as it moved slowly but surely into me deeper and deeper.

"Oh my god Kyle," I groaned loud and long, "You're making me cum."

OK, so maybe he personally didn't have a lot to do with it but it WAS his dick in me so I had to give him credit for that. It didn't matter, all I cared about at that moment was how wonderful I was feeling. Without thinking I dropped down on his dick suddenly, impaling myself on him as my full weight landed on his lap. The feel of his dick filling me just made my orgasm all the stronger.

"Fuck me Kyle... fuck me... oh god fuck me," I chanted as I started to bounce on his dick.

For the first time since my orgasm started I opened my eyes and looked in the mirror. God, I looked like a wild woman with my hair a total wreck and my face and chest all flushed. Kyle has his hands on my hips now, pushing me down onto his dick as I swung my hips to make his dick spiral inside of me.

At that moment the one thing I wanted more than anything was for him to cum in me. I wanted to feel his sperm filling my pussy. I wanted him to consummate his adulterous act. I wanted to know that I was so desirable to him that he would mate me and fill me with his seed.

I know he must have been surprised when I suddenly slipped off his dick and laid on the bed on my back next to him. When I spread my legs and lifted my legs back, holding them with my hands to give him an easy target, he quickly got the message.

"You want more," he said with a wicked grin, "You just have to have more of my dick, don't you... don't you... you fuckin' slut."

He wasn't really asking any questions - he has making a statement. And YES, he was correct... I DID want his dick, more than anything at least at this moment.

"Oh god!" I cried out as he thrust himself into me, driving his dick deep into me once again as he held my legs up in the air and fucked me on his knees with my butt up against his hairy thighs. "That's it Kyle... cum in me... I want you to cum inside of me."

No doubt it didn't really matter what I wanted - at this point he was going to cum in me no matter what. This to me is one of the most erotic and exciting moments in sex, that time when he is beyond control and can't stop what he doing. It's at this point when a man WILL cum in me and I have no say over it whatsoever. It's not that I didn't want it myself, but at the same time it can be a little scary to see that blank look in his face and know that it's all animal instinct driving him.

"Holy crap!" he cried out as his head arched back and he drive himself into me, holding his dick deep inside of me as I felt him jerk. A faint sense of warmth filled me as he ejaculated inside of me, his sperm shooting from his dick in one load after another. Mmmmmmm, it was sperm meant for his wife but now I was the one getting it.

"Oh shit," he sighed as he convulsed one last time and then all but collapsed on top of me, letting my legs finally drop to the bed. Fortunately he caught himself on his elbows but it was still a bit of a squeeze to be under him.

"Stay in me Kyle," I whispered huskily, my arms around his neck as he breathed heavily against my neck, "I want to feel you in me now."

Each moment during sex has its own special characteristics and meaning. This was the time when I just enjoyed laying still with him on top of me, his spent dick still in me as his sperm that had flooded my pussy engulfs his dick. I could feel it twitch involuntarily now and then and somehow it just felt safe and secure to have him inside of me, like I was a part of him.

We must have laid like that for over five minutes without saying a word. The only sound in the room was his breathing in my ear and the occasional honking of a car down below. As I laid there I thought of my husband and wondered what he would say if he knew where his was at that moment... and what was in her. Then I smiled as I compared HIS reaction to what Kyle's wife would say if SHE knew. Ann would probably freak whereas Steve would most likely be pissed he wasn't there to watch. Such is the difference between men and women I guess.

Kyle suddenly groaned and slipped out of me as he rolled over onto his back.

"Sorry, I can't feel my arms anymore," he apologized.

His now flaccid dick was flopped over onto a bed of pubic hair. I loved to see it covered with a mix of his cum and my pussy wetness.

"Don't move," I whispered to him as I moved between his legs and stretched out as best I could without falling off the end of the bed.

"What the...?" he started to ask as he lifted his head up to see what I was doing.

I just hushed him and took his soft dick in my mouth. Mmmmmmm, I loved the taste of us in my mouth!

"Oh god that feels so fuckin' good," he groaned as he reached around to bunch up one of the pillows under his head so he could watch more easily.

I really wasn't trying to give him a BJ per se and I knew better than to think I would revive him this quickly. No.... this was for ME as I slowly sucked on him and ran my tongue around his dick in my mouth. Of course a hard dick is always good but sometimes it can be so sensual to feel a soft one in my mouth right after it has fucked me. I try to imagine how just a few minutes before it had been so stiff and anxious to be inside of me. How out of this tiny hole that I touched with my tongue had spewed so much adulterous sperm inside of me... and how it STILL was in me.

With that though I got up on my knees again and moved over his dick. Again I could see that questioning look in Kyle's eyes but I just grinned at him and put my finger to my lips to signal him to be quiet and enjoy the show. Bearing down, I forced his cum out of my pussy until a little bit ripped out of me and onto his dick below. Reaching down between my legs, I scooped whatever else I could with my finger from my pussy and wiped it off his dick.

"You're so damn sexy," Kyle sighed but he hadn't seen everything yet.

Returning to my previous position, I reached out with my tongue and licked the cum from his dick. Mmmmmmm, it tasted so good! Then keeping my eyes locked on his I pushed it out onto my lips, blowing little bubbles of cum before sucking it back in and swallowing it. Opening my mouth wide, I stuck out my tongue to show it was all in my tummy.

Kyle was grinning ear to ear by now. "You know, I've NEVER had a woman do this to me before... damn you're hot."

With that I got up and laid back down alongside of him, wrapping one leg over him and putting my arm on his chest as I pressed my boobs against his side. He still had his shirt on but it felt good to snuggle for a few minutes.

Just then his cell phone rang, playing some silly tune.

"Damn," he muttered under his breath, "That's her ring."

It didn't take a genius to figure out who he meant by "her". I pressed in tighter to him, wondering if he would get up to answer it or not.

"Sorry," he apologized as he sat up and slipped off the edge of the bed, "If I don't answer she'll think something is wrong."

"IS something wrong?" I asked naughtily, rubbing my crotch with my hand as he retrieved his phone from his pants pocket. It wasn't as easy as you might think when they were bunched up around his ankles.

"Fuck no... nothing is wrong, nothing at all," he grinned as he punched the answer key.

I got up and started to dress as he sat on the end of the bed talking to his wife as if everything was normal. I wondered if she was worried about him and why as several times he had to insist to her that he was doing fine and missed her. Yeah right, I bet he was really missing her a few minutes ago when he was slamming his dick in my pussy.

Ready to go, I started to leave but then a naughty idea came to mind. I tried to kneel down but as tight as my dress was it was near impossible so I pulled it up to my waist to expose my ass to him one last time. With that out of the way I was able to kneel down and take his dick in my mouth again. I don't think he was really expecting me to do that because he gasped as I sucked on him.

"No honey, I've already told you umpteen times I'm fine!" he said in a voice pitched a little higher than before. I guess she must have heard his gasp but I would have bet a thousand dollars she had no idea WHY he did it.

Mission accomplished, I stood back up and pulled my dress down again. Giving him a peck on the cheek I mouthed a "thank you" to him. He held up one finger to signal he was almost done but I wasn't going to wait. So far as I was concerned I'd gotten what I wanted so there was no need to stay any longer. It's not like we were friends or anything.

As I closed the door behind me I looked back and shook my head at the sight of this older man sitting on the bed with his pants around his ankles, talking to his wife on the phone while staring at me. I could tell he wanted more of me and that was the last thing I needed to complete my mission.

Walking to the elevator, I passed by the young maid as she left a room to go to her cart. She didn't even look eighteen! I was tempted to tell her to go make up the bed but then she looked so cute and innocent I couldn't bring myself to do that to her. Instead I just smiled at her as I strutted past her. From the way she looked at me I knew what she thought - that I was just another hooker leaving my john behind.

6. Recharged

As I hit the button for the lobby level, I took in a deep breath and let it out slowly. My pussy felt wet and I knew I probably should have cleaned up in the bathroom before I left, or at least taken a few tissues with me but at the time I hadn't wanted to delay my departure such that he could finish on the phone with Ann. Oh well, it wasn't like I was dripping or anything. Squatting over Kyle earlier had taken care of THAT!

Handing the valet my ticket, I waited in the lobby to stay warm as someone fetched my car. When it arrived I hurried to it and grabbed my coat from the backseat before getting behind the wheel. I smiled at the guy who was trying to not look like he was checking out the hem line of my dress but that only made it all the more obvious. One good thing about being a girl... you don't have to have cash to tip someone. Indeed, I licked my lips for him and then quickly pulled my dress up for just a moment to flash my pussy to him and then got in the car before he could react. The shocked look on his face made it hard not to laugh as I drove off.

Comparing my mood as I drove away from the hotel to how I felt earlier when I arrived was like comparing night and day. God I felt so GOOD about myself!

As I drove, my dress worked up until it was practically up to my hips. I debated whether or not I would tell my husband about what I did while he was freezing his cold ass off at the game. On the one hand I knew it would turn him on and no doubt lead to a great evening of sex. On the other hand, he would probably be horny and want to do me anyway. There was also that temptation to keep it a secret as that made it seem more naughty. After all, this was something I'd done for ME because Steve hadn't fucked me so why should I reward him for ignoring me?

I just knew one thing... I couldn't wait for my husband to get home and fuck me!

(Dec 15) Chapter 256: Early Christmas Present for My Husband

Story codes: Mg Fm Fb Ff Mf oral adultery inc mother son
Me (27)
Steve - my husband (29)
Matt (35) & Carrie (34)
Jon (15) - Matt & Carrie's older son
Joey (14) - Matt & Carrie's younger son
Melody (12) - Matt & Carrie's daughter
Simon (33) & Sally (33)
Jacob (11) - Simon & Sally's son
Phil (37) & Ann (35)
Casey & Chloe (14) - twin sisters, Phil & Ann's daughters

The Christmas season is all about giving. It's always fun to receive but in your heart the pleasure comes from seeing the expression on the face of the one you love when you unexpectedly give them something special. I knew what my husband wanted for Christmas more than anything but I also knew he would never ask for it nor would he expect it. That's what made giving it to him so special for me.

1. All He Wants For Christmas

It was almost Christmas and as always I'd procrastinated in my shopping. Then again I had a good excuse. After all, what do you buy for the most important man in your life, the guy who's given you so much that you could never give back anything that even remotely compares? Of course I am referring to Steve, my husband and soul mate.

It used to be that this sort of debate was limited to what was then the most important man in my life - my father. Growing up I admired and respected my dad as a businessman, community leader, Christian, husband and father. I'll be the first to admit that as his only daughter he spoiled me terribly. Anytime I wanted something all I had to do was smile at him sweetly, sit in his lap and wiggle and I knew it was mine. Later after we started having sex, it even easier to get what I wanted as you may well imagine.

So what does a girl possibly get for a father like mine? When I was little my mom use to help by picking out something she knew he needed such as a dress shirt for work or something else deemed "practicalÓ. There really wasn't much else as I got older so it has become sort of a tradition for me to buy him a shirt every year. Around the time I became a teenager I use to tease him by putting it on afterwards like a big nightshirt. After I turned sixteen I stopped buttoning it...

Now that I'm married to Steve my annual quandary has doubled or even more so because with him I didn't have years of tradition to fall back on like I have with my dad. Nonetheless one nice thing about being a girl is that there's always a an infallible fallback - Victoria's Secret. Interestingly enough, sometimes the best present I can give my hubby is the one he just gave me. What I mean by that is after he gives it to me in a box then I give it to him... on me. At least it's on me for a little while.

Basically there are two types of presents when it comes to making your man happy - those things he NEEDS and those he WANTS. For a birthday maybe something he needs is OK but for Christmas I like to make it something special. Christmas isn't the time to buy what he would get any other time of year. It should be something that only comes once a year.

Which only serves to bring me to yet another decision point. Yes, it's something he wants but is it something he has told me he wants or is something he REALLY wants but doesn't tell me for one reason or another. Maybe it's because it's ridiculously expensive - like a fancy new convertible. Maybe he would rather pick it out himself - like a new iPad or computer. Then again, maybe it's something he thinks I wouldn't ever buy for him, like a porn video.

As you can see, my Christmas gift buying can get pretty complicated! Small wonder I am always late in finishing my list.

Normally in the past when I've made up my mind to buy something Steve needs AND I want to surprise him, usually it's not all that difficult. A sexy nightie or other lingerie is ALWAYS welcome. True, the sexier it gets usually the less comfortable it is, but then I don't expect to be wearing it for very long either.

This year though I wanted something VERY special. It was going to be our second Christmas as a married couple and I wanted to make sure it was one he would never forget. The past year has been incredible and so many things are

As Steve orgasmed and filled me with his love I actually caught myself thinking about how he would be doing to this someone else the next day, someone that could almost be my daughter (ALMOST. I'm not THAT old yet, LOL). Then what really surprised me were the thoughts in my head of how while he was doing her I might be doing her brother right next to them! God, what kind of crazy thing was I getting myself involved in this time?

3. Setting Up

The next morning we slept in late so Steve didn't made love to me until the middle of the morning. While I certainly enjoyed it in a way I was a little surprised as usually on party days, or even days we had swapping planned, Steve is sort of ritualistic when it comes to "storing up a big load". Was he feeling a little guilty about leaving me so close to Christmas was he went out and had a good time with my aunt her friends? Well, I'd be the last one to tell him otherwise as I love any time my husband makes love to me!

While we showed together I came up with some malarkey about having to get in more holiday shopping but in reality I needed to get out of the house ahead of him so I could make the necessary arrangements at the party before Steve arrived. I met my Aunt Linda at a nearby hotel parking lot where I left my car and rode with her for about a half hour until we arrived at the party location.

As we neared our destination I have to say that I was a little taken aback when my aunt made the turn into the long drive that led to the conference center where evidently the party was going to be held. Like who would have ever called this shot? For this sort of event it was one thing to meet in a large hotel suite or somewhere that was relatively "neutral" ground but a Presbyterian Church owned and operated conference center? Had the organizers told the people running the place just what sort of Christmas party was being planned? I wasn't sure which option was worse – the fact we were doing it basically under the nose of an unsuspecting religious organization or that the church knew the real story and had sanctioned everything anyways.

Then again, as we approached one of the larger buildings I thought about my own dealings with churches> To be fair. I was really the last one to be throwing stones at this glass house. Wow, like how many times had I been fucked in church – including by my own dad and even the youth pastor? It was more than a little hypocritical of me to criticize when I routinely showed up for the service with my dad both next to me AND some of him still inside of me. Wow, like how many times had I masturbated as a kid during a boring sermon? At least from the look of things we would using one of the more generic conference buildings so it wasn't like we'd be doing it in the sanctuary on the altar or anything kinky like that. Not that I haven't done such things but certainly not with the equivalent of an entire congregation.

"Nice place," I said off-handedly to my aunt as she found a parking spot close to the door. At this time it wasn't all that hard to find a good spot as there were only a couple of cars parked anywhere nearby.

"Yeah, it gets harder and harder to find a place each year as it seems this one just gets bigger and bigger the more people know about it," she sighed as she turned off the car and put the keys in her purse, "It's not like you can just book ANY place for this sort of thing, you know?"

I nodded my head but in reality I did NOT know as I'd never been in charge of doing so.

"This place is perfect - remote yet not that far from the city for people to drive. At first I was a little concerned that being church-affiliated that they might question our insistence on total privacy - can't have the janitor emptying garbage right in the middle of things as you might imagine. But in the end money talks... right?"

I just nodded. Indeed it did! Given enough money I don't think there's much of anything that anyone wouldn't do so why be surprised that even a church turns a blind eye to what HAD to set off any number of alarm bells, just for the sake of a few dollars.

"Will you help me carry these in?" she asked rather rhetorically as she already had the trunk open and was handing me a box to carry. There were no markings on it but it was a little on the heavy side so who knows what was in it. She grabbed a similar one and pushed the trunk down with her elbow as she tried to retain her balance.

Fortunately it was only a short walk down the sidewalk to the entrance. I noticed as we approached that the single story building was built with large windows over most of the side facing the parking lot but that they were covered inside by blinds so I couldn't see much more than the fact that the lights were on inside. I also spotted security cameras at each corner of the building and I wondered how that would sit with some of the people attending but then so long as none were operating inside it shouldn't be an issue.

It wasn't like there was a sign stating this anywhere but then no doubt before things got rolling there probably would be. It was SOP - Standard Operating Procedure for people to undress before coming into the main room but with the way this place was laid out with a smaller foyer and no place to store clothes and such I couldn't see how that was going to work.

"Hi there, I'm Janet... Janet Baxter," a woman introduced herself to me, "Sorry, my daughter can be a little exasperating at times, believe me!"

She was also nude but unlike her daughter with the naturally bare pussy and barely budding nipples, she looked to be maybe at least a D cup with a rather hairy crotch. She DID have a great figure and I suspected the boobs had a little help from her friendly plastic surgeon but they looked pretty darn natural.

"Charlene... I told you before that people would have to strip here today. That's why I asked you to set up the tables... which I see you haven't been doing. You know what we told you about Waldo."

"WalDEN," she protested to her mom with her hands on her bare hips.

"Whatever," Janet sighed, "You need to be more social this year... starting with your new friend here. I'm sorry, I don't think we've met."

I introduced myself to her and then started to say something more about helping to set up but she held out her hand top cut me off.

"Sorry but Char WAS right about one thing - you really shouldn't be wearing anything when you're in here. I don't mean to be a stickler.. just the rules you know."

I didn't really mind one way or the other so I quickly stripped down and placed my clothes in one of the baskets that were piled up by the entrance.

Janet was putting on the rest of the tablecloths which gave her daughter an excuse to bolt leaving just the two of us so I tried to lend a hand.

"I hope you don't mind me being forward but is this your first time?" she asked, "I don't remember seeing you here before."

I explained that I'd only been to a couple of parties so far but that my husband was more of a regular attendee."

"Ohhhhhh, so you're Steve's wife," she nodded. Then she sort of frowned and added, "Guess it must be nice to be the niece of the president."

I understood immediately what she was implying - that Steve and I enjoyed special privileges. Well, she was right but then again, I wasn't complaining and I'm sure Steve wouldn't either.

I just laughed and pointed over to little Charlene who was now over by her father arranging a small Christmas tree that he was setting up. I didn't even have to say a word.

"Oh, I see you've met our little police girl," Aunt Linda laughed which Janet joined in. "Yeah, she can be quite... demanding."

I got the impression by "demanding" my aunt meant more than insisting on the rules being followed but no need to go there, at least not yet.

For the next hour or so we set out decorations, laid out the food table and then arranged matting and blankets all over the place. Someone must have come in the day before or at least earlier to bring in so many! As I looked the place over, I tried to imagine it filled with maybe a hundred people, all naked and having sex. It was certainly going to be something new for me, that was for sure!

Soon after the various families began to arrive. It was obvious that some were regular attendees from the way they seemed to know everyone while a good number looked to be relatively new from the way they appeared a bit more shy at first. I wondered if they allowed newbies at such a large gathering as it was quite different from the smaller groups that normally go together.

The answer to THAT question was soon available as my aunt pointed out a family as they came in and started to undress.

"That's the Carson family. It's their first time here. Actually I was the one to recommend them. Kristen and I sold them their new executive home in that new development in Upper St. Clair. There was just something in the way Phil and his daughters interacted... you know what I mean. It's like when you're with your dad. You don't even realize it at times I think but there's something beautiful when a father and daughter have that sort of special bond between them."

"So what... they just told you he was screwing their daughters?" I asked rather incredulously.

"Of course not silly," my aunt groaned, "It wasn't until Kristen 'sealed the deal' with Phil that he spilled the beans."

Leave it to my slutty cousin. It didn't surprise me at all that Kristen had slept with the father to help get them to sign the paperwork - if that was even necessary. More likely she had been flirting the whole time and he just couldn't hold back anymore.

"Did the mom know at the time?"

Linda shook her head as she watched the two teenagers undressing next to their already naked parents.

"It was more like your grandmother... don't ask, don't tell. Oh she knew but she didn't say anything. Besides, they were both already in their teens when they started so it wasn't like they didn't know what they were doing."

"Whatever," I sighed, not quite understanding how such things worked, "So how old are they now?"

"Fourteen... their twins but you'd never guess it from looking at them. Amy is the brunette and she's the adventurous one. You should see their interview video. It was like she was a porn star. It's the little blonde Chloe I'm a little worried about today - see how long she's taking to undress?"

"Why are you worried?"

My aunt frowned slightly, the corners of her mouth turning down just a bit but enough for me to see the concern. "I don't know, just a feeling I guess. Remember how I said Amy was practically begging to be on camera? Well Chloe practically had to be bribed. I get the feeling it's mostly Amy and her dad at home. I guess we'll just have to see how things work out... they usually do."

Then my aunt's mood brightened and she turned to me with a grin.

"You know, I have JUST the perfect idea."

As my aunt described her latest stroke of genius I just stood there and marveled. Damn, the things this woman could think up! No wonder she was the President of the group.

For the time being people were just milling about striking up conversations and renewing acquaintances. A few of the families were off on their own and I assumed they were new. My aunt and a couple of other mothers made it a point to bring them into the fold and help them overcome their nervousness. I could just imagine how it must be for them to be introduced to this sort of thing in front of so many people. It was like the place as a mad house.

Steve still hadn't shown up which didn't surprise me. That guy will be late to his own funeral - or least that's what my mother says about him. It was past the scheduled starting time so my aunt had one of the guys whistle loudly and slowly the din died down and everything turned to watch her as she took her place in the center of the room.

"Welcome everyone and Merry Christmas!" she greeted them, "I'm SO thrilled at the turnout this year - 110 so far which is a new record!"

Everyone cheered and clapped. My aunt then went on to explain the setting – the food, restrooms and other important things. Then she got serious and reminded everyone of the rules along with a brief but quite pointed hint that anyone not following them would not be around for long.

1. First and foremost – EVERYONE participates. No voyeurs allowed. Nobody expected anyone to go at it nonstop but at the same time, sitting around for an hour or more would be considered lack of participation.
2. No incest – that was for home IF you were into it and nobody had to say one way or the other if they did. For the purposes of the party you had to have a partner that you weren't related to.
3. Age appropriate partners. What she meant by that was at least one person had to be a different generation. Thus if it was just two then it had to be a mother-son or father-daughter. If more than two at least one had to be a different generation. It was implied that those were the options – no man-boy or woman-girl combos.
4. 100% consensual. If someone didn't want to do something, like anal, then they couldn't be forced to do it or even asked more than once. Above all else, if ANYONE felt uncomfortable being here then they should leave immediately.

Those were the big ones and she obviously didn't want to get all legalistic and boring. I knew that in the indoctrination they were told a lot more including such things as options for protected sex, use of toys (heavily discouraged but OK if someone really felt strongly about them).

That done... as they say, let the games begin!

It was sort of like watching the opening of a horse race where all the horses come out of the gate at once and it's mass confusion to start.

Just then someone came in from the reception area and whispered in my aunt's ear. She grinned and immediately made her way over to me.

"He's here! Showtime!"

"So Kelly, I think it's time, don't you?" my aunt asked rhetorically. Well, since she was the one that had thought up the idea and set everything up, I guess she needed to be the one to make it happen. Heck, I didn't even know the parents.

My aunt grinned naughtily and turned to Steve, reaching down to stroke his dick a few times to keep his attention as his gaze wandered the room taking in the sights.

"Remember that ne family I told you about earlier?" she asked him.

"You means the Casey's?" he asked with a little hesitation.

"No... see what happens when men fuck Kelly," she teased Steve as she tugged on his cock, "All the blood leaves the brain.

"The CARSON family dummy," she reminded my husband.

Steve rolled his eyes up and nodded. "Oh yeah, the ones with the twins, right? Yeah, the brunette one sat on my lap earlier."

"That would be Amy," my aunt filled him in, "and I bet she did more than just sit on your lap."

Steve chuckled and looked at me and winked.

"Well I was telling Kelly that Chloe, the blonde one, had me concerned a little. Not only don't the twins look alike, but they seem to be on different pages when it comes to sex."

"And...?" Steve asked, trying to draw out of her whatever it was my aunt was cooking up for him.

"Well, me and Kelly thought it might be easier for Chloe if she started out with another couple that wasn't so old rather than handing her over to just any horny father."

Steve's grin grew exponentially larger. "Sounds interesting."

"So anyway, look over there in the corner," my aunt directed him, pointing over to the far corner which was furthest away from the entrance.

Seated on a folding chair between what must have been her parents was Chloe, her legs crossed and her hands folded in front of her. She was nude of course but wasn't exactly displaying herself to everyone.

"Let's go, they've been waiting so patiently while you two have been playing around."

The three of us made our way through the crowd, trying not to trip over the various couples. I'd never been anywhere where so many people were all having sex

(Dec 25) Chapter 257: Spending Christmas With Family

Story codes: MF exhib inc father daughter brother sister cousin

Me (27)
John - my dad (47)
Steve - my husband (29)
Marlene - Steve's mother (48)
Sharon - Steve's younger sister (28)
Jim - Steve's younger brother (26)
Rick - cousin (24)

Christmas is many things to different people. If you asked me I would tell you that the primary reason for the season is to celebrate the birth of Jesus. So far as the secular holiday season goes, for me it's all about family. Traditions - both the keeping of old ones and the making of new ones, play a key role during this time.

1. Christmas Traditions

Everyone has their Christmas traditions whether they admit it or not, even if it's NOT to have any traditions. Some folks open all their presents Christmas morning after Santa has treated himself to milk and cookies. Others open one gift on Christmas Eve while I have friends that open them all the night before Christmas. Real tree or fake? Do you attend a Christmas Eve church service and if so, do you go in the evening or for the late night version? Where do you go for Christmas or do you stay at home? Is it always the same place like at grandma's or the relatives with the biggest house or do you rotate it around? Does everyone come together or is your family so far flung that it's just impossible?

Growing up my family faced the same conundrum that most do - which family to visit and when? Long before I was old enough to weigh on the matter my parents had worked it out to where we met with my mom's family on Christmas Eve and my dad's on Christmas Day. Family presents were opened when we met while "Santa" gifts magically appeared under the tree Christmas morning, even long after a friend spilled the beans about the great myth perpetuated by my parents.

Actually when I say we met with my mom's side of the family I really mean usually just her sister and my cousin as my maternal grandparents lived far away in Illinois. As such we usually didn't actually see them right on Christmas but usually sometime during the holiday break season when my dad was able to travel away from the office and my mom could get off from her hospital duties.

In contrast almost all of my dad's family resides in the general Pittsburgh area so it was usually quite a gathering. To lessen the load we rotate it between the three brothers and my grandparents' farm. Even so having it at our house once every four years was still once too many so far as my mom was concerned!

Anyone who is familiar with me knows I'm a fanatic When it comes to traditions. I believe strongly in family and I feel that traditions are critical in maintaining those bonds through thick and thin. So it should come as no surprise that I have my own little traditions that started when I was younger and I still work to maintain today. Also, traditions don't have to be "old" - you can always start a new one when the opportunity arises. After all, in ten years it won't be "new" anymore and it will be something that you look forward to each year or whenever it occurs.

My sentiment for tradition was passed on to me by my mom who in turn took it from her mother. Some were little - like the two cookies and milk for Santa. Never three, it has to be TWO cookies and real milk, none of this skim or low-fat stuff for Santa. Our stocking were always arranged with my dad's on the left, my mom's on the right and mine in the middle. Every year I sat on Santa's lap and recited my wish list. When I got too old for the store Santa my dad took over the duties.

Who initiated one of my favorite Christmas traditions has always been a source of disagreement between my parents. Each of them claims the other got it started although I tend to think my mom had something to do with it despite her insistence it was all my dad's idea. Simply put, the last "Santa" present I open is always a special outfit for me to wear and model for my dad.

I'll always remember the year we started this tradition - one that has been maintained to this day by the way. I was twelve years old, struggling with the same self-image issues that most girls deal with at that age. Some of my friends were wearing bras AND actually filled them out while I barely qualified for a training bra. It wasn't so much I wanted to wear one, I just wanted to have the boobs to where it fit me.

Inside wasn't a sexy outfit but instead was the most perfect "little black dress" ever. It had thin spaghetti shoulder straps and a plunging neckline I could tell just from looking would dip below my boobs. The hem was cut at a sharp angle such that on one side it dipped down halfway from my hip to my knee while on the other it was just inches below my waistline, revealing massive amounts of my left leg.

"Keep looking," he encouraged me with a grin.

I set aside the dress and rummaged through the tissue where I found two tickets to a special Pittsburgh Symphony Christmas performance. I knew it had been sold out for like forever and I wondered how he had gotten his hands on them.

"Well, you have to have someplace to wear your new dress," he said with a shrug as if it was nothing but we all knew better.

This was the first and only Christmas where I didn't model the outfit he gave me. Besides, "Santa" had another special gift for me this year which from the massive erection poking from his robe I knew he couldn't wait to give me.

As for the dress, I waited until the night of the concert when he escorted me looking so handsome and proud in his tuxedo. I loved the way the other men at the affair looked at me when I removed my coat, not to mention some of the women as well. Knowing that my dad had just fucked me not an hour before just made it all the more erotic for me. It was like I could still feel him in me and I wanted to shout it out to everyone. I loved the concert but it was all the more special to feel my dad's hand on my exposed thigh in the darkened theater. It was packed so it wasn't like I was going to get away with anything naughty but that just made it all the more sensual to feel him work his way between my legs. Later when we got back home I was so horny it was like I couldn't wait for him to get undressed and bring me to his bed next to my mom.

Just because I'm married doesn't mean these sort of traditions have to die. If anything matrimony has opened the doors to new opportunities to establish traditions between me and my husband that I hope will last for years. Of course some things do have to change to accommodate new realities. Like now I don't open my dad's special gift in front of everyone since my husband prefers my incestual dealings with my dad stay between us and not involve him. Still, I always manage to find a time either on Christmas Day or shortly after when he gives me my special pink-wrapped box with that red bow so I can model it for him and 'thank" him properly.

Yep, you can call me a traditional girl!

Still, no matter how she flirted with him or even flashed him, Steve never showed the least bit of interest in her, at least not sexually. Indeed, Steve has never been turned on by incest, at least not when it involves him. That's not to see he doesn't share the same fantasies just about every man has about OTHER incestuous families. It's just HE doesn't want to have sex with his own sister. It's sort of like guys who contact me and tell me how much it turns them on to read about me and my dad yet they would never do it with their own daughter.

For purposes of full disclosure, Steve DID have sex ONCE with his mother but that was back when we were dating and his mom "caught" us having sex. To be fair everyone at the time was major horny - he couldn't even stop humping me when his mom walked in the room! One thing led to another and what is now unthinkable for him happened - he fucked his mom right there in front of me. At the time I knew nothing about incest so you can imagine how shocked I was to see them together like that.

To this day both Steve and Marlene swear that nothing has ever happened like that between them since that one time. Actually even getting them to acknowledge that it DID happen is like pulling teeth and I learned quickly that bringing up the subject is a sure-fire conversation killer.

I mentioned Steve was a mom's boy earlier which is all the more intriguing considering his anti-incest stance. Apparently having SEX with your mother is verboten but groping and making out on the couch like two teenagers in heat is OK. Based on my amateur psychology analysis, apparently they've dealt with their smoldering lust by agreeing to allow things to progress to a certain point but once the line is reached then that's as far as it goes. I have to give them credit for having a lot more willpower than I would under the circumstances!

What I mean to say is that based on their "rules", it's OK for Steve to massage his mom's boobs thru a sheer nightie but it's NOT ok to actually touch them on the bare skin. Nudity in front of each other, at least unless he's having sex with me, is strictly forbidden but so long as you're wearing SOMETHING, even if it's next to nothing, then it's OK. Giving her son a blowjob is out of the question but rubbing his dick though thin boxers works so long as he doesn't cum. Rubbing her clit through panties is allowable but pulling them aside to touch her... never. It was really hard for me to figure it all out at first but once I understood what was going on it sort of all made sense - in its own rather kinky way.

Similarly I had to deal with another quirk that on the surface seemed really weird but once I realized it was honest and well thought out I accepted it for what it is. By that I mean Marlene's penchant for watching her son having sex with me.

Again, using my vast knowledge of Freudian psychology (yeah right), I think it stems back to that day she first caught us having sex and in the heat of the moment couldn't help herself from taking her son for herself. now it's like she needs to prove to herself that she can see us without succumbing to her instinctive desires. I Do know it's a totally different thing than when my mom use to watch me and my dad together. She would usually masturbate and even give words of encouragement and make suggestions watching us whereas Marlene NEEVR touches herself or says a word the entire time.

I'll never forget the first time she came in while Steve was fucking me. I was a little startled to say the least. I mean it's not like I mind being watched, but knowing their relationship it surprised me. Steve just ignored her and so I didn't say anything until we were done and she had left the room as silently as she'd entered. Apparently I wasn't the first girl she'd watched him with which was why he hadn't reacted to her entrance. Well, he could have forewarned ME though!

Back to Sharon and Jim... I learned from Steve that since Sharon wasn't able to attract her older brother's attention she evidently turned to her younger one – with much greater success apparently. It wasn't the sort of thing that you can hide for long and when Steve's mom found out about it I guess she sort of went ballistic. Still, how could she stop them? Eventually it became a moot point so long as they didn't flaunt it.

The two of them had attended my wedding the year before so it was the first time I'd had a chance to talk over the situation with Sharon. Given all the talks we'd had before about her and Steve, it wasn't like it was a big deal for her to discuss her current relationship with Jim. Now that they were out of school they'd moved in together in a new neighborhood where people didn't know they were siblings. She told me they intended to get married and have kids which I knew raised Steve's blood pressure so I studiously avoided the topic with him.

Last year had been our first Christmas as a married couple. After having spent the money to attend my wedding a few months earlier, Jim and Sharon decided to stay in southern California for the holidays so it was just the three of us for Christmas Eve. I sort of felt sorry for his mom not having anyone there but her one son. Still, seeing the two of them making out on the couch after eggnog was more erotic for me to watch than I think they'd intended.

This year I got an email from Sharon telling me that she and Jim would be arriving Saturday morning and staying through Christmas Eve to return on Christmas day as they had to be back at work on the 26th. Well, that worked out perfect for me as it meant I didn't have to worry about any schedule conflicts.

One nice thing about them getting in a couple of days early was it allowed me some time to spend with my old girlfriend while the brothers caught up on things, well whatever it was brothers caught up on. In their teen years they hadn't really gotten along that well with Steve being so much older and always teasing his younger brother. He even had me flaunt myself and have sex once with Jim just so he would know what his big brother was getting most every day - and Jim wasn't.

Sharon stayed at our place for lunch while the guys went out somewhere. She looked really great! At the wedding last year we hadn't all that much time to talk given everything going on so this was like the first time in ages we had some real personal time together. At first we just discussed the usual things - careers, things going on in the community, even some politics. Before long we got around to the elephant in the room - her and her brother.

"So you are planning to have kids?" I asked trying not to appear TOO incredulous and disrespectful. It wasn't like I didn't respect her of what she believed, it was just I personally would NEVER have a baby with my own dad which to me would be similar to having one with your own brother.

"Why not?" Sharon asked, flipping her hair from her face, "Everyone knows we're getting married soon and isn't that what married people do?"

"Sorry but I have to ask... how did all this get started?"

Sharon smiled at me and had that mischievous look in her eyes I knew so well from back in our school days. She was always the instigator and when she got those eyes working I knew something was about to happen that I would probably regret later!

"I don't know really, it just happened," she shrugged. Then she pointed at me and said, "Actually, I would say it's YOUR fault Kelly."

I frowned and looked skeptical. How in the world could THAT be? I barely said a word to Jim back then, actually trying my best to ignore the little peeping tom. The only time I gave him the time of day was that one time we did it and that was just to mess with him. Speaking of which...

"You really don't know, do you?" she continued seeing the look on my face, "Well after what you did to him that time - which was VERY cruel of you by the way, I figured why waste my time with Steve when Jim was available."

"So just because he fucked me that meant he was available for YOU?" I asked incredulously. This sounded like a pretty tall tale, even for Sharon. "And why did it have to be a brother in the first place? You had all sorts of guys chasing you back then."

She shrugged and replied, "I don't know... maybe for convenience?"

This time I couldn't hold back and laughed. "You mean you wanted to commit INCEST because it was CONVENIENT?"

Bear in mind that Sharon has never known about me and my own dad. First, my dad and I weren't doing it back when we were childhood friends. Since I'd never really seen her since she didn't have way of knowing since fucking your dad isn't something you post on your FaceBook page. Since Steve's mother wasn't aware of it either, both Steve and I agreed that it was best that none of his family know anything, especially given his mother's firm stance on the subject.

"Hey, don't knock it until you try it," she said flippantly. I had to REALLY work hard this time not to crack a smile that might have made her wonder.

"Whatever," I said, effectively closing the subject and we went back to catching up on life in general. Then another thought came to mind...

"Ummmmm, does your mom watch you guys having sex?" I asked.

Sharon's expression was enough but she answered me anyway. "What??? Are you kidding me? Why would you ever think that?"

Then her eyebrows furrowed and she looked at me suspiciously. "Wait a minute.... are you saying she watches you guys? Is that why you wondered about us?"

I started to protest even though technically she was correct but she shut me off with an uplifted hand.

"I'm not surprised, she use to peek in on him when he would bring girls home. I caught her a few times."

Sharon sat back in the kitchen chair and crossed her arms grinning at me.

"So the sanctimonious bitch gets off watching you guys screwing. And she has the nerve to say anything about me and Jim - and we keep it private."

I was sure I liked Sharon referring to her mother as a bitch. In all fairness Marlene has always been nothing but sweet towards me but then I could see where in the heat of the moment Sharon might feel a little pissed off.

Then Sharon leaned forward and whispered, "So has she ever joined in?"

Now it was my turn. "Sharon!"

Sharon leaned back again and laughed. "C'mon Kelly, I know what happened in the basement. When they started getting all touchy feeling I pushed Steve about it and he confessed."

"Whatever... NO, she's never even said a word," I informed her.

"So she sits there and watches?" Sharon asked looking a bit taken aback, "That's just weird."

Yeah, tell me about it. That was exactly my feelings the first few times until I sort of figured her out, or at least rationalized her behavior to myself.

"Well Sharon, face it, your whole family is a little weird," I teased her trying to lighten up the mood.

It seemed to work as Sharon joined in with me. "Yeah, I guess you could say that. But then everyone can't have the Norman Rockwell family like yours."

"We're not perfect by any means," I corrected her, "Not like my parents are still together."

"Yeah, what's with that anyway? I never dreamed those two would ever get a divorce and then suddenly boom, they split. What the hell happened?"

That was one area I really didn't want to discuss. Like how to you tell a friend that you mom left your dad because he was into little girls. For that matter, imagine if I were to tell Sharon that her own brother, while not in the same league as his father-in-law by any means, was also attracted to them? What would she say if she knew that not much more than a week ago he'd played Santa for a dozen or so girls ranging from eleven to fifteen only in this case everyone was nude and the girls were sitting with Santa's hard dick inside of them as they recited their wish list?

So instead I told her in the most diplomatic terms that I didn't want to talk about it. As my friend, Sharon accepted it for what it was, or at least what she THOUGHT it was and we moved on.

***************

So it was now Christmas Eve and before heading over to his mom's place I dragged Steve to church. While my faith is be one of the foundational pillars of my life, for Steve religion isn't exactly on his to-do list. Still, he knows that there were certain times and events when attendance is mandatory and he doesn't protest - at least not THAT much. My dad and Aunt Linda joined us although I noticed somehow

Kristen had managed to find some excuse for her and her new husband to dodge things.

Once the service was over we headed straight to the house where we parked next to Sharon and Jim's rental car. I looked over at Steve and took his hand.

"You ready big guy?" I asked. I knew he was a little uptight as this would be the first time they'd all be together for Christmas in years.

"Yeah, let's get this over with," he sighed as if we were going to a funeral rather than a family celebration.

"Oh c'mon, it won't be THAT bad," I teased him, slapping his arm playfully.

"Easy for you to say. How would you feel if YOUR brother and sister were shacking up together? And to be planning on having kids? Good Lord!" he asked and then he leaned his head back with his eyes rolled up. "Yeah right, look who I'm talking to."

Unfortunately we really hadn't talked this through as in general anytime I brought up the subject of Sharon and Jim, or even anything sexual about his mother, it was like this steel door came down over his face and the conversation ended.

"You know Steve, incest really can be a wonderful thing," I said gently, squeezing his hand in mine, "Besides, you know how I feel about incestual pregnancies but it's not for us to judge. They're family so you have to support them no matter what."

He just grunted and started to turn to get out but I held him back. We needed to get some of this out of the way before it ruined the evening.

"Look, I see how you and your mom are when you're together. It's obvious you both are physically attracted to one another. I mean like you practically are doing it now so I really don't understand why you don't just stop fighting it and let nature take its course."

I held my breath, waiting for the inevitable explosion but instead Steve just sat there in silence, staring through the windshield without even acknowledging what I'd said. Well, as it's said... in for a penny, in for a pound.

"It's not your fault. It's only natural that a son be attracted to his mother... or for a mother to want the love and attention of her son - especially her first born. I think that's why it bothers you so much to see Sharon and Jim together, because they have what you want but won't allow yourself to have. Especially when it's something you CAN have as you know your mother wants it too."

Steve took a deep breath before he spoke which was never a good sign. It just meant instead of exploding he was trying to stay calm but one way or the other he wasn't happy with me.

"I really don't think this is the time or place for this discussion Kelly," he said slowly in a soft voice, "Whatever the case, what I do with my mom is between me and her. I don't do anything about what you do with your dad so why don't you give me that same courtesy? Just because you think incest is so great doesn't mean it's for everyone you know. Isn't that what you tell everyone else?"

With that he pulled away from me and got out of the truck, leaving me sitting there alone in the cold. Well I guess he told me!

****************

Once inside Steve was all smiles and it was like our conversation had never taken place. He gave Sharon a big hug and even hugged Jim although not quite as tightly as he had his sister. Steve may not want to have sex with Sharon but they always got along, or at least didn't fight.

Jim took our coats and Sharon admired my new Christmas dress that I'd worn to church. It was deep red and went around the back of my neck halter style, tied up under my boobs so it lifted them up and helped bulge my cleavage out through the deep cut in the middle. From there it hung tight to my midsection and hips before loosening up slightly down about mid-thigh.

"Nice," she said approvingly, "And you wore THIS to church?"

I nodded and she shook her head, "Guess some things never change... except maybe your bra size. Oops, forgot... no bras, right?"

We laughed and went into the living room where someone's iPod was playing traditional Christmas songs though one of those speaker systems where you just plug and play. After some cookies, crackers and wine we took our seats with Jim and Sharon perched on the love seat while Steve too the middle of the couch flanked by his mom on the right and me on the left. Steve and I were the only ones really dressed up but then the others obviously hadn't just attended church so there really was no need.

Sharon was wearing a pair of flannel boy shorts and a cami with a glitter reindeer in front. It was tight enough to remind me of why I use to be jealous of her back in the day. She never had the really large boobs that Beth. my BFF, was endowed with but they were virtually perfect when it came to shape. Thirteen years later they were even better if anything.

Jim was in sweatpants and a plain black sweatshirt with the sleeves pushed up to his elbows. He had on thick grey wool socks which must have been more comfortable than Sharon's bare feet. The only thing keeping her feet warm was the red nail polish on her toes!

As for Marlene she was wearing what she always seemed to wear around the house, a long white housecoat that tied around the middle. It came down almost to about mid-calf and only opened up again at her neck. It looked quite warm - much more so than Sharon's skimpy outfit. Judging from the way her nipples were poking through the cami, maybe Sharon needed a robe to keep herself warm as well.

For the next hour or so it was just routine family talk with Sharon and Jim telling about their jobs, new home and friends. Conveniently left out of the picture was WHY they had sought out a new place and there was no mention of any upcoming nuptials or children. Everyone was playing nice, staying relatively neutral and safe.

"So maybe it's time to open presents?" Marlene offered and we all agreed.

Steve had brought ours in earlier in a shopping bag which I distributed to each recipient. Jim and Sharon had their own as I hadn't thought it politically correct to buy them a gift as a couple, at least not this year. Apparently Marlene had used the same logic as she handed them each a small present but gave me and Steve a single gift.

Nobody had gone overboard thank goodness. Marlene had gone the practical route, giving Steve and me bed sheets of all things. Not that we couldn't use them but still, sheets?

A little more wine and eggnog followed the presents and everyone was loosening up. I got the idea that this wasn't the first bottle of wine that had been opened this evening not to mention whatever was mixed in with the eggnog. For someone like me who normally doesn't consume much in terms of alcohol, my head was buzzing. Together with the late hour I found myself nodding and then drifting off with my head on Steve's shoulder.

I only dozed for maybe fifteen or twenty minutes, or so it seemed at the time. I woke with a blanket over me, leaning back into the corner of the couch. Rubbing my eyes, I tried to focus on the candle on the coffee table as they seemed to be the only source of illumination in the room. Sitting up, I didn't see Jim or Sharon and the love seat was empty.

As my eyes cleared and adjusted to the dim room I saw on the other side of the couch Steve turned away from me with his arms around his mother. From what I could tell they were kissing and it wasn't simple peck on the cheek from the sounds of things. I leaned over to get a better look and saw Marlene's robe was still tightly closed above the belt but with her legs crossed it had opened up to expose most of her legs up to her thighs. Steve was taking advantage of the situation – maybe he'd even helped move it up a bit, who knows? His left hand was on her upper thigh while his right was around her neck and planted on her boob through the heavy robe.

As for Marlene, she wasn't exactly just lying back and taking it all in. Twisting toward him, her right hand was firmly planted in Steve's crotch, cupping his balls and dick through his black dress slacks. Neither one of them seemed to notice that I was awake and watching but then I had a feeling it wouldn't have mattered if they did.

Oh well, it's not like this was the first time I'd seen this sort of behavior and if past experience was a teacher then I knew it was about all the entertainment that there would be. God, I wanted to scream at them sometimes as it seemed like such a silly game for them to play.

With all the wine and eggnog I had to go to pee REALLY bad which is probably what woke me in the first place. I quietly stood up and made my way to the bathroom. On my way I passed by the spare room where Steve use to sleep when he lived with his mom before we got married. Evidently it was now the guest room and had been absconded by Jim and Sharon.

"Oh yeah!" I heard from behind the door which I noticed hadn't been shut tightly.

Peering through the opening I couldn't see the bed directly but I COULD see the dresser and the mirror above it which afforded a reflection of what was going on in the bed. It had been a long time since I'd seen Sharon naked but there she was in her birthday suit on top of her also naked brother in a 69 with her knees on either side of him such that her hairy crotch was planted on his face. Oddly my first thought was surprise that she left it so bushy but then I watched as his hands were on her bare hips while she sucked on his dick – which had grown significantly in the thirteen years since I'd last had any dealings with it.

As tempting as it was, I REALLY had to go potty so I continue down the hallway and made it to the bathroom before I peed on myself – barely making it in the nick of time. Had I been wearing tight jeans instead of the dress... who knows?

As I sat on the toilet I thought about the others in the house, how my husband was making out with his mother while his brother and sister were doing the nasty in the guest room. It struck me how different it was from my own family where everyone was open and honest with one another and nobody played these sort of silly mind games. To see Sharon sucking on her brother's dick yet THEY were the ones Marlene didn't approve of while at the same time her own son was feeling her up like a football player with the head cheerleader seemed a little backwards to me. At least Sharon and Jim didn't try to pretend there wasn't anything between them. Like, what was the real difference between stroking your son through his pants or without anything in the way?

Back when I first saw Steve and his mom doing their thing it use to turn me on as I kept thinking sooner or later they would escalate things to the next level. Tonight wasn't as hot with the heavy robe she was wearing and the pants her had on but in the past the line had been much narrower. I remembered one hot summer night when she wore a loose T-shirt that didn't even make it to her belly button with a flimsy pair of panties underneath. Several times rather than the T-shirt she just had on her bra. One night for some reason she really pushed things with a sheer black nightie that only tied in the middle with a single bow with matching sheer black panties. Now you tell me what the difference is between allowing yourself to be fondled through a sheer negligee and not bothering with anything in the way at all?

For Steve it was sort of the same in that he would favor one of two extremes - loose gym shorts or boxers or tight bikini style Jockey underwear. The only thing keeping him from spilling out of the loose ones was the fact he had an erection the whole time so his dick wasn't flopping down though the openings at the legs. What worked for the loose clothes was almost too much for the tight ones as then his erection was practically pushing its way past the elastic waist band. I have to say I love seeing him in the tight pair as it outlines his manhood quite nicely!

Still, no matter how far they pushed it there was always that last line that was never crossed. Personally I don't understand how they're able to control themselves when they get so carried away. Remarkably, despite her ministrations I've never seen Steve cum as if there was some private signal between them that warns her to back off. The most ever I've seen have been some dark spots where his precum soaks through the grey bikini bottoms. The same went for Marlene. IF she has ever had an orgasm from Steve's working her boobs and clit through her panties then she has hidden it pretty damn well. Like Steve, I've noticed as few signs of wetness in her panties after he fondles her but nothing like the flood of a major orgasm.

The more I thought about all these things the hotter I was becoming and my fingers began to work my pussy as I leaned back on the toilet seat. God I was soooooo horny! For a moment I considered whether Sharon and Jim might be interested in me joining them but then Sharon had never even broached the subject. From what I could determine based on our conversations, they only had sex with each other and never even mentioned doing anyone else - boy OR girl. Sure we masturbated together back in school but then I did that with most of my friends and it never went any further to where we would touch each other. It wasn't until college (ignoring my mom and her sister) that I had actual sex with a girl where I touched her and licked her and she did the same to me.

I was on my own but then it's not like that was so bad. I LOVE to masturbate and it's all the better when you've got things going on around you to encourage your fantasies and dreams. I began to imagine myself sneaking out to the living room to find Steve's mom finally sucking on her son's wonderful hard cock, soon followed by him slipping his incestuous erection in his mother's warm wet pussy.

My pussy was SOOOOOO hot and wet! Now I was using two hand - one to push a couple of fingers inside of me and the other to toy with my hard sensitive clit. I wanted SOOOOO bad to cum and I was SOOOOO close....

Mmmmmmm, I imagined Jim fucking me, taking his hard dick in me again so many years after our first time. Only this time his sister would be watching and then I'd lick her wet pussy for the first time as her brother fucked me hard from behind. My fingers were flying on my clit as I imagined him crying out as he came in me. Once he was done I imagined crawling up onto Sharon and squatting over face as she opened her mouth and stuck out her tongue to take her brother's sperm as it leaked out of my freshly fucked pussy.

That final image of Jim's cum fresh from my pussy all over Sharon's tongue and lips set me off and I tried not to scream as my orgasm finally took hold of me. I was doubled over with what probably would have looked like pain to anyone watching but it was just the opposite - the most exquisite pleasure imaginable.

When I'd finished I wiped myself off with toilet paper and pulled my panties back up from my ankles. The pressure of the soft material, slight as it was, was enough to make me jump as it pressed on my ultrasensitive clit.

Back in the hallway I peeked into the guestroom again. Things had advanced quite a bit since I'd first looked in on them. Sharon was on her side with her left leg held up by her brother's hand as he spooned her from behind. This time I was afforded a much better view of her frontal naked body thanks to the bed lamp. Actually, it couldn't have been any better if I had posed them myself. Jim's hardened dick was slowly moving in and out of her, as if he was trying to sustain himself as long as possible and enjoy every moment. It was the sort of thing my husband or even my dad would do when they weren't in any rush but just wanted to "savor the moment" as my dad use to tell me.

A flicker caught my eye and I saw that Sharon's nipples were both pierced by small silver rings with yet another in her navel. I also was able to make out a tattoo just above the hairline of her crotch that appeared to be a butterfly. The meaning behind that was a total mystery to me.

Neither of them was making a sound other than Sharon gasping when her brother would thrust himself hard up inside of her. He would hold it there for a few seconds, pushing it hard against her as she ground her hips to move it inside of her. Her eyes were closed as she held her boob in her hand whole her brother's incestuous dick did its job.

Once again my pussy tingled and I found myself reaching for the door edge. I caught myself before touching he door and instead pressed my hand between my legs and almost gasped involuntarily. Damn I was so horny!

It certainly didn't help matters when I got back to the living room and found Steve and his mom almost in the exact same position as before only now Steve had his hand up under the bottom of his mom's robe, well up in fact. Judging from the way his mom was reacting I had a pretty good idea where it was. Marlene's eyes were tightly shut as she leaned into her son with one leg draped over the arm of the couch and the other over Steve's leg. She had her hand in his crotch, gripping what I knew had to be a massive hard-on underneath his pants.

You would think that after a year of this I'd be a little jaded from all the teasing and "almost but not quite" game the two of them played but this time in the dim light from the kitchen I had to wonder if maybe something had happened. Had the fine thread separating them from crossing the line finally snapped? Maybe the goings on between her younger kids had been the proverbial final straw.

So far the robe had kept everything of true importance out of sight. I could infer what might be happening underneath but there was only one way to be sure. I didn't even know what she was wearing beneath the heavy robe - if anything. Normally, like my mom and most woman I knew of her generation, she never went without panties and a bra but then the way things were going tonight who could know for sure?

Wow, talk about a night of temptations! Twice now I'd erred on the side of caution when it came to Sharon and Jim. I had to wonder if knowing them both so well when I was younger had anything to do with my decision. The only time I'd been with a brother and sister together for sex had been with younger siblings which was an entirely different situation. On the face of things I'd love to have a threesome with a brother and sister but there was just something about this whole evening that was too surreal, even for me.

Sitting back in the corner of the loveseat across from the couch, I watched the scene unfolding before me like I was watching some movie on the Lifetime Network. I could almost see the title scrolling through the TV guide... "The Final Temptation" or maybe "Crossing the Line". I was STILL incredibly horny and once again the temptation came over me like a tsunami to join in, just as it had a little earlier with Sharon and her brother. What if I went beside the couch can undid the robe, opening it and the caressing her boobs as my husband finally made love to his mother?

Any such thoughts were ended when Marlene took her hand off Steve's crotch and then with both hands undid her robe and pulled it open. I held my breath as she pulled it open and then I saw that true to form, she WAS wearing a matching red bra and panties set, not that there was much of either.

Meanwhile Steve hadn't taken his hand from her crotch but now I was able to see what had been hidden until now. Indeed, he was fingering her but as has always been the case, at least when I was watching. His palm was flat against his mom's crotch with his middle finger pushing in against the thin fabric. He seemed to be right over her clit and from the way she was reacting, she was enjoying every second of it.

I knew that while they may not have sex, there was no way that this time she wasn't going to cum. Maybe Steve would along with her as he certainly seemed close from the way he was moving his hips under her touch. Either way, I barely blinked as I waited holding my breath for the inevitable conclusion.

"No!" suddenly Marlene gasped, pulling her hand from Steve's crotch so she could grab his hand and draw it away from her own. She gasped, yanking her robe back together and leaning forward. Then she looked up and our eyes met. Was that guilt I saw... or maybe a touch of anger that I was there so they couldn't finish.

"Would you like some dessert?" she asked me, running her hand through her hair to straighten it out and then tying her robe back together again.

I was totally caught off guard by her question and just sat there dumbfounded. Like, how do you go from the brink of an orgasm to being the hostess as if nothing had just happened?

Just then we were joined by Sharon and Jim with Sharon now in a long terry robe with Jim in pajama bottoms and a T-shirt. Both were barefoot and both had the look of someone who was well-satisfied.

"Someone say something about dessert?" Jim asked as Marlene left Steve on the couch and headed for the kitchen.

As we walked into the kitchen, Sharon moved up close to me and whispered in my ear, "So did we miss anything?"

I looked at her like I had no idea what she was talking about but I wasn't following her. She winked at me and took a seat at the table.

We left soon after and made it home without a word about what had happened earlier. The self-imposed silence continued when we got home and even as we started to make love in bed.

"Steve...," I finally started to say as my husband mated me.

Steve somehow seemed to know what I was going to ask and he just shushed me as he pumped me in a simple missionary position. As he came in me I just laid back with my legs tightly wrapped around my wonderful husband. Yes, of everything that had happened today, THIS was by far the best moment!

3. Christmas With MY Family - Act One

Christmas morning arrived and thank goodness we'd set the alarm or most likely we'd slept in until past noon. It was going to be a hectic day and that meant getting an early start.

Assuming things went as planned today would be the equivalent of a three act play. Act One would feature just me and Steve as we celebrated Christmas between just the two of us. Act Two would be a quick stop at my dad's house to maintain our Christmas traditions. Finally Act Three would be at my Uncle Jim and Aunt Shari's house as it was their turn to host the annual Christmas party for my dad's side of the family.

Act One was simple. Sure I had a number of traditions dating back years, I think it's important that Steve and I establish some of our own. One year doesn't make a tradition so if I was going to get things established then it would have to be a continuation from last year which meant sex by the Christmas tree.

"C'mon!" I extolled my husband after he'd shaved and brushed his teeth. He was about to step in the shower but I knew that was just a waste of time.

"What the...?" he questioned me as I dragged him out of the bathroom towards the living room. We were both stark naked and the apartment was a bit chilly but that didn't matter. If my plans were carried out we'd be heating things up pretty quickly.

Once by the tree I saw the drapes were open and theoretically anyone could be watching us but with the lights out and the glare from the outside that wasn't very likely. Besides, who cared? Wrapping my arms around his neck, I jumped into his arms and my legs circled his waist and I locked my ankles as his hands reached down and cupped my buttocks. We kissed and then I grinned at him.

"Remember what we did last year for Christmas morning?"

I knew he must remember every moment but he tried to pretend he had to think about it and then his face brightened.

"Ohhhhhh, so THAT is what this is all about."

I kissed him as a reward for answering correctly. "You know, if we do it two years in a row then that makes it a new tradition."

Steve shook his head at me. "You and your silly traditions."

"Hey, they're NOT silly," I protested playfully, "Now fuck me."

He did!

Sometimes it's WHERE you fuck someone that makes it memorable. I'll never forget the time my dad took me from behind as I stood out on the lookout point overlooking the city the night my dad took me out to dinner. It was chilly and I had just raised my dress up enough for him to pull my thing aside and get in me but it was enough. Grasping the railing in the darkness I leaned over and felt him thrusting into me, seemingly oblivious to the traffic behind us. Sure we'd been in this position before - I mean our sexual position, not geographic, but never at this particular spot. THAT is what makes that particular time stick in my mind so brilliantly.

Such it was this morning with Steve. As I laid on the floor under him with my head at the edge of the tree I smiled - yes because I love anytime my body is joined with my husband's, but also because I knew that we would be doing this next year... and the year after and then who knows for how many years after that.

As my tongue licked off Steve's dwindling cock, savoring the odd mix of male and female cum, he leaned back on his hands on the floor as I lay between his legs.

"Well, NOW can I take a shower?" he said playfully as he lifted up one hand to run his fingers through my rumpled hair.

Actually we both needed a shower but I knew if we got in together that we'd never get to my dad's on time so I took mine first to allow me to fix my hair when he took his.

"So what are you wearing to your dad's this morning?" Steve asked as he shaved, "Or just a coat?"

"Steve!"

He laughed at my protests but it made me feel good to see him in such good spirits considering what was coming up next. While Steve supported me when it came to my obligations and duties as my father's daughter, it's not like he especially is thrilled by it and usually tends to avoid the subject. Even an oblique reference such as this was a positive sign.

I opened the closet and took out a dress covered in a plastic store bag.

"Ready?" I asked him as I posed like a game show model about to show what was behind the curtain.

"Well frankly I think you're looking just fine in that!" he said grinning at me.

He was referring to the bright red lace bra and panty set I was wearing. As I'd put it on a few minutes earlier, I couldn't help but think to myself how it was similar to that which his mom had been wearing the night before. Of course my boobs weren't the size of hers but I knew my ass was a whole lot tighter than hers. Hers had been on the skimpy side but mine was downright scandalous - at least to some people.

Unfortunately I was barefoot but at least I had on the gold rope ankle bracelet on my left leg. Still, I knew that if I had on my matching new pumps that my legs would've looked better - not to mention a little tightening of my ass which never hurts. Still, Steve didn't seem to mind from the way he kept staring at me.

"Tada!" I giggled as I pulled off the plastic. At first I could see in his eyes that he wasn't quite grasping it but then he made a good effort to pretend he did.

"Oh wow, that is hot!" he tried with obvious lack of any real feeling.

"Just wait a moment," I assured him as I took the dress off the hangar and pulled it on. Straightening it out, I reached in the closet for the box with my new shoes and quickly slipped them on.

"Well? Better now?" I asked as I put on my best modeling pose with hand on hip.

NOW I had his attention.

"Whoa!" he whistled, "You're wearing THAT to your family thing today?"

"Why, does it make me look fat?" I asked, checking myself out in the mirror.

The dress was pure red like my Christmas Eve one but other than that it was a completely different style. This one was a sleeveless number that came around tight under my arms with the one inch shoulder straps wide out on my shoulders to allow for a wide opening in front. It was cut extremely low which allowed for a LOT of cleavage AND upper boobs to show. From there it was tight all the way down to the high cut hem that covered my butt completely but not much of my legs. It was the sort of dress that you didn't spend a lot of time sitting down while wearing it.

Steve wasn't stupid so he knew better than to answer that question. Instead he came over and kissed me, his hand exploring the bottom of my dress. I reached behind me and pushed his hands sway.

"Down boy!" I teased him, "We're late enough as it is."

4. Christmas With MY Family - Act Two

It didn't take long to get to my dad's. All the way there I grew more and more excited like I was a little girl again. What did my dad get me this year? I knew it would have to be something special.

"So how long do we have to stay at your dad's?" Steve asked as he drove.

"I don't know, I guess it depends on what he gives me this year," I answered. I knew where he was going with this. It was about as close as he could get to saying he wished we weren't going without causing trouble.

"You know my Aunt Linda will be there," I pointed out the obvious. Of course she would be there - she lived there.

"Whatever," he mumbled under his breath. Boy, he must be really up tight this time. Normally all I had to was hint about my mom's sexpot sister and bingo, he was up and ready.

Thankfully we arrived at my dad's place before things could get out of hand. Steve parked at the top of the driveway meaning we would enter through the front door instead of driving down to the bottom with the basement entrance.

"Merry Christmas!" we were greeted by my aunt at the door.

Oh wow, it was just like her to dress up like one of Santa's helpers at the mall. She even had on the silly hat. Only rather than wearing green tights she had on black fishnet thigh-high hose with stilettos in lieu of elf shoes. It was easy to see where the hose ended as the outfit only came down within a couple of inches of the elastic tops. Also, if the Santa helpers at the mall wore outfits cut as low in front as hers there would be a lot more fathers taking their kids to see Santa! All in all she didn't look bad for a woman in her mid-forties, not bad at all!

"Too much?" she said with a grin that belied any concern on her part. Yeah, like she was worried about THAT. Well, at least she was wearing clothes which was always a 50-50 things anytime I came over.

Steve helped me off with my winter coat and my aunt stood back with her hands on her hips taking in my own outfit.

"Now THAT is what I call a Christmas dress," she said admiringly, "Love the ankle bracelet by the way - didn't your dad give you that?"

I nodded adding, "Yeah, it was a Christmas gift."

"Well come on in then... you're late you know," she said as she led the way to the downstairs family room where the tree was set up.

My dad was waiting for us looking like he'd not woken up himself all that long ago. He was wearing his favorite around-the-house sweatpants and a Steeler sweatshirt with a pair of warm slippers.

"Merry Christmas daddy!" I greeted him as I rushed to give him a kiss and a hug.

"Wow, love the dress Kelly," he said when our lips finally parted and he stood back to take a closer look at me.

"I bet Aunt Shari's gonna love it," I said teasingly.

"Oh so you're planning on wearing it this afternoon as well?" he said with a look of surprise. "You know that someday your poor aunt's going to have a heart attack or stroke thanks to you."

We all laughed and took seats with me and Steve on the couch, my dad in his recliner and my Aunt Linda in the matching one next to it. For a brief moment I remembered how it use to be my mom sitting in that chair and now to see her sister in her place seemed a little sad but I guess that's how things work out sometimes.

We WERE running quite a bit late so we got right down to the gift exchanges. There weren't all that many as we'd agreed long before to limit ourselves to a few token items more in spirit of the season than anything expensive or big. Most were gag gifts, like my dad giving my aunt a new vibrator - she was into them as much as my mom had been.

Finally it came down to one gift under the tree - wrapped in pink paper with a red bow, the same as it was every year for so long now. It didn't need a tag on it to say who it was for, or who it was from for that matter.

"Looks like there's one left for Kelly," my aunt said smiling at me. Then she got up and stood in front of Steve and extended her hand.

"C'mon stud, let's head upstairs and leave these two alone."

Steve quickly got up without any hesitation as if he'd just been pardoned and couldn't wait to leave. While he didn't know what was in the present, he certainly knew what it meant to me and more or less what it would entail.

I tried not to frown as once more I wished my husband wasn't so weirded out by my relationship with my father. After what he'd done with his mother last night it seemed a little crazy that he couldn't deal with me and my dad having sex. Well, at least he didn't do anything to oppose me either so I had that to be thankful for.

He looked a little sheepish, almost like a boy caught with his hand in the cookie jar. "That was sort of the general idea I guess."

"Wait a minute then," I said as I took the box and quickly headed up the stairs into the kitchen hallway. My pussy was tingling as the idea of what I was about to do ran through my head.

Once upstairs I didn't see anyone but I could hear something in the living room so despite my rush to get back to my dad I took a peek just to check things out. Sure enough, there was my husband sitting on the sofa by the window with his pants and boxers down at his ankles while a sexy Santa's helper was bouncing on his stiff dick. She'd pulled down the top to expose her boobs to him and he had his head buried between them as she pulled him into her chest.

It didn't appear they needed any help from me so I quickly took off my dress and thong and laid them carefully out on the kitchen table. I chose to keep on my pumps and ankle bracelet - the bracelet as it was a past Christmas gift from my dad so it seemed appropriate to leave it on. I already was wearing a simple gold necklace but it was nothing compared to the quality of the one my dad had just given me, nor did it have a diamond cross so it went to the wayside as I fixed the clasp of my new one behind my neck. The cross dangled down just above my cleavage as my nipples poked out nice and hard from the cool air.

Taking a deep breath, I slowly walked down the wooden basement stairs as my dad turned to observe my approach. I felt like a Miss America contestant making her way to the stage as my "judge" monitored and evaluated my every move. Strutting my stuff, I eventually stood in front of him and "modeled" my new outfit - so to speak.

"It looks perfect on you," he said softly, almost inaudible even in the silence, "But then again, YOU look perfect."

"Oh daddy, I don't know what to say... it's so beautiful!"

My dad then grinned and sat back in the recliner. "You don't have to SAY anything," he said directly to me as he pulled his sweatpants down to his ankles.

I couldn't help but smile at his lack of subtlety. Well, he'd behaved himself pretty well so far so I couldn't fault him for finally caving in to his carnal instincts. After all, if I was ever to stand all but nude in front of a man wearing nothing but a necklace around my neck and ankle along with a pair of four inch pumps and he DIDN'T react then my life would pretty much be over!

"Hmmmmmm, so what does my naughty daddy want for Christmas?" I said as I turned slowly in a circle to show him my bare butt once again.

"That's simple... What any father with a daughter like you would want," he answered but it wasn't enough for me.

"Tell me daddy, tell me what you want," I almost pleaded with him, "Tell me how to please you. I want to make you happy."

That was when it happened, the moment I was waiting for. Up until now anyone watching or listening to us would have just seen some playful flirting and teasing - putting aside the fact I was naked in front of my dad while he had his pants down to his ankles But now... now it was different. It was like a switch was thrown and something happened to my father, like some spirit had possessed him. It was the way he looked at me, the way his face was suddenly almost expressionless. His eyes were the most telling with the way they seemed to almost penetrate me with pure lust and desire.

It was times like this when I felt like my father REALLY wanted me more than anything else in the world. When I knew he desired me in a way different from any other woman, even my mother. I was the object of his most base sexual instincts, the focal point of his need for sexual gratification.

I'll never forget the first time I saw him like this - it was the first time he fucked me. As he entered my bedroom that fateful day it was like he transformed before my very eyes like some cheesy werewolf movie. One moment he was the smiling playful father at my doorway and then suddenly he was replaced by this hungry lustful man thirsting for my sexuality as he prepared to take me for the very first time. What REALLY made it erotic for me was I knew once he reached this stage there was no turning back, no telling him no. We WERE going to have sex - period.

"I want to fuck you," he almost growled as he reached out for me, "God you're so sexy... so hot... so damn fuckable."

Smiling now I stepped in between his legs as he grabbed me by my bare hips and pulled me in closer. He leaned over so my boobs hung in his face and he took each nipple in his mouth and bit it softly, then licked it and sucked on it.

"Fuck me daddy," I whispered in his ear, "Please fuck me... I'll do anything for you... ANYTHING!"

As I submitted myself to my father I thought that this is what "true" submission is all about. It's not domination or anything kinky. No leather or whips. No slavery or nonconsensual acts. Submitting yourself to someone totally and completely is the nudge him until he was just in the right position and then I lowered myself down onto him until I was squatting on his lap.

"That better daddy?" I giggled as I ground my naked bottom onto his lap.

He could only moan which was good enough for me!

Rather than bouncing on him I just rotated my hips around him, grinding my pussy down onto his crotch as his coarse dark pubic hair acted almost like a brush against my shaved pussy. Now and then he would thrust up against me, more like an involuntary reaction as he enjoyed feeling himself inside of me.

"I love my new necklace daddy," I said as I held it out from my chest to his face, taking a brief pause and just sitting there mounted on top of him.

"I love more who's wearing it," he replied, giving me a little extra boost as he thrust his hips up once.

"Mmmmmmm, you feel so good in me daddy," I whispered into his ear, "I love it so much when I feel you in me this way."

"Lean back.. let me see," he demanded.

Then he put his hands on my back to support me as I leaned back to allow us both to look down and see where his cock was penetrating me. It looked so erotic to see just the base of his dick while the rest of it disappeared between my wet pussy lips. Where the "missing" part had gone was easy for me to tell from the way I could feel it filling me up inside. Knowing it was my own father's incestuous dick filling me made it even better.

"I never get tired of seeing this," he sighed as I reached down to play with my clit while he watched. I groaned as I reached orgasm quickly and cried out to him.

"Fuck me... fuck me daddy oh fuck me more," I pleaded as I began to shake and shiver as if suddenly I was freezing cold yet if anything, my pussy felt like it was burning up! Each time giving me the ultimate sign of his love for me. Giving me his love, his desire, a piece of him.

Exhausted, he couldn't hold himself up any longer so he flopped over onto his side and then his back, gasping for air and sweating profusely even though the basement was the coldest room in the house. I turned on my side, pressing up against him so my boobs were against his side and my leg was draped over him so my sperm-filled crotch was rubbing up against his hip bone.

"I love so very much daddy," I said softly as my fingers ran over his hairy chest as he fought to catch his breath, "I love being your daughter."

We both must have fallen asleep because it was like moments later that someone was nudging me. At least it seemed like moments to me.

"Hey you two horny toads, we're late already and you haven't even showered yet."

My eyes struggled to focus but I had no trouble identifying my aunt as she leaned over to poke me again.

"That's it... up and at it," she pestered me, "Steve and I are done so the bathroom's all yours."

After all these years I still never understood why my dad hadn't put in a second bathroom. Sure there was a toilet in the basement but that's all it was - commonly referred to as a "Pittsburgh toilet" as it was the practice back in the old days to include the appliance in the basement of multi-story homes. At least this one had been enclosed by plywood walls. I'd been in a number of homes where it just stood out in the open like a throne.

I struggled to my feet, feeling a little unbalanced as if I'd been drinking but after a few steps everything was OK again. Walking up the stairs, I looked back to see my aunt working on my dad. Good luck with that one! When he was out like this after sex I knew sometimes he could pass out for hours.

Opening the door to the kitchen I stepped out and saw Steve seated with a cup of coffee. He was dressed and looked sharp in his new Christmas slacks and long-sleeved shirt.

"You're dripping," he said casually as he took a sip of coffee.

Like I didn't know. My dad must have been saving up a good load or he was just extra horny as it was like my pussy had been flooded with sperm. I guess it's a bit ironic that after all that it took to get it up inside of me simple gravity was enough to get it back out.

So anyway I just gave him a eyes-in-the back-if-my-head look and ignored him. I was headed for the shower so what did it matter? It wasn't like I was going to the Christmas party with my dad's cum running down my leg.

"So what did he get you to wear this year?" Steve asked me before I could leave for the stairs to the second floor.

I reached to my chest and held out the diamond for him to see. His eyes bulged a little when he saw all the diamonds. Then his mind started to work...

"So THAT was what he bought you to wear? Just that?"

I just giggled at first and then said, "Well, why else would I be nude running round the house?"

Steve just shook his head as if he wasn't going to play the game but then he said, "Just figured your outfit must have gotten lost along the way."

That was often true but not today. No matter, there was no need for debate. I just flipped my hair back and gave him a quick peck on the cheek before heading up to shower and clean up. I didn't tell him that I'd seen him and my Aunt Linda together but then what would be the point? Not like it was anything new for any of us. Granted, I actually rarely saw them together as usually I was doing my dad at the time.

Somehow or another we all got ready without any further "distractions". My dad offered to drive us all over in one vehicle but Steve preferred driving us in his pickup. He didn't say so but I got the idea he was hoping to get out sooner than my dad and wanted the flexibility in case the opportunity arose.

5. Christmas With MY Family - Act Three

Now for the final act - the annual family Christmas ritual. I don't ever remember missing one and for the most part, nobody else did either. The usual suspects were:

husband - Steve (29)
dad - John (48)
aunt (mom's sister) - Linda (44) cousin - Kristen (25) married to Ben (42) uncle (dad's brother)- Jim (46)
aunt - Shari (45)
cousin - Rick (24) cousin - Kate (22)
cousin - Tammy (20)
uncle (dad's brother)- Paul (55)
aunt - Julie (53)
cousin - Laura (29) married to Alan (31)
cousin - Ginny (34) married to Bill (36) with Katlyn (13)

Unfortunately my mom wasn't going to be there. Technically my Aunt Linda and Kristen weren't part of my dad's family but they had started coming after the divorce. I'm sure it caused plenty of gossip, especially between my other aunts. Since both my uncles had long histories with Linda going back to their high school days they didn't seem to mind - imagine that!

Over the past thirteen years or so a lot has happened that isn't public knowledge or even known by everyone in the family - not even half of them actually. For instance, the fact that my dad has sex with me is only known amongst my immediate family (of which I tend to include my Aunt Linda and Kristen now). Both my uncles know of course as they've both fucked me but interestingly nobody else knows my Uncle Paul has done me. Granted it's only been a few times but as was the case with my mom, we've kept it just between us. Heck, not even my husband knows! I guess since my mom kept things discreet that I sort of felt obligated to follow suit.

Nobody else in my Uncle Paul's family has a clue about any incestual activities and would likely be shocked to the core if they did. I mean like it's one thing for me to flirt and flaunt myself but that I would be fucking all three brothers... not a chance - at least in their minds.

Uncle Jim and family is another story entirely but vastly more complicated. Without going into all the details, over the years I've done both my uncle and cousin Rick although neither of them have done me now in a number of years. Frankly, Uncle Jim is an asshole and the only reason I ever did him in the first place was so he would let my dad fuck his youngest daughter - my cousin Tammy. My dad actually took her virginity when she was fourteen thanks to me - sort of payback for me not letting him do me at that age. Long story but it's in my diary for anyone interested.

Now Tammy's in college with a serious boyfriend (again) and so far as I know her past dealings with her brother and his friends are only in the history books. Of course my horny husband has shown an interest in her and once I thought they might get it on but that sort of fell through at the last minute. Not to say he wouldn't do her in a heartbeat!

As for Tammy's sister Kate, oh boy. Talk about a clone of her mother! My Aunt Shari is the type that gives Christians a bad name - obnoxious, closed-minded, intolerant and condemning. Considering my uncle use to be quite the horny dog I still can't figure out why he married such a shrew. All my life she gave my mom heck over the clothes she let me wear and those weren't even my naughty ones!

Such was the case with Katlyn and her dad. Bill was a great father and husband but I couldn't imagine him ever fucking Katlyn - not ever. Then again I have to wonder if people looked at me and my dad back when I was a teen and said the same thing about us? Really, does it matter?

We were probably an hour late by now so everyone was there when we arrived. My Aunt Sheri and Aunt Julie were already on less than amicable terms with Aunt Linda and for whatever reason they seemed to put the blame on her for us being late. I started to say something in her defense but Aunt Linda put her hand on my shoulder and I got the message - live to fight another day.

The REAL ire from them was reserved for me though. I can't say I hadn't expected it and to some degree I'd sort of gone out of my way to ask for it. From the moment I saw my dress in the store the first thought in my head was wondering how they would react to seeing me wearing it in front of everyone - especially their husbands. Now just imagine if they knew both of their dutiful husbands had fucked me a number of times over the years. Oh wow, that would REALLY be something special to behold.

It started from the moment I took off my coat and handed it to my wide-eyed cousin Rick. I barely had time to turn around before I was eye to eye with Aunt Shari.

"Really... I mean really Kelly, do you think that's appropriate for a family gathering? You look like the office slut."

Maybe not in the same words but had anyone asked me to predict her reaction I think I would've nailed it. It took all my willpower to keep from grinning and tell her that this was exactly why I wore it but then she would have gone ballistic, I'm sure. Instead I appeared shocked at her accusations.

"Well I thought it looked good on me and after all, it's red, isn't it?"

"Yeah, like a red light district," she muttered shaking her head as she turned and stalked back to the kitchen.

I don't know why she even tried anymore. For years she bitched at my mom for the bikinis she bought me and the skirts I wore and none of that had any effect so why bother? Didn't she realize that the more she griped the more brazen it made me want to be the next time?

Exit bitch #1, enter bitch #2...

"Oh my god Kelly, you're NOT going to wear that?" my aunt's little clone chimed in.

I just glared at Kate. She was years younger than me and I didn't have to take her guff and even pretend to be polite.

"I guess you're right, maybe I'll just it off right now. I have to warn you though, I'm not wearing a bra."

Her face reddened and she muttered something like THAT was obvious. This time I didn't hold back and laughed in her face as I turned and went to mingle with the rest of the family, putting an extra wiggle for her benefit.

If past experience told me anything, their bark was far worse than their bite so now that they'd put on their little show I figured that would be the end of it... until the next time we got together and they were offended by whatever I chose to wear that time. Maybe a naughty string bikini? My mom had always held back somewhat in that department. She didn't mind me tweaking her nemesis with a revealing bikini but she didn't want to go overboard to the point it started raising any awkward questions - like why I was wearing things like that around my dad.

When I finally made it into the living room where most everyone was crammed in, I moved over to take Steve's arm who was already in a heated debate with Uncle Jim over who was going to win the national college football championship.

BORING!

I looked around and saw my Uncle Paul had taken up residence in one of the overstuffed chairs, working on a beer which most likely wasn't his first knowing him. I saw him giving me the once over - several times and winked at him. He grinned back at me and tilted his bottle as a salute to my dress. Odds were this party would be like most where I got away with a lot of teasing and flirting but when it came down to it nothing all that special would happen. Still, it wasn't that long ago when dear old Uncle Paul had fucked me over at his place during Easter. Of course then the weather was warmer and we'd gone out to Steve's truck to do it but it still counted.

A number of folding chairs had been set up to accommodate everyone so I gingerly sat down, trying to keep my dress pulled down to where my thong wasn't visible. With my legs crossed it drew up quite a ways but nobody seemed to mind.

"Hey Kelly!"

I glanced over and saw Katlyn take a seat next to me. She was all dolled up in a pretty dark green skirt with a white sweater and white tights. As usual, the skirt came down to her knees and the sweater up to her neck. Still, she was finally at the point where even all that wasn't able to hide her budding breasts that were just enough to create a bulge in her chest.

"So what did you get for Christmas Kelly?" she asked. I showed her the necklace around my neck and her eyes widened like she'd seen a flying saucer.

"Wow, that is so pretty," she exclaimed, reaching out to touch it as if she couldn't believe it was real, "Did Steve give you that?"

I shook my head and explained that it was a special present from my dad. She smiled saying something about wishing HER dad would give her something so nice. I could have easily told her that he probably would if she sucked his dick as well as I had my dad's earlier but somehow that one didn't actually make it past my lips!

With that she was off to make a nuisance of herself in the kitchen, leaving me sitting there alone for the moment. One thing about wearing a dress like this one, you don't get up and down any more than necessary!

Just then my cousin Tammy came by. Wow, I hadn't seen her since summer and she looked great - as always. Surprisingly her boyfriend apparently wasn't with her.

"Hey Tammy, how's school?" I asked. She was a nursing student working for her RN the same as my mom.

She took a seat next to me and we talked for maybe fifteen or twenty minutes about school - hers and mine. God, it seemed like so long ago that I'd taught her to masturbate and eat pussy. Come to think of it, it WAS a long time ago and for a moment I felt so old!

We were interrupted by a call to dinner. Everyone took their places and my Uncle Paul said grace. I was seated next to Steve on my left with Tammy to my right. Thankfully with the long tablecloth and the two of them on each side of me I didn't have to worry about my dress so I just let it ride up to wear I could feel the cold chair under my exposed butt. Steve's hand appeared on my thigh and I felt him run his fingers along almost to my crotch at which point I poked his arm and teased him.

"Behave!" I hissed at him although my heart wasn't in it.

Other than Steve feeling me up every chance he could get dinner was pretty much simple and to the point. The usual spread of good food and everyone overate - even me and with my dress the last thing I needed was to be bloated!

After dinner was the gift exchange. Everyone had drawn from a hat at the end of last year's gathering to determine who they would buy for the next year. The results were supposed to be secret but I think most people already knew who was buying for who by the time the event came around. I got a gift certificate to Macy's from my cousin Laura which was perfectly fine with me. Even if I didn't use it I could always re-gift it.

While both my uncles showed an interest in my dress - and what was underneath it, it was starting to look more and more like this year was going to be a bust so far as anything "fun" went. Again I felt like I was OLD! This use to be so much easier when I was younger and people didn't look for such things. Now it was like just wearing a revealing dress was as far as I could get away with and how many more years was my figure going to allow even that?

Steve was starting to get antsy and making comments about leaving when I went to the kitchen for some Diet Coke. Everything had been cleaned up with some munchies left out and for the moment I was alone for the first time all afternoon. More importantly, the constant din of numerous conversations was muffled by the walls. Ahhhhhh, relief!

"Been a while since you showed that much leg girl."

I turned and there was my cousin Rick. Actually those were the first words he'd spoken to me since I could remember. This past summer our schedules never seemed to mesh and except for our wedding over a year ago I couldn't recall even being this close to him in years.

Giving him a quick inspection I have to say one thing, Rick looked a whole lot better than I last remembered. He'd finally grown out of that geeky stage during high school, had his hair styled instead of just flying about, and was wearing a nice looking pair of slacks and a long-sleeved white dress shirt. Damn, my screwed-up cousin was a hunk!

Wow, how many years had it been since we last had sex? It was back before my parents' divorce as he was fucking my mom more than me. At that age he seemed to be trying to emulate his father which meant so far as I was concerned he was an asshole. With my mom he seemed to behave better, at least so she said. Sometime I wondered if she did it because she was horny or just wanted the satisfaction of fucking her sister-in-law's son right under her nose - either was a viable option.

I'd quite fucking Rick around the same time as I had turned away his father. Since my dad wasn't getting any of Tammy's teen pussy anymore, what was the point in degrading myself with them? Even worse, Uncle Jim enjoyed anal and he wasn't very s respectful of my wishes in that department.

So now we were face-to-face once again after years of separation. So much had changed in my life as well. I was married to start although I guess technically that didn't matter so far as Rick was concerned. Technically anything with him was covered under the incest clause to our marriage so Steve really didn't have any say one way or the other. Of course I would never abuse that right but even so...

"So you like my dress?" I asked him, showing off a little.

"Like you have to ask," he chuckled, "I think dad hasn't taken his eyes off you since you came in wearing it."

He moved in a little closer, glanced around to see that we were still alone, and then said, "You know, it's been a long time."

He didn't saw WHAT had been a long time but then what else would he be talking about with me? It wasn't like we were close friends or anything. Sure we'd had sex but that was all it was - sex for the sake of sex. I just licked my lips once and leaned back against the counter, waiting to see where he was taking this.

"I bet nobody would notice if we disappeared for a few minutes," he suggested, the hidden meaning in his words not really hidden at all.

"Oh? And just where would THAT be?" I said teasingly. No sense in making it TOO easy for him. What the heck, make the guy work for it at least. It wasn't like I was worried he would quit trying.

"Right here if you can handle it," he teased me back. Yeah, like I was going to suck him off in the middle of the kitchen. Now his bedroom was a different option...

Funny, but had anyone suggested the idea that I might do anything with Rick ahead of time I would have laughed and told them they were nuts. But the guy in front of me now wasn't the brash showoff I knew back then - not by a long shot. I felt my pussy tingle as I imagined being with him.

"Quit teasing," he suddenly said more seriously, "You were always a slut and you're STILL a slut so stop the stupid games and lets go to my room and REALLY celebrate Christmas."

"Steve's ready to go," I started to protest but he would have none of it.

"Trust me, you in that dress... this won't take long," he said somewhat self-depreciatingly.

Another quick check and we quickly made our way to his bedroom without being noticed. He closed the door behind him as I stood in the middle of his room.

"You know... It was hot fucking you back when my dad was doing you... now you're married and that just makes things so much hotter," he said as he started to undo his pants.

"So do you have sex with other married women?" I asked, not doing anything but watch him almost fall over as he tried pulling his pants off on one leg.

"Just your mom," he said with a grin as he stroked his already hard cock in front of me. "Damn she was one fine fuck. I can't believe your dad traded her in for her sister. Not that Linda is bad by any means but your mom just had more... class I guess you could say."

I probably should have defended my dad by correcting his inaccurate historical account but what would be the point? I was here for one thing so why delay things?

"So how do you want to do this?" I asked as if talking about moving furniture. "Doesn't look like you need much stimulation but I can suck you first if you want."

Rick shook his head before answering. "Nawwwwww, I'd probably blow as soon as you took it in your mouth," he confessed, "Just lean over my bed and pull up the dress."

I did as he said and heard him sigh behind me.

"You know something Kelly? I thought your butt couldn't be any sweeter but I was wrong. God almighty, now THAT is an ass!"

I just smiled and waited for him. I didn't wait long as he pulled my thing aside and quickly pressed his stiff dick up to my already wet pussy. It hadn't been THAT long since my dad had fucked me but I was ready for more.

"Damn girl, are you ALWAYS horny?" he laughed as his fingers felt the wetness of my pussy. He didn't wait but instead just pushed it in me and thrust it in deep.

"Oh yeah, now THIS is the way to celebrate Christmas!" he groaned as I gripped him tight in my pussy.

Rick had been right about one thing - it didn't take long. I mean like it was as if I was doing a sixteen year-old horny toad of a boy! I swear he didn't fuck me more than two minutes before he started to cum. I quickly twisted around and took him in my mouth, draining his load and then swallowing it in front of him.

"Damn girl, guess things have changed - thought you preferred it in your pussy."

He was right, I DID prefer it in my pussy but not now - not with this dress and thong. It was one thing to be dripping cum in front of Steve after my dad had filled me, quite another in front of the whole family after my younger cousin had done me.

I wiped a little from the side of my mouth where it had landed and then checked myself out in the mirror over his dresser to be sure I hadn't missed any. Turning back to him, I smacked my lips and replied...

"Well, a little dessert on Christmas never hurt you know."

I managed to sneak into the bathroom without anyone seeing me going from his room where in the brighter light I made sure I was cleaned off. Good thing I did as I had to wipe one long streak from the side of my neck.. Damn, when had he hit me there? I thought I had everything cleaned up and then bam, there it was where nobody could have missed it.

"Ready to go honey?" I asked Steve when I returned. Checking the clock I'd been gone for less than fifteen minutes thanks to Minuteman Rick but there must have been something about me that made him suspicious.

"I don't believe it... you just got laid, didn't you," he said in a hoarse whisper. He wasn't upset but I could tell his mind was churning trying to figure out how I'd done it.

"Later," I promised as this wasn't exactly the time and place for such an explanation.`

We said our goodbyes and ended up being the second to leave as Katlyn and her parents had apparently departed while Rick was fucking me. Rick mentioned something about Katlyn hunting for me which is why he noticed I was missing. Apparently he hadn't expected anything with Rick knowing how long it had been since anything had gone on between us.

And so ended Act Three! No quite according to the script but I wasn't complaining.

6. Christmas Night With My Husband

Wow, what a day it had been! When we arrived home the last thing on my mind was sex. Sheesh, like how many times had I been fucked today already? Still, for whatever reason Steve was in a chatty mood so I couldn't just curl up and fall asleep.

"So you're SURE Katlyn doesn't do it with her dad?"

I reached over in bed and smacked him on the arm, a little harder than I think he expected.

"Owwwwwww!" he exclaimed, "So I guess the answer is no?"

Duh?

For the moment he was quiet and so I reached down for his cock and sure enough, he was horny. So why was I surprised when he didn't give up THAT easily?

"What about her mom? Think she might be in play?"

I'd just started stroking him and was considering the possibility of blowing him but the idea of Ginny and Steve was too ludicrous to ignore. Back in her youth she was a little wilder and I'll never forget the bachelorette party she threw for her younger sister - my first as it was. But over the years she'd succumbed to what I call "soccer momitis" where the weight slowly but inexorably was added on a few pounds each year. Not much at one time but take two or three pounds times ten or more years and suddenly you're visiting the queen size racks. She wasn't FAT by any means but not exactly svelte either. In any case, I knew full well that the only reason Steve was interested in her was because of her daughter. "You just want mother-daughter sex," I teased him with a playful tug on his rigid member.

"If I wanted THAT I'd just do you and your mom," he countered.

"Yeah but I'm not in a training bra anymore."

Steve brightened and said, "Oh yeah, you think she was wearing one today? I don't know... her nipples were poking out a lot more this time."

This time I gave him a harder jerk and he protested saying, "Hey, just pointing out the obvious. Not like I was the only one noticing."

Enough of this. I loved my little cousin and as much as it would turn me on to see her with Steve, it wasn't going to happen so why make him miserable wishing for the impossible?

"OK my horny husband," I said to him, "You can either keep fantasizing over what you CAN'T have or take what you CAN have right now."

Steve turned to me and kissed me briefly before touching my boob and pinching my nipple.

"Why not both?" he offered?

What choice did I have? Even if I didn't play along he'd be thinking about her anyway so better to have it out in the open.

Role-playing for my husband as thirteen year-old Katlyn turned out to be a great way to end what had been a pretty good Christmas day overall. For the most part I could say it went according to plan. Getting a quickie from Rick though had definitely NOT been anything I'd anticipated. Hmmmmmm, maybe I needed to keep in touch with my only male cousin!

2013

(Jan 18) Chapter 258: Kissing Cousins

Story codes: MF inc cousin
Me (27)
Steve - my husband (29)
Kristen - cousin (25)
Ben - Kristen's husband (45)

Growing up like sisters, Kristen and I have always shared most everything - clothes, makeup, and boys. Most of that has dwindled away over the years but every now and then it includes our husbands...

1. Growing Up With Kristen

I was raised an only child which has its pros and cons. From a purely selfish perspective, I got mostly everything I wanted without having to share anything with siblings. Paying for only one child to go to college is a lot easier than three and so there were more financial options, allowing me to attend the institution of my choice. There was no time that this worked out better than during Christmas. Was I spoiled? Of course I was and hopefully without sounding TOO self-centered, I don't mind saying so.

The flip side of the coin showed its face more as I got older and realized what I was missing. Sure as youngsters almost all brothers and sisters fight and don't get along but as they get older and mature typically they become best friends and confidantes. There were times growing up when things weren't going all that well for me when it would've been nice to have a sister to turn to for help and even at times when things went well. Having a big brother to watch over me at school would've come in handy more than once.

One thing that helped compensate for a lack of a bigger family was my Aunt Linda and her daughter, my cousin Kristen. Kristen lost her father when she was a toddler which meant she had to grow up never knowing what it meant to have a father. Not only that, she was also an only child so really who am I to complain about not having a brother or sister when I'd been blessed with such a great father?

My Aunt Linda is two years younger than my mother, just as Kristen is almost two years younger than me. With Aunt Linda deciding not to marry again, the two of them more or less took up residence with us. Thus while technically they lived a few blocks away, in more practical terms they seemed to spend more time at our place than theirs. Kristen was in many ways more of a sister to me than a cousin, especially in comparison to my other cousins who I only see now and then, usually on special occasions.

It wasn't until my later teen years that I learned the complete story behind WHY my aunt chose to be at our house so much. Once my father started having sex with me when I was sixteen, my mom filled me in as to what had literally been happening right under my nose. I guess it goes to show how you can miss even the most obvious goings-on when you don't know to look for it. Then again, how many girls would suspect that her favorite aunt wasn't just talking real estate issues when she came over to talk to her dad in his office? Like why would I even THINK that my dad was having sex with my mother's sister, especially knowing how firm my mother was when it came to issues like adultery. At the time, of course, I wasn't aware that sex within your marriage family wasn't adultery but again, there was no reason for anyone to explain that to me.

Kristen and I always seem to be together growing up and often that meant getting into trouble together as well. I like to tell people that Kristen was usually the instigator when it came to us being naughty but I can't say I was all that hard to talk into doing such things. I WILL say that I've always been far more conservative than Kristen in many ways. First and foremost, religion plays a major role in my life whereas for Kristen attending church is something she did growing up because her mom made her go. Now that's she married and on her own without her mother's daily influence, the only time she attends services is usually as a favor to me. Like she and Ben wasn't even married by a pastor but instead they just went to the courthouse and bingo they were legally married.

Another way we're different is to the number of sexual partners we've each had. Not counting parties I've had one-to-one sex or at most a threesome with over fifty men, probably closer to 100 these days. If you include the anonymous quickies at various parties I've attended then that number shoots up past 300 or more but that's because there might be dozen or more at one time. As for blowjobs, I really have no idea but it's well into the hundreds. Heck, I blew dozens of boys before I even graduated from high school and like to think I had a pretty darn good reputation when it came to my skills.

While I'm no slouch in the sex department, Kristen makes me look like a virgin in comparison. Whereas I was willing to blow any boy who dated me, I usually drew the line when it came to actual sex and reserved that for the more deserving ones. Kristen's reputation was considerably more "enhanced" in that for her, NOT putting out on the first date was something to write home about.

In college my sexual resume was rather restricted, to say the least, because of the draconian rules regarding sexual conduct as dictated by my ultra-conservative Christian university. In contrast, Kristen's brief collegiate career at a state university was marked more by coed dorm sex parties and even her own version of an escort service until she dropped out rather unceremoniously. Upon graduation I went on to pursue a teaching career whereas Kristen turned to a so-called "professional escort service" where she made more money in a week on her back (among other positions) than I did in a year as a 4-6th grade teacher at a small private Christian elementary school. Needless to say her tally of sexual conquests skyrocketed upward whereas mine sort of hit a plateau, especially after an old boyfriend showed up in town again.

That leads to another difference between us. I'm now married to the guy who received my first blowjob and then soon afterwards took my virginity - my first crush and love. In contrast, Kristen married one of her "clients" who was married at the time he was paying for her services. Eventually he dumped his wife after Kristen "retired" so he could marry her. At least there weren't any kids involved. I mean like talk about two totally different paths to the altar! Well, at least mine actually included an altar.

Even now as married working women we lead totally different lives. I teach at the public middle school now but still volunteer at church and various civic organizations. Within the community I like to think my husband and I have earned a reputation of being a loving couple with high morals and standards. Personally I believe that to be true in private as well. For obvious reasons our more private activities, including swapping and incest (at least for me) are kept private and other than my penchant for dressing a bit more risque than most people might consider "appropriate" I don't think I'm all that different from most other women my age.

Kristen may not work as a hooker anymore but even as an assistant in her mom's realtor business she puts her well-honed "skills" to work. Nothing closes a deal better than screwing the client, at least that's her motto. My aunt may have developed this rather unusual business plan but it was her daughter who perfected it. As for Kristen's public reputation... let's just say most women wouldn't let their husbands within fifty feet of her if given the choice! I may dress a little risque but she goes for the major slut look even though she's well past her "school slut" days. Then again, it's not like her mom dresses all that much more conservative.

There have been times through the years when I wondered if my sexy little cousin would ever settle down and pick one man to marry. As it turns out, while she DID marry I can't really say she picked just one guy. A perfect example of how Kristen approaches marriage was demonstrated when she first introduced me to her husband. Sounds innocent enough until you learn that I didn't know they were married until AFTER he'd fucked me. The ceremony had been private and included only her mother. Heck, I didn't even know they were getting serious, let alone engaged!

As I mentioned, it wasn't until after Ben had fucked me in front of her that Kristen informed me that I'd just taken a load in my pussy from her newly minted husband. I mean like talk about keeping your cards close to your chest! She thought it was hilarious to play such a joke on me which only goes to show her mindset regarding marriage and fidelity.

Since that first time Kristen and Ben have gotten together with me and Steve for the occasional swap. I mean like the convenience was simply too hard to turn down - no worries about getting hooked up, no security issues or privacy problems. A simple phone call or even just a knock on the door was all it took to get the balls rolling... literally.

So far as I was concerned, swapping with Kristen was fun and I knew Steve had always enjoyed fucking my cousin. Ben was a lot older than Kristen, 42 in fact making him closer to my dad's age than my husband's. Given my preference for older men when it comes to sex this wasn't anything bad so far as I was concerned. Of course the additional thrill of him cheating on his wife didn't apply in this situation. Based on her stories sometimes I think he has sex more with other women than his own wife - with her consent of course.

Normally when Steve and I swap with another couple we try to minimize the time we're all together and split off into separate rooms as soon possible while being young daughter was the ultimate fantasy. Over time she went from being pursued to being the one doing the pursuing.

Absolutely none of this was known to me until after my parent's divorce but once I was told it made perfect sense; allowing a number of perplexing puzzle pieces to fall into place. Again, like so many things in my life it had always been all out there in front of me but without any suspicion as to the shape of the puzzle there was no reason for me to suspect anything. Who would?

After my surprise introduction to Ben we didn't waste any time getting together as couples. It quickly became apparent to all of us that what we had was unique in comparison to what we did with other couples who didn't share the history we were lucky enough to have. By far the biggest element was the connection between me and Kristen which outside our mothers was without doubt the most intimate female relationship either of us shared.

Not to go off track again but this brings up another difference between us - lesbian sex. I think for Kristen that sex with girls is on par with the sex she has with men. What I mean is that she enjoys women just as much as men. Of course men tend to be more available under most social situations but that didn't mean she didn't take full advantage of any "alternative" opportunities that arose.

For me, I'm not afraid to proclaim that I enjoy the physical pleasure of being with a girl. Face it, with the exception of his dick (and that's a BIG exception) a guy's body isn't nearly as pleasurable to touch and caress as a woman's. But for the most part I like guys for what they physically do to me whereas I like girls for how they make me feel emotionally. Hence most of my female liaisons outside of parties and such tend to be with family and close friends. If you ask me my opinion, a dildo can certainly make me cum but not in the same MANNER as a real dick! Of course I'm sure Kristen would disagree with me.

So anyway, now we're both in the latter half of our twenties, married but still without children. True, we got here using totally different paths and our current lives diverge in almost every way, but we're still "kissing cousins" which has to count for something.

2. All Together

It was the new year and we were all off to a fresh start with resolutions most likely doomed from the start but still fun to at least try. Now that the holidays were over there was nothing special on my schedule for the near future. After the holiday break I was back teaching with Steve working his normal shifts putting life more or less on cruise control. Steve hadn't even gone off for any family parties with my aunt although I think that had more to do with scheduling conflicts than any lack of desire on his part. At the same time he hadn't even made any plans for us to swap. Given these usually take at least a week or more to set up, sometimes a month depending on the other couple, that meant life was going to be pretty routine for a while - or so I assumed.

OK, here are enough jokes about the meaning of "assume" so I won't go there but at the same time the reason they are so popular is because they are all too often true. Such was the case with my assumption with regards to my upcoming sex life.

Sometimes I think I must be either really naive or dim-witted. Based strictly on my own ego, let's go with naive... What I mean it seems all my life I have missed what others see instantly. Maybe it's because I tend not to look too deeply into people's motivations and take their behavior at face value. Whatever it is, the pattern has been too consistent and too extensive over the years to attribute to coincidence.

Probably the biggest example of this was in my preteen and early teen years. Despite what I now know to be obvious indications, somehow I never figured out that my dad wanted me in a sexual way. OK, so I wasn't quite THAT naive. Sure I knew that as a female I turned him on and indeed I was above using this knowledge to my advantage when it came to asking for things. But then just because he reacted as all men did when I behaved that way it didn't mean he wanted to have sex with me - or so I reasoned. Actually I never even thought of it that way. I didn't come to the conclusion that he didn't want to fuck me, I never even thought of it in the first place!

I could go on but it's just more the same - Kelly going about blindly and not seeing what was right in front of her face until someone spelled it out for her without nuance.

So you would think knowing my own susceptibility that I would be more cautious or even suspicious but it's just not in my nature. Hence when Steve approached me after he got home from work Friday night and told me to get ready to meet with my cousin that he caught me totally by surprise.

At first I figured he meant for dinner which was good as I'd conveniently forgotten to set anything out for dinner - a trick my mom taught me early in life. Then I finally caught on when he smirked and I saw that twinkle in his eye that meant he was horny, or at least hornier than usual.

"Oh!" I exclaimed, "You mean THAT!"

We both laughed as he reached forward and hugged me, kissing me as his hands grabbed my ass through my skirt before reaching under it.

"Anyplace special?" I asked him. It WAS Friday night and I had been hoping to go out instead of just staying at home.

He mentioned a club we liked to go to which usually had a great DJ and a small dance floor but still big enough to draw a small crowd. Sounded great to me, not to mention an opportunity to show off the new dress I'd bought myself over the holidays.

It was only six o'clock so we had plenty of time for me to shower and get ready. Actually we had enough time for more than that...

3. Getting Started

When I listen to the radio or read a magazine article where someone rants about how couples who swap risk their marriage or have less satisfying marriages I just want to scream. Like, do any of these so-called experts have any REAL experience or are they just basing on the people they counsel or otherwise hear from? Sure it's not for everyone just as most things in life but that doesn't mean it isn't a helpful tool for those couples who marriages are founded on personal trust and love.

From my perspective, swapping has had a positive impact on my own marriage. First, I can't imagine being limited to sex with only one man for the rest of my life. That would be like saying I could only drink one flavor of soft drinks or only drive one model car for my entire life. Face it, sex is FUN and to stick with just my husband would certainly eliminate one of the most enjoyable parts of life.

I also see swapping in a similar light to many reality shows. Like who wants to really be (or even know for that matter) the sort of families in shows like Honey Boo-Boo? As I heard one person say, "It makes me feel good about my own parenting skills when I watch that show." So too with swapping. Sometimes the best sex between me and Steve is right after we've swapped with another couple. Making love to my husband is always special but to do it after being with someone else makes it doubly so.

Of course there are some drawbacks. One of the worst things about swapping with another couple you've never met before is the anxiety of not knowing ahead of time what will happen. Will they be outgoing or introverted, kinky or conservative, into groups or pairing off?

That said, of the best things about swapping with another couple you've never met before is the excitement about not knowing ahead of time what will happen. Will they be outgoing or introverted, kinky or conservative, into groups or pairing off?

This is one reason why I've never been a fan of meeting more than once with someone I don't intend to have some sort of relationship, even if it's just to be friends. While I DO enjoy it, it's not the sex itself that gets me so excited. Face it, ANY woman no matter her age or appearance can get laid in 60 minutes no matter where she is or what's she doing IF she really wants it. What gets me exited is the newness factor, the thrill of having sex with "strange". Take that away and what's left? That is unless it's someone you actually like and appreciate for being who they are. So unless it's a couple we plan to engage in more than just sexual couplings, doing it more than once is sort of a letdown the second time around.

When it comes to my friends and relatives, it's an entirely different matter. Again, it's not just the sex itself that makes it fun although I DO enjoy it. Needless to say it's not the newness of to all as generally I've known at least one of them all my life or at least most of it. In these cases it's because it IS my close friend or family member and having sex just is one way of maintaining and strengthening our friendship and/or relationship.

It's like when me and Kristen when we shared boyfriends (or now our husbands). I LOVE having sex with my cousin because we're such close friends that it feels only natural that we should be together so intimately. The fact that we can do it in front of another guy - be it a boyfriend in the past or our husbands today just makes it all the more erotic. It's not the sort of thing I'd want to do every day but now and then it's definitely on my to-do list.

One of the good things these days about having sex with Kristen is we don't have to mess around with all the formalities and introductions. None of that silly the gamesmanship where we have to try and learn about each other and how to please the other. Indeed, I know EXACTLY what to do if I want to make Kristen cum as quickly as possible and by the same token, how to drag it out without frustrating us both. Then again, she knows the same when it comes to pleasing me. Even more importantly we know what NOT to do, the things that spoil the mood or make the other uncomfortable.

I've spoken a lot about the things I have in common with my cousin. Well, as it turns out our husbands may seem to outwardly be quite different in many aspects but it's their more hidden traits that bring them together.

For example, both of our husbands love watching their wife having sex with other men and you can forget all that crap you see on the Internet porn sites. I wouldn't classify either of them as a "cuckold" as it's not like they are being humiliated or having us taken from them. If anything THEY are the ones who push us to do it with other men and get off from watching us.

Another area of similarity between our husbands that I really get a kick out of is their blatant homophobia. Neither of them can hardly even look at another naked man, let alone foster any thoughts about sex with him. Yes, they both watch a TON of porn but they claim it's more to fantasize that they're the guy than getting of actually seeing the guy himself. One good thing about it is that I never have to worry about having to deal with a DP with either of them as I don't think they would even allow their dicks to get that close to another guy's cock.

What I enjoy about our husbands, as I know Kristen does as well, is that both guys are shameless exhibitionists when to comes to having sex. While they may not care to see other dicks so much, they aren't at all shy about anyone seeing their own or using it for that matter. Public sex? Oh yeah, bring it on. Steve LOVES me to suck his cock anytime in public where we can get away without being arrested and from what Kristen has told me, her Ben has the same fantasies. Luckily for them they each married a girl who doesn't mind fulfilling such fantasies!

As such none of us were to be satisfied just showing up at the other's place or hotel room and just have sex behind closed doors. Now maybe later... but certainly not to start things off. The fun part for me was coming up with an idea in the first place, and tonight had been no different. It's maybe one of the most redeeming points when it comes to porn, at least in my eyes - helping to suggest ideas for a fun night out.

It wasn't helping though that it was January in Pittsburgh. Fortunately we'd been experiencing an unseasonably warm spell after having just gone through a rough patch of ridiculously cold weather. I suppose years later this January would be "average" in the record books but that's because the average was of two numbers at the opposite extremes. In any case, I was ready to take advantage of the mild temperatures.

Steve was the one to come up with the idea for tonight. A hard-core porn aficionado, one of his favorite themes was the so-called "innocent" girl being "interviewed" on the street. Of course she always puts out even though supposedly she claims that she "never did this before". Even though it's all obviously posed, some of them are still pretty hot when you can see the people in the background going about their business either clueless as to what's happening or trying to appear not to watch.

Steve and Ben came up with a basic script and then we all sat down at dinner to iron out some of the details. We didn't want it to all be by the book as the spontaneity is what makes them erotic. At the same time we didn't want to be arrested for indecent exposure so SOME preparation was required. For instance, you need to find a place where people were around that COULD see you theoretically but in actually practice probably wouldn't or even if they did, might not believe what they were seeing.

Several ideas were tossed out, most with some merit but none of them hitting on all cylinders. Kristen suggested the restaurant booth thing where we flashed and sucked cock in a MacDonald's or similarly busy establishment. I was the one to shoot that one down as there were too many kids which meant if we DID get caught the odds were higher of being arrested due to the kid issues.

My idea was JCP or Macy's where we could do the infamous change room sex scene. Surprisingly Steve was the one to nix that idea reminding me of the last time we'd done that ourselves and how small the rooms had been - definitely not good for three, let alone four people.

Ben was the one that earned the prize with his idea. It was a classic porn idea but we all agreed it would be fun to play out all the same. Essentially it was where a guy meets a girl in a public place and convinces her to have sex with him nearby, typically right out in the open. Of course if there's anyone out there who believes that this girl just happened to come along and was somehow talked into doing this, then I have a great bridge to sell them in Brooklyn.

The devil, as it always seems to be, was in the details. The most important problem to face first was where to do it. With the mild weather I didn't mind being outside for a while, but not all night for sure. At the same time Kristen was pushing for something more "public" than a movie theater or parking lot. They guys... well all they cared about was sex so it didn't really matter to them!

After Steve and I had finished with our second shower (what can I say, we had the time...) I spread out my evening's "costume" on the bed. I call it that because it's something I would have normally worn to a party than out in public but then tonight was supposed to be something special.

Working my way up, it started with pure black pumps with a thin ankle strap to make sure they stayed on regardless of what position I might be in - a useful trait I'd learned from past experience. White semi-sheer thigh-high hose didn't quite hide all my legs as the red plaid skirt only came down to within a few inches of the elastic tops. A white matching thong was to be worn under the skirt. The thong was more a "normal" version rather than something totally risque - such as the ones I have with mere strings to hold them up. This one actually had a substantial amount of material - nothing even close to being classified as a panty but it covered my crotch completely.

On top I had on a white blouse that I left unbuttoned and merely tied the bottoms sides together to form a halter-like top. The black bra underneath would be plainly outlined through the thin material. Not quite a "wonder-bra", it still gave me a nice push-up look to maximize my cleavage that would be plainly visible with the open blouse. It was cut just above the nipples to allow for plenty of boob to show.

I decided to wear the diamond cross my dad had given me for Christmas and other than my watch it was the only jewelry I wore besides the gold hoop earrings. Although I didn't go for too much makeup, I DID choose a bright red lip gloss and darkened my eye shadow to give me a bit if a that school girl slut look.

I'd debated a lot about my hair and at first was going to go for the younger teenage girl look by pulling it back into a ponytail or maybe even braids. Common sense won out thankfully so I just wore it straight onto my shoulders. I suppose I could've gone out and paid a hundred bucks for somebody to add body but since I doubted anyone would be looking all that much above my chest, I figured why bother?

Steve watched me dress silently, smiling the while time as I put one foot at a time up on the bed and slowly rolled up the hose onto my leg. I saved the thong for last, teasing him with the idea that I might "forget" to put it on but then dashing his hopes at the last minute.

"Do you REALLY have to wear that?" he asked like a little boy upset that his mom had denied him something.

Putting my hands on my hips, I pretended to be exasperated and replied, "Take another look at this skirt Steve. Do you think I can really go out in public doing the commando thing with a skirt this short?"

OK, stupid question.

With the mild winter weather I forego a long heavy winter coat and instead put on a coat more suited for fall or early spring that came down about half-thigh - just enough to cover the tops of my hose and leave someone wondering if there was anything else underneath. Steve immediately pulled out his phone and snapped a shot.

"OK smart aleck, you can have THAT one but you may as well leave that home," I warned him.

"Ah c'mon babe, where's that Kelly sense of adventure?"

I flipped up my skirt playfully. "I don't know... I think this way is sexier actually. Keeps them wondering."

It was true, that WAS how I felt about it. Heck, strippers have known this secret for centuries. It's not what you show that gets guys off, it's what you DON'T show. I mean look how many strip clubs don't even allow the girls to get naked and yet men still flock to them. Even where they do allow nudity the girls don't usually take it all off until the very end of their final set. With a short skirt they wonder what's under and then when they are thwarted by the thong it just makes them want me all the more. If anything, Steve's protests were just proving my point!

"So what's Kristen wearing tonight?" he asked as he helped me with my coat.

Actually I had no idea. We had talked about a few ideas but neither of us had settled on anything last time we'd talked. With her huge wardrobe it could be about anything so even trying to guess wasn't worth the effort.

Looking at Steve, I thought to myself how easy guys had it sometimes. After all I went through preparing for tonight, he'd just thrown on some nice jeans and a shirt and bingo, he was ready to go. No makeup to worry about, legs to shave, perfume to fret over, or unruly hair to tame. A quick pass in the armpits with some deodorant, a splash of aftershave and a few runs with a comb and he was off. I mean like half the men these days didn't even shave! Thankfully Steve wasn't one of them as I hated the feel of stubble against my sensitive inner thighs.

We'd agreed to meet Kristen and Ben at our first port of call - the T-Station in Mount Lebanon.

The Pittsburgh Light Rail (commonly known as The T) is a 26.2-mile (light rail system that also functions as a subway in downtown Pittsburgh. For travel to downtown Pittsburgh it can't be beat. While usually quite crowded during the week, especially in the morning and evenings with downtown workers, during the weekends it tends to be lightly used. The station in Mount Lebanon has a large parking lot to accommodate the heavy usage and then a platform from where you boarded the train car as it came north towards the city. On Saturday nights they run about every twenty to thirty minutes which was plenty of time for what we had planned and if we skipped one of the runs, it didn't matter anyway.

Arriving at the parking lot, we spotted Ben and Kristen walking towards the station. They spotted Steve's truck easily and waved, stopping as if to wait for us. It only took a few moments for Steve to find a spot given the lot was practically empty.

"Nice hose Kelly," Ben remarked as I hugged Kristen. I knew what he was thinking so I didn't make him ask.

"Yes... I AM wearing something more than just the hose," I teased him but at the same time not opening my coat to show him.

"And what's with THIS?" Steve asked Kristen, nodding at the long coat that came to her ankles, "I think that's the least amount of skin I've ever seen you showing!"

We all laughed yet at the same time he had a point. It didn't matter what the weather or season, Kristen NEVER wore anything on her legs other than hose and NEVER wore a coat that came much below her butt, MAYBE mid-thigh depending on the style but that was the limit. Heck, I didn't even know she HAD a coat that long and I suspected it was more than likely her mom's.

"So what are you hiding underneath?" Steve continued, acting as though he was trying to pull it up so see for himself.

Kristen just swatted his hand away and grinned. "That's for me to know and MAYBE for you to find out."

Yeah, typical Kristen. Always the tease.

With the preliminary greetings over, Kristen took over...

"OK, so Ben, you know what to do. C'mon Kelly, let's go."

Kristen took my hand and led me towards the platform, leaving the guys behind. Both Steve and I had a general idea of the evening's theme but Kristen and Ben had been responsible for the detailed planning which meant Kristen had done everything if I knew her.

"This is going to be so cool," she giggled as we went up the stairs. The place was deserted and as we'd see the last train go by just as we drove in I knew it would be about fifteen minutes until the next one.

"OK, so act normal," she said as she turned away from the stairs as if to watch for the next train.

Just then one came in from the opposite direction. Ooops, being so focused on the last train I'd forgotten that they ran both ways! Just a couple of people got off and headed straight to the parking lot without hardly giving us a glance.

"Hey, you girls waiting for the T?" I heard Ben calling behind us.

"Yeah, what's it to ya?" Kristen answered back over her shoulder without hardly a glance.

The two of them were up behind us by then.

"Well my friend here and I, we're photographers and we saw you in the lot and I knew right then that you would be perfect for this shoot we have coming up."

OK, so it was a total line of crap but then it didn't matter.

"Oh really?" I said, acting as if I bought it hook line and sinker, "So what do we have to do?"

It was Steve's turn and he answered saying, "Well, to be honest it's for a summer catalog so there'll be lots of swimwear and that sort of thing. We'll need to see more of you before we can recommend you."

"What do you mean by 'more of us'?" Kristen asked, pretending to be skeptical.

Ben took out a camera and held it up. "Well, like if you're going to be modeling a bikini then our sponsors are going to want to know what they would be seeing. Understand?"

"I don't get it" I asked, looking confused, "Do you have some sort of studio?"

"Oh now, nothing that complicated," Ben said, "Just a couple of quick shots is all. We can do it right here if you're OK with it?"

"Here?" Kristen asked, "Like right HERE?"

"Hey, if you don't want to then that's perfectly OK, we understand," Steve explained, "Most girls aren't ready for the modeling profession and the demands it places on you. If you don't want to strip then that's perfectly fine, we'll just find some other girls who need a break to get into modeling."

They started to turn away but Kristen called out after them. "Wait, we didn't say no."

Ben held up the camera. "OK, but we have to hurry, the train will be here any minute now. Let's see the goods. You, the one in the white hose - open up your coat."

He pointed at me so I untied the belt and pulled it open to show them my bare midriff and cleavage.

"Nice boobs," Ben complimented me, "But the skirt's a bit too long - I can't even see your ass. You know how it is with today's swimwear - very revealing, so I really do have to see it."

Of course he did! LOL

"Whatever," I said with a shrug as if it was nothing. I lifted up the front of the skirt to expose my thong.

"Nice... turn around now," Steve said acting as director as Ben snapped shots of me, "You, lift up your friend's coat so we can see her butt."

I turned away from them as Kristen lifted up my coat and skirt with it so my all but bar ass was exposed to the guys AND the cold air. I could feel the good bumps rising on my cold butt.

"Oh yeah, VERY nice," Ben said as he snapped a few more of my ass. "Sorry.. that thong is hiding too much, drop it."

Yeah, like it was hiding a few square inches total of my ass but that wasn't the point so I dropped it to my ankles, bending over with my feet apart to show off my butt and rear view of my freshly shaved pussy.

"Better give that to me before you trip on them," Steve offered.

I stepped out of my thong as Kristen helped and she handed it over to Steve who put it in his coat pocket. Somehow I knew it was the last I'd seen of it this evening.

"Very sweet... perfect ass," Ben continued to compliment me. Then he turned to Kristen.

"OK sweetheart, how about you? It's your turn now."

Kristen glanced around as if she cared if someone was watching and then unbuttoned her coat, pulling it open when she'd gotten the last one.

"Now THAT is what I call a body," Steve all but growled as he stared at Kristen's totally nude body under the coat. We'd talked about the possibility of going naked but she'd been the one to talk me out of it and now I knew why - so SHE could be the only one.

"So do you always go around town without any clothes?" Ben asked as he snapped shot after shot as Kristen posed on the platform.

"Only when I'm horny," she answered seductively.

That was Steve's cue and he quickly pulled out his rapidly hardening dick. All it had taken was one look at Kristen's nude body and he was ready to go!

"Well, I hate to see a girl all horny with nothing in her mouth," he explained as he stroked his stiffening cock.

Kristen didn't wasting any time either, squatting down in front of my husband with her coat half open, just enough so he could see her boobs as she started to suck him. As she blew him I looked to Ben who was snapping away.

"So what's the story, don't I get any?" I pretended to complain. Actually I wasn't pretending anymore!

"Sure thing Baby, all you want," Ben answered me as he pulled out his own half erection which I took in my mouth almost instantly.

"Uhhhhh guys!" Steve warned us. He'd seen the headlight of the approaching train and in our current position we'd be in plain view of the conductor and everyone else on the train.

There was a bench off to the side and the guys both took a seat facing away from the platform. Kristen and I each squatted in between their legs and resumed our efforts. With their coats and such there was no way to actually see for sure but in our position it could easily be inferred what we were doing. There's something about a girl's head bobbing in a guy's lap that is rather unique!

The train stopped but nobody got off. There were only a few people on board and they all must've had business further north. A minute later it was gone but we continued sucking as neither Kristen or I wanted to be the first to let go of their dicks. It was always like that with us, just a little element of competition, especially when it came to our sexual prowess.

"God I want to fuck you so bad," Ben groaned as I deep throated him.

"So what's stopping you?" I teased him as I looked up at him with my hand around his wet shaft.

Ben grinned and lifted me up and then spun me around.

"I think it's time the lady took a seat, don't you agree?" he suggested coyly.

Now that my thong was safely tucked away in Steve's pocket all it took was a lifting of my coat and skirt and there was nothing between his waiting dick and my wet pussy than a few inches of cold air. Damn, it WAS cold so I was more than anxious for a number of reasons to "have a seat".

"Now THAT's better," Ben moaned as I ground my butt into his crotch, feeling his dick moving inside of me.

I look over and my cousin was basically doing the same with my husband although I noticed she was keeping her coat closed now in deference to the chilly air.

It was fun riding Ben's dick literally out in the open with the town in full view. Actually our current position was less suggestive than when we were blowing each other's husband. A BJ is unmistakable but grinding on a guy's lap doesn't always necessarily infer sex - just ask any lap dancer.

For a moment my theory looked like it might be put to the test as off in the distance I saw the headlight of the next train. Damn, twenty minutes can sure fly by when you're having fun!

"Train!" I rang out, looking over at the other two to see what their response would be.

"Screw it, we can catch the next one," Kristen said as she wiggled on my husband's dick.

True but my ass was getting cold and my whole body in general was starting to feel the chill. Yes, it might be unseasonably warm but we're still talking about warm for January - not July. So it wasn't snowing or sleeting. That didn't mean you still didn't get cold, just ask the rest of my body. The only thing hot was my pussy but then it had a built-in warmer thrusting in and out of it.

"Let's take this one," I countered. Looking over my shoulder into Ben's face, I added, "We can pick this up once we're inside and it's warmer."

Ben didn't seem to mind one way or the other as I would have expected. Typical guy, only concerned that he was getting some pussy, not where he was getting it.

I guess that's why you never see glory holes for girls. Guys are so one-track minded when it comes to their dicks they don't even have to see who's doing him, just the fact that someone's mouth or pussy is around their dick is all that counts. In contrast, the girl gets off from the situation. Yes, it's fun to suck a cock in that sort of situation and I speak from experience. Still, the biggest thrill for most girls is the setting and the circumstances, not just the piece of flesh poking out from the hole.

Kristen still wasn't convinced and I could hear the train now so one way or the other we needed to make up our minds.

"C'mon Ben," I said, sitting up and pulling down my skirt and coat, "It's too cold for me."

We were up close to the tracks but Kristen seemed determined to wait until the last minute. Sure enough, the train arrived and she was still mounted on Steve's dick right in front of anyone who might be watching. The second car was empty but the first one had maybe a half-dozen people in it, looking like a group heading for some event downtown.

Timing it down to the last second, Kristen suddenly hopped off Steve's lap, pushing her coat down as she did. One advantage of wearing nothing under it was she didn't have to worry about pulling it down or smoothing it out. The coat was heavy enough to drop down on its own and nobody watching would be any the wiser. IF they even noticed they would have thought she was just sitting on his lap to stay warm until the train arrived.

No sooner had they boarded than the doors closed and the train left the station, heading for the next stop on the Red Line - Dormont. By the time we reached it, Steve and Bob had taken their seats next to one another at the end of the car and Kristen and I had resumed our positions as well.

Pulling into Dormont for a quick stop, I was pleased that nobody was waiting to board and so the train left without any change in the passenger manifest. I loved looking out the bog windows at the traffic and people going by as I slowly rocked on Ben's cock. Actually the motion of the train added its own element to the sensations in me.

Potomac and Fallowfield were small stop so it wasn't any surprise that we just went by but South Hills Junction was a major point on the line. It was the last stop before the tunnel and I saw a number of people waiting to board meaning our private car was about to become a bit less exclusive.

Just as we stopped I lifted off of Ben's lap just enough for his dick to flop free and he quickly repositioned it inside his pants and just got it zipped again when the train came to a stop. I sat down between him and Steve but Kristen didn't join me, maintaining her position on Steve's lap. Leave it to her to push the envelope. She and Steve were wedged in the back corner with Ben and me next to them but that wouldn't keep anyone from sitting across from us.

As it was, only six people got into the car with us and there was plenty of room for them to be seated in the front half of the car as they appeared to be a couple and a group of four. They glanced back as they boarded and scoped out the available seating but if they noted anything different in the back seats then they didn't show it. I suppose it's not all that unusual for a girl to be sitting on her guy's lap, especially when it was as cold as it was.

"This is so fucking hot," Kristen whispered in my ear as she leaned over towards me.

"You're such a slut," I teased her, rolling my eyes as if I couldn't believe she was doing this. Actually I couldn't believe that I WASN'T. Wow, almost 28 and it was like I was becoming a prudish old lady!

"Yeah, I know," she giggled and smiled, looking quite proud of herself. I suppose it didn't hurt that she was doing it to my husband but I wasn't to hers. Score one for her.

4. Shopping

It was a quick run through the hill until we appeared back out in the open again at Station Square.

"Let's do some shopping," I suggested.

A collective groan from the guys but then it wasn't like they got a vote in the matter so who cared? LOL

"Sounds like a plan," Kristen agreed with me as she grabbed a pole and used it to steady herself as she stood up and let her coat fall down over her bare ass before anyone could see anything, or at least they didn't get to see much. Steve maneuvered his hard dick out of sight while I blocked it from view.

The four of us followed the others off but they never even looked back at us. Apparently either they were doing a great job of pretending to ignore us or they didn't see anything. More likely they didn't see anything but when it comes in public sex matters it's not whether someone actually SEES you that scores the points, it whether they COULD have seen you that really matters.

After the events of the past few minutes the cold air felt even chillier as we made the short walk over to the shopping mall. As always, it was filled with people shopping and eating out. Despite the wide selection I really didn't see anything that I was all that interested in, at least not until we passed by Hometown Sports, a store that specialized in Steelers wear. There was the main store but now there were also two others across the aisle that specialized in women's apparel and another for kids. Guess where I wanted to go?

"I need a new jersey," I informed Steve as the four of us approached. It was like I was ASKING for one, I was TELLING him I needed one. At the time I was holding Ben's arm while Kristen was practically welded to my husband's side from the way she was pressing in so tightly against him..

"Why? Don't you already have what... three?" Steve sighed. Typical guy, thinking women only need one of anything.

"Actually only two... and THAT's the problem," I corrected him. "They're both getting all raggedy and after that last party I never could get the stains completely out of the white one and we won't even talk about the black one!"

That brought as smile to Steve's face and I saw Ben looking back and forth at the two of us, obviously hoping for more information on the inside joke but it was his wife who filled him in.

"Oh it was nothing, she's just being a diva again," Kristen huffed, "I mean it was like ten guys so like duh, you can't expect them ALL to hit the target, can you?"

Ben's eyebrows furrowed. "Target?"

Kristen just rolled her brown eyes at her husband's naive response. At the same time I turned my head towards Ben and opened my mouth with my tongue hanging out.

"Ohhhhhh.... THAT target," he laughed as Steve just shook his head. Well, he'd been one of the ten so he should know.

By then we were in the store and I was making my way through the racks. Kristen was obviously bored and started to wander the store and I started worrying about what she might do. Hidden nudity and boredom - not a good combination when it came to Kristen and not one that typically remained stable for long.

Leaving her to her own devices for the time being, I found something my size and held it up against me for Ben to see.

"What do you think?" I asked.

Ben just shrugged but then who could blame him. I mean like how could he really say anything when I was holding it up against my coat. In any case it wasn't like it was all that difficult to buy, it was just a question of how loose I wanted it to be on me.

"Maybe I should try it on... what do you think Ben?"

Ben looked around and shook his head. "I don't think they have change rooms here."

Silly man. Of course they did but then I'd been here many times before so I knew what to look for. This specialty store wasn't half the size of the main version and so their fitting rooms weren't quite "rooms".

"Follow me," I instructed him as I headed towards the back of the store. I didn't see Kristen or my husband which made me wonder where they'd gone as it was sort of hard not to see them in the relatively small confines of this store. Well, I had my own agenda and they were big kids now so I figured they could fend for themselves.

"See?" I said to Ben as I pointed ahead.

Ahead of us was a small space that had been curtained off in the back corner with a sign that said, "Limit 2 pieces at a time." The curtain only came down to within maybe a foot of the floor so it wasn't like it was intended to be anything all that private. For trying on a jersey like the one I was carrying, though, it was perfect.

Ben helped me out of my coat and I noticed the store clerk give me a bit of a look when she saw my outfit. Whatever. She looked like she was still in high school and seemed more in interested in her cell phone than helping out anyone in the store.

Slipping behind the curtain, I removed my top and looked at myself in the full length mirror. Frowning, I reached into my purse for a brush and did my best to smooth my hair back out again. I stood up straight and turned to the side for a profile look and felt pretty good at the outline I saw. The bra did a great job of showing off my boobs to their best and I liked the way my hose and skirt were coordinated to show off about three to four inches of bare thigh between them.

"Ummmmm, Ben?" I called through the curtain, "Can you help me out in here for a second?"

Ben poke his head between the curtains saying, "What do you need Kelly?" Then he saw me in my bra and smiled saying, "Looking good girl!"

"Don't just stand there, get in here," I said demandingly, moving as far inside as I could but there was still barely room for him.

Again he just stood there like he was clueless and I was ready to slap him. God, like did I have to do EVERYTHING? Apparently so...

"Like how the heck am I supposed to blow your dick if you don't help out a little?"

Ben looked over his shoulder and then down at the floor, undoubtedly taking into consideration the fact that anyone outside could see the bottom 12-18 inches of our legs.

"Since when are you so worried about doing it in public?" I teased him softly, "You sure didn't seem to shy back at the train station."

"Yeah but there wasn't some kid sitting less than ten feet away at the time either," he whispered back.

"Oh like she doesn't know what a BJ is," I huffed, "The little slut probably blows her boyfriend ever day after school."

With that I reached down to undo his pants and he didn't make any effort to resist me. Soon I had his pants open and pulled down just enough to let his dick escape into the open. Holding it in my hand, it felt firm but not yet fully erect. I loved the warm feeling as I wrapped my fingers around it and tugged on it gently.

"Now be a good boy and be quiet," I said teasingly as I bent my knees and squatted.

There hadn't been any customers nearby when I had entered but by now some may have moved down so I tried to be careful not to squat TOO far down so my bare butt would be showing under the curtain. being so short it was next to impossible to keep it from pulling up over my ass when I squatted down like this.

Mmmmmmm, he tasted so good and his dick felt so warm and thick in my mouth. Something about doing it with people right outside seemed to add flavor as well.

"Oh god," Ben sighed softly as my mouth engulfed his shaft.

Ben placed his hands on my head, pulling me into his crotch which quite honestly I could have done without but I didn't protest. So long as he didn't try forcing me to stay down on him when I deep throated him I was OK with it I guess.

Trying to keep my balance, I put my arms around him and held onto his legs as I sucked on his dick hands-free. Looking up, our eyes met and remained locked as I licked and stroked his cock with my tongue. I know that men love me to look at them when I suck them but at the same time I enjoy seeing the expressions on their face as I work their dick. If anything, it serves me as feedback to know what he likes best. No two guys have exactly the same reaction to the same techniques so until I get to know a guy pretty well I try to keep an eye on his facial expressions to learn how to best please him. Even then he can like one thing one day and another the next so it never hurts to watch.

My knees were starting to hurt from holding myself in this awkward position of half-squatting. In any case, he was fully hard now and I had a better place for his dick in mind - my pussy.

Standing up and holding onto his cock, I leaned towards him and stood on my toes to whisper in his ear.

"Fuck me Ben... I want you to fuck me now."

Someone once asked me how many guys had ever turned me down after I'd asked them to fuck me. Well, I have to admit that I don't bat 1,000 but at the same time my record's pretty darn good. By the time I get into a situation where's its appropriate for me to ask for it (OK, sometimes not appropriate as well), the odds are he says yes.

Ben was no exception but then wasn't this the point of the entire evening?

Turning to face the back wall, I put my hands out and leaned forward, spreading my feet apart for him to get easy access. I felt his hand reach between my pegs and cup my crotch, his forefinger immediately searching for the entrance to my hot pussy. It didn't take long for him to find it and push it up into me as far as he could.

"Not your finger dammit, your cock," I hissed as low as I could yet still be heard. It wasn't that I didn't like what he was doing but there was a time and place for everything. Under the circumstance, there was no need for foreplay, I just wanted him in me!

"OH yeah, that's better!" I gasped as his finger was replaced with his hard cock. It felt so good as he pushed it up into me, bottoming out as the base of his hairy dick met my smooth butt. I loved the feel of his thick pubic hair against my ass as he ground himself into me.

"Excuse me... is everything OK in there?" I heard the store girl outside the curtain. Yeah, like she didn't know what we were doing on the other side of the curtain. One look at our feet and how we were positioned should've been enough for most anyone to connect the dots.

"It's OK," I somehow managed to get out although my voice cracked at first, "Just trying it on for size."

"Sorry, didn't mean to bother," she said and I wondered if she was standing close or had resumed her earlier seat. Did it really matter?

"It's OK, I love the way it fits me," I couldn't help but throw out as poor Ben practically choked trying to hold back his laughter.

Ben must have been turned on by the exchange because I could tell from the way his rhythm changed that he was about to cum. Yep, one thing I've gotten pretty good at over the years is predicting a man's orgasm. Oh sure sometimes I was surprised but I like to think I'm better than 90% accurate. In this case I was right on the money.

"Oh fuck!" Ben groaned as he tiered his best to keep his voice down.

Then Ben started thrusting up against me, driving his steel hard dick as deeply as he could into me each time he ejaculated inside my pussy. Over and over he shot load after load into me, the evening's events to date obviously allowing for a large load of cum to be deposited in me.

Once he'd finished he pulled out and I immediately felt a stream of cum flood from me as I stood upright. Looking around desperately, I chastised myself for not being better prepared. Then I looked at the jersey and cringed. Damn, I hated to buy it pre-stained! Fortunately Ben was better prepared - must have been a Boy Scout or something.

"Here, use this," he said as he reached into his pocket and pulled out a handkerchief. It looked new but even had it been used I guess it wouldn't have mattered considering what I'd be using it for in a few seconds.

"Thanks Ben," I said with an appreciative smile. Reaching between my legs, I used his handkerchief to soak up and wipe off the fresh cum that was now threatening to drip down my thigh. Once I was finished I held it put to him.

"Thanks again, want it back?" I teased him.

Of course I knew he wouldn't. Ben was like my husband in that he loved shooting his cum but once it left his dick he wanted no part of it. The way Steve reacted should it so much as touch him was like it was some sort of potent acid that would eat his flesh if he was exposed. Now mind you, these are the same guys that love watching men shoot cum on my face and letting loose their own spunk on my chest and ass, not to mention eating it by the mouthful, but let so much as a drop touch them and it was like they'd been bitten by a zombie. Yep, I could wash that handkerchief a dozen times and Ben would never use it again.

"Ummmmm, feel better," I said as I watched him pull up his pants and get himself back together again.

Once we were both ready I brushed by Ben with the jersey on its hangar and handed it to the store girl.

"I'll take this one," I told her as she gave me a look that told me she knew everything that had gone on. Still, like I cared? Who knows, maybe I'd given her enough incentive to try the same when her boyfriend visited her in the store next time!

As we made our way to the counter where Ben looked at me. Realizing I was making no effort to get into my purse, he just sighed and pulled out his wallet and paid for my new jersey with plastic. Like what did he expect? I hadn't paid for anything on a date like in forever so I should start now?

Having paid and walking out holding my newly purchased jersey, there was still no sign of the other half of our foursome. I looked up and down and decided the food court was probably the best option. I was batting a perfect score tonight as sure enough, the two of them were sitting at a small table out in the middle with a soft drink for each of them.

"Sheesh, what took you guys so long?" Steve was the first to say, "Did you try on everything in the store?"

"Just one thing," I said with a naughty smile as I licked my lips and looked at Ben while wiggling my hips and shifting my weight from one foot to the other.

"That's my cousin!" Kristen laughed as she high fived me.

"So what... you two just been sitting here?" I asked rather incredulously.

"What did you expect?" Kristen replied, pretending to be hurt by my insinuation, "I've just been sucking on this straw."

Unlike Kristen who could be teasing at times, Steve wasn't about to not brag about their little adventure. I guess he'd always been that way. Way back from when we first dated he was always going to school the next day and telling all his buddies about how he'd done me. I didn't mind - it gave me quite the reputation which at the time I didn't really appreciate how handy that would be later when Steve moved away.

"Kelly, your sexpot cousin here has been flashing every guy she can," he said, smiling and pointing at her, "and a few girls too."

"Really?... Here?" I came back.

OK, so with Kristen anything was possible but even for her this was a bit out in the open for such things. She wasn't even sitting at a table towards the side or back but right out in the middle in full view of everyone.

"Nobody seemed to mind," she said innocently.

Steve chortled, "Yeah, there was this one kid who I think circled by here a dozen times."

Oh well, enough of that... I was hungry and not just for dick.

5. Dinner

Station Square has a number of places to eat, most of them pretty good but my favorite place isn't even right in the shopping center but across the street - the Gandy Dancer Saloon. It was advertised as the more casual sister restaurant - the Grand Concourse to which was attached. The Gandy Dancer Saloon features a rustic atmosphere with wood plank floors and small secluded booths, perfect for an evening like tonight. There was also a long oak bar and another horse-shoe raw bar & pasta station, both with tall bar stools which had served me well in the past as well. What was also nice was it featured entertainment seven nights a week. Not necessarily the best all the time but at least it was better than canned music.

Saturday night and I feared the worst in terms of having to wait forever but our timing was impeccable. We were asked if a booth would be OK and it was all I could do not to say something like that was exactly what we wanted... and why.

This time we sat next to our respective husbands with Kristen and me taking the inside positions. The girl eating us was HOT, dressed in the usual garb of fishnet hose and an outfit more suited for dancing on the bar - which she may also do for all I knew. She offered to help with our coats which I gladly took her up on. Steve helped me take mine off and handed it to her but Kristen was sort of stuck. I wondered if she had really thought this through when she chose to go bare under the coat as now she had to wear it during dinner.

"No thank you," she said to the girl, "I'd probably freeze if I took this off."

The hostess just smiled and told her that if she changed her mind then just let her know and she'd check the coat with mine. Meanwhile was scooted into the booth as she left behind our menus and set out coasters.

"You're going to boil in that," I teased her.

Kristen just frowned at me and responded, "Well, I COULD take it off you know."

I let it drop as there was no telling what she might do if I pushed her any harder. While it would undoubtedly get us kicked out, and hopefully nothing more, I knew Kristen well enough that she might do it just to prove to me that she would do anything no matter the consequences. Indeed, while at times she would hint at some of the kinkier things she'd done during her prostitution career, I sometimes had to wonder what she wasn't telling me.

"Missed you," my husband said as he leaned over in to my ear.

I smiled and turned and we kissed for a moment while his hand found its way to my leg and worked quickly under the short skirt to get in between them. For a moment I was worried that more of Ben's cum may have leaked out but Steve didn't put his finger in me but rather just teased my clit a little. I had to wonder if he did that because he I knew that Ben had cum in me and he didn't want to get his cum on his fingers. It made me feel a little guilty as Steve WAS my husband so if anything he should not have to worry about such things, at least not on a night like tonight.

"Oh!" I couldn't help but blurt out as his finger rubbed my clit just the right way.

"Now kids, behave yourself at the table," Kristen teased us yet at the same time she looked at Ben with a "Why aren't you doing what he's doing" kind of look. I noticed that she had unbuttoned her coat up to her waist so it was only being held by the top couple.

Our waiter came by dressed in western garb. He looked to be about our age, not bad looking but nothing special. Still, he had a cute smile and greeted us cheerfully. He took our drink order to start and left.

"Wow, place is crowded tonight." Steve observed as he looked around.

"Yeah, can't believe we got a seat so quick," Ben concurred.

"Well I for one and glad because I'm starving," I added.

Kristen smirked and I reached across to slap her hand playfully.

"And what are you smirking about," I asked.

"Oh nothing," she said whimsically, "Just thought after one sausage you'd be filled for the night."

Steve's hand pressed harder into my crotch and I wasn't sure if he was being turned on or trying to stake a claim on me. It wasn't like him to ever be jealous and I knew he loved watching me being fucked so I was placing odds he would've liked to hear all the details. Well, he would but later tonight when we made love in our bed. Oh yeah, if I knew one thing about my husband it was if I wanted him to fuck me REALLY hard, all I had to do was tell him how another guy had recently drilled me.

Our drinks arrived and the waiter took our order. No sooner had he left than Kristen announced she need to use the little girl's room so naturally I had to go with her.

"God! I'm SO fucking horny," she whispered to me as we made our way through the crowd. She'd conveniently "forgotten" to button her coat so she had to hold it closed to keep from flashing the mob.

The restroom had several other women in it at the time but two of them left almost immediately leaving just us and an older woman. She was washing her hands and checking her makeup, paying no attention to us.

Kristen undid the few remaining buttons on her coat and flapped it open and shut to cool herself.

"I hadn't realized this coat was so warm," she complained.

Can't say I had much sympathy for her. Indeed, I responded with, "You know if you'd at least worn SOMETHING under it you wouldn't have to keep it on."

I glanced over at the older woman but either she hadn't heard me or just chose to ignore us. Kristen also seemed to catch the lack of response and for Kristen, nothing is worse than being ignored.

"Well I think your husband appreciated my so-called wardrobe malfunction, don't you?" she said to me but facing towards the other woman as she said it, "Especially how easy it was for him to screw me earlier. Don't you agree?"

Either it was the last straw or she was actually finished. Either way the woman hurriedly left without so much as a glance in our direction. If anything, Kristen seemed rather disappointed.

"Do you think she heard?" my cousin giggled as she nodded towards the door.

"Well duh!"

"Maybe I should have taken it off," Kristen mused, looking at herself in the mirror holding the coat back behind her such that the reflection was her nude image.

Now it was my turn to ignore her. No sense in egging her on as I knew from plenty of past experience that could only lead to trouble. In some ways Kristen was like an eight year-old boy. All you had to do to get her to do something was to dare her. I have to admit to having some of the same tendencies. Still, at least I knew when it was better to say no whereas Kristen's "moral compass" had lost its direction a long time ago, if she ever had it in the first place.

"God I'm horny," she whined yet again for the umpteenth time now, or at least so it seemed. For the moment we were alone but as crowded as the place was I knew that aberration wouldn't last for long. Apparently Kristen was thinking along the same lines albeit with a different conclusion.

"Ever do it in a restroom?" she asked me, her eyes bright with smoldering lust.

Sheesh, she knew the answer to that so why ask? I first did it in a mall men's room back when I was fifteen and many times since then. Actually, except for one notable exception in the church lady's room, it's always in the men's room as it's a lot easier and safer as well. Face it, if a guy walks in and sees a girl in the men's room, the reaction is a LOT different than a woman walking in on a man in the girl's room!

Kristen caught my eyes rolling and giggled. "No silly, I know you've done it plenty of times with a GUY, but what about a girl? I don't remember you ever telling me about that before."

As you might guess, Kristen never bothers reading my diary. Now if I had a video blog, then maybe she might but reading much of anything isn't exactly her strong suit.

Thoughts again of my one-time thing with a wife and mother during summer Bible School came to mind. God, that seemed so long ago I'd almost forgotten about it! Still, we didn't exactly have all day and the guys would be wondering what happened to us soon so I just shook my head and muttered something about another time.

"Well, WE haven't ever done it so what do you say?" she asked with a silly grin and the twinkle in her eyes she always gets when she's working on getting me in trouble.

"Here? Now?" I asked incredulously, "You're crazy."

"C'mon, before someone comes in," she urged me, stepping into the handicapped stall.

As if to force me to make a decision quickly, she dropped the coat and hung I up quickly on the hook in the stall and stood there nude in front of me in nothing but her heels.

"If you don't get in her quick someone is going to see me," she threatened as if something would happen to ME if she was caught standing there naked in the women's restroom.

I sighed and stepped in, closing the door behind me and not a moment too soon. I didn't even have it locked before I heard the door open and what sounded like a herd entering the room.

"Eat me," Kristen whispered in my ear and then she turned to face the wall and grabbed the handrail, bending over and spreading her legs, wiggling her sexy hips to tease me.

OK, so maybe seeing a girl in that position doesn't turn me on the same way it would for a guy like my husband, but at the same time it WAS my cousin and I couldn't help but feel a little tangle in my pussy. Maybe it was as much to do with all the talk going on just outside the door. I had no idea at all who they were or even what age or anything else about them, but I did know one thing, they couldn't have had a clue as to what was behind door #1.

"Why not?" I mumbled to myself.

I'd left my coat back at our booth so it wasn't like I had to worry about dragging anything on the restroom floor. If anything I was most fearful of losing my balance and touching it as I squatted down and held onto my cousins sexy bare hips for balance. Kristen was only holding on with one hand now, her other between her legs and fingering herself. I could see from the wetness on her fingers she was indeed quite the horny girl!

Leaning in closer, I could already smell the scent of her sex and thoughts of Steve's dick in her not so very long ago came to mind. Mmmmmmm, now THAT would be even better - to lick her out with my husband's cock in her. Watching Steve fucking another girl is one of those take it or leave it things for me except when he was doing someone in my family - especially my mom! Still, seeing hid doing Kristen was still special for me. It was one thing to see him do her when we just dated but now that it was my husband fucking her, it seemed even more erotic.

God she tasted good! My tongue ran up between her swollen pussy lips and I pushed it into her pussy hole as best I could, feeling it moving around my tongue as she rubbed herself outside. I could just hear her breathing hard but with all the hubbub going on outside I was pretty sure nobody would notice even if she started panting loudly.

Hanging on to her hip with one hand, I reached up and pushed s finger inside of her. Leaning back on my heels a bit, I watched as I finger fucked her and she played with herself. Mmmmmmm, she looked absolutely delicious bent over naked with her legs as far apart as she could and still keep her balance.

Over the years I've masturbated enough time with my cousin, had sex with her enough time, and shared men with her that I like to think I'm pretty much of an expert when it comes to Kristen's sexual responses. Of course during her career as a prostitute I'm sure she faked an orgasm more than a few times but even so I doubt it was all that often. There may be women who claim they have a hard time cumming but Kristen certainly isn't one of them. Maybe it's in the genes as I've never had a problem myself, nor either of our mothers so far as I have ever known. Like me, Kristen usually can control things pretty well, either holding back for the "big one" or getting into it quickly when the circumstances needed it. This was one of those time.

"Lick me!" she hissed as she turned her head and our eyes met. Oh yeah, she was ready!

My nose was buried in her crotch, even pushing slightly into her pussy as my tongue worked on her clit together with her finger. Suddenly it was almost like she was peeing but from the scent and taste I knew she was cumming. Again it must have been in the DNA as we both are more "gushers" than "squirters".

"Oh God!" she sighed and for a moment I was afraid that the women outside had to have heard her but there was no indication of that being the case. If anything, the yakking got louder as more women entered. Damn, how many could fit in here?

Someone knocked on the door. Actually as crowded as it was and with only a few stalls it was surprising that it hadn't happened sooner. Then again, 90% of women who go to the restroom never actually use the toilet. Either it's to do your makeup, wash your hands or just to yak with friends away from the men. God, if guys only knew what their girlfriends say about them in the restroom to their friends!

Kristen stood up and quickly grabbed the railing as she almost lost her balance. She was grinning from ear to ear.

"Thanks cuz, I feel soooooo much better," she whispered in my ear as she reached for some tissue to wipe herself off.

No mention of her reciprocating but then again we really DID need to get back so I didn't make an issue of it. Once she had a couple of buttons done, I opened the door and stepped out. Wow, there was only three others in there but from the jibber jabber I would have thought it was twice that many. They looked to be younger than us but definitely out of high school; probably college students.

None of them said anything but I did notice each of them looking at my face which must have been covered with wetness from Kristen pussy. It probably didn't help that my hair must have been an absolute mess - which I confirmed in a few moments with one eye-opening look in the mirror. As for Kristen, from her flushed face and bright eyes it didn't take much imagination to see she'd just had sex and enjoyed it.

It was like someone sounded the fire alarm or something as suddenly the room went deathly quiet and all three of them scurried out. One of them was saying something like, "Oh my god!" and another "can you believe it?" Obviously not party girls. LOL, if it had been me in their shoes I might have asked to join in! Well, maybe not but I can fantasize.

For the moment we were alone again and I leaned over the sink to rinse off my face.

"Did you see her face?" Kristen giggled, "That was hilarious!"

"Do you think they knew what we were doing?" I asked her, more to egg her on than anything as it was obvious they did.

"Oh yeah, they knew... I bet they'll be talking about us all night."

For that matter, I had a feeling they weren't the only ones that would be talking about it. Kristen pulled out a small hair brush and fixed her hair as I tried to do the same. Damn, I had to practically redo my whole makeup after washing Kristen off my face. A toothbrush and toothpaste wouldn't have been a bad idea either but they weren't part of my usual arsenal that I kept in my purse, especially a small one like I was carrying tonight.

Back at the booth, the guys stood up to let us in.

"Sheesh, what do you girls DO in there anyway?" Ben asked with an exasperated look on his face, "Good thing they are running so slow tonight or we could've had dinner and dessert by now."

"We had sex," Kristen said in a matter-of-fact tone, as if she was telling them we put on makeup or something.

Steve knew Kristen long enough to know she could be quite a tease so he wasn't falling for what her suspected to be just that = a major tease.

"Yeah right... and that hot hostess stopped by to blow the two of us while you were gone."

I smiled sweetly at Steve and leaned over to kiss him. I may have washed my face and put on makeup but it would take more than that to totally erase the strong scent of my cousin's pussy cum.

"No shit!" Steve chuckled and then looked over at Ben. "Well, guess they did."

Ben didn't seem to catch on right away - not like he's the sharpest knife in the drawer sometimes which I guess is one reason he and Kristen get along so well.

Steve could see he was being too subtle for Ben so he added, "I do believe my wife her has been eating our yours judging from what I can smell on her face."

Not even Ben could miss that one and his eyes widened as he turned to Kristen. She was practically beaming as she wore a full-tooth smile.

"Before you ask, yes she did," I said to him as I leaned forward over the table.

There it was again, that "duh" look so I just took a deep breath and said, "What I mean is yes, she came."

Ben appeared embarrassed now as I realized that maybe I'd gone a little overboard. Still, they guy was married to an ex-prostitute and he knew what she was and he STILL had to have everything explained to him in the dumbed down version.

Ben seemed more interested now. "Wasn't there anyone else in there? The place seems pretty crowded."

Kristen nodded and answered, "Oh sure, we did it in the handicapped stall."

Steve whispered in my ear, "Sound familiar."

I giggled a little myself as I knew what he was referring to. Indeed, we were both well acquainted with the virtues of the larger handicapped stalls with their handy rails and open floor plans.

Our dinner arrived which effectively ended the conversation as the waiter placed our meals in front of us. For the rest of the meal Ben was full of questions as to what we'd done. No detail seemed too small when it came to satisfying his curiosity. Kristen did most of the talking and to say she embellished things a bit would be an understatement but I let it slide. Ben didn't seem to questions anything so why not pour it on a little. After all, how would he know I wasn't carrying a rabbit in my purse? (Of course I'm referring to a small dildo, not the furry kind!)

By the time we were done it was getting late and seeing how Kristen wasn't really dressed to go dancing or such we decided to head home for the evening. Unfortunately we apparently weren't the only ones calling it a night as the T was filled almost to capacity, making it all but impossible to repeat our incoming performance. I say "almost" because the one thing the crowded car DID provide was a form of privacy to where Steve could feel up Kristen under her coat and not be noticed with everyone so close to them. Even Ben managed to get his hands between my thighs and tease me a little with his thumb as he pressed it against my still bare pussy.

Back at the station, we got off along with most of the remaining passengers. On the way to our cars, Ben was the one to ask the question I think we all were wondering about.

"Soooooo," he drawled, "Who goes home with who tonight?"

It wasn't so much a question as a statement about what he would like for the rest of the evening. Obviously he was hoping to swap wives for the night. Personally I was divided. One the one hand I wouldn't have mind IF that was what Steve wanted. However, after being teased and teasing all evening, frankly what I wanted was to make love with MY husband more so than being fucked by Kristen's. I say that because there is only ONE man in the entire world who makes love to me and that's my husband. Not even my father, the number two man in my life, has ever made love to me.

I looked up at Steve and squeezed his hand, hoping he would take it for what I meant and not interpret it as me telling him to go with what I knew his dick was telling him.

"You know, it's been fun but I think I'd like to spend the rest of the night with my wife," Steve said firmly, leaving no room for negotiation.

YES! And people ask me why I love my husband and even though I still fuck other men and his other women, why I know he wants me more than anyone else. In that one sentence he said it all. God I love him!

Ben shrugged. This time there was no need for further explanation. I kissed him and Kristen goodnight and we left as we came - husband and wife together in their respective vehicles.

It wasn't long before Steve DID make love to me. Having sex with as many men as I have in as many situations as I has left me with many memories, some good and some bad with some of them never to be forgotten. Yes, it's special to have a man commit adultery for the first time with me. yes, it's special when my father fucks me. But none of those hold a candle to my husband making love to me.

Our day ended actually well into the next day. I fell asleep in my husband's arm, his dick pressed into my ass as my pussy tingled from the multiple times he'd cum in me. My last thoughts were how much I loved him...

(Mar 16) Chapter 259: Rookies

Story codes: MF oral adultery
Me (28)
Steve - my husband (29)
Aunt Linda (44)
Keith (39) & Camille (41)

Do you remember the first time you swapped with another couple? Then again, odds are you're one of the vast majority that have never done in the first place so the question most likely isn't relevant. Putting that aside, in a manner of speaking it's like asking someone if they remember losing their virginity.

Taking it another step... do you remember the first time you TOOK someone's virginity? Is it even possible to forget? I'd like to think that most people have had the chance to be at least person's "first". For some it may have been both of you at the same time. In any case I find that there something special about knowing I'll be a part of that person's most intimate memories for the rest of their lives.

1. Marital Compromises

Steve and I were married the afternoon of August 27, 2011. As I'd fully expected it was a day that brought about quite a few significant changes to my life. Of course there was the whole marriage thing to absorb but I'm talking more about changes to my personal lifestyle and moral/ethical commitments. If anyone had asked the day before my marriage, I would've told them I was completely prepared for marriage. Oh to be so young and na‹ve again!

Not surprisingly for someone with my history, some of the biggest changes I was prepared for had to do with sex. For as long as I'd been thinking about it my assumptions were that once I said my wedding vows that I'd remain loyal to my husband. By that I meant that I wouldn't have sex with anyone outside our families. To put it in even more simplistic terms, I wouldn't commit adultery. It's not like there are THAT many men in my family that are into incest so I knew that limiting myself to having sex with only a few men was going to be a MAJOR adjustment. At the same time it's not like I wasn't fully prepared - or at least thought I was.

It was during my teen years that my mom thoroughly indoctrinated me with regards to adultery. Her view was pretty simple - adultery was a sin against God, a violation of the Ten Commandments. Even if you could somehow put aside the religious issues (not a viable option for her but just to make a point), adultery was simply not something a "good" wife did. In a manner not so different than a daughter with respect to her father, a wife must submit to her husband and give herself only to his family (which was now joined with hers through their marriage).

While these limitation may seem rather draconian, one thing to keep in mind is that my mom's definition of adultery was also a bit more liberal than most people's. She defined adultery as "sex outside your family" where "family" included members on both sides of the wedding aisle out to and including first cousins, nieces and nephews. She also used the legalistic definition of "sex" which limited it to penetration of a female vagina by a male penis (doesn't matter how much, even the tip of his dick counts). Technically that left groping, grinding and other such activities on the table, even blowjobs although my mom never took advantage of this rather significant "loophole". It was the principle that mattered to her and parsing the wording wasn't an excuse to violate the intention of scripture.

So what did all this mean to me in terms of how my life would change after I was married? Not committing adultery meant NOT going out to parties and enjoying myself with whoever was available just for the fun of it. It meant I could no longer go out alone and spend an evening with a married man who was cheating on his wife for the very first time. It even meant no swapping even if the other couple were close friends. While some might consider all this as a significant and harsh sacrifice, not me. I loved Steve unconditionally and I was more than willing to submit myself fully to my new husband, regardless of the consequences and hardships it imposed.

With all those years of preparation you can imagine what a surprise it was to me when shortly after our betrothal Steve told me that he wasn't ready to put aside the sexual freedoms of being single. It was less than two weeks after our incredible honeymoon when he told me that we were going to swap with another couple. Wow, you can imagine what a shock that was to me! Note he didn't ASK me... not, he TOLD me.

As I mentioned to some degree before, I consider Steve to be the head of our household and as such I freely submit to his authority as dictated by my Christian beliefs. PLEASE, I don't mean in any way that being submissive means that I'm subordinate to him or otherwise giving in to his every whim. I don't go barefoot and pregnant in the kitchen as his personal slave. Indeed, the concept of true biblical marital submission has been terribly twisted by perverted men as a means to put women "in their place" whereas the true scriptural directions promote nothing of the kind. It's a complicated topic and I even wrote an article that's posted in my diary about the true meaning of submission for anyone really interested in such things.

In any case, the bottom line is that Steve wanted to swap with other married couple so either I had to accept his direction or not. Knowing how much Steve loved me I suppose that if I HAD chosen to oppose him that he would've dealt with it but at the same time I think that would also have put a wedge into our new marriage that might never get removed.

So I had to find a way to submit to my husband yet remain true to myself and my own beliefs and ethics. After much consideration and a LOT of prayer, I came to the conclusion that if my mom could define adultery to suit her situation then why couldn't I? Thus I revised her definition slightly by adding, "...without the consent of your spouse." I mean like if Steve was OK with me having sex with other men (actually he was more than OK - he WANTED to watch me), then how can that be considered a bad thing, let alone adultery?

Essentially now that I'm married I've taken the stance that it's a person's INTENT more so than their actions that determine whether or not adultery is being committed. At its core adultery would be me cheating on my husband, not simply having sex with someone else. Cheating is a state of mind, not an action.

Now that we were married and had come to an agreement on the adultery thing, there were basically two options when it came to us having sex with other people. We could either go out on our own alone or do it together - in other words a traditional swap. Interestingly, while I enjoy swapping with other married couples I find that I prefer to spend most of the time in separate rooms rather than having something like a mini orgy. It's sort of the best of both worlds for me in that I'm doing something in conjunction with my husband yet at the same time enjoying the intimacy of being alone with another man.

Some people talk about swapping like you just go out and start talking to another couple and bang, you all head for the bedroom and have glorious unrestrained sex. Yeah sure, maybe such things happen in porn movies and stories. Well, I suppose maybe that MIGHT happen in real life if you're really lucky but in my experience nothing works quite that easily. Anyone who just goes out to a club looking to swap had better be prepared to be mugged, raped or who knows what else - even blackmailed.

2. Playing by the Rules

Let me make one thing straight up front - Steve and I don't NEED to swap for sexual fulfillment. Indeed, we're both quite happy with the sex life we share. So if that's the case, then why bother swapping at all? Indeed, swapping is fraught with all sorts of risks - real and imagined. At the start my biggest fear about swapping was how to meet people without taking a huge gamble. Just as I'd never agreed to meet anyone I met in-line, I felt the same when it came to other couples and swapping.

Fortunately my Aunt Linda was there to offer us help through a group to which she belonged for years where swapping was much more secure and safe. It didn't hurt that she was a senior member as well.

After her divorce twenty-some years ago my Aunt Linda could have gone out on her own and played the club scene. Instead, she chose to become heavily involved in a relatively small local group that enables sexual exchanges between like-minded adults and their families. Think of it as like one of those companies that arranges for Time Share swaps. The only difficult thing, if you can call it that, is that you have to be a member and fully checked out before getting involved with anyone. Gaining membership to such an exclusive organization meant playing by the rules. This wasn't an option - it was a firm, nonnegotiable requirement.

So how do you becoming a member of such a tight-knit community? Well, it certainly isn't like joining Facebook. First, you can't even ask to join - a current member has to recommend you. Then there's the vetting process which I would think makes getting a Top Secret security clearance look easy.

The first decision a couple has to make is which level of group membership they desire. I mention "couple" because ONLY married couples are allowed as members and BOTH husband and wife have to participate.

Step 1 – Questionnaires For Each Person

As simple as this step may be, from what I hear people have dropped out the moment they see how detailed and in-depth it is, not to mention personal. Plus, it's not just a bunch of multiple choice boxes but instead is almost entirely essay. The expectation is that the applicants will be forthcoming and detailed in their responses. At the top of the questionnaire is a bold-faced warning that there will be no follow-up questions or opportunities to revise your answers once submitted. EVERY question must be answered satisfactorily the first time or both applicants are rejected with no chance to reapply ever again.

Step 2 – Financial/Criminal Record Review

Next are though reviews of financial and criminal records. It's amazing at how much information about you is available on-line to anyone willing to fork out a few dollars. Again, the idea is to make sure that they don't have other issues which could cause them to have problems that might lead to discovery of their group activities.

Step 3 – References

Assuming the questionnaire is OK, then personal references are required. These can be anyone, even a local pastor. Nothing sexual is asked and no hint is made of the true purpose of the reference. The idea is to see if the applicants are decent citizens in the eyes of their neighbors and friends. If someone runs into problems due to other things they are involved in then that cause others to delve into other areas of their life – such as the group.

Step 4 – Interview

Provided everything to this point has cleared then a personal interview with a senior member (such as my Aunt Linda) is arranged. Everything has to go smoothly without a hitch. Like the written questions, ANY perceived attempt to hold back information is cause for immediate rejection of an application. It's all up to the opinion of the interviewer and I know my aunt is ruthless. Even the slightest hesitation or conflicting response is enough to end the interview on the spot. It's little wonder that less than 25% of the original applicants make it past this point.

overwhelming preference for younger girls but my husband IS a male human being and what guy would say no if offered the opportunity?

To reiterate, security is like the Star Trek "Prime Directive" when it comes to the group so swapping is still handled with care even after the vetting process until you've established a suitable reputation. Although not nearly as complicated and exhaustive as the initial application process, arranging a swap still has its rules that must be followed:

Step 1 – Level 1 Profile Search

When we want to meet with someone Steve first looks through the web site pages of "public" profiles. They are public only in the manner that everyone in the group can see them at any time. Using a customized search feature he finds another couple with the characteristics and interests we're looking for. The public profile is pretty vague – no photos, addresses, phone numbers or anything that could be used to identify someone.

Step 2 – The Invitation

Once a potential couple if found, Steve sends them a message through the site. All this is kept within the site – no external e-mails or other potential security threats.

Step 3 – Level 2 Profiles

Provided the couple we invite agrees to move on after viewing our public profile, we then give them access to the next level of our profile which shows photos and provides an on-line secure chat window. Typically the photos are clothed although bikini shots and even sexy lingerie are encouraged. Essentially nothing that Facebook would censor. If they like what they see, then they can open their next level to us as well.

Step 4 – Contact

If we make it this far, the next step is to make contact by phone or webcam. We keep one of those anonymous phones you get from Wal-Mart for such things. An option at this point is to open your profile further to allow them to see nude photos and videos of yourself to "encourage" them to meet with you. Some couple get quite revealing at this stage while others prefer to keep that in reserve until the first meeting.

Step 5 - Meet

Finally, if everything works out then you arrange a time and place to meet - usually someplace public to start like a restaurant. You can have all the security in place but it still never hurts to be careful!

Typically this process takes at least a week or two, sometimes even longer depending on how busy each couple is and how long it takes for them to respond to each phase. However, it IS possible to short-circuit the process in special circumstances...

3. The Setup

Unbeknownst to either Steve or me, my Aunt Linda had recently interviewed a new couple for Level One membership. They'd passed all the steps so far and now were anxiously waiting for their video. Although they had two teenagers (boy and younger girl), they weren't involved with them sexually nor were they interested in doing so.

Normally Level One membership is a shoe-in for anyone that is truly motivated and can pass the background checks. The problem with this couple was that they'd never swapped before so they didn't have another couple to bring in for their video. Such a situation doesn't happen very often as most people are fairly experienced for no other reason than usually the only way they even hear about the group is from another member. Still, when it does come up occasionally there are contingency plans in place to deal with the situation without embarrassing the applicants. This usually consists of asking an existing member couple to step in and help out. Knowing me and Steve's interest in new things and people (or at least my interest), my aunt had volunteered me and Steve to help out, even so far as making the arrangements.

"So you just told them we'd do it without even asking us first?" I asked my aunt incredulously when I heard the news. She'd stopped by over at our apartment - something she almost never does so I knew even before she said a word that it had to be something "special".

Aunt Linda shrugged and smiled answering, "Give me a freakin' break Kelly, it's not like you're exactly overly picky about who you have sex with and anyways, I her husband reacted. I guess you can't blame him for being interested but I suppose it would've helped had he not been so enthusiastic from the outset."

That drew a laugh from both Steve and I.

"Yeah, I suppose some women can't handle their husband showing an interest in another woman," I said, giving Steve a playful punch in the arm. At least he never had to worry about THAT with me. While it might not turn me on all that much to watch, it certainly didn't bother me. After all, it was just sex and not like he was in love or anything. In LUST - yes but not in LOVE. THAT was reserved for ME!

For a moment I could just picture the scene where the neighbors were discussing the possibility of swapping, especially when one side of the table wasn't doing it yet. Funny how often it's the wife who's against the idea. Or at least that's what most husbands tell me and I would say 99% of the people who contact me are make (no matter what they might SAY).

"Well, they eventually grew interested but without any kids involved," my aunt went on, "But it was just about the concept - nothing actually happened so they sort of hinted about the group. It's taken since last summer but eventually one thing has led to another and now they're almost our newest members."

At that point Aunt Linda paused and got this far away look as she sighed.

"I mentioned before about them maybe not showing up and to tell you the truth, I'm putting it as 50-50 at best. They say all the right things but there's something about the wife's eyes when she talks about it. Camille doesn't seem nearly as confident about it as Keith and I'm worried that they may back out at the last minute. Frankly, I'm not sure how they got past the interview. I doubt I would have passed them."

"So you called in the A-Team," Steve chimed in with his head held high.

"Well, it's not like they have another couple to bring with although the LaCroix's DID offer. I got the feeling from Camille's reaction that she wasn't ready to take that step with someone she'd have to live next door for who knows how long afterwards in case things didn't go as planned."

"Well you still could have asked us first," I said, pretending to pout just a little.

"Why bother? It's not like you're that hard to predict my favorite horny niece," she chuckled. She started checking off on her fingers, "Married, late thirties, never been with another couple, teenage son and daughter... Oh god, just wait until you see their family album photos... their daughter is soooooo cute."

She was looking at my husband when she made that last remark. My eyes rolled melodramatically and she quickly took the hint.

"Oh get off your soap box girl," she chastised me, "It's not like I'm saying you'll have to watch your husband with their daughter or anything like that. Besides, I really can't see anything like that happening - not ever, and you know how optimistic I can be about such things. I'm just saying she looks a lot older than fourteen."

With that she got up and walked over to our computer on the desk.

"Here, let me show you their private profile album," she said, logging in to the group site as she spoke.

From across the room I could see she was accessing a part of the site we'd never been in before. Boy, would I love to have THAT password! So anyway... a few more keystrokes and a slide show started.

"Whoa!" Steve said as he whistled softly, leaning forward to get a better look.

It was all he said but no more words were necessary as indeed, they made quite the good-looking couple. The photos started out with what looked to be from their wedding. A series of others, some of them single and others with them together followed in various stages of dress and undress. The final few were of them both naked but nothing that flaunted anything or involved sex. Notably missing from the nudes were any of their son and daughter. Still, it didn't surprise me that the ones of the daughter with her brother at the beach on vacation and some alone around the house seemed to catch Steve's eye more than any others.

Steve had been standing behind my aunt watching the slideshow with his hands on her shoulders. As the photos got more risqu, those hands gained a mind of their own as they began working their way down her chest until he was cupping her boobs as we all watched in silence. Yep, my guys was getting horny now!

"Hey tiger, you'd better not start anything you aren't ready to finish," my aunt purred, putting her hands over his and pushing them against her. My husband was just wearing boxer shorts and a T-shirt so his erection was pretty obvious.

"You mind Kelly?" my aunt asked me, raising her eyebrows with a "sorry but what can I do about it?" look.

Yeah, like there was nothing she could do about it. If she DIDN'T end up in bed with my husband before everything was said and done... THEN I would be surprised. She could've easily done all this on-line but she chose to make a personal visit so tell me she wasn't expecting something to happen when she started to show Steve more explicit photos.

It wasn't long before the two of them headed for the bedroom while I took a seat in front of the computer to finish perusing the profile. Some people just put the bare minimum of work into their profile while others seem to want to make them their autobiography. While not TOO far to the one side, someone had spent a lot of time writing up a biography and marital history. My bet would have been on Camille. It was the same with ours. Steve did almost all the research but I was the one responsible for our profile and I figured the more the better.

I smiled as I listed to the goings on in the bedroom. It's not like we had all that big of an apartment to start with and they'd apparently not bothered to close the door. It didn't help matters that my aunt is a classic "moaner". Yes, this was one of the benefits Steve enjoyed being married to me - ready access to my family members, at least the ones interested in such things. Indeed, it was something he took FULL advantage of!

I turned my attention back to the photos. They must have posted like a hundred or so of which maybe half were in some state of undress with about a quarter nude and then I saw maybe ten or so in some sort of explicit pose. There weren't any of actual sex but Keith was obviously being turned on by the photoshoot judging by the erection he was sporting in several of them. While sometimes photos can be deceiving, my guess was he was maybe seven or eight inches long when erect - not bad by any means but at the same time not exactly mythological proportions. He was also circumcised which I tend to prefer.

The thing that really draws my attention to a guy is not necessarily the length of his erection but rather the stiffness and stamina. Some guys never seem to get really HARD but Keith wasn't one of them. Indeed, he was more like what I would associate with a teenage boy in that his dick literally stood up and out on its own like a missile on a launch pad, aiming for the skies.

While most of my attention was focused on Keith, I couldn't help but take a closer look at Camille as well. The first thing that I'd noticed when I saw her before was something I didn't mention to either of the others as they didn't say anything. She looked a lot like Steve's mother's (although she doesn't have on in real life). Well, not her twin sister but the "family resemblance" was there. Even her hair was the done up the same. The resemblance was remarkable and I wondered if Steve had noticed as well?

I have to say, sitting there imagining I was seeing Steve's mom naked was a bit of a turn-on for some reason. Then again, maybe I was just using it to rationalize my overall horniness in general at the sight of her nude. Even when dressed she looked gorgeous and if I had anything else to say about her I would say her style was impeccable.

Camille's boobs looked real - just enough sag to go along with her age but nothing TOO much either. They reminded me of my mom's than my aunt's as Aunt Linda had hers lifted a few years back - nothing added, just tightened up. It was her legs that caught my eye. She had the body proportions of a model with legs that were unnaturally long for her body - legs I would have killed for!

Looking MORE at Keith, I couldn't help but wonder what his daughter looked like. I wondered if he had any carnal thoughts about his daughter? Really, what father doesn't when his daughter gets to that age? I'm not saying that many ever DO anything as that's a one in a thousand chance at best. Still, it never hurt to fantasize to jerk off about her. Judging by my conversations with quite a few fathers, I'd say THAT is a VERY common with most fathers although I doubt their wives know about it, LOL.

Suddenly a thought came to mind. Not certain what would happen, I started to check out the site now that I was logged in under my aunt's username. Wow! All sorts of stuff I hadn't seen before. Out of curiosity I searched for our name and lo and behold, there we were. It was pretty much the profile that Steve had set up but I noticed there was a section I hadn't seen before. Clicking on the icon a page opened with various dates. Some of them I recognized but a lot I didn't. Apparently these were the dates we had attended parties, or least the ones Steve had. My heart was racing as I opened up each directory. Oh my god, there were tons of photos of us having sex at the family parties! There was even some of Steve fucking his favorite little redhead.

My thoughts were interrupted by what must have been my Aunt Linda having yet another orgasm. I smiled to myself as I thought of how much I loved it when Steve made love to me and I could just imagine how good she must be feeling having him fuck her right now.

Then again, why just imagine it? Logging out from the site, I made my way to the bedroom... two's company but I was sure neither was going to protest making it three!

what else. In this case I knew the video file would be safely locked away and would only come out if something were to happen involving Camille and Keith. From what I'd heard it wouldn't be the first time the threat of releasing their video was all that kept some people from going off the reservation.

So anyway, when we met with the other family it was a little awkward at first which I suppose was to be expected. It wasn't like this was a natural evolution of a friendship or an encounter at a party where everyone was doing it. If anything it seemed rather cold and sterile, at least at first. We introduced ourselves, keeping everything to first names and most everything else as vague as possible. Everyone was a little standoffish about the personal details. For instance, afterwards I had no idea where they lived nor they did with regards to us.

With everyone dressed we could've easily been mistaken for your average folks getting together for conversation and a few drinks. They were older than us, I was guessing in their mid to late thirties primarily because their son looked to be around fifteen and his younger sister most likely twelve or thirteen. Either could have easily been plus or minus a year or two though, maybe even more. They seemed to be well-versed in how to handle the situation, never mentioning what school they went to or even what grade which might have provided a clue as to where they loved and how they were.

There were a few formalities at the start to take care of. We had to present a recent STD test to the parents to prove we were clean. I noticed the they didn't produce any such documentation in return. I guess the "burden of proof", so to speak, was on us. As condoms were forbidden, if not so in writing than heavily implied, I could see where it was important to make sure that anyone entering the group was clean.

There was more paperwork... We had to sign a rather legalistic two-page form that basically certified that we understood that what we were doing was illegal in the State of Pennsylvania and that we waived all claims against pretty much the entire world should anything happen as a result. There were also things like declaring that I was on birth control and that again, nobody was responsible for any failures in that department. Only Steve and I had to sign anything and none of this was required for anything we did later. Under the circumstances it was important and just one more area where security was deemed more important than being polite.

With that we all undressed - that is Steve and me along with the two kids. The parents didn't as they would not be actively participating so what would have been the point? They had nothing to prove and this wasn't intended to be for fun and games so their role was only to be there as proof that they both had given their full and willing consent and that everything was being done with their kids was under their watchful eyes at all times. If nothing else it made me feel even more self-conscious, as if I now had an audience and not the type I usually hope for when I'm having sex.

Steve was standing naked next to me with a massive erection already going. Frankly that didn't mean a whole lot to me. Whether or not he was feeling any of the same concerns as me didn't matter when it came to his cock. I swear the guy can get hard in an instant even over the slightest hint of sexuality. Steve looked at my aunt with a "now what" expression and she stepped in to act as the de facto "director".

Looking at the parents she asked, "Well guys, the usual?"

The parents looked at each other and the wife shrugged as if it didn't really matter one way or the other. It wasn't that they appeared not to care per se, more like they just were going along with what was evidently a pretty standard routine for them.

"Fine with us," the father then said adding, "Oh, sorry but we really have to be out of here in half an hour, 45 minutes tops. We've been planning on seeing the new Oz movie and we'll miss the 4:00 IMAX showing otherwise."

I wanted to let out a big sigh but held it in. Sheesh, talk about making this as empty and business-like as it could possibly be. Like, we were about to have sex with their teenage kids and all he was worried about was getting to a movie on time! Besides, I'd seen that movie the previous weekend when it opened and I could've told him to save the sixty bucks for IMAX tickets plus concessions.

Aunt Linda didn't say anything in response but instead just seemed to ignore him. She turned to me and said firmly, "Kelly, why don't you go first. Looking at your husband's condition over there I think it best to keep him waiting until the end. He's not going to take long I'm sure."

For whatever reason that seemed to break the ice and the room temperature seemed to jump a little as the chill left the air.

"Now Steve," she directed pointing to the second bed, "Why don't you lay over there on the bed with our little princess so the two of you can get to know each other a little better while you watch Kelly and her brother getting it on."

Steve smiled and stretched out on the narrow bed, laying on his side with his erection sticking out in full view. Well, he'd never been afraid to strut his stuff since

"Come on Kelly, you know better," my aunt chastised me, " Let's see it. After all, that's the whole point."

Back to being a porn movie again I guess. Fortunately Aunt Linda had been quick enough that I had time to release his dick from between my lips and allow him to shoot his final couple of shots of sperm into my mouth from maybe a couple of inches away. Some of it got on my face as well but nobody seemed to care until I reached to wipe it off.

"Kelly, stop!" my aunt the Director quickly cried out, "Leave it on for now."

I wasn't quite sure what the point was in making me leave his cum on my face but then she didn't give me time to think about it before continuing.

"OK, how about you mount him now, OK?" Aunt Linda told me. It wasn't really a question but more like an order. Well, she WAS the director after all.

As I started to straddle him I looked over to see the reaction of his parents. It didn't surprise me that the mother was the one showing all the interest although I guess it could've easily been his father having sex with him at home. Bisexual family relationships weren't supported within the group which I knew probably caused some applicants to think twice about joining but for those who weren't into seeing such goings-on can find it distracted at best or turned-off at worst seeing it.

So far I was pretty impressed. My Aunt Linda was doing a great job in her role as guardian of the group security. Everything was choreographed to demonstrate that I wanted to do this. The boy never once asked me for anything - he was well trained. Anyone watching the video would believe that everything we did was initiated by me, even now as I prepared to fuck him.

"Hold right there for a moment," Aunt Linda directed as I held his dick and was just about to sit on it. She p7layed with the camera, apparently zooming in for a close-up. "OK, go for it girl!"

As everyone watched I slowly lowered myself onto him, feeling the hard cock pressing into me and then pushing its way in as I put more weight on him. A quick look over to his mom confirmed it - the smile on her face and the lustful look in her eyes told me someone was going to be fucking mom tonight!

While he lasted longer this time, it still didn't take long before he was cumming. Aunt Linda didn't say anything so I stayed down hard on him as he pumped his cum into me. I suppose I'd been expecting her to tell me to let him squirt it all over me like a typical porn shoot but she had other thoughts in mind...

"That's good Kelly... now squeeze it out onto his dick," she finally said as she focused in tight again onto my pussy with a still hard cock filling me.

Bearing down, I could feel the cum exiting my pussy and I looked down between my legs to watch it drip down on the boy's dick. Amazingly the teen was STILL erect!

"That's it Kelly... now clean it off of him."

I looked around for some tissues or anything else to wipe him clean only to hear my aunt groan, "Oh good grief Kelly, please don't embarrass me."

It hit me right between the eyes. Hopefully my face wasn't anywhere close to being as red as it felt. Like duh! With all my experience you would think I would have known what to do even without being asked, let alone have to have it all but spelled out for me.

Sucking a cock covered with cum fresh from my pussy would have to be considered one of my favorite delicacies. It's like a favorite dessert with everything mixed in together - a hard dick, sperm and a hint of my own pussy. Mmmmmmm!

With everything now duly recorded so far as I was concerned, it was Steve's turn. Surprisingly, and no doubt somewhat to his dismay, my aunt wasn't all that interested in different positions, foreplay, or even oral.

"OK Steve, let's pick up the pace or they're going to miss their movie," she said as she motioned him to get together with the girl.

"Noooooo, just fuck her," she interrupted as he started to lean in towards her fuzzy pussy, "Remember, this isn't about what SHE will do so let's get it on record and get it over with."

Later she explained it more to me. With most couples it was the woman who was usually the problem if there was going to be one. Hence on average the video spent two or three times as much attention to the wife as to the husband/father. The same went for the kids - it was the girls that got all the attention when compared to the boys. Think about it, when was the last time you heard of a teenage boy that did NOT want to fuck a MILF or a father that did NOT want to fuck a young girl?

"We all know the male WANTS to do it," she explained, "The only thing we're verifying is that they WILL. With the girls we have to make sure they really want to do it and they're not being coerced in any way."

I guess it made sense even if it DID frustrate Steve. Then again, it's not like he complained all that much when the girl got on her hands and knees and leaned forward to present her pretty butt to him. I noticed her pussy seemed wet, probably tops, but that was long enough it seems. By the time I was back my aunt was laying on her stomach between my husband's outstretched legs, sucking his dick as she cupped his hairy balls in her hand. I couldn't help but smile - they certainly hadn't wasted any time!

A couple of hours later we decided to head home rather than spend the night in the room as we hadn't brought any fresh clothes or toiletries with us and I HATE hotel crap. On the way I asked my aunt what she was going to do now with the video.

"Oh it gets passed around to the senior members who review it and give their approval. Then I burn it to a DVD and it goes in the archives along with the party videos."

It was all I could not to roll my eyes or otherwise demonstrate my disbelief. Yeah right, like they just "reviewed" them. Probably more like masturbated watching them.

The it hit me again....

"Party videos?"

Aunt Linda smiled. "Sure. We record every party so there's never anything that people can come back and say that didn't happen. If you look hard enough you can see the cameras but we try to make them as unobtrusive as possible so people aren't so self-conscious.

I tried to imagine just how many of these videos she had on record. I'd never seen them at any of the parties but then I hadn't been looking for them either. Like who would suspect that everyone was being recorded at such a thing? Actually this was the first time we'd even talked about them. Boy, what some people would pay for a copy. Then again, I bet they'd pay more to have theirs expunged. It would be like hitting the jackpot for some government agent to come across such a collection.

5. The Swap Video

It took a couple of weeks to sync up our schedule with Camille and Keith. In the meantime we had another swap previously planned which was OK although nothing to write home about so to speak. It's not like you can expect EVERY swap to be "dairy worthy" as I explained to Steve when we returned home and he asked why I wasn't all bubbly and excited about the evening. It might have gone better if we could have spent the whole night with them but they had to get home for the sitter. I've found over time that not having to rush and having the time to cuddle and be more intimate with your new partner makes things much more enjoyable and memorable. Steve seemed quite happy though but then he's a guy so I think for him getting to fuck her was enough - why waste time doing anything else?

So it ended up that we had two swaps in seven days - not our usual schedule. I think once a month is more than enough for this sort of thing. It's not like I NEED another man - Steve fully satisfies me. heck, until we were married I assumed that I wouldn't be having sex outside my family once I was wed so anything we did was more than I had ever anticipated. It was Steve that pushed for the swapping and individualized sex scene, It took me quite a bit of prayer and rationalizing to adjust my most closely held beliefs and values to accommodate his desires but then he WAS my husband by then and as his wife, it was my duty to submit to his authority, not different than as a daughter I submitted to my father (and still do).

Actually, while technically this was our second swap in as many weekends, if things went at all the way they had for Steve and my session then the next one would be quite a bit more abbreviated than normal. This time it would be Steve that got the better end of the deal as the wife would be the one my aunt would be most concerned about. That was back to what my aunt had said previously about the interviews focusing on the wife and/or daughters as they are almost always the ones that are cause for them not being accepted.

One of the most unique things about this time was the timing. Previously, every swap we'd been involved with had been in the evening. Come to think about it I'm not really sure but I guess since they usually started with dinner as a means of breaking the ice, they just naturally got off to a start in the evenings.

In this case we would be meeting in the morning. It was my Aunt Linda who had driven the schedule as she had a house showing in the afternoon and was hoping to close the deal. Knowing the potential buyers, that might require some "special attention" so she didn't want anything planned for the evening. The other couple was anxious to get the interviews and such finished so they'd agreed to meet at 10:00 AM. If this went as usual, we'd be done and out of there by 10:30. Steve and I arrived at 9:30 along with Aunt Linda to be sure we got there first and everything was set up properly.

"Steve, close the curtains and Kelly, take those nasty comforters off the beds," were her first words when we entered the room.

I agreed totally with her about the comforters. If you've ever watched any of those shows on TV where they take a black light into a hotel room then you know that most hotels may put clean sheets on but the comforters are disgusting.

Meanwhile she got out a small video camera and checked it out to be sure it was working properly. I noticed she also had a spare battery with just in case the first one went bad. I guess that would sort of screw things up of the camera quit halfway through.

"You guys ready?" she asked, setting the camera down on the desk.

We both just nodded, awaiting whatever instructions she seemed about to give.

"OK, here's how these things go," she started, motioning for us to sit on the bed, "Kelly, you go first again. You might notice that I'll be taping the wife's reactions as much if not more than the two of you. Usually when there's going to be an issue this is when it happens. For some couples this is old hat and no big deal but this is the first time these two will be having sex with someone else in front of each other so anything might happen once he starts screwing you."

It made sense to me. Heck, now that she mentioned it I might even give her some attention as well just to see if she was really ready for this."

Then my aunt turned to Steve. "OK stud, hands off of her while Kelly gets it on with the mister, got it?"

Steve nodded although he pretended to be disappointed. Then again, maybe he wasn't pretending.

"OK then, when it's your turn don't waste a lot of time with foreplay and such. Frankly, I don't WANT her to have much time to deal with it and be drawn up in things. We want to see if she's ready to put out, period."

She paused to see if Steve was getting the message. He squeezed my hand and assured Aunt Linda he knew what she wanted.

Aunt Linda took a deep breath and finished with, "Just be ready for anything, especially with the wife. You never know how these play out. Most of the time it's no big deal and it's over in a few minutes. Sometimes they freak - especially the wife although I had one husband once who couldn't handle seeing his wife taking another man's dick. It's easy to fantasize and talk about such things, another to actually do them, especially in front of a camera."

Just then the door knocked. My aunt had called them after we checked in to give them the room number so they wouldn't have to stop by the front desk. Steve and I stayed on the bed holding hands while my aunt went to answer the door.

We could hear the greetings and then my aunt came in with the two of them following her, the husband leading the wife.

"Camille and Keith, this is Kelly and her husband Steve," my aunt introduced us, "They are the couple I was telling you about."

One thing she had told us from the start - there would be no mention that I was related to her in any way. This was to be about swapping, not incest even if it wasn't even what some people would call an incestual relationship. After all, she was my mom's sister, not my mom, and it was between two women. Still, no sense in making a big deal out of it so it was best to just not bring it up.

They both pretty much looked exactly like their photos. Keith was dressed about the same as my husband - jeans and a dress shirt. Camille had chosen a rather modest skirt that came below the knees and a loose blouse with a pretty necklace. My first impression was that she was nervous - VERY nervous, but then I would think That was to be expected under the circumstances. Keith was trying to appear NOT nervous but if anything it made it all the more obvious that he was.

We just shook hands and then my aunt motioned for each couple to sit on opposite beds. They were only twin size which wouldn't leave a lot of room for us but then it's not like the intention was to make this a major event.

"OK, so I know this has to be a little nerve wracking for you two," my aunt started out as she looked first at the other couple, "Let me assure you that Kelly and Steve here are both committed to making this as easy as possible for you. I'm guessing we'll be done and out of here in half an hour tops."

No response so she continued, "OK then, Camille, why don't you trade places with Kelly then to get things started."

Camille looked at her husband and I saw him squeeze her hand and smile at her with an assuring look. Then she got up and we each took a seat next to the other's husband. Each of us sat there with our hands in our laps, waiting for the next instruction.

"Well, this isn't supposed to be anything romantic or drawn out so why don't you two just get undressed and let's get things rolling," Aunt Linda said to me and Keith.

My aunt picked up the video camera and turned it on, the little red light appearing in front. OK, it was show time!

We each quickly undressed. I had actually worn a bra and panties. My aunt thought it would help make me appear more "normal" to Camille rather than coming across as a slut. As Keith dropped his jeans and then the boxer shorts I noticed his dick was flaccid. Yep, he was nervous all right! I wanted to smile and say something as it had been a long time since a guy had gotten undressed with me and not be at least semi-erect but I was a good girl and kept my mouth shut... at least for a few more minutes.

"Good... Now Kelly, why don't you help Keith here."

She was being tactful but I knew what she meant. Keith was still standing at the foot of the bed, Steve and his wife a few feet away, when I knelt in front of him and took his dick in my hand.

"You have a great cock Keith," I said looking up at him as I gently stroked him. Then I remembered my aunt's earlier observations and turned to Camille. "I bet you love sucking this cock, don't you Camille?"

From her reaction, I got the idea that sucking cock wasn't exactly something that happened a lot between the two of them, I noticed my aunt had captured her reaction as well. Hmmmmmm, were they going to be rejected before things even got started? My aunt had told us on the way over that unless one of them broke down and ended things that we would go through to the end. The decision as to whether or not to accept them would be made by the senior board later when they reviewed the video.

My aunt coughed discreetly and I turned my attention to the dick in my hand. Keeping my eyes locked in with Keith's, I took his dick in his mouth and was pleased to feel him shudder slightly as I went to work on him. Turns out that he wasn't TOO nervous as it quickly grew in my mouth. That was an unexpected pleasure for me as I LOVE to feel a cock grow and harden with it in my mouth. Unless it's after he has already fucked me, usually a guy is already well on the path towards a full erection by the time I get him in my mouth to start.

As I sucked him, I reached down with my left hand and started to play with myself. I wasn't sure how much foreplay my aunt would want to record so I wanted to be sure I was good and wet from the start. As it turned out, it really wasn't necessary - I was soaking wet already!

No doubt had I sucked him long things would have been over before they'd hardly started. I didn't need any direction from my aunt this time as I stood up while holding his dick firmly in my hand. Looking over at Camille, I smiled and said, "Your husband's gonna fuck me now."

She kept a rather straight face so I wasn't sure if she was trying to hide that she was excited or unhappy. It didn't really matter to me so I turned back to Keith and gave his stiff dick a playful tug.

"Well, how do you want to do it?" I asked him softly as my fingers rippled over his dick.

Keith glanced over at Camille just a moment and then seemed confused.

"I don't know... how do you prefer?" he said haltingly.

"Do you like doggie?"

Again he glanced over at Camille and I had to wonder if they were one of those couple that stuck with missionary from start to end. Oh well, no matter. I climbed up on the bed so my knees were right at the edge and my lower leg and feet hung out in the air. Getting down on my elbows, I spread my knees as wide apart as was comfortable. Looking over, I saw my aunt had her camera focused on Camille, recording her reaction as he husband moved in between my legs.

"That's it Keith... fuck me," I encouraged him as I felt his dick poke me. He used his one hand to spread me apart and the other to guide his cock between my wet pussy lips.

"Oh yeah, like that... deeper now," I gasped as I felt the head of his dick penetrate me.

Keith responded by pushing in until I felt his pubic hair teasing my butt and then the pressure of his crotch against me. He wasn't wasting any time either as he started stroking quickly in and out of me.

The room was deathly quiet with the only sound being his crotch slapping into me and the occasional grunt from Keith as he drove his dick into me. The other three occupants weren't saying a word as they watched us.

"Cum in me Keith, I want you to cum in me," I gasped as I suspected he was getting about ready to ejaculate.

"Noooooo, cum on her ass Keith at least once and then put it back in her to finish," my aunt interrupted. Once again I was reminded of why we were doing this. It felt even more like a porn shoot than ever with her dire4cting him.

She was just in time as it turned out because Keith suddenly pulled out and I felt his warm cum on my butt. He quickly pushed back in me to finish off inside my pussy with my aunt capturing every moment for history.

When he was finished he pulled out of me and I turned over and sat on the edge of the bed. Fortunately for the hotel I'd removed the comforter so the sheets absorbed his cum from my butt instead. I was about to ask him if I could clean him off but again, the director cut in.

"Well, that takes of Keith... nice job by the way," she congratulated him. He looked over at his wife and seemed a little embarrassed at first but then he broke into a wide smile when my aunt stoked his ego.

"OK Camille... your turn."

I was expecting a little hesitation at the very least but if anything she seemed anxious to get it on with my husband. I wondered if she was just horny after watching her husband fuck me or maybe she was thinking more of revenge after seeing how much he enjoyed fucking me.

Steve was just as anxious and before I knew it they both were naked and standing in front of us looking at Linda who was fooling with her camera.

"Sorry, a little technical problem," she apologized but then seemed to have everything ready again. "So let's see.... Camille, why don't you suck on Steve for a while."

Again, she responded without so much as taking a deep breath. Steve was already erect - no way he was ever going to watch me being fucked and NOT get aroused. Camille kneeled and it seemed like she was imitating what I had done with her husband. Again I asked myself if she was really into oral sex. To be blunt, her technique sucked and all she was doing was bobbing her heads on him, taking maybe half of his dick in her mouth at most and it's not like Steve is all that spectacularly hung.

Aunt Linda let her go for maybe a minute and that seemed to be enough for her purposes.

"So Keith, any particular way you'd like to see Steve have sex with your wife?"

Keith seemed surprised by the question but not more than Camille. I guess she had assumed that she would get to choose the same as her husband had. I wouldn't have been surprised if she had gone for missionary and I bet that my aunt was thinking the same - hence the question to her husband.

"How about on top... facing away," he said after thinking a few seconds. Hmmmmmm, was Keith into porn and this was one of the positions he liked watching the most?

Camille pursed her lips for a moment but then caught herself and a smile appeared. Whether it was real or not I wasn't sure but it didn't matter one way or the other. Steve was on his back with his head on the pillow, holding his dick at the base to point it to the ceiling.

As Camille mounted Steve I became more and more certain that this was f first for her. She just seemed too hesitant for it to be something she'd done much in the past, if at all. Still, I had to give her credit for her determination as she straddled his lap and positioned herself over him.

"Steve, let her do it," my aunt cut in as he started to position his dick to enter her. She didn't have to say more - I knew what she was going for. She wanted to record HER positioning his cock into her pussy so there was no doubt she wanted it.

Camille reached between her thighs for Steve's cock and wiggled about to get it right and then quickly sat on it, driving it into her in one quick movement. She must have been more turned on than I had suspected because Steve hadn't licked her and I hadn't seen her masturbate at all before this.

"Damn girl, you sure you have two kids?" Steve gasped as she ground on his dick. He was being kind I was sure but then it just made me all the more proud of him.

"Lean forward... put your hands on his knees," my aunt offered advice. She did as told, giving my husband a perfect view of her ass and his dick in her pussy. It also gave the same view to Aunt Linda's camera. Sure enough, just as she had told me she hardly ever gave Keith the time of day with all her shots being of Camille.

Seeing Keith fucking Camille was more erotic than anything hot. Everything had proceeded so fast there really hadn't been time to get that involved in the action. Even though I was still nude, as was Keith sitting next to me, I didn't even play with myself. It was almost clinical the more I thought about it with my aunt moving about taking shots from various angles, especially of her face and her reaction to the feel of another man's cock in her.

Steve was doing the best he could, humping under her to try and cum as quick as possible.

"OK stud, same as our Keith did," my aunt told him as he started to get that look on his face we both knew so well. "One on the ass, the rest inside."

Well, when he DID cum he totally missed her butt. In fact, the first shot flew so high it landed in the hair that was hanging down her back and a little on her back. He struggled a little to get back in her and before she could help a second shot landed right in her ass crack and started to run down. The rest he was able to shoot in her pussy as she sat down on him and let him cum while under her.

This time my aunt had different plans for Camille than she'd had for me when I was full of cum.

"Nice job Camille... now roll off of him and lay on your back," she said quickly. Once Camille was laying back she continued, "Now lift up your legs and spread... that's it... now push like you're having a baby again."

With a little work Camille was able to push out Steve's cum until it started to drain down her butt onto the sheets. My aunt was right up close, catching every drop as it emerged.

Then just as fast as it had started it was over. Steve got up and came over to give me a big kiss. God I wanted soooooo bad to suck his dick after having just fucked Camille but there was business to finish.

"OK, that does it," my aunt said as she put away the camera, "While I can't say anything official until your video is reviewed, I don't think you're going to have any problems."

Then she smiled at looked at Camille adding, "And I have to say dear, you really got into this a lot more than I'd expected!"

Camille seemed to blush and then she nodded to Steve, "Well, I had a good partner."

Not to be outdone, Keith chimed in with, "and Kelly... damn what can I say? You're a lucky man Steve."

Then Keith asked Aunt Linda, "So when do you think we can start with other couples?"

"Maybe a week at most," she answered as we all started to get dressed, "The reviews should be done in a day or two and then we have to update the profiles and get everything posted."

Keith looked a little disappointed but then he seemed to brighten up. Nothing more was said until we all were dressed and about to say our goodbyes.

"Ummmmm, not sure how to say this," he stammered, looking at his wife who seemed just as clueless as the rest of us as to where he was going. "OK, I'll just say it then. Would you guys like to get together for dinner tonight?"

I think we were all a little surprised but I had to say it was an interesting idea. Everything had been so fast and clinical that I wouldn't mind doing it again in a more casual atmosphere - and without the video camera.

"Is that like legal?" I asked.

My aunt laughed answering, "Well of course it's legal... you're all adults. And I guess it's not like you don't know each other already. Although I'll say this is the first time I know of that anyone has done this right after their interview. So are you saying you're ok with this Kelly?"

I looked at Steve and he just grinned. Yeah, like I had to even ask. We all were in agreement. Steve and Keith discussed arrangements while the three women all giggled about how the interview had gone.

Eventually it was all worked out. We would go out for dinner and then simply return to this same room since it was booked for the entire night anyway so why waste money on another one? Their kids were old enough that they didn't have to worry about finding a sitter at the last minute. What excuse would they come up with for why they would be away the entire night? Oh well, they would work that out by the time they got home.

6. Dinner for Four

One of the best things about what we had planned was we would be spending the night with them at the hotel. Just going to bed with a guy, having sex and then leaving shortly after seems to cheapen the evening for me. Steve and I make it a firm rule not to do repeat swaps so it's not like I am looking for any sort of relationship to develop. In fact, the reason we don't repeat with anyone is just so that doesn't happen! In this case while we had technically "swapped" with Keith and Camilla, I don't consider our initial encounter as being a true swap so it wasn't like we were breaking any of our own rules.

For me when it comes to spending time with another man it's all about emotions and sentiment. If I'm going to let a stranger fuck me then I at least like to feel as if I mean something to him, at least for that evening. Otherwise I may as well be his whore for the night. I love it when a man takes the time to stay in me after he cums, our bodies joined in the aftermath of mating. I like to fall asleep naked in a man's arms and wake to the feel of his firm erection pressing against me, knowing he wants me yet again. I like to whisper to him as our naked bodies press together, feeling his hands running all over me as he tells me his most intimate secrets. For a few brief hours I fulfill his every desire and I know that during that time he wants nobody more than me, not even his own wife.

We chose a relatively expensive restaurant for dinner but nothing too extreme. An upper-end joint tends to have fewer families and kids in general and provided for a more intimate atmosphere. Places like Friday's or Applebee's are much too noisy with too many people coming and going to allow for any sort of sexual dialogue to develop. While this place was known for its seafood (my first love), it also had a reputation for good steaks as well so it should satisfy anyone's pallet. Not that the primary goal for the evening was an exquisite meal but at the same time if you're going to have one, why not enjoy it?

Steve had made the reservations and as it turned out we were the first to arrive. As I took off my coat and handed it to Steve so he could check it, I was pleased to notice some of the other men waiting for their table glancing my way. It had been quite the debate for me earlier in choosing a dress to wear so I was pleased that my final choice was passing the second test of the evening. The first, of course, had been Steve's reaction when I stepped out from the bedroom and posed. I'd bought this dress months before but hadn't had just the right night to wear it until now so he'd never seen it on me before.

"Damn!" was all he'd said but the ravenous look in his eyes and the way he licked his lips told me more than anything he could say.

I turned to the side, allowing the high-cut slit to part just enough to show off my leg almost up to my hip. Although I had a black thong on underneath it was cut high enough so as not to reveal itself, lending the illusion that I MIGHT not have anything on underneath the dress.

The dress was a one-shoulder style where my right shoulder was bare and the dress came up and over the left shoulder for support. I actually preferred it over a couple of strapless versions I'd tried on as the extra support allowed for it not to be so tight around my boobs as to make me feel like I couldn't even breathe. This then allowed for the cleavage to plunge and hang just loose enough that it appeared that any second my boobs might fall out of it but yet just enough that I didn't.

Under my bust the dress was cut tight, showing off my firm stomach and hips and then loosening up down to my ankles. The left side was slit up almost to my hip but the dress was cut in such a way that it only really showed my leg if I pushed out my foot ahead of me and twisted slightly. Then again, if I sat down and put my left leg over my right then it certainly veiled a LOT of leg as well as some hip but then I could always cross the right instead in situations where that might be too risqu,. Sort of hard to imagine THAT sort of situation but the option was always there.

I suppose it goes without saying that I wasn't wearing a bra. Even if I was so inclined the neckline cut much low. Then again it wasn't like I needed one all the time anyway. If it wasn't for my job and sexy date nights for my husband, I'd probably not bother buying one in the first place. I DID go for a thin black thong but that was more for Keith than anything else. Around my left ankle I wore my favorite ankle bracelet that my father had given to me. Simple black pumps with ridiculously high heels on my feet were totally uncomfortable but the things women will do to make their legs look great! I also wore a delicate gold braid chain around my neck from which my gold and diamond studded cross was attached, hanging down right above my cleavage.

My hair... what can I say about my hair! All my life I'd fought it and I suppose I will for the rest of my life as well. Even $150 at the salon earlier didn't get the results I wanted but at least it looked better than it would have if I hadn't gone at all. Normally it's straight without a hint of anything but tonight I had fullness with enough curl to make it look thicker and with more body than normal.

"So you like it?" I asked sweetly, knowing full well what the answer would be but then what girl doesn't want to hear it?

"You... look... FANTASTIC!" Steve gushed as he moved over to me and wrapped his arms around me, clenching my ass with his hands as he kissed me.

"You know I have to redo my lipstick now," I teased him when he finally let me go.

"It was worth it," he said smiling at me but I noticed his eyes were fixed right where they belonged - my exposed cleavage. Well, may be for him as I was the one who had to head back to the bathroom to touch myself up again.

It felt a little out of place to climb up into Steve's pickup truck dressed like I was going to the prom. Someday I hope he'll break down and buy something a little less... manly I guess you could say. My car wasn't exactly in the best of shape so we tried to minimize the miles on it but that meant driving around town like we were heading for a rodeo. The only redeeming value was the full bench seat - not something you see much anymore. I loved riding up next to him and it made a lot of other things a lot easier as well if you know what I mean. Not tonight though - not in this dress and $150 for my hair before we even got there!

Soon after we were seated Keith and Camille made their appearance. Keith looked handsome in a dark blue sports coat and matching slacks. He even wore a tie over his white shirt. It was almost like he was heading for church after dinner. Camille was dressed in a conservative cream-colored dress that came to mid-calf. It was sleeveless but came up high to her neck. Judging from the looks of things, she was wearing a bra underneath as well. Her matching heels were about two inches at most and she had on nude hose. Her hair was loose with a bit of curl but nothing fancy. I guess she hadn't rushed to the salon the way I had.

Steve stood up as a gentleman should and shook Keith's hand. I smiled at Camilla who took the seat across from me as we assumed a boy-girl seating arrangement.

"Well we made it," Camille giggled as we all settled in.

Keith was smiling so I had to ask, "Oh, problems?"

This time they both smiled and Camille was looking down at her plate when Keith answered.

"You have to admit that this morning was pretty intense... especially for us as you can imagine. You guys do this sort of stuff all the time so I guess it's no big deal but that was the first time I'd ever seen Camille with another man - or her seeing me with another woman."

Camille finally looked up and add, "I think it really hit me when we lied to Emily about being away for the night. I was thinking about what if she told me such a story so that she could spend the night with one of her boyfriends. I don't think I've ever lied to my daughter this way before."

The waitress showed up just then and took our drink orders. I asked for my usual - Diet Coke, while Camille asked for a Chardonnay and the guys both ordered beers. I silently prayed that Keith wouldn't drink TOO much. Not only did beer give bad breath but I think it makes a guy's cum taste bitter.

Once she was gone I took the opportunity to change the subject. After all, we really didn't know anything about them so far as their personal lives were concerned. We talked about our families and interests. Of course neither Steve or I made any mention about incest. So far as I knew, neither of them even had any idea that Linda was my aunt. There had been a couple instances where I almost slipped and called her "aunt" but I managed to catch myself every time.

Other than the one brief mention of their daughter at the start, I noticed that she was carefully kept out of the conversation. Normally parents are all too proud not to mention their kid's accomplishments which made the lack of mention all the more blatant.

Dinner was served finally and as we ate the conversation slowed but also became more focused.

"So how long have you and Steve been married?" Camilla asked.

"It will be two years this coming August," I replied proudly, taking Steve's hand and squeezing it.

"And when did you start swapping?" she asked.

Steve coughed and I almost slapped him as I answered, "About a month after we got married."

I had a feeling it would surprise her so I was ready for the wide eyes and open mouth and didn't react.

"So I guess you guys really like it then," Keith said stepping into the conversation.

I looked at Steve for him to answer.

"We think it keeps our marriage fresh," he said, emphasizing the "we". Yeah right, it was HIS idea from the start but not that I complained.

"So why did you guys decide to get into it after all these years?" I asked Camille.

This time it was her turn to give her husband "the look". Keith rolled his eyes just a bit and took a deep breath before answering.

"I suppose it was our neighbors. He was joking one day about some of the hot wives in the neighborhood and made some comment about swapping. I thought he was joking at first but gradually he started telling me... well telling me things that they were into. I suppose one thing led to another and finally he asked me if Camille and I would be interested in doing such things. At first I thought he meant with him and his wife but I thought that would be a little kinky with them living right next door and all. Then he mentioned the group. So now we're here."

"Camille, have you ever seen Keith with another woman before this morning?" I asked.

Again she seemed embarrassed but she did answer. "Oh no, never before. It was harder than I thought but Linda had warned us not to show any hesitation or reluctance so I think I put on a pretty good show."

As she spoke, I felt a hand on my leg over my dress. It was from the left side – Keith's side of the table. I didn't say or do anything to indicate that I knew what he was doing but at the same time I also didn't do anything to discourage him. If anything I was wondering if my husband was doing the same with his wife. Probably not as I had a feeling she wouldn't have disguised her surprise very well.

"I don't know if Linda told you or not about us," I started and then felt a nudge against my knee from Steve. Apparently he thought I was going to spill the beans but he should have known better than that. I'd had over twelve years of experience in not making such mistakes and I wasn't about to start now.

Ignoring him, I continued, "but this was our first time doing the interview thinking with someone."

"Oh really?" Camille asked, "So how does that work? Do you volunteer, put your name on a list, or what?"

Little did she have a clue as to the truth and my answer didn't bring her any closer.

"Oh we've known her since we first got started. She videoed our interview as well. I guess she just knows how much we've come to enjoy it and she thought that we might find this as something new. After all, isn't that why people swap in the first place - for something new?"

Keith grinned and it was obvious that was why HE wanted to swap. Typical man. He leaned forward a little over the table, allowing his hand to slip between the slit opening of my dress and land on my bare upper thigh. Our seats weren't really all that close so he had to lean over quite a bit, making it obvious to everyone what he was doing but he didn't seem to mind. For that matter, neither did anyone else. Even Camille seemed to be trying her best to be a team player.

"Feel good honey?" she teased her husband. Then she looked at me with a wild look in her eyes. "You know, not long ago had he done anything like that I would've slugged him!"

I smiled back. "Well to be honest, he's being quite the gentleman - at least so far."

With that I reached under the table and took his hand, pulling it up into my warm crotch. Keith responded immediately, pressing his finger into my slit through my thong. He was now leaning so far forward he was pressed against the table. Anyone looking would think was trying to reach his shoe or something as the table cloth hung low enough to conceal the true location of his hand.

"NOW he's not being so gentlemanly," I said with a sly grin. Keith then pressed his finger almost into me, or at least as far as he could stretch the fabric of my thong. "Make that VERY ungentlemanly!"

The way the others reacted made it more a game than anything sexy. I let him rub me a little more and then pushed his hand away. Keith sat up straight again, looking a little sheepish all of a sudden.

"He ever do that to you before?" I asked Camille.

She gave her husband a sharp look and sighed, "Not for a LONG time... back when we were dating he use to get quite frisky."

"Maybe next time you guys go out he might be again after tonight... won't you Keith," I said to him in a tone that expressed I meant that he WOULD, not that he MIGHT.

Steve was starting to get a little restless. He never was very patient with the preliminaries. Heck, I think if he had his choice we'd just meet at the hotel room and jump right in bed. Well, sometimes there's something to be said for that but I felt like this was helping Camille and Keith work their way into things.

"So tell me Keith, how did feel when you got back home and had time to think about this morning?" I asked. Steve glared at me, pissed off most likely that I was prolonging it even longer. Keith didn't seem to mind though as he glanced at Camille before turning back to me.

"Like I said earlier, it was pretty intense. In fact, I think it was maybe 50-50 as to whether or not we were going to call Linda and call the whole thing off."

I arched my eyebrows. "So what made up your minds to meet us tonight?" Again Keith looked at his wife before responding and then said, "To be honest, if it wasn't with you guys and then so soon afterwards, maybe we would have dropped out. We figured since we sort of got things started with you two, why not spend the night and see how that goes before making our final decision."

"So you really haven't made a final decision then?" I asked.

Keith shook his head while Camille let him do all the talking. "I hope that's OK with you guys?"

That was Steve's cue.

"Of course it is," he insisted, "So what do you say we go and get this started for real?"

Nobody protested so Steve signaled for the check. Within a few minutes we were heading back to the hotel for the second time in one day. We'd agreed that

Steve and I would go in first since we had the key and then Camille and Keith would follow a few minutes later so it wouldn't look like all four of us were entering the same room.

We were on the second floor so it's not like the elevator ride was all that long. I suppose we could have theoretically taken the stairs but anyone who would suggest such a thing has never worn four inch heels and a tight dress. Walking in a straight line is challenge enough! I once read a quote from a Hollywood actress that went something like this, "When I come home along the FIRST thing I take off is my shoes. When I come home with a man, the LAST thing I take off are my shoes." personally, I think she said it all.

Once in the room, true to that starlet's observation, the shoes remained on. Steve hung up my coat in the wardrobe closet with the tiny ironing board and built-in safe, along with his own jacket. Then he turned to me and put his wonderful arms around me to hug me tight and kiss me.

"What do you say we just leave the door locked and spend the night her by ourselves," he whispered huskily in my ear as he leaned down over me.

As much as I thought the idea had merit, I knew he was just trying to be romantic. There was no way he was going to actually DO that!

As we kissed he reached his right hung down to my hip and slip it under my dress through the slit side. I felt the palm of his hand cup my bare ass and squeeze it, then releasing me and roaming about my all but bare butt until he found my thong. Not that there was much to find.

"Damn, for a moment there I thought you'd changed your mind and gone commando tonight," he said in a low deep voice as he slipped his fingers under the thin material just at the top of my ass crack where it appeared, "You know, if this was any smaller you may as well not bother wearing one."

I giggled and replied, "Well, it's got a little more in the front and besides, that's sort of the whole idea anyway, keeping you guys guessing."

"God I love your ass," he groaned as his hand moved all over my butt, "It's like so... so perfect."

Steve was always going about my butt but I loved it when he did. He'd learned back when we were first dating that if he wanted something from me the best way was to compliment my ass over anything else, especially back then when there wasn't much about my body to compliment.

Where this might have gone was not to be found out though as there was a light knock on the door.

"Our partners have arrived," I whispered as he continued to play grab-ass, "Ummmmm, dear... let go of my ass and answer the door."

Begrudgingly his hand slipped from out of my dress and I quickly straightened myself out as he went to the door while I stayed standing in the center of the room waiting.

As someone once said... Let the games begin!

7. Swapping

Of course it was Keith and Camille although I guess there was always a possibility no matter how remote of it being a maid or other hotel staff. They were carrying their coats over their arms and Steve offered to help with Camille's while Keith hung up his own.

"I see you've got him trained well Kelly," Camille observed as she handed over her coat.

At least she didn't say I had him trained "good" which gave her a check mark in the "good" category. I guess I have found that people with decent grammar skills tend to have better skills in other things as well.

"Actually you can thank his mother for that," I answered back, "Later you can thank ME for what I taught him."

She acted a little uncertain at that one but quickly recovered her composure.

"So anyways... how does this usually work," Keith asked anxiously, "I mean do we just split up, undress, or what?"

I left this one to Steve.

"Actually there's no standard scenario," he started, "It's a little different with every couple which is why we like meeting with different people."

Keith nodded. He appeared to be loose and nonchalant but after watching him for less than two minutes I quickly got the impression it was all a big act on his part. Maybe it was to impress his wife but in any course, it didn't make a difference.

"I hope you don't mind me saying that this morning was a little intense," Keith reacted, "I think both of us felt a little rushed by Linda. Is she always that way?"

Oh the things I could tell him about my favorite aunt! "Could" being the operative word as I never would do it.

"Honestly I hate those interviews," Steve said. Oh what a liar! "They seem so artificial... almost like a porn movie or something like that."

Then he looked at me and I think he say the impatience in my eyes and knew it was time to get things moving.

"How about we do this...," Steve started anew and then paused briefly, "Some people like to do the all-together thing if you know what I mean. Kelly and I usually prefer to enjoy ourselves alone with the other couple."

Keith and Camille looked a little confused and I did myself. Yes, there separate beds but so far as I was concerned those didn't qualify for the intimacy trademark. Then we all got a surprise...

Steve walked over to the door in the sidewall, the one that interconnects hotel rooms like when you have a big family or a party to let people go between room without having to go out in the hallway and disturb people. He undid the bolt lock and opened the door. The door to the other room was open as well leading to a room that was essentially a mirror image of this one.

"So now Kelly and Keith can have their own room while Camille and I can have ours as well. I suggest we leave the doors shut but unlocked. Anybody have a preference in rooms?"

Once again my guys proved himself to be a wonderfully thoughtful husband. I had no idea when he had worked out the second room but I wasn't going to complain, that was for sure!

Meanwhile Keith and Camille seemed a little confused as well. I imagine that after the events of the morning they probably accepted that they would be doing it again under the same conditions as their first time which meant in view of the other while they each had sex with someone else. Now things were going to be much more intimate and private. Yes, it was exactly what I'd wanted but hopefully it would turn out that way for everyone else before it was over.

Keith and Camille whispered something between them and it was Camille that did the talking this time.

"Well, we really weren't expecting this to be honest. So you mean I will be spending the entire night alone with Steve?" she said slowly but firmly, "And the same goes for Keith and Kelly?"

Since she was talking now I figured it was my turn to contribute to the dialogue.

"Are you OK with that? After all, this IS supposed to be a swap, not a gangbang."

I asked the question while looking directly at Camille as I had the idea it was her with the doubts. After everything else today, it was a little late to say no to anything I would think.

Camille shrugged and stood a little straighter saying, "Well, let's give it a shot then. This is what you wanted, isn't it honey?"

Oh boy, now THAT was a warning sign if I ever saw one but thankfully Keith just smiled at her and took her hand and squeezed it.

"Well what are we waiting for?" Steve asked enthusiastically, "Let's get fucking!"

I winced a little at that one as it things still seemed a little delicate in the room but didn't say anything to bring any more attention to his words. Steve reached out for Camille's hand and escorted her into the other room, closing the door behind them.

"Well, I guess that leaves you and me," Keith observed, stating the obvious.

"How about I just take off this dress before it gets ruined and we can talk a little bit first," I offered.

"And me?" he asked before I had a chance to do anything.

"You look fine for the moment," I assured him, "Here... help me with the zipper."

I turned my back to him but I could still see the both of us in the mirror over the desk. His hands felt a little cold as he carefully undid the clasp and then worked the delicate zipper down slowly.

"You know for what they charge for women's clothing you would think they could make them a little easier to deal with," I commiserated with him as he struggled.

With it unzipped I carefully stepped out of it, leaving me with just my heels, thong and jewelry still on. The cool air in the room quickly brought my exposed nipples to their fully heightened state of arousal. I laid the dress carefully out over the back of the chair. I turned to him and saw his eyes involuntarily drop to my breasts which were now in plain view.

"Just sit and relax for a few," I prodded him and after he had, I took a seat sitting sideways on the edge of the bed with my right leg under me and my left leg up against his leg with my foot barely touching the floor for balance.

"You can put your arm around me," I said softly and then giggled, "After all we DID have sex about twelve hours ago, didn't we?"

That seemed to break the ice a little as he put his arm around me with his hand on my opposite hip.

"You know, we really haven't had a chance to just, well, you know, TALK," I started as I laid my left hand on the top of his leg on his pants. "Is there anything you want to ask me first before things get too heavy?"

At first he didn't say anything but I just kept quiet - an old lawyer's trick my dad had taught me. "Nature abhors silence," he'd told me long ago, "If you want someone to say something, then just sit and don't say a word. Sooner or later they will fill the room with words." My dad was always right about such things...

"Ok a couple of things," Keith blurted out, "I feel silly asking though.

"Awwwwww, nothing you ask me is silly."

"OK then... How many men have you had sex with?"

"Why does it matter?" I asked, stalling until I could figure out where he was coming from.

"I don't know," he said in more a mumble than a real voice, "Guess I'm just curious."

"Twelve," I answered lying through my teeth, "At least if you count full penetration."

That seemed to relieve him somewhat. I figure there are three reasons why men ask that question. First, the male ego thing. Guys want to be the "best she ever had" and that's not easy when she's fucked a couple of hundred other men before him. Second, concern over STDs as the more partners you have, the greater the odds. Then lastly, some guys just don't want to have sex with a slut. Sort of stupid I know, but that's been reason for a number of guys. Whatever Keith's reason, we were past that now.

"When did you start?"

I smiled and patted him on the thigh. "You first.. tell me when you lost yours."

Keith seemed a little less anxious to answer than he had been to ask but nonetheless he did.

"Seventeen, it was horrible. Neither of us knew what we were doing. I mean I didn't even really know for sure how to do it. Don't laugh - I didn't'! We never saw each other again after that."

Keith stiffened.

"Don't worry, I won't say anything to her, promise," I assured him, "Why else bring up all this stuff about the neighbors and such?"

He didn't say a word yet although his hand was back to massaging my boob again.

"You know Keith, it's only natural for a father to have such feelings for his daughter at her age. After all, you may be her father but you're still a man," I said as I moved my hand into his crotch and pressed my hand against his stiffening cock. Oh yeah, the big head might be reluctant to discuss all this but not so when it came to the little head.

"But it's incest... and Camille would cut off my nuts if she ever found out."

"Found out what?"

"It's not fair," he went on complaining as if he hadn't heard me, "She wears practically nothing around the house and her bikinis keep getting smaller in all the same places she's getting larger. And she knows it... I know damn well she does. Anytime she wants something she sits on my lap and grinds her cute little bubble butt on me and daddy caves in every time. I mean what the hell is a man SUPPOSE to feel? I'm not a eunuch for crying out loud."

"Here... let's try something," I told him as I quickly slipped my thong down my legs and over my heels. I crawled up on the bed naked except for my shoes and laid on my back down the center of the bed with my head propped up by two pillows. The comforter was still off from this morning so the cool sheets felt good against my nude body. Parting my legs just enough, I turned my head to him.

"Close your eyes Keith," I said softly. When he did I continued, "Now tell me what your favorite fantasy is about Emily... tell me what you like to think about most when you masturbate about her."

That last part was pushing a little as he hadn't ever actually admitted to jerking off about his daughter but I knew from past experience that making a statement as if it's fact often serves to confirm that it IS fact."

Keith sighed, maybe it qualified for a moan. "Oh my god... she's sleeping, wearing just a light cotton T-shirt that's too short to cover anything. I peek in her bedroom and see she's thrown off her covers and sheet and is lying there all but naked in the moonlight."

I had a pretty good idea where this was going so rather than waste time with the details I figured it would be best to go for the real thing.

then two fingers deep inside of me, using his thumb then to rub my clit as he "fucked" me with his fingers while I continued with his dick in my mouth.

"I want you," he said in a deep husky voice, "Oh god I want you so bad Emily."

"Then what are you waiting for daddy?" I finally spoke as he sat back which allowed his dick to slip from my mouth and allow me to speak again.

He didn't answer but instead slid off the edge of the bed and stood up. He then rapidly ripped off his clothes until he was naked in front of me. It's not like I hadn't seen him naked less than twelve hours before but there was something entirely different about the entire scene and atmosphere, something intensely erotic.

Had I done nothing I have no doubt the outcome would have been the same but I couldn't resist. Why not make it a moment he would never forget? I knew what he wanted to hear. The same words EVERY man wanted to hear from a girl but especially a father from his nubile young daughter...

"Fuck me daddy... I want you to fuck me now!"

He had his eyes open now but somehow I got the idea he was still looking at Emily. His eyes had the crazy faraway look you see in a man's eyes when he makes that transition from a normal man to a sexual entity. It was the same look I saw in my dad's eyes when we first started having sex and even still today, the same that I saw in my husband's eyes when we made love. It was almost frightening in its intensity, its animal-like ferociousness. When I see I know one thing for sure - he was going to fuck me and there wasn't a damn thing I could do about it, even if for whatever unimaginable reason I wanted to do something.

Keith moved to the end of the bed and grabbed my ankles, one in each hand. Then in one strong pull he brought me down to the edge of the bed, spreading my legs apart and then pushing them back until they were almost against the side of my face.

"Your pussy is so beautiful baby," he moaned as he reached down to rub it while he stroked his erection. The he pressed the head up against me, not enough to penetrate me but just enough to let me feel it trying.

"Tell me you want this Emily... tell me what you want daddy to do to you."

Role-playing is not typically one of my strongest suits but in this case it was an incredible turn-on to pretend to be his daughter.

"Oh daddy, I love you.. Show me how much you love me. Give me your love daddy, give me it all."

"Oh yes baby, whatever you want," he said as the last part sounded more forced as he pressed forward, shoving his dick inside of me.

Granted, I'm sure Emily's pussy wouldn't have allowed him to slide in quite so easily but then it wasn't like I was exactly loose either. Even after having been sexually active for over fourteen years and granting access to hundreds of dicks, I like to think my pussy still holds up well in comparison to even a fifteen year-old. OK, so maybe I'm being a little overly egotistical but it's not like anyone's complained to me about it.

"Oh daddy... deeper," I moaned as I enjoyed the feel of him filling me.

At first he didn't say anything but instead he leaned into me and drove himself in until I felt the base of his dick pressing up against my ass. His pubic hair smashed up in between us, feeling like a soft hairbrush being run over my asshole. Then with his dick fully imbedded, he groaned out loud.

"Oh god Emily, I want to fuck you so bad!"

For the next hour or so I managed to keep changing positions and manipulating him before finally he couldn't hold out any longer. I was riding him cowgirl, facing him as his hands each held one of my boobs while I bounced on his dick. Then I felt him jerk under me and I knew what was happening.

"That's it daddy, cum in me," I encouraged him, "Give me your love... I want all your love for me."

He humped under me as I kept the pressure down on him, letting his splash his sperm deep inside of me each time I felt his hips push up against me. God he must have come a quart inside of me given the number of times he ejaculated!

When he finished, I stayed on top, letting my legs push out behind me as I leaned forward and laid on top of his chest. He kissed the top of my head and it was then I realized that he hadn't kissed me once the entire time. He hadn't even licked my pussy and if he was like 99% of the guys that fucked me, he wouldn't now that he'd cum in me. I just turned my head and laid down on top of him, distributing my weight so as not to crush him and feeling his arms around me as he hugged me.

"Did you like that daddy?" I asked softly.

"That was amazing!" he gasped, trying to catch his breath, "But you can call me Keith now."

I felt exhausted and now doubt he must have as well. As I laid there I felt his arms loosen and before long he started to snore a bit - nothing like a foghorn but still a bit annoying. Then again I don't know of many guys who don't, even those in their twenties, especially after a long round of sex.

Somewhere along the line I must have fallen asleep as when I opened my eyes I realized that I must have slipped off the side of him and was now laying against him with one arm and leg draped on top. Keith was sound asleep and I saw his dick was laying flaccid to one side, barely even visible from this vantage point. It was just too tempting to ignore!

One of the things I love about dicks is their independence. It's no wonder they are referred to as the "little head". Still, I would say that only applies in terms of physical size. If you were going to base it on the amount of influence it exerts over a man in comparison to his so-called "big head", we'd be swapping those names around without question.

What I'm referring to is the reaction I was getting as I gently stroked his cock as Keith slept soundly away oblivious to what I was doing. Even though he was practically unconscious, his dick still responded to my ministrations. When it started to harden, I gently got up enough to move down to his crotch and took him in my mouth. Mmmmmmm, he still smelled and tasted like me!

Slowly his dick hardened in my mouth, a sensation that REALLY turns me on. I love the way it extends further and further into my mouth and gradually fills me up as his dick lengthens and expands. Keith wasn't exactly huge so I didn't have to worry about deep-throating him per se but he DID fill me up satisfactorily when taking in to account his width.

As he got fully erect, I played gently with his hairy balls as I licked his cock up and down the sides and then played with the tip of his dick using my tongue only. All the while he never hardly so much as moved a muscle! Just when I thought I might get him to cum without waking up, I heard him groan and his hands moved up to grab my head, more of an exploratory move than anything else.

"What the heck...?" he started to say when his eyes focused and the fog cleared from his "big" head enough to let home figure out what was happening to him.

"God, you never get enough, do you?"

I lifted my head to smile at him and licked my lips. "Are you complaining?"

At that his eyes widened and he vigorously shook his head.

"Hell no!" he said emphatically, letting his hands drop to his sides.

"You're going to fuck me again Keith, right now," I said with not even a hint of uncertainty.

"Damn.... What time is it?" he said, his head evidently not in full gear yet.

"What difference does it make?" I chastised him, "I need to be fucked and you're going to do it. And this time you're fucking ME, not your daughter."

I didn't so much yell at him or try to be overly stern, but I wanted him to know he didn't really have a say in the matter and it was MY turn to be satisfied.

Actually, I didn't have any idea what time it was. The clock on the nightstand was turned such that I couldn't see the face and the heavy curtains were closed such that I wasn't even sure if it was dawn yet. For all I knew it might have been only a short time since we fell asleep or it could be almost time to meet back up with our spouses. Oh well, even if the latter were the case, they would just have to wait.

We were both nude with the covers thrown off, with the only light coming from the bathroom where the light had been left on by one of us. Still it was more than sufficient to see by and even if it had been dark I don't think it would've mattered anyway. Keith rolled over and pushed me on my back, pushing the length of his nude body against mine. His dick was already erect and I could feel it pressing in to my hip as he scooted in closer. He started to suck on my nipples but I was too horny to play around with that.

"Eat my pussy this time," I told him, "Let's see if you can make me cum."

What I didn't add was that of he ever going to bring me to an orgasm it would be now. True, too many men don't have a clue what to do when their face is between a girl's thighs but as horny as I was at the moment if he couldn't then there was something seriously wrong!

Keith got between my legs and put his hands under my thighs just above my knees. Then he lifted my up and back so my ass was off the bed and my pussy was open and available without having to get down to the level of the bed. His tongues reached out and I shivered as I felt it run up between my pussy lips and then over my clit which was already swollen and ready to go.

"That's it Keith, suck on it gently... not as hard as you were with my nipples... use your tongue more," I instructed him. "Oh yeah... right THERE!" I cried out as his tongue caressed my clit perfectly. His lips surrounded it and his tongue dashed all over, twirling and lapping on my hyper-sensitive clit.

"Oh god YES!" I moaned as I felt first one finger and then a second penetrate my pussy as he continued to slobber all over my pussy.

Keith looked up at me and grinned, his face glistening in the soft light with the wetness of my pussy. "Damn, I LOVE you being shaved," he said quickly as he caught his breath, "No hair in my teeth!"

I playfully smacked him on top of his head and he resumed his earlier position. When he would go off course I'd correct him and the longer he went on the more I found myself enjoying him.

I felt my orgasm rising and put my hands on top of his head and pushed down on it crying, "Don't stop... don't you DARE stop now!"

God it felt so good! Exactly what I'd woke up and found myself craving. I'm sure everyone has this moments when it's like you can't think of anything except sex and you'd do just about anything to have it.

Finally I just laid back with my head on the pillow, my legs being held up entirely by Keith as I just collapsed. Keith lifted his head out of my crotch with a big grin on his face.

"So did I do good teacher?" he asked like a young boy. For a moment I felt a bit of a jolt. Just how the heck did he know I was a teacher? There are some things I never put on profiles on adult sites - one of them that I am a teacher. Too many bad things can happen when people know that. Then I realized he was just teasing me for giving him so many instructions.

"Not bad for a new student," I teased him back.

"Did you cum?" he asked.

Like duh? If that wasn't an orgasm than I don't know what was. I nodded and he seemed to be happy with his accomplishment.

"So NOW can I fuck you?" he sighed, lowering my legs down but remaining kneeling between them.

I laughed and answered, "Why aren't you in me already?"

He grinned broadly and reached down to grab me under my ass. Then he lifted me up and pulled me into his thighs as he remained kneeling. I felt his stiff dick immediately press against me as he got me in tight up against him. My arms were outspread to balance myself as he maneuvered his cock until he literally popped inside of me!

"Damn you're so much tighter than Camille," he grunted as he pushed himself in deeper. I suppose not having pushed a couple of babies through mine gave me an advantage that no mother could overcome but I accepted the compliment without saying anything about that.

"Well Keith, my advice to you is to masturbate about Emily but other than that, stick to swapping. You seem to have gotten though this one pretty well."

Keith mumbled something and then said, "Guess I'm a little worried about Camille. I hope everything went well for her with your husband."

"His name's Steve," I reminded him as I gently tugged on his "leash".

"Sorry, Steve then," he apologized.

"She hasn't come rushing back in her so I would take that as a good sign," I observed.

Keith turned onto his back and stared at the ceiling.

"How do you deal with it Kelly?" he asked with a sigh.

"Deal with what?"

"Jealousy, worrying about comparisons, you know... that sort of stuff."

"Awwwwww... so you're worried that Camille will start comparing you to other men," I observed.

"Well... yeah, he said so low I could barely hear him, "I mean look at me... my penis is smaller than Steve's... actually smaller than most men I would say. I could lose more than a few pounds, my hair on the top of my head is disappearing and reappearing in all sorts of places elsewhere. I haven't had the experience of guys like Steve. What if Camille isn't happy with me anymore?"

I reached over and grabbed his dick again. I guess I just enjoy holding dicks, what can I say?

"If anything I think it makes our marriage even stronger," I answered him, "Sure I get laid by guys who are so-called 'better' than Steve in some ways but Steve is my husband and the only man I love and truly care about. It makes me feel secure to know that he trusts me enough to be with other men and still want him afterwards. It's sort of the same for me. I know Steve has sex with other partners much more erotic than me but when it's over it's me he comes home to. Doesn't that say something?"

He seemed to be digesting what I'd said so far so I continued saying, "Today when you go home, you will have the best sex of your marriage, trust me. If you think of me, so what? You're going to be making love to your own wife and that's what matters."

Mmmmmmm, his dick was actually getting hard again! I wondered when the last time he managed so many erections in such a short time.

"So tell me Keith, how does it feel to be with a woman other than your wife?"

Keith couldn't help but look down where I was stroking his dick which was gradually stiffening again.

"It still all seems a little crazy to be honest. I mean, 24 hours ago I'd hadn't been with anyone but Camille since we started dating and now..."

I smiled at him and put my head against his chest. "So do you like me stroking you like this? Does Camille do this to you in the morning?"

Keith grinned at that one. "Actually I have to admit Camille takes pretty good care of me. I've never been one of those guys bitching that my wife wouldn't blow me after she got the ring. Hell, if anything she's more into oral sex now than she ever has been."

I tried to suppress a giggle. Odds were his wife's increased "interest" in oral sex was more lie compensation for his lessening abilities as they got older. Still, I was impressed. It wasn't often that a man in his position admitted that his wife was good in bed, especially when it came to oral sex.

"Don't get me wrong though," he chuckled, "You give the best head of any girl I've ever known. Damn, I'd let you suck me as long as you wanted."

Sounded like an invitation to me! I moved down to his hairy crotch which now smelled deeply of sex and sweat. Keith groaned as my mouth engulfed his rowing erection.

Just then the door opened between our rooms and Camille popped her head in.

"You guys decent?" she called out.

Both Keith and I laughed but I answered saying, "No, there hasn't been anything decent in this room all night!"

That seemed to get everyone chuckling and in she walked with my husband right behind her. It was sort of funny in that she was wearing a bathrobe but Steve was naked of course. Camille turned on the lamp and saw her husband lying on his back with my mouth surrounding his now stiff dick.

"Oh, I thought you'd be done by now," she said shyly.

Keith didn't seem to know what to say so I dropped his dick from my mouth, smiled and answered for us both. "Nahhhhh, I just enjoy holding his dick. Trust me, it's had quite a workout."

I could have sworn Camille blushed but it was too dim to tell for sure.

"Well, his wasn't the only one," Steve said as he opened his mouth for the first time since entering.

"Oh Steve, you naughty boy," Camille teased him - or at least I assumed she was teasing. Then again I remembered Keith's proud statements about his wife's cock sucking abilities.

"So what do you guys think... breakfast in the restaurant or breakfast in bed?" Steve proposed.

Keith started asking something about room service menus but his wife had my husband figured out better than that.

"He wasn't talking about eating FOOD in bed, Keith," she said sarcastically.

Poor Keith, now it was his turn to look embarrassed so I decided to help things along.

"You know, for your first swap this has been pretty intense. I don't know about the rest of you but I'm starved... for eggs and bacon that is."

With two rooms we have two bathrooms and we ended up as couples again when it came time to split up between them. It's not like we debated it or even discussed it, it just happened.

As I showered Steve was peppering me with questions about the night. It was like he wanted to know every detail. Well, he was going to have to wait until we got back home to hear all that as we made love in our own bed.

As I had told Keith, one of the great things about swapping was the incredible sex after returning back home. I had the idea that today was going to be an even more special event!

(Apr 13) Chapter 260: Celebrating a Milestone

Story codes: MF MFF oral inc cousins aunt niece
Me (28)
Steve - my husband (29)
Marlene - Steve's mom (48)
Aunt Linda (45)
Kristen - cousin (25)
Beth - my BFF (28)

It's the birthday milestone everyone dreads - the big 3-0. Yes, my husband was turning 30 which officially moves him into the "middle-age" bracket, no longer a "twenty-something" and yet another step removed from his teenage years. While for some people such a day is marked with dark humor and black balloons, I chose to celebrate my husband's transition in a way he wouldn't forget!

1. Getting Old?

There was a time, not that long ago it seems, when anyone over the age of 29 was OLD. I recently celebrated my 28th birthday so that barrier is beginning to loom closer but I still have one more birthday before having to deal with THAT trauma. However, my husband wasn't so fortunate this year. Yep, my dearest darling Steve was turning thirty! While on the other hand it was easy to laugh at his sad predicament, on the other it also served as a sharp reminder of what someone once told me. "I don't mind being a grandfather. No, it's being married to a grandmother that makes me feel old."

On the positive side, I've always preferred older married men when it comes to what some people might call "recreational" sex which in the past meant having to go out and find one. Well, now I had one at my beck and call every day of the week! As you might imagine, Steve was NOT the least bit amused when I made this observation to him.

Actually for an old man Steve was taking things rather well - a LOT better than I probably will when my time comes. Heck, I can still remember back when I turned twenty. Like, I moped and sulked for the entire week leading up to that terrifying birthday. The mere thought that I would soon no longer be a teenager and was becoming an "adult" in the eyes of the world was enough to bring tears to my eyes.

Indeed, it wasn't my fertile imagination either. Once I started listed my age starting with a "2" I immediately noticed a difference even in the letters and chats I had with people. For one, the number of chat requests dropped off significantly. I guess guys aren't as turned on sharing their fantasies and desires with an "older" girl. I guess I could've lied about my age but by then I had so much already posted in my diary that people knew my correct age so I would've had to start all over again with a whole new persona - a concept I'd abandoned years earlier. If there was one thing I learned early on, being a fake (or at least a convincing one) wasn't all that easy. I found that it was pain to maintain a lie for any length of time, practically impossible for that matter,.

One good thing about my wonderful husband is that even though he's getting older he hasn't allowed himself to gain weight or become less active. Granted, his job requires him to work out and maintain his stamina but still, frankly some of his friends haven't been so diligent, Seeing their expanding waist lines just makes me appreciate my husband all the more.

At the same time I took great pride that I was still at my wedding weight over a year and a half later (Well, within a couple of pounds). The last thing I wanted was for Steve to be with another woman and complain to her about how his wife had let herself go once she got the ring.

Another checkmark on the plus side was that keeping trim also made him look a few years younger than most guys his age. Knowing how much I appreciate his efforts, I've done the same and I'm proud to say I'm within a few pounds of my weight on my wedding day!

Thanks to the unrelenting commercials, for many guys the biggest source of anxiety when crossing the thirty-something milestone is performance. By that, in case you didn't already figure it out, I mean sexual performance. God, I remember back when we first dated and he could go practically all night and never lose his erection, or at least keep it long enough that I was more than satisfied myself. OK, so Steve may not be sixteen anymore but he still does pretty well. I can usually get him hard again rather quickly after the first time while the third time usually takes a little more diligence on my part. Fortunately sucking a guy's soft dick until it grows into a stiff rod really turns me on so there's an added benefit in it as well for me.

In the end, a birthday really is just another day but that didn't mean I couldn't use it as an excuse to plan something fun for my husband!

2. Brainstorming With My Cousin

Talk about being stuck! Dang it anyways, I really had no freakin' idea what to get my perfect husband for his thirtieth birthday. Steve was so good to me and so I wanted it to be something uplifting and memorable, nothing that made fun of him or otherwise embarrassed him. It was the memorable criteria that had me stumped. I've done so many things for him in the past that were pretty amazing (if I say so myself), what could I do that would put this occasion at the top of the list?

In talking to as many horny and lonesome men as I do on-line, over the years I've acquired a pretty good idea of what men fantasize about and desire. For 99% of the guys, that's all it ever is - fantasy. Still, they give me lots of ideas, some of which I've already done with Steve.

So what were some of the options I considered based on the most prolific and crazy fantasies that men tell me?

- Mother-Daughter Threesome

The general threesome category is probably one of the most fantasized about events for all men but having a mother and her daughter at the same time seems to be the ultimate combination, even more than sisters although twins seems to do pretty well. Well, Steve's already had me and my mom so it wouldn't be anything new for him. There was also the problem of my mom being thousands of miles away.

- Mother-in-Law

This of course completely depends on how attractive his wife's mom is unless the guy's really into some wacky stuff. For most guys I think it's more about the naughtiness and taboo than the actual sex as almost invariably they say they want to do it behind their wife's back. Again, Steve has had sex with my mom a number of times - starting the morning of our wedding while my dad was doing me for the last time as a single daughter. So even if my mom WAS available it wouldn't be something new for him. Still, it's not like he wouldn't jump at the chance! Indeed, sometimes I think my mom is his favorite woman to have sex with (except for me of course). Just goes to prove what I always say - sex is 80% mental and only 20% physical.

- Wife Swapping

This was one of the first things Steve changed about me after we got married so I know it's something he really desires. before then I'd always assumed that once I got married that I would be faithful to my husband and never commit adultery. Well, I may have had to modify my definition of adultery somewhat in order to submit to my husband's needs, but I can't say I don't enjoy it as well. It's something we generally do about once a month so bringing in another couple on his birthday wouldn't be special. Fun yes, but not special.

- Watching Another Man Fuck His Wife

Now THIS is definitely a guy thing. I don't know another woman who says she really enjoys watching her husband having sex with someone else unless it's incestual. Not saying that women are jealous or wish their hubby wouldn't, it's just that they don't get off on it the way men seem to when it comes to seeing their wife with another man. Steve absolutely LOVES watching me getting fucked by other men - the more the better. Given I about as exhibitionist as they come I love pleasing him! Still, it's too common for it to be a consideration for his birthday.

– Committing Adultery

By this I mean having sex with someone not in your family behind your spouse's back. Even then, adultery isn't necessarily committed by having sex with a woman outside of your marriage family. No, it's doing it without the consent and approval of your spouse that pushes it over the line into adultery. Given that Steve knows he has my full approval and agreement for him to indulge himself at any time with any woman this simply isn't an option for his birthday.

– Public Sex

This is one area where Steve and I are pretty much on the same page. We both love sex in public places but the idea is not to have people watch us – that gets you into trouble. Rather we like situations where people COULD see us if they knew where to look and when but as it is, they have no idea what happening right under their noses. A simple example would be me sitting on his lap in a park at a picnic table with his dick inside of me but my dress hiding it from view. One time I especially remember was being fucked in a lake right in the middle of the family swimming area with kids and their parents all around but without any idea what Steve was doing to me from behind as I leaned over a float. This was actually my first choice for a while as the possibilities are almost endless and I was sure I could come up with something daring.

So as you can see, this wasn't an easy decision. In the end it was my slutty cousin who helped me out. If you knew my cousin Kristen or have read about her and me in my diary then that shouldn't be a surprise. After earning a remarkable sum of money as a high-end prostitute over the course of just a few years, Kristen also had a wealth of experience now to draw on. Although she "retired" from the business a couple of years ago to join her mom in the realty business, she still used her "talents" at times when a client needed an extra "incentive" to close a deal. Speaking of which, it was also a great time to put into practice the mother-daughter fantasy I mentioned earlier.

It was now just a couple of weeks before Steve's birthday, about a week or so since our last swap, and I was panicking. What was I going to do? Time was running out fast. Kristen was over in our apartment visiting me while Steve was at work. It had been a while since we'd gotten together as between my teaching career and her property sales our schedules never seemed to mesh much anymore. Actually it was HER schedule that was usually the constraint. It seemed crazy to me the hours she had to put in sometimes to satisfy her demanding clients, especially the ones who demanded a "special incentive" to sign the bottom line.

Sitting across from em at the kitchen table, Kristen was telling me about her latest sale to a single guy in his mid-forties, some high-powered executive married to his job. He was being transferred to the Pittsburgh area from Boston and loved the housing prices in the area compared to where he was coming from. Indeed, he was looking at quite an upgrade! The commission from the sale would be quite substantial and even though my Aunt Linda and Kristen had to split it between them, they were both looking at making more from one house sale than I would in a year at my teaching position.

"Yeah, it pays almost as good as hooking," she giggled when I pointed that out to her, "and without all the drama."

"So let me guess... he wanted you both?" I asked but I already knew the answer.

As I knew she would, Kristen nodded. "Yeah. At first he was pushing my mom pretty hard, even had her blowing him at each home she showed him. He's pretty arrogant actually. Then he started backing off and threatening to use another agency so she called me in."

I couldn't help but roll my eyes. I wondered what their national agency would say if they knew the lengths to which my aunt was willing to go for a sale?

Apparently the offer of a mother-daughter threesome (see my reference above when it comes to the priorities of male fantasies) was what he was driving for. The home he was looking to buy still had furniture in it from the previous owners to help out the sale. I doubt they expected it to be used for what my aunt and cousin had in store for their client!

"So what do you have planned for Steve's birthday?" Kristen asked, "This is the big one, isn't it?"

I couldn't help but laugh and nodded. I explained to her my dilemma and for a few moments she just put her hand to her mouth and got that thoughtful look on her face she gets whenever concentrating on something. Kristen may have inherited her mom's youthful looks and love of sex but when it came to what was in her pretty head, let's just say when God was handing out brains Kristen was taking a nap. Still, while her schoolwork may have been dismal, if there was one thing she excelled at it would have to be dreaming up new and different sexual ideas. It was probably one of the reasons she was so successful as a whore.

"What if we role-played that he was buying a house but was VERY demanding buyer?" she offered.

She started to expand on her idea but I put my hand to stop her saying, "He's already fucked you both together so that wouldn't be anything new. Maybe doing it in a stranger's house would help though..."

My voice trailed off as I tried to imagine the possibilities. Yeah, there was a little hope but it didn't immediately set off fireworks so I knew it wasn't the answer I was looking for.

Kristen got up from the kitchen table chair she was sitting on and moved over behind me. She put her hands on my shoulders and started to rub them. Mmmmmmm, felt so good!

"You know cuz, I know a way we could be better inspired," she said in a soft tone as her hands worked their way down my front until she was cupping my firm boobs through my tight tank top.

I probably should've stopped her as it was obvious where she was heading with this. Then again, why? It wasn't like I had anything better to do at the moment and it had been like ages since she and I had gotten it on with one another. When we were teenagers in high school it seemed like we were always doing something or another, usually with other boys but a lot of the time it was just the two of us.

"OK then, let's go to my bedroom," I said, starting to get up from my chair.

Kristen had other ideas as she quickly pushed down on my shoulders to keep me seated.

"What's wrong with right here?" she said with a smirk, "God, you're becoming so domesticated!"

THAT hit the mark. Wow, maybe I was! Come to think of it, I DID seem to do a lot more in my bed lately than around the house.

Kristen pulled down her jeans - I couldn't help but notice the lack of panties but I would have been surprised had there been a pair on her. I mean like I don't even think she OWNS a pair if you didn't count the sexy ones she wore for teasing. With her bottom bared my horny cousin sat down in the chair next to me, lifting one leg up and resting it on the table while the other was at her side with her foot on the floor for balance. Now with her bare pussy was there right in front of me I felt a smile automatically come to my face as I recalled how it felt to put my face between those perfect smooth legs.

"Well, are you just gonna watch or what?" she teased me as she started to slowly rub her pussy.

I was just wearing my tank top so it wasn't like I needed to undress further. Typically I wear something a little longer around the house so when I sit down my bare ass isn't directly on the furniture for no other reason than good hygiene. Well today's nice weather was enough of an excuse to go with just a short tank. If nothing else the cool wood of our kitchen chairs felt good against my bare butt.

Keeping my eyes between her legs I scooted myself up until my butt was at the front edge of my chair and then leaned back with my legs spread obscenely wide apart. With my cousin already in full masturbation mode I didn't need any more encouragement so my hand went straight for my crotch. God, I was already soaking wet!

"Mmmmmmm, you look hot like that," Kristen asked me with a mischievous grin, "Remember back when we first did this together?"

Like duh, how could I ever forget? We were playing around in the hayloft at my grandparents farm and one thing led to another. Back then we were too intimidated to touch each other so each of us just watched one another. No matter as at the time it was the most erotic moments of my life. I'd never watched anyone else masturbate before other than my parents and then it wasn't like they put on a show for me the way my cousin was. Similarly, my parents had seen my doing myself countless times but in the same way it was more they happened to see me, not that I sat in a chair opposite my dad and spread my legs for him to watch me. That time in the hayloft led to many more such encounters which became much more intimate but I'll never forget our first time.

As we both masturbated, more or less quietly although we each let out the occasional gasp or loud breath when things were feeling especially good, I couldn't tear my eyes off my pretty cousin. God she was so much more than pretty – she was hot! Little wonder she was the school slut having dethroning me once she moved up into high school. Even though Kristen was married now, you would never know it as she behaved the same as she ever did before her rather odd marriage.

For a moment I started to lean forward, tempted by the beautiful woman in front of me who was so obviously enjoying herself yet not the least bit intimidated at having her older cousin watch. Then again it's not she ever was shy. A cutie since she was a young girl, she knew exactly what she had to offer and she worked it like the pro she was. Her motto was more or less along the lines of why be shy when you can use what you have to get almost anything you want?

As much as I would've loved to kneel between those shapely legs and kiss what appeared to be a freshly shaved pussy right there in front of me, I held myself in check, trying to enjoy the moment as it brought so many memories back, flooding me with erotic thoughts and sexual feelings. Back then when we were in that dusty hay loft it was the first time I saw masturbation as something sexual between two people. Before then it was always a personal, private affair. Well, personal and private in that I didn't openly invite anyone to help out or watch. You don't have to lock yourself in your bedroom to make something private. It's all in the way everyone involved handles the situation.

My thoughts were interrupted as Kristen started to orgasm, her breathing becoming fast and shallow as she moaned and closed her eyes tightly. I wondered what she was imagining in her mind as came? Was it about her husband or was she fantasizing about another man? For that matter, maybe another woman? Was it just one person or a group or even an audience? God only knows what experiences she has stored in that cute head of hers. Sure she's shared many of them with me but sometimes I get the distinct feeling that she doesn't tell me everything.

A smile came to my face as I rubbed my wet and swollen clit slowly, enjoying the demonstration of sexual lust in front of me. OK, even though she had cum first it wasn't like we were having a contest or anything like that. I guess maybe someone should have told Kristen though. Wow, how many times over the year had we competed to see who could cum the fastest? I mean like it was an honor system but then again, I was pretty good at recognizing the real thing when it came to Kristen and even her mom. I think I "won" the majority of the time and actually we hadn't had a true contest in years. In this case I hadn't really tried to beat her to the punch but rather was happy to see her enjoy herself in such a close and personal time.

God my pussy was so incredibly wet and sensitive! It was like my clit had grown into a massive erection of its own and damn, talk about being hyper-sensitive! I could easily slip one and then two fingers inside of me but generally I preferred to rub the outside and my clit. Typically I would only push a finger in to get it wet so I could lubricate the rest of me. That is, if I was by myself. If a guy was watching then it was just the opposite with at least one finger buried in my pussy .

Oh yeah, now THIS was the way to spend the afternoon! I closed my eyes tightly and dreamed of my sexy husband. I tried to remember the very first time we had sex, how it felt when he first entered me. Then it hit me. Wow, at the time I was only half the age I am now! I remembered how at the time how insecure I was about my immature body. It seemed all the other girls my age were into real bras while I barely qualified for a trainer. Then to have a junior boy want to fuck me for the first time, and one of the hunkiest guys in school at that, well it was like a dream come true!

I felt a shiver run through me as my pussy responded to my touch as I thought about of how it felt the first time his dick forced its way inside. Although I did play with some of my mom's dildos before then, I was always careful not to get too carried away and ruin myself for my first guy. So while it stung (to put it mildly) when Steve's erection tore through my hymen, it wasn't a totally foreign experience either.

With my eyes still closed tightly and my mind so focused on my memories as I fingered my wet pussy, I guess it was little wonder that I never noticed my cousin as she got from her chair and knelt before me. Well, maybe not that but there was no denying she got my attention when her tongue reached out to lick me!

"Oh God!" I gasped as I looked down to see her blonde head between my thighs.

Kristen put her hands on my hips, working them under my bare butt as she nuzzled her nose against my clit. In doing so it seemed to give her better balance as she pushed her face into me, driving her tongue into my pussy as far as she could and wiggling it inside of me like a squirming worm.

As I moaned loudly but she didn't say a word, keeping her lips and tongue on me the entire time. Oh my God she knew how to lick pussy!

"I cumming!" I tried to cry out but it ended up more a whimper as my orgasm took my breath away. I felt myself gushing onto her face, covering her with my cum as she eagerly licked it up.

"Bring back some old memories?" she finally said with a naughty grin once my orgasm had peaked and started to fade.

My cousin leaned back on her heels, running her hands over the inside of my thighs as I reached down to cup my crotch with mine. Damn, I felt like a furnace - a soaking wet furnace!

Memories? I wasn't quite sure what she meant. Actually as often as we masturbated together during high school, we never actually DID anything together. In fact, I didn't have any sexual contact with a girl until I was sixteen. It was shortly after my dad started fucking me that me and my mom became intimate. She was the first girl to lick me and hers was the first pussy I tasted other than my own. Soon after that her sister became number two. Then it wasn't until I went to college that I met my lesbian roommate (well, lesbian at the time which changed when it came to her brother later on - in no small part thanks to me).

While we masturbated a lot together, Kristen and I didn't have sex until the summer after my freshman year. It wasn't until the 4th of July that I even learned my dad had been doing her almost from the day after I left for college, sort of acting as a substitute for me being gone. After watching the and my dad, it was during the ensuing family "orgy" (I hate using that word for it but it gets the point across) that I first tasted Kristen.

So back to memories... was she referring to the first time Steve ate me out? Maybe when my dad did? Maybe she WAS referring to our first time together while my parents and her mom watched. Not being entirely sure, I chose to dodge the question.

"God you really know how to make me cum so hard," I complimented her.

Kristen just gave me her patented naughty girl smile in return saying, "Well you know what they say... practice makes perfect."

I was feeling hot and sweaty, not to mention incredibly horny. Kristen pretty much looked the same as she stood up and used one of the kitchen towels to wipe off her face and pussy. I smiled to myself wondering if I should toss it in the laundry later or leave it for Steve to discover. THAT decision could be made later. For now I had bigger questions to be answered...

With that out of our systems (or at least partially satiated - can you EVER masturbate too much?), we got down to business and started throwing out ideas for Steve's big birthday that was looming closer every day. Of course her initial thoughts were insane and totally unworkable but it got the ideas rolling. One thing I rejected totally was anything to do with other families or his other dealings with young girls that were being facilitated by Kristen and her mom. It was one thing for me to look the other way when he went off with them under normal circumstances but I wasn't going to base my party for him on such things.

She DID have some good ideas but for one reason or another I had to drop them, most simply because of the impossible logistics. There was also the issue that Steve might rationalize to himself that he is OK with me and my dad having sex, he would be furious with me if I included my dad in any "special" events for his birthday. I tried to explain this to Kristen for what must have been the hundredth time but it was like she never could quite grasp the concept. To be perfectly fair to my airhead cousin, I also had a difficult time trying to figure out why a man who LOVES to watch his wife being fucked by other men can be so freaked out when the other man is her father - especially when I see how many men chat with me on line and seem to get off from wishing they could watch!

I also had to weed out anything involving his mother. This was something Kristen was constantly pestering me about, her mother as well. Both of them thought it was simply crazy that Steve could be fooling around so much with his mother yet drew a line at actual physical contact or sex. Indeed, if it was up to them I think they would've invited them both over, blindfolded them and then had them do it without knowing who the other was until it was too late.

Well, I could never do that to my husband. As crazy as it made me to watch them cuddle, kiss and grope one another, I also respected their unspoken agreement that the hands never went under the clothes and nudity while playing together was out of bounds. Still, I have to admit that if I COULD have figured out a means to convince his mother to let him fuck her on his 30th birthday it would've been as much as present for me as for him.

While I hate to admit it, in the end we came to the conclusion that a safer route would be the best. A third decade birthday party only comes once in your life and there was no sense taking any more risk than necessary that it might implode.

Besides, while none of our plans was exactly original, the way we choreographed the day promised to make it a birthday he would never forget. It just went to show that you can use several "been there, done that" ideas and come up with an original composition.

3. An Intimate Beginning

Finally the day arrived... Saturday, April 13, 2013. It was thirty years ago that my Steve had emerged from his mother's womb. Who would have ever imagined the path he would take over the next thirty laps around the sun? Until our marriage I'd only been a part of that journey but now our lives moved in sync. Although less than half his life had been spent in contact with me, if I had anything to say about it that percentage would increase every year until the day we left this earth. When we said our wedding vows we included the traditional, "till death do us part" and I meant it when I swore it before God and our families.

Poor Steve had been working the evening shift all the past week so he wouldn't get home until well after midnight. As was usually the case, he arrived home horny so it wasn't until almost 3:00 AM that we finally went to bed AND fell asleep. Although I didn't even hint at what I was thinking, when my man erupted deep inside of me I couldn't help but wonder if he should've been saving it up for the events to follow before the day was over. It wasn't like I could say anything as that would've spoiled my surprise and besides, it wasn't like his hairy balls didn't seem to be able to produce a ridiculous amount of sperm in a short time. To be sure not quite what seemed at times like gallons when he was a teenager but it was still more than enough for me.

As tired as he'd been when he got home, not to mention the ferocity of which he'd just fucked me, it was little wonder that my perfect man fell asleep almost instantly once he'd shot his load up in my pussy. At the time I was riding him cowgirl, facing him so he could play with my boobs as I rode his wonderful dick.

Resting now with my weight on his crotch, I loved the intimacy of feeling him still inside of me as he laid there under me sound asleep. Oh wow, he looked so handsome and content!!! My heart felt like it would leap from my chest as I squeezed my pussy down on his spent cock. God I was so lucky to have him as my husband. Who else could love me as much as he did. Sure my father loved me but then I was his daughter so he basically didn't have any other options. I don't mean diminish what he does to me - indeed, how many fathers demonstrate their love to their daughter so intimately and deeply as my father did to me when he fucked me? What I'm trying to say is that Steve didn't HAVE to love me and fuck me like a father does his daughter. No, he did because he wanted to have sex with me more than with any other girl in the world. Now if that's not romantic than what is?

Finally my own exhaustion won out and I leaned forward, laying on my husband's hairy chest with his dick barely in me as I fell asleep. It was one of my favorite things to do with my husband, followed closely by waking up to feeling him already in me (NOT all that easy to do as he usually finds out, LOL).

When I awoke the room was bright with the sun shining through the window. Steve was still sound asleep which didn't surprise me in the least. Sometime during the night I must have rolled off of him as I awoke with my back pressed against his side. My first instinct was to wiggle my bottom against him and I was rewarded with the feel of his hip against my butt. Another time and I might have considered rolling over and enjoying a morning snack but there were too many things on the agenda.

Steve didn't even twitch as I carefully slipped out of bed and headed quickly for the bathroom. God, I had to pee so bad! Once that urgent need had been addressed it was shower time followed by my usual battle of the hair. God I envy those girls with the curls and perfect hair! These days I was wearing it a little shorter than was typical for me in the past which helped a little as it didn't look so straight as when it was longer. Still, was LITTLE natural curl really too much to ask for?

Everything Kristen and I had been planned was to take place at my dad's place so there wasn't anything I needed to do around our house. Actually Kristen and I had debated endlessly as to where to do it. I definitely didn't want it in our apartment as that would have been impossible to conceal. With Kristen being married now and living with her husband, that pretty much ruled out her place as her husband wasn't included in the plans for the day. If there was one thing Steve was not it was gay. Even when he fucked me with other guys it was like watching a dance to see him make sure his cock never touched another one.

I suppose we could've gone off to a hotel or B&B but those have their problems too when it comes to this sort of thing, especially when it comes to noise and privacy. It's one thing to sneak in a quickie alone in a hotel hot tub, quite another to do it multiple times with other people watching.

That left us with just one logical place - my dad's house. I call it his because he'd bought out my mom's share as part of the divorce settlement so now it was all his - lock, stock and barrel. Well, in a manner of speaking it was his AND my Aunt Linda's home but since she was only living in sin with him it didn't seem quite fair to credit it to her as well.

For once I was glad that my dad was going to be spending the day at the office. It seemed back when I was growing up that he worked six days a week as a norm with the seventh day being optional as more often than not he spent part of the day at work after church. At least with him gone for the day the place was ours to do with as we wanted and I didn't have to worry about Steve's silly quirks about me and my dad having sex.

Feeling nervous, I was tempted to give my aunt a call to make sure everything was ready but as I started to touch the numbers on my iPhone I changed my mind and pressed the red END. My Aunt Linda was about twenty years older than me so who was I to be calling her to check on her? As a realtor she was pretty organized and to be fair, she'd always pulled through whenever anyone gave her something to do. It's not like there was all that much anyway - the cake was the biggest thing and it had been put on order days ago. All she had to do was pick it up. Now if my air-head cousin had been given that responsibility... enough said.

Before heading to the kitchen I threw on one of Steve's shirts but didn't bother buttoning it. It's not that I wore it to hide anything, just that I prefer not to run around totally nude. For whatever reason, even wearing a bra or bikini top makes me feel better than being totally naked. In contrast, I DO love the feeling of being bottomless. There's just something about feeling the cool air against my butt that makes me shiver sometimes.

Before I left the room I took a quick glance at Steve to confirm that he was still passed out. Oh God I love him! Seeing him stretched out on his side all naked in bed, dead asleep with his incredible cock hanging down so limp, it was something I could stare at all day! My husband is so handsome! When we dated back in high school I loved the way the other girls looked at me when he would walk alongside me. I knew they were so jealous of me and I took a sort of perverse pride in knowing they probably couldn't understand why he would want me when every hot girl in school was practically throwing herself at him. It was then that I recognized the power of sex when it came to getting what I wanted from a man - especially if you had a natural talent for it as I appeared to have. My mom use to tease me it was in the genes.

Any other day and as horny as I was suddenly feeling my mouth would have had that soft dick inside in seconds. Mmmmmmm, I love the feeling of a man growing in my mouth, responding to what I was doing, knowing that I was solely responsible for this miraculous transformation. Imagine if a woman's boobs were normally small and then swelled up when a man (woman?) fondled and sucked on them. Not that I would ever WANT that to be the case, but it was the closest way I could relate to how a man's dick reacted when properly stimulated. One thing I did know was that it must a pain sometimes to have a part of your body grow like that uncontrollably every time you got horny!

While nobody has ever accused me of being a good cook - or even a willing one, it WAS my husband's birthday so I felt a little responsibility to be domesticated a little bit. It had been ages since I'd made breakfast - Steve was usually the morning person in our marriage and thus the one to deal with so much unnecessary work that early in the morning. Thankfully there were eggs and bacon available in the refrigerator as I'd forgotten to check earlier. Somehow cold cereal in bed just doesn't sound all that romantic.

As the bacon cooked it splattered a little and I was thankful to have Steve's shirt on. Yep, as a general rule it was usually good to have something on around the house. I even managed to fix his eggs without breaking the yolks - quite the accomplishment for me. Some toast and orange juice completed the menu. Steve had bought a tray with legs that was made just for eating in bed a while back when he tried to do his own version of a romantic breakfast in bed. The only problem was he served it totally nude so what I ate didn't end up being what he'd cooked!

Looking at my achievement I felt pretty proud of myself. So much for all the smart aleck remarks by my parents and even my husband about my cooking skills - or lack of them. This looked like it came right out of a restaurant kitchen even if I say so myself. A couple of pretty napkins, silverware (the real stuff, not the plastic we usually used - washing dishes is even lower on my list than cooking) and I was ready to surprise my lover and best friend.

Just as I was about to head back to the bedroom I stopped in my tracks, almost spilling everything. Like dang it, how could I forget? I went quickly to my purse, grabbed the ridiculously expensive Hallmark card I'd bought for him the day before, and quickly signed it and sealed the envelope. Having placed it under the silverware and napkin, NOW I was ready to go.

Stepping into the bedroom I halted yet again and then quickly backed out, setting the tray down on the bathroom sink. Looking in the mirror, I figured what the heck and dropped the shirt to the floor, kicking it over by the bathtub. I knew that Steve loved nothing more than to see me nude. Heck, sometimes I swear that if he had his way I would drop my clothes at the door and stay that way until I left again! My little fetish about wearing something on top was one of the thing I don't think he still quite understands but he quickly learned I was dead serious about it. Well, this was one day I was willing to satisfy his desires - in more ways than one.

FINALLY I was ready. Taking a deep breath, I stood by the side of the bed and nudged him. As he rolled over to see what was going on, I smiled broadly and cried out, "Happy Birthday!"

He was still groggy and I don't think at first he realized what I was holding but then he rubbed his eyes and focused.

"Holy crap! Well will you look at this... you actually cooked something!"

Any other day and I might've dumped the entire tray on him bare lap and stormed out. Oh well, it WAS birthday so I held my emotions in check and instead just smiled sweetly.

"Oh now stop it silly," I said, pretending to tease him even though I wanted to smack him. Not hard, just enough to get his attention. Guys need that now and then. You have to keep them trained!

Steve pushed a couple of pillows behind him for support and sat up. Reluctantly I set the tray down on his lap. I say reluctantly because it hid his dick and it looked SO much more appetizing than the meal I'd cooked.

"Wow, you went all out... real silverware?" he teased me some more, holding up a fork. "You DO know these aren't supposed to be thrown away, right?"

OK, so the silverware was one of those wedding gifts that hadn't seen a lot of use. Could I help it that I hated doing dishes? My mom had made me do them after every meal back when I was growing up and I'd sworn when I was on my own that I would never do them again unless absolutely necessary. Ignoring his jibes, I stood back and crossed my arms, waiting for him to partake of my hard work. Still, Steve seemed to have other things on his mind.

"You know, the one time you go topless and you cross your arms in front of your tits," he sighed, "Not fair."

OK, so I couldn't help but laugh at that one. Rolling my eyes, I uncrossed my arms and held my hands behind my back which also had the added benefit of causing my boobs to lift and push out further.

Steve smile. "Oh yeah, now THAT's the way a good wife should always be at home - naked. God I love those puppies."

Steve was always complimenting me whether it be my boobs, my butt or legs. Sometimes even my hair! Still, it never grew old and I loved it when he told me how pretty and sexy I was. I mean like, what girl wouldn't?

Steve started to eat his breakfast, grabbing a piece of bacon first and then attacking his eggs with a piece of toast to break the yolk and then soak it up. As he ate he kept staring at me like I was on display - which I guess in a manner of speaking I was. I couldn't help but notice that he seemed particularly fascinated with my crotch whereas usually he was a T&A man.

"Ummmmm," he started to say but his mouth was full so just a grunt came out. Then he swallowed and pointed at my pussy with a piece of toast in his hand. "What's going on down there anyway?"

I wanted to say that it was nothing that hadn't been in progress for the past couple of weeks of he had bothered to notice but kept my tongue - birthday again. Instead I ran my hand down between my legs, feeling the short hair that was starting to grow right above my pussy. It wasn't like I was going back to nature or anything quite like that. With the type of outfits I like to wear, especially with summer approaching, a full bush was totally out of the question. Still, I'd been shaving my pussy for so long now I'd almost forgotten what it was like to have pubic hair, even if it was just a little triangle above my slit.

"So you like?" I asked, rubbing myself a little.

"Different," was his response. I gave him one of my "what the hell?" looks and he finished saying, "So what's your plan for summer landscaping this year?"

Well, that was one way to put it I guess. I just shrugged and answered, "Don't really know... just thought I'd try something different."

Come to think of it, Steve had never seen me with pubic hair except back when we first dated fourteen years ago. At that age I was proud to have it and the last thing I would have done was shave it off! It was sort of funny that while my boobs were barely making their entrance my pussy was already filled out and becoming bushy.

"Well, I think it looks hot," Steve said to my surprise, "To be honest, I think a little pussy hair on a girl is sexy. Really, I don't know why you all decided to shave it all off in the first place. Was there some sort of vote?"

I laughed as he went back to his meal. By now he was almost done - he never was one to take his time with a meal. I waited impatiently as he got serious about eating and finally finished it off. Setting the tray to the side, his dick popped up like the lid of a Jack-in-the-Box had just opened. Mmmmmmm, he sure wasn't soft anymore! Damn he looked so hot sitting in bed naked with his erection poking up out of the thick bed of pubic hair that filled his crotch!

"So how's the service in this establishment?" he asked with a sly grin.

It didn't take much imagination to figure out what type of service he was hoping for. Any other day and I would've been on that dick like a bee on a flower. Thus it must've surprised him when I hesitated for a moment, wondering if this was such a good idea given what I knew would be the demands on that dick not too much longer from now.

"Now THIS is a first," he said in a joking manner yet at the same time the look in his eyes said otherwise, "Since when does the Kelly I know have to be asked twice to suck a dick?"

That was all it took to change my mind. In any case, the answer to his question was something like, "A hell of a long time ago" or maybe even, "Never." Ever since the first time I'd taken his swollen cock in my mouth that night in the dark movie theater, it was like I could never get enough of one. For sure I LOVED to be fucked but sucking cock was something totally unique, like nothing else I'd ever done. Everything about it - the way it swelled and grew, how it moved and twitched, then how it would spew out one load of cum after another and suddenly dwindle, yes I loved everything when it came to sucking dick. Heck, I usually didn't have to be asked ONCE, let alone twice.

To protect my reputation I wanted to explain to him why I'd hesitated but that would spoil the rest of my birthday surprise so instead I simply did what cam natural - I leaned over and took it in my mouth. Like, isn't that what any girl would want to do when presented such a wonderful offering?

Steve reached under me to fondle my hanging boobs as I bobbed and licked his shaft. Then his hand moved back to my butt, reaching from behind and between my legs until his finger was exploring my pussy hole.

"I'd say someone's pretty horny," he chuckled as he pushed it in.

Yeah, like there was any other option when I had his stiff cock in my mouth LOL

"Here, get on up here. I need some dessert," he instructed me as he pulled on me to get on top of him.

Keeping his cock in my mouth the entire time, I straddled his face and lowered my pussy down until I felt his tongue on me. Steve used both hands to spread my ass cheeks apart to get a better view of my wet crotch.

"Fuck, your pussy's beautiful," he sighed and then ran his tongue from my pussy hole, up my slit, and then around my clit, "And it tastes great too!"

Beautiful? I guess that's all in the eyes of the beholder. Up close I have to say a pussy is sort of gross but as for taste, now there I fully agreed with him. Indeed, as much as I enjoy licking another girl, the pussy I've always loved to taste the most has been my own. OK, so I'm a little biased. It was the first one I ever tasted of course and not a day goes by that I don't get at least a little.

We 69'd for what seemed like forever. Somehow Steve was holding back his orgasm as usually he would have cum by now, especially this early in the morning. Not that I was disappointed. I knew he would sooner or later - all men do. In the meantime I got to enjoy his engorged shaft all the more than usual.

"Turn around," he finally gasped as I could feel his breath on my ass.

I started to get back into the same position, more or less, that we'd ended earlier in the morning but just as I was reaching down to guide him in me he sat up more, taking his dick out of play. I gave him an odd look to which he responded, "You know, this IS my 30th birthday."

I cocked my head the way my dog does when it seems to be trying to understand me.

"Oh is it? I'd totally forgotten."

He wasn't buying it, that was clear, but he didn't challenge me. Instead, he continued to his destination, where I had no clue.

"So do I get to ask for something special?"

Oh if he only knew what something special he already had waiting for him!

"What do you mean?" I asked, intent on not spoiling his surprise. At the same time I began to wonder where he WAS going with this so I rubbed his dick against my cheek as I waited for him to finish.

"You know, like something we don't normally do but since it's my 30th birthday we can."

Warning Will Smith!

My Spidey senses were tingling. Where the heck was he going? Still, it WAS his 30th birthday and I WAS going to spring a huge surprise on him but then he didn't know it. If I was going to keep MY surprise a secret, then I pretty much had to go along now with his.

"OK, I'll bite," I started but then he cut me off laughingly saying,

"Oh no! No biting!"

It was silly but it helped to lighten the mood. I waited, licking his dick gently with the tip of my tongue. It was like I couldn't control myself when a dick was this close to my face. I HAD to do something.

"I'm gonna fuck you in the ass."

A few words led to a thousand thoughts in a blur. Like wow! I mean WOW! Yes, I knew Steve loved anal sex and that he often got it from my aunt and her daughter, even my mom. Well, this was one thing that was NOT in my genes from my mom.

The whole concept of anal sex grosses me out. My asshole is strictly a one way street - out only. All I can think about anytime I'm near an asshole is what came out of it recently. OK, so I HAVE allowed some men to fuck my butt in the past, but I've always drawn the line at touching one with my mouth. Even when I have done allowed a dick up my poop chute it was for something special - like allowing my Uncle Jim to fuck me in the ass so he would let my dad fuck his young daughter. It was NEVER for me, always for someone else.

To set the record straight, for all those people who tell me to do it and then I'll love it.... you're 100% wrong! It felt wrong from the start, felt wrong while I was doing it, and then felt even more wrong later when I thought about it.

Steve knew full well my feelings about anal sex. It was one of the things that endeared me so to him. Sure, I knew how much he wanted to fuck me in the ass. Yes, as his Christian wife I would submit to anything he told me do - including anal sex. The thing that made him so wonderful was even though he KNEW he could do it anytime he asked, he loved me and respected me enough to never take advantage of his position of authority. To me, such love and respect is the centerpiece of a Christian marriage where a wife submits totally to her husband. It's not that she becomes his slave, its more HIS responsibility to use his position wisely and lovingly.

Steve had never fucked me in the ass, never even asked once I'd explained to him how I felt about it. How many times had I bragged to people about how much he respected me to not ask me to do anything I didn't like? Yet here he was, telling me that he about to do one of the few sexual acts that went totally against my every sense of ethics and morality. Still, he was my husband and I was his wife so I didn't have a choice.

"All I can say is that you had better have a LOT of lube," was my response, thus agreeing to let him do it. He grinned even more than when I'd dropped his shirt earlier.

Resigned to my fate, I kneeled on the bed on all fours, spreading my legs apart to give him the best possible access. Meanwhile Steve had run to the bathroom where he snatched some lotion and hurried back before I changed my mind - something I was VERY close to doing.

"I love you so much baby," he whispered in my ear as he leaned over to kiss me. Mmmmmmm, he tasted like pussy! Well, hopefully he wasn't planning on licking my asshole as that would be the last thing he'd be kissing he got until his mouth was thoroughly disinfected.

As Steve lubed up his dick I waited anxiously. As I said, it wasn't like I'd never done this before but the last time was years ago and never with Steve. I looked back over my shoulder where Steve was rubbing the lotion on his dick.

"Looks like you're enjoying yourself," I said in a sarcastic tone.

Steve grinned and now he was deliberately stroking himself.

"You know you like to watch."

Sorry but given my aversion to anal sex I'd rather not go into the details of what happened. I mean like it's not like anyone doesn't know how it works. Did I have a choice? Technically yes (I'm not a slave) but practically no (I AM his wife). Did it hurt? A little but nothing all that horrible. Did I enjoy it? Not really but I did my best to make it good for him. Do I want to do it again? NO! Finally, did I please my husband? A definite YES.

As a proper Christian wife the final "yes" trumps everything prior so I can't say I regret it. All I will say is that I love my husband very much, I'm thrilled to be his wife, and it makes proud to submit to him knowing he loves me and respects me for doing so.

By the way... Steve promised me immediately afterwards that he will NEVER demand that I do anal again and I believe him. Of course he left the door open to me offering my ass to him again in the future but I don't see THAT happening anytime soon!

4. A Quick Visit With Steve's Mom

Somehow I got the idea that Steve was assuming that I'd given him my birthday present (including one I hadn't intended) and that the remainder of the day would be relatively quiet. That was more or less how things had gone last year with the biggest thing being I spent the entire day naked just for him. That may not sound like a big deal but it also included driving around town for a bit of fun as well. Well, if things went as planned then this year was going be more memorable than just me masturbating naked in downtown traffic...

Now that Steve had gotten himself off his horniness had subsided - for a little while at least. Without another word he headed for the bathroom and started the shower, leaving me laying on the bed with a rather sore butt. For a brief moment I contemplating joining him the shower. It's not like I didn't need one! Then again, it wasn't like he wouldn't be getting enough sex the rest of the day; it's just he didn't know it yet. Considering my plans for his dick, it was probably best that I NOT let him fuck me again... at least for this morning.

Laying still in the quiet of our bedroom, I could feel his cum dripping out of my ass which felt sort of weird - not something I was accustomed to as you might imagine. Dang, I think the last time I'd felt anything similar was back when I let my uncle do me in the butt so he'd let me dad fuck my cousin. I mean like the things you as a daughter do for your father sometimes! I guess it's no different now as a wife. The title may change but the obligations remain the same.

When Steve finally came out he was naked with a towel over his head as he vigorously rubbed it to dry his hair. It wasn't like he had all that much as he preferred keeping it short so it wasn't a hassle while working with patients in the ambulance. I couldn't help but smile as I admired his trim nude body, especially his sexy dick as it hung down flaccid from his hairy clean crotch.

"See something you like?" he teased me after dropping the towel and catching me staring at his dick. He grabbed his cock and flopping it up and down as if to taunt me.

That little trick might work for him sometimes but I wasn't going to blow him now. Instead I just grinned at him as I got up to take my turn in the shower. As I walked by him I reached over and gave his dick a playful little tug. I bit my lip, willing myself to let it go. God it was SOOOOOO tempting!

It's not like he didn't already know how much his dick (well, ANY dick for that matter) fascinated me. There's not a dildo in the world that can properly substitute for a dick which I suppose is why my personal collection is so small compared to most women I know. Heck, my mom must have had at least a dozen different models in the drawer next to her bed when I was growing up. She offered them to me but I've always been more a finger girl unless I'm playing with a friend and then a double dildo becomes my favorite.

In response to he smacked me on my bare butt as I tried to jump out of the way but not entirely wholeheartedly. It smarted a little as I hadn't expected him to hit me quite THAT hard!

"Hey guy, haven't you abused my poor ass enough for one day?"

Of course he just ignored me so I went off and got myself cleaned up. The shower felt great as it washed off the sweat and cum, leaving me all clean and smelling fresh again.

"So I guess you're probably wondering what I've got planned for the rest of the day," I started as I walked out with nothing on but a towel wrapped around my hair.

Steve had dressed while I was in the shower, wearing some jeans and a plain blue shirt. Not exactly dressing up I noticed.

"I don't know... last year wasn't so bad," he said grinning, "Damn you look great. I'd be happy if you just stayed naked all day again. Make that EVERY day."

I undid the towel and flicked it at him. He dodged it easily but then it wasn't like I was really trying to hit him.

"Guess you should have married a nudist then," I came back as I twirled in front of him, "But I can be bare-ass for you anytime so there's got to be something else you'd rather do on your birthday."

Steve shrugged but then his eyes lit up and I think he must have thought he'd figured out my plans. "So when are they coming over?"

Poor Steve. He obviously was now assuming he'd be getting a more traditional birthday party where friends and relatives stopped in for cake and other boring crap like that. Well, in case he hadn't noticed there was no cake anywhere in the house but it also reminded me of one substantial flaw in my plans that somehow I'd overlooked - his mother. Dang it! Like how could I have forgotten her?

Making matters worse, there was no way I could include her in my plans as she would positively freak if she saw her son fucking the women I had lined up for him. Not that she didn't enjoy watching him having sex but that was when he did me.

"Ummmmm, Earth to Kelly," Steve prompted me as I'd become lost in thought. People have always teased me that when I think too hard it's like I shut off everything and everybody around me. Still, it's a trait that has always helped me to focus so I've never worried about changing anything.

Hmmmmmm, this was going to require some last minute adjustments. Dang, I'd been so distracted all week that I never even thought about Marlene. It didn't help that she hadn't called me either so maybe she was just expecting us to drop by at some point. Then my heart jumped. OMG, what if she was planning on surprising her son and was on her way over now? The odds were pretty low but still, it wouldn't be the first time she'd popped in unannounced.

"Be right back," I said hurriedly to Steve as I grabbed my phone and all but ran to the kitchen. I hit the speed dial for his mother and thankfully she answered. She still had a hard line phone to her place (we never had one activated, preferring to just use our cell phones) so I knew she was home.

"Hey Mom!" I greeted her.

It had taken me a while to get use to calling her that, especially with my own mother out of the picture now as much as she was. Still, I knew Marlene appreciated it when I called her that. In fact she'd often told me I was like her second daughter. Given her own daughter's recent "engagement" to her own brother, I think I'm also her favorite "daughter" these days.

Putting all that aside, I quickly explained to her that Steve and I would be over in a short while and apologized profusely for not telling her sooner.

"Oh you're no bother ever Kelly," she assured me, "I know how busy you were and besides, I knew there's no way my oldest boy wouldn't come by to see his own mother on his birthday so I wasn't worried."

There are times I'm really thankful phones don't have video yet and this was one of them. My eyes rolled as I fought the impulse to tell her that her "boy" was now thirty years old and trust me, he was no "boy" anymore. Still, sometimes the less said the better although all too often I don't follow my own advice. We exchanged a little small talk and she assured me that she would be ready by the time we got there. Hanging up the phone, I started to walk back to the bedroom only to meet Steve in the hallway half-way there.

"So what's my sexy wife cooking up that's so secret?" he asked with a twinkle in his eyes.

Rather than bluff I told him the truth - at least so far as about going to visit his mom. The only stretch was I told him I was calling just to be sure she was ready. he didn't need to know that it was all a last minute thing.

"Yeah, mom's always made a big thing about birthdays," Steve said, "She use to serve me breakfast in bed too come to think of it."

I couldn't help but think to myself that while his mother may have served him breakfast, I was willing to bet big money that Steve enjoyed my version more than hers.

"I'll be ready in twenty," I said over my shoulder as I passed him and headed back into the bedroom, wiggling my bare butt a little extra just for him as I knew without checking that he was looking.

Now that we were going to his mother's place first it sort of threw off my plans on what to wear. It wasn't as warm as I'd hoped it would be but for the few minutes I'd be outside wearing anything I figured that I could deal with it so I had picked out a short yellow sundress - very short indeed. Aside from some matching pumps and jewelry that was ALL I'd planned to wear. So much for plans...

Yeah, I suppose that technically I could've still dressed that way as it wasn't like his mom would be seeing anything she hadn't already. Then again, I'd always tried to dress a little south of slutty when I was with her so she wouldn't ever suspect the things that we'd never told her about me. It was one thing for her to see me naked having sex with her son - that was expected. It was quite another for me to expose my bare bottom when I was wearing an outfit that I supposedly considered fit for public consumption.

At first I debated on another outfit but I really liked this one. My best friend Beth had gone shopping with me when I'd picked it out and she said it looked great on me when I tried it on in the Macy's dressing room. What the heck, it wouldn't kill me to wear a thong under it while we were at his mom's place. Scrounging through my dresser drawer I remembered that I didn't have a yellow one that matched the dress which set me off on an entirely different decision tree.

In the end I chose a bright red version which went against my usual dress code. Deciding what to wear in terms of lingerie and what color can get pretty complicated. basically it depends a lot on what I'm wearing with it, where I'll be seen and by who. At work it's an easy choice - whatever's most comfortable which means typically a white bra (unfortunately the school policy requires one) and granny cotton panties. It's not like I'm trying to impress my students or turn them, if anything just the opposite. In today's school environments the last thing you want is a reputation for dressing to satisfy a fourteen year-old's fantasies.

Then there's the formal occasions where some modesty is appropriate like going to church. Going back to when I was a little girl, Sunday mornings I ALWAYS wear a dress. As I said, it's just something I've always done since I was a little girl not to mention it comes in sort of handy when I stop by my dad's place on the way. Normally I choose panties that match so as not to be so visible, especially if the dress I'm wearing is a little sheer or short (or both). Unlike school, I can't even remember the last time I wore a bra to church though. It was probably back when I was a young teenager and proud that I was developed enough to need one. Well, THAT stage didn't last very long!

For most other occasion when I wear underwear, it's generally a thong without a bra. I don't mean those nasty ones which are nothing but strings and a triangle that feel like a constant wedgie. No, more the type that ride high on my hips and provide just enough material to cover the crack of my ass. My favorite color for all lingerie is black although at times I might wear a different color just to change things up, especially if I anticipate someone seeing it.

Of course there are times when I WANT to wear a bra and panties. Just as guys get turned on by strippers who start out dressed and hint at what's to show later, the same goes with wearing lingerie to tease a guy. Like why let him see everything right from the start? So at parties and other "night out" type of activities I usually choose something that contrasts with whatever else I'm wearing. Like under a sheer white blouse I would go for a black bra.

Finally, there are times when lingerie is ALL I wear. This is typically when I want to get the attention of my husband but lately it's become more common when we swap with other couples. It's interesting that most men are actually more turned on when I wear sexy lingerie than just standing there in front of them nude. That's when the rainbow effect happens by which I mean I try to wear something BESIDES white or black. Red is a favorite of mine but I've acquired quite a collection of various colors and shades over the years. It doesn't hurt that my husband and father love buying it for me as well.

So anyway... I decided to go with a red bra and thong because we'd be visiting his mom and I knew she'd most likely be dressed to kill given it was her favorite son's birthday. She never wore anything with him that was so revealing as to actually expose herself but some of her outfits came pretty darn close. For instance, when the two of them would fool around on the couch and she had on a robe with just a bra and panties on underneath, it's not like there was a whole lot between them especially when his hand could cup her barely covered crotch. Still, there ALWAYS was SOMETHING in between which seemed to satisfy the unwritten rules of the odd little game they played.

Did I say "odd"? Make that downright weird! LOL

Checking myself in the mirror, I frowned. Something was missing...

Yes! I had it. Rummaging through my drawers I found what I was looking for - a pair of white hose that came up to about mid-thigh. The sundress barely came down that far so as I walked or moved anyone could see the elastic bands at the top and what remained of my bare upper thigh above it. I frowned a little at my pale skin. Well, hopefully things would warm up and my tan would be back. Another thing about the hose was that somehow I felt that it made me look younger while at the same time just a little more sexy.

"Shit, you're wearing THAT to Mom's?"

I spun around to see Steve standing in the doorway ogling me. OK, so maybe it wasn't my sexiest outfit but anything that draws the attention of my husband was always a good sign.

"What?" I replied as if I had no idea what he was talking about.

Steve just smiled at waved me off saying, "Oh nothing."

Well, it was obvious from the way his eyes were looking me over and the grin on his face what he was thinking so I turned back around to put on my watch and some jewelry. As I stood in front of my dresser I saw Steve approach me from behind.

"Do you really have to wear THIS," he murmured in my right ear as his hand reached under my skirt and tugged on my thong.

"Well it IS your mother you know," I huffed.

What I wanted to add was "and if you would ever get over your hang-ups and just fuck her and get it over with then I wouldn't have to wear it" but I knew that was one direction to take the conversation that would only end in disaster. Steve was not exactly a fan of incest, to put it mildly, at least when it came to boy-girl sex. As with his mom, it didn't help that his younger brother and sister were living together out on the west coast under the guise of being engaged. Steve had spurned his sister's advances back when we were all in high school and I guess knowing his brother was fucking her now sort of pissed him off. Not that he regretted not doing her when he had the chance, he didn't like that they were doing it in the first place.

I suppose he wasn't all that different from most men in his views toward incest. Steve was fine with seeing me together with other women like my mother or cousin. I mean like doesn't every guy have that sort of fantasy? It was me having sex with my dad that things got sticky (no pun intended). Indeed, Steve has only seen me and my dad having sex once and that was way back when I knew he was about to propose and so I told him about my incestual life. No matter how much I loved Steve, I couldn't marry him if it meant betraying my responsibilities as a daughter. It was sort of funny in that he didn't believe me at first, taking it as some sort of practical joke and a poor one at that. Once I proved it to him, that was enough for him and he never watched us again.

So as a general rule, Steve wasn't in favor of incest. I think he rationalized what I did with the female members of my family as sex between two women more so than sex between family members. While drawing the line at incest, it's not like he's some sort of prude when it comes to family. Thus fooling around with his mother was OK so long as nothing went under the clothes, as little of them as there might be. It was the principle that mattered more than anything else.

We were both finally ready to hit the road. Fastening my seatbelt, I glanced at my watch. Wow, we wouldn't have much time to visit with his mom which was probably a good thing. based on past experience it was like we either stayed for fifteen or twenty minutes or for a few hours without much in between. This was especially true after we got married and he moved out. Before then I would visit and sometimes stay the night which meant she could watch us. Now it seemed if whenever she knew we'd be staying a while it was almost like she pushed us into the bedroom! Another day and time that wouldn't be so bad but I had other plans.

Given how things had gone so far this morning, naturally instead of the usual half hour drive it took to get to his mom's place it took us almost forty five minutes thanks to a detour for some sort of construction. Then again, if you live in Pittsburgh then road construction is a way of life. It was a little frustrating but finally we made it.

"Happy Birthday!" his mother greeted Steve as we walked in. She gave me a brief hug first and then quickly turned to her son and planted a messy kiss on his lips.

I left them in the entrance to do their thing and headed for the living room where I took off my coat and took a seat in one of the overstuffed chairs. After a few minutes I glanced back towards the door where I saw they were still kissing only now she had her arms wrapped around his neck while he had both hands under her robe, cupping his mom's ass in his hands and pulling her tightly into him.

As I'd expected, Marlene was indeed dressed for the occasion - or should I say underdressed. She was in what I'd come to know as her favorite outfit, or at least her favorite when her son was visiting. The first thing I noticed was the light cotton robe which barely came down to the bottom of her butt when she was standing, let alone stretching up on her toes as she was now. Even from my distant viewpoint I could see the white high-cut panties underneath although Steve's hands were now hiding most of them from view. The black heels contrasted somewhat with the robe but her legs looked good when she wore them. So far the robe as still tied closed but I would be shocked if that was the case for much longer given their past history.

The two of them kept at it a few more minutes before finally they broke apart and I heard Marlene gasp as she caught her breath.

"Now THAT is what I call a birthday kiss," Steve exclaimed as he looked over at me and smiled.

Marlene led Steve into the living room, planting him down on the couch opposite of me. It had become our usual seating arrangement - the two of them on the couch with me across the room in the chair. If Steve and I had sex it was almost always in his old bedroom rather than out in the living room. Once again, it was all part of their unwritten code. It was OK for her to stand in the doorway of the bedroom and watch us having sex in bed but not if we did it on the couch in the living room. Like really, did the doorway have some sort of force field that the chair in the living room didn't? If anything, the door was closer to the bed than the chair was to the couch!

It had taken me a good while to come to grips with Steve's unusual relationship with his mother. True, they DID have sex but that was only once, a long time ago when we were first dating. Back then things had gotten a little out of control on everybody's part to say the least. Nowadays it was like they both knew there were lines that could be pushed but never crossed. Unfortunately in the years when they lived out in California they seemed to work out all these complicated rule and it's not like they wrote up a list of rules for me to understand them. Instead I just had to figure it out on my own. The one cardinal rule I learned VERY quickly when we first dated was that to even mention them having sex again was one of the worst things I could say.

"Wait here," she said excitedly as she hustled off to her bedroom or somewhere else down the hallway.

With her out of the room, I leaned forward towards Steve.

"She seems awfully excited today. What was with that kiss at the door anyway? Like that was a little over the top, even for her."

Steve just shrugged and waved his hand at me as if to tell me not to worry. I gave him one of my wide eye looks and he just grinned and finally said, "It's sort of a birthday thing I guess. I don't know how it got started but it seems to get a longer every year. Guess by the time I'm fifty we'll be at the half-hour mark!"

OK, chalk up one more to the continuing strange but true saga of Steve and his mom! For the thousandth time I wondered why they just didn't say the heck with it and just do it. It's not like Steve didn't appreciate older women. Oh sure he loved fucking young girls but what normal man wouldn't given the right opportunity. No, Steve loved doing older women like my mom and aunt, not to mention the couples we swapped with. So what was the big deal about doing his mom? Heck, most guys tell me they would love to fuck their moms but they never got the chance so what made Steve so different. Like I couldn't begin to believe that she would resist him if he tried.

My thoughts were interrupted by her return. Marlene was carrying a large present wrapped in red paper with a white bow. I had NO idea what was in it and my mind was already running through a dozen possibilities by the time he started opening it.

"Wow! Just what I was hoping for!" he said as he looked inside after taking his sweet time unwrapping it. I still couldn't see and I fought back the impulse to go over and take a look for myself.

"Oh wow," he gushed again, "Oh mom, you're the best!"

He set the box down without taking whatever was in it out and turned to his mother who was positively beaming. This time the robe didn't stay closed and I saw she had on a matching white lace bra underneath which left very little to the imagination, especially being as sheer as it was. It was cut so low her nipples almost popped out and the support it gave her made her boobs look great, especially for a woman almost twice my age!

Frustrated, I sat back with my legs crossed wondering if I should just wait them out or take a peek. Judging from the way they were going at it, this could be a while so finally I stood up and walked over to find out for myself. Neither of them seemed to even notice me as I leaned over the box and looked inside.

"Wow" had been the least he could say. OMG, I was so jealous! It was just what I'd been pestering my dad to get me for the past year. Funny how a father who indulged just about my every wish drew the line when it came to computers. All my life I' been forced to struggle with his hand-me-downs which often led to no end of frustration when I would lose files, get dropped while chatting and such.

So now Steve was the proud owner of a brand spanking new MacBook Air. It was still in the box but I had dreamed of exactly this one since they first came out so I knew what was inside. Dang it, now my old clunker at home seemed even more out of date than ever!

Judging from the way he was "thanking" his mom Steve was as thrilled as I would've been had it been given to me for my birthday. Shaking my head, I didn't know which of them looked to be hornier - Steve with his hand cupping her crotch or Marlene rubbing on her son's erection through her jeans. My bet was on her judging from the darkness that was spreading between her legs as her panties soaked up her wetness. Steve can get hard from just about anything so having an erection wasn't a good indicator of much of anything.

Back to the computer... Well, maybe he would let me use it. If nothing else I was already planning on how I might use his mother's gift to help push my dad to buying me one for myself. I'd tried everything so far and none of my usual tricks had worked. It seems the days when I could talk him into anything with just a BJ were long gone. Oh to be sixteen again!

While the two of them were occupied I pulled out my phone and texted my Aunt Linda, letting her know that we would be running a few minutes late. Well, more than a few as there was no sign of a letup over on the couch. I really couldn't say anything since it had been a couple weeks since we'd last come over. Still, sometimes I felt like a fifth wheel when they got into things this hot and heavy. Usually the intense stuff only lasted for a short time and from there it just went to groping and fondling when at least they would hold a conversation with me.

Theoretically I guess that I could have masturbated, my typical reaction when I'm bored. Yet for whatever odd reason I wasn't all that much in the mood. Frankly, seeing my husband and his mom fooling around on the couch like two middle school kids wasn't that much of a turn-on as it was downright frustrating. Plus it was killing me that his mom, who wasn't poor by any means but still didn't earn anywhere near what my did, would buy him such an expensive birthday gift when my father wouldn't do the same for his favorite (and only) daughter.

I turned to my phone to keep me busy, texting and checking my mail and updating FaceBook. The affair on the couch had been going on over thirty minutes now and I was starting to become exasperated. Like I had other plans for him which should excite him a lot more than being teased by his mother. True, I hadn't told him about them yet but why should I have to? He could stop over and see her any time he wanted without me tagging along.

My frustration only elevated when she twisted in the couch and straddled his lap, grinding her panty-clad pussy on his hard dick still hidden away under his jeans. She put her hands on the back of the couch and leaned forward, pressing her cleavage into his face. His hands were back to cupping her bared buttocks, just as they had during their initial kiss at the entrance. Crap, we were never going to leave at this rate!

Suddenly it was like someone turned off the switch and she slid down his legs onto the floor. Leaning over to kiss him, I imagine he got quite a view of her impressive boobs.

"Well, I think that's enough for one birthday, don't you son?" she gasped.

Seeing how flushed and out of breath she was I couldn't help but wonder if she had been on the edge of an orgasm and that was why she had quit so suddenly - before things went too far. It seemed to be one of those lines they wouldn't cross in that neither of them ever orgasmed when they played together. I guess then they could claim they weren't being sexual. Hey, I've heard crazier rationalizations by other people for even more bizarre behaviors.

"Sorry honey but I didn't make a cake," she apologized, tying her robe loosely back together and running her hands through her tussled dark hair.

Steve was already working on removing his new toy from its wrapping. He looked thrilled and so he should've been. I think that he must have bought his old Compaq laptop back in California before moving back to Pittsburgh with his mom so who knows how old it was. It was running Windows Vista if that's any indication - and not very well I might add.

"Ummmmm Steve-O, maybe you should wait until we get home to do that." I gently prodded, nodding towards my watch when his mom was looking away.

The downcast look on his face suddenly made him look like a little boy who was told he couldn't play with his new toy more so than a thirty year-old man. Then again, is there really that big a difference? Fortunately his mom stepped in to support me.

"It's OK baby, Kelly's right. If you get started now you'll never leave," she soothed him as she glanced at me and winked.

Why did I get the idea that she somehow knew I had further plans for him. Well, maybe she didn't know the specifics but I guess it was a stretch for her to assume that I would.

Steve reluctantly closed the lid and set the box to the side on the couch. Standing up, he leaned forward to kiss his mom and for a moment my heart seemed to stop. Crap, not again I was thinking!

Thankfully this time it was more what most people would call a "normal" mother-son kiss - a peck on her cheek with no tongue action or groping. Steve thanked his mom yet again and then scooped up his present, holding it tight to his chest. I put my jacket back on again and with Steve leading the way we headed for the entrance.

Steve was already out the door when Marlene pulled me to the side, checked to see that Steve wasn't close enough to hear, and then whispered in a conspiratorial tone, "So what DO you have planned for my baby, my naughty little daughter-in-law?"

I tried to act as if I didn't have a clue as to what she was talking about but she didn't buy it for a moment.

"C'mon, you didn't dress like that just to come visit me. And oh by the way, you DO look extremely hot."

Should I tell her? For a brief moment I debated with myself. Would it really matter of she knew? Wasn't it about time she did anyway? After all, it wasn't like I would be fucking my dad and some people would argue that sex with a cousin wasn't really incest in the first place.

"I thought we'd head to the casino and see what trouble we can get in," I said, lying through my teeth. Either I'm a pretty good liar or she was clueless as it seemed she bought it.

"It's pretty early for that, isn't it?" she questioned me. Then her face brightened and she added, "You know, the two of you could hang out here for a while if you wanted. I just changed the sheets on the spare bed."

Yeah like THAT was a coincidence.

It was obvious what she wanted - to watch us get it on but frankly, if she wanted to see that sort of thing then she should have come along with us and see what I had in store for her son. of course I wouldn't have allowed her just to watch...

"Well, OK then, I get the message," she said in a sulking voice.

This time it was my lips that kissed her cheek. Funny, while her son did about everything with her a guy could do when it came to kissing, our lips had never touched.

"Oh mom, you know we both love you," I assured her.

She tried to put on a smile but I could tell she was still disappointed. Oh well, life happens. A few minutes later I was back with Steve as we drove to my dad's home. He'd looked at me a little strange when I gave him the destination but other than that not a word. No doubt he knew better than to ask me in the first place.

Back in the car, the first thing I did before even putting on my seatbelt was to reach under my sundress and pull down that irritating thong to my ankles and take it off. The coolness of the bench seat pressed against my bare butt. Even though it may have been all in my head as there hadn't been much material there in the first place, it still felt better.

"Feel better now?" Steve teased me as he started the engine.

"Oh sure, like you don't it better when I take them off," I retorted playfully as I tossed them in his lap.

Steve reached down to pick up my thong and then held the crotch up to his nose and took in a deep breath.

"Mmmmmmm, LOVE that scent," he sighed as he put the truck in gear.

One more quick sniff and then he hung them up around the rear-view mirror like a trophy. It joined a couple of others which he liked to keep handy. Now and then I'd leave a "fresh" pair, fresh at least from the standpoint of my pussy smell on them. Really, what would be the point of putting them up there otherwise?

As his mom's place disappeared in the rear view mirror, I took the opportunity to relax for a few moments. Whew, dodged THAT bullet! Now with our obligation to Steve's mom fulfilled that meant getting back on track with my original plans.

5. My Aunt Linda Gets Things Started

On the way to my dad's house I called my Aunt Linda. She must have seen me on caller ID as she answered with, "Hey girl, where the FUCK are you?"

Yeah, my aunt isn't exactly the most subtle one in the family.

I explained to her that we were on our way but I didn't say anything that might give Steve a clue as to what was awaiting him. Still, now he knew that at least my aunt was going to be there. I figured I could at least put one worry that I knew must have been going through his head.

"Ah Steve... just in case you're wondering, my dad's working at his downtown office all day and won't be home until after 7:00 PM at the earliest."

"And that's important because...?" he teased me, trying to draw me out. He knew full why it was so important. Then again, with my aunt being there it wasn't like he wouldn't have something to do if I WAS going to do it with my dad. Actually that's usually what happened when he tagged along with me.

My husband wasn't going to break me that easily. Instead I sat there and just crossed my arms and kept quiet, leaving him to wonder what the real story was going to be. I noticed that this time Steve avoiding the construction traffic by taking a different route which normally was a little longer but with the traffic getting heavier as the door wore on it would probably be significantly shorter in the end. When we hit some lighter traffic he looked over at me and smiled.

"Kelly... you're not mad that my mom bought that Mac for me, are you?"

Like DUH! Then I explained that I wasn't mad so much as jealous which only made him grin all the more.

"You know, maybe we could work something out..." he started to say. I waited, wondering where this was leading. Then it hit me. Oh crap...

"Don't EVEN think about it," I said sharply before he could say anything else that would only get him in trouble.

Not always one to take a hint, Steve started to protest saying I was being unfair as I didn't even know what he was going to ask. Yeah, like I didn't have a pretty darn good idea how the mind of a horny man works. True, I may not understand the internal process but I certainly know the results as well as how to manipulate a guy to get whatever I wanted. As Chris Rock is notorious for saying, all men care about is food, sex and silence. "Feed me, fuck me, shut the fuck up" I believe is pretty close quoting one of my husband's favorite comedians. That's OK, it's what makes women superior to me – we're not as predictable and thus easy to manipulate.

"I'm warning you Steve... I love you but don't even THINK about going there."

He huffed as if he was being misunderstood but I knew I had to put a line in the sand if I wasn't going to have a sore ass again in the future. It's a very fine line between submitting to your husband and standing up for yourself, one that took me a while to understand after our wedding. Like many sins and temptations, I learned early on in our marriage that the best way to deal with this sort of problem was to avoid it in the first place. Like if he didn't even get the chance to ask me to let him fuck my ass then I wouldn't be put in the position of having to submit to him (another unintended pun... sorry!).

We both sat there quietly for the next couple of miles as my thoughts swirled. I love Steve. I mean like OMG I REALLY love him! As his wife I would do ANYTHING he asked me but that didn't mean I had to like it or that I couldn't try to avoid it. I mean like this was dealing with one of my most fundamental beliefs, right up there with some of my most deeply held religious convictions. Growing up I was taught from my earliest childhood to respect my parents and elders and I guess you could say it stuck.

Of course I wasn't perfect – just ask them! Still, when push came to shove, especially as I grew older and could better understand my duties and responsibilities as a daughter, I generally did my best to obey them. Fortunately when I started having sex with my father I was old enough and mature enough that I knew exactly what I was doing and what it meant, something that I just can't see happening with people who claim to have sex with their kids at significantly younger ages. Thanks to my mother's teaching and guidance, at sixteen I clearly understood the importance of submission and made a conscious and deliberate decision to follow my Christian beliefs which meant pleasing my father in whatever manner he required.

Those same principles now apply to my role as a Christian wife. I don't care what new-Age teachings and other such crap may say, according to the Bible my husband is the head of our household. In the end it's his decisions that are final and it's my duty to submit to him and his right to expect it. At the same time, as my husband he has just as much responsibility to love me – in fact the same as Christ loves his Church which is a pretty high standard I would say! Finally, just because I'm charged to submit to him doesn't give him the right to abuse that privilege.

Still, we're all human and it's only natural that we fail at times. What Steve did earlier had surprised me more than anything because it was the first time I could ever remember when he purposely asked me to do something sexually to which he KNEW I was opposed. Sure he's asked me such things before but this was the first time he played his "head of the household" trump card. Because I DO love him I understood that this was something unusual which is why I was now helping him to avoid a repeat performance. Knowing how much Steve loved and respected me, I was sure that later when he looked back at our discussion that he would be happy that I had kept him from crossing the line again.

As things turned out, it didn't take as long as I thought...

"Baby, I'm really sorry," he apologized. For a moment I thought he was going to tear up but he kept his emotions under control as he went on to apologize for what he'd done to me and begged for my forgiveness, swearing he would never do such a thing again.

Well, I knew better than THAT - he was human after all and thus subject to temptation. Still, I wasn't going to quibble and instead snuggled up next to him and put my head on his shoulder while he wrapped his arm around me.

Finally we arrived at my dad's house. Funny I guess in that I always refer to it as his house even though he now shares it with my Aunt Linda. I guess I'm correct from a legal perspective as it's just his name on the deed (he'd bought out my mom's share as part of their divorce settlement). So far as the rest of our family was concerned I knew that my two other aunts on my dad's side were aghast when Aunt Linda moved in practically on the heels of my mother's departure and I'm sure their tongues wagged incessantly. Not that Aunt Linda ever seemed to care.

Steve parked at the bottom of the driveway which sloped from the front of the lot down one story until it was level with the garage which had been added to the back side of the basement. The deck was built above it and only accessible from the kitchen upstairs which made it quite private - especially given the privacy fence that surrounded it and protected it from prying neighbors.

Aunt Linda must have been watching out for us on the security cameras as I didn't see he in any of the windows as we drove up because she greeted us at the basement door just as soon as I entered the code into the garage door opener and we stepped into the garage.

"Hey! Happy birthday you old man!" she greeted us with open arms.

She was also totally nude which didn't surprise me in the least. While my aunt may vehemently protest that she isn't a nudist, she does like to run around the house nude whenever possible so in my book that made her one. It was also a distinct difference between her and her older sister (my mom) in that while Linda even enjoyed doing housework while naked, my mom was always a bra and panties gal.

Interestingly, their daughters each grew up somewhat in between but with different results. Kristen, for instance, was a topless girl. She was never more happy then running around with nothing on top while she almost always wore at least some sort of thong or panties. It could be something skimpier than a stripper's so long as she wore something. I was similar in principle but in my case it was all about going bottomless. In the same manner as my cousin, I really didn't care how much coverage my top provided just so long as something was up there be it a T-shirt, a guy shirt, bikini top or in a pinch, even a bra.

Poor Steve! It had taken quite a bit of an adjustment on his part at first when we would visit my dad and aunt and she would be nude the whole time. I guess growing up with it sort had desensitized me so it never even really phased me. On the other hand, for Steve to see a naked MILF (and my aunt WAS the very definition of a MILF), well it took quite a while before he didn't get an instant erection. Not that my aunt minded. Indeed, she seemed to take it as a compliment, even going out of her way to encourage him.

One thing was a little different though. Rather than going barefoot (rarely) or wearing sneakers or flip flops (much more common), she was standing in a pair of black pumps which elevated her almost to his height. One thing was for sure, they certainly firmed up her legs and ass!

Neither of us made any mention of her lack of clothing - what would be the point? Instead we entered the basement, made out way past the family room and then up the stairs to the kitchen hallway and into the kitchen where we all just stood and waited to see who would talk first.

"So Stevie, how's your big day been so far?" my aunt asked, "How many times have you screwed my slutty niece so far?

As I said earlier, subtlety must have been out of stock the day my Aunt Linda was made.

She knew better than to ask such questions so I just assumed she was doing her best to make conversation in her own unique manner. I glanced down at my him back in high school. I don't mean in that muscle-beach type of look but more like a guy from the LL Bean catalog - ruggedly handsome!

As for that crack about me watching, what she meant was that probably at least nine times out of ten (and that's being conservative) I never am there to watch them have sex. Typically he fucks her one of two different times - when he's with me when I visit my dad or when they go as a couple to various family parties. Steve doesn't like seeing me and my dad together like that so while my dad takes me to the bedroom or hot tub, Steve and my aunt head for my old bedroom or the family room to do their thing out of sight from us.

Given that these days I rarely go with when they party with other families, I also miss out on seeing them together. I don't mean AT the party - incest (even if not blood-line) isn't allowed as a rule so usually they enjoy a "nightcap" afterwards.

So for the next hour or so that's exactly what they did - ignore me. Well, not totally as a few times while he was fucking my aunt, Steve would turn for me as if posing for a shot like some porn star. Once in a while he'd even twist his muscled torso such that I could get a good shot of his dick halfway in her hairy pussy, just like the pros. Later when we were back home and looking though them he told me that having me there taking pics made it all the better. Yep, not a shy bone in his firm strong body.

One good thing about Steve cumming so quick - he held out for a long time before the next. He was even able to give me plenty of warning such that I got the perfect video of his dick pulling out of her, squirting cum as it did. He timed it just right so the first shot went off in her and then he was pulling out just as the second one erupted. Damn, I should be a film director!

"Now don't forget that I want copies of everything," my aunt barely got out as she laid there in the middle of the formal living room, her legs spread wide with my husband's cum covering her bush and lower stomach. For a moment I almost got down to help clean her off but decided to hold off and let this be totally Steve's moment.

Then I remembered that actually she already had them. Oh the wonders of modern technology and Steve Jobs! Since I was at my dad's house my phone was tied in to his network and whatever I had on my phone was shared with him. You've just gotta love Apple!

Note - It wasn't until before church the next day when I stopped by for our traditional pre-service fuck that my dad told me he was able to watch everything from work as well as I took the pics! Not sure how he did it but he seemed quite pleased with himself.

"I need a shower," Steve declared and he headed up the stairs for the bathroom leaving the two of us behind in the living room.

Once he was upstairs and I heard the shower running, I sat down on the floor next to my aunt who was still panting. Well, given the way the two of them had been going at it without so much as a break, I had to give the old lady credit!

"So when's she getting here?" she asked me.

I checked my watch for the umpteenth time. "Any time now. She had to pick up the cake - that was pretty dirty pawning that off on your dumb daughter you know."

"Hey, what good is it having kids if you can't take advantage of them now and then?" she joked, or at least I thought she was joking.

6. My Cousin Kristen Joins In

I peeked through the front curtains just in time to see my cousin's car pulling up to the curb. Kristen got out and ran around to the driver's door to give her husband a kiss. Then he popped the trunk and she reached in and brought out the cake. I gasped when she almost stumbled on the curve but thankfully she held her balance and made it to the door where I was waiting, holding it open for her.

"Sheesh Kristen, trying to give me a heart attack?" I teased her.

"Hey, YOU try maneuvering with this thing!" she retorted as she hurried to the kitchen where she placed the cake on the center of the table.

"Now I know why my mom dumped this on me," she whined, "Crap, what did they make this out of, cement?"

She took off her jacket and tossed it over the back of one of the chairs.

"So where's the birthday boy?" she asked eagerly, "All I know is he better be already naked."

I explained to her about how we were running late and that he'd just finished with her mom and was now upstairs showering.

"Hmmmmmm, so he has no idea about me?"

I shook my head and then she asked why we were so far behind schedule. I made a rather oblique reference to being delayed at his mother's place to which she grinned. I'd explained to her before the rather "unique" relationship between Steve and his mom and Kristen was even more perplexed than I was about it.

"You know, that's just plain bizarre," she giggled, "Then again, I'd LOVE to watch them some time. Do you think they'd mind an audience?"

I punched her playfully. She knew the answer to that full well. She ASLO knew better than to even ask it in the first place.

"Whatever," she sighed melodramatically, "I just don't understand why the hell he just doesn't do her and get it over with. You SURE they just don't wait until you're not watching and this whole things is like some cruel practical joke on you?"

Then she got that nasty grin she always gets when she's thinking of something sexual - which is most of the time when it comes to my cousin. People claim that men are obsessed with sex more than women. Maybe in general but I'd put up my cousin against any guy. When it came to Kristen, I think it would be a lot easy to measure how much time she does NOT think about sex.

"Actually, if I was his mom I'd of been all over that a long time ago!"

We both laughed at that just as her mom walked in, wiping herself off with a dishtowel she'd borrowed from the kitchen.

"Your turn my dearest daughter," she said with a grin as she high-fived Kristen like a tag team match, "That is, if the poor guy has anything left after me. Really, when was the last he fucked you anyway? Seems like ages ago unless you just haven't told me about it."

As Kristen put her finger to her lips in a classic "I'm thinking" pose, I found myself wondering the same thing. Like when I was dating Steve as a teenager it seemed he was also hot for her, even if he didn't fuck her. Ever since he moved back and we got married it was more her mom's tail he was chasing. Personally, although I never had told Kristen about this, I think it was more her "career choices" than anything. Steve certainly didn't mind a girl with some "history" (thank god for me) but Kristen's prostitution days were a total turn-off for him. It's like in his rule book it's OK for a girl to fuck a dozen guys at a party just so long as she isn't being paid for it. Personally I thought he was being a little hypocritical but if that's the worse trait I ever find in him, I can live with that.

"Whatever, it doesn't matter," she finally blurted out. Then she looked up at the ceiling where we could still hear the shower running. "What the fuck anyway, how long does your husband need to shower? Mine would have been out of there long ago."

I just shrugged. With Steve that was impossible to answer. Sometimes it was two minutes, another time it was an hour - assuming the hot water held out. No doubt he thought he was finished with sex for the day, or at least for a while having just exhausted my aunt. So if that was the case, why be in a hurry?

"You know, screw it, I'm heading up there," Kristen declared. Neither her mom or I protested nor do I think it would have mattered if we had. When Kristen gets that airheaded mind of hers set on something, especially when it had anything to do with sex, you needed dynamite to change it.

I almost said something about waiting for the cake as that had been the original plan but then I guess it really didn't matter what order we took things in so I just watched as she made her way quickly up the stairs with me and her mom close behind.

Outside the bathroom door, which Steve had partially closed but left a crack open for whatever reason, Kristen quickly stripped, leaving a small pile of clothes by the door. She'd only been wearing a pair of shorts and a cami other than her heels. Sometimes I had to wonder if she even owned any underwear!

Aunt Linda and I crowded together at the door, watching as my cousin opened the shower curtain and stepped in the tub without saying a word. I did manage to get off one shot of her half way in and out but that was about it for the moment so long as the shower was running and the curtain stayed shut.

"Whoa!" I heard Steve exclaim.

Smiling, I knew he would never have been expecting Kristen, especially since it had been so long since he'd last fucked her. Come to think of it, this would be only the third time since she got married. Not that her husband would care. Heck, he was a client of hers back when she was whoring - and he was married at the time as well. Thankfully there had been no kids to make things messy when he told his wife he was leaving her for a prostitute.

Steve stuck his head out of the curtain and grinned at me saying, "Holy crap Kelly, you trying to kill me now that I'm thirty?"

"Just shut up and fuck my cousin," I threw back at him, laughing so hard I had a hard time holding my phone still to snap a photo of him.

"Well if you insist," he replied. Yeah, as if THAT was such a chore.

I heard the shower stop and then Kristen pulled open the shower curtain to give her mom and me a view. Yeah, she was still a pro and when it came to putting on a sex show there was none better in Pittsburgh - just ask her old agent.

They were both soaked with Kristen's hair wet and pulled back. She wasted no time squatting down to get to work on Steve's dick which was not exactly rising to the occasion as fast as usual. Well, if anyone could come close to my cock-sucking skills I would have to give that to my cousin. In fact, Kristen was the only girl I knew that had sucked more dicks than me, or even come close for that matter!

Steve's wet pubic hair was mashed down to his crotch, making his dick appear even longer than usual. Kristen was working him alright, playing with his balls and using her tongue like a maestro. I had to say that I don't usually get all that excited watching Steve having sex with another girl but seeing him with my aunt had been HOT and now seeing him with her only daughter was even hotter. The family relationship also added an extra bit of flavor to the mix. Whatever the reason, I was feeling soaking wet watching her do my guy. Had my aunt started touching me I think I might have orgasmed right then and there but she was just as mesmerized watching her daughter doing Steve as I was.

Steve might have turned thirty today but he was also saying that he wasn't ready for the purple pills yet. Yes indeed, THAT boast was confirmed as his dick swelled in her mouth and hand as she stroked him and sucked on the bulbous head. Slowly but steadily his shaft grew thicker and longer until finally she could hold it with her entire hand and still have plenty to put in her mouth.

Finally Kristen seemed happy that Steve's dick was ready although I think in his mind he'd been ready long before. She pulled her mouth off of him and said the two words EVERY man wants to hear - fuck me.

She didn't have to ask twice. Steve lifted Kristen up by her upper arms and twisted her around to face the tiled wall opposite the shower head. As for Kristen, she needed no prompting or direction. She leaned forward with her palms against the tile, shifting her feet back towards Steve, spreading them apart as far as the tub would allow and then lifting her ridiculously hot ass to show off her ready and willing shaved pussy. "Fuck her... come on, fuck her," my aunt whispered under her breath so low that I could barely hear her and her head was right next to mine.

Steve didn't hear her of course and in any case to my surprise he had his own idea of what to do next and it didn't, at least for the moment, include fucking my cousin. Instead, he kneeled down on the rubber shower mat and used both hands to spread her dripping wet ass even further apart before burying his face in her tight butt.

"God... yesssssss!" Kristen moaned loudly as his talented tongue flickered against her asshole.

Steve wasn't allowed to do that with me, or at least not unless he wanted to wait until he disinfected his face before kissing me again, so why not take advantage of the one girl in our family who liked anal more than anyone? Full Disclosure in that I was the only one amongst the four of us that Steve usually fucked in my family that didn't like it but Kristen was the without question one who seemed to appreciate it the most.

As Steve licked her hole he pushed in one and then two fingers into her wet pussy, stroking them in and out as he teased her asshole with his outstretched tongue. Kristen was humping her butt so hard I don't know how he kept his face in there!

"OK, that's enough of that, fuck the little bitch," my aunt practically hissed next to my ear, evidently becoming impatient with the slow pace of my husband.

I should be clear, my aunt was always calling Kristen some name or another so I took the "B" word with a grain of salt. It just showed her level of horniness as in general the hotter she got the coarser her language became. Actually, "bitch" was pretty mild compared to some other pet names she kept on hand for her only daughter.

"Finally!" she sighed, this time a little louder. The bathroom echoed terribly - as I'd learned way back when I was a little girl and started masturbating in the shower, totally unaware of how the sounds carried out to my amused parents.

"Hey, quite worrying mom, I'm getting there!" Steve called back over his shoulder as he stood and held his still stiff dick in his hand right up next to Kristen's butt. The grin on his face and the light tone of voice served to reveal the amusement he seemed to be feeling teasing my aunt. Yeah, sometimes guys really do know the right buttons to push as well.

Indeed, my incredible husband seemed determined to tease all three of us as much as possible. He already had my aunt on edge, waiting for him to drill her daughter. It was nothing new as she'd started handing Kristen over to other men as soon as she thought Kristen could take their dicks without being injured. Now, almost twenty years later, she still seemed to get as much excitement and pleasure from watching her daughter being fucked sex as ever.

It wasn't just my aunt that Steve was teasing. Poor Kristen must have been going nuts wondering which hole he was going to use. Steve was gripping his dick by the base, directing the tip first against her asshole, then against her pussy hole. Steve was missing back and forth between them, sometimes even giving a little push until the tip was barely inside. I had to give my husband a lot of credit for his self-restraint as I figured he'd never go so long without pushing it all the way - whichever one he chose.

Then there was me. I decided to get a little more comfortable so took advantage of the opportunity to move inside the bathroom and take a seat on the toilet (the lid was closed). It gave me a ringside seat to the bathtub across from me where Steve was no posing as I took first a shot of him pushing into her asshole and then another of the same with her pussy. I knew what he was doing even if the other two didn't have a clue as to what had transpired earlier this morning. God, it was like days ago, not just less than twelve hours away!

"Well?" he asked me as both he and Kristen turned to look at me. I knew what he wanted - for me to tell him where to fuck her first. I say first because there was all likelihood that he wouldn't be happy until he'd done both so it was just a question of which one first.

If there was one thing that repulsed me more than anal sex, it was having vaginal sex immediately afterward. I know some people don't seem to mind but to me it's an incredibly unsanitary practice. I knew that Kristen didn't care but it would likely spoil everything for me if her did that to her so I took advantage of his offer to choose.

"Her cunt... fuck her cunt first."

If there's one word I hate when it comes to describing my pussy, it's "cunt". I don't know why, just do. I guess it's like saying "fuck" in that it's not the word that's bad but the meaning behind it. I say fuck all the time but it's not to curse but rather to describe a sex act so I don't feel I'm swearing when I say it. When it some to the word cunt though, it only has one meaning and it's always bad. Still, for whatever reason I knew both my aunt and my cousin seemed to get off talking dirty so I used it for her sake even though I felt a little dirty saying it - and not in a good way

Aunt Linda had come in and was standing next to me as the moment she'd been waiting for had arrived.

"Get a close-up," she urged me, pushing me in the middle of my back towards the tub.

I leaned forward until I was as close as I could get and still have an idea of what I was looking at. Steve took that as his cue and just as I asked, he slipped his rigid dick into my cousin's welcoming pussy.

Two moans and one groan emerged as Steve pushed it hard into her until he was buried in her all the way to the base of his cock. The groan of course was from my husband as my cousin's pussy enveloped his cock. While not as tight as mine (she was much more into large toys than me and those take their toll over time), she was still only 26 and as such had a good grip on him. The moans came almost simultaneously as Kristen's head lifted back more and more as Steve rammed his dick in her while her mom started to masturbate and moan watching her "little girl" getting laid.

Steve fucked Kristen for just a few minutes that way which was plenty for me to get some pretty good shots. Then, just as I'd expected, he switched to her asshole. I'm sure he loved fucking her pussy but that ass must have been driving him insane knowing Kristen wanted him in it as much as he did.

Aunt Linda was leaning against the sink now, one hand between her legs masturbating while the other was cupping her boob and toying with her nipples. I turned and got off a couple shots knowing that Steve would likely be masturbating to them sometime in the near future. Then I thought better and switched it to video, alternating between my aunt masturbating and my husband fucking her daughter's ass. I smiled to myself knowing that THIS would get him stroking tomorrow!

"Why not join in?" I suggested to her.

At first I didn't think she could hear me the way her attention seemed totally focused on the sex act in front of her. Then she seemed to come out of her trance and moved towards the tub without saying a word. Kristen, seeing her mom approach, lifted up and let my aunt move in between her and the wall. Steve didn't stop his stroking but did somehow manage to move back in sync with Kristen.

Kristen leaned back towards her mom, sucking on her breasts and taking her mom's nipples into her mouth, gripping them with her teeth and tugging – not always that gentle either. Aunt Linda seemed to love it!

"Harder," she gasped as Kristen pulled on her nipple with her teeth.

At the same time she put one hand between her mom's legs, pushing a finger up into her hairy pussy. It was a scene so hot I almost forgot about my iPhone and I quickly snapped a few before I missed it. God, what would my dad say if he saw this pic with Kristen in the middle as my husband fucked her ass while she fingered her mother's pussy?

Kristen was cumming - hard. She had her eyes tightly shut while resting her head against her mother's stomach. Both hands were on her mom's hips as she used her mother for support as Steve kept banging away on her.

"That's it baby girl, cum... cum for your mommy," Aunt Linda encouraged her as she held Kristen by the head with both hands.

Whether it was Kristen cumming, listening to her mother, the act of Steve fucking my cousin's ass, or a combination of everything, Steve was on the verge as well. He pulled out of her ass suddenly and started stroking his rock hard cock vigorously.

"Fuck yeah!" he groaned as yet another load of sperm erupted.

Oh my God, I was so proud of my husband! Like how many men his age could even cum again after all he'd been through, let alone shoot his first load all the way to the back of Kristen's head! The following ones didn't have quite the distance but landed a respectable ways onto her back and then her ass.

"A little shampoo?" my aunt laughed as she smeared his cum into Kristen's wet hair. Well, if nothing else she was going to need some REAL shampoo now. As hot as it may have looked on the video later, having a load of cum in your hair is NOT all that much fun later on when you're trying to wash it out.

Kristen staggered to her feet, her face beet red. "Oh Wow!" was all she could get out as she stumbled and Steve had to grab her before she collapsed.

My aunt stood up and let out a deep breath. "Damn, now THAT was good!"

I had to agree with her and if anyone were to later disagree, well I had the whole finale on video to prove it!

Everyone eventually got their wits about them. The three of them had to all shower again but this time without the extracurricular activities. We ended up in the bedroom, the four of us lying about on the king-sized bed. It was a little odd being the only one dressed but in a way that seemed more appropriate. I hadn't brought Steve here to have sex with me after all.

"I have to hand it to you Kelly, this was the most incredible birthday party I've ever had," Steve congratulated me, leaning over to give me a kiss as he tweaked my boob teasingly.

"What, you think that's all?" I replied, trying to act shocked as if how could he say such a thing.

For just a moment Steve looked perplexed but then a broad grin broke out.

You've GOT to be kidding me," he groaned. "God Kelly, I'm not sixteen anymore you know."

Then he perked up, or at least his eyebrows did. His poor dick was pretty flaccid at the moment.

"Oh god... it wouldn't be Tammy, would it?"

Now there were actually two Tammy's he might be talking about but I knew which one he meant. The first Tammy that came to mind was my mom's best friend. She lived out in Oregon which is why my mom moved out there after the divorce. Happily married with a couple of handsome sons, she'd never had sex with another man (I mean NO other man) until she was visiting us and did it with my dad. Similarly, the two if us had sex a few times as well which constituted most of her lesbian experiences other than with my mom. She even eventually learned about me having sex with dad and while she would never entertain such thoughts about her own sons, she seemed to accept what we did better than I'd thought she would and even watched my dad fuck me a couple of times.

No, the Tammy that Steve was started to actually get hard about again (just to show what she meant to him) was my cousin Tammy, the youngest daughter of my father's younger brother. Thanks in no small part to me, Tammy had lost her virginity to my father back when she was fourteen and then did it later with her own dad and brother. Throughout high school she was a bit of a slut (nowhere in my league but adequate in her own way) choosing primarily to play with her brother and his friends. Then she went off to college and met a really nice guy which seemed to settle her down. Once she started having sex with her boyfriend she stopped with the incestual sex so by the time Steve got back in the picture she would tease him but that was about it. It was one of Steve's dreams to fuck her and no doubt he thought his dream was about to come true.

Unfortunately it wasn't.

"You silly goose," I said as I playfully slapped at his dick which was noticeably larger, "Haven't I provided you with enough pussy for one day?"

Unsaid of course was that he'd had the opportunity for yet another but hadn't taken advantage of it.

Poor Steve. In like an instant he went from perky and alert to deflated and slumped over.

"Hey, don't look so sad," I said, trying to make him feel better, "I DO have another surprise for you though."

I jumped off the bed and rushed downstairs. The it hit me - where the heck were the candles? When it came to keeping house, my mom and her sister couldn't be more different so when I looked in the drawers where such things had been kept most of my life, nothing to be found. Oh well, he would just have to go without.

Crap! Where was my head at. Half way up the stairs I realized I didn't have anything to cut it or eat it with so back down the stairs again. This time the options were fewer so I didn't have any problems finding what I wanted.

"Happy Birthday honey!" I cried out as I finally entered the room with his cake.

If anyone had anything to say about the lack of candles at least they kept it to themselves. We enjoyed the cake, making a bit of a mess on the bed but then that was my aunt's problem to deal with later. Just then my phone dinged - someone had just texted me.

"Really Kelly, can't you live without that thing for just an hour?" Aunt Linda sighed deeply.

I just glared at her but then we both broke out in laughter. It was a running joke between us so I knew that nothing was meant bad by any of her comments.

Steve tried to lean over to see what the message was but I pulled the phone back like Lucy yanking the football out from under Charlie Brown.

"Hey, you know better buster," I admonished him. Indeed, if there was one thing I kept private, it was my phone.

I excused myself, saying I had to use the restroom but I don't think any of them believed me but then so what? I wanted to be alone and it accomplished my purpose.

The text had simply - "ready". It was the "who" that made it interesting. Whether or not Steve would have figured out what was meant by the message was debatable. Most likely he would be suspicious but I doubted he would recognize the addy. However, he WOULD certainly recognize the face that popped up on my phone that was associated with the caller... my very best friend in the entire world.

Beth.

always shut when they had sex. So what happened that night to me was what some people would call a paradigm shift (watch The Big Bang Theory if you don't know what that means). Sure, I'd been having sex with all sorts of boys by then but it was just for fun and to feel good, not to mention a great way to be popular. Now I saw another side of sex, something totally different - a most intimate demonstration of the love and respect someone has for another. My dad wasn't fucking my mom, he was making love to her.

I loved my dad. I respected him as much as anyone else in the world. But at that moment my heart burst as I realized I'd never truly SHOWN him just how much I loved and respected him. Oh sure I tried to be a good daughter (most of the time) and tell him how I felt about him, but now I saw how I could go so far beyond all that and SHOW him. I wanted to give him the most sacred and intimate gift of all - ME.

Well, without going on about all that any more, that was what led to me having sex with my dad not too long after that. Seeing Beth there also reminded me of the first time my dad fucked her, again almost in that exact same spot. It was more significant than most people might imagine as to the best of my knowledge Beth was the first girl he'd had sex with since marrying my mom (that was not part of our family).

OK, so that particular spot in the hot tub had a lot of memories for me, not to mention God only knows how many times I'd had sex there or even just spent the evening masturbating. I felt the excitement grow as I knew before long, yet another memory would be added...

"OK, so what was all THAT about?" Steve inquired when I finally re-entered the bedroom.

Looking past him, I saw that Kristen had instinctively nestled up against her mom who was lovingly fondling her with her fingertips. I suppose it just came natural considering they'd shared the same bed from the time her father had left when she was two. Still, I always thought it was a little hot just in the way they seemed to get into this sort of thing with what seemed to be no real thought or effort - it just happened.

Rather than answer I put one knee up on the bed and reached out for his dick. Steve didn't make any effort to push me away or move out of reach but then why would he? I suppose it didn't hurt that my sundress rode up to expose my bare bottom. Tugging on it gently, I grinned at him and I think he realized at that moment that his birthday party wasn't quite over yet.

"Oh fuck Kelly, NOW who do you have for me?" he groaned suspiciously loud. Yeah, like he was really worried.

"Well, rather than tell you, why not go out back on the deck and find out for yourself?" I said teasingly.

Both Kristen and her mom were smiling - they knew my plans. Steve, on the other hand, didn't have a clue. So far I think he could've somewhat predicted the events, or at least the people involved. Not so with Beth in that he'd NEVER have guessed that she would be involved, at least not today.

It wasn't that Beth was a prude or that she and Steve didn't have any history. Oh no, quite the opposite in fact. Beth was having sex with Steve long before me, aided by her early budding breasts that drew the high school boys like moths to a flame. Interestingly enough, one of those boys happened to be my current husband! It was a point she never let me forget once I started dating Steve and having sex with him and then so many years later marrying him. Yes, she'd had him first but sometimes she could get a little annoying about it.

When Steve returned to Pittsburgh a few years back with his mom, one of the first girls he'd fucked after me had been Beth. Beth and I had been friends since I could remember so it wasn't unusual for us to be having sex with the same guys, sometimes even at the same time. Interestingly, she didn't seem to have the same rep as I did in high school for being a total slut but I guess that was because she didn't flaunt herself quite as much. Yeah, she loved showing off those boobs but with hers she could do that in a sweatshirt!

Another key difference between us is that while I don't mind a good gang-bang now and then, my real preference is for one-to-one sex. On the other hand, Beth has always been more into the party and orgy scene, rarely going out with a guy alone for sex. She's pulled me into a number of her sex parties over the years and while they have been fun at times, usually I would look back afterwards and realize how empty they left me feeling when compared to having a guy focus just on me all night.

I mentioned that Beth was the first girl my dad fucked outside of marriage, technically committing adultery but my mom managed to rationalize it somehow since she was watching from my bedroom window while my dad did Beth in front of me in the hot tub. At the time he didn't do me and Beth had no idea he had been. It wasn't later until after I'd seduced her father (a one-time thing) that I revealed to her the truth by having her do a repeat performance in the hot tub, only this time my dad did me as well. So Beth was fully aware these days about everything I did which made life a lot easier.

Beth had also gotten married recently, about six months after I did. Steve and I have swapped with her and her husband just a couple of times but it wasn't something we pushed. Being my best friend, Beth was actually the one close girlfriend that I was the least sexually involved with while growing up. We didn't even masturbate together all that much, certainly nowhere near as much as I did with Kristen. It was like our friendship was so tight that to bring in sex was something we both were worried might ruin what we had. I know, sounds silly now and we probably wasted a lot of good opportunities, but that's how it was with us.

So Steve was now heading for the deck with no idea who was waiting for him but I could imagine he had some ideas. I only hoped that he still wasn't hoping that it would be little cousin Tammy (although not so little anymore as a college girl) and didn't let Beth see any disappointment on his face when he saw who it was.

Well, as it turned out I need not have worried. I tried to keep up with him but he was faster than me and was out on the deck before I got to the kitchen door. Damn, I missed his initial reaction! Oh well, regardless he seemed quite pleased at my next surprise for him. Steve didn't hesitate for a moment but got in the hot water as fast as he could to take a seat next to my naked best friend.

"Well?" was all I said as I stepped out, crossing my arms as I waited for an answer. It wasn't like he didn't know what I was asking about.

"Fuck Kelly, you're too much sometimes," he laughed and then turned to Beth to add, "You DO know what she's all had planned out so far I hope?"

Beth just nodded, not having said a word yet, or at least not with me there. Steve was already fondling her large natural breasts. God, it was like they had some sort of magnetic force over a guy's hands whenever she was next to one.

"OK then, I'll do my best but Little Steve hasn't been asked to perform like this in a longgggg time!"

Oh crap, again I wondered where my head was at! I'd left my phone upstairs! Then I looked up to my bedroom window and who did I see but my aunt and cousin looking down. My Aunt Linda held up my phone and I saw that she was already taking matters into her own hands. I breathed a sigh of relief as one of the final presents I wanted to give Steve was a DVD filled with the events of his 30th birthday.

Beth looked over at me and waved as I took a seat on one of the deck chairs to watch.

"What's the matter Kelly, not going to join in?" she called over to me.

I'd considered this earlier when planning everything and had decided from the start that I was going to wait until everything was said and done and Steve and I returned home before I had sex with him again. All this was just something I wanted to give to him and let HIM be the focus of attention. I feared that if I got too involved that it wouldn't be all about him anymore. Sad to say, it would probably be ME that drove it that way as I didn't trust myself in such situations.

So I just waved back and called back, telling her to enjoy herself. As I watched them get started, I wondered how often she'd done something like this after her marriage. So far as she'd told me, she'd stayed loyal to her new husband except for parties and even then they both always went together. I knew Steve held a special place in her heart and while I was never really jealous of her, I knew when he looked at her he saw something different than he did in any other girl but me. Indeed, it was telling in how quickly he was able to regain his erection!

Steve was sitting now on the edge of the tub, his feet and most of his legs underwater but his dick was well above the water line and looked to be amazingly hard yet again. Damn, I was once again so proud of my husband! I know a lot of women even at my age that would kill to have a husband with his kind of recovery. Of course today was a little special and I imagine that didn't hurt but still, it was pretty incredible.

Beth soon started rubbing Steve's dick between her large boobs, pushing them together with her hands such that they completed surrounded his dick as she moved them up and down his shaft. While I must say that these days I'm quite satisfied with mine, seeing how Steve was getting off from it made me wish mine could be a little bigger for just a little while so I could do it to him like she was. Yeah, I tried with mine and Steve was kind enough not to compare, but there was nothing I could do with mine to measure up to Beth's at the moment.

As Steve leaned back and let her go to work, Beth lowered her head and took the head of his dick in her mouth while she pushed her boobs down on the shaft, letting it go in and out between her lips as she stroked his dick. From the way Steve was moaning, he was loving it!

Looking back up at my bedroom window, I noticed it was empty again. Oh well, I guess they must have gotten bored watching and decided to get back in bed together. I enjoyed sex with my mom but it wasn't something we ever did a lot. Kristen, on the other hand, seemed to be constantly doing it with her mother but then she didn't have a dad growing up so I guess that was a large part of it. My dad had tried to help out when she was older after I left for college but by then it was too late to change her habits.

Before long they'd switched places and Steve was eating her pussy. Hmmm, she was a lot hairier than I'd ever seen her before! I was going to have to ask her about that afterwards to see what the story was. With the water from the hot tub matting it down I wasn't sure how much was really there. Oh well, something to talk about later I guess. My guess it was probably something her husband had pressed as I knew that not every guy liked the bald pussy look. Even Steve now and then would watch some porn from the eighties and comment how hot it was to see a hairy bush.

For the most part, the next half hour or so was what I would call "routine", if watching your husband fuck your married best friend could ever be called that. Granted, sex in a hot tub can be hot at times (no pun intended) but it DOES somewhat limit what you can do, at least without drowning. Steve mostly did her from behind while she leaned over the edge looking at me. I loved seeing the look in my friend's face as she orgasmed and then came again thanks to my husband's cock in her.

When Steve eventually did cum Beth was quick to twist around and take it on her face and boobs. That was the one concession she made to marriage - she didn't let guys cum in her anymore, or at least if she could help it. I had to give her credit as that wasn't something I could ever limit myself to. Heck, for me THAT was one of the best parts of having sex!

Steve didn't exactly have his usual output but then who could blame him after all the sperm he'd already pumped out today. It was still respectable, as much as some guys squirt the first time, so she seemed satisfied. They quickly kissed while she washed off the sperm in the hot water and then they both got out with Steve giving her a hand as she still seemed a little wobbly.

"Thanks babe," she said to him as they approached me. Steve just smiled and leaned over to kiss her briefly as he squeezed her bottom with one hand.

"So tell me honey, did I do good today?" I asked sweetly.

Steve rolled his eyes, puffed his cheeks and then blew out a big breath.

"All I can say is this had better be it, I don't think I can cum again for a week!"

Beth turned and grabbed his now already flaccid dick. Damn, he shrunk fast!

"Oh???? Is that a challenge?" she asked, tugging gently on him and licking her lips. She was just teasing - I hoped.

"Well he better be wrong," I heard coming from the kitchen and then my aunt walked out. She was still nude - and would be I was sure until she had to leave the house. Kristen was behind her, naked as well but then that didn't shock me either. I couldn't help but smirk. Now it was THREE naked girls, one naked husband, and me still dressed.

We all looked at my aunt as she came out with her phone in her hand.

"OK guy, your wife may be through with you but now your mine!" she said saucily, "Get that damn fine ass dressed 'cause we're heading out in ten minutes. The party starts in less than an hour and you know I like to be there when it begins."

What the hell? She'd never even hinted at this with me. I looked over at Kristen who had to know this was coming but she just shrugged and tried to play like she was as surprised as I was. Poor Steve, I knew he wanted to go to the party - he would ALWAYS accept such an invitation regardless of the notice given, Still, he looked at me and I knew he was afraid that I might be upset at him leaving for the rest of his birthday.

Yes, I DID have plans for an evening together after a full day of outrageous sex. Yes, it sort of pissed me off my aunt would plan this behind my back, knowing I wouldn't want to go with them. But then I guess that's what comes with the territory when you marry a sexual guy like Steve. No matter how it made me feel, the last thing I was going to do was tell him I was disappointed and make him have to turn down the invitation.

My aunt and Steve hustled back to the house to get cleaned up and dressed, leaving me with my best friend and hot cousin. They each took a towel and spread it out on one of the other chairs and took a seat at the round glass patio table with me.

"So now you have to tell me, how did things go today?" Beth asked, acting as thought nothing had just happened.

Well, maybe that was for the best as for the next couple of hours we talked about everything that had happened and then moved on to an evening of reminiscing about our high school years. I even had a little wine, something I rarely indulge in. We'd quickly moved back in the house as it was chilly outside. Kristen put on her usual panties while Beth grabbed one of my dad's shirts.

Interestingly I don't think any of us ever even considered having sex. It was more like three close friends spending an evening together sharing mutual experiences and a few new stories were even confessed.

As my eyes closed and my mind drifted off to sleep, I was dreaming of how good he would fuck me the next day... and the day after that... and the day after that!

Yes, I'm married to the best husband in the world!

(May 12) Chapter 261: Mother's Day

Story codes: MF oral inc father daughter mother son
Me (28)
John - my dad (48)
Steve - my husband (29)
Marlene - Steve's mom (48)

Unfortunately I couldn't treat my own mother this year but now that I'm married I have a mother-in-law to take care of. Well, maybe I didn't do as good as job as her son did. Meanwhile, just because it was Mother's Day didn't mean my father didn't get the attention he deserves as well.

1. Dealing (or not) with Incest

If you believe all the ridiculous stories posted on the Internet about incest, then you probably believe that getting into an incestuous relationship is easy. After all, according to the stories all you need is any of the following situations:

- A parent dies leaving a loving daughter or son to help their emotionally distraught remaining parent deal with their loss and resulting anguish. I'd say that this is the premise, in one form or another, is used in more published incest stories than any other. Well if you ask me it's just plain stupid. Do I really have to explain why? * Someone gets hurt so a family member has to "make them feel better" or even sillier, "help" them use the bathroom. This is similar to the first scenario only this one can be about anyone in the family such that they need "assistance". Yeah right, when your leg's in a cast and you're in pain, all you want it to fuck your sister.
- Parents leave the kids home on their own and next thing you know they're having sex. Oh yeah, this is just what happens when siblings are left alone together. Maybe in some pervert's fantasies but in real life? Sure... and by the way I've got a great bridge in Brooklyn for sale if you're that gullible. Personally, the only actual case of a brother and sister having sex involves my husband's younger siblings and THAT didn't happen until they were older. As for my husband, I think the last girl in the world he would fuck would be his own sister.

- While camping the inevitable unexpected rain storm forces a parent to share a sleeping bag with their naked kid, or the kids have to share. Like doesn't anyone ever bring along the basic necessities when they camp? Even then, no matter how wet they may get, who really gets in the same sleeping bag naked with their kid, let alone initiate sex?
- Bring home your girlfriend and she wants nothing more than to seduce your father or brother. I'm pretty sure it isn't stretching anything to say that most every dad LOOKS at his daughter's friends HOPING for such an outcome but as for really having sex with them? I think the answer's pretty obvious. I've always had a thing for older married men, including many of my girlfriend's fathers when I was back in school. The only one I managed to have sex with was my BFF's dad and THAT was more a case of me blackmailing him than him acting out his fantasies.
- "Open" family attitudes towards nudity and sex lead to incest at puberty - or earlier. Actually this may be the least objectionable rationalization of the bunch. Still, the few nudists I've known all tell me that if anything their kids are LESS inclined to having sex with each other simply because nudity isn't taboo and thus the sexual associations that normally go hand in hand with nudity aren't part of the equation. Interestingly, those families I'm familiar with that enjoy incest are almost exclusively NOT nudists.

I'm sure I could go on for another page or more but by now you get the picture. In real life things are a LOT different than what people write about in their fantasies. Trust me, I know from experience. Assuming nobody gets raped or pressured by a horny father who just wants to get off fucking a young girl, having sex with their parents is probably the last thing most kids think about. Heck, most kids I know can't even imagine their parents doing each other, let alone wanting to actively participate. Even though I was probably as sexually active as a girl could be when I was a young teen, and even with a father who, looking back now, did about everything but tell me he wanted to fuck me, I STILL didn't even consider for a moment that we would ever actually have sex together until I was practically hit over the head with it.

I really hate using the term" open" when describing my upbringing because the phrase is so over-used and implies a sexual relationship is present. Still, it's not like I was raised by prudes. We weren't nudists by any stretch of the imagination yet at the same time nobody screamed if someone walked in the bathroom while the other with if later when their feelings and emotions change. When it comes to incest you can never be too careful. After all, once you fuck your own family it's like getting a tattoo that can never be totally removed or forgotten.

Personally I've seen many sides of the issues played out and I can't say one is better than the other. For me the tipping point was when I finally watched my parents making love in the hot tub when they didn't know I was home. Seeing their love and joy expressed in an intimacy that went beyond anything I'd ever seen between them showed me a side of sex that until then I'd never experienced or even witnessed. Sex for fun and personal enjoyment was great but this was something totally different.

For me, the first two years of sex after losing my virginity were all about having fun and feeling good. The concept that I could share myself with someone that allowed for love and respect in the most intimate way was like a revelation to my young sixteen year-old head. For the first time I saw sex more than something to make me feel good. It was a way I could make someone ELSE feel good and do it for THEM, not ME. Yeah, I loved to suck a guy off and make him feel good, but to be honest it was more an ego trip for me than it was anything about him. Oh my god, suddenly more than anything else I wanted to submit myself to my father and yield myself to him, something I'd never even thought about before. Given my hard-won reputation as a bit of a control freak when it came to sex, this was more significant than it may appear at first glance.

And so it began, becoming what is now a part of my life that I can't even imagine NOT having. I've always maintained from the start that I knew my dad loved me before we had sex and I know that he would love me just as much even if he never fucked me again. I don't NEED my father to fuck me to know he loves me but it certainly adds something extra to our relationship that wouldn't be possible except through the blessings of incestual sex.

But that's me. I'll never try and say my life has been typical or even "normal". I've been VERY fortunate and I thank God every day when I pray for his guidance and the gifts he has given me that enable me to fulfill my father's needs and desires. Still, I'm not under any delusions that everyone feels the same as me... starting with my husband.

When Steve married me he knew I was having sex with my dad. Indeed, after some horrible experiences in my past I knew that I could never say my vows to a man who couldn't accept that part of me. It was something I can't imagine living without and no matter how much I loved Steve, I couldn't take on a new responsibility only to abandon another. Thus just before Steve proposed I told him the full truth - which of course he didn't believe. It's not that he didn't think I had an unusually close relationship with my dad but at the same time he couldn't imagine it was so far as incest. That day he watched from the closet as my dad fucked me and then he had no choice but to believe me. As things have turned out, that was the first AND last time he ever has watched me having sex with my dad, even so much as a blowjob.

It's not like Steve is some sort of prude - far from it indeed! Like the guy was fucking plenty of other girls long before he took my virginity and he's had more than his fair share over the years since. He's another one of those guys that LOVES fucking young girls who are part of someone else's family but to do one in his own? Never. Indeed, his sister Sharon was one of my best friends who was insanely jealous that I was fucking her brother most every day. She tried everything but he coldly rejected her every advance no matter how far she would go. Years later she turned her attention to their younger brother who was more than happy by then to fuck his older sister. Today they even live together under the guise of being married, something that drives Steve (and his mother) insane whenever the subject comes up.

The ONLY time a crack has ever appeared in his wall against incest was the time his mother caught the two of us fucking in their basement back when we were just starting to have sex. Of the three of us it would've been impossible to determine who was hornier - his mom after watching us, Steve who was fucking me hard in a state of pure lust when she walked in, or me feeling the shock of being caught by his mom on their couch with her son drilling me deep. Considering the emotional state of everyone at the time, it's not that hard to picture what happened next. I witnessed incest for the first time in my life as Steve and his mother fucked each other for the first time, Steve even cumming inside his mother's wet pussy. That was the first AND last time such a thing ever happened between them. In fact today neither of them will even discuss the matter and if anything Steve gets quite testy if I push the matter to put it mildly. A couple of our biggest arguments since we got married have been around that very subject.

I said Steve knew about me and my dad but I did NOT say he approved of it. Yes, he tolerates it because he loves me enough to look past what I do with my dad but he won't do more than that. He's never even seen me hold my dad's dick since we said our vows and he refuses to even have sex at my dad's house if he's home. Fortunately my wonderful husband has never so much as hinted that I should stop fulfilling my duties and obligations as my father's daughter, but that doesn't mean he encourages them either. I guess you could say he tolerates my behavior.

As for Marlene, Steve's mom, she hasn't a clue that I enjoy sex with my father let alone that her son's fucking several of the women in my family - including my own mother! While Steve may not approve of what I do with my dad he isn't the least bit afraid to take full advantage of the "benefits" of marrying an incest girl. He loves fucking my mom the most - something about that mother-daughter fantasy nurtured by most men I'm sure. With my mom living so far away though he doesn't get much of chance to be with her so these days it's her younger sister, my Aunt Linda, who gets most of his "attention". Steve also likes to be with Kristen, my aunt's only daughter, now and then but he's never been all that excited about sex with her. Although he insists that it's got nothing to do with it, I'm convinced it because of her prostitution background. As much as he may pretend to be turned off by that though, it's sort of funny to me how he seems to forget about it when he gets horny and she's available.

Marlene may not know about what goes on behind closed doors in my family but she IS fully aware of the goings on between her youngest two children. Given her reaction whenever the subject of Jim and Sharon comes up, I'm sure that if she ever found out about me and my dad that she would probably disown me. Well, maybe things wouldn't be THAT bad but still I'm positive that we wouldn't enjoy the close relationship we share today. In many ways she treats me better than her own daughter and when I call her mom, it's not me kissing her ass but rather a heartfelt tribute.

Pardon me for maybe sounding a little sorry for myself, but from my perspective I'm the one who has to make the most compromises and deal with the most issues. Marlene may feel bitterness and even a little disgust with the way her two youngest kids have turned out, but it's not like they live next door or even in the same state to where she has to worry about what the neighbors will think.

Actually I think it's my husband who's getting the better end of things - literally. As the head of our household I submit to his every sexual need even when it means I have to engage in sexual activities that aren't exactly on my list of favorite things to do. My Aunt Linda dotes on him like he's the son she never had, sometimes even stopping by for a quickie (and not so quick sometimes). Perhaps best of all for him, she provides him access to family sex parties even though technically he doesn't meet the requirements to participate as he doesn't have a son or daughter himself. My mother practically drools over him to where it's almost embarrassing. Even my cousin Kristen will set aside most anything when he shows just the occasional interest although I think with her it's more to do with her doing him in front of me than my husband's sexual prowess. Although he refuses to be around when I'm with my dad sexually, any other time he and my dad get along like old school buddies even though there's a more than twenty year age gap.

Meanwhile, while everyone else is fulfilling their fantasies, I have to walk on eggshells around Steve's mom to be sure I never let anything slip that might alert her to what goes on within my family. Even harder, I have to just sit and watch while she and Steve fool around like two middle school kids on the couch, groping and kissing but never quite crossing the line. I always seem to be trying to figure out how to balance my duties as a wife and those of being a daughter which can be extremely difficult at times, especially given how horny and possessive they each can be.

I was talking to my best friend Beth not long ago about this very subject. Beth knows about most everything in my life, probably more than even my husband I think sometimes. Not only is she one of the few people outside my family that knows about me and my dad, she's actually one of the few girls my dad ever fucked while married to my mom. Make that one of two with the other being my mom's best friend. Like many people she finds my incestual sex life interesting but also like most people, Beth has never had any interest in doing any such thing with her own father or brother.

Actually I found myself telling Beth much of the same that I've been writing up until now, then asking her for her advice. As always, she had an opinion and wasn't afraid to express it...

"Kelly, why the HELL do you put up with it?" she huffed, folding her arms as she glared at me, "Sometimes you carry this 'submission' thing a little too far, don't ya think?"

It wasn't the first time she'd lectured me on the subject and odds were not the last either. To put it mildly, Beth doesn't agree one bit when bit comes to my philosophies on submission. Having gotten married not that long ago herself, she and her husband have a much different arrangement where supposedly they are "equals". Well, in my humble opinion there's no such thing as ANY type of relationship where two people can be totally equal and from what I've seen so far, theirs is no exception to the rule. I would bet they've already had several times more fights and arguments since getting married than Steve and I have had after being married more than twice as long. If anything, it just proves my point on why submission is so good for a marriage but she won't listen to reason and facts.

Beth apparently took my lack of response as me disagreeing with her which was true, but then I really didn't want to say so. It didn't matter...

"Seriously... you HAVE to see it Kelly, Steve's so taking advantage of you. Damn girl, you need to stand up for yourself!"

I could feel my face redden a bit but it wasn't embarrassment that was raising my blood pressure. Best friend or not, there WERE lines not to cross and Beth knew better than anyone how seriously I took this issue.

Beth was on a roll though and continued... "So let me make a prediction here... you go to his mother's house, the two of them play footsie on the couch leaving you on the sidelines like it's some sort of weird spectator sport, and then what? Let me guess... the two of you put on some sort of sex show for her to watch? Kelly you know I love you dearly but even you have to admit that's sort of sick."

"But he's my husband and I have to..." I started to refute her but she cut me off mid-sentence...

"BULLSHIT! You don't HAVE to do anything. C'mon girlfriend, who the hell taught you that line of crap? Look in the mirror for God's sake. You're young, sexy as hell and smarter than the average bear. Steve would do ANYTHING if you held out on him for just one day and you damn well know it."

Well, she had me there. Still, true or not, THAT set me off and before I realized what I was saying this came out...

"OK Beth... now listen to me as I'm only going to say this once... I would NEVER do that to my husband," I said in a stern and unyielding voice, "You may not care about treating your husband right but I do and I will NEVER withhold myself from him, no matter what I want. Before lecturing me, remember that it's not like I've ever showed up at YOUR door looking for a place to stay the night."

Ouch! It was a low blow to bring up something that I'd promised never to bring up with her. That night when she and her husband had really gone at it was probably the low point of her new marriage and for me to use it now against her was pretty bad of me and I instantly regretted it.

"Oh Beth, I'm soooooo sorry," I pleaded as she rose abruptly and started to head for the door.

Beth wasn't listening, or at least not reacting until after opening the apartment door she turned to me with tears streaming from her red eyes.

"Well fuck you Kelly. At least I have my self-respect... I haven't caved on my morals just because my husband wants to screw little girls... I'm no doormat for my mother-in-law. And MY parents didn't groom me to be their little home sex toy. So you know what? You can go fuck yourself. Or do you need your overlord husband's permission to do THAT as well these days?"

With that outburst she stormed out and now I found myself in tears. I couldn't ever remember her saying anything like that to me before. Oh sure we've had our fair share of fights and arguments over the years - what best friends haven't? But she'd NEVER said those type of horrible things to me before. As quickly and easily as the words had flowed, obviously these weren't new feelings for her. It was just her emotions that had lowered her defenses, allowing her most inner feelings to emerge and it hurt me to know she felt this way about me.

About an hour later Beth called me and apologized and we both cried our eyes out on the phone making up to one another. Still, later that night after I'd dutifully sucked off my husband I was lying there in bed naked next to him and found myself lost in thought as he drifted off to sleep with my head in his lap.

If anyone else but my closest friend had said the things Beth had I would've easily shrugged them off. Heck, over the years those would've sounded downright complimentary compared to some of the nasty things people have said to me. But when they're from the one person you trust with your deepest secrets such words take on a whole new meaning.

Was it true? Was any of what she said the truth? Could I possibly be THAT big of an idiot to be so blind as to not see the truth? It was the part about my parents "grooming" me really bothered me. I can't even begin to estimate how many strangers have said something similar to me over the years but I've never taken such hateful words seriously, figuring it was just idiots on the Internet jealous of what I enjoyed with my family. Still, I'd given this a lot of thought to this very matter over the years once people started throwing it at me and I've always come to the same conclusion. In any case, so what if my parents HAD groomed me? If anything I should be thankful that they cared enough about me to prepare me for my proper role in life as a wife and daughter.

No, the part that REALLY made me think was the deal with Steve and his mother. I had to admit that even I get frustrated at times with their antics. More than once I DID feel like she was using us for her own self-gratification, even if she strongly denied any such thoughts. C'mon, really? The woman sits in the bedroom and watches her son fucking me and she's not getting off about it later? Either she's lying through her teeth or she's one really twisted personality. Then again, it's not like either wasn't a good possibility. As much as I loved Marlene, she was a little weird as well. According to Sharon, ever since her husband dumped her for that young bimbo secretary she was never quite the same.

The more I thought about it the more I questioned whether or not it was time I pressed for the real reason why my husband had one of the oddest relationships I'd ever seen between a son and his mother. There HAD to be more to what either of them had told me. It was downright crazy the way they pushed the line so hard and then tried to act as if nothing happened. What REALLY happened after they moved to California so many years ago? What REALLY went on while they lived alone together after returning to Pittsburgh? What REALLY did they do these days when I wasn't around? Steve adamantly claimed that if anything it was less than when I was there as my presence apparently stimulated them both but I was starting to wonder if that was just a fib to boost my ego.

Well, maybe the time had finally come to learn some answers. There was just one problem... Was I really ready for the answers?

2. Mother's Day Also Falls on Sunday

Sunday's are my favorite day of the week. First and foremost it means another opportunity to attend church and worship God. Even if I miss the Wednesday night service or any of the other weekly activities like my Bible study or prayer group, the Sunday morning service is the one thing I try never to miss. Usually we attend the second service even though it's the boring "traditional" version which means less lively music and more solemn in general than the earlier "contemporary" service. The problem is making it to church by 9:00 AM is just a little more than I'm usually up to, especially when the Saturday night before ended late.

Sunday's are also the day we ALWAYS eat out. Well, technically most day's my husband and I eat out as I don't exactly have the greatest skills when it comes to the kitchen. Steve likes to say I'm great in the bedroom but unless he's doing me on the counter then the kitchen's not my place. No "barefoot and in the kitchen" at our house, it's more like "heels and in the bedroom"! So anyway, what I intended to say is that Sunday means a NICE dinner out - no carryout or fast food. The restaurant has to have tablecloths (cloth, not paper) and real waiters who aren't chewing gum.

extremes depending on how I was doing that morning but invariably he would get off one way or another with his cum left behind either on me or sometimes in me.

Now that I don't live at home our morning tradition has morphed into something a little different but the basic core of the tradition remains the same. Now instead of him stopping by my bedroom each morning, instead I come by every Sunday morning before church to submit myself to him - as every Christian daughter should. As soon as we're done then we go to the service together. If you think wearing a short sundress makes you feel good, try wearing it with your own father's cum practically dripping from your freshly fucked pussy as you take your seat in the pew. As you may have already guessed, that same cum leakage is also the main reason why I usually wear underwear to church. Yeah, I HATE underwear but then as I've often said before, there are lines even a slut like me doesn't cross in church. Indeed, it's such morals and ethics is what separates a true slut from the skanks.

The key to making all this work and why it's been such a successful tradition is we've never made it into some grand production where it becomes a burden after a while. Usually I show up alone (sadly my husband doesn't go to church with me most Sundays) maybe a half hour before the service starts. Fifteen minutes or so is usually plenty of time for just getting my dad off be it just sucking his cock or letting him fuck me. As always when it comes to sex with my dad, it's HIS enjoyment that's the most important. If I cum I just consider it a bonus as the whole point is to please my dad. It all goes back to being a proper Christian daughter and fulfilling my obligations by submitting to my father's needs and desires (the whole "honor your parents" thing). I submit myself to my dad for HIS enjoyment, not mine. Not that I don't enjoy it mind you, it's just that MY pleasure comes secondary to his. Yes, it may seem complicated to some people but to me it's just common sense.

And so it was when I awoke to the annoying buzzing of my iPhone alarm on Sunday morning. As I stretched out to poke the snooze I felt my husband's warm nude body pressing against my bare butt. Rolling over cautiously so as not wake him, I gently pulled down the covers and gazed longingly at Steve's beautiful flaccid cock as it lay over to the side all but covered by the thick bush of pubic hair that sprouted from its base. Memories of how well he'd fucked me with that incredible dick not that many hours earlier came flooding back and my pussy tingled with the desire to feel him inside of me again if for nothing else than for a few quick moments.

Instinctively I started to reach for my husband's cock but at the last second somehow found the willpower deep down inside of me to pull my hand back. As tempting as it was I knew that there would be plenty of opportunities later. For now I had to get moving if I was going to get to my dad's house in time to fulfill my duties as his daughter. It's not like I hadn't pleased Steve the night before after all.

One last look at that wonderful dick before I got out of bed. God my husband looked so handsome lying there naked on his back sound asleep! I wanted to just run my hands and tongue all over his nude muscular body and then mount him, riding his erect dick until he flooded me with his warm love.

Suddenly I felt myself jump as my finger pressed down on my wet slippery clit. Oh my, I hadn't even realized that I'd pushed my hand down there and now here I was already masturbating without even really thinking about it! Reluctantly I pulled away and slipped out of bed as softy as I could without waking him.

Entering the bathroom my bladder suddenly reminded me that it needed some immediate attention as well so I took care of the little detail before anything else. Brushing my teeth, I poked my head out of the bathroom to once again take in the sire of my wonderful husband stretched out without a stitch of clothes on his lean body. Mmmmmmm, perfection!

After my shower and finishing my hair and makeup, I walked out into the bedroom and opened my closet to deal with my usual Sunday morning quandary - what to wear. The good news was I had lots of options. Between my own shopping trips and those courtesy of my father and husband, my closet was pretty mush overflowing with all sorts of outfits. Of course most of the ones they bought me weren't exactly suitable for church even by my standards although I doubt either of them would've complained if I wore them there. The only problem was that I couldn't say the same for the church leadership! Indeed, as a teenager I'd had more than a few run-ins with the church authority figures although usually they took the case to my mother first. Fortunately she stood up for me in all but the most egregious cases although there had been more than a few "mother-daughter" discussions at home about dressing appropriately for church.

With the weather warming up the options were even more open. I LOVE sundresses so starting in Spring and going through most of Fall they were pretty much my uniform of the day when it came to church. Unfortunately I couldn't wear them to work at school. A light frilly sundress would've definitely crossed the line when it came to the public school dress code for teachers even though it was still light years more relaxed than what I'd had to deal with at the private Christian school I'd taught at before finally securing a position in the public school system.

Sunflower yellow and sky blue are my two favorite colors for sundresses although I probably pretty much have the rainbow covered in my closet. I tried to think back to last week and was pretty sure it was the yellow one that I'd worn for the first time this year to church. It was my all-time favorite with thin shoulder straps that attached more to the side of my bust than right on top like most did which gave the illusion of a bigger bust. Hey, anything that makes my boobs look higher and bigger is a go for me!

Thus it came down to the sky blue version. It was a pretty plain design but I loved the color which ultimately won the day. It also was a little shorter than the yellow version which hadn't been all that long to start so I knew I'd be turning more than the usual heads this week which was just fine with me given the mood I was in. It also turned my dad on to be seen with me on his arm even if people knew me as his daughter and thus most likely never even considered what had gone on between us not so long before.

That's one of the things I love about having sex with my dad right before church - going to the service and knowing what we'd done with so many people seeing us together without a clue as to what we'd been doing literally just minutes before. I enjoy fantasizing about what some of the more sanctimonious bitches with their holier-than-thou attitudes they wear on their sleeve at church would say if I lifted my hem and pulled aside my cum-soaked panties so they could see my dad's incestuous sperm seeping from my freshly fucked pussy? Then again, it also gets me tingling to fantasize about the reactions of all those guys who stare at me while trying so hard NOT to appear to do so.

Dropping the towel to the floor, I pulled the dress from the hangar and slipped it on over my head, letting it drop and then working it down where it would catch from being so snug in the middle. Just as I was about to reach around to pull it down the back I felt it moving down all on its own. Well, as it turned out it had a little help...

"Mmmmmmm, good choice, one of my favorites in fact," I heard from Steve who had sneaked up behind me, "Now if you would PLEASE tell me you're not going to wear any panties under it..."

I turned to face my husband who must have been more awake than I'd realized for him to be able to sneak over behind me so quietly as I picked out my dress.

"Yeah, I imagine you'd just be thrilled if I didn't," I teased him as I lifted it up in front to reveal my freshly scrubbed bare pussy.

His leering smile quickly faded as I pulled open the top left drawer of my dresser where I kept my panties and pulled out a matching pair of French cut panties. Slipping them on, I almost laughed as he seemed so disappointed, like a boy who thought he was getting a puppy but then told to put him back.

"Oh come on my horny hubby, you don't really expect me to wear THIS dress to church without any underwear under it, do you?"

Steve gave me a look that clearly conveyed that such a thing was EXACTLY what he was hoping for.

"Ohhhhhh, quit looking so sad... maybe later when we go out I'll leave them behind," I tried to console him but he didn't seem happy with even that offer so I changed tactics and asked, "How about I promise to take them off before I get home from church?"

Steve had something going on, I could tell. It's hard to describe but there was just something about the way he was fidgeted, almost like a little boy that needed to go to the bathroom.

"OK buster... what's going on?" I asked, deciding just to confront him head-on as I really didn't have time to play Twenty Questions.

Steve bit his lower lip and I couldn't help but notice his dick was no longer flaccid, in fact far from it as it was starting to raise up all on its own like a missile raising up on its launch pad.

Steve noticed me staring at his cock and he teased me by flopping it up and down with his hand saying, "How about I make you a deal... I'll go to church with you today but YOU have to leave the panties home."

Boy, talk about a good news - bad news proposition. For Steve to even offer to go to church was music to my ears as usually he never would go unless it was a major event like Christmas or Easter. It's not that he's an atheist or anything, it's just he doesn't like large organized religious groups which included the Presbyterian Church. But to wear this dress without anything under it all - no bra or panties, was a little dangerous even by my standards. Still, it wasn't like I couldn't just be a little extra careful, especially doing things like sitting down and getting up when it tended to ride up. Usually I didn't worry about flashing a little underwear but if I was going to go commando then that put things in an entirely different perspective.

There was also one more thing to consider before making such a commitment and it's not like it wasn't important...

"OK but we have to stop by my dad's first," I reminded him as if it was something he could forget.

"Oh.... whatever," he said, allowing a frown appear for a moment before he perked up again saying, "Well it IS Mother's Day after all and since your Aunt Linda is a mother I suppose I could find something to keep me occupied while you do your... thing."

Wow, talk about a series of understatements! When he said "something to keep me occupied" I just about burst out laughing. Oh yeah, like screwing my favorite aunt was just something to keep him occupied. And as for me "doing my thing", I've always found it amusing how my husband would twist the English language into knots to avoid using the "I" word. I mean like would it really kill him to say "incest" just once?

I dropped the panties back in the drawer and smoothed out my skirt as Steve watched approvingly. Well, hopefully the sun wasn't too bright such that it wouldn't shine through my dress as I walked through the parking lot.

Steve patted me on the butt and kissed me as he made his way to the bathroom to get ready.

"Now THAT's much better. Besides, you know you love it anyway."

He was right!

We arrived at my dad's house a few minutes later than I'd planned thanks to having to wait for Steve but there was still almost 45 minutes before the service started. It only took five to ten minutes to drive there and adding in the time to park and walk in, that left a good half hour which should be plenty of time for the two most important men in my life to enjoy themselves.

"Hey, look who the cat dragged in with her," my aunt teased as she opened the door while we approached. She must have been watching through the front window and seen us drive up. Normally she would've been out of sight by now but seeing Steve with me must have grabbed her attention.

"So to what do I owe the pleasure," she asked, looking at Steve as she closed the door behind us.

Steve was just staring back at her so I explained that it was Mother's Day and that Steve had asked if he could come along to give her a present.

"Oh really? And just what would that be by chance?" she asked, knowing full well ahead of time what the answer would be.

Steve finally spoke up replying, "Well, where would you like me to give it to you?" with a special emphasis on the "give it" part.

Aunt Linda laughed and took him by the hand, leading him to the living room.

"Well, seeing as Kelly will be heading upstairs this morning, I suppose we'll just have to make do in the living room."

By that I took it to mean my dad was waiting for me in their bedroom. It was a little different than usual as normally he was waiting for me in either the kitchen or living room. As I was always in a dress of some sort, typically he just had me bend over the table or a chair and he'd lift up my dress and take me standing up so as not to wrinkle my dress and allow him to keep his clothes on.

I gave Steve a quick kiss and a pat in his crotch. God, he was already hard as a rock! Oh well, that was all the better for my aunt. Meanwhile I had my own man to deal with...

I quickly made my way up the wood steps to the second floor and across the hallway to the master bedroom. Inside I found my dad leaning over as he looked in the mirror atop the dresser, fixing his tie.

"Damn tourniquets," he fussed, "Whoever came up with this idea I hope he's rotting in hell."

Another time and place I would've taken the time to commiserate with him as indeed, it did seem like a pretty silly thing to wear but then look at some of the things women have worn over the ages.

"Hey, was that Steve I heard?" he asked as he turned to face me.

I quickly explained our deal which brought a smile to my dad's face.

"Can't say I'm disappointed but in THAT dress going bottomless is a bit risky, don't you think? Especially today with it being so crowded."

Now that he'd mentioned it I couldn't help but wonder if I'd made the right decision. I mean it's not like Steve would've bailed if I'd pushed the issue. My husband LOVED fucking my mother's younger sister and had push come to shove he would've caved but then that's not the way I believe a wife should treat her spouse. This is what my husband wanted and if I could deal with it then that's what I needed to do as a proper wife.

"Maybe I should just walk in like this," I teased my dad as I lifted the hem up over my waist, revealing my naked bottom and pussy to him as I twirled in a circle.

"Now THAT would certainly make it a service nobody would ever forget," he laughed but as he did he was unzipping his dress pants and reaching in to pull out his almost completely erect dick.

"Hmmmmmm, I see somebody likes my outfit," I said softly as I wiggled my hips.

My dad put his hands on my breasts, cupping one in each hand through the thin fabric as he leaned down to kiss me on the lips. Our tongues met and I felt myself tingle deep inside as his fingers tweaked my nipples through the dress.

"Why don't you lean over the bed there and let me show you how much I like it," he said as our lips finally parted.

I'd barely done as he asked when I felt him push in from behind, driving his erect cock into my wet pussy as quickly as he could. It was like he couldn't wait to fuck me and now that I was there he wasn't going to waste a single moment.

"Oh daddy!" I sighed as he thrust himself deep inside of me.

"Oh baby girl... I love you so much."

It was all he said as he began thrusting himself in and out of me but it was like music to my ears. Yes indeed, my father had said the very words I wanted so badly to hear. It wasn't just the words that told me he loved me though as his cock drilled deep inside of me. Indeed, how could he NOT love me when his actions told me that he did. How could he lust for me and want so badly to give me the most personal thing he possessed if he didn't love me the way he did?

"Yes daddy... love me," I somehow managed to blurt out as he literally pounded his dick into me, driving me down onto the bed with the sheer force of his desire for me, "Take me daddy... I want you to show me how much you love me.... let me please you... You can do anything to me daddy - anything."

My father's hands were on my bare hips, my sundress pulled up and out of the way as he drove himself in deeply and then just held himself there with the hairy bush of his crotch ticking my bottom. I could hear him grunting as he ground his stiff dick around inside of my tight pussy.

For whatever reason my dad seemed especially horny this morning. Usually he liked to talk to me as he fucked me, telling me how much he loved me and how I pleased him and made him happy. He would call me a good daughter and thank me for giving myself to him. Almost always at some point or another he would want me to suck his cock as I looked up at him and our eyes would meet as he pushed it down into my throat. I loved to taste him after he had been inside of me, the smell

I smiled back at him, seductively licking my fingers clean of his cum. I'd always loved that nickname he'd given me way back when I first started having sex - "my little slut". Little did I know back when I was just fourteen that a couple of years later it would be HIS cum that I'd be tasting after I'd been just fucked.

"We need to get going daddy," I reminded him, nodding towards the clock. We had just ten minutes, barely enough time and even so we were probably going to be fashionably late this morning to the service.

He just nodded as I hurried to the bathroom and grabbed some Kleenex to wipe myself off. Damn, he must've really been loaded this morning judging from the way it just kept draining from me as I wiped it off time after time. Oh well, I grabbed a handful to take with to try and get the rest on the drive over. I found myself starting to question the wisdom of my agreement with my husband regarding my lack of panties. As thin as this dress was and with the color of material it would show any wet spot like it had flashing lights announcing itself.

Speaking of my horny husband...

I hurried down the stairs ahead of my dad just in case the two of them were still going at it. It's not like either of them were shy about being seen having sex but for whatever reason my husband didn't like doing it front of my dad, even if it wasn't with me.

As it turned out, my concerns were totally validated. I'd no sooner turned the corner at the bottom of the stairs but what should I see in front of me was my aunt riding my husband as he sat in the leather chair in the living room. It was the perfect chair for such a thing as I knew from plenty of past experience - firm with a wide seat, it had strong arms that were perfect for maintaining balance as you rode the guy sitting under you.

"Sorry babe, looks like we'll be missing church today," Steve informed me as I approached them. The grin on his face totally conflicted with his words though. Sorry my ass!

Damn, it's not like I shouldn't have seen this coming from a mile away. No doubt he had no intention of attending church from the get-go and this had all just been a ruse so he could fuck my aunt this morning. And to think I hadn't even thought to bring along my panties just in case something like this happened. Like duh, where had my brain been this morning not to anticipate this? It's not like it was something I shouldn't have suspected that Steve would pull.

Oh well, what could I say? Steve was my husband and this is what he wanted so it didn't really matter how I felt about it.

I backed out of the living room, taking one last moment to enjoy the erotic sight in front of me. My Aunt Linda might be pushing fifty now but you'd never know it seeing her as she bounced on my husband's erection. She'd taken off her dress and was just wearing her bra and panties with the panties pulled to the side to allow for Steve's dick to have easy access to her hairy dark crotch and pussy. Damn, I could only hope my genes had some of what was in hers!

I closed the French doors in the entrance to the living room just as my father made it to the first floor.

"Let me guess," he said with a grin, "Just you and me this morning baby?"

Oh well, it's not like THAT was the worst thing in the world that could've happened. Besides, Sunday mornings were a tradition between my father and me that didn't include my husband anyway. After all, Steve got me every other day of the week so I didn't think that asking for just one morning to be dedicated to my father was too much.

On the way to church I kept dabbing my leaking crotch with a Kleenex. I had my dress pulled up and bunched around my waist as the last thing I needed was a wet spot on the back of it when we got there, Fortunately by the time we made it things seemed to slow down. If nothing else, it seemed to make my dad happy to watch me judging from the somewhat lewd comments he was making about me riding with my skirt pulled up to my waist. What the heck, I figured better to deal with a few wrinkles than the alternative.

Actually the service went by quickly without anything all that eventful. Being it was Mother's Day they were handing out small corsages to all the moms. I couldn't help but notice that many of the mothers were now younger than me which made me feel a little left out. Here I was just 28 years old and already starting to feel like my biological clock was ticking away. While Steve and I had been talking more seriously lately about a baby, I was still on birth control so even if we DID decide to have a baby to would likely be months before I was pregnant. Then again, if my mom's and aunt's experiences had anything to say about things, I came from a pretty fertile line and it wouldn't take much to get me pregnant!

Somehow or another I managed not to leak during the service although immediately after I made my way to the ladies rest room and once inside a stall hitched up my dress and used some toilet paper to clean off what remaining cum from my dad that had managed to gather. As I checked myself out in the mirror, it was all I could do not to grin as I noticed the disapproving looks from one of the mothers standing behind me. Yeah like the stupid bitch wouldn't be wearing the same outfit if she hadn't gained fifty pounds since high school.

Of course I was the recipient of numerous appreciative looks from the guys at church, many of whom knew me well and I knew had come to expect me to "entertain" them. More than a few of them had even fucked me at one time or another although I never did anything to let on that there was anything like that in our history. I've always made it a point never to let them do me twice and this type of thing was a major reason. Sure it was incredibly hot and erotic to seduce them into cheating on their wives for the first time but there weren't any long-term benefits to maintaining any sort of relationship with them. It was enough now to see the look in their eyes when they saw me, knowing that they would all fuck me in a heartbeat if I ever allowed them.

By the time we got home I saw another car had parked in on the street in front of the house. It looked like Kristen and her husband had finally made it over. At least she hadn't forgotten about her mother on Mother's Day! I hoped that my husband and her mom had finished their thing before she'd arrived although I doubt it would have had any impact on anything. Given the family sex parties they attended together it's not like there was anything the two of them could do that would surprise my cousin.

Actually as my dad pulled into the driveway and made his way down the slope to the garage I started to wonder just what might be waiting for us. Knowing the four of them in the house it could be just about anything! Here was another thing I hadn't thought through when I agreed to my husband's plan earlier this morning. OK, so going bottomless to church turned out to be a non-event but that didn't mean who knows what was going on while my dad and I had been at the service.

Fortunately as things turned out my fears had been for naught. Well, maybe "fears" isn't the right word as it wouldn't have bothered me no matter what they were doing. Maybe "concerns" would have been then a better way to say it as we were supposedly taking Steve's mother out for dinner and if things had blossomed into some full-out orgy then who knows when we'd ever be on our way to her house. It's not like I could just call up Marlene and explain that we were going to be late because we all decided to have sex together!

It was thus a bit of a surprise when we walked in and found the four of them in the basement family room fully dressed and ready to go. Wow, maybe we WERE getting old! For my cousin this had to be some sort of milestone in her maturing process to pass up such an opportunity but that was something we could talk about another time so I didn't even bring up the subject.

Instead, Steve and I gave out goodbyes and hit the road. It would take maybe a half hour to get to his mother's place with the holiday traffic and she was expecting us in five minutes so no matter what we were going to be late. Well, it's not like SHE was ever on time…

3. Pushing My Mother-in-Law

As things turned out we were only fifteen minutes late - which for Steve was "early". Much to my exasperation, I'd learned early in our relationship that if we really needed to get someplace at a certain time then I had to make him think it was at least a half hour earlier. At least then when he was "late" we'd had a fighting chance of being on time. Fortunately it's not like his mother was any more punctual than her son so at least she couldn't hold THAT over our heads. Indeed, even though we were still a little late (by my definition) as it turned out Marlene wasn't anywhere ready to go when we arrived. Heck, she was still in her bath robe when we walked in through the back door to the kitchen!

"Hey mom, happy Mother's Day," Steve was the first to greet her.

My husband put his strong arms around his shorter mother and hugged her tightly before loosening up just enough so he could lean back to kiss her. As always in such situations, this was no innocent peck on the cheek but rather a full blown open-mouth, tongue touching smooching. As I waited patiently (well, maybe not THAT patiently) it was at least a couple of minutes before they finally broke apart enough for me to express my wishes to her for a happy Mother's Day as well.

At least given her state of undress there was no need to apologize for being late. Instead it was Steve's mom who was making up the excuses for running behind which was fine by me. Yet again I found myself having to hold back as I've never understood how people like Steve and Marlene can always be at least thirty minutes late. Like if you KNOW you're always going to be a half hour late, then why start a half hour earlier and be on time? It was a minor thing I guess but no less irritating. Then again, I guess I could have to deal with some of the crazy quirks my friends told me about when it came to their husbands and family. In the grand scheme of things running late wasn't even in the same league of the horror stories I've been told.

Once I finally grabbed the opportunity to wish her a happy Mother's Day, Marlene turned to me and gave me a hug although it wasn't anything like that she shared with her son. Stepping back a bit, she looked over my outfit closely for the first time as until then she'd pretty much been focused on her oldest son.

"Hmmmmmm... now that's a pretty dress Kelly, I don't think I've seen you wear it before. New?"

I smiled and answered as I nodded towards my husband, "Yeah, Steve just bought it for me."

Marlene grinned as she looked over at Steve and rolled her eyes, "Yes, I can definitely see why he would like it. So I'm just guessing here... it didn't come with any underwear?"

At first I wasn't sure whether to take her seriously or not. Was she joking, teasing or just being sarcastic? Then I saw her and my husband exchange glances and from the grins on their faces I knew she was just teasing me so I decided to give a little back myself.

"Well you know your son better than I do mom."

For just a moment I think it was her turn to wonder where I was coming from but then she shook it off and smiled. The funny thing is that if she were to ask, I might've told her that I wasn't teasing but then that wouldn't have been nice of me.

"Oh well... the days I could get away with wearing something like that are long past me," she sighed melodramatically.

"Awwwwww mom," Steve consoled her, putting his arm around her and grabbing her butt firmly, "You still look great."

Marlene turned to me and shrugged her shoulders. I noticed she made no effort to dissuade her son from fondling her ass. "Well Kelly, what can I say when my son's my biggest fan?"

In a different time and place I might've said something sarcastic about it being the same as when your father was your biggest fan but then I knew that Steve would've killed me. As it was we all laughed and then Marlene told us to take a seat in the kitchen and help ourselves to the wine coolers in the refrigerator. She promised she'd be ready in ten minutes but I knew from past history that it would be at least twice that long that if not more.

Moving into the kitchen as she disappeared, I thought about how with the traffic and all on the drive over we hadn't really talked all that much so if anything this would give us a chance to catch up on the morning "activities". We just had to be careful not to let his mother overhear the conversation. It sort of irked me more than just a little that we still had to play this little game. Like when was Steve going to finally own up to things and tell his mother what all went on with my side of the family? Even if he wasn't ready to tell her that her daughter-in-law was being fucked by her father he could at least admit to what he did with the other women in my family. No matter how his mother felt about the subject, technically some people wouldn't call that incest since they were not related by blood even though in MY book it still counted. It was an important point for me in that it was the basis for the rationale that allowed me to have sex with other members of my family without having to call it adultery.

"So where are we going to eat?" I asked. Steve had this blank look on his face and for a moment I panicked.

"Oh good lord Steve, you did remember it's Mother's Day. We'll NEVER get in anywhere nice if you forgot to make reservations."

Seeing the look of sheer exasperation on my face, Steve couldn't keep a straight face any longer and burst out laughing.

"C'mon, give me a break Kelly, I'm not THAT dense," he teased me, "Of course we have reservations."

He then explained to me how he'd managed to secure a nice table at one of pricier downtown hotel buffets. There was just one hitch - it wasn't for another two hours. I didn't say anything but I knew then that he'd likely forgotten until the last minute and thus had to make do with whatever crappy time was available. Oh well, at least we had something, even if it was in the middle of the afternoon.

"Soooooo...," he went on, reaching over to put his hand on my upper exposed leg, "How should we pass the time until then?"

From the way his hand was moving up my leg with his fingers already under the hem of my dress (as short as it was and with my leg crossed it meant he was only a few inches away from my crotch already), it was pretty obvious what HE had in mind. Then again, as a heterosexual male it would have been more a surprise if her hadn't.

"What's the matter stud, my Aunt Linda didn't satisfy you?" I teased him although I certainly wasn't about to do anything to discourage his wandering fingers.

"Shhhhhh!" he hissed at me, looking worriedly over his shoulder at the hallway which led to his mother's bedroom, "Damn it Kelly, what if she heard you?"

"Oh phooey, she won't be ready for another half hour and you know it," I huffed, "Besides, why would she care anyway?"

"Well, you know how she is..." Steve started to say but I cut him off, this time clamping my hand down on his to hold him in place as I turned towards him.

"No I DON'T know how she is," I sighed, "You know, I'm so sick and tired of worrying about what your mother knows about. This is really getting to be tiresome."

Steve's face darkened, maybe not physically but I don't know how else to describe his expression.

"Shit, we're not going to go THERE again, are we?" he asked but it sounded more like an order than a question. In the past it would have been enough to cause me to back down but after my recent exchange with Beth I wasn't ready to back off so easily this time.

"You know, it IS Mother's Day," I started to say softly but he was way ahead of me.

"As so you think that that makes it a good time to tell my own mother that I have sex with my wife's mother and family?"

He paused but I wasn't saying anything so he continued, "You know how I feel about all that Kelly, so just drop it, OK?"

Damn! I wanted to scream at him and say that NO, I didn't know how he felt about it. Oh sure, I knew what he told me but I knew there had to be more that he was hiding away deep down from me. Well, to be honest so far everything had gone just as I had assumed it would when I'd thought about this earlier so while he might not realize it, all was going according to my plans...

"Whatever, " I huffed, acting as though I was accepting what he'd said, "So you wanna fuck me eh?"

I said it in a mischievous voice and got exactly the reaction I expected. It was the same reaction I've gotten all my life whenever I ask any guy that question - a huge smile and a hard dick - not that he hadn't been erect since kissing his mother. Yes, I noticed!

Steve started to reach under my dress for my unprotected pussy but I scooted away and stood up.

"Uh uh, not here my horny husband. Let's do it on the bed where it's more comfortable."

He didn't have to be told twice. Within a matter of minutes we were both naked on his bed with me on my belly between his legs with his dick in my mouth. I still had my heels on but otherwise had removed my necklace and bracelets. Steve had his head propped up with a couple of pillows so he could watch as I worked his cock. Yep, two things I'd learned from back when I first started blowing men - they LOVE to watch and the love it even more when you make eye contact.

"Damn... I don't think I can EVER see enough of you doing that," he gasped as my tongue worked around his swollen head while my fingers cupped his hairy balls and gently rolled them.

Then I noticed his eyes shifted from what I was doing to something behind me. Glancing over my shoulder, sure enough there was Marlene standing at the doorway watching us. What a surprise... NOT! As usual, she hadn't said a word or made a sound to announce her presence and if past experience held true, she wouldn't say anything as she watched either. It had been that way from the first time she'd watched us. Back then I'd been a little surprised to say the least but then who wouldn't be under the circumstance. Naturally I also had expectations that she would soon join us but nowadays I've come to accept that she never will. Marlene was still in her robe although it looked like she'd done her hair and makeup. The robe was untied and fell open just enough to show that she wasn't wearing anything underneath. regardless, she wasn't touching herself or otherwise doing anything to suggest she was turned on by watching. Again, no different than any other time.

THAT was what really got to me - her just standing there doing nothing but watching us! In comparison, my own mom use to enjoy watching my dad fucking me and like Marlene, she always liked to see Steve and me together when she could. The BIG difference between our mothers was that in my mother's case she almost always masturbated while she watched. Sometimes it was just a light touch, not necessarily enough to bring her to the point of reaching orgasm, but at least enough to show that she was turned on. Actually I'd never even seen Marlene masturbate period, let alone while watching us. Although Steve liked to rub her through her panties or other clothes I'd never seen her touch herself, at least not in my presence. I couldn't believe that she didn't do it when she was alone though. I guess it was the difference in how you're brought up with her obviously having been taught that such things were done in private.

Oh well, in the course of the past two years this had all become sort of routine so for the moment I returned to Steve's dick and more or less forgot all about his mother as I worked to please my husband and her son. Still, it was sort of like hearing a song and then not being able to get it out of your head. Like when someone tells you NOT to think about a pink elephant, no matter how I tried NOT to think about it the harder it was not to think about it. As I sucked Steve's dick, Beth's words came to mind again. Should I at least TRY, even though I knew it would be courting potential disaster on a day that should be full of hope and promise?

Well, it couldn't hurt to try a LITTLE, could it?

Feeling determined, I got up on my knees and worked my way around 180 degrees and draped myself over Steve in a 69 position. Lowering my bare pussy to his face, he eagerly started to lick me as I turned my attention back to his hard dick. Only now I also had a great view of his watchful mother. Steve had always told me to just ignore her and so far I'd listened to my husband's directions but heck, it was Mother's Day for goodness sake!

"You know... I LOVE sucking his dick," I said softly, my eyes fixed on Marlene's. She met my gaze without looking away but otherwise didn't respond in any way.

Lifting myself up a bit, instead of sucking him I started to stroke his wet cock with my hand as I ground my pussy in my husband's face. I could feel his tongue as he tried to push it inside of me and it tingled soooooo good!

"It's just a dick you know... you can touch it and it won't bite - I promise," I whispered seductively to his mother. Steve started to say something but I pushed my crotch down onto his face harder to muffle whatever he was trying to say.

This time I got a reaction from her but not exactly what I was hoping for. Marlene shook her head slowly although she DID smile, perhaps trying to show me she wasn't offended, just not accepting my offer. Well, I wasn't ready to quit THAT easily. At least not this time.

"It's not really sex you know... blowjobs I mean... and I KNOW you like to touch him."

Indeed she did, even though every time I'd ever seen her doing it her hand was always over his underwear or pants or whatever he was wearing at the time. Personally, I could never quite figure out how grabbing an erect dick through cotton briefs was any different than holding it bare but obviously SHE saw a distinction. I guess after almost two years now I'd sort of become use to it but then I don't know if will ever totally understand such convoluted logic.

Then the proverbial light bulb lit over my head. Like duh! Damn, why hadn't I ever thought of this one before? Reaching over, I pulled the sheet over and covered

Steve's crotch such that his dick was now poking up under it like a tent pole. With my hand staying under the sheet, I continued to stroke him but now, or so at least I hoped, maybe this was the opening to new possibilities...

Although I didn't come right out and say anything, it was obvious from the odd look on her face that she had already realized my intentions. Whether she knew it or it was just an instinctive reaction, Marlene licked her lips quickly and I noticed she seemed to be shifting her weight back and forth, almost as if she needed to use the bathroom.

Suddenly I couldn't help but gasp as Steve's tongue was rubbing up against my clit now and it felt like an electric shock shot through me. Then his lips grabbed my clit and he gently tugged as the tip of his tongue teased me. God it felt so good! I doubted that he had any idea of what was going on at the other end other than me stroking his dick. I wasn't even sure whether or not he even realized what I'd done with the sheet although he probably didn't care one way or the other. His renewed efforts at eating my pussy were timed perfectly though even though it was sheer coincidence that it was just what was need to get his mother's interest a little bit of a shot in the arm.

As his tongue licked me, my pussy was screaming with pleasure. God I wanted so bad to throw off that damned sheet and take my husband's erection in my mouth but instead I fought back the temptation and locked my eyes on Marlene's as I bit my bottom lip when my orgasm caused me to moan uncontrollably. It felt so hot to have her watching but I wanted more... much more!

"Help me," I mouthed silently to my mother-in-law.

At first I thought this would just be one more time where she remained stoic and restricted herself to just being a voyeur to her son's sexual life. Then slowly, oh my god ever so slowly, she started to walk towards us and finally sat on the edge of the bed. Between my husband's tongue in my pussy, the orgasm that was still racking my body, and the sight of his mother sitting now just a couple of feet away from where I was stroking her son's dick under the sheet was all part of one incredible erotic moment. Like this was a first and even if it went no further, it was something that might help in the future.

Fight back the urge to drag her over, I tried to be not too aggressive and scare her off. Instead I just nodded to her, glancing down at the rigid pole below me that was pushing up against the white sheet. Now it was her turn to bite her lower lip. I held my breath, not wanting to break the spell as without a word Steve's mom reached over and wrapped her hand around the ghostly image that was protruding upwards. I held onto my husband's dick at the base, directing it straight up to the ceiling and holding it still as she tentatively gripped it in her hand through the sheet. Her eyes were now fixed on her son's covered dick and I noticed she never so much as glanced upwards at me. It was almost as if I didn't even exist to her at the moment and indeed, maybe that was exactly what she wanted.

Granted, this wasn't QUITE what I'd been hoping for as seeing Marlene holding his dick through the sheets wasn't much different than what I'd witnessed in the past when only his underwear, swim trunks, jeans or other item of clothing served as the barrier between them. Still, the sheet was about as light and thin as anything he wore and I was sure she could feel the warmth of her son's blood-engorged cock in the palm of her hand as she gripped it.

Funny thing was, I still didn't think Steve had any idea what was going on as with my crotch planted on his face he couldn't see his own lower extremities. Unless he'd noticed the slight dip in the bed when his mom sat down, there really was no reason for him to think anything other than I was now using both hands on him. Judging from the non-stop tongue lashing he was giving me, I was pretty positive he was clueless as to the change of events that was taking place between his legs.

With the sheet still covering her son's dick, it wasn't like Marlene could really stroke it the way she could have if her hand had been directly on him, especially if she had wetted it down a bit with her mouth first. Again, nothing new here as whenever I'd watched before she'd just rubbed and gripped him. Not that it wasn't enough at times to make him cum although that was rather rare. Usually it was more like something she did while they kissed or he was fondling her rather than focusing just on her hand on him.

As I watched, I wondered if she was as turned on as I was by what she was doing. Was she wet with excitement? I kept waiting for her to reach down between her legs and rub herself at least a little but THAT would have been really pushing things. To date I'd never seen her do much more than a quick rub of her boobs while stroking Steve and even that was more to settle them in place than to get herself off. It wasn't like it would've been all that difficult as her robe had mysteriously pulled up to her waist as she sat sideways on the edge of the bed with her legs crossed.

Seeing her without panties underneath was quite a surprise as it seemed she always wore them. Like my own mother, Marlene was rarely without her bra and panties. MAYBE she might not wear a bra under her robe but she ALWAYS panties. Of course in some of her lingerie outfits she didn't wear a bra but again, panties were always there of some shape or size. Come to think of it, until now I'd never actually seen her pussy exposed other than what was visible through some of her more sheer panties. It's not like we showered together or even dressed in the same room.

As hot as all this was, it wasn't what I wanted, especially considering it was Mother's Day. OK, so maybe it was a little cliche but it just seemed like this was the sort of event that begged for something momentous to occur - the perfect day for one of those "first time" stories. True, she'd never so much as done anything other than stare when Steve and I were in bed together before this WAS something new. Still, it wasn't exactly front page headlines but more like a small article at the bottom of page three. Well, what was there to lose by pushing a little more?

Pulling my free hand from under sheet and keeping my balance with the other, I gently pulled the sheet to the side. At first Marlene seemed determined to ignore my efforts, keeping her grip firmly on my husband's cock and thus preventing the sheet from pulling over any further. I tugged a little harder and this time she finally looked up at me and our eyes met. She shook her head firmly, her message obvious, but I refused to take her NO for an answer and tugged a little harder. I felt a bit constrained in that I didn't want Steve to wonder what was going on. Something told me that if he DID know what was happening then he would get cold feet and join sides with his mother, bringing everything to a rapid conclusion and an unsatisfactory one at that.

Thank goodness, this time she reluctantly released his dick and I quickly took advantage of the opportunity, tugging the sheet over to expose that beautiful erection for us both to enjoy. God it looked so yummy and it took all my willpower to keep my mouth from just diving down and engulfing it. Instead, I gripped it again by the base, his lush black pubic hair poking through my fingers as I looked up at Marlene who was now sitting up straight on the edge of the bed.

It was obvious she wasn't about to do anything on her own so I reached out with my hand open, offering to help her but she seemed more determined now and started to sit up straighter as if she was going to stand up and return to her post by the doorway. In desperation I reached out and grabbed her just above the wrist, pulling her back towards me. She resisted but yet there was something in the way she pulled back that seemed less than determined. It was like she WANTED me to "force" her to do it and I so obliged her, tugging harder until her hand was right next to her son's stiff cock.

Left with "no choice", Marlene reached over and for the very first time I saw Steve's bare cock in his mother's hand. Ok, so technically it wasn't the first time but fourteen years is a long time and there's a huge difference between a mother catching two horny teens in the basement versus that same mother stroking her thirty year-old married son as he ate out his wife! At first she was tentative but then it wasn't like she was some young teenage girl giving her first hand job.

I had no doubts that Marlene led an active sex so I felt confident she knew what to do. My confidence was confirmed when she leaned over and drooled spit over his cock to slicken it which allowed her to stroke it better. OK, so she didn't put it in her mouth but it was definitely a step in the right direction so far as I was concerned. As the minutes went by, she became more and more active, her hand moving up and down the stiff shaft of her son's cock faster and faster. I loved the way she would twist her fist when at the top, causing her palm to rub over Steve's bulbous cock head which I knew he loved. Oh yeah, she definitely knew what she was doing.

Hmmm, time for Steve to learn the truth...

Feeling quite naughty now, I rolled over to the side which allowed me to press my bare body up against my husband's with my wet pussy close to his ear. Steve must have thought this was a prelude to me sucking his cock because he leaned his head back and kept his eyes shut tight, waiting for the feel of my lips surrounding his cock. When that didn't happen, he opened his eyes and lifted his head to look down to see what the problem was and that was when he realized what was REALLY happening.

"MOM!" was all he said but it spoke volumes as he repeated it saying, "Mommmmmm!" The words were the same but the tone was vastly different. The first was an exclamation of surprise as I knew he had to be shocked by what he saw given he'd had no warning beforehand. Yet within the span of a split second that surprised tone transformed to one of lust as his second exclamation was so much deeper and sexier, more like he was paying her a compliment this time.

As for me, I didn't say a word out of fear of spooking either of them. It was like being in the wild watching two animals up close, afraid to move and cause them to bolt out of sight. I wanted so bad to rub myself as I felt ridiculously horny watching Marlene stroking my husband's cock so intimately for the first time. Now if she would just suck it! Who knew where THAT might lead. Needless to say I knew where it would if I had anything to say about it, but something told me this was now out of my hands... literally.

Well, as it turned out I was counting my chickens well before they were hatched. Any thoughts that Marlene might blow Steve, let alone get on top of him and ride it, were WAY premature but at least they were now one step closer, even if neither of them would likely admit it. Usually Steve would need me to suck him a little to make him cum but evidently the sight of his mother jerking him off was more than enough for him as he began to groan uncontrollable and his hips started to thrust upwards against her hand. From plenty of past experience I knew what he wanted - to have something around his dick be it a mouth or a pussy. At the same time I knew this was just instinctive on his part. No doubt he wouldn't have pushed his mother away - not in the aroused state he was in at the moment, but at the same time I didn't assume he even was aware of what he was doing either and so far as I could tell, Marlene wasn't taking the hint.

"Oh my god!" Steve groaned through gritted teeth as his back arched and he started to cum.

A HUGE eruption of cum burst from his dick him and shot straight up in the air, narrowly missing Marlene's face (damn!) and landing on her outstretched arm and hand. She didn't pull back though, pumping his spurting cock like she was madly liking a cow as one after another load of sperm flew up and added to the mess on her hand and arm. God, would it ever end? Well, of course it did eventually but not before there was quite an impressive amount of fresh sperm just lying there going to waste. I debated whether or not I should lean over to clean it up with my tongue but this wasn't the time or place for self-indulgence.

Keeping her hand on her son's already dwindling cock, Marlene scooted over and leaned down to kiss Steve. Well, it was probably a good thing she hadn't taken his cum in her mouth as Steve would never have kissed her if she had, or at least he's never allowed ME to kiss him with my mouth filled with cum. If there's one thing my husband is NOT, it's gay! Then again, this WAS his mother so who knows? Steve reached under her robe and I could tell her was fondling his mother's boobs as they continued to kiss. Finally they broke apart and this time she stood up at the edge of the bed, seeming to ignore the cum dripping from her hand and arm. She looked over at me with a funny expression and I wondered what she was thinking right then. Then she turned back to her son and smiled.

"Now THAT was quite the Mother's Day surprise," she said softly. Then she turned back yet again to me. "And as for YOU, my naughty little daughter-in-law, I think we need to have a talk."

With that she motioned to me to follow her as she left the room. I looked at Steve who was all grins by now but he just shrugged with a "don't look at me" type of look and then laid his head back and sighed loudly. What was he thinking? I was dying to know but no doubt I'd find out before the day was out. Marlene was at the door now and seeing I was still lying next to Steve, she motioned with her finger again. Something in her eyes told me this wasn't just a simple request any longer so I got up and followed her, still in my heels but not bothering to cover myself. Really, what bother at this point?

4. The Truth Comes Out

I'd expected to follow Marlene to her bedroom but instead she stopped by the bathroom where she grabbed a towel and cleaned herself off before going to the sink to wash off the residue. Drying herself with a fresh towel, she turned towards me with an odd smile.

"So I suppose you're quite pleased with yourself about now, eh Kelly?"

Like how do you respond to THAT sort of question? Then again, it really wasn't so much a question as a rhetorical statement as she didn't seem to be expecting an answer from the way she quickly moved on.

"C'mon, do you really think that I haven't done that before?" she said quietly, not looking me in the eye, "And no, I'm NOT referring to that little debacle in the basement when you two were kids. Do you really think that you're somehow so persuasive that you could seduce me into doing something against my will, especially after all the little sex shows you always seem so anxious for me to watch."

ME anxious for HER to watch? Now that was an interesting spin on past events to put it mildly. From my perspective, SHE was the one who started all that. It's not like we did it on her bed or anything. From my perspective, SHE was the one who opened the door and watched the first time... and every time after that although the door wasn't closed anymore after the first time.

Maybe she realized that she was stretching things a little as she frowned and said, "Well, maybe I was a little to blame as well but you have to understand; after what happened back then I didn't know how you would react if I allowed things to go any further while you were around." Her face suddenly paled a little and she lifted up her hands as if to protest her own words. "Oh now don't take me wrong, I don't mean we had sex or anything... well... I mean it's not like we were lovers. It was just with all the stress of moving, the new job, not to mention Steve's feelings about leaving you... then there was Sharon and Jim... Still, I wouldn't expect a Christian girl like yourself to understand and I never wanted anything that might cause you to leave Steve or be unhappy with him."

All this was more than a little surreal so far as I was concerned. While Marlene had grabbed her robe and slipped it on before getting to the bedroom - albeit not bothering to tie it closed or even wrap it around her tightly, I was still nude with just my heels on as I sat on the bed next to my sexy mother-in-law. This was a first for me. Sure, she seen me naked plenty of times but it was always when Steve and I were doing it and never alone with her. It's not like I was shy about nudity or anything, it was just... unusual I guess you could say.

"Ummmmm, understand what exactly?" I asked softly, as if I didn't already have a pretty good idea where this was going. Still, I wanted it to be completely open and explicit to be sure there was no confusion or misunderstandings later.

Marlene sighed and again averted her eyes. "Well, last time I checked most Christians consider incest to be some sort of sin, or at least not allowed by the Bible."

"So you're saying that you and Steve have sex? That you have an incestual relationship?" I asked, trying to keep the excitement out of my voice and sound as if I was surprised yet without appearing shocked.

"Does that shock you?" she asked looking more worried than anything, "I mean would you think any less of either of us?"

I reached over and took her hands in mine. "Mom, I love your son and there's nothing that will ever change that. So far as I'm concerned, the only part that bothers me is that you felt you had to hide it from me and instead played this ridiculous charade for all this time. Do you have any idea how weird this has all been for me?"

Marlene nodded. "I can imagine but then wouldn't it have even more weird to know your husband has been having sex with his own mother since he was sixteen? Now I DO know you guys are into some kinky stuff and whatever, like swapping with other couples, but a lot of people are into that sort of thing. I mean it's not like you didn't already have quite reputation when we moved back here. Still, it's not like it was anything all that crazy... although I do have to say you've been quite the busy girl since we moved."

Just as I thought I'd finally heard the revelation I'd been hoping for though, she paused and then clarified one little detail...

"Oh and just so we're clear about one thing... when I say 'sex', I mean oral. I know some people don't believe that oral sex is 'true' sex but for my generation, Bill Clinton aside, sucking a dick IS sex. I mean it wouldn't be right for him to actually penetrate me - I AM his mother for goodness sakes. THAT would be wrong and I have to say, I still regret to this day allowing myself to get carried away that one time. It has haunted me ever since. How any parent could have that sort of sex with their own child is beyond me, don't you agree?"

That last part was accompanied by a bit of a smirk which I wasn't quite sure how to take. Was she making fun of me or even criticizing me? Did she know more than she was letting on about me? Then again, did it really matter?

"Soooooo, now what?" I asked, deciding that it was probably better to change the direction of this conversation while I had the chance.

"What do you mean?"

I couldn't help but roll my eyes despite my better judgment.

"Well, why call me in here?"

Marlene huffed softly, as if I shouldn't even have to ask the question but I wanted everything out in the open without any reservations or misunderstandings. It's not like I hadn't been wanting to have this conversation for over a year now but now I wasn't sure where to go with it. This wasn't exactly how I'd played it out in my imagination before now.

Marlene shrugged. "I guess I just assumed that you might want to talk about what just happened. I mean it's not like every day a woman sees her husband's mother giving him a hand job."

Again the unintentional eye roll but why was she being so coy in the first place?

"I mean... like you and Steve... now what?"

"Well, don't get any ideas about family threesomes or anything like that," she quickly said, leaning back and holding her hand like she was stopping traffic, "Just because things got a little carried away today isn't any reason for anything to change... don't you agree?"

Of course I did NOT agree but then it wasn't like I was being given a real choice here. Suddenly I I realized I was now in the same sort of situation Steve faced every time I had sex with my dad. Did I really want to watch his mother blowing him – assuming she'd allow it in the first place? I had no doubt at all that Steve wouldn't hesitate given his flair for showmanship when it came to sex. It was quite obvious that the one holding everything back from the beginning was his mother and I wasn't seeing any real cracks in that wall she'd built up. Sure, today she'd crossed the line but from what I was gathering, she was already retreating back.

What Marlene didn't know was the internal struggle I was having as to what I should be telling her about my own incestual family relationships – the magnitude of which made hers look miniscule by comparison. Could she handle the truth? Well, not based on what I'd heard so far. I'd always imagined that at a point like this I'd be spilling the beans but now that events had finally fallen into place it was looking more and more like such secrets would remain secret, at least for now. Then again, it wasn't like I was ready to totally just let this all slide and go on acting as if nothing had happened...

"I agree," I said but at the same time I scooted over closer to her, "There's just one thing though that I think you and I need to get out of the way..."

She seemed puzzled and then even more so as I leaned in and kissed her on the lips.

"Kelly... no," she whispered huskily but at the same time I saw she wasn't stopping me or even retreating the tiniest bit. If anything, she leaned into me.

"I love you mom," I whispered back as I put my arms around her neck and pressed my nude body against her robe. We kissed again, but this time we didn't pull apart and instead our mouth opened and tongues explored as she hugged me and pulled me in tighter against her.

I wanted so badly to reach within her robe but figured this was pushing things as far as I thought she might be ready to go. We kissed for several minutes before I heard something at the door.

"Now THAT's something I've always wanted to see!"

Sure enough, Steve had sneaked and was standing there naked in the doorway, stroking his growing dick as he smiled broadly. At that moment I knew exactly what I wanted...

Motioning with my free arm, Steve came in closer and I saw his dick was fully erect now. Typical guy, seeing two girls kissing was enough to practically make him cum just watching. Now make those two girls his wife and mom... well, you get the picture.

"Fuck her... I want to watch," I whispered to him.

Wow, like was he really going to do it? FINALLY was I going to see my husband fuck his own mother? Sure, she'd been pretty forceful just now about NOT wanting that to happen but in the heat of this moment, who knew what was possible.

Steve started to move towards his mom and I knew that look in his eyes all too well. It was the same look my father gets in a similar situation, that look that tells me he was now on autopilot, that his dick was firmly in control and nothing was going to stop him until he'd cum in her. It was the sort of look that thrilled me yet at the same time could be a little scary. While I knew neither man would ever do anything to hurt me, at the same time it was like a volcano when it begins to erupt – nothing stops it.

Then again, I wasn't Steve's mother...

"No."

That was all she said. One word. Soft but firm with no room for doubt as to who was in control. I guess had it been me and my dad had tried to say no I might have protested a little - and usually got my way. In this case I immediately sensed a totally different dynamic. It was like I was seeing the two of them in a totally different light. Such a simple exchange yet it spoke volumes. Indeed, there was no doubt who was in charge in this relationship. In a way it answered a lot of questions, in particular why Steve had never told me anything. No doubt Marlene had directed that such information be kept secret and I knew now that so far as the two of them were concerned, what mom said was law - no questions asked or tolerated.

He may have respected his mother's command but that didn't mean he had to like it. Steve got that hurt puppy dog look he would get whenever he didn't immediately get his way but his mother just ignored him and if anything, she finally tied her robe and stood up, putting distance between her and the two of us.

"I think it's time we went to dinner, don't you think?" she said matter-of-factly, as if we'd just been watching TV together.

And just like that it was like everything changed. She turned to go to the bathroom while Steve and I quietly went back to the room to get dressed. Like wow! I had a million questions I wanted to ask Steve but they would have to wait until later - if a good time ever arose at all. Meanwhile, we still had dinner ahead of us. I couldn't help but wonder what the conversation would include.

Later that night in bed while Steve was fucking me I tried to steer the bedroom talk towards his mother but it was like he didn't hear a word I was saying. It was OK though. Today a major crack had appeared in the armor that he and his mother had put up in front of me. Where this would lead, if anywhere, remained to be seen...

(May 19) Chapter 262: A Father-Daughter Day (and night)

Story codes: MF oral exhib inc father daughter
Me (28)
John - my dad (48)

My how time flies! One day I suddenly realized that it had been a long time since I'd spent an entire day together with just my dad. Even though he'd never complained I couldn't help but feel guilty for being so derelict in my duties as a Christian daughter. Well, there was only thing for me to do...

1. Duties and Responsibilities

If you ask me, it's an unsettling sign of the times that the divorce rate amongst so-called Christian couples is higher than fifty percent and growing each year. Like, what is a statistic like this one telling us about our decaying moral values? Just think about it... I mean like less than half of all Christian couples stay true to the sacred vows they took before their families and God and it really bothers me. Not only is it an affront to God, but what sort of message are we sending to the non-Christian communities? Is it really any wonder why Christians are treated the way we are. I guess you could even say that we deserve it based on the hypocrisy that's become so rife within the ranks.

It's not just the religious implications but also the impact that divorce has on families as well. Indeed, as a teacher in a large public school I witness every day the results when I see the growing number of children who come from single-parent families - and I'm fortunate enough to be employed by an upper-income community where the "problems" of the inner city are supposedly minimalized. While exceptions certainly exists, anyone who's had any exposure at all to kids these days will tell you that as a general rule, having two parents is always better than one.

So what's led to this decline in family values? Well, everyone has their opinion in the matter and of course, so do I. No doubt I could probably write an entire thesis and barely scratch the surface so instead I'll just focus on what I consider to be one of the most critical features of a successful marriage - the firm establishment and understanding of roles and responsibilities. Although nothing can guarantee a marriage's longevity, I firmly maintain that without this crucial element that a marriage is almost certainly doomed to fail sooner than later. Even if it doesn't result in divorce, it might be better that the marriage DID fail based on what I've seen where couple don't separate.

Simply stating that roles and responsibilities are critical is the easy part. It would be impossible, or at least undesirable, to spell out everything that each member of a family should and should not do. Making it all the more complicated, no two families are exactly the same so it only makes sense that no two families would necessarily have the same assignments. Thus I would maintain that what is REALLY important is that each couple HAVE roles established and that they well understood. Of course, following them is pretty important as well.

Like most things in life, as important as roles and responsibilities are there's always the risk of going too far, especially when dealing with what are really trivial issues. Decisions regarding who takes out the garbage, who does dishes, etc. will almost certainly change over time. Really, so long as they don't lead to unnecessary bickering and fighting, who really cares? Indeed, as I've already stated I believe that there's a real danger of going TOO far when it comes to the establishment of responsibilities to where people feel like they're in boxed in.

OK... so when it's all said and done, by now I imagine any reading this is asking just what does all nonsense this have to do with anyone who might be considering incest? Well, if you were to ask me I'd tell you that that a successful marriage is a non-negotiable prerequisite to incest. As part of creating such a successful marriage, each partner needs to confirm that they've dealt successfully with the issue of family roles before taking any steps toward actually engaging in incest. Even if they have, the strain that incest can place on these roles can lead to quite severe and complex issues even if a solid foundation is in place so just imagine if one isn't!

When it comes to determining your roles in life, whether it be in marriage or at work or even amongst friends, it always helps to have a mentor. For me, as a daughter and a wife I've always tried to emulate my mom. After all, what better role model could a girl possibly ask for than her own mother? Thanks in no small part to my mom's firm convictions and broad understandings, my parents' marriage lasted more than 25 years before their unfortunate divorce. Even though in society's eye their marriage technically "Failed", the reason for their separation had nothing to do with their love for one another (indeed, they have remained best friends) but rather to the sexual addictions that my father was unable to contain. It's really no different than how an addiction to drugs or alcohol will typically lead to a divorce. Over the years weakness grew until eventually my mother was forced into a situation where she had to make a decision - to either totally compromise her most sacred ethical and moral beliefs or leave her husband of over a quarter century. I'm incredibly proud of my mom for having such strong moral convictions such that she was able to make such a terrible choice and in the end be absolutely certain that she made the correct decision. Hopefully I'll never have to face such a situation myself but if I should, at least I have her example to follow.

To summarize what I learned from my mother, and what I hope someday to pass on to my own daughter, is that in a Christian marriage the man is the head of the household. It is then the duty and responsibility of the woman to submit to the biblical authority of her man. (Please, let's not go off on a tangent regarding gay and lesbian couples, the same principles still apply.) Neither my mother or I had a brother so in our cases this applied to our fathers only but I know that someday if I have a son that he will assume his rightful place in our family authority structure when he enters puberty and becomes a man.

In the same manner my daughter will also learn to submit to our men as it's simply the proper thing for a daughter to do. Thus my daughter will be taught to do the same things which I did with my father, and that my mother did with her father before me - to submit herself wholly and completely to her father without question or hesitation.

Now before everyone jumps all over me, some clarification is needed because the subject of Christian submission is far too complex to be properly explained in just a few sentences. In fact, so complex that I wrote an entire diary entry about it which is posted in the "About Me" folder of my diary site and even then I don't do it justice. Thus in this entry I'll only cover the highlights to the extent necessary to allow people to gain a basic understand of my actions on this day.

First and foremost, as a daughter my ultimate responsibility is to my father (after God of course). The biblical top ten list (AKA The Ten Commandments) instructs us to honor our fathers and mothers. Therefore every father has a right granted by God to expect his daughter to honor him. What better way to do this than by submitting herself to him in whatever manner is necessary to satisfy his most only tells a woman to submit to her husband, it also instructs the husband to love his wife as Christ loves the Church. Like wow, can anyone even really comprehend what that means? If anything I would say it puts more responsibility on the man than the woman! Thus for a man to abuse his wife or daughter or to force anything on them against their will or beliefs would be a blatant violation of the biblical responsibility that has been placed on him. Just because a man has AUTHORITY over his wife and daughter doesn't mean he has the RIGHT to do just anything.

That's where the line gets drawn between submission and abuse and to me it's pretty clear. For example, my father LOVES anal sex but he also knows that I don't. of course if he ever insisted I would allow him to fuck my ass without hesitation but at the same time I never worry about it because I know he respects me enough never to force me to make that choice in the first place. You see... it's a two-way street...

So how did this submission thing work out for me as I grew up? Let's be real - I wasn't a perfect daughter and by no means was I some sort of angel. There were more times than I care to admit when I didn't always obey my dad or I did things that frustrated and upset him. But in my defense it's only natural in the growth and maturity of any human being to rebel against authority and to question everything, especially your typical teenager. Still, it's one thing to not make your bed or to come home past curfew from a date but quite another to say "no" to your dad when he comes to him horny and needing your help. Indeed, I'm extremely proud to be able to say today that I've NEVER refused to satisfy my father's sexual needs. Now if only I could say the same about that curfew thing... LOL.

People often ask me if there's anything I've done in my life, at least sexually, that I regret. I honestly can say that from a sexual perspective that there's nothing I would take back if given the chance to do it over again. Indeed, my experiences, both the good AND the bad, are what made me who I am today. Without all of it who knows who I'd be today? Certainly not the Kelly people know me as.

Ironically, what I DO regret are the things I did NOT do. At the top of that list standing head and shoulders above the rest is not giving my dad my virginity. Yes, I know technically it wasn't my fault as he never told me that it was something he wanted before it was too late. Still, it tugs at my heart strings whenever I think about it. Next on the list would be not pleasing him even before I became sexually active in the ways I know now that he wished that I had. Again, like my virginity everyone is always telling me that I shouldn't feel guilty because my mother prevented anything like that from happening. It's not that she actively stopped me from doing anything, men outside my marital family (thankfully blowjobs and such aren't technically sex!). Sure to some extent I felt a little trepidation at this change in lifestyle but at the same time I knew it would be replaced by my husband's love for me - a love like that of no other man. Indeed, I've always maintained that every man I have sex with I have "fucked". This even applies to my father. It's only when I have sex with my husband that I consider myself "making love".

Fortunately as things worked out my husband was more than anxious to share me with other men than to keep me locked away so my worries about having to scale back my sex life turned out to be unfounded. I guess you could say I now have the best of both worlds - a husband who adores me and takes every opportunity to please me while still having the freedom to enjoy the fun of casual sex with strangers.

While on the one hand it may seem that I have similar roles and responsibilities by submitting to my father and my husband, in reality it turns out that they're quite different. The basic underlying theme is the same - submission to their authority and needs but it's HOW I achieve those goals that has turned out to be a lot more different than what I'd expected. Given my grandfather had passed away years before I knew about my mother's incestual relationship with him but I never was able to witness how she dealt with it and have only her recollections to go by. Taking into account the incredible changes in our society and culture between her generation and mine, I doubt that even if I had it wouldn't have made much difference.

For example, with my father sex is pretty much about taking care of his needs and desires. My father has always had what I think of as an abnormally high sex drive, even to the point of compulsion. Indeed, he use to masturbate when I was younger more than most teenagers I came to know later. It wasn't until much later that I grew to understand his preferences for younger girls (nothing creepy - like ages eleven to fifteen). Indeed, if anything it just made me feel even more guilty at times knowing how badly he wanted me when I was in that age range and yet not be able to do with me the things he craved so badly. It also goes to show you that even though my mother submitted to him as his wife, he also honored her morals and commitments when it came to youth sex and pushing me into a sexual relationship. Sure by virtue of the fact he was her husband he could have demanded that she stand aside and let him take me but he loved her too much to do such a thing. Now THAT is the perfect example of a Christian marriage based on love and submission if there ever was one.

watched but in almost every case the guy doing me had no idea that my dad was looking or that my dad would be fucking me later. Now with Steve the other guy definitely knows - Steve IS my husband after all!

I can't say that I ever seek out my dad just to satisfy my own arousal needs while Steve is the first man I look when I feel that insatiable need to get laid. Like WOW, nobody satisfies ME the way my husband can - not even my dad. With my dad sex is a responsibility to the point of even being a burden at times (not often but yes, there have been those rare times). While I have those same responsibilities to please my husband, I never feel that way when we're doing it.

Another area where my roles and responsibilities vary between my dad and husband involves public sex. Of course both men like it - they ARE men after all and what man doesn't want to screw a woman in a public place? The real difference is HOW they want to do it.

My dad has always been all about me and him in public areas doing something without other people catching is or even having a clue as to what we're doing. Dressing rooms, behind clothes racks, parking lots, restaurant booths, you name it. The more we can observe other people as he fucks me, the better for him but never to where we are seen. I personally think this goes back to when he was fucking me as a teen and the legal ramifications would have been quite significant. Although he wouldn't go to jail today, old habits can become really engrained.

Steve, on the other hand, is all about watching me getting fucked or whatever in public. Whether it be on stage for a wet T-shirt contest, sucking and fucking other men (and women) at a party, teasing guys at a bar, or simply wearing a ridiculously skimpy bikini at the beach, he's never happier than when he sees other people (men AND women) watching me and visibly lusting for me. Oh sure he enjoys his road head as much as the next guy but he never gets off from it as much as when a trucker is alongside watching and honking his horn.

Steve shared with me the week after Mother's Day that he was feeling guilty about not paying enough attention to his mother since moving out to live with me after our wedding. Considering that the two of them had lived under the same roof for twenty eight years, dealing with her divorce, his brief marriage and subsequent dissolution, the cross-country moves, and all the other challenges faced during those years, it did have to be a bit traumatic for her to suddenly become an empty-nester. So I offered a suggestion that he took up immediately - to spend a day with his mother. Just the two of them without me being the wet blanket. It's not like anything serious was going to happen - I was quite confident of THAT! Still, a son and his mother SHOULD spend some quality time together every now and then.

The next weekend was one of Steve's "split weekends" where he was off duty all day Saturday and then had to work the full day on Sunday. Like the other weird shifts he often works, the goal was to maximize time off while still providing full paramedic care to the community on a 24/7 basis. I hated it most of the time but in this case it worked in our favor as normally he wouldn't be getting anything off this weekend. So although I would've loved to spend the day with him, I was happy that he had the chance to spend some quality time alone with his mom for once.

Rather than spend the day alone, I called up my dad and not surprisingly my Aunt Linda answered the phone. I explained the situation to her and asked if my dad was going to be home this coming Saturday. She paused as she checked out their calendar on her phone and then came back with the all-clear although I learned later she DID have plans for the two of them but kindly deferred to me instead which I thought had been quite sweet of her. Little wonder she's my favorite aunt!

The rest of the week went by like a blur. Gosh, I couldn't hardly even remember the last time I'd spent an entire day with my dad. I wondered if he would want me to stay the night as well. Like I hadn't spent the entire night alone with my dad since I'd been married. Well, not like I would be getting much sleep if I did but you get the idea.

2. In-Laws

Given my husband was going to spending the day with his mother while I was with my dad, not to mention the events that occurred not long ago on Mother's Day, I figured people might be interested in a bit of an update.

Well... while I have little doubt there are those who probably read a lot into what happened on Mother's Day as being the "opening of the door" so to speak when it comes to Steve and his mother's sexual relationship (including me), the truth of the matter is that things haven't quite lived up to such lofty expectations. In fact, it sort of reminds me of a similar set of events that happened almost fifteen years ago...

Back when Steve and I first dated something happened that to this day is still vivid in my mind as much as it was the night afterwards. People who read my diary know what I'm referring to - it was the day Steve fucked his mother for the first time. As things turned out, it was also the LAST time that Steve fucked his mother.

I won't go into the details here except to say things back then were such that a series of events all culminated in a situation where people did things that probably none of them ever anticipated could ever happen - and regretted them afterwards. Sort of the "perfect storm" sort of thing. It was a situation where a recently divorced mother as having self-esteem issues after her husband and father of three children suddenly left her for a young bimbo at work. Add to the mix a horny son who, like just about every sixteen year-old boy, was ready to fuck anyone with a pussy given the chance. Now put the two of them together in a situation where the son is drilling his fourteen year-old ultra-horny girlfriend, totally unaware that his mother is spying on everything, and what happened next wasn't really so unbelievable.

Since that time though, neither of them would ever discuss it with me and if anything, it's proven to be one of the few things that can drag Steve and me into a serious argument. As such it was a serious concern of mine when he was getting ready to propose to me as I knew he was opposed to incest yet there was no way I could accept his marriage proposal if it meant not being able to maintain my duties and responsibilities as a daughter. I COULD decide to marry Steve or not but there was no way to change the fact that I was my father's daughter.

What has evolved with my husband and his mother is a bit weird, to say the least. Steve LOVES watching me having sex with other men except for ONE man - my dad. After witnessing my dad fucking me before he proposed to me, he has never once since then even peeked in on us. It's almost a case of "don't ask, don't tell" in that while he doesn't oppose my attention to my dad's needs, at the same time he simply doesn't want to discuss it or be told about it.

When it comes to Steve and his mom, THAT is what's really odd, or at least I think it is. Indeed, it took me quite a while to come to grips with it and even now I still shake my head at times. Perhaps the easiest way to explain it would be to imagine two middle-school kids making out - lots of groping and kissing but nothing actually happening. The first time Steve's mom watched him fucking me after we got married I expected a repeat of what had happened over a dozen years before... and then more. Well, nothing could be further from what happened in that that was ALL she did - watch. Heck, my own mother at least usually masturbated when she watched my dad fucking me but Steve's mom didn't even do THAT! Not a word, nothing. She wouldn't even talk about it later.

Watching Steve and his mom kissing and fondling each other, I've always marveled at the control each of them exercises. I know both of them to be very sexual in nature but yet somehow their wandering hands never go under the other's clothes, at least not down to bare skin. True, there's not much difference in fondling a boob or rubbing a pussy through a thin piece of sheer lingerie but apparently to them it DOES make a difference.

Then came Mother's Day and what I thought to be a breakthrough when Steve's mom joined me and sucked off her son. Granted, I would be the first to say that a BJ is not technically "sex" and therefore can't be counted as incest. In the end it didn't make much difference though and if anything, since that day they've been all the more circumspect even in their make-out times. Granted, I don't know for sure what goes on when they're alone together, but then why would they bother hiding anything? It's not like I wouldn't enjoy watching after all. Granted, I've never really gotten off from watching my husband having sex with other women (it's just not a turn-on, nothing to do with jealousy or the like) but with his own mother... I'd make an exception for sure. Still, I would love to have a hidden camera in her bedroom today when Steve goes to visit…

3. Surprising My Dad

Given it was a Sunday, showing up at my dad's place in the morning before church wasn't going to be much of a surprise. Indeed, it would've only been worthy of note if I DIDN'T. If there's one thing my dad has tried to instill in me over the years it's the importance of family traditions. Visiting my dad just before church and allowing him to fill me with his cum only minutes before the service was a tradition we'd established over the past few years and neither of us broke from it unless absolutely unavoidable. Of course it didn't hurt that I loved the naughty feeling of sitting in church just minutes after him cumming inside of me, sometimes even leaking a bit as we sat in the pews looking so innocent. OMG, sometimes I just wanted to shout to everyone, "My wonderful dad just fucked me and came inside of my pussy!"

At the start of the day it was no different than any other Sunday morning - me standing in front of my closet trying to choose an outfit to wear. Dang, like how many years of my life have been wasted in this very situation? More than I would care to admit for sure, LOL.

It's like I have two wardrobes - one for work and one for everywhere else and I really doubt that anyone would have any problems distinguishing between them. My work clothes are what I guess I could refer to as my "necessary evils". It should not be any surprise to anyone for me to say that teachers in public schools are under more scrutiny than ever these days when it comes to teacher-student relationships. Heaven help any teacher - female OR male, that doesn't conform to the strict dress and behavior rules imposed by the school board.

Basically it boils down to nothing is permitted that could possibly be construed as "sexy" or "suggestive". Thus underwear, both bras and panties, are a definite requirement and that doesn't include thongs and lacy decollete bras. Nothing strapless for sure and sleeveless tops and dresses are generally forbidden except at an occasional social event with the parents - and even then heavily frowned upon. Dresses are preferred for women over skirts and in either case the hem has to be below the knee. No plunging necklines and absolutely no cleavage is allowed to be on display, even when leaning over - or maybe I should say, especially when leaning over. That's understandable as I know every time I lean over to help one of the boys that his eyes go straight to my boobs, praying for even a brief glimpse of my bra-covered breasts. I could go on as the Code of Conduct Manual is quite thick but I think everyone should be getting the picture by now.

One good thing, if you can call it that, is that the public schools are at least a little less strict than the private Christian school where I worked at in the past. Dang, back then it was like we could've been mistaken for the cast of Little House on the Prairie! At least now I can show a LITTLE leg, LOL.

So much for the boring side of my closet. One point of interest now that I think about it... I've bought everything on that side. In comparison, the rest of my closet is filled with various outfits of which well over half have been bought by someone else. When I was younger that "someone else" was primarily my dad although my mom sometimes surprised me. While my father still enjoys giving me the occasional new outfit to model for him, these days my husband is the one bringing home the majority of the sexier outfits. It's a different world these days so unlike my father he doesn't have to visit the sex stores as he can do his shopping on-line. I guess that means in reality it's really the FedEx and UPS man doing the actually delivery but the principle remains the same.

As usual, my intentions were to go to church after seeing my dad which meant I needed to choose something that would catch people's eye but at the same time it couldn't be TOO inappropriate. After all, it WAS church so some modest version of decorum had to be observed. My mother may have raised a slut but I was a classy slut! I've always loved seeing the guys stare at me, even more so the older married men chained to their overweight wife and obnoxious kids. To have them do so in at church was even better than at the mall.

While I love seeing the look of desire in their eyes, in some ways I almost get more of a thrill from the reactions of their wives. Their looks of disdain, sometimes even to the point of disgust, tell me everything I want to know when it comes to the impact I'm having on their husbands. Not that it bothers me in the least. Hey, it's not MY fault they let themselves go after marriage to the point where their frustrated husband is looking at me instead of them.

Given it was forecasted to be a nice day in May I would have usually chosen a light sundress or something similar - something just inappropriate enough to get the men looking and the women clucking but not TOO inappropriate to where I would be subjected to yet another lecture from the church leadership. It has been years actually since my last little "discussion" with the elders at which we reached a truce when it came to my church attire. Still, no need to wake the sleeping dragon as at one point it got to where they threatened to ban me from church. Wow, my mother was SO furious! Like what church has the right to tell people they can't come, regardless of the reason?

Today though I wanted something special for my dad so I figured it was time to perhaps push the line just a little more than usual. I guess it's a sign of my maturity at the ripe old age of 28 that I wouldn't go flying over the line as I was prone to do when I was younger. Still I wanted something that would give my dad a special day to remember.

Pushing aside one outfit after another, suddenly I saw the perfect one... It was a strapless dress in the "peasant girl" style which my dad had bought for me years before when I'd just graduated from college and was living at home. These days it barely contained my larger boobs and definitely emphasized what I had on top without actually exposing anything TOO overtly. One of the things I'd always liked about it was how easy it was to just pull it down and over my boobs when I wanted to tease a guy.

The dress was more of a wrap than a skirt such that it came together at my right hip and overlapped just enough that when I was standing it didn't even look like there was a separation in the cloth. But then when I would sit or twist it would part to show off my upper thigh almost all the way up to my hip in some situations, depending on how I moved myself. I loved it because it had that element of surprise in that when a guy first saw it the assumption was it was relatively conservative but then with one crossing of my legs I practically exposed my entire leg!

Underneath I chose a simple black thong with a high hip cut so it wouldn't be seen no matter how I allowed my dress to part. I didn't have a bra suitable for such an outfit as my bras tended to be at one extreme or the other - ultra conservative and comfy for school or sexy and naughty for home. I was about to put on a new pair of peach colored high heels when I hesitated. Hmmmmmm, hose or not?

Now that I bring up the subject... I love the topic of panty hose when I chat as it's probably the one thing that most fakers aren't ready for. Most guys know the basics of women sizes when it comes to pants and tops but when asked for a pantyhose size they're stumped. After all, what guy ever buys it? When I ask someone who I suspect to be a fake what their pantyhose size is (usually after I've led up to the question after talking about lingerie and such) I typically get one of three responses:

1. "I don't wear any." Such a BS answer as EVERY woman knows their sizes regardless of whether or not they wear that particular item. Instant confirmation of a faker.
2. A wrong size - typically a pant size. Another instant confirmation.
3. Providing a legitimate size but only after a long delay tells me that he was smart enough to know he didn't know the answer so he looked it up on-line before getting back to me. Yep, another faker.

Ask any woman if she would wear pantyhose if she knew she would never be seen by anyone and I guarantee the answer. Like most women, I don't really LIKE pantyhose per se yet like most women, I DO like how they make my legs look, particularly when I don't have my summer tan going strong. Pasty white legs just don't go with an expensive new dress. Also, when it's frightfully cold outside they do offer at least a LITTLE bit of warmth, especially when wearing a short skirt.

Church and school are usually the only places I wear pantyhose with church being much more rare. Still, today I wanted to look my best so with a shrug I dropped the thong to my ankles, stepping out of it as I dug out a pair of nude pantyhose and pulled it on before dropping my dress over my head and tugging it over my boobs. Checking myself out in the mirror I couldn't help but smile as my legs DID look a lot better. It would unlikely draw a sigh of protest from my dad when I arrived at his house in just a few minutes but at the same time I think some guys are turned on more when they have to undress me before having sex. Granted, my dad isn't one of these guys - he would have me approach him nude every time if given the option but I doubted he would complain TOO much so long as they didn't stay on for long.

Fixing up my makeup and a touch of perfume, followed by selecting my favorite cross hanging on a gold chain, and I was ready to go. The cross was a birthday present from my dad way back when I turned fourteen. It was beautiful with diamonds lined all along it. At the time it was the most expensive piece of jewelry I'd ever worn except when my mom would let me try on some of hers - under her watchful eye the whole time of course. I love wearing it for special occasions with my dad and I hoped he noticed it and understood WHY I was wearing it.

I glanced over at the clock next to the bed and my heart skipped a bit... maybe even two, Damn! What had happened? It was like I'd just passed through some sort of time warp as it had seemed just moments ago that I had plenty of time but somehow or another I managed to have lost an hour. I quickly grabbed my purse and car keys and hustled out to my car without taking any more time than necessary - you try running in heels sometimes! Dang it, would I make it in time for him to fuck me and still get to church within a reasonable amount of tardiness?

Fortunately the police weren't out in force and I made it to my dad's house without getting what would've been a well-deserved citation. I parked on the street as I knew my dad would want to take his SUV to church and with a one-lane driveway it was just take that much more time for us to get to church while I moved my car out of the way. Hustling up to the door, I reached for the handle but the door almost magically opened just as I was about to pull.

"Cutting things a little close today, eh Kelly?" I heard my aunt from the other side of the door.

"Oh hi Aunt Linda," I responded as I glanced around, "Where's my dad?"

There was no sense in making small talk with my aunt when I was running so late already. Fortunately I knew she would understand and indeed after she closed the door behind me she turned and grinned as she pointed up the narrow staircase leading to the second floor.

"Upstairs?" I couldn't help but ask. It wasn't like I meant to question her but at the same time it just surprised me a little, especially being so late this morning.

"What can I say?" she shrugged, "He was getting all antsy down here and it was just a few minutes ago that he went up." She smiled somewhat naughtily and added, "Probably jerking off if I know the bastard."

She was just teasing so I just rolled my eyes and didn't reply. Then just as I turned to head upstairs she asked, "So where's your hunk of a husband Kelly? I was sort of hoping he might want a little MILF pussy this morning."

I giggled this time and replied with, "Hmmm, now who's the one who's really horny? Sorry, he's going to spend the day with his mom."

"Oh really?" she responded with a thoughtful look but I wasn't giving her time to get any more details - not that I had any to give anyway. My aunt swatted me playfully on the bottom and then grabbed my ass firmly in her hand as she gave me a gentle nudge up the stairs.

"You're a fuckin' teas, you know. Now you'd better get going smarty pants if you want to make it to church before the closing hymn."

Well, it wasn't going to take THAT long no matter what but still a good suggestion. I wiggled my butt in her hand for just a moment and then made my way quickly up the squeaky stairs. Back when I was a teen I knew the exact route that would avoid the worst of them but there was no reason to hide the fact I was coming this morning.

"Hi daddy," I said in my most seductive voice as I stood in the doorway with my hands clasped behind me. I almost laughed as my aunt had him pegged - he was indeed jerking his dick as it poked out of his dress pants. Then again, the odds were she would've been right under most any circumstances anyway so it wasn't like it was a risky guess.

"Sorry I'm late daddy... miss me?" I said after a brief pause. He was looking up at me so I licked my lips seductively and wiggled my bottom just for his viewing pleasure. God he was already soooooo hard! Something told me we weren't going to be late to church after all as it want going to take long to get that rocket launched.

"Damn girl, you're looking so pretty this morning," he said in a low husky voice. The bright lust in his eyes carried clearly into the thick tone of his voice.

I loved it when my dad was in a mood like this and looked at me just as he was now. Like any girl, I love men to look at me hungrily, knowing that even though they don't know anything else about me they still want nothing more at that moment than to get on top of me and drive their horny dicks deep inside of me. It just takes one think I can say without sounding too self-centered that most men feel that way when they see me. This was something more though, something more than just the raw lust of a man for a woman. I was his daughter and he wanted me. As his daughter, what more could I possibly ask?

Even though I was running late, I felt compelled to respond to my father's desires so without another word I started to strip in front of him, turning slowly as I did as I pulled my dress over my head to expose my bare breasts.

"Pantyhose?" I heard him whisper softly, more to himself I think than to me. He seemed so disappointed and I almost giggled as I knew he would have that exact reaction. Yeah, men can be SOOOOO predictable.

It was then that I realized a potentially fatal flaw in my plans. It had been my intention to leave my heels on after taking everything else off as I knew my dad, like most every heterosexual man in the world, got extremely turned on seeing me wearing nothing but my heels. For whatever reason men seem to think it's even better than me being completely naked. It reminds of something I once heard from some movie star who said something like, "When I come home alone the FIRST thing I do is take off my heels. When I come home with a man, the LAST thing I take off is my heels."

Well, unless I took off my heels it was against the laws of physics for me to remove my hose with my heels still on. Like how did I overlook something so obvious? My mind raced and then the proverbial light bulb went off over my head. Why not just pretend that this was part of my plan from the start? As my mom always said, when you're served a lemon, make lemonade!

Walking over to my dad I just ignored the pantyhose and knelt between his knees. I looked up and our eyes met as he continued to slowly stroke his dick which by now was firm and erect. Placing one hand just above each knee, I smiled at my father.

"What do you want daddy?" I asked as if there was any question, "Tell me what you need."

First, I knew he loved it when I called him "daddy" even though I was now 28 and long past the age when most girls would call their father by that moniker. In normal conversation I typically just called him "dad" but this was a special time between the two of us.

Of course it was a leading question yet just as I loved seeing him look at me with such intense sexual desire, so too I doubt I'll ever grow weary of my father telling me of his hunger for me. Indeed, the way he slowly licked his lip and stared down at me it was as if someone had placed a fresh steak in front of a ravenous wolf. Then I heard those words I so craved...

"I need YOU baby girl," he whispered huskily, "Oh God I need you so badly right now." He paused and then groaned as his lust too over adding, "Suck it... put that beautiful mouth on your daddy's cock. Be daddy's good little girl."

Yes, I WAS his good little girl, at least when it came to sex. From that first time he'd fucked me over twelve years before I'd ALWAYS been good when it came to this. OK, so maybe I wasn't exactly perfect when it came to most other things but at least I was batting a thousand when it came to submitting to his most personal wants and desires. And now I was going to show him yet again just how good a girl I could be.

"Oh yeah... just like that," he groaned loudly as my lips circled his erect dick as he held it firmly by the base.

My tongue teased the tip of his head and flicked all around it, paying special attention to the sensitive underside of the ridge. Keeping my hands on his thighs, I slowly worked by way down his shaft, taking a little more and then backing off before taking even more of it in my mouth until I felt it pressing against the back of my throat. Fortunately my father was about average in the dick department so there wasn't a lot more left making it relatively easy to relax and take the rest of his dick down my throat briefly before rising up to left about half of it escape.

"Damn you do that so well," he said as I repeated the movement several times before keeping just the head in my mouth.

The musky odor of my father's hairy crotch was almost overwhelming as he grew more and more aroused, leading me to take him all in again until his thick public hair was pressed against my cheeks while I took his entire stiff dick in my mouth.

Personally, had it been up to me I'd of sucked my dad's dick all morning but I knew time was short and as tempting as it was at the moment to blow off church, I didn't want to miss it. Still, there's just something so incredibly erotic about sucking a guy's cock... like I have him totally under my control for those brief few minutes.

It was time to make my decision and I made what I knew to be the right one, even if a good part of me was telling me to do otherwise. Letting his stiff shaft slip from my lips, I looked up at my dad and smiled again at him.

"Do you wanna fuck me now daddy?"

Another "duh" question but isn't this what makes for good sex - the two people communicating their needs to one another? It's not like I expected him to say no or even hesitate. Heck, I don't think there has EVER been a time when he's responded negatively whenever I've offered myself sexually to him. Still, I wanted him to say it. Heck, I NEEDED him to say it. I needed to hear my dad declare his love for me. I mean like any guy can say "I love you" all day but nothing seals the deal like "I want to fuck you," especially when it's coming from your own father.

My dad didn't hesitate a moment as he reached out to grab my bare upper arms and lift me upwards saying, "Oh you know it Kelly... Now sit on my lap and be daddy's good little girl."

It was then the pantyhose issue arose but by now my dad was so aroused he wasn't about to let such a minor thing get in the way. I suppose another time or place he might have just pulled them down but instead he reached between my thighs and literally ripped a hole between them, followed by stretching the material with both hands until my crotch was exposed to him.

"Mmmmmmm, I love you letting it grow out," he murmured as he grabbed me by the ass with both hands and pulled me into him.

What he was referring to was the ever-thickening patch of pubic hair covering my pussy. For over a decade I've been shaving my crotch but for whatever reason I decided to let it grow out for winter this year. It's not like I had to worry about how it looked in a bikini or super short shorts after all. Of course I trimmed it so I didn't look like a total cave girl but it was more on the edges to keep it from spilling out past my panties than in reducing the fullness. I figured what the heck. If I was going to let it grow out then may as well let it go all the way. Steve wasn't all too sure I think about it all but as for my dad, he was thrilled and each week when I'd stop over before church he'd comment about how much thicker it was than the week before.

My dad scooting back onto the bed so I could move up and straddle him. Putting my hands on his shoulders for support, I lifted myself up until my wet pussy was positioned directly over his pulsating erection. Then I dropped down slowly until I felt the head pressing against my crotch. Positioning myself carefully, I rocked on his lap to allow his hard dick to rub up against my pussy so as to excite my clit.

"Stop teasing me and sit on it," he said gruffly as I felt his large hands grip my buttocks tighter.

I kissed my dad, letting my tongue reach out to meet his as my right hand moved down between my legs to spread myself open enough for his dick to properly position itself. When I felt it pressing up against my pussy hole I dropped down onto it, feeling that intense surge of passion as my father's incestuous cock finally penetrated me.

Now I would say that I pretty much love most of anything when it comes to being fucked but if I had to pick my favorite then it would come to two things which I wouldn't even try to separate in terms of priority - the moment the guy's dick first enters me and the first surge of sperm as he cums in me. Feeling my father's erection force its way into my wet pussy, spreading me apart, it was like at first it wasn't going to happen but then my pussy expanded and accepted the invader. His head popped into me and then I felt it fill me as I sat down until my full weight was on his lap with my hose-covered ass now against his pants.

"God you feel so good around me," my father sighed as we finally ended our kiss and I began to ride his dick like I was riding a horse.

His hand released my butt and moved up to my boobs which were bouncing now as I rocked on my daddy's incestuous erection. I leaned back enough so he could take my nipples in his mouth, moving from one to the other as he sucked on me. God they were SOOOOO sensitive! I was so damn horny that I came almost immediately.

"That's it baby girl, cum... cum for your daddy," my father encouraged me as he felt my pussy clamping down on his cock like a vise. God I felt so good, as if my body temperature suddenly skyrocketed and I tingled all over.

"Make me cum harder daddy... do it like only you can," I begged him as I cried out with the pure pleasure of my orgasm.

Surprisingly, or maybe not so surprisingly I guess when you think about it, my father also started to cum as I felt that faint surge in me as he erupted deep inside of my pussy. Wow, just goes to show just how horny he must have been to cum so quickly!

Why guys like to spurt their cum on a girl's face or boobs, or shoot in into their mouth or on their butt, or heaven forbid - in the ass, well It's a mystery to me. Sure I let them do it as after all, it gets them off and I love to please a guy. Still, if anyone were to ask me where I wanted it there was just one response - in my pussy. Like, isn't that where God intended? Besides the obvious reasons - it's a huge mess, it gets sticky and smelly so fast, it's damn near impossible to get out of your hair, etc. I just feel that if a man really cares about ME then he will cum in my pussy. All the rest is for HIS fantasy. Frankly, I blame the porn industry for making every man think that women want it on their face every time.

I sat down hard on my dad's lap, pushing his spurting cock as deep inside of me as it would go, wanting nothing more than to have his love inside of me. This was the moment I wanted, the feeling that overrides everything else. Oh yeah, my DAD was mating me. Forget for the moment he'd been fixed. So what if the last thing I ever wanted was to actually bear my father's child. What mattered was that he was mating me so far as his desires and actions were concerned. It wasn't the results of such a union that I wanted, it was the act of him doing it that made me feel so special.

As my father's ejaculations ended, he put his arms around me and pulled me in tight so that my boobs were crushed against his hairy chest. I buried my face in his shoulder against his neck as I listed to his catching his breath, neither of us able to speak for the moment. Then I pulled back and looked down, mesmerized for the moment at the sight of my father's cock as it disappeared inside of me. I could see rivulets of his sperm as it leaked from my pussy around his shaft and pooled on his pubic hair. Mmmmmmm, talk about the most erotic sight...

"Now THIS is heaven," he whispered in my ear as I looked back up and say the expression of pure satisfaction on his face.

Once again we kissed and I could feel his dick throbbing inside of me. I guess maybe there is something to be said for the stamina of a teenage boy as I knew so far as fucking me was concerned, my dad was finished for the morning.

"I love you daddy," I said to my father, "You make me feel so good."

"Well it's not like the feeling isn't mutual baby girl."

Just then my aunt called up the stairs, reminding us that we were already late for church. Oh well, what choice did we have?

Lifting myself up, I watched as my dad's now limp dick flopped out of me, followed by a flood of sperm and my own cum. My pantyhose was ruined but I guess it was my fault for wearing it in the first place. It wasn't like I'd paid all that much for it anyways. As I moved off his lap to stand a bit unsteadily on the floor, I smiled at the sight of my dad's dick... all wet with the combination of my cum and his sperm. As tempting as it was to lean over and lick it clean, I knew that once I headed down THAT road that we'd never make it to church!

In the bathroom I took stock of my messy pantyhose. Well, at least they weren't one of my more expensive fishnet pair but then I wouldn't be wearing those to church in the first place. Even though I'd decided earlier that going to church bare-bottomed wasn't an option, it appeared that now I was left with no other choice. If it was just a matter of ripped hose it wouldn't have been that big an issue as who would be seeing my crotch in the first place. No, the real problem was the mess created that had now seeped into the nylon fabric including a couple of spots on my inner thighs where I'd dripped when getting up and walking to the bathroom.

Once I was dressed I returned to the bedroom to find my dad had already headed downstairs. Well, hopefully he'd at least cleaned himself off with something beforehand as he hadn't joined me in the bathroom. Perhaps he knew too that if he had we might not have left in time to make it to church.

Looking in the mirror, I straightened out my hair and smiled as I took stock of the woman looking back at me.

"You're a Daddy fucker," I whispered to myself. Yep, that's exactly what I was and proud of it!

4. Church

As usual I left my car behind and rode to church with my dad in his SUV. Hopping in the passenger seat, my dress rode up but I didn't make any effort to pull it down which gave him a pretty good view of almost half my upper thigh. With the split in the side it made it especially revealing from his vantage point. I saw my dad glancing over at me as we pulled out onto the street and headed towards the main road.

"You know Kelly, seeing you sitting there like that reminds me of back when you were still in high school," he reminisced.

Grinning back at him, I just shrugged as if I had no idea what he was talking about.

"Yeah, I remember when you would wear those crazy short sundresses to church," he sighed, "I couldn't believe your mother even let you out of the house in those, let alone go to church wearing them."

Just then we stopped at an intersection and without warning he reached over and lifted up my skirt and pulled it up to reveal my bare bottom.

"Yep, just like the old days," he laughed as he rubbed my upper thigh, "You never were one for wearing panties, were you?"

Unfortunately we'd just arrived at church as I was enjoying where our conversation was heading. It had been quite a while since my dad had taken a trip down memory lane so to speak and I loved knowing more each time about how he'd felt about me back then. Dang, if only I'd known back then what I knew now. It was hard to even begin to imagine how different my life might have turned out.

"Ummmmm... there are some wipes in the glove department..." he started to say, obviously in reference to the wetness on my fingers and pussy. Heck, even I could smell my sex and it really wouldn't do to go in church reeking of pussy.

As we made our way from the parking lot I took my dad's arm and walked proudly next to him. My pussy was tingling something fierce and I loved the way it felt to be naked under my dress as we passed various families. Like wow, what would they say if they had any idea what my dad had just done to me not twenty minutes ago? Better yet, how would those husbands react if they knew I was NOT wearing underwear, or if they had any inkling of just how horny I was at just that moment or for who I was horny FOR?

The usher was just as clueless as he led us down to an opening about a third of the way from the front on the right hand side with me going in first so my dad could have aisle seat. That was just fine with me as similar to the arrangement in the SUV, this allowed me to cross my left leg over my right, allowing the slit in the skirt to part and ride up showing a peek of almost two-thirds of my now bare upper thigh. The usher looked down and I saw his eyes widen just a little as he stared and then quickly walked away making a scene.

"Now behave yourself young lady," my dad whispered in my ear, pretending to be stern.

"Oh daddy, I'm not thirteen anymore," I responded, pretending to be annoyed.

"Exactly my point," he came back, this time winking at me.

Indeed, he had a point. It's sort of ironic how much I was able to get away with as a young teen as compared to now as a young mother. Well, maybe not SO young anymore but then 28 isn't exactly middle age. Still, when I was in my early teens I got away with murder although I didn't really appreciate just how much until years later. Like I could wear just about ANYTHING when I was twelve or thirteen and the response was more about my mom's parenting than anything personal about me. In contrast, had anyone known I was bottomless today I would most likely be labeled a slut. Not that THAT was necessarily a bad thing, just it was directed at ME now instead of my mom. Heck, if anything odds were it would just reinforce the image most people already had of me - one that I had worked for years to cultivate.

But then today wasn't about flashing the ushers or teasing some poor husband sitting next to his fat wife. Noooooo, today was all about my dad so if there was anything I could do to please him then I was all-in. Now if that just happened to garner the attention of anyone else then that would be just a bonus.

We'd only been there a moment it seemed when we had to stand for the opening hymn. As the organ grew loud I held the hymnal with my dad and lifted myself on my toes so I could whisper in his ear.

"I bet you want to fuck me right now, don't you daddy?"

He rolled his eyes and jabbed me with his elbow slightly but at the same time he couldn't suppress the grin, let alone the hungry look in his eyes. It certainly wasn't the look most fathers around us had for their daughters although I wouldn't be surprised if more than a few were trying not to let anyone see what they were staring at.

God I was so damn horny! My pussy felt like it was going to scream if it didn't get some attention... and soon. Like it hadn't been all that long since my dad had cum in me and I was willing to bet that enough time had passed to where he was ready for Round 2.

After the hymn and some opening words and prayer, it was time for the greeting ritual to where everyone went around to greet others and shake hands. Church was pretty crowded today and for the first time I paid attention to those around us. To my right was a woman I hadn't met before. She looked a little familiar so odds were I seen her here before but I didn't know her name. I was guessing fifties, maybe even late sixties. I turned to say hello and she gave me the once over and it was obvious from her initial expression that she wasn't exactly impressed. Then she quickly gathered herself and put on that fake smile worn by so many people every Sunday morning as she pretended to be all happy and non-judgmental - exactly the opposite of what I suspected to be reality.

"Nice to meet you... Kelly you say?" she replied after I introduced myself.

She seemed about to say something else but my dad poked me on the shoulder so I turned to see what he wanted. Standing in the aisle was a face I hadn't seen in years...

"Kelly, do you remember Mr. Gardner?" he asked as he leaned back to give me a better look.

"Oh John, she's not a little girl anymore," he said with a chuckle, "Hi Kelly, please call me Bill."

Holy smokes, I couldn't believe it. It had been years since I'd seen Bill after he'd retired from my dad's law firm. As for remembering him, like how could I ever forget? You see, Bill was the first married man to ever fuck me. In fact, he even fucked me before my dad did!

Yes, it was back when I was fifteen and in heavy demand as a babysitter. My dad had volunteered me to sit for the Gardner kid (he was definitely "Mr. Gardner" back then). It's all in my diary but to summarize quickly it turned out to be something more fitting for "Dear Penthouse". In fact, thirteen years later I now had a hard time believing myself that it all actually had happened.

First a disclaimer... As a babysitter I NEVER did anything even remotely inappropriate with ANY of the kids I sat, and that's not even using my standards when it comes to defining "appropriate". Fathers, on the other hand, were fair game. Many a time I remember being driven home and flashing some poor horny father, wondering if he would masturbate later about having sex with me. Of course I never actually DID anything with them, at least not most of them. After all, they were OLD and until my night with Bill the oldest guys I'd done were the boys at high school and the church youth groups.

That said, it's not like I was an angel when I babysat. One of my favorite things to do as a babysitter was to rummage around through the parents' private things. It was amazing what I would find sometimes as you may imagine. Sometimes I even tried on some of the wife's sexier lingerie and masturbate on their bed as I imagined myself being caught by them when they returned home. It was all good clean fun and so far as I knew the parents had always remained clueless. No harm, no foul... right?

Hot tubs have always been a source of entertainment for me and the Gardners had one. With the kid confirmed to be sound asleep in bed I was naked and enjoying the feel of jets on my pussy when I was surprised by Mr. Gardner who returned home alone early. Well, without going into all the details, I was fucked by my first married man and as anyone who knows anything about me should know, that was the start of what has been an obsession with me ever since.

As things turned out it was the first - and last time the that two of us did anything and I don't think he ever knew that my dad learned soon after what had happened. Like of course I told my parents immediately afterwards, just as I did after just about all of my early sexual encounters. As for whether or not my dad had revealed that he knew about what happened, I think he never did so as not to embarrass Bill. Judging from how things were going today, my gut feeling was that I'd been correct so if he remembered what we'd done (and how could he ever forget) then he wasn't letting on.

"Oh yeah, now I remember," I exclaimed softly as I pretended not to recall at first. Looking at Bill in the eyes I added, "If I recall, it was a pretty good night. You gave me quite a tip!"

Bill's eyes averted from mine quickly and I could have sworn his cheeks reddened a little. As for my dad, he played along and didn't make any mention that might have given a clue that he knew what had gone on between us or even that he noticed how uncomfortable his friend had suddenly become.

"Well Bill, I hope you're enjoying Florida and remember, you're always welcome back at the office," my dad said as they shook hands again.

"And if you ever need another babysitter, you know who to call," I added in not being able to resist a little tease.

Bill tried to laugh it off replying, "Well, I don't think the missus and I need a babysitter anymore."

Wow, I could have gone in all sorts of directions with that lead-in but it was time to take a seat again so everyone quieted down and sat in their pew. I crossed my leg again, this time allowing my dress to open a little more than before. My dad had his hand on the pew between us and left it there as I nudged closer to him such that the side of his hand was now pressed against my bare upper thigh. Nobody could see anything with his hand almost completely under my leg but I could feel his fingers moving against me.

Again my pussy practically shook as I felt my dad's hand under my leg. God I would've loved it if his hand had been on top of my leg instead, working its way between my thighs down to my ready and waiting pussy. All the more so if he did it now in the middle of church. Actually in the past he HAD done this but that was back in the colder days of winter when we had the benefit of winter coats to hide his efforts. It also helped when things weren't as crowded unlike today where everyone was smashed together like sardines.

The rest of the service went rather uneventfully. I tried to make it a point to make littler suggestive remarks to my dad whenever I could get away with it but other than that it was simply too crowded for us to actually do anything. Oh well, I guess you can't always have everything.

After the service we joined the line to greet the pastor and his wife as they shook everyone's hand. I got just a nod from the pastor but his bitch of a wife was in her usual full self-righteous mode.

"Good morning Kelly," she greeted me with ice behind her forced smile, "I see some things never change, do they?"

She was looking down at my dress and I knew she was telling me she didn't approve. What she didn't seem to realize was that when idiots like her tell me they disapprove of me or my actions that it just makes me want to go even further the next time. So far as I knew she didn't have a clue about what me and my dad did but she certainly had her opinion of my behaviors and past escapades as part of the youth groups. Just imagine if she had known what I was doing with the youth pastor back then!

"Let's go Kelly," my dad nudged me. As we made our way outside he shook his head in mock despair saying, "You were about to say something you know you shouldn't back there, weren't you?"

"You mean to Bill?"

My dad shook his head, pretending to be stern with me. "Don't pretend you don't know what I'm talking about. The poor guy looked like he was going to have a stroke."

"Oh daddy, you know I would NEVER say anything I shouldn't," I giggled.

"Yeah right," was all he had to say in response but I could tell he was actually pleasantly amused. I wonder if he would've been turned on even more if I'd asked the preacher's wife if she wasn't wearing panties, like me. Well, of course he would have but then there ARE some things you just can't say in church, no matter how tempting.

Soon we were back to his place and he hugged me before I got in my car.

"Soooooo, 8:00 then?"

"Yep, I'll be waiting daddy."

I drove off, wishing the clocks would turn faster!

5. Date Night

I have to say one thing about my dad that I can never complain about - he's ALWAYS on time. Obviously that's not something that gets passed in the DNA, or at least it certainly missed me. It use to exasperate him to no end when I was growing comes to sex. Steve doesn't even care for threesomes, or at least when it involves two guys. Two women - fine with him though. I have to smile sometimes as he's such a typical guy when it comes to sex!

Tonight I was wearing the latest new outfit my dad had bought for me - as I always did. It was waiting at my doorstep when I arrived home earlier and I couldn't hardly wait to get inside and open it. The box wasn't that big nor did it need to be as it turned out. The dress was neatly folded and I instantly fell in love with it from the first moment I held it up in front of me as I face the mirror. It seemed to weigh almost nothing which was due in part to the material but mostly to fact that there wasn't a whole lot of it. It was a little unusual in that it came over just one shoulder while leaving the other bare. With the one should strap it allowed the bust line to dive dramatically across my boobs to within less than an inch above my nipple on the opposite side. From there it continued down allowing for some nice "side boob" as well as plenty of bare back. The hem line, while a little longer than usual when it came to my father's tastes, allowed for a slit side than came well up my hip requiring the matching thong (thoughtfully provided as well) to ride up even higher so as not to be exposed every time I twisted or turned.

Trying it on for the first time in my bedroom, I hadn't bothered with the thong which only demonstrated how essential it was to wear SOMETHING underneath as I couldn't sit or bend over without the dress parting and exposing everything. I suppose that's one reason why my father has a thing for dresses with side slits in them. There was no bra in the package and for good reason - there was nothing that would have worked underneath this dress given the low cut and daring plunge. Then again, if there HAD been a bra it would have been a first as my dad absolutely hated me to wear one! The only time he'd ever bought me one was the time he gave me a sheer white silk shirt with a black bra to wear under it.

One thing NOT in the box was shoes but then that was to be expected as well. My dad loved to take me shopping for shoes but I knew it wasn't the shoes he was interested in but more how I would tease the poor guys helping me try them on. With no guys to watch... what was the point in fooling with them? Besides, it wasn't like my closet wasn't well stocked. In this case I had the perfect pair - black open toe with five inch stiletto heels.

While I had a light jacket to wear for the evening, I deliberately chose not to wear it at first and was rewarded with a wolf whistle and leering smile from my dear father as he came in through the door to greet me.

"Damn! Now THAT is one hot outfit," he said softly as his eyes ran up and down, "I'd say that whoever bought you that had terrific taste, wouldn't you agree?"

"Oh daddy!" I sighed in reply as I reached out to hug him.

My father's strong arms wrapped around me and I felt his hands clench my butt after they had pulled up the dress. With the thin thong it was like I wasn't wearing anything so far as my rear end was concerned so it felt good to feel him grabbing my bare ass in his large hands.

"Here... something to go with that outfit," he said as he reached into his suit jacket pocket.

"Oh DADDY!" I exclaimed as he opened the box to reveal a beautiful gold chain with an incredibly gold cross filled with diamonds. Compared to the one he'd given me as a teen, it was twice the size and the diamonds looked to be twice as brilliant. It was unbelievably pretty and most likely just as unbelievably expensive. Then again, it wasn't like he couldn't afford it. My dad may not be filthy rich but he certainly didn't lack for anything.

"Here, let me help with that," he said as he put it around my neck and fastened the clasp, "there, now you look perfect... not that you didn't already mind you!"

What could I say? Well, I couldn't think of anything so I just reached up, put my arms around his neck and kissed him passionately. Our tongues met as we enjoyed each other's embrace.

"Oh daddy, I love you," I whispered softly.

"And I love you too Kelly."

With that he reached over for my jacket and helped me to put it on. Without further ado he escorted me out to this SUV and opened the door for me while offering his and for assistance. With the heels I was wearing it was certainly appreciated!

One of the things I loved about my dad's SUV was that unlike so many cars today - and trucks as well, it had a bench seat in front instead of the typical bucket seats meaning there was no center console to get in the way. I scooting over past the middle so when he took his place behind the wheel I was right there by his side with my legs folded up under me on the seat. I suppose I should have been wearing a seat belt but they just got in the way... if you know what I mean.

"So... where are we going?" I asked eagerly. It was a useless question as he never told me but it was like I felt I had to ask anyway. Sure enough, I got the usual response...

"My little girl will just have to patient," he answered in his best "fatherly" tone. Then he reached down and put his hand on my upper thigh which was exposed thanks to the slit in the side of my dress. "Of course we both know patience is NOT one of your better virtues."

We both laughed at that but anyone who knows me would have had to agree with him. Just to prove his point, I reached over and placed my hand on his crotch, pressing down firmly with my fingers in search of the dick I knew so well underneath.

"Yep, definitely not a virtue," he chuckled as he glanced down first at his lap and then smiled at me. "But then, not that I'm complaining."

As he drove on towards the tunnel I couldn't help but remember one of the first times I'd given my dad "road head" and it just happened to be when we were going through this very same tunnel. Back then we were heading to his office for a "take your daughter to work" day which eventually became a "fuck your daughter at work" day but on the way there I'd blown him until he finally came just as we entered the downtown parking garage. Well, I'd like to think that over the past ten years my skills have improved quite a bit such that I can get the job done a little faster when necessary. Then again, my dad is also ten years older as well so perhaps that might balance things out. Oh well, I guess there was only one way to find out...

"Now just what do you think you're doing naughty girl?" my dad asked, pretending to be surprised as I started to unzip his pants, "You know, good girls don't do this sort of thing."

"Your point being?" I teased him back as I reached in and felt around for his dick. Not that it was all that difficult given he was already sporting quite the erection.

"True, true," he sighed as he adjusted his position to help me pull his cock out through his pants. Fortunately he'd been thoughtful enough not to wear any underwear which made my task considerably easier.

"Oh shit!" he gasped quietly as I leaned over and took the smooth silky head of his dick in my mouth. My tongue worked its way around the lip, just as knew he loved me to do.

"You know, one of these days I'm going to crash into somebody when you're doing this," he pretended to protest as I took his cock deep into my mouth. He had a point as I guess it WOULD be a little incriminating when the rescue team saw his dick poking out through his pants while working to extricate my head from the steering wheel!

"So you want me to stop daddy?" I taunted him as I worked his dick with my hand while looking up at him as I ran my tongue over my lips seductively.

"Now why would I EVER say anything so ridiculous as that?" he pointed out as he merged with the traffic heading into the tunnel. I had to catch myself as he made the sudden turn so it was probably fortunate I didn't have my teeth around his dick at that moment!

"Oh yeah... just like that," he groaned as I started to suck him seriously, "God you know how to make you daddy feel good!"

Well, it wasn't like I hadn't had enough practice! It didn't hurt that both of my parents had never been afraid to share their thoughts and feelings with me when it came to sex. I hate it when guys don't say anything while I'm blowing them. Even though I've been told by numerous guys that I'm better at it than most girls, a little feedback never hurts. Thankfully my dad wasn't shy about telling me what he liked - and didn't for that matter. My mom had also been quite helpful in sharing her own little tips for pleasing him as well.

Ever since I'd given my first job to my boyfriend in a dark move theater I've been hooked. Some girls say they hate sucking a guy but personally I love it! It's not the actual act that does it for me. For instance, sucking on a dildo does absolutely nothing for me. It's the reaction I get that from him gets my heart going, not to mention my pussy flowing. While I'm sure every guy I date has wanted to fuck me, face it... most didn't REALLY expect it to happen, at least not on the first date. But when it comes to a blowjob then that's entirely different.

One of the things I love about a BJ is when I'm lucky enough to start with a soft dick. Too often a guy is already worked up and at least semi-erect by the time I get my mouth on him and I miss out on the thrill of feeling I growing in my mouth. Even after who knows how many times I've done it, I don't think I'll ever get over the amazement of feeling a guy's dick getting bigger and thicker in my mouth. The thing about it I also know it's really nothing he can control which tells me that he likes what I'm doing and that I'm turning him on. It's not like a girl who can easily fake an orgasm - a guy's dick is the ultimate lie detector!

While I love a BJ under just about any circumstance, what REALLY turns me on is to do a guy in a public place. It's fortunate that it's really so easy in that a guy doesn't have to undress or anything, he just has to let it out from his pants for me to suck it. For example, fucking in a store can be a little dangerous at times unless I make sure I pan ahead of time and wear the right outfit. Yet I can blow a guy behind

Yeah, like THAT was ever going to happen. Like when had I EVER stopped when it came to getting my dad off? Still, it was nice to hear my own father tell em that he appreciated what I was doing.

"Ohhhhhhhhh," he sighed as we emerged from the tunnel just as his hips bucked slightly and I felt the first shot of sperm spurt from his hard incestuous cock into my mouth.

It was quickly followed by another and then a few more as I felt the SUV shifting lanes as he maneuvered the complicated roadways of Pittsburgh. I couldn't help but wonder just how in the world he was able to concentrate on the road while at the same time ejaculating into his daughter's eager mouth? Then again, as my mother had warned me so long before, once the rocket is launched there's no way to stop it.

Once he DID finally stop cumming I made sure I had every drop contained so it wouldn't get on his pants and then lifted myself up and sat back beside him again. Glancing around at the cars surrounding us I couldn't help but wonder what the occupants would say if they knew what I was holding in my mouth - and who it was that had given it to me?

"Taste good?"

I just mumbled and nodded a I tried to smile without spilling any of his cum onto my dress. If we were on the way home it would be different but not before we even made it to the restaurant. My dad was now totally focused on the road just then as he made his way onto the off-ramp heading downtown. We reached the stoplight at the bottom and for once I was glad to hit a red light!

"Ahhhhhh," I said as I opened my mouth like I was at the dentist and let me see his cum on my tongue as I pushed it out for him.

"Alright silly goose, you'd better swallow that before we have a real mess on our hands."

He may have been trying to sound serious but I knew my dad was no different than any other man after he'd shot his load into my mouth. Yep, every last one of them wants to SEE it before I swallow. In their defense, guys are so visually oriented when it comes to sex that I guess if not then what was the point of even doing it? For me, just knowing a guy was cumming inside of me was all I needed, I didn't need to SEE it to be fulfilled. But guys are wired differently in that it's like it's just as important, if not more, for them to SEE the results than to actually do it. Go figure...

I quickly swallowed his cum and then stuck my tongue out for him to see that I'd done it. Again... the visual thing. Just in time as it turned out when the light turned green and his focus shifted back to the road again.

So just where WERE we headed now? Knowing my dad, it would be someplace with a great steak but that didn't exactly narrow things down all that much. Indeed, over the years we'd visited Morton's, Ruth Criss and The Capital Grill, all of which offered premium (and expensive) options. Then we went straight through the light onto Liberty Avenue and I knew pretty much exactly where we were headed.

"Soooooo, Morton's tonight?"

"Nothing but the best for my favorite daughter," he acknowledged and then he quickly glanced and patted my on my bare leg, "Besides, after that incredible blowjob I figure I owe you."

"Oh daddy.... you know better than that!" I pretended to protest but at the same time I loved it when he complimented me. Sure, every guy will tell me he loved his BJ but there's something special about it when it's your own father paying you the compliment.

As we approached the restaurant I coughed slightly and patted his still exposed but now quite limp dick. My dad chuckled.

"Yeah, I guess I'd better do something about that before the valet gets an eyeful."

By the time we pulled up to the curb he was "decent" again although in my book he'd been pretty decent with it sticking out!

"Good evening sir... and miss," the valet greeted us as he opened the door for me. He was pretty discreet but even so he couldn't help but glance quickly as I emerged and my dress pulled up almost to my crotch as I stepped out. I pretended to be a little embarrassed as I tugged it back down but of course that was about the furthest thing I was worried about. Heck, what was the point in even wearing something like it if guys didn't get to look?

Smiling, I took my father's arm as he led me into the restaurant. The maitre d' greeted my dad by name - he was a frequent guest as he often entertained client here. "We have your table ready sir... follow me please."

I felt so proud to walk beside my dad to our table and I wondered how many people were looking at us and wondering about our relationship. Were we a couple? After all, we both were wearing wedding rings and in this day and age it wasn't all that unusual for an older gentlemen to marry a woman half his age. Back when I was younger I suppose most people immediately probably took me as his daughter. Then again there were probably those with dirtier minds that wondered if this wasn't some old guy trying for a piece of teenage pussy. Given my usual attire at such times (provided by my dad so you can imagine...) it wouldn't have surprised me if more people didn't think that way. After all, how many daughters dress like a hooker when going out alone with their own father?

While there were a number of booths open and tables in more private locations, we were seated at a table in the middle of the main dining room in full view of the dozens of people already seated. While definitely NOT my choice when Steve and I would go out, the arrangement was typical for date nights with my dad. It wasn't like my dad wanted a private seat so we could fool around the way Steve and I do. Noooooo, this was all about him being seen with me and for him to see the reaction of the other men - not to mention a few women at times as well. My part in our little play was to be his trophy girl and I knew how to play my role well.

With our jackets safely secured with the cute little coat check girl, I was a little chilly but that actually worked in my favor as my nipples were hard as rock. It didn't hurt that I was also horny as hell after the road head! With my dress as tight and thin as it was, it was like someone could have measured the dimensions of my boobs and nipples the same as if I wasn't wearing anything. My dad didn't fail to notice either.

"Nice...," was all he said but I caught the slight tip of his head and the direction of his gaze as he looked at my aroused boobs.

Crossing my legs slowly, I made sure to lift my left leg over the right as the slit in the dress was on that side which meant my upper thigh was now in view to whomever might be interested in such things. As it turned out, the older guy to the side of us WAS and I almost laughed out loud when I say the disapproving look on his wife's face as she looked to see what had gained her husband's interest. It was an interesting choice as to which reaction turned me on more? Was it the way he openly stared at my bared leg or the way what he was doing pissed off his wife? Honestly, I would have to say it was his wife's reaction that turned me on the most. Really, for a guy to stare at me isn't exactly headline news and while I don't mean to sound stuck up, that's just the way it is. What's so much more fun is when somebody else sees what HE is doing and how they react to it. Usually this is his wife but there have also been the occasional girlfriend and in a few cases even a daughter. Then it's THEIR reaction that really makes my day!

Trying to keep with the atmosphere of the place, I actually ordered wine rather than my usual Diet Coke. I figured I could nurse one glass through the entire meal but then my dad changed the order to be the entire bottle.

"Ahhhhhh Dad, did you see the price?" I leaned over to whisper to him after the waiter left. Like damn, it was over $200 for the bottle! Of course it was probably a fraction of that price at the store but still. Not to mention I really don't know one wine from the other so hopefully he would enjoy it,

"Like I've always said, only the best for my favorite daughter."

I smiled at him - like he had another daughter to compare me to. Yet again I was so proud that this man was my father. And to think that people have the nerve to question me when it comes to my desire to please him - in every way. How could I NOT want this more than anything given the way he loved me and spoiled me?

I sat and suffering through the wine ritual and finally got a taste. While I didn't say anything to my dad, I thought he'd been ripped off. OK, so I don't exactly have a cultured wine perspective but still, at what, $50 a glass I was expecting something spectacular. Frankly, the $5 diet coke would have been fine with me.

Soon after we gave our orders and of course my dad chose the filet mignon - bleeding rare. As for me, I've always preferred seafood over meat so I started with a shrimp cocktail (I LOVE the giant shrimp they use here) followed by the fresh fish special. Actually I wasn't even sure WHAT fish it was, it just sounded hood when our waiter explained how it was prepared. I'd been sorely tempted to go with the king crab legs but I knew from past experience that they were messy and tonight I wanted to be more formal for my father. Eating with my hands and wearing a bib was NOT part of the strategy when wearing a dress like mine.

While waiting for our order I informed my dad that I needed to use the ladies room and I was thrilled when he got up to help me with my chair like a perfect gentleman. Of course it also gave him the opportunity to give my ass a quick feel so there WAS a bit of an ulterior motive. I doubted anyone noticed but it's not like either of us really cared.

What my dad hadn't noticed - guys never do when it comes to this sort of thing, was that the timing of my request was linked to that of the wife next to us, the very same one who had been so unhappy with her husband's unabashed interest in me. Once I saw her get up and head towards the rest room (noting that HE didn't help with HER chair) I couldn't resist the temptation to stir the pot a bit so to speak.

With her now gone my first step was to make sure I got up on the side of our table that faced him. Now that his wife was away apparently he felt that he could get away with more so he didn't even try to appear as if he was just accidently looking at me. I suppose most women would have thought of him as a pervert and while that's more or less what it appeared he was, it didn't bother me at all. Like what fun would it be to have him NOT be interested in me? At the same time, what fun would it be for my dad if I didn't take the opportunity to flirt with some poor guy like him?

While I swear it wasn't premeditated, I couldn't resist myself...

"So have you been enjoying the view?" I said softly to him as my dad turned to push my chair in again.

I glanced downward and twisted so that my leg was poking out for him again. It was pretty blatant but then it wasn't like I had twenty minutes to flirt and build things up with him. Besides, I felt pretty confident that he wouldn't protest and I was right. My expectation was that he would blush and try to act as though he had no idea what I was talking about. But I had to give him credit, he was even more of a pervert than I'd figured...

"Why yes I have," he said in a low tone unabashedly, "You're quite pretty. Your husband is a lucky man."

I suppose I should've left it there but now my dad was standing back next to me again listening in on the conversation so I figured why not give him a bit of a show.

"Oh no, he's not my husband," I replied, looking back at my dad and smiling before turning back to the pervert.

"Oh really," the guy came back and then grinned wickedly at my dad, "So you're both cheating tonight.... nice. My congratulations to you sir."

As much as it turned me on, it DID surprise me a little that he would be so bold and I felt my dad move and although I had no idea what he was about to say, to be safe I quickly replied before he could.

"Well actually you see, he's my father."

THAT did the trick. This time he did blush just a bit and the look on his face was so funny.

"Oh I'm so sorry," he stammered and then he looked to my father, "Sir, I never meant anything by that, it's just..."

Again I cut in to keep my dad from answering. Leaning over and placing my hand on his leg, I whispered in the guy's ear, "You don't have worry, would you believe that I blew him on the way here and after we get home he's gonna fuck me?"

From the look on his face he clearly thought I was joking so I turned to my dad and said softly so just the guy would hear, or at least not the entire restaurant, "Isn't that right daddy... I mean what we did on the way here and what we'll do afterwards."

Now my dad didn't make it to be a senior law partner in a prestigious firm for nothing and he immediately caught on to what I was doing. He looked at the guy and I saw him give a wink and a grin. OMG, I wish I'd had a camera!

"Damn," was all Mr. Pervert said at first but then somehow regained his composure and added, "Well, in any case I still maintain that he's one lucky man."

With that I straightened up and headed towards the restrooms, leaving the two of them behind. To this day I have no idea what was said between them afterwards, if anything, but I would've loved to have been a proverbial fly on the wall to listen.

The whole episode actually only took less than a minute so by the time I got into the restroom his wife had only been in there for a few minutes at most. When I entered it was just the two of us and I found her checking out her makeup in the mirror. Without a word I took up station at the sink next to her and fished out some lipstick from my purse.

We could see each other in the mirrors so it wasn't like I had to actually look directly at her and I saw that she was taking advantage of the same thing to check me out. The tension levels quickly rose but I remained quiet, waiting to see if she would react. Well, I didn't have to wait long as obviously this had been something working up through their entire meal.

"You know, I just don't understand why a pretty girl like you needs to dress like a hooker in public," she said in an accusing tone of voice without actually looking at me directly.

I turned to her without answering but giving her an expression as if I had no idea what she was talking about.

"Oh don't give me that look you slut. It's bad enough you're out with a married man old enough to be your father, but from the looks of things I'll bet you're cheating on your own husband as well."

Again, it wasn't like I'd worked this all out ahead of time. Instead I was just running on instinct and reacting to what was offered, just as I had with her husband. And her husband's reaction I was feeling pretty naughty so I replied with more than even I'd anticipated. Hey, we were the only ones in the room so what the hell? Not like we were being recorded or anything.

"Well, first of all, he IS my father," I started out and I saw her eyes widen. "Second, my husband knows we're out together tonight so it's not like I'm cheating on him."

At first she just stood there and stared at me like she really didn't understand what I was saying so I made it clear to her.

"Oh just so you know, he's just fine with my dad doing me."

Well, it was a bit of a stretch since my husband really wasn't "just fine" but as a good husband he tolerated what I did with my dad but then she didn't have to know that.

This time she got the message but apparently she wasn't buying it.

"You're disgusting," she practically spit out, "I know you're just being mean but to even say such things is terrible. And even if he IS your real father, to dress like... THAT?"

In for an ounce....

"I'm perfectly serious, my dad's been fucking me since I was sixteen. Why else would I dress this way on a date with him?"

"Liar... Slut!" she practically spat out.

My heart was racing and my pussy was practically throbbing now as she quickly threw her things together into her pace and practically ran from the rest room without another word between us. Oh well, mission accomplished! I still couldn't figure for sure is she believed me or not but in either case I couldn't have asked for a better reaction from her. Heck, I was more turned on now than I was after teasing her husband!

I gave her a minute head start and then returned to our table. By the time I arrived the guy was asking for their check and then it was like they couldn't wait to leave. Both of them looked at me as I approached with one staring and the other glaring - not hard to figure out which was which. God I felt so hot! My dad again stood up to help with my chair but before I took my sat I whispered in his ear.

"God I'm so fucking horny now daddy!"

My dad just smiled as I too my seat and he returned to his. It was all I could do not to turn to look at the couple next to us. Finally when I noticed the waiter returning their check I couldn't help myself. Damn, the look she gave me was priceless but that was nothing to what she gave my dad when he saw me looking over and did the same. Well, I guess that answered any questions as to whether or not she believed me.

Once they had left my dad leaned over towards me.

"Damn you're so hot when you're naughty," he said in as soft a voice as he could and till be heard.

"Well, anything for my favorite daddy," I responded, not worrying this time about who might hear me. It was an innocent remark by itself after all but not so what I followed with...

"Anything...," I repeated but this time in a much deeper, more seductive tone of voice.

Our meal finally arrived then and for the most part things pretty much were "normal" after that although I made sure I shifted my legs now and then just to allow my skirt to ride up a little bit more each time. Again, it wasn't like I was doing this strictly for my father as he couldn't see anything. What I was going for was more for the OTHER men around me so my dad could see their reactions and be proud to be my daddy. I'd like to think I was pretty successful.

After our meal we shared a desert and then relaxed as the wine bottle emptied. Normally even a full glass was more than my limit and tonight I'd downed twice that much so I was feeling it in my head. I can honestly say I've never been "drunk" in my life but I was getting close to I tried to limit my intake. Last thing I needed was to pass out on my dad later!

After the meal and we were back in the SUV, my dad turned to me.

"Alright, I just HAVE to ask... what the hell did you say to that poor woman in the rest room? Damn, the look she gave me when she got back... it was like she could've killed me! And then the way she told her husband to get the check, you would've thought the place was on fire!"

I explained to him the whole episode and the smile on his face got wider and wider."

"So you really told her?" he asked as if he couldn't believe his ears, "I mean, you told her I was having sex with you? Shit, no wonder she looked at me like I was the devil incarnated!"

We both laughed at that as I put my head on his shoulder.

"You know daddy, I don't give a damn what old bitches like her think. I LOVE it when you fuck me and I ALWAYS will."

My dad put his arm around me, steering with one hand as he fondled my boob under my jacket.

"Oh Kelly, I can't even begin to tell you what it means to me to hear you say that," he said, sounding as if he was about to shed tears.

"It's just that.... well... it's just that when you do I feel so close to you. It shows me how much you love me... and respect me not just as your daughter, but as a woman as well. Sometimes I just don't know how to say it... It's like when you cum inside of me I feel more like your daughter than at any other time. Oh I don't know how to say it right!"

My dad pulled me in tight and squeezed my breast in his hand.

"You said it just perfect baby girl... just perfect."

We didn't say a word the rest of the way back to his place. We didn't need to. As for me, I don't think I trusted my voice not to crack if I had. I felt so loved... so close to my dad at that moment. I couldn't wait until we got to his home where I could prove to him once again that I was worthy to be his daughter. Where I could receive his parental love and experience his deepest lust in the most ultimate way possible. Where we could spend the night together as father and daughter in the manner every girl should be able to experience at least once in her life. A tear finally escaped, followed by another just as we pulled in as I felt this incredible NEED to please him and in doing so, satisfy HIS needs as well.

6. Satisfying My Father's Needs

It was almost mind-boggling how the mood of our evening had changed so dramatically. It was like one moment we were both teasing and being outrageous and then the next everything was intimate, loving and tender. My dad silently pulled into the garage and then went around to the passenger side to help me out. My aunt's car was missing which left him plenty of room. Evidently she was making sure nothing would disturb us and I suspected my husband wasn't going to have to worry about being lonely tonight but then with her, who knew?

At first I thought he was just going to help me out the same as he usually did but instead as I scooted over to the edge of the seat he reached underneath me and gently lifted me out, holding me close to his chest as he turned and leaned back to shut the door. My dress was pulled up practically to my waist but it didn't matter as there wasn't anyone to see us with the garage door shut. Placing my arm around his neck, I put my head against his shoulder and just enjoyed being so close to my loving father.

OK, so I'm not exactly heavy but then I'm not a little teenager anymore either so I couldn't have been THAT easy to carry but my dad somehow managed to get me through the basement door, through the family room, up the stairs to the first floor, then down the hall and up the stairs to the second floor and then to his bedroom without so much as a heavy breath or comment. Still, I imagine it was with at least a small sense of relief as he lowered me to the bed and then leaned over me to kiss me briefly on the lips before standing straight.

"Oh my God, you're so beautiful," he practically gushed as he crossed his arms and smiled as he gazed at me lovingly. Each word came out slowly and I felt like the most beautiful girl in all the world.

"I love you daddy," I whispered but in the silence it was easily heard.

Without waiting for him to answer I bent my legs and lifted my butt off the bed, first slipping my dress even further up and then pulling my thong down and over my heels, flipping them to the bottom of the bed. Sitting up, I pulled the dress up and over my head, leaving me wearing nothing but my heels and the beautiful cross necklace he'd given me earlier in the evening. Now naked for all practical purposes, I laid on my right side, pulling my left foot up so my leg was bent upwards, exposing my hot wet pussy for him to enjoy. My hand seemed to have a mind of its own as it moved to my crotch and I felt the wetness there with my fingertips.

The room was deathly quiet as neither of us seemed to want to be the first to break the silence. It was my dad's turn to strip and it didn't take long for him to undress and lay his clothes on the chair against the wall. OK, so my dad's not a young man anymore and sure he doesn't have the physique of my husband's body but the naked man that now stood before me wasn't just ANY man... he was my father and it thrilled me to see his dick so full and thick with lust - a lust that was for ME, for his own daughter.

My dad seemed content for the moment to just stand there and gaze at me, his eyes roaming up and down the length of my nude figure with special attention to my boobs and pussy where I was now rubbing myself slowly. Well, he WAS a man in addition to being my father so where else would you expect him to look? Seeing him with that special gleam in his eyes, I knew what I needed to do at that moment. After all, it didn't take a rocket scientist to figure this one out!

Leaning back with my head against the pillow, I bent my knees and placed my feet flat on the bed, spreading my legs apart and twisting a bit to give him a direct view of my pussy and butt. My left hand moved down further between my thighs as I cupped my boob with the right one. At first I just continued to slowly masturbate, simply rubbing the tip of my finger against my sensitive clit without even penetrating myself.

My dad was the first to break the silence...

"I can't imagine anything more erotic than to watch you play with yourself," he said softly as his hand started to stroke his erection slowly.

Well, personally I could think of something - seeing him staring at my crotch as I masturbated for him. Sure it felt good but my REAL enjoyment at the moment was seeing him being turned on as he watched me.

"I love you so much daddy."

"And I love you too baby."

God I wanted more than ever to make him happy, to please my father, to fulfill his every desire and need. I wasn't worried whether or not I COULD, I mean like THAT was a given. After all, who could even begin to compete with his own daughter when it came to meeting his sexual desires? No, I wasn't worried about anything like that. I simply wanted to DO it or should I say, for him to DO me.

"Love me daddy...," I practically pleaded, "Take me... I give myself to you, totally and completely."

Don't ask me why, but at that moment the words I'd just uttered reminded me of that time over twelve years ago when my dad entered my bedroom with the intent of having sex with me for the very first time. We both knew what was about to happen when he appeared at my door naked with his erection in full bloom. I'll never forget the words I'd said to him then - almost the exact same words I'd just said to him a few seconds ago. Now, twelve years later and who knows how many times he'd fucked me in between, those words held just as much meaning to me as they had that first time. Now, twelve years later and after so many other men had fucked me, it was my father I wanted more than anyone else, even more than my own husband, at least at that moment. How else could it be? This was my father, the man who created me, the man who raised me and who done so much more for me than I could ever possibly repay.

Another time and place and my dad would have probably laid between my legs and eaten my pussy, even though I knew he wasn't overly thrilled about it himself. It

I knew that but it was more an intellectual understanding, not an emotional one. Like of course he didn't have to fuck me for me to know he loved me. I knew perfectly well that even if we never had sex again he would continue to love me just as much as he ever did. That wasn't the point. I wanted him to fuck me because I already knew he loved me. I wanted him to fuck me because I wanted to give everything I had to give to him. It was because I knew that he loved me like no other woman in the world, not even his own wife, that made me feel so special when he was inside of me with our bodies literally joined together, especially when he symbolically mated me by leaving his cum deep inside of me.

"I know daddy," I acknowledged, "But I WANT you to fuck me... I WANT you inside of me... I WANT you to cum inside of me."

"Oh yes Kelly, and believe me... I so badly want to do just that."

And so he did. My right hand guided my father's incestuous erection to the entrance of his only daughter's wet pussy. Rubbing it against me, I wanted SOOOOO badly for him to push it in and I didn't have to wait long as he was just as anxious to do it.

"Oh daddyyyyyyyy!" I moaned as I felt him penetrate me, my pussy spreading open to engulf the stiff fleshy member that was trying so hard to invade it. It was ironic that the very same pussy that was screaming to be fucked was at the same time doing its best to resist the very thing it wanted so badly.

"Ohhhhhhhhh... YESSSSSSS!" I cried out as my father's dick pushed deeper and deeper inside of me until finally I had him all, I had every inch of his dick inside of me until the base of his dick met up against my crotch. I loved the feel of his thick stiff pubic hair as it pressed up against my pussy. Wrapping my legs around him as best I could, I pulled him in tighter, trying to push him into me even further.

For a few minutes, which seemed like hours at the time, we remained in that condition with his erection buried inside of me and neither of us moving or saying a word. I swore I could feel his pulse inside of me but it could've been just my own heartbeat pounding in my ears. It was what I'd been waiting for all night – to be physically joined with him in the most intimate manner any man and woman can be.

Memories of that stupid woman at the restaurant flashed through my head as I thought about how she was so clueless and closed minded. If only she could see us now and see for herself how wonderful incest can be when it's done right. This wasn't like the stupid fake porn sites designed to turn on horny men. It wasn't anything even remotely related to the abuse of young girls by perverted family members that appear on the TV news. No, this was incest as it was meant to be " a loving, sharing, respectful union of a father and his daughter. How could she even begin to understand the feeling of satisfaction that was almost overwhelming me at this moment?

My dad suddenly started to pump his dick in and out of me, starting out ever so slowly and then gradually picking up the pace until he was pounding me. Oh my god, it was like I'd died and gone to heaven!

"Yes daddy.... yes! Fuck me harder daddy... harder!" I encouraged him as if he needed any form of encouragement at that moment.

Soon we'd traded positions with him lying on his back and me riding his stiff dick facing him. I grabbed the headboard and leaned forward so my boobs hung down in front of his face, allowing him to suckle my breasts as I rode his dick. His powerful hands cupped my ass as he assisted me in bouncing on him, driving him oh so deep into me!

From there we traded again only this time I was on my belly with a pillow under me so my pussy was more easily accessible. For a brief moment I felt his dick head against my asshole and I wondered if he was going to fuck my ass. Given a choice I would've said no but then that was one word missing from my vocabulary when my dad and I were having sex. My dad knew my feelings about anal sex and 99% of the time he honored those feelings but there were times when his own lust overrode things and he fucked me in the ass. Well, if that's what he wanted then that's what he would get from me but I have to say I wasn't sad when he didn't want it.

After fucking me in that position for a while it was back to missionary which told me that he could feel himself on the edge of cumming. With rare exception, when my dad fucked me he would cum in my pussy while on top of me as though he was dominating me. If I was blowing him then he would cum in my mouth but either way he generally avoided the body shots unless he was unable to hold himself back at that moment. It was something that he'd always seemed to prefer? I mean that when he came inside of me he liked to be in this position which I attributed to his desire to dominate and control me. We both enjoyed trying out as many positions as possible but when it was time for him to cum there was just one that worked best for him - good old-fashioned missionary position.

Knowing he was on the verge, I cried out, "Cum inside of me daddy... give me your cum! Give me your love!"

Indeed, that was exactly what it meant to me when my father came inside of me. For him to mate with me, to leave his cum inside of me was the ultimate outward act of his fatherly love for me. Why else would he do it if her didn't love and respect me? What better way for him to show me?

It was like that little extra bit of encouragement was all he needed and sure enough, I felt him press himself hard against me as he seemed to try and drive his dick into me as far as he could.

"Oh yeah!" he groaned as he started to cum, "Take it baby girl... take your daddy's cum."

Like I had a choice at that point... but who cares? Indeed, I wanted it just as badly as he wanted it in me. In my mind I tried to imagine the head of his dick deep inside of me, the white ropes of cum exploding from him and filling me with his love. It was just the final thing I needed for my own orgasm to erupt causing my pussy to clamp down on his incestuous cock and squeeze down on him.

"God!" was all he said as he finished and feel down to his elbows, barely enough to keep from pressing down heavy against me. He just stayed that way as my own orgasm rippled through me like a forest fire blazing though the mountainside. Oh my god, it felt so damn good!

As my orgasm slowly subsided, we were back to the beginning as we competed the full circle of sex. Once again we laid there silently, still coupled together so intimately although this time he was rapidly dwindling inside of me.

Finally his arms betrayed him and he barely caught himself from dropping down on me. Rolling over next to me, he laid there on his back, still breathing heavily. I turned on my side, draping one leg over him as I pressed my cum-filed pussy up against his hip. His arm pushed under me and I laid my own across his hairy chest with my head laying on him. Soon he was sound asleep as I remained awake for a long while.

Knowing I'd satisfied my dad left me content. I could feel his cum as it seeped from my pussy and drained down to the bed over my leg. I knew that morning would come quickly and that when he awoke he would want me again and I knew just as certainly that I would give myself to him as willingly and lovingly as I had this evening.

As I laid there too worked up to fall asleep - unlike my father who, like most men, dropped off within minutes of getting off, I thought about the next morning. Hmmmmmm, I wondered if maybe my dad would enjoy waking up to my mouth on his dick? In a way it would be sort of a twist on those days back in high school when he use to come into my room before leaving for work and get himself off. Sometimes he just jerked off and cum on me for me to discover later when I awoke. Other times he might press his dick into my lips or even my pussy depending on how I was positioned. Usually I would wake up at the first touch but after a particularly sleepy night I might not until he was inside of me. Granted that hardly ever happened but it left such an impression that I could recall almost every time it did.

I can just as clearly remember the first time I ever sucked a guy's dick when he was sleeping. It was during a sleepover at my first boyfriend's house (who would have known at the time that he would eventually become my husband). In theory it was with his sister and our friends but they covered for me so I could sleep with Steve overnight for the first time. My mom was actually the instigator in that she was the one who suggested the idea to me once she learned my plans. At that age I doubt I would have even thought of the idea myself because really, who would have ever thought a guy's dick would respond when he was sleeping? As it turned out, THAT was exactly what made it so hot for me, that it DID respond all by itself without him even being aware of it. Over time it became more or less a challenge for me - could I get him to cum without waking him? Without going off too far a tangent, I can say that it's possible but not easy, not by a long shot!

So anyways... Afterwards I knew that he would drive me back home where I would greet my husband. No doubt Steve would want to immediately fuck me. It was as if he needed to reassert his dominance over me after having given myself to my father. That's one area where I've been unsuccessful in getting Steve to understand the relationship between me and my father. There's nothing to be competitive over. My husband is my only lover, period. By the same token, my dad is my only father. Two different men, two different roles, two different forms of submission.

Although I sincerely wish Steve could accept my duty to my father in more positive ways, if that's how he needs to handle things then so be it. As his wife it's my duty to yield to him wishes although I've never considered it in such crass terms. I love my husband like I love no other man but when he fucks me it's distinctly different than when my father does. I would never say one was better than the other, just different. How lucky I am to have both options!!!

Unable to sleep, I rolled onto my back and began to masturbate. It's funny to me how people seem to feel that masturbation is a substitute for sex. It's like people think that if you need to masturbate then you must not be getting enough sex. Well sure I masturbate if for some reason I'm not getting enough but really, how often has THAT ever happened to me. I mean like no girl can ever really claim she's not getting enough. If I can't go out and get laid within 60 minutes - and I mean anytime, anytime, anywhere, then it's ME that's the problem. The same applies to any girl in my opinion. If you're female and not getting enough sex, the problem is facing you in the mirror.

For me, taking aside what I might do to tease a guy or to please him by putting on a show, as a general rule I masturbate for only one reason - I LOVE to masturbate! What I was doing right now - masturbating after just having had great sex with my dad, wasn't the exception for me but rather the rule. It's not like the guy should care as he's the one sleeping. Even if he DID know it's not a reflection on him. Some guys have seen me doing myself after they'd fucked me and taken it almost as an insult to their abilities, like I wasn't satisfied after sex with them. Whatever I'd just done with them has nothing to do with it, I just enjoy playing with myself. If anything, they should take it as a compliment as usually the better the sex the harder it is for me to unwind and fall asleep myself which means I usually masturbate until I calm down enough to drift off.

Another reason I enjoy masturbating after sex is it's like it's repay time for me. Just as I was doing now, I love laying there and fingering myself as memories of how my father's dick had flooded me just a short time ago ran through my mind. I also fantasized about the next morning, planning out how I wanted to wake him with his cum in my mouth and then serve him breakfast in bed - naked of course.

After bringing myself off a couple of times I finally drifted off to sleep as my last thoughts were of how happy I was. At that moment there was nothing more in all the world that I desired. My every need had been fulfilled and I felt so incredibly loved. Really, what more could a girl ask for in her life than to be a proper daughter for her father with the perfect husband anxiously waiting for her return?

(Nov 21) Chapter 263: Making an Announcement

Story codes: nosex
Me (28)

In publishing my diary I've had to make a lot of decisions as to what to tell people - and what NOT to tell people. At times this can be difficult so in some case I simply avoid certain aspects of my life. However, it's just getting too hard to hide this one anymore so here goes...

1. Author's Prerogatives

Of all the questions I get asked, probably the most common is, "Are the stories in your diary true?" I've no doubt that most people don't believe me or at least think I'm stretching things a bit and that's OK with me as I really don't care what they think. It's not like it makes any difference in MY life either way. It doesn't hurt my ego or self-worth to be told I'm a liar or stretching the truth. I know what's true and that's what matters to me.

Simply put, if you look at the diary I publish on asstr-mirror.org, there are several folders, or "sections" as I like to call them. I refer to everything in them as "stories" simply because it's easier, not to imply anything as to whether they're real or not.

NOTHING in my diary is 100% accurate and I've never hidden that fact or made any claim otherwise. What I claim to be "true" are those that are based on actual events in MY life and for all intents and purposes, I believe that they reflect the spirit of the occasion. By that I mean I'm more concerned about my security than accuracy so I change a lot of what I consider to be insignificant details - names, ages of people, their appearance, family makeup, dates, locations, etc.

My first name is Kelly but other than that, just about every other name I use is a pseudonym which sometimes leads to problems when I lose track and mess them up! Does it really matter if someone is blonde or brunette or exactly how tall they are? Does it make any difference if someone has three kids or two if only two are pertinent to the story? Does it affect the outcome if it happened in May or June? How does where I live really matter in terms of what happened that day?

Also, I'm not a professional author and I don't get a dime for publishing anything. My only "reward" is the feedback I get from those who read my diary and in some cases, the exchanges they foster wither as chats or e-mails. Indeed, the LACK of such feedback is why at times I get frustrated and delete my diary as I figure if I don't get "paid" then why provide my diary for "free"?

I have no intent or desire to ever meet anyone from any of these exchanges but I do find it erotic and interesting to learn about other people's fantasies and experiences. There's something about dealing with a real person that means a lot more than just going on line and reading some fantasy or fictional story that somebody posts.

I'm not so naive as to believe that most of what I'm told is true but it's still fun and in those few cases where I get to verify who someone really is, it makes it more exciting for me to know I COULD totally screw up their lives if I wanted - but then why would I? That would be totally stupid and undoubtedly end up only hurting me as well. At the very least it would soon be announced all over the Internet and then who would ever want to be in touch with me after that? Yes, there have been a few cases where I know people have been hurt because of what they have done for me but in every case it was THEIR fault for not taking the proper security precautions at their end. If someone leaves their e-mail open or files available for their spouse to find, don't blame me! If anything, it's just one more reason I keep my own privacy such a priority - just in case someone DOES screw up and a vengeful spouse or self-appointed vigilante group tries to find me.

So what's "real"? Everything in the "About ME" and "Diary" sections, taking account what I've said above. Nothing else.

The "Fantasies" section contains stories I wrote but are entirely just that - my fantasies. Any resemblance to actual people or events is purely coincidental.

I won't vouch for anything in the "Friends" or "Stories by Others" sections. These were submitted to me by people who have contacted me after reading my diary. Note that in EVERY case, THEY made the initial contact. I never initiate a chat with a stranger or seek out people. If I even get a hint they are underage, the conversation ceases immediately. I don't exchange porn and do not want anyone to send me anything unsolicited that would be considered illegal such as child porn.

Also, I don't repost stories from other websites as I prefer to keep everything in my diary original content. Some people claim what they send me is real, some admit to it being fantasy. Personally, I doubt most people are who they claim to be and I doubt even more that much of what they send me is anything more than a male masturbation fantasy - even the ones who claim to be female. In the end, what difference does it make?

So why am I bothering to say all this? Well, there are many things in my life that I don't lie about, distort or change - I simply don't say anything about them. I realize that people who read my diary didn't go to asstr-mirror.org to read about Bible studies or crafting events so I stick with those things in my life that involve sex. This undoubtedly gives quite a distorted view of my life but people should understand that I have a LOT more to my everyday activities than having sex!

Similarly, I don't talk a lot about family and friends that aren't involved with me in a sexual way. That's to protect their privacy not to mention it just isn't germane to the stories.

All that said...

Recently something happened that has had a significant impact on my life, more than anything else ever before. People have been asking me why my diary updates have been rather sparse in recent months and there's a very good reason - my baby girl!

2. The Joyous News

Yes, I am the proud mother of a baby girl. She is perfect in every way and the joy of my life.

When was she born? How old is she now? What does she look like? What's her name?

Sorry, not saying.

with. At the same time I would never want to impose on her or pressure into making that sort of decision.

********

Q: As an only child, are you planning to have more children of your own?
A: While being an only child certainly has its benefits, for my parents it wasn't really a choice as my mother was warned not to have any more kids after the difficulties she had with my birth. I DO want more kids and would hope to have a son next although of course I will feel blessed regardless of whether it's a boy or girl. As for when, soon I hope! (Maybe I already have... sorry, couldn't pass up the opportunity to tease a little.) In any case I want them to be close in age. I WILL say that I want to keep it to two so I decided that after the next I would take action to ensure there aren't any "accidents" in the future.

********

Q: How does this factor into the stories you have published recently?
A: Once I decided to go off the pill, I wanted to be sure that the baby would be my husband's so that meant I minimized the men cumming inside of me and those that did wore high-quality condoms that I provided. This included my dad. Once I was confirmed to be pregnant, those restrictions were lifted. When I wrote about events that occurred during that time though, I never mentioned the condoms. Typically when I considered something important enough to wrote about it was one of those times when I would allow him to cum in me so I wasn't fibbing about that when I said it happened, I just didn't mention that they used a condom.

I had sex throughout most of my pregnancy and if anything, it enhanced our swapping life as a lot of guys got off fucking me knowing I was pregnant. My dad especially seemed to get off from it and I have to say, I think we had sex more during my pregnancy than even the first year after we first started doing it back when I was sixteen.

Remember that I sometimes "adjust" the dates in my diary a bit so don't try to go back and analyze the gaps and periods between entries to try and figure out when I was pregnant or had my baby. Trust me, I've made a concerted effort to make that difficult!

********

Q: Why spill the beans now?
A: Well, it's more out of convenience than anything. I'm pushing thirty now and people are always asking me when I will start a family. It's gotten to the point where I felt I needed to say SOMETHING to at least let people know we weren't still putting it off and thus stop the incessant questions. The past few months have been very busy with family, school and such so I figured I may as well get this out of the way and move on.

I realize some people will be upset with my "white lies" about not having a baby before now but I hope they understand my situation. It's not a lot different than back when I claimed my mother had died so I didn't have to face all the people writing me about my parent's divorce. It took a while before I was in a place where I felt comfortable addressing that situation, just as it has taken me a while to feel comfortable letting people know about this change to my life. I just ask that people be patient with me and understand I try my best to be open and honest but my family will ALWAYS come first.

********

OK, so this is ALL I will say about my daughter. She will never be mentioned in any future stories so unless you have read this you won't even know she exists! PLEASE do not write me and ask for more information, pictures, etc.

(Dec 30) New Year Reflections and Resolutions[11]

2013 was quite a year in many ways for me, most of which never made it into my diary but that didn't mean the events weren't significant in my life. It's time to quickly look back and then move on to 2014.

1. Blessed

I titled this chapter "Blessed" because if I had to sum up my life in one word I can't think of a more fitting one to use. If you know anything at all about me then hopefully you know that I personally have a strong belief in God and I believe in living a life for which someday I can stand before him and not be ashamed of anything I've done, nor stand accused of not putting him first in my life. In return, I believe we're rewarded in our time here on this earth. Not that there is this super God handing out doggie treats when his pets perform for him but more like a loving father returning a part of what is given to him.

OK, so maybe I'm not the best when it comes to making a religious analogy but hopefully my point is getting across. I fully understand that there are many people who would claim that many of the things I've done in my life are sinful and perhaps even blasphemous. Well, they're entitled to their opinions - just as I would hope they would allow the same respect for me and mine. My point being, I can't understand how anyone can truly stand up and say that submitting yourself biblically to your parents and husband can EVER be wrong. Yes, the needs and demands will vary a lot between different families and cultures but that doesn't mean anyone has the right to judge someone else. So long as we're talking about TRUE submission from a loving and respectful perspective and NOT some crazy BSDM fantasy, I'd counter that NOT being submissive would be the more improper course of action.

Growing up as a teen, I was like most other girls in that I had a hard time understanding my mother and her beliefs. It's no stretch to say that I wasn't the perfect child by any means and instead was often rebellious and looking to make my own way in the world. Still, looking back I can see how my mother's patient

---

[11] This is not an official chapter.

Another area where I feel blessed in may sound a little vain yet at the same time it's not something to be ashamed of either. When I look in the mirror I may spot every blemish and fault but at the same time I also realize that God has blessed me with a sexy body that men find desirable. Even better, I really haven't done anything to deserve it in terms of helping things out by working out, dieting, etc. It has been a blessing to me in that this was something else that I was taught by my mother – to use the gifts God has given me.

As a result, I am not ashamed in any way to admit that I am a slut. Heck, if anything I'm quite proud of it, at least based on how I define the term. I've always said that the difference between a slut and a whore is that whores allow men to use their bodies for money in whatever way they want. In contrast, sluts use their bodies to get what THEY want. When a guy "dates" a whore, he knows what he's getting in advance and in general, that's what he gets. When a guy dates a slut like me he may have hopes and expectations but there are no guarantees and if anything, he might get even more than he expected if he plays his cards right.

Being slutty certainly has other advantages and benefits. Like I almost never pay for much of anything be it movies, clothes, jewelry, or whatever – at least when a guy's involved. Guys never complain when I cut in line, arrive late, or make any negative comments to me about what I wear. Most of all I LOVE the looks I get – both the stares from the men who desire me and the frowns from their wives and girlfriends who feel threatened by me. It's exciting to flirt and even more so to be able to drive men to do things they might never have done if they hadn't met me.

Yes, I am blessed to be a slut!

When it comes to my family, few people are more blessed than me. Oh sure there are those in my family tree that aren't exactly what I'd choose given a choice but overall I've got no complaints. Over the course of years I've had sex with both my uncles and a few of my cousins, not to mention my mom's sister. Sure it's all about the sex and nothing to do with "love" but it's exciting to sit around at a family gathering and exchange knowing glances with them while the others haven't a clue. Other than a few friends, there is really nobody I have sex with on a regular basis outside my family and even when it comes to my friends it tends to be few and far between. So while most of my more "memorable" experiences (and hence diary entries) tend to revolve around sex with strangers and friends, when it comes to casual sex without the stress and worries nothing beats family.

Yes, I am blessed to be part of an incestuous family!

anywhere else other than our home. I like to think that my life serves as an offering to God and that He is pleased with all that I say and do.

Yes, I am blessed to have God in my life!

I suppose I could have gone on but those are the top areas where I feel I have and continue to be blessed. The only reason I mention them is to bring context into my reflections of the past year and to provide a better understanding when it comes to my hopes for the new year.

2. What Didn't Make It Into My Diary in 2013

People are always asking me when I will publish a new diary entry. When it comes to deciding what and when to post, several factors enter the equation...

First and most important, it must be an event that had an impact on my life both current and future. This could be either positive or negative. For example, I was once raped back in college when I was doing some rather foolhardy things. Even though it was a "negative" experience at the time, I don't regret what I did because in the end it served a useful purpose in my life by driving me out of the escort business before anything more serious could happen. It also served as a reminder in the future when I would consider ever doing such things again which is why I posted it in my diary.

Next, it needed to be something worth the effort to write about. Most of my diary stories are rather lengthy, not novel length but more than just short stories. If something happened quick without a lead-in then why bother writing a few paragraphs about a quick blowjob?

Finally, I need to have the time to sit down and write it out. Many of my diary stories get started and are never finished. Finally enough time goes by that I just don't bother and start working on something new. Such was the case in 2013 where I posted fewer stories than usual. I mean like being pregnant and having a kid can keep you busy to where writing stories simply isn't at the top of the priority list!

As a reminder, here's what DID make it in...

(Jan 18) Chapter 258: Kissing Cousins

Growing up like sisters, Kristen and I have always shared most everything - clothes, makeup, and boys. Most of that has dwindled away over the years but every now and then it includes our husbands...

So what did NOT make it in?

Swapping

For the most part I didn't write about our swapping. Steve is really into this and I have to admit it turns me on more than the party scene. However, looking a little deeper into our motives and you'll find some significant differences...

Steve is like any man in that he'll fuck any pussy made available to him. For whatever reason it seems that most of the couples we swap with are older than us which means the wives are usually older than Steve. Steve certainly doesn't protest but I know the sex isn't the primary driver for him in these situations. No... what my husband loves more than anything is watching his wife being fucked by another husband, especially in front of the wife. When he gets his choice then we all do it in the same room so he can watch me while he is doing the other wife.

In sharp contrast, I enjoy swapping because unlike parties, there is an element of intimacy that is missing when everyone is just trading back and forth. Heck, half the time at a party I never even know the names of the guys who fuck me. I've always preferred one-on-one sex when it comes to my own satisfaction although I learned early on that one easy way to please a man was to put out for more than one. As for me, while I'm not bothered seeing my husband fucking another women, it doesn't really get me all that excited either. Certainly I'm pleased to see him enjoying himself but really, what's in it for me? As for having him watch me, now THAT I do enjoy immensely, just as I always loved my dad watching me being fucked back in high school. Why? I'm not really sure other than I love them seeing how much other men want me so that they want me even more themselves. When it comes to the wife watching, definitely not a factor simply because I know she is OK with it. (What DOES turn me on is when guy fucks me and his wife DOESN'T know.) Given the option, I would disappear into separate bedrooms for the night and enjoy the intimacy of having sex with a total stranger whom I will likely never see again.

We swap every few weeks or so but hardly any of those made it into print. Hopefully based on all I just described now you can understand why. Swapping is a great way to keep your marriage fresh and it's one of a few activities that can demonstrate your commitment and love for your partner. Being with another person for the night and then return home to have sex in your own bed again is like a shot of adrenalin to our marriage! Still, diary worthy? Usually not.

3. Hopes and Dreams for 2014

As a general rule I'm not a big fan of New Year's Resolutions. Losing weight seems to be number one for most people but that's not something I am overly worried about. As for resolving to work out... yeah right! Still, making up a list is like the thing to do so here's what I worked up...

Serve as an Christian Example

God is always first in my life so I want everything I do and say to glorify him. I want people to look at me and see someone who loves God and provides an example to others. I would hope that people can see through me that sex and incest can be a means to a stronger marriage and a healthier family when done properly with the right attitude and biblical guidance.

Be a Proper Wife and Daughter

I know I say this a lot but submitting myself biblically to my father and husband is extremely important to me. It's literally the foundation of my marriage and the cornerstone of my relationship with my father. In the past twelve years I have never said NO to my father when he has asked for me to satisfy him sexually and I want to add 2014 to record. Similarly, I have never refused such a request from my husband and I hope to extend that record for another year as well. Admittedly, this will be an easy resolution to keep!

Be a Proper Mother

I want to tell people something right now and get it over with... you will NOT hear much of anything from me in 2014 regarding my daughter. As much as I believe in the intrinsic value of incest and the proper role of a daughter, those days are still many years away. While I understand that there are people who believe in what I would call extreme pedophile activity, that's their call and while I will not judge them for it, neither do I condone it in my own life. As such I will NOT involve ANY young child, and especially my daughter, in any sexual activities regardless of circumstances. So let's just leave it at that, OK?

Support My Husband More

I went to great length earlier to explain why I don't fully support my husband perhaps as much as I should when it comes to his "youthful desires" - perhaps going to TOO much length for some. At the heart of it is something I've already said in that I know I shouldn't feel this way yet I do. So in 2014 I want to try harder to push those feelings aside and become a more willing and active partner for my husband in ALL of his activities.

From a purely selfish perspective this should be another easy resolution to keep in that I DO enjoy myself a lot when I go with Steve. Plus if anything I find that I enjoy the times we've met privately with a family even more so than the parties but that's just being consistent with my feelings about swapping as well. I'm always more comfortable in more intimate settings when it comes to my own physical satisfaction be it with another couple p with or without their kids.

This resolution will largely a mental exercise from me as I try to cast aside the demons and reconcile myself to reality. What makes this resolution important to me is that I do NOT want to repeat my mother's mistake by hoping that someday my husband will "grow out of" his desires as if they are some sort of teenage acne. If anything, my dad has demonstrated to me that such addictions only get all the more powerful as a man grows older so I figure that the sooner I can help Steve control his urges the better. Well, what better way than to be his active partner and supporter? Plus who knows, maybe I'll find that I even enjoy it all the more if I can do away with the "hangover" guilt trip.

So there you have it. I hope everyone had a great Christmas and that your 2014 resolutions are all met.

2014

(Apr 10) Chapter 264: Catching Up

Story codes: MF FF
Me (29)
Ron (43) & Cindy (40)

It's been quite a while since I've provided any updates making this the longest stretch since I first started my on-line diary over ten years ago. Wow, sometimes it's hard to believe it's been that long! So anyways... Sorry for the drought and I appreciate your patience while I'm trying to catch up. Because it's been so long since my last posting I thought I would go over a few things before getting into what happened this day so bear with me... or skip to Chapter 5!

1. Blessed

This chapter is entitled "Blessed" because if I were to sum up my life in one word I can't think of one more fitting. Hopefully anyone who knows much of anything at all about me knows that I have an intense devotion to my God and church. My goal is to live a life such that someday when I stand before Him I'll not be ashamed of anything I've done, nor be guilty of not putting Him first in my life. Of course I'm human so I'm not perfect - not by a long shot! Still, I DO try my best.

In return, I believe we're rewarded during our time here on this earth. Some people call it Karma which is OK with me so long as the principles are the same. Now don't take me wrong - I'm not saying that there's some super sugar daddy handing out treats when his pets perform. What I mean is that when someone lives their life in accordance with Godly principles then such rewards are simply a natural consequence. After all, God gave us these rules for our benefit, not to enslave us.

OK, so maybe I'm not the best when it comes to making religious analogies but hopefully my point is getting across. I'm fully aware that there are people who would claim that some of the things I've done in my life are sinful and perhaps even blasphemous. Well, they're entitled to their opinions just as I hope they show the same respect for mine. My point being, I can't understand how anyone can truly stand up and say that submitting yourself biblically to God, your parents and husband can EVER be wrong. Yes, the needs and demands in doing so vary a lot between different families and cultures but that doesn't mean anyone has the right to judge someone else. Also, I'm talking about TRUE submission from a loving and respectful perspective, NOT some kinky BSDM fantasy.

Growing up as a typical teenager I was like most other girls in that I had a difficult time understanding my parents and some of their beliefs, especially my mother's. It's no stretch to say that I wasn't the perfect child by any means and indeed I was often quite rebellious as I struggled to make my own way in the world. Still, looking back I can see how my mother's patient perseverance paid off as I couldn't help but absorb her teachings - both direct through her words and indirect through observing her actions. As is often said, a picture paints a thousand words.

Perhaps one of the most significant "lessons" from my mother, if I can call it that, was when I first witnessed my parents having sex. I was sixteen at the time and even though my parents didn't hide much from me, there were still limits and lines not to be crossed. For example, in our family nudity was tolerated but not exactly encouraged. It was OK given the proper time and place but just flaunting yourself was being impolite. Thus being naked in the hot tub together as a family was fine whereas running around the house buck naked for no reason was not. Similarly, sharing the bathroom or even a shower was OK but sitting nude on the kitchen was not (not to mention the sanitary issues). Thus it just followed naturally that KNOWING my parents enjoyed an active sex life was one thing but actually SEEING them was a different story. Not that it was WRONG per se, just not proper etiquette.

Without beating the subject to death, it's all sort of like the difference between something being pornographic versus erotic. Your typical porn is exploitive of women with little if any redeeming value. Fantasy situations are depicted which lead to improper stereotypes and promotion of unsafe behaviors. Porn misleads men into thinking situations are "normal" such as when a woman says NO she really means YES. As such, porn can be dangerous as well as destructive. On the other hand, while often drawing on fantasy, eroticism is more in lines of art than exploitation. To use the same example, I didn't have to see them for it to be erotic knowing my parents were having sex.

Being a slut has other advantages and benefits as well. Like I almost never pay for much of anything when it comes to movies, clothes, jewelry, or whatever - at least when a guy's involved. I think it's so cool that guys never complain when I cut in line, arrive late, or what I wear. Most of all I LOVE the looks I get - both the stares from the men who lust for me and the frowns from their wives and girlfriends who feel threatened by me. Admit it girls - it's exciting to be a flirt and even more so to know that you can drive men to do things they might never have done if they hadn't met a girl like you.

*******************

When it comes family in general few people are more blessed than me. Oh sure there are a few odd branches in my family tree that aren't exactly what I'd choose given a choice but overall I've no serious complaints. Over the course of the years I've had sex with both of my father's brothers and several of my cousins as well as my mom's sister. That leaves out the majority of my family but that's OK. If anything it just makes it all the more exciting to sit around at a family gathering and exchange knowing glances while the others haven't a clue. Personally I find this most satisfying when it comes to a couple of my sanctimonious aunts. It's a lot easier to shrug off their disparaging comments about how I dress and act knowing that I'm fucking their husbands behind their backs.

Other than a few friends, there's really nobody in particular that I have sex with on a regular basis outside of my family. When it comes to my friends, so far as sex goes it's only with a few and even then rather rare. Thus while most of my more "memorable" experiences (and hence associated diary entries) tend to revolve around me having sex with strangers and friends, when it comes to casual sex without the stress and worries nothing beats family.

*******************

Of course, nothing has been more of a blessing to me than my incredible husband. If nothing else proves God's will it would have to be my marriage. Like how amazing is it that the sixteen year-old boy who took my virginity back when I was just fourteen would wind up marrying me ten years later? Sure there were hundreds of guys in between those two events but what else but a miracle from God could have brought Steve back into my life?

I may be a little biased but my husband is the most marvelous man any girl could ask for. Of course I'll always submit to him as a proper wife should, but nobody can ever accuse me of being his slave or bitch. Steve not only loves me totally and lusts for me now more than the day we first dated, most importantly he RESPECTS me. It's a little awkward at times in that Steve isn't exactly a fan of incest, much to the chagrin of his sister back in high school I might add. Yet while he refuses to be anywhere nearby when I'm having sex with my dad, at the same time this amazing man has never discouraged me from fulfilling my obligations as a daughter. As for what will happen someday when our daughter gets older... that's still out with the jury but regardless of the outcome I know he'll love her unconditionally. I've always said that I don't have sex with my dad so that he will love me - but rather I have sex BECAUSE he loves me. In the same way I know Steve will love our precious gift from God regardless of whether he allows her to give him the gift of true submission.

*******************

In many other areas of my life I've also been richly blessed. Take my teaching career for example. Sure there were some speed bumps along the road but now I look back at those times and I can see how God was testing me. Yes, there were times when I had to do things that at the time I thought were unfairly forced upon me but now I look back and see how I was ultimately strengthened by them. As a result, today I have exactly what I've always dreamed of - I'm teaching 8th grade at a school that's well-funded, pays well with extraordinary benefits, along with a parent-driven curriculum and level of support that would be the envy of any school district in the country.

Finally, and although I list it last it's really first in priority, I'm blessed to enjoy an intimate, personal relationship with my Lord and Savior. For sure I'm not perfect, not by any stretch of the imagination, but I DO try to keep God number one in everything in my life. I attend church faithfully and participate in a number of groups including women's bible studies, youth ministries and neighborhood outreach programs. Indeed, outside of work I think I spend more time in church-related activities than anything else. My hope is that my life, both public and private, serves as an offering to God and that He is pleased with all that I say and do.

I suppose I could go on but those are the top areas where I feel I've been and continue to be blessed. The only reason I mention them is to bring context into my reflections of the past year and to provide a better understanding when it comes to my hopes for the new year.

2. What Didn't Make It Into My Diary in 2013

People ask me all the time when I'll publish a new diary entry. When it came to deciding what and when to post, several factors enter the equation...

First and most important, I try to restrict my diary entries to events that have an impact on my life - both positive or negative. For example, I was once raped back in college while engaging in some rather foolhardy things. Even though it was a "negative" experience at the time, in the end it served a useful purpose in my life by driving me out of the escort business before anything more serious happened. Thus I posted it in my diary even though some people ask me why I would write about such things. Well, it's now part of who I am for better or worse.

Next, it needs to be something worth the effort to write about. Most of my diary stories are rather lengthy, not novel length but more than just short stories. Why go through the bother of writing a few paragraphs about a quick blowjob?

Finally, and most importantly of late, I need the time to sit down and write it out. Many of my diary stories get started without ever being finished. Finally enough time goes by that I just don't bother and start working on something new. Such was the case in 2013 where I posted fewer stories than usual. People should understand that being pregnant, having a kid, keeping up with my job, being a wife, serving in my church and so on has kept me just a little bit busy! So sorry folks, writing erotic stories simply hasn't been at the top of my priority list!

So what did NOT make it in? Well, a brief summary...

Swapping

For the most part I didn't write about our swapping events. While Steve is more into the party scenes I find swapping with other married couples to be much more satisfying and fulfilling. I suppose that to be fair, it's only natural for us have these difference. Steve is like any man in that he'll fuck any pussy made available to him. Oh sure he has his preferences - the younger the better (to a point) but trust me, he would never refuse a sexy grandmother. Most of the couples we swap with are older which means the wives are usually older than Steve and I can say for certain that he doesn't protest!

On the other hand, I enjoy swapping more because unlike the sex parties, there's an element of intimacy that's missing when everyone is just trading back and forth. Heck, half the time at a party I never even know the first name of the guy fucking me. Actually I've always preferred one-on-one sex when it comes to my own satisfaction. It's not that I don't enjoy parties - sex is sex after all and sometimes it's nice just to do it without any real thought or need to be worried about your partner. I'm just saying what I PREFER, not what I limit myself to doing.

People always ask if when we swap if we share a room or do it separately. Once again, another example of the difference between men and women in my opinion. If it was up to Steve, we'd share the same bed because I know nothing gets him going so much as seeing his wife being fucked by another guy. As for me, while I'm not bothered by the sight of my husband fucking another women it doesn't really get me all that excited either. Certainly I'm pleased to see him enjoying himself but really, what's in it for me? As for having him watch me, now THAT I do enjoy immensely, just as I loved it back in school when my dad would watch me being fucked by my boyfriends. Why? Hard to say other than I love them seeing how much other men want me so that they want me even more themselves.

So.... given the option I'd disappear into separate bedrooms for the night and enjoy the intimacy of having sex with a total stranger - one whom I'll likely never see again. Then again, it's important to me that Steve is happy so sometimes we'll all stick together for his benefit.

Nowadays we swap every few weeks or so, sometimes maybe going a month or more in between. I think it's been good for our marriage so I don't like to go TOO long between couples. That said, hardly any of those times have made it into print and hopefully now, based on all I just described, you understand why. In my humble opinion swapping is a great way to keep a marriage fresh and it's one of only a few activities where you can clearly demonstrate your true commitment and love for your partner. Being with another person for the night and then returning home to have sex in our own bed again is like a shot of adrenalin to our marriage! Still, are most such encounters "diary worthy"? Usually not.

Masturbation

Anyone who knows me knows at all knows that I LOVE to masturbate, even if they don't know any other details of my sex life. I was masturbating with my girlfriends in middle school long before having sex. An none of this crap about getting enough sex so I don't need to masturbate. Sex and masturbation are two different things in my book. Of course I LOVE sex but I can be fucked al night and still feel the need to rub myself when it's all said and done. I know it sometimes bugs him but it's not uncommon at all for me to have sex with my husband and then lie next to him as he falls sleeps and bring myself off yet again.

In the past I've written about some of my masturbating experiences but in general I don't see where it's worth the effort. I think that overall I mention it enough in other stories so it's not like people don't know that I do it. While I'm masturbating I tend to fantasize so even if I DID write about it then it would be more about the fantasy than the actual act of masturbation.

Incest with My Dad

I've been posting stories about sex with my dad for many years now so really, what's left to tell? It's not like I enjoy it any less now than before, just not something to write home about so to speak. If anything, I would say I enjoy pleasing my father even more now because we do it so much less and I know that as I'm getting older that he's fucking me more and more as his daughter rather than as a teenage girl.

Because my Aunt Linda is now living with my dad, it's not like he doesn't get enough sex. If anything, I'm glad that she's living with him as she's one of the few older women he has sex with these days – in fact the only one besides me and occasionally my mother when she's back to visit. As for meeting his "young" desires, I really don't know how often he indulges and frankly I'm not interested. I'm sure it's more than just the times my husband joins him so it's got to be quite often but really, what does it matter so far as I am concerned? It's really none of my business.

I DID post a couple of entries about me and my dad last year as I know people want to hear about us. Still, I didn't see any point in detailing the dozens of other times.

Sex With My Husband

Steve and I have made it a tradition since the day we got married that we would have sex at least once EVERY day. To date I can't remember a day when we didn't do SOMETHING to keep our streak alive, even it was just a quickie (and in a few cases, REALLY quickie). Both of us are admittedly sex freaks and we love to play and fool around most any time or place we can get away with it. We're married and in love so do the people who turn to sites like ASSTR really want to hear about each and every little thing we do? I don't think so and as such there are no entries about just us having sex, only when it involves others.

3. Hopes and Dreams for 2014

Serve as an Christian Example

God is always first in my life so I want everything I do and say to glorify him. I want people to look at me and see someone who loves God and provides an example to others. I would hope that people can see through me that sex and incest can be a means to a stronger marriage and a healthier family when done properly with the right attitude and biblical guidance.

Be a Proper Wife and Daughter

I know I say this a lot but submitting myself biblically to my father and husband is extremely important to me. It's literally the foundation of my marriage and the cornerstone of my relationship with my father. In the past twelve years I've never refused my father when he has asked for me to satisfy him (at least when it comes to sex) and I want to add 2014 to that record. Similarly, while our streak is considerably shorter I've never refused such a request from my husband and I have every intention of extending that record for another year as well.

Be a Proper Mother

I want to tell people something right now and get it over with... you will NOT hear much of anything from me in 2014 regarding my daughter. As much as I believe in the intrinsic value of incest and the proper role of a daughter, those days are still many years away. While I understand that there are people who believe in what I would call extreme pedophile activity, that's their call and while I will not judge them for it, neither do I condone it in my own life. As such I will NOT involve ANY young child, and especially my daughter, in any sexual activities regardless of circumstances.

So when it comes to when she was born, what she looks like, what we do with her, or anything else for that matter just give it up. Not going to say, period. I WILL say she has ZERO part in any of our sexual activities and won't for a long time, if ever.

So let's just leave it at that, OK?

Support My Husband More

I went to great length earlier to explain why I don't fully support my husband perhaps as much as I should when it comes to his "youthful desires" - perhaps going to TOO much length for some. At the heart of it is something I've already said in that I know I shouldn't feel this way yet I do. So in 2014 I want to try harder to push those feelings aside and become a more willing and active partner for my husband in ALL of his activities.

From a purely selfish perspective this should be an easy resolution to keep in that I DO enjoy myself a lot when I go with Steve. It's my own hang-ups that get in the way. If anything I find that I enjoy the times we've met privately with a family even more so than the parties but that's just being consistent with my feelings about swapping as well. I'm always more comfortable in more intimate settings when it comes to my own physical satisfaction be it with another couple with or without their kids. Given the parties are the usual source for finding such families, it makes them even more worthwhile to attend.

This resolution will largely a mental exercise from me as I try to cast aside the demons and reconcile myself to reality. What makes this resolution important to me is that I do NOT want to repeat my mother's mistake by hoping that someday my husband will "grow out of" his desires as if they are some sort of teenage acne. If anything, my dad has demonstrated to me that such addictions only get all the more powerful as a man grows older so I figure that the sooner I can help Steve control his urges the better. Well, what better way than to be his active partner and supporter? Plus who knows, maybe I'll find that I even enjoy it all the more if I can do away with the "hangover" guilt trip.

Summary

Hitting my 29th birthday this past March 1st was quite a blow. Like damn, I'm almost thirty! Aside from brooding forever over it, it also led me to think about just how different things were in my life now than even just a few years ago. Dare I say it - I'm more mature and perhaps less adventurous in some ways. Security and personal fulfillment mean more to me than breaking rules and trying out new things.

It didn't hit me until Steve one day casually tossed out that he was now married to a MILF. OMG! He was right! It wasn't that long ago before that referred to my mother or the sexy mom down the street. Now guys are looking at me behind the stroller and putting me in a new category entirely. Well, so long as they keep the "mother" part out of the conversation, I suppose I can live with it.

So yes, I still do many of the things I've always done. I masturbate regularly, have sex with my dad, dress slutty when I go out, and so forth. I suppose if I'm being honest though I'd have to say I just don't do these things as often. It's not just being older, I have more things in my life that take up my time. I use to masturbate every morning and then every night before I went to sleep, and usually a few times in between. Well, now other things are putting demands on those times and I simply have had to adjust. While I try hard never to miss a Sunday morning with my dad before church, more and more that's become the only time during the week our schedules allow us to meet. As much as I LOVE seducing married men, who has time to get dressed up and go out for the evening, especially when you have to make other arrangements a well?

As a result, what use to be the "now and then" has become the dominant features of our sex lives outside of home. Swapping tends to substitute for my married men cravings. Admittedly it lacks the excitement of him cheating on his wife but at the same time it adds more intimacy as generally we spend the night together. The family parties and occasional hookup afterwards has pretty much become the source of "new" adventures. Fortunately, dressing and acting slutty in public is almost always an easy option and if anything, I've found it draws all the more attention when I'm behind a stroller!

So for now, here's a typical example of the first - a swap with another couple...

4. Swapping

The first question people typically ask me when the topic of swapping comes up is, How do you find these people?" Well, there are actually numerous ways. Keep in mind that so far as we're concerned, we ONLY meet with married couples.

Internet

Probably my least favorite as I consider it to be the most dangerous and the least secure. In fact, I have almost never met with someone just by meeting up on an Internet site.

I chose to write about our swap with Ron and Cindy because it best represents the "average". Nothing too crazy but not boring either. Not too old, not too young. Thus I call it the "Goldilocks" swap.

Ron and Cindy have been married for just over twenty years. While neither was anxious to divulge their age, the site where we read their profile only puts people in broad categories like "40-50" so they fell in there somewhere. It's been a bit of a tease between me and Steve as to whether we were in the 30's or 20's category but unfortunately, it's now only a matter of months before THAT debate is settled.

Speaking of profiles, it was pretty cool when we got to change ours to "yes" when it came to children. Also, it just goes to show you the character of the group we belong to that the only category we could choose was "under 10".

We learned after meeting them that Ron and Cindy had two boys, both in college, separated by a little under two years. I quickly got the message from Cindy's tone that any further information would NOT be forthcoming and that neither son had any idea that their parents engaged in such activities. Still, parents are parents and they couldn't resist showing us a couple of wallet photos - mmmmmmm, very cute!

There have been a few couples along the way that have hosted us at their homes. As for me and Steve, we have never invited anyone to our apartment. In fact, we don't even discus where we live, not even in general, for security purposes. Apparently most other couples have the same concerns although I will admit, I find it especially hot to do it in their own beds. Once I even spent the night in his daughter's bed with him which proved to be VERY erotic for us both.

5. The Goldilocks Swap

For this particular swap we arranged to meet at what is chosen probably 80% of the time - a downtown hotel. Sometimes we add in dinner, other times it's just drinks at the bar or lounge, but almost always there's some sort of icebreaker involved as just showing up and splitting off into separate rooms seems to take some of the edge off. Why even bother swapping even if you're not going to spend some time together as couples?

Steve had worked out the details with Ron well in advance and in this case they decided to meet in the hotel lounge. One good thing was that this allowed Steve and me to enjoy dinner beforehand. Both of us were horny so we spent much of it teasing and playing coy with one another as to what our plans and expectations were for the night. Well, more like ME teasing him as he typically gets off more than me when hearing about such things. I guess you could say I prefer doing it more than hearing about it.

When Steve and I first started swapping I can remember debating for like a week beforehand as to what I should wear. It wasn't like we all didn't know what was going to eventually happen so seduction wasn't a driver. Usually I chose something slinky more for Steve's benefit than anything as I knew how much he loved it when men would stare at me with "that" look in their eyes. At such times he would usually get up close to me and do something like put his hand on my ass - anything to show off to the guy watching to let him know that HE was going to fuck me later and for the guy to eat his heart out! Then again, sometimes he did just the opposite, backing away to see how far the poor guy would go before being shot down.

By now it was all pretty routine so this evening I picked an old standby - a long black dress slit high on one side, halter style that tied back behind my head. Nothing all the special but what I really loved about this particular dress was the large oval shaped opening in the center right between my boobs. Basically it exposed my entire cleavage with a generous view of side boob - from both sides. As for the side slit, it ran up to my waist leaving me the option of wearing either a high-cut thong or nothing at all underneath. In either case it left whoever was watching me wondering what, if anything, was underneath. It was not exactly a cold-weather dress given the bare shoulders but then I didn't plan to be wearing it all night either.

For jewelry I chose a pretty diamond cross necklace that my father had given me along with a gold ankle chain. A simple gold watch was all I had on my wrists as I've never been much for bracelets. Probably the most time I spent was my hair which was pure vanity in that I knew it was also the one thing that I was sure wouldn't survive the night. Still, I wanted to make a good first impression and flat straight hair was never a turn-on.

"You know, I'll never understand how women can walk in those damn things," Steve teased me when I stumbled slightly right after putting on my heels.

Granted, they WERE a bit on the high side but then it wasn't like I wasn't use to wearing them. In addition to the added height, I chose this particular pair because of the ankle strap kept them on despite whatever else I might be doing. Most men love it when they fuck me with my heels on (nothing else of course) so I didn't want to have them flying off the moment I raised my legs in the air.

After arriving at the hotel Steve let the guys park our car which I thought was considerate of him. Given the cold weather I didn't want to have to walk any further outside than absolutely necessary, especially when wearing these crazy heels. It also allowed me a golden opportunity to show off my legs to the guy opening the door. Hey, I'll take whatever I can get!

Steve escorted me into the lobby where he quickly checked in. Of course He didn't mention to the girl at the desk that we wouldn't both be in the room. As usual, Steve picked up the tab for his room and it would be up to Ron to do the same for his. It was just a standard room, nothing fancy, but then it wasn't like any of us would be too worried about the accommodations.

Steve had arranged for us to meet at 9:00 PM given there wasn't going to be a dinner involved between us. Assuming 30 minutes, maybe even as long as an hour, I figured that would get us to our rooms by 10:00. Plenty of time to have fun yet still get some sleep before morning. It WAS Sunday the next day after all so I didn't want to sleep in too long and have to miss meeting with my dad before church.

Speaking of which, this wasn't something we'd mentioned to the other couple as we couldn't be sure as to how they felt about incest. Typically this is one of those topics that don't come up unless we'd already met them in a situation like a family party. This policy was put in place after we learned the hard way early on how a controversial topic can ruin an evening. This is especially true when one of the couples is just fine with swapping but for whatever reason can't deal with incest. I know, it seems silly to me too but then hey, that's their choice and so long as it didn't affect me or our upcoming evening I had no right to say anything.

Looking around, neither of us saw anyone that looked like the couple we were to meet. We'd seen all their photos on their profile and given that the profiles were closely monitored for accuracy, I was totally confident that they would look just like what we'd seen. Yet another reason I love using the group connectivity method – honesty was assured. People might not post everything about them that needed to be posted at times, but at least you knew that what they DID post had been verified to be true before it went live.

Steve ordered a beer for himself and a Diet Coke for me. At least until the other couple showed up I'd stay away from anything alcoholic. Once I saw what the other wife was drinking, then MAYBE I might order something like a white zin but in any case it would never be a mixed drink and definitely not a beer. UGH! One swig of beer in my life had been more than enough for me!

Our drinks had barely been served when Steve's eyebrows raised and I turned to follow his gaze. Yep, there at the entrance to the lounge was our couple. Ron was easily identified by his thick white hair. When I'd first seen it I couldn't help but wonder if he hadn't shaved a few years off his profile but then in reading further he explained that he actually preferred it that way and colored what otherwise was a rather mottled blonde. As for Cindy, her shoulder-length red hair was right up Steve's alley. Although he never had asked me to color mine red, I knew from back in high school that he had a thing for red heads - along with girls with big boobs, nice asses and mile-high legs. Well, at least I'd had the ass back then!

"Steve?" Ron was the first to speak as he extended his hand to my husband.

The guys shook firmly and then we quickly exchanged introductions. We'd chosen four soft chairs with a round table in the middle for a reason. Like me, Cindy was wearing a dress but unlike me in my long version, hers was crazy short, especially when you consider her age. Not that older women can't wear short skirts but still, my mother would NOT have approved. On a normal bar stool or chair Cindy could've sat down comfortable and crossed her legs without doing more than baring some significant upper thigh. Well Steve had banked on her wearing something less than discreet and so he'd picked these seats where she would have to more or less plunk down with a little less control in the process.

As for me, I was seated to the right of Steve and again, this was not by accident. It wasn't so much that I was on his right side as I was one side or the other. This meant the incoming couple would have to make their first decision of the night - who to sit next to. This was just one of the ways we'd learned how to glean as much information as possible in as quick a manner as we could about the couple we'd be soon be having sex with. Maybe it really didn't matter as by this point the sex was pretty much a foregone conclusion unless something ridiculous came up but still, I like being on control which meant knowing as much as I could about them.

I was pleased when Ron chose to sit next to me leaving Cindy next to Steve. Why? Well it showed me that he ready to start making a move towards me from the start which typically meant we would probably not have to spend as much time fooling around with small talk and such before getting down to what we'd all come for - sex. Now had Cindy sat next to me then odds were we'd likely be exchanging "girl talk" while the guys discussed the latest game or politics. Of course it would all eventually lead to the same place but the path would be lot longer.

As horny as I was, thankfully it didn't take long in this case for things to get started. No sooner had the waitress left with their drink order than Ron turned in his seat to face me.

"Nice dress Kelly," he complimented me, "I have to say, it shows off your... assets quite well."

I somehow managed not to roll my eyes at his cliche opening but at the same time at least he wasn't asking me about the weather or what I was drinking. If anything I shortened my estimated TBS (Time Before Sex) by a few minutes. He was obviously just as horny as my husband was - already staring down at my boobs without any hesitation.

As I smiled in return, Ron looked over at Cindy and asked, "So what do you think Cindy, wouldn't this dress look better over her leg like this?"

With that he quickly reached over and before I could react he flipped my dress such that the slit flipped over my upper leg, literally exposing my entire bare leg with just enough remaining to barely cover up my crotch. Heck, if I hadn't had my legs crossed it would have - exposing it to the entire room.

"I'd do the same but I see you didn't bother covering up anything," Steve said to Cindy in response to his wife's exposure. Not to be outdone by the competition, he reached over and started to rub his hand on Cindy's upper leg.

Actually things were getting interesting in that it was all happening a little quicker than normal. Usually the groping and public exposure didn't get started until at least the second round but in this case things were already at play by the time the waitress arrived with their cocktails. I do have to pass out a compliment - the waitress was 100% professional and didn't so much as bat an eyelash at whatever she saw when she leaned over to place their drinks down on the table.

"Nice boobs," Ron observed after the girl had left. Steve just smiled and nodded.

"So Cindy, do you mind if I ask if you guys have done this before?" I said, changing the subject back to us.

Although I'd deliberately asked the question of Cindy, I saw her lock eyes on her husband and it was Ron that responded.

"Actually we just got started a few months back," he explained, "God, we've talked about doing it for years but had to wait until the youngest was out of the house if you know what I mean."

Even though we knew exactly what he meant he explained himself anyway saying, "You can't tell a couple of horny teenage boys to behave themselves and then go out and do this sort of thing, am I right Steve?"

Steve, to his credit, for once watched what he was saying when he answered. At first I was a little worried that he might use this as an excuse to delve into any potential sexual relationship with their sons. To me it was obvious no such thing existed and it would probably not be a good thing to say but Steve could sometimes be a little clueless. Hey, I'm his wife so I can say such things!

"I hear you," Steve nodded with a sly grin. Thankfully he left it at that. "So how do you like it?"

Again the two of them exchanged looks. Was it my imagination or did Ron seem more eager than Cindy? Or was she just being more discreet?

Ron sighed and said, "Being perfectly honest, the first time was a little rough. I mean after twenty years of monogamy... well it wasn't the easiest thing seeing my wife with another guy. Especially when she seemed to be enjoying it so much!"

Cindy seemed to blush a little although in the dim light it was hard to tell. A smile cracked her lips though and now I was wondering if maybe I'd had it 180 degrees wrong. Was SHE the one enjoying it more?

"So what about you Steve?" Ron asked as his hand worked its way higher onto my thigh.

It's not like I was doing anything to discourage him. If anything, Steve was already well ahead him, his fingertips poking underneath Cindy's short skirt which was barely concealing anything to start with.

This time it was Steve and my turn to exchange glances. How much did we want to reveal? I left it up to Steve to decide whether to just match up with Ron or go for the lead. I gave him just the slightest shrug, but enough to let him know I was OK with whatever he told them.

"A little different for us I guess, but then we've only been married a couple of years. We actually started on our wedding day."

He paused to let that sink in a bit and I saw Cindy's eyebrows raise a little as she did the math.

"Ahhhhhh, the old best man routine, eh Kelly?" Ron teased me, using it as an excuse to inch his hand up to my waist.

I just smiled demurely and let his imagination go to work. Whatever else I might tell him, I wasn't about to let him know it was my dad who fucked me on my wedding day so anything he might imagine was probably better than what I could make u on the spot. Interestingly, Ron didn't even ask Steve if he'd done anyone so at least that avoided any potential Steve might brag about doing his new mother-in-law on his wedding day.

"Well, sounds like you too are the more experienced ones then," Ron observed, "I hope we meet up to your expectations."

Steve used this as an excuse to push his hand into Cindy's crotch. To her credit, she didn't even flinch as his hand pushed in tighter against her.

"I talked her into going commando tonight," Ron whispered to me with a smirk as he followed Steve's example. "Apparently Steve did the same," he said with a grin as his finger met up against my bare pussy.

I didn't bother correcting him - Steve had nothing to do with my decision!

While we may have been in one of the more private areas of the lounge, we were still out in public and should anyone come over it would be pretty obvious what was going on without much problem. One disadvantage of sitting in our current arrangement was that nothing was concealed. Now had we been around a dinner table then all sorts of groping would have been possible even in a crowded restaurant. Not that I was all that concerned either way, but some people take offense when you get TOO blatant.

"So how is this going to work tonight?" Ron asked, keeping the conversation between the guys, "One room or two?"

I caught Steve giving me a quick glance but he didn't get what I knew he was hoping for. At least he didn't show his disappointment when he answered, "We typically prefer separate rooms... if that's OK with you guys."

I almost rolled my eyes. He just couldn't resist throwing in that last little bit in hopes that we would be "forced" to all be together because the other couple insisted. Oh well, too bad for Steve as Ron seemed fine with that. If anything, it was Cindy that I could've sworn was a little unhappy. Hmmmmmm, maybe she'd been hoping for a little action with ME? Not that I would've opposed such a thing outright but it really wasn't what I'd been looking forward to, at least so far as tonight was concerned.

Ron chuckled saying, "Well, guess I can live with most anything just so long as you and I aren't paired up in the same room!"

We all laughed at that. As I always did during such moments, I couldn't help but smile to myself. Such a typical thing for a guy to say! Now had Ron suggested they watch me and Cindy together then it would've surely been fine with Steve but heaven forbid two men even so much as kiss one another, let alone get sexual.

Steve reluctantly pulled out his hand from Cindy's crotch and signaled for the waitress.

"My treat," Ron insisted as he snatched up the bills.

Unlike Steve though, Ron kept his hand up against my crotch the entire time almost like he was daring the waitress to say something. This obviously wasn't her first rodeo as she managed to be polite while pretending to be totally oblivious to the blatant fingering he was now providing Cindy as his finger poked up into my pussy.

"Oh it's was more than worth it," Ron said with a smile.

I was starting to wonder what we'd gotten ourselves into as we all stood up and I tried to adjust my dress. Cindy, on the other hand, just stood up and didn't even bother pulling hers down until Ron reached over and tugged the back a bit but not before she'd flashed just about the entire lounge so now it was now obvious to everyone she was indeed sans panties.

"No need to show off dear," Ron pretended to whisper to his wife although it was obvious he was making sure Steve and I could hear him.

Yep, this was going to be interesting...

Whether by design or coincidence, we both had rooms on the tenth floor. Nobody else was with us in the elevator so no sooner than the doors shut behind us than Ron turned to me and started feeling up my boobs through my dress.

"Nice... B cups?" he asked me with a smile.

I was a little perturbed by that - I was a solid C cup and had even flirted with being a D not long ago. A man should know that if he's going to say anything at all about a girl's bust he should at least err on the larger side. I decided that it was time for a little of his own medicine so rather than respond directly, I reached down and grabbed his already erect cock through his pants.

"Nice... 6 inches?"

"Touche," he replied pulling his hand off of me after finally realizing his mistake, "Sorry, guess I deserved that."

For better or worse it was a pretty fast elevator and we'd already reached our floor by then so our little tit for tat was effectively cut off by the opening doors. Two younger boys, maybe barely into their early teens, almost knocked me over as they tried to rush in wearing just their swim suits, evidently in a hurry to get down to the pool for a late night swim before it closed. Typical boys, both of them made no effort to avoid staring at me and Cindy, most of all Cindy whose skirt had mysteriously ridden up again during the elevator ride. I wondered if it was due to her efforts or Steve's. Well I got my answer when I saw that as Cindy turned her back to the boys she flashed them her bare ass with a quick flip of her skirt. Looked like Steve was going to have interesting night to say the least!

"Soooooo... breakfast tomorrow?" Ron inquired as each couple turned in different directions to their rooms.

Steve looked at me and I finally got a chance to answer, my first real response of the evening!

"I ALWAYS go to church on Sunday's so we really need to be out of here no later than 8:30 or 9:00. Does that work for you guys?"

Obviously Cindy wasn't thrilled at that but Ron was a little more diplomatic, answering with, "Let's play it by ear then I guess, OK?"

Whatever... worked for me so with that I went to Steve and we kissed goodnight. Yes, I was about to leave my husband to spend an evening having sex with another man but that didn't mean I didn't love him more than anyone else. Ron belatedly went to kiss Cindy but I got the feeling he was doing it more out of guilt after seeing me and Steve than any real desire on his part. Hmmmmmm, I was starting to see more and more perhaps why they'd started swapping.

*******************

Our room was about half way down the hall. Ron slide the key card through the slot and opened the door for me to enter first. It was a standard room, any one of a million you might check into anywhere in the world. King size bed, flat screen TV, small sofa, small desk with chair, and a rather small bathroom. Nothing memorable, at least not yet.

"Soooooo," Ron said softly as we entered the room and hung up our coats over the back of the chair.

I quickly started to gain the impression that everything so far had been a bit of a put-on by Ron. It seemed like now that we were alone all that confidence and swagger suddenly melted away. No longer was he the aggressor feeling up a woman in public, now he was just your typical older husband looking down at his wing tips, unable to even meet my eyes. It was like he was hoping that we'd just strip, hop into bed and have sex without any further ado but he wasn't going to get off that easily. Oh no! Sure I enjoy swapping but for more than just getting laid! I want intimacy, confession, ownership. If all I wanted was sex we could have stayed home and done it without going through all the extra effort.

"Tell you what Ron, why don't we sit on the couch for a few minutes first to get things started?" I asked pleasantly, reaching out my hand to him.

The only light on was the one over the entrance by the door so the rest of the room was rather dim but I left things that way so Ron would be less intimidated. The sofa was small and a bit cramped so we wound up pressed up against each other from the moment we sat down.

Suddenly a light bulb went off...

"So tell me Ron... just how many times have you guys REALLY done this?"

Even in the dim light, my eyes had adjusted more than enough to see the chagrin plain on his face.

"Is it THAT obvious?" he said meekly, "OK then... this is our second time. Sorry, I really didn't mean to lie or mislead you. We were just worried you might think we were amateurs. Guess we kinda went overboard trying to impress you."

"And the first time... whose idea was it?"

"Oh it was mine. Actually Cindy didn't want to do it at first even though our sex life had been pretty much extinct for years. If anything, she accused me of wanting to cheat on her. For a while things were pretty touch and go but she finally agreed to it. Still, it's not like she was exactly thrilled with the idea."

He paused and seemed unsure as to whether to continue so I took his hand in mine and asked, "Let me guess... things didn't go quite as you planned, did they?"

"Well, I'd heard about this group from a close friend. I mean you have to admit that the application process is pretty daunting. It took us forever to get through it. Cindy was pretty resistant when it came to all the private stuff they asked us for - especially the blackmail video. Oh my god, she REALLY hated that."

He was referring to the video that the group kept on file to ensure that if anyone did anything to expose or threaten the group then they had something that would basically ruin the lives of that couple. What they required depended on what level of membership you were applying for. For example, if you qualified for the family parties then you had to be videoed having sex with your kids, regardless of whether you believed in incest or not. For many couples that's a deal breaker but the group isn't concerned with numbers, just security. Since Steve and I didn't have kids of our own we had to be taped with another family. I wasn't sure what they had to do to be swappers. From what I heard from my Aunt Linda it was usually along the lines of large group sex where the wife has to take on a contingent of men while the husband has to watch.

"So anyway, we met this couple but they were even older than us. Frankly, I had a heck of a time even getting it up with a sixty year-old woman but Cindy lucked out - he didn't need Viagra and if anything, looked to be about ten years younger than her. Also, we all stayed in the same room which didn't work out so well either, to say the least. I quickly learned that porn isn't real life. Watching your wife being fucked isn't nearly as much fun as they make it look."

It was a testimony to my self-control that I somehow managed to keep a straight face. Ron obviously didn't know Steve very well! If there's one thing that turns my husband on, it's watching his wife having sex with another man - or men for that matter. Women are also fine with him but there's something about seeing me being fucked that really gets him horny for me. I also think it's a matter of pride as well, knowing that all these men get to only have me for a brief time but that HE gets me anytime he wants - and they know it.

At that moment Ron was looking pretty upset so I just let him take his time. It took a couple of minutes before he continued...

"I guess I could've dealt with it better if she hadn't enjoyed it so damn much! I mean like it was as if she WANTED me to know she loved being screwed by this guy more than me. Shit, I don't know whether she was faking it or not, but she orgasmed harder than any time we'd even been married. It didn't help that she made it a point to look at me the entire time as if she wanted to be sure I was watching. After that I was barely able to even get hard and didn't even get off. Talk about embarrassing!"

"So I take it that this time it was her idea."

Ron nodded. "Yeah, after that fiasco I was ready to say the hell with it all and never do it again but now sex-happy Cindy was all into it and demanded we do it again. When I said no she said that if I didn't agree that she would tell the boys and ask for a divorce, saying it was all me and that I'd force her to do it."

"Bitch!" I hissed under my breath.

"What could I do?" he lamented, "At least she went along with meeting a younger couple this time."

Ron finally looked me in the eyes and his hand moved back to my boobs. This time I didn't do anything to spook him.

"I know she just wanted to do a young stud and I'm sure Steve is just what she wanted, but damn Kelly, you're the most beautiful and sexy girl I've ever been with in my entire life! When I first saw you I couldn't hardy believe that you really were here to be with me."

This time his words rung true and I knew he was speaking from his heart... well maybe a little from somewhere else a little lower as well. How sweet! Feeling a little better now, I turned towards him and pressed my hand against his bulging crotch. My voice went low, filled with as much intensity and sexuality as I could muster.

"Tell you what Ron, I'm going to fuck you tonight like you've never been fucked in your life. I'm going to do things to you Cindy has never done, things you'll never forget."

"Oh my God," he sighed as I gripped his stiff dick through his pants. I almost laughed as if that was all it took to get such as response, boy was he in for a night to remember!

"Come on, sit on the bed," I urged him as I stood up and took his hand.

I led Ron to the side of the bed where he sat so he could watch me in front of him. The coffee table looked pretty sturdy so I decided to take a chance and gingerly stepped up onto it, fighting to keep my balance in my heels as I slowly turned to face him. Reaching behind my neck, I untied my dress and slowly lowered it until by boobs were exposed.

"So tell me Ron, has Cindy's boobs ever looked like these?" I said in the same low husky voice as I cupped my girls with each hand and gave them a little shake.

Ron's lips were already dry judging by the way he licked them nervously. At first he just shook his head but that wasn't good enough for me.

"Noooooo, you have to tell me Ron," I corrected him, "I want to hear you say it."

Ron cleared his throat and coughed before answering, "God no, never, not even when we got married. They're so saggy now... nothing like yours. Oh my god, yours are perfect!"

Music to the ears of any girl but especially for one who still bore the emotional scars of a bust that stubbornly refused to grow until she was well into college. Oh the years I spent in high school doing everything I could to draw attention away from my tiny boobs! To this day I would much rather go around bottomless than topless, even though once they DID come in they were indeed pretty damn good even if I do say so myself.

"You want to touch them, don't you Ron? You want to suck on my nipples. I bet you want to run your dick between them... don't you?"

He just nodded, not having yet learned his lesson. This time all it took was me raising my hand with one finger up, just as I did in class when one of my students started out with the wrong answer.

"Sorry, I meant yes I do... I really do Kelly."

Good boy! Heck, he was a pretty quick learner which was better than half the fourteen year-old boys in my 8th grade classes.

Ron started to get up, apparently interpreting my questions as an invitation but I motioned for him to stay seated. Not yet guy!

No doubt he was probably expecting me to continue pushing down my dress but instead I reached down and pulled the slit apart, sticking my leg out in my best Angelina Jolie Oscar night imitation.

"And what about my legs Ron? Do you like them?"

He got it right this time and I was pleased by his eagerness to please me.

"Oh yes, they're PERFECT too... damn, everything about you is perfect Kelly."

"And how do my legs compare to Cindy's?" I asked, gently reminding him that each response had two parts that needed to be addressed.

You see it wasn't enough for me just to hear him say what he thought of my legs. Heck, ANY man does that. What I wanted to hear even more was how he compared me to his wife. I wanted him to tell me in his own words how he felt about me versus the woman he married, the woman whom he'd sworn to love and cherish above all others for the rest of his life.

"Well she has never had great legs - they were fat even as a teenager. Yours are SO much better," he dished.

In all fairness, now I think he was trying a little TOO hard to please me. From the brief demonstration she'd provided not very long ago I actually thought hers weren't really all that bad, especially taking into account her age. Still, it was her husband's opinion that I valued more than my own. In these sort of situation reality doesn't matter nearly as much as perception.

Turning my back to him, I twisted around so I could see him and then pulled the dress even more to the side such that my bare butt was now in full view. Ron took a deep breath and let it out so hard that I could hear him release it from where I was standing. This time he knew the drill...

"Damn, that's one fucking incredible ass," he gushed, "Cindy has a pretty decent ass but yours... damn Kelly I've never seen one like yours before, at least not in real life."

Actually my butt has always been my favorite body part. Back when I was a teenager trying to hide my boobs I used my bottom to draw attention away from my all but flat chest. Men have always seemed to be attracted more to my rear end. Even before we started having sex my dad couldn't resist rubbing my butt in the hot tub or for that matter, just about any time he could get away with it.

"And what about this Ron?" I asked as I turned around slowly and dropped my dress to my ankles, giving him as much a view of my naked body as was possible in the low light.

For a moment it was like he couldn't say anything. I loved it! Really, what better compliment can a man give you than to not be able to even say anything at all when he first sees you nude? Still, I waited for his analysis.

"Oh... My... God!" he said softly, "I never even dreamed..."

"Never dreamed what Ron?" I promoted him as his voice trailed off without finishing.

"Oh Kelly, you're beautiful! I never dreamed I would EVER get a chance to be with a girl like you. You're like... you're like a dream come true."

"So does that mean that you want me Ron?"

No hesitation this time... "Oh Kelly, more than anything."

"More than Cindy?"

"More than ever," he sighed, "She's nothing compared to you... nothing."

I waited for that to sink in to see if he fully realized what he was saying. Then with a sly smile I motioned for him to get up.

"Alright then, come get me Ron," I whispered to him seductively, "Fuck me."

I suppose it goes with saying that I didn't have to tell him twice!

As the horny husband approached me I put up my hand. He looked confused and a little disappointed until I said, "Not so fast... I want you to strip first Ron. I want you to be naked for me."

Another time or place and I got the feeling he might have hesitated but the guy was in full horny mode by now. It took literally seconds for him to undress, dropping his clothes to the floor without so much as a second thought. I couldn't help but see he was fully erect with his dick looking to be a respectable eight inches or so. Even better, it looked to be as hard as a pipe, standing up even as he stood there, pointing to the ceiling like a missile on a stand ready to fire. Some guys, at least when they get older, tend to lose the capacity to get really hard but not Ron.

Mmmmmmm, I knew that soon that delicious dick was going to be firing a big load of sperm deep inside of me!

Enough words had been exchanged and so Ron scooped me up off my heels and lifted me in his arms. At least he didn't grunt! Just as he was about to lay me down on the bed I gripped him tightly by the neck.

"Take off the comforter first," I urged him.

Thankfully I didn't have say more as if there's one thing that grosses me totally out, it's hotel comforters. I mean like just watch one of those 60 Minutes or 20/20 episodes where they take a black light into a random hotel room and you'll never touch one again!

Things were a little awkward as he didn't want to put me down so he released one arm to pull the comforter back off as I hung on for dear life. It only took another second or so before I was on the clean sheets. The cool freshness of the linen felt good against my bare skin. With the pillow tucked under my head, I stretched out and parted my legs to provide Ron with a rather obscene display of my shaved pussy. He was about to jump in bed with me but once again I held him up and this time he looked visibly frustrated with a "now what?" look.

"Watch me," I teased him, "Does your wife ever play with herself for you?"

I didn't wait for what became an eventual shake of his head as I reached down between my legs with my right hand and started to rub myself slowly. Mmmmmmm, I was already getting nice and moist. Pressing my index finger into me, I pulled it back out and brought it to my mouth.

"Mmmmmmm, I love the taste of my pussy when I'm horny," I sighed softly, sucking on my finger a moment before returning to rub my clit. A chill ran down my spine as my fingertip toyed with it, tracing tight circles all around it while Ron stood there mesmerized.

I grinned and turned to him saying, "You know Ron, I LOVE to masturbate... I usually do two or three times a day. What about Cindy, how often does she do it?"

Ron was starting to breathe a little heavier now and I saw his cheeks puff out as he released his next breath slowly, stalling a bit before answering.

"I don't know," he confessed, "We really don't talk about it."

His answer didn't surprise me. I'm always amazed at how hung up so many couples are when it comes to masturbation. It's like it's some form of cheating to pleasure yourself. I suppose if you're really insecure then maybe you might worry that you're not satisfying your partner if they have to masturbate as well. Personally I think either of this reasons are rather silly. Really, what does masturbation have to do with having sex? It's not like if you do one then you can't do the other. I LOVE sex and at the same time, I LOVE masturbating. Each has their time and place and me masturbating has NOTHING to do with my quality of my sex life. Still, I would say the vast majority of couples are more like Ron and Cindy than me and Steve.

"Do you like watching me touch myself Ron?"

Yeah, like he was going to say he didn't, LOL. Actually he didn't say anything as instead he let his hand do all the talking, gripping his rigid dick as his natural impulses took over.

"Here, tell me how I taste," I told him as I wetted my finger again but this time I held it out to him instead of bringing it to my mouth. He leaned over and suckled on my finger like a baby on a nipple.

His face told me everything I needed to know so without waiting for him to formulate a response I asked, "If you like it, why not get some for yourself?"

Spreading my legs apart even more, it was obvious what I meant. Ron went to the end of the bed and climbed aboard, moving up on his hands and knees between my legs, his erection hanging down below him until he reached his target - my crotch. Without a word he leaned down, placing one hand on the inside of each of my thighs, pushing them wider apart as his tongue extended.

"Oh my God Ron, right there!" I gasped as his tongue licked my hard clit. There was no acting required on my part as it felt pretty damn good!

While most guys claim to enjoy eating pussy, I sometimes wonder if they do more out of pride than actual desire. Some literally attack me, smashing their mouth in tight as they try to fuck me with their tongue. Others suck on my clit, sometimes to the point of being painful. I try telling them it's not the speed or pressure that turns me on, but rather the simple touch and caressing. If they can overcome their eagerness and take their time then most guys do a pretty decent job.

Mind you, as a general rule of thumb women are MUCH better than men when it comes to oral but then they have a rather unfair advantage as how does a guy really know what it feels like to have a pussy? There are times when I have to wonder why 99.9% of the men in this world are so homophobic when it comes another man sucking their dick. Heck, if anyone should know how to do it then I would think it's another man! Well, THAT sort of thing is about as rare as they come. Just being grazed by another man's cock is enough to make most men go ballistic, let alone actually doing it deliberately.

So anyway... Ron was a pleasant surprise as his technique was pretty good. I wondered if that was courteous of Cindy or just watching a lot of porn. Odds were the former as like most things, watching porn can definitely give guys the wrong ideas.

It must have been like five or ten minutes and I figured I'd better let him have a little for himself so I reached down and grabbed his head with both hands, lifting him off my soaking wet crotch.

"Mmmmmmm, you're doing great," I praised him, "Let me do you now."

I pulled him forward and he quickly got the hint, straddling me on his knees to allow his dick to move right in front of my face. I stuffed another pillow behind my head so make things easier and then reached for his cock and kissed the tip.

"You have a great dick Ron," I told him with a grin, "And just so you know, I LOVE a hairy crotch."

Oh yeah, he was certainly that to say the least! This was a crotch that had likely never been trimmed, full and bushy and smelling of heavy male musk. Oh yeah, I wanted to suck this one bad... really bad.

Taking his dick into my mouth, I suckled on the head, gripping the shaft in my hand as my tongue played around the rim teasingly. After a bit I took more in, then more until I had him all the way down my throat with my nose pressed into his hairy crotch, my lips against the base of his dick.

"Oh fuck!" he groaned, obviously enjoying the moment. He jerked a bit causing me to almost choke so I pulled back and then took him down deep again. I looked up at him and our eyes met, the look on his face priceless!

I needed to breathe so I let his dick out and stroked it with my hand as I looked up and smiled at him. I wasn't disappointed by his response.

"Damn Kelly..., nobody's ever done that to me before... that was incredible!"

Clearing my throat, I answered with, "Well I LOVE sucking cock Ron. I told you I was going to do things to you Cindy never has."

Ron let out a loud breathe saying, "Well, she certainly can't do THAT!"

I almost smiled as I thought of my poor husband. Steve LOVES me to deep throat him and now he was probably going to be a little disappointed but in a perverse sort of way it made me happy. I knew tomorrow when we got home and had sex that he would appreciate me all the more.

My neck started to hurt after a while so I asked him to get on his back. Laying on my side, I snuggled up next to him so my crotch was next to his face with my head and shoulders draped over his waist so I could reach his dick. It was easier sucking his this way even though almost impossible to take him all in. I bent my upper leg up so my crotch could move in closer to his face, not quite close enough for him to reach but enough that he got a great view and could smell my sex.

After about twenty, thirty minutes or so I figured I'd probably outlasted anything Cindy had ever done. There were a couple times along the way I had to be careful as he would start to leak precum and I knew it was just a matter of a few good licks of my tongue and he'd be spraying me with cum. While I enjoy sex with older men the best, this was one of the tradeoffs. Whereas sometimes I found myself wondering if a virile teenage boy would EVER go soft, even after cumming several times, alas that ability fades fast with most men. Heck, even going from fourteen to nineteen is enough for most boys to start succumbing to the ravages of time. Even my own wonderful husband was starting to take more time to recuperate even after the first time and he was only thirty. When it came to my dad... well he was one and done. I figured Ron was more in my dad's range so the last thing I wanted was for him to ejaculate this early in the evening.

Lifting myself up, I sat next to him with my hand gripping his wet dick. I wasn't stroking him so much as using it as a support to keep my balance. Our eyes met and the room was deathly quiet as I knew what he must have been praying for to happen next. Well, sometimes prayers do come true...

"I want you in me Ron," I told him in a husky voice, "I NEED you in me... I want to fuck your dick. Are you ready Ron? Are you ready to fuck me?"

It was like at first he couldn't get the words out. He coughed and then managed to get out, "Oh god yes... yes Kelly, I want that more than anything."

I thought about Cindy for a moment. Sure, for an older gal she wasn't bad but then she was a lot older than me and gravity had taken its toll. Where her boobs were probably sagging right now as she and my husband had sex, mine were perky and firm. If anything, pregnancy had only made them better, almost a cup size larger now than they'd been. My nipples were so hard!

As I moved to get on top of him, straddling his waist as I faced him, I knew my stomach was much flatter than Cindy's, that my thighs were firmer. How long had it been since Ron had fucked a girl like me? For that matter, had he EVER fucked a girl like me? I don't think I'm all that vain but facts are facts.

When I was positioned over his cock, I reached down to grab it with my right hand as I rubbed my pussy with my left. God I wanted him in me so bad but I knew as badly as I did, he must even more so I wasn't about to rush anything. I lowered myself down until the tip of his dick just grazed me, moving my hips and hand together to basically masturbate myself with his erection.

"Tell me what you want Ron... Tell me what you need."

Oh sure, it was obvious to the most casual observer what he wanted - to fuck me! His dick was practically quivering in my grip as I felt him involuntarily hump a little under me as if his dick was straining to push up and get inside of me.

"I want to be in you," he gasped but that wasn't good enough for me. None of this small talk, I wanted him to beg for it.

"Oh now, you can do better than that Ron... tell me how bad you want it!"

"Damn, I want to feel you around me Kelly, I want to fuck you."

Better, but not enough...

"Who do you want to fuck more Ron, me or Cindy?"

I know, it's sort of my thing to pester guys about wanting to fuck me more than their wives. It's even hotter when they are cheating on them but even in a situation like this it's enough to turn me on. Sometimes I find guys reluctant to tell the truth, as if somehow their wife might find out. Other times, especially when their wife has gained a lot of weight or lost interest in sex, the answer is quick and forceful. In Ron's case, it's not like his wife as a slouch. After all, she DID agree to swapping and I didn't think my husband was exactly not having a good time with her right about now. Whatever the reason though, Ron didn't even hesitate.

"You... I want to fuck YOU Kelly," he pleaded with me, practically begging now which is just what I was looking for. I suppose I should have given him a pass at that point but I pushed just a little bit more.

"More than Cindy?"

"God damn it yes... more than Cindy," he practically spat out this time, "I want you more than my wife... is that what you want me to say?"

As a matter of fact, it was!

I figured I'd pressed the issue far enough so using my fingers to spread myself, I took him in me, quickly and deeply all at once. God it felt SOOOOO good to feel him filling me, my pussy stretching to accept the warm fleshy invader. When I was all the way down on him, I took the weight off my knees and let my bare crotch grind into his hairy bush.

"Damn girl, you're so fucking tight!"

Well, there are some things that DO get affected when you have a baby and I'm under no delusions that my pussy is as tight as it was when I was sixteen. Still, in comparison to Cindy's I was pretty confident that so far as Ron was concerned, I was practically a virgin.

While I wasn't watching the clock, it another hour or so must have passed as Ron lived out his fantasies of fucking me in a number of positions. There were a few close calls but in each case we managed to delay the inevitable. As for me, there weren't the same restrictions that Ron faced and I came a few times as Ron's dick fucked me over and over again. In between positions I would suck on him for a few moments, relishing the flavor of my hot pussy on his swollen cock. I have to say that while I pretty much love pussy in general, I DO have a preference for one in particular - my own! Even before I started to masturbate I would explore myself and lick off my fingers. Being able to taste my own pussy on a hard dick... well that just was the best of both worlds!

Perhaps the only tense moment came when he made an attempt to do my ass. Well, that was where I drew the line but thankfully he didn't press the issue.

"Oh fuck, I can't hold it anymore," Ron groaned as he thrust into me from behind as I was on my hands and knees.

Most any other time at this moment if anything I would plead for him to stay and cum inside of me. After all, isn't that where Mother Nature intended for it? Still, I also knew that part of all of this tonight was to put on a bit of a show which meant doing that - putting on a show.

Leaning forward his dick slipped from inside of me, causing me that momentary sensation of emptiness anytime that happened. I mean like one moment your practically stuffed with a dick and then the next.. nothing. I quickly turned around and took his dick in my mouth, just in the nick of time as I felt the first shot of cum spew from his bursting cock against the back of my mouth.

"Oh god!" he groaned as he thrust his dick into my mouth, shooting one stream after another into it.

I suppose I could have allowed him to shoot some of it on my face as well but then there's a limit to everything. I wanted his cum in my pussy, he probably wanted it on my face. It never ceases to amaze me why a man likes to shoot his cum on my face. First, I blame the porn industry for making it a standard by which men think they need to follow. Second, I can't help but feel a little bit used when a guy does that, like he doesn't respect me. My perception is that men do it to demonstrate their control over the woman, their dominance. It's like I am just a piece of property that they feel they can use without any regard to my own feelings or well-being.

So anyways, enough of that. Let's just say that I felt that taking his sperm my mouth was a pretty decent compromise.

Looking up at him once he'd finished spurting, I took what I'll admit is a porno-inspired route - I opened my mouth wife for him, sticking out my cum-covered tongue so he could witness his handiwork. Mission accomplished so after a couple of quick swallows I opened wide again to prove to him it was all down in my belly.

"Damn, you swallowed it?" he asked, almost as if he didn't believe his eyes.

Well duh! Like what else do you do with a mouthful of sperm? Somewhere I'd heard that semen was actually healthy so I Googled it to find out. Turns out it contains fructose sugar, water, ascorbic acid, citric acid, enzymes, protein, zinc and more. Basically the same as a protein shake! Heck, I even found books like "Semenology" that provide recipes! I guess you could say I prefer mine straight from the tap.

"Mmmmmmm, tasted good... got any more?" I teased him as I licked my lips and got up on my knees to face him.

"Shit, I don't think I can cum again for a month," he gasped as he sat back down on his butt, his dick already dwindling like a turtle's head retreating into its shell.

One good thing about swallowing his cum was at least I didn't have to go wash off my face right away. For those who haven't experienced it, dried cum on your skin, especially your face, is NOT pleasant. A shower would've felt good about then but I wasn't in any rush to jump out of bed. After all, one of the main reasons I prefer swapping with older married couples and spending the night alone with the husband is for the intimacy. In other words, not a "slam, bam, thank you ma'am" sort of situation.

There was one other reason for not rushing off - I was still horny as hell! Oh sure he'd gotten his rocks off and no doubt would be falling asleep in a few minutes but that didn't mean I was satisfied. Still, no need to confuse him or make him feel embarrassed or inadequate by rushing off to the bathroom to masturbate. While not in the same league as my husband, Ron HAD been a pretty good fuck.

"Soooooo...," I led him on, curious to see where he would take it from there.

Ron moved up on the bed and laid down, tugging me in tight against him. As I laid there in front of him with my back to him I could feel the warmth of his crotch pressed up against my bare bottom. Unfortunately, missing in action was the protruding erection, no doubt for the rest of the evening. Ron put one arm around me, cupping a boob in his hand as he nuzzled my neck. For a moment I feared he wanted to cuddle. Not that I mind cuddling, but I want it to be with someone I care about, not just a one-time fuck. It was one thing to be in bed with him, but things didn't need to get carried away either. After all, THAT is what I have a husband for!

"That was incredible Kelly," he whispered, his hot breath against my ear, "I don't think I've ever felt that way before."

Laying there silently, he drifted off and I felt the tension in his arm relax as he fell asleep. Yep, men are SOOOOO predictable!

He sort of had me trapped but that didn't mean I couldn't reach between my legs. As I tried to explain before, just because I'd just been just fucked (and rather well), that didn't mean I wasn't still horny! It's not like a man where I swear their current sex drive is ejected along with their cum. As we lay there I literally took matters into my own hand and began to masturbate. With my eyes closed, I imagined my Steve in bed now with Cindy. Hopefully she had satisfied him as I knew without a doubt that he would take care of any of her needs. Then my thoughts drifted and I pictured me and Cindy in a 69 with both of our husbands watching us as they stood by the bed, jerking their dicks as the two of us ate each other's pussies.

Eventually I'd had enough and finally fell asleep...

Morning came all too quickly. Ron was still asleep when I woke and saw the time. Amazingly I'd woken up on time as we'd forgotten to set the alarm or even do a wakeup call. I gently slipped out of bed without waking him which, given the way he was snoring, wasn't all that big a deal. Heck, I probably could've done jumping jacks on the bed without waking him!

After a quick shower and getting myself ready for my dad, I debated whether I should wake Ron but then decided to let him sleep. It's not like we were lovers or that I owed him anything. Besides, odds were we'd never see each other again. It's not like either couple knew where the other lived - something we are VERY paranoid about when we meet up with people. Yeah, there have been a VERY few special cases where we enjoyed ourselves so much we agreed to meet with a couple a second (or more) time but those are truly exceptions to the rule. After all, the reason we swap is to keep things fresh and new, not to find alternative partners!

I was pleasantly surprised to find Steve already waiting for me in the lobby. That he was alone didn't really surprise me. No doubt he'd left Cindy in much the same condition as I'd left her husband although then again, I wouldn't put it past Steve to get in another quickie given the opportunity. I couldn't help but smile to myself. So far as he was concerned she didn't even to be awake! Many a morning I've woken to him groping me, not to mention even trying to fuck me more than a few times. I guess it wasn't much different from his perspective than me sucking him off sometimes while he slept. Of course the difference being that HIS equipment was operational whether he was awake or not!

We kissed and grinned at each other. Looking into his eyes, my husband just nodded as a quick signal to tell me that everything had gone well from his end. I did the same, knowing we'd have some great sex later that day while we filled each other in about every detail.

(Apr 20) Chapter 265: Easter Dinner

Story codes: MF inc cousins father daughter uncle niece

Me (29)

Steve - my husband (30)

John - my dad (49)

Uncle Paul (57)

Uncle Jim (47)

Rick - cousin (27)

Sure the family meal was good but along the way I had my own menu which satisfied more than just my stomach!

1. Ghosts of Easters Past

Easter has always been a special time for me. Special because family means so much to me and every time we get together I love the feeling of belonging and the sense of history as the generations gather.

As with most things in life, I've learned that getting older has it's pros and cons. One thing I never really realized as a teenager and that was just how much I could get away with. Oh sure I knew I could do a lot, but I had nothing to reference it against so the appreciation of my freedom wasn't there until I got older. Again, like so many things in life, you don't appreciate what you have until it's gone.

When I was sixteen, sure people may have disapproved of the way I dressed, perhaps even calling me a slut behind my back (and sometimes directly to me), but nobody actually stopped and told me to change or that I was dressed in appropriately. Even at church I could wear a short skirt or a tight top without a bra and go unchallenged. Well, now that I'm 29 those days are past me! Heaven forbid that I should show up with my nipples poling through, or a skirt that reveals just a little too much upper thigh. Apparently now it's OK for any nag to complain and for a church elder to pull me aside and ask me to please consider wearing something different.

I could go on with a hundred examples but you get the picture. Just go to a store today and look at the girls, at how they dress and act. You don't see their moms doing it! And don't tell me it's because their mothers don't wish they could. No, they just know what would happen if they did.

So it was with the annual Easter family gathering. Well, I guess the same applied to any time we were together. When I was little I could sit on my uncles laps and my dress would gather up, exposing my panties and everyone would laugh and say how cute I was. As a teenager things became a little more restrictive but so far as my uncles were concerned, they didn't mind at all if my skirts rode up. It was my aunts that caused the ruckus but even they would mostly just cluck and half-heartedly say something about how I was getting older and they should know better. In some ways I guess it helped I had history behind me so it was a small progression each year, not like a girl just came up and jumped in their lap exposing herself.

I suppose my aunts might not have been as easy to placate had they known everything that was going on behind their backs.

Easter gatherings have been fodder for my diary in a number of years:

2005 (Mar 27) Chapter 77: Teasing My Uncles at Easter
2006 (Apr 15) Chapter 114: Easter at Brenda's
2010 (Apr 04) Chapter 211: Easter Uncle
2011 (Apr 24) Chapter 226: Easter Uncles

As I've always said, my diary is not a complete biography of every sexual event in my life, not even close for that matter. It takes a lot of time and effort to put it all down so I limit my efforts to times that have had a significant impact on my life, both positive and negative. I guess you could say my goal is that anyone reading my entire diary should have a pretty good understanding of not only WHO I am today but also WHY I am that person.

Of course that leaves a LOT out of my diary. With regards to Easter that would include one of my more memorable ones, at least for me personally. While it wasn't anything all that extensive, it was the first Easter family gathering after I had started having sex with my father. We'd been doing it since the previous summer so the initial excitement and fury had died somewhat but that didn't mean I loved it any less or didn't look forward to him doing me anytime he wanted me. I was seventeen and firmly established as the school slut which was no small task mind you if you knew some of my competition - including my own cousin!

At the time, while my mom had revealed quite a few family secrets once my dad and got started, there were still a number of things she'd kept from me. For instance, I didn't know she'd been fucking my dad's older brother Paul since high school but then my own dad wasn't aware either! The only incestual sex for me involved my parents and Aunt Linda. Sure I played around a little with my cousin Kristen but nothing more than I did with most of my other friends from time to time when we got horny and whatever at a sleepover or something like that.

Of course back then nobody outside of my parents and aunt knew my dad and I were having sex. Like wow, my other aunts would have had a cow if they even had a clue of anything even remotely hinting in that direction. All of course which just made it all the hotter for my dad when he did me that Easter with all of them nearby. It helped that this Easter we all met at our house so it was easier to run up to my bedroom and do it quick without drawing attention. Still, I could tell from the way he as fucking me as he looked out my window to the deck below where everyone had gathered that he was super turned on.

One thing I can say about Easter dinners... whether or not you read it about it in my diary, I got laid at every one after that. As time went by the potential list of cocks hungry for my pussy grew as my circle of incestual relationships expanded. First there was my dad's younger brother Jim, followed by his son my cousin Rick. Eventually it even came to include my cousin Tammy, Rick's younger sister. Most years it was more the equivalent of getting my ticket punched, so to say. It's like once you get s streak started you don't want to ruin it. I can't say it was exactly difficult to find someone willing to help!

Easter dinner sex is always exciting, though, regardless of the intensity or who is doing me. It has all the elements that really turn me on – incest (I mean other than with my dad which is a special case), doing a husband behind his wife's back (as in the case with both of my uncles), and semi-public sex (the rest of my family was never that far away).

2. Appetizers

Yes it was Easter but it was also a Sunday and that means I have a tradition to uphold. The great thing about it is that not only does it maintain our traditions, but it also serves to fulfill my obligations to my father, at least until the next time he needs me.

an every-day tradition, so did what today is our most enduring tradition - the Sunday pre-church fuck.

I actually don't remember exactly when this exactly started but the point being my dad and I have always tried to attend church together since I was a little girl. Of course back then my mom was there too but these days it's just him and me. Parking was always an issue so I would pick him up since it would have been totally out of his way to stop by my place. One day I was a little early and he wasn't waiting at the door so I went in the house to see how things were going where I surprised him when I entered the bedroom where he was buttoning his shirt but had yet to put on his underwear and pants. Of course the first thing that caught my eye was his cock hanging down flaccid, emerging from the thick pubic hair that surrounded the base.

We had some time so why waste it? He simply stayed as he was as I leaned over the bed and he lifted my skirt over my butt and pulled my thong aside. It was just a quickie and when he came not long after he filled me with his cum, holding himself in me afterwards to keep it in me. I was in heaven! Not wanting to be late, there wasn't much time to clean up so we ended up sitting side by side in the pew with most of his cum still in me. Thankfully my thong was a little wider over my pussy than some of my others and so while it was soon soaked with his cum as it leaked out of me, it did manage to act as a dam to keep it from spilling down onto my skirt under me.

Afterwards in the parking lot as I prepared to pull out I lifted my skirt to show him my cum-soaked pussy which of course turned him on immensely. Next thing you know he wanted to do it every Sunday before church, bringing me with him with my freshly fucked pussy filled with incestuous sperm. Well, I have to say it was more than just a bit of a turn-on for me as well as I would feel it leak out of me right there in the middle of the service! OMG, I could just imagine what some of the more sanctimonious bitches who were always complaining about how my cousin and I dressed for church would say if they had any clue at all what was going on between my legs.

********************

If there's one area where Steve and I probably differ the most, it's church and religion. I like to think that Steve is saved and a Christian but he's one of those "Christmas and Easter" attendees when it comes to church. I guess it's more a matter of upbringing since his mother never attends church either and thus never instilled the same beliefs that my parents did with me.

connections that he was able to do what most men can only fantasize about, but in the end he was the one that made the final decisions.

So for Steve to gripe about having to go with me this morning was more about church than going to my dad's. Had it been up to him I'm sure it would have been business as usual with him staying behind with Aunt Linda while my dad and I attended the service. Well, he could just deal with it so far as I was concerned. Twice a year wasn't too much to ask in my opinion.

My hopes had been to show up to my dad's place with plenty of time so that we wouldn't have to rush. Given it was Easter, I knew the church would be packed with folks like Steve so it wouldn't do to show up fashionably late as we sometimes did. Still, despite my best efforts we showed up with less than a half hour before the absolute deadline for leaving again. Oh well, it would just have to do. Actually it was longer than most other times so it wasn't like I was worried we wouldn't have enough time. The whole point of this was to make my dad cum inside of me after all. If there was enough time for me to orgasm, that was just icing on the cake. What was important to me was satisfying my dad's hunger. I had complete confidence that thirty minutes was PLENTY of time given the low bar being set. Heck, it might even be enough time for my horny husband to cum twice!

"Mmmmmmm, my baby girl!" my dad greeted me at the door when we arrived. He was fully dressed, ready for church complete with tie. He waited until I was in the house out of sight from the neighbors before putting his arms around me and giving me a long kiss on the mouth, his hands immediately grabbing my ass over my dress.

"And how's my boy doing?" I heard my aunt greet my husband.

She took him by the hand and they immediately took off for the family room downstairs without further ado. Everyone was aware of my husband's phobia when it came to watching me being intimate with my dad. Sheesh, for a guy who loved nothing more than to watch his wife being fucked by other men (and women at times), he could certainly be a pain in the ass when it came to my own father. It just goes to show that everyone has their own views about incest and even when someone is exposed to what I would call a wonderful example of "good" incest they can still not understand the relationship and what it means to those involved.

I've always contended that if Steve could just get past his hang-ups about sex with his mom that he would for sure understand how it was between me and my dad. The funny thing about it is that Steve HAS fucked his mother - back when we were first dating and she "caught" him and me fucking in their home. At the time they certainly didn't seem to be bothered by it but something happened afterwards that changed everything. Neither of them have ever confided in me exactly what that was; all I know is whatever happened it completely changed the game.

In any case, their departure left me alone in the hallway with my dad.

"Fuck me daddy," I said to him, uttering those three words that I knew turned him more than anything that I, or anyone else for that matter, had ever said to him.

"Oh Kelly... my baby girl," he groaned as his hands pulled my dress up so that he could grab my all but bare ass underneath. It's not the thing underneath was getting in the way. "Tell me again."

I smiled, knowing that I could probably say it a dozen times and he'd want to hear it again.

"Fuck me daddy... fuck me good."

I felt the pressure against my pussy as my dad leaned in against me. His hands spread my butt cheeks apart as I heard him groan softly. Then the pressure increase sharply as drove his incestuous dick into me. God it felt incredible! Whenever I have sex, it's that first moment when I fell a cock spreading me apart and forcing its way into me that never ceases to make me gasp. When that dick belongs to my dad, it only makes it all the more special. It's been almost thirteen years now since I first felt him inside of me and although that moment has been repeated now literally hundreds of time, each time is special. It's more than just being fucked, more than just having sex. It's my own father joining his body with mine, a piece of him burying itself deep within me, taking me as his.

"God you feel so good," he groaned deeply as he drove himself in deeper until I could feel him bottom out against my butt. He gave one extra push as I leaned against the wall with my ass pushed out against him.

With his hands now planted on my hips, he began to thrust himself into me, drawing himself out slowly each time until he almost pulled out and then quickly driving his dick back into me again. Pausing for just a second or so before repeating the process.

"Faster daddy, fuck me faster!"

My words encouraged him and he stopped pausing after each penetration, pistoning himself in and out of me now rhythmically with a grunt each time he pushed up against me. Using his hands, he pushed me forward and backwards as he fucked me while I spread my legs even further apart to keep my balance.

"Getting close...," he gasped, his hands gripping me even tighter.

By now my dad's dick had pretty much shrunk down to a shriveled version of the hard shaft that had been waiting for me when we arrived. Even if we weren't close to running late for church I knew he wouldn't be that way again for a long time so no point in trying to get a rise out of him now. Standing up straight, I adjusted my thong and dress. The front of my thong darkened almost immediately as his incestuous cum began to seep out of my pussy. Oh well, you would think by now I'd remember to have something handy to wipe myself before putting my underwear back on but it's hard to keep your mind straight at such times.

My dad was fixing his pants as well after which he checked himself out in the mirror hanging on the hallway wall.

"You look very handsome daddy, I'm so proud of you. I love being your daughter."

And indeed I was proud. I mean for a guy in his mid-fifties my dad still looked pretty darn good! Yeah, his hair was greying and maybe there was a bit more of a belly now that hadn't been there a few years earlier, but it wasn't like he'd let himself totally go and acquired a beer belly like so many other fathers I knew - not to mention his younger brother. He looked at his watch and nodded towards the basement door.

"I think you'd better go down and break them up or we'll never get a seat at the service," he sighed, rolling his eyes in mock despair.

I just smiled and shook my head as I headed down the stairs. I didn't have to go far before I knew what was going on even before seeing it - as if THAT was a surprise. Besides, it's not like my Aunt Linda is exactly the silent type when it comes to sex. Like it's a wonder the neighbors couldn't hear them!

"Oh yeah, that's it Steve, drill me with that fucking dick!"

Yeah, classic Aunt Linda. Even more so when I saw what was happening. Yep, Steve was definitely taking advantage of his opportunity this morning! Well, I've never been a fan of anal sex. Heck, I don't even consider it true "sex" for that matter. I mean like what's the point in a guy ramming his dick up where I poop when I have a perfectly tight and wet pussy literally an inch or two away that was designed specifically for that sort of thing? I mean my pussy was a two-way street whereas my ass was definitely designed to be a one-way avenue.

Well, just try telling that to my husband and aunt. Trust me, I've tried and failed. Both of them were big fans, specially my Aunt Linda who I think preferred anal over vaginal sex. Well, it pleased Steve to no end when he found out for himself.

"Hey... you guys about done?" I asked loudly once I was close enough to get their attention.

Steve more or less ignored me but I got my answer anyway. With a sharp cry he pulled out and grabbed his rock hard cock, jerking himself as he shot his load all over my aunt's ass and back. Fortunately she'd taken off her dress beforehand so he didn't make a mess of her Easter outfit.

As for my aunt, she just looked over at me and shrugged, feigning exasperation with Steve. "When are going to teach your damn husband some manners Kelly? How am I supposed to go to church like this?"

Then she turned to my grinning husband who was obviously quite proud of his handiwork despite her admonition and added, "You know stud, if you hadn't taken so long to cum I would've had time to shower."

That was as far as she could take things before breaking into laughter. Yeah, like since when had my aunt cared about such things. Heck, it wouldn't have surprised me if she didn't even wipe it off before putting her dress back on but she at least made a token effort with one of the used towels in the laundry pile.

"We're gonna be late you know," I complained glaring at Steve to let him know who I blamed. Sheesh, like this was the first time he was going to go to church with me all year and he couldn't even cut things short so we could get a decent seat. Now we'd either be in the back row or the front row, either way a pain in the neck. Actually, surprisingly it didn't turn out all that bad. By some miracle there was actually a pew with barely enough room for us about a third of the way back. We had to squeeze together tightly with me sitting between my dad and husband but it wasn't like either was complaining.

Easter service came and went rather uneventfully. Still, it felt good to sit there and listen with my pussy still tingling from the pleasant feel of my dad's dick in me. The only time things got a little dicey was the first time we stood to sing the opening hymn and I almost forgot that I didn't have any panties on. Fortunately I didn't drain out any cum - would have been a bit hard to explain!

When the service was over we headed straight over to my aunt and uncle's place for dinner. I was hoping there's be more on the menu than what the women had expected to be serving!

3. Main Course

Before going any further let me just say that my past relationships with my oldest male cousin has been... well, "mixed" would be one way of describing it. Confusing, erotic, naughty, troubled... lots of ways to describe what has been a rather inconsistent past.

2005 (Mar 27) Chapter 77: Teasing My Uncles at Easter
2005 (Jul 23) Chapter 92: First Time With My Uncle Jim
2005 (Jul 25) Chapter 93: First Time With My Cousin Rick
2005 (Aug 10) Chapter 95: My Mom and Cousin Rick
2005 (Dec 27) Chapter 107: Cousin Tammy's First Blowjob
2006 (Aug 05) Chapter 121: My Dad's Dream Comes True
2006 (Aug 06) Chapter 122: Swapping Daughters
2006 (Aug 08) Chapter 123: Rick Finally Gets Tammy
2006 (Aug 10) Chapter 124: Cousins Get Together
2006 (Sep 04) Chapter 126: School Sendoff
2006 (Nov 25) Chapter 130: My Cousin Rick and His Friends
2007 (May 19) Chapter 135: Graduation
2007 (Jun 02) Chapter 138: Nephew's Birthday Present
2007 (Aug 13) Chapter 149: Cousin Tammy and Friend
2007 (Sep 02) Chapter 153: Daughter Swap Rerun
2008 (Jul 19) Chapter 166: Sleepover with Tammy
2009 (Apr 25) Chapter 184: My Dad and Cousin Tammy
2009 (May 02) Chapter 185: Surprising Uncle
2009 (Jul 24) Chapter 193: Uncle Paul Gets More
2009 (Nov 26) Chapter 202: Thanksgiving Brothers
2011 (Apr 24) Chapter 226: Easter Uncles
2011 (Jul 03) Chapter 230: Family Boating Day With a Twist

Essentially it started off more or less as a lark. It's not like I have EVER felt anything for my cousin other than lust. We haven't even hardly even kissed in all the times we've had sex. Perhaps the most redeeming value when it comes to sex with Rick is for whatever reason he has the biggest cock of any of them men in the family, at least the ones I've seen. Heck, when he was just sixteen he was already hung better than his father and uncle.

My biggest issue with Rick was he was too much like his father - arrogant and downright rude at times. There were times when I would turn to him in the middle of sex and ask, "Just what part of NO don't you understand?" such as when he would try for the umpteenth time to fuck my ass. Then there was how he treated his younger sister Tammy. One thing I was proud of Tammy and that was her refusal to allow her brother to fuck her until her father had done it. She would blow him and let him eat her out, but no sex. If anything I got a kick out of how she would tease him, sometimes riding on top of him sliding her cute little wet pussy over his erection but never quite letting it into her. Yeah, it drove him nuts!

However, once they DID start having sex it was just like Rick to push things. He wasn't happy with just fucking his sister. No, he had to have all his friends fuck her as well. Granted, she wasn't exactly protesting at the time but still, I always felt like he was taking advantage of the situation.

It was my mother that had the most control over Rick. Obviously his own mother had no say in the matter as she had no idea what was going on between two of her kids and father right under her nose. Had she any clue, no doubt she would have cut the guy's dicks off as they slept! Aunt Shari was about as straight and hypocritical as they come when it comes to so-called "religious nuts". Like half the reason I fucked her husband and son was more out of a sense of revenge for the way she harangued my mother over how she had raised me.

Yet to be fair, for my mom it wasn't like she had all that many options due to her own self-imposed limitations when it came to adultery. She despised Uncle Jim and managed to keep her extracurricular activities with her older brother-in-law a secret from me for years. Since there were no other adult males on either side of the family, that pretty much left her with no option other than her nephew if she wanted someone besides her husband. And yes, there WAS that incredibly fat and long dick... I also noted that Rick didn't pull any stunts with my mom. If anything, he obeyed her better than either of his parents. Of course, he wasn't fucking neither of them either!

Rick went to Junior College and got himself and associates degree in something or another, it wasn't like I really cared. Once I stopped fucking his dad I pretty much stopped everything with Rick as well. The only reason I really fucked Uncle Jim in the first place was tit-for-tat to allow my dad to fuck his daughter - my youngest cousin Tammy. Granted Uncle Jim didn't have any say over their first time but once he also started fucking Tammy then it pretty much became an agreement that if my dad wanted more of Tammy's sweet young pussy then Uncle Jim had to have access to mine. Tammy eventually went to college, started dating some nice boys, and turned from being a school slut to your average horny college girl. What I mean is she was still putting out, but now limited it pretty much to her boyfriend at the time. With my dad no longer fucking her, there was no reason for me to put up with my boorish uncle - or his son for that matter.

Once Rick got into his twenties though, he started to mature FINALLY and I couldn't help but notice he treated me as well as his sisters much better. He even stopped flirting with me every time we got together although I noticed his eyes still roamed freely over my body - not that I minded! Funny thing was, the less attention he paid to me the more I wanted it. Of course I realized what was happening yet I still couldn't shake the feeling despite myself.

When we finally arrived at my aunt and uncle's place after church, I hadn't been there long before Rick and I crossed paths.

"Hi Kelly, you're looking good today," he greeted me.

Now in the past, that seemingly innocuous compliment would've been accompanied by a leering grin, not to mention a wandering hand in search of my ass at the very least. Well, surprise, surprise... this time he was actually nice to me! No raised eyebrows, no winking, no "accidently" brushing up against my boobs, nothing at all for that matter other than a respectful compliment. Boy, Rick WAS growing up! Not to mention he LOOKED more grown up. Gone was the acne and the awkwardness. I have to admit, the guy looked hot!

"Thanks, you're not looking bad either," I responded.

Only in my case, this time it was MY turn to be the one to take a good look at his crotch and grin. I was rewarded by Rick blushing. Damn! I NEVER would have dreamed I could have ever made him blush so easily. Yeah, I hadn't really paid him much attention for some time now, but it was like I was seeing a whole new person. Like, who are you and what did you do with my cousin?

With that others were coming in and so we each continued on our separate ways without any further exchange. However, apparently I hadn't been quite as discreet as I'd thought...

"He's all grown up now, isn't he?" I heard a voice whisper in my ear. Aunt Linda was standing there and I saw her grinning at me. "Although obviously I don't need to point that out to you, now do I?"

I looked at her with my eyes wide open, feigning ignorance but she wasn't buying any of it.

"Oh don't even try," she huffed at me, "I saw the way you were checking him out. Have to say, he's still got the best package of the clan."

With that I couldn't help but smile as I shook my head at her bluntness. It was getting more crowded so rather than risk saying more, I just nodded my head and winked.

"Kelly!" someone cried out to me, effectively ending my little exchange with my aunt. I looked and for a moment almost didn't recognize my youngest cousin. Like holy crap, was I just getting old or what? It was like I'd been in a coma or something while everyone had all grown up around me. Like wow, what had happened to my cute little cousin? In her place was a gorgeous woman with an equally hunky guy all but attached to her side.

"Oh Kelly, it's been ages!" she gushed she reached out and we hugged. Damn, she was as tall as me now, if now taller but then it might have been more a question of whose heels were higher. She smelled great and the Easter dress she was wearing, while modest in terms of exposure, fit her like Saran Wrap, showing off an incredible figure and perfect legs.

"This is Craig," she said, introducing me to her boyfriend. Only I was wrong, he was more than just a boyfriend as it turned out.

"See my Easter present?" Tammy gushed, putting her hand out right in front of my face. Well, it would have been hard to miss the dazzling ring from tree feet away. Wow, my little cousin was engaged!

"Oh that's so wonderful!" I said joyfully, hugging her tight again. Boy, there were going to be a lot of broken hearts, not to mention a few right here in the house today. Granted, it had been years since my dad last fucked Tammy but I know he always had a special place in his heart (not to mention his crotch) for her. After all, he WAS her first, something Craig would never get to boast.

She went on to tell me all about how he had surprised her and such, a story I knew I'd be hearing over and over all day but who would blame her? I remembered when Steve had proposed to me and I couldn't wait to relate every detail to anyone I could corner to listen.

After yet another hug, she rushed off to show off her new bling to the next person she could find, leaving me momentarily alone. That wasn't about to last long though.

"So what do you think?" a deeper voice asked from behind me. I turned to see Rick had managed to circle back behind me. "Who would've thunk, eh?"

"Well, it's not like it was any great surprise," I answered. Indeed, rumors of an impending proposal had been circulating for months with most of us surprised it hadn't come last Christmas.

"Yeah, I just still can't imagine my youngest sister married I guess."

He sounded a bit whimsical and yet again I was impressed by the change in his general attitude. It wouldn't have been that long ago and he would have been making some sarcastic remark.

"I assume Craig doesn't know...," I started to say before Rick cut me off to answer.

"About everything I assume you mean? Hell no!" and at that he finally chuckled and sounded a little more like the Rick I was more familiar with. "He's like all straight and narrow, you know the type. He'd probably have a cow if he had a clue."

We both smiled at that thought and for a brief moment, our eyes met and it was like we had a bond, the type that only two people with a shared deep dark secret can share.

"You know, she told me they haven't had sex yet, that he wants to wait until they're married. Can you believe it?"

I looked across the room to where Tammy was holding up her ring yet again for inspection. Now THAT was a little hard to believe knowing her background.

"Really?" I questioned him, "He can't be THAT clueless. Surely he knows SOME of her reputation."

By that I meant mostly her high school days. True, Tammy had never acquired quite the level of distinction of her cousins - me and Kristen but she had held her own pretty well in terms of making her own reputation. She had never been quite as showy as her mother would never allow it, but most of the boys knew what to expect on a date with her. Granted, from what I heard she toned it down a lot in college but still, it wasn't like she instantly changed her tastes. Surely SOMEONE had to have told Craig at least a little of her former days.

"Well, actually I guess he does know," Rick replied, shrugging his shoulders. "Apparently she's convinced him those days are past and somehow or another he doesn't hold it against her, not that I would either if I was in his shoes. Like look at her, is she hot or what?"

"Down boy!" I teased him, "So when was the last time you two did it anyway?"

Rick's cheeks pushed out as he let out his breath slowly. "Damn, it's been a while," he said sounding regretful - as I sure he was, "I think it was almost two years ago now."

"Well I'm sure that he doesn't know about THAT!" I half-heartedly joked.

"Oh I'd agree with you there, although I'd love to see the look on his face if he knew."

I punched him playfully in the shoulder. "Bad boy! Besides, it's not like you haven't been getting it... and don't try to tell me otherwise."

Rick was quiet for a moment and I wondered what he was thinking. His eyes were fixed on his cute sister, his cute ENGAGED sister.

"Oh I get my share. I gotta admit though, I'd do her again in a heartbeat."

"Yeah, you and half the other men in the room," I teased.

Rick looked around, taking stock of the crowded room. "Well, maybe a couple more than the others," he chuckled.

I knew who he was referring to - our fathers. Indeed, I could only imagine my father's reaction to hearing the news. Sure the odds of him ever fucking his niece again had been a long shot at best, but this sort of sealed the deal. I'd quickly gotten the distinct impression that this marriage was never going to be an "open" relationship.

"Well, it would be her loss," I tossed out softly, like a fisherman casting into a still lake.

Rick didn't respond but from the look he gave me I was pretty sure he'd gotten the message. Any other time and I would have expected him to pull me out of the room and find the first place to fuck me yet that want the case today. Instead, he just winked at me and moved towards the kitchen, probably to try and sneak some food ahead of dinner. As I watched him leave, I couldn't help but wonder if I wasn't losing my touch!

It was getting close to dinner time. I suppose I should have helped more getting things ready but this wasn't exactly my sort of thing. We could have gone out to eat and I'd of been happier. Too much work doing it this way! Turning towards the dining room, I bumped into my cousin Kristen as she was heading out the other way.

"Ooops, sorry Kelly, have you seen that husband of mine? We're about ready to eat you know."

Kristen had been married for some time now yet it still seemed surreal to me. Indeed, it was rare even to see her together with him. Often I wondered exactly why they had gotten married in the first place. He had been a customer of hers back when she was a working girl (her nomenclature - whore would be the more appropriate term if you asked me). Married at the time, he was one of those rare guys that actually DID leave his wife for another girl. Fortunately there were no kids involved which made it less messy.

Say what you will about my marriage, Steve and I are downright Amish compared to Kristen's arrangements with her husband. Sometimes I think they have sex more with other people than they do with each other! While Kristen continued working as a whore for a while after the wedding, she soon quit and became "proper", earning a real estate license and joining up with her mom. True, there were times when her past "skills" came in handy to close a deal but for the most part she stopped fucking for money and just did it for fun. Meanwhile, her husband still was out with different women all the time. The only difference it seemed for him was that now he had a wife who didn't give a damn. I wasn't about to be the one to question things though so I never said anything to my favorite cousin. Still, I couldn't help but wonder at times what the complete story was.

Evidently she found him quickly as she was back catching her breath a moment later.

"Dumb jerk," she huffed, "Can you believe it, he was checking out Tammy - and I don't mean her ring."

Then she threw up her hands and we both laughed before she change the subject.

"Damn, have you checked out Rick?" she asked surreptitiously, "Now I have GOT to get me a piece of that for dessert."

"Go for it girl," was all I could think of to say. No doubt she would!

Just then my Aunt Shari called everyone into the dining room where the table had been expanded as big as it would go. There still weren't enough seats so some people would have to eat in the adjoining kitchen at the table there but my Aunt had evidently saved seats for me and Steve. Speaking of which, where had HE been all this time?

Somehow or another my husband appeared out of thin air and was seated next to me. Rick managed to snag the seat on the opposite side and I couldn't help but suspect an ulterior motive. Well, maybe not so much I suspected as I hoped?

My Aunt Shari said grace, droning on for what seemed forever with some sanctimonious prayer. She was the type that wanted people to know just how religious she was and how "good" she was when it came to praying. Frankly, I felt like it was aimed more at the people in the room than to God. Typical hypocrite, the type that gave Christians a bad name the world over.

Just when I thought I might fall asleep, I felt a hand on my thigh under the table. Judging by which side, I knew it had to be Rick's. Hmmmmmm, maybe he HAD gotten my signal after all? I parted my legs a little, just enough to signal to him that his move was being welcomed but not enough to give him full access – yet.

His hand moved up a little more, pushing up my dress a little when Aunt Shari finally announced, "Amen" and there was more than one sigh I think as we were finally allowed to eat. Rick had to pull his hand out to pass the food and the rest of the meal was rather boring with the usual inane small talk and meaningless chatter.

As we ate dessert though, the hand reappeared on my thigh and this time he didn't waste any time, pushing his fingers in between my legs and getting a handful of bare inner thigh in the process. I pretended not to notice but this time I allowed my legs to part further, essentially putting the ball back in his court as to how far he wanted to go. Still, it wasn't like we were in some dark movie theater so there WERE limits, especially with his mother seated across and down a couple of chairs keeping a close eye on everyone.

As things started to wind down, Rick turned to me and said innocently, "That was great, I could eat some more dessert though."

From the way he squeezed my leg it was obvious just what he wanted for dessert. I decided to go for it and see where this might lead answering him with, "I always find the best place for dessert though is in bed."

"Spoken like a true connoisseur," he replied with a smile, giving my leg one last squeeze before he grabbed his cloth napkin and wiped off his mouth with both hands.

There was no need to get cute and say anything that might be overheard. Message sent, received and replied. Now it would be up to the both of us assuming either of us wanted to take this to the next level. Rick got up to leave but I felt a little guilty for not helping setting dinner so I stayed behind to help clear the table. My slutty cousin Kristen, though, wasn't having any of it.

"Look, it's obvious who he wants," she said with a look of exasperation, "Why he's always wanted you more is totally beyond me but there you go. So either you jump him now or I will."

She had caught me in the corner of the room but I still couldn't help but glance about to make sure nobody had heard. It's not like my cousin was always the most cautious about such things. Kristen, on the other hand, was far less patient.

"What the fuck are you waiting for?" she sighed rather melodramatically, "Like you'd rather do dishes than get a piece of THAT?"

"Well, it HAS been a long time you know," I tried to argue.

Kristen eyes rolled back. "Sheesh, since when have YOU become the cautious one?" Then she grinned naughtily, "Unless of course you want to do him together?"

OK, so for a moment I actually did contemplate the idea. It wouldn't be the first time the two of us had done it with Rick, although the last time would have taken two hand to count the years passed. Then again, why share? After all, I deserved a bit of fun just as much as anyone so why not?

"Forget THAT," I said firmly, "Alright then, you'll cover for me, right?"

"I guess," she said, sounding a little dejected, "But I want a full report afterwards, ALL the details, right?"

I just waved my hand at her and grinned as I checked to see who might be watching and walked slowly out of the room. This was actually the hardest part, getting to his room without being noticed. I didn't see Rick anywhere so I was assuming he was there - he damn well better be at least!

"So where are you sneaking off to?"

Damn, busted!

I turned to my husband who was grinning at me. It wasn't like he was upset or anything but the curiosity in his eyes was burning bright.

"You dad?" he guessed, then looked over to see him talking to his older brother. "Oh god Kelly, not your Uncle Jim? I thought you'd sworn never to let him do you again?"

I grinned at my husband and pushed him to the wall away from where everyone could see us.

"So what makes you so sure that ANYONE is going to be doing me?" I flirted with him.

Steve looked amused, almost annoying so I might add.

"Give me a break Kelly. You think I can't tell when my wife's hot and horny? Shit, I bet your creaming right now, aren't you? A whole houseful of prospects, just a matter of picking the lucky guy I'd say. So who is it?"

Just then Uncle Jim came walking across the room, evidently having just visited the bathroom after dinner. Steve's eyebrows raised as I saw him rapidly doing the math in his head.

"Oh you've GOT to be kidding me!" he started to exclaim but caught himself just in time, "So what is it, his big dick?"

Now he WAS annoying me. Like the only reason I'd choose a guy was over dick size? If anyone, Steve should have known better than that. I've always maintained that within limits, dick size is about the last thing I consider when choosing a sexual partner. It's rather difficult to be TOO small unless you're worried about a man's fragile ego. As for being too large, that's actually where I sometimes have issues. Anything I can't get my fingers around or requires more than two hands to stroke is getting to the point of simply being uncomfortable. It's one thing to be ABLE to take a big dick - I've never had a case where I couldn't. Face it, if a baby can come OUT, then I doubt there's a dick in the world too large to go IN an adult woman's pussy. Still, ability isn't the same as ENJOYING it. Personally, give me an average sized cock that I can deep throat without gagging and fits in my pussy without having to call for the jaws of life and I'm perfectly content.

"You know, sometimes you can really be clueless Steve," I said a little more harshly than I intended for it come out.

Steve looked hurt and just walked away without saying another word. Damn, I was going to have to do something special later when we got home to make up for that one!

I was literally at the top of the stairs leading to the basement when yet again my quest was interrupted. Damn, it was like Grand Central Station today. Like can't a horny girl just get laid without having to deal with all these issues?

"Kelly, you HAVE to do something about that bitch!" Tammy demanded as she reached out to grab my arm to keep me from going forward.

I turned and sighed. Good grief, NOW what?

"Just look at the slut... she's all over Craig," Tammy whined, "I know what she's up to. You've got to say something to her."

Looking over, sure enough there was Kristen up to her old tricks again. Oh for goodness sake, this was just too much! Crap, it wasn't THAT many years ago and SHE was the one stealing other girl's boyfriends and she certainly didn't seem to mind whose heart she broke back then. I mean if anyone should understand Kristen's motives, it should be Tammy. Besides, she might be trying to put on a show now for her new fiance, but as for calling her cousin a slut... well talk about the kettle calling the pan black!

"Well maybe if you put out for the poor guy he wouldn't be so easy to tempt."

No, I didn't actually SAY that but I was one step away. God, I was so dang horny now and to be sidetracked by this crap?

"Look Tammy, if Kristen was REALLY after your new fiance then trust me, they'd be doing it right now, probably on your bed," I tried to assure her, "She's just teasing and flirting, probably just to see if she can get a rise out of you. I'd say she's being pretty successful."

Tammy frowned and crossed her arms almost defiantly as if she wasn't about to accept what I was telling her. Well, while my first thoughts were probably the most on the mark, what I actually DID tell her was true as well. If there was one thing I knew about Kristen, when she seriously wanted a man, there were very few she didn't get. Then another idea came to mind. It wasn't exactly nice but then what the heck, look what she was keeping me from doing right now?

Whispering softly, I said to her, "You know, Rick's waiting in his bedroom right now. What do you say? It's been a long time after all."

Tammy looked at me with a mortified expression.

"You're going to do it...? with him...? NOW...?"

I just grinned and nodded.

"But I thought you weren't doing that type of stuff anymore," she hissed back at me.

Huffing just a bit, I replied, "Well, maybe not with your brother but hey, he's grown up quite nicely and if I remember correctly, there was a time his own sister couldn't get enough of it."

For a moment she seemed to hesitate. "Well... it WAS pretty good for a while," she confessed as her cheeks flushed.

"So what do you say? Join me?" I pushed a little. The odds were against it but what the heck, nothing ventured nothing gained.

I actually thought she might say yes but then she glanced back to the living room where Kristen's dress was pulled up WAY more than would normally be considered appropriate, especially now that she was a married woman. None of the men seemed to be complaining and obviously Craig couldn't help but look at her legs as well.

"Well if you're not going to help than I'll just have to deal with it myself," she fumed as she walked back towards her fiance.

FINALLY, the coast was clear. I took one last glance to see if anyone was watching me and quickly made my way to the finished basement where the two kid bedrooms were located. As the only boy, Rick got his own room whereas his two sisters had to share.

The basement was quiet compared to the noisy upstairs. I started to turn the door knob to Rick's room when I was startled by the door across the hall opening.

"Kelly? What are you doing going into Rick's bedroom?" my cousin Kate asked.

Dang it, of all people it had to be her. Kate was Tammy's older sister, the middle child of the family, and a total clone of her mother when it came to behavior and attitude. The whole "Holier than thou" thing, looking down on people she deemed "less favored" than herself, totally judgmental. When it came to sex... well let's just say she'll probably be a virgin on her first wedding anniversary. Well, maybe not THAT bad but pretty darn close.

Kate and Tammy couldn't be more opposites, especially in their teen years. Tammy was the stereotypical rebellious younger sister. Where Kate was ultraconservative and always did exactly what her mother demanded, Tammy would try to get away with murder and was in constant battles with her mom. I think half the reason she got involved with incest was just to get back at her mom. Of course if my aunt had ever even so much gotten a clue as to what was happening, often right under her nose, there would have been hell to pay!

Anything Kate knew, Aunt Shari knew, so I couldn't let her get any wrong ideas. At the same time, my pussy was practically cramping with being so horny. The smart thing to do would have been to make some excuse up and head back upstairs. Well, at times like this people don't always make the smart decisions.

"Steve told me he left his EMT book in there last time he was over. I guess Rick was interested."

God, talk about a lame excuse but it was the best I could come up with on the spur of the moment.

Kate looked at me and I couldn't quite tell if she was buying it or not. Then again, why wouldn't she? I would think that about the last thing she would ever consider would be that her brother was fucking me. Well, maybe THAT wouldn't be the LAST thing – I imagine that honor would go to him fucking her younger sister. No, even THAT wouldn't make the top of the list. Tammy being fucked by their father... now THAT would take the prize. So inconceivable though would it be to someone like her, I really wasn't too worried. If anything, she probably though I was covering up for something else. As to what that might be who knows but the point is she would never guess as to my true motives.

"You've got something up your sleeve, I know it," she said accusingly, "I'm keeping an eye on you."

For a moment I was stricken. Crap, just what I needed to have that little snot hovering around. No, I didn't have anything up my sleeve but I sure as heck was dying to have something up somewhere else!

"Ha! Got you!" she crowed, snickering at her poor excuse for humor. "I mean like you're so easy sometimes Kelly."

With that she shook her head and went up the stairs giggling. Oh well better that than to have her hanging around.

So FINALLY the coast was clear and I twisted the door handle to enter Rick's bedroom. The room was dim, lit only by a small lamp on the desk against the side wall but there was enough for me to see him lying on his side on the bed. Damn, he was naked! Wow, did he have any idea how close he'd come to having his uppity sister at the door instead of a horny cousin?

"About time you made it. Thought I was going to have to jerk myself off for a while there."

For a fleeting moment the old Rick was back but I just ignored it. Besides, I wasn't about to back out now.

"So are you just going to stand there or what?" he pushed me, "Figured you'd have that slutty dress on the floor by now."

On the one hand I wanted to be mad at him for being so cocky but then on the other I had to admit he was right. With all the goings on upstairs it wasn't like we had all that much time before someone started noticing we were both missing and asking questions that would be hard to answer.

And speaking of hard... as my eyes adjusted to the dim light I could see that marvelous dick appear. God, he was just as big as ever! It didn't hurt that he'd obviously taken things into his own hands and was as erect as the Eiffel Tower! OK, so I've said that cock size wasn't important yet at the same time, damn! When presented with a dick of his proportions who could blame me for being impressed – AND horny as hell?

Without another word I quickly stripped although I hung the dress over his chair by the desk rather than dropping it to the floor as he'd suggested. Soon I was naked, even to the point of removing my heels such that I was barefoot on the cold tile floor of the basement bedroom.

"Fuck, you look pretty damn good for a mommy," he teased me. I frowned at him and he got the message without me even saying a word. No mommy jokes, nothing about my daughter. No perverted comments or sick ideas.

"Miss me?" he teased me more as he held his dick by the base and made it wiggle like a puppet in front of me.

Well, more than I would ever admit, at least to him. When it came to Rick and me it seemed to always be a conundrum. On the one hand I have to admit he was one heck of a good fuck. Then on the other he could be such an asshole, almost as bad as his father. When he first started fucking me so long ago it was as much to defy his mother as anything else. Even though she didn't know about it, I loved that he would fuck me sometimes while she was in the other room or upstairs. Just knowing how much she would hate what we were doing was like an aphrodisiac for me. Maybe the only thing more satisfying from that perspective was when her husband fucked me, knowing I was satisfying him so much more than my aunt could ever have dreamed.

Suddenly I heard laughter above us and was reminded of our families, most of whom would be totally shocked if they had any idea what was happening right below them. Maybe not as mortified as my aunt would be, but it would certainly open some eyes. If they thought my aunt living with my dad was so horrible, just imagine if they could see me now as I kneeled in front of Rick's bed, reaching out for his massive erection.

"Wouldn't you love for them to watch?" Rick mused as he pointed a finger to the ceiling. I grinned and just shook my head in mock disapproval as I felt his warm throbbing cock in my hand. God, it has been a while since I'd held one my hand couldn't reach around.

Leaning forward, I began to get ready to suck him when to my surprise, he pushed my head back away from him.

"Noooooo, I got a better idea," he said and for a moment I wanted to correct his grammar but thought better of it before saying anything.

"This is just about sex, right?" he asked. I nodded and he continued, "Then that's what I want... sex. I just want to fuck you, OK?"

Now THAT wasn't something I heard much... a guy NOT wanting his dick sucked. Then again, there was something about it that just seemed... well it just seemed right. He was right in that this WAS just about sex. Nothing intimate, nothing even all that personal even though he was my cousin. We both knew we wanted it so why not just fuck and get it over with?

"Naughty boy," I whispered seductively as I got back up on my feet and stood up straight, "Now lay back."

Rick flopped onto his back and stuffed a pillow under his head so he could watch more easily. With his hands to his side, his dick was so hard it hovered parallel to his stomach without touching it, like a dolphin leaping out and skimming across the surface of the ocean. I could have sworn it was quivering!

Reaching between my legs, I rubbed my pussy. Damn, it was as wet as I'd thought it was. I was more than ready for him. Heck, I was ready for every guy in the house at this point. All this craziness so far had left me so dang horny that I was happy that he'd foregone the preliminaries. Straddling his waist on my knees, I reached underneath me and directed the head of his cock to my waiting pussy. Ordinarily I would rub him against my clit and sort of masturbate before having it enter me but not today. No, today it was just about sex.

"Oh fuck," I couldn't help but gush as I started to put my weight down on him. God, it was like pushing a telephone pole into me. Shifting my weight to spread my legs further apart, I made a second attempt and this time was rewarded by the head of his cock splitting me apart and forcing its way into me. It was just the head but It was like he was splitting me in half!

"Shit, you're as tight as ever cuz," he grimaced, "Are you SURE you had a..."

"Rick!" I interrupted him before he went further.

"Sorry... just you're ridiculously tight. Reminds me of back when we were in school."

How could I be mad at him when he said things like that to me? Whether it was really my pussy being so tight or just him being so big, I wasn't going to debate the issue wither way. What was important was how he felt inside of me, not why it felt so damn good!

"Oh fuck yeah!" he groaned as I pushed down onto him and his dick rammed its way all the way into me until I bottomed out and my crotch was against the base of his hair dick. Damn, I felt like I was stuffed! Oh wow, maybe there was something to say about a big dick!

"God you look so fuckin' sexy riding my dick," he moaned as I started to bounce slowly on his erection. I wanted to say something like if he had turned on some lights he might get a better view but that was about the last thing on my mind right then.

After a bit I leaned over and let his dick slip out of me. Whoa! When his head popped out it was like I had this incredible sensation of emptiness. He flipped me over onto my knees and pushed my head down onto the pillow as I leaned forward on my elbows with my ass up in the air. For a fleeting moment I worried that he might try taking advantage of my position but the "new" Rick wasn't misbehaving today.

"Now THAT is what I call one fine ass," he complimented me as he pushed my butt cheeks apart and then I felt that incredible cock pressing its way back into my now well-fucked pussy. This time he slipped in much more easily although it felt like he was going to pop out of my mouth as he drive it deep inside of me!

"Oh yes Rick," I sighed as he pounded me, "Fuck me... fuck me hard."

One thing a girl never had to ask Rick and that was to fuck her HARD. Not only was his dick as hard as a steel pipe, he was always the type to pound a girl, drilling his dick into me as he thrust himself in against my bare butt. It was like I was being driven into the pillow with each thrust into me.

From the way he started to accelerate I thought he was about to cum but instead he pulled out and roughly flipped me over, spreading my legs apart and quickly reentering me before I could even catch my breath.

"I'm gonna cum in you," he declared, "I'm gonna fill your fuckin' cunt with my spunk."

Not that I especially cared for his language, but I wasn't arguing with his intentions. Personally, when ANY man was fucking me the last thing I wanted was for him to pull out at the very moment when I wanted to feel him inside of me. When a man ejaculates in me, it's like the peak of our sexual act, even more than me having an orgasm. Even though I know technically it's not happening, it's like he's mating me, taking me as his bitch. It's the one moment above all others when I feel totally possessed by a man. I mean like think about it... his sex organ is deep INSIDE of me, shooting its load of sperm in my womb. No, I have NO desire to have him make me pregnant but at the same time, it's the attempt that makes it erotic, even if ultimately doomed to failure.

"Yes, cum inside of me Rick... give it to me... give it ALL to me."

Now what man doesn't want to hear those words? Maybe the only thing more would be before we even begin when I look into his eyes and whisper, "Fuck me." Yeah, those are the two words I think every man wants to hear but after that, "cum in me" has to be a close second.

"Fuck!" he groaned as he pushed against me and held himself in as deep as he could. He jerked and I knew he was cumming in me. While I really couldn't feel it, I could imagine the stream of his sperm as it shot from the tip of his dick into my welcoming pussy. Over and over he came in me until finally he groaned and flopped over on the bed beside me.

"Oh shit, that was good," he sighed as he tried to catch his breath.

Even though I hadn't cum, I was more than satisfied. Heck, I felt great! His cum began to trickle out of me and I tensed my stomach and pushed, driving more of it out until I felt the stream of our warm fluids dripping down over my asshole onto the bed. Neither of us said a word and I could clearly hear the voices now above us. There were a couple of them that wouldn't have been surprised by what had just taken place below them, but the majority would probably not even believe me if I told them. Many times over the years I had wished our entire family had been in on everything, envious of people who claimed to have such a family. Then again, it DID provide me with a number of fantasies that were probably hotter than any reality could ever be.

Just then our moment of reverie was interrupted by a knock in the door. Damn, had I locked it? I couldn't believe that I would have NOT but then I also know that when I was in as horny of a state of mind as I had been when I came in that such trivial matters sometimes got overlooked.

"Rick, you in here?" Tammy asked as she opened the door. Crap, I hadn't locked it! Thankfully if there had to be one of sisters to walk in, it was the right sister. There would have been no bluffing my way out of this one with Kate.

"Oh crap, I don't believe this," she huffed when she realized what was in front of her. She quickly entered and closed the door behind us.

"Really?" she asked as she pointed a finger at us, "You DO realize that people are starting to ask about you two. I guess it's a good thing I was the one to figure it out. Shit, you couldn't even lock the door? What if Kate had come in?"

She wasn't saying anything that wasn't obvious so what was the point in answering so she continued on her rant uninterrupted.

"Sheeze Kelly, I thought you weren't doing this crap anymore. So is this why you were so distracted before?"

What could I say? I just shrugged and figured it was better to let her get it out of her system than to say anything and get her really going.

"Well you better get dressed and get back up there pronto. Desserts about to be served."

Didn't I say it was better to just let her get it out of her sister and say nothing? Well, apparently Rick didn't get the memo.

"I got dessert here for you sis," Rick said smugly, stroking his dick which somehow was already getting hard again. Maybe it was the inspiration of seeing his sister again while he was naked, who knows?

"Fuck you," she shot back and it wasn't meant as an invitation. With that she bolted from the room, leaving the two of us alone in the semi-dark.

"She's right, we should get back up there," I reminded him as I pushed his wandering hands away. Yeah, he was still horny all right! Not that I would have minded going for seconds but I also had the presence of mind to know there was a time and place for everything.

Before he could protest I got out of bed and used the sheet to clean off the sperm from between my legs. Knowing my horny cousin, I doubted it was the only sperm to stain those sheets so not like it would be noticeable to his mother when she did the laundry.

"Kelly," he started softly as I straightened out my dress, "Thanks."

Wow, NOT what I was expecting. It was nice of him, nicer than I could ever remember him being after we'd done it. Sometimes a simple thank you can say more than anything else.

Heading back up the stairs, my pussy tingled with the memory of my cousin's wonderful cock. Hmmmmmm, maybe his suggestion about dessert might not be such a bad idea after all assuming Tammy wasn't up to it.

Sheri may be a bitch but when it came to making a cheesecake, she was unmatched. Mmmmmmm!

After taking a seat on the couch in the family room next to my Uncle Paul (my dad's older brother), his eyes met mine and then I saw them look down my dress to get an eyeful of my boobs, or at least as much as he could. It turned me on a little as it had been a long time since he'd last fucked me. Was he imagining one of our previous moments or maybe just fantasizing about what he'd like to do to me right then. Either way, I had a pretty good suspicion it had nothing to do with the thread count of my dress.

For a brief moment I had similar thoughts but then he sat back in the couch and I knew it wasn't going to happen, at least not today. Then again, it wasn't like I could blame him. The last time he'd fucked me was at his house during a similar family bash but we'd managed to get out of the house to where nobody could see us. Today it wouldn't be nearly so easy and as much as I knew he'd love to do me again, at the same time it wouldn't be worth it for either of us for anyone to find out. Sometimes a little discretion is necessary, even when I'd rather not.

Sitting there quietly as everyone ate their choice of dessert, my pussy was starting to throb with the memory of Rick's thick dick so recently filling it. I worried for a moment that some of the remnants of his massive burst of cum might still leak out of me but fortunately that didn't seem to be a problem. Funny how that works in that sometimes nothing leaks out at all and then others it's like I have to wipe myself off for hours afterwards. Naturally the latter usually happens when least convenient. One of those mysteries of life I guess.

Looking across the room to where Tammy and Craig were nestled together in the love seat, I thought about how Kristen had been flirting with him earlier. Oh yeah, I could definitely understand her motives. Yes, it WOULD be hotter than anything to seduce him and have him fuck me, even hotter if Tammy caught us but couldn't do anything but watch. OK, so maybe that's getting a little bit over the top. After all, she WAS my cousin and not just some overweight wife who wasn't satisfying her husband like the wives of so many of the men who had fucked me in the past. Besides, would I really do it? Probably not. Well, to be perfectly honest make that I would never do it although I have to say the fantasy was enough to make my pussy tingle even more than it had been. As for Kristen though, I doubted my ex-whore of a cousin would've exercised such constraint given the opportunity. I could only imagine how many divorces she was responsible for over the course of her "career".

Watching the two lobe birds though, I couldn't help but remember those days back so long ago when I first started fooling around with my cute little cousin (at least she was little back then). Watching her being fucked by my dad, then by her dad the next day, and eventually by her brother a week or so later, were all special memories that I'll never forget. Seeing her with Rick has been the only time I've actually watched a brother and sister have sex, at least the only time that it meant anything to me. Oh sure, I've seen numerous brother-sister matchups at the family parties Steve and I have attended but that was a totally different situation. As I didn't really know the people involved it lacked any sense of intimacy, at least not the same as seeing my two horny cousins fucking each other.

Tammy also had the distinction of being the first young girl I'd had sex with. Not that I was all that old myself at the time but still, virtually every other female I'd had sex with before then had been either older than me (like my mom and aunt) or close to my age (like my cousin Kristen or my BFF Beth). In some ways I felt like I was Tammy's sexual mentor. Like if it hadn't been for me, would she have ever had sex with her dad and brother? Odds were against it. Would she have enjoyed being a slut in school? Just imagine all the fun experiences she might have missed out on if it had not been for my example.

With all these thoughts running through my head, my pussy was warming fast and it startled me for a moment to realize the real reason. It wasn't so much Craig that was drawing my attention to the love seat, it was Tammy! Oh my god, she had grown up so much since our last time together in bed. I imagined being alone and naked with her now, not as a young teenager anymore but as a mature, confident woman. Usually I never felt this strongly when it came to an attraction to a woman yet we shared a special bond that had been forged over the years. Hmmmmmm, did she feel the same about me?

"Cute, aren't they?" my Uncle Paul said to me quietly as he broke my concentration. Guess I hadn't realized I'd been so mesmerizing!

"Yeah, I hope it works out for them."

"Too bad though, always wanted to nail that."

I sat up straight and looked around to see if anyone was listening. Damn, was he nuts? Thankfully everyone seemed occupied in their own activities and with all the hubbub nobody would have overheard what he'd said only inches from my ear. Still, not exactly typical family room conversation.

"Yep, your dad was one lucky jerk."

Damn, what was this, confessional time without the private booth?

"Uncle Paul...," I started, not really sure what to say though.

"What?" he feigned surprise as if he had no idea what I was objecting to, "Just saying your dad's lucky."

My eyes just rolled. Yeah right!

"You know, back when he first told me I didn't believe him," my uncle continued anyways, "Damn, fourteen! Pretty darn sweet of you."

I had to smile at that. Back then it had been more an attempt by me to assuage my guilt for not allowing my father to have my virginity when I was fourteen, instead allowing my boyfriend to do it. Sure, as fate would have it that same boyfriend became my husband but at the time, who would have ever expected THAT massive coincidence to occur? These days I've reconciled myself to understanding that it wasn't my fault but more my mother's for making my dad keep his true feelings bottled up until I made the first move. But back then I saw my cousin a sort of a reconciliation prize, allowing him to take my virginity by proxy using my fourteen year old cousin, if that makes sense.

"Think he's gotten any yet?"

My mouth dropped a little. Like damn, how far was he going to take this? It wasn't like we were texting or conducting a private conversation after all. Yes, so maybe nobody was hearing us but I still felt a little uncomfortable under the circumstances.

"Probably not," he mused, answering himself, "I hear she's become Miss Innocent lately. Oh well, guess that's one that got away."

"Well, you've done pretty well I think," I teased him, knowing he must have been feeling pretty horny so why not? "Two out of four nieces isn't bad."

I was referring to myself and Kristen as being on the "I banged that" list versus Tammy and Kate on the "struck out" side of the ledger and he knew exactly what I meant.

"Can't blame a guy for wanting to bat 1000!" he said wryly, "Pisses me off to lose to your dad most of all."

Another rolling of the eyes in response to his "scorecard" remark.

"Speaking of which, you guys still doing the Sunday morning thing?"

"You mean church?" I replied teasingly.

"Yeah sure... let's call it that," he chuckled, "I guess there's a lot of 'my god' going on."

I elbowed him sharply.

"Damn girl, what did I say to deserve THAT?" he laughed, pretending to be upset at being misunderstood, "You know, I wouldn't mind making a contribution myself."

My eyes were going to get dizzy if they kept rolling like this!

"Seriously Kelly...," he added, allowing his voice to drift off.

Whoa, he WAS being serious. Up until now I figured it was just all hot air and flirting which was typical for him. Still, reality said there was no way. Like where could we do it even if I DID agree?

"Uncle Paul... get real."

Then he leaned over and whispered in my ear, "I want to fuck you Kelly... now!"

It was all I could do to keep a straight face. Damn, right in the middle of the family room too. Then again, it WAS pretty hot and in the mood I was in at the moment... appealing as well.

"Then what's stopping you?"

From the brief look of surprise I got the idea that he had been bluffing and now he was caught. Well, served him right for thinking he could pull this sort of thing on me. Like not my first time around the block you know.

"Really?"

"Why not?" I shrugged, trying as best I could to act casual as if it was something I could just take or leave.

"Right here?" he said with a wink.

Oh sure, NOW he was getting ridiculous although I have to admit that for a brief moment the idea was really erotic. Just imagine if I were to sit on his lap right now, his erect dick sticking out of his pants and pressing up into my welcoming pussy with my skirt hiding what he was doing from everyone. Well, as improbable as it would be to get away with that when I was younger, now at 29 and married with child who was going to buy it? Still, so far as fantasies go it wasn't half bad!

"Your just trying to tease me Uncle Paul," I accused him.

He glanced around, apparently to assess the situation and then gathered himself up saying, "Well, I need to use the restroom..."

From the way he winked at me it was obvious he had more on his mind than his bladder. As he walked towards the hallway I knew the ball had been served into my court so the question was, would I let it go by or return the serve? I knew I only had moments to make a decision as this couldn't drag on too long. In fact, that was probably the one thing that made me hesitate - how much time before either people noticed us both missing or someone else needed to use the bathroom?

Well, nothing ventured nothing gained. It wasn't exactly what I'd been fantasizing about watching Tammy and Craig - I think I would have taken either of them before my Uncle Paul! Still, the odds of anything happening with those two were likely zero so why not take what was being offered? Uncle Paul was not a spring chicken anymore but I had some fond memories of our previous times together. Unlike his youngest brother, he was very sweet and always seemed to be more concerned about my pleasure than his. Small wonder my mom kept him to herself all those years!

I got up but instead of following him directly to the restroom, I headed back to the dining room and took the long route through the kitchen to the hallway leading to the upstairs master bedroom and guest bathroom. Nobody was in sight so I twisted the doorknob and quickly entered, closing it behind me as quickly as possible.

"Well, well, I was wondering if you'd come," Uncle Paul greeted me with a wide grin, "From the way you were eying those two I had a feeling you were a bit on the randy side today. Haven't gotten any today?"

I just smiled back and let him draw his own conclusion which didn't take long.

Uncle Paul slapped his head in that "I could have had a V8" way saying, "Oh that's right, it's Sunday. So how was daddy this morning? You know, I've never quite figured out how both of my brothers managed to do their daughters when I haven't so much as gotten a feel of my own."

That made me crack a smile. Indeed, both of his daughters WERE pretty hot. I recalled going to a bachelorette party for one of them when I was barely eighteen and yes indeed, they were both pretty wild back then. Marriage and kids though seemed to have settled them down a lot. Oh well, it should serve as a lesson to em what NOT to do now that I was in the same boat.

"You know this is the only restroom on this floor for people to use," I reminded him as he seemed more interested in chatting for some reason, "We don't exactly have all day."

Uncle Paul almost cracked up. "Wow, so my slutty niece IS horny. What's the matter, your cousin didn't satisfy you today?"

I gave him the evil eye which just made him smirk all the more. "Oh come on, you think people didn't notice? Of course it didn't help when Kate came around looking for her brother at the same time you'd pulled a disappearing act. Didn't have to be an accountant to add that one up."

Well, he was right about one thing - I WAS horny, surprisingly so actually. Despite his teasing, Rick HAD done a pretty good job earlier and up until a short while ago, about the last thing I'd figured was going to happen today was to have sex with my uncle. Now my hot little cousin... that was a different story. Funny how in the end things were working out exactly the opposite.

"Do you want it or not?" I huffed softly with my hands on my hips.

"Oh yeah... I want it baby," he all but growled, "But you're going to have to be a miracle worker."

No what was THAT about? Then he undid his belt and pants, unzipping them and dropping it to his ankles along with his white underwear. Whoa! He wasn't just joking. Indeed, judging from some past experience I WAS going to have to pull off some kind of miracle if I wanted him to fuck me.

"Damn new blood pressure medicine," he said apologetically, "Frickin' doctor warned me this might happen but I figured he was just covering his ass. Well... see what you can do I guess."

Crap. He was flaccid and by this time when I'm with a guy his cock is showing at least a LITTLE bit of life. Granted, most of the older men I'd ever been with didn't exactly grow at the rate of the young boys I sometimes enjoyed but still, there was SOME response by now. My uncle looked like he just came out of a cold shower!

Oh well, couldn't hurt to at least try I figured so I squatted down and took his soft dick in my hand, leaning forward on my heels to take his dick in my mouth. Now I've always said one of the more erotic moments for me is to be able to start with a soft dick and feel it harden in my mouth and eventually cum. Of course that assumed it reacted as God intended! Even when I started with a guy totally flaccid - such as when I would suck my husband in his sleep, it still would perk up pretty quickly. Well, after about a minute there was still barely even a twitch as my tongue and lips caressed his limp dick.

"Now this is embarrassing," he finally said and from the apologetic tone of his voice I was pretty certain he WAS. I imagine that for a man it IS pretty embarrassing to be unable to perform. I mean like so many guy's entire self-esteem seems to be built around their dicks. Hence all the talk and such about cock size and performance which seems to come primarily from men unless a woman is trying to get the attention of him.

As embarrassing as it was for him, I also felt a little discomfort. Like he couldn't get hard for a girl 30 years younger than him, his own niece at that? It was almost insulting. I mean like didn't I turn him on? I didn't give a dang about what medication he was on, there had to be SOME reaction to me, right?

"Strip for me Kelly," he suggested.

Given the circumstance that was about the LAST remedy I would've suggested. It's not like we were sequestered in some hotel room with the entire night ahead of us. I figure we had maybe ten or fifteen minutes max before someone would start wondering what was going on. Still, drastic circumstances sometimes require drastic measures so I dropped him from my mouth and stood up.

"Give me a hand," I asked him as I started to lift my dress over my head.

It didn't take much for me to be naked although I kept my heels on. A woman NEVER takes her heels off for sex, LOL. I once heard a Hollywood actress quoted saying something like when she arrives home alone, the FIRST thing she removes are her heels yet when she brings a man home then the LAST thing she takes off are her heels!

"Oh shit you look incredible," he said softly as his eyes ran up and down my now nude body, "Are you sure you didn't adopt?"

I just shook my head at that one and went back to work on his dick. Well, almost immediately I felt a tremble and sure enough, he started to react. Not like he grew all that much, but enough that I could feel him just a little bit larger inside of my mouth.

"Keep going... don't stop!" he urged me, putting his hands on the back of my head and pulling me into his hairy crotch.

After a few minutes though I was starting to get a pretty good idea of where this was going. Now while I LOVE being fucked by older married men but while there are certain advantages - being treated like a princess, the satisfaction of him cheating on his wife to have me, the thrill of roleplaying as his daughter, there's also the point that older men also come with some complications. Heck, even my husband who's only thirty has already "lost a step" when compared to his teenage years although I'd never even so much as hint I've noticed.

The one thing I had going for me now though was my experience. What I mean is that this wasn't my first rodeo in terms of dealing with a "problem" (heaven help that I ever mention the words "erectile dysfunction!) If anything, it was sort of a revelation the first time in that I guess I always assumed a man had to have a full-blown erection to achieve orgasm. Like isn't that what they teach you in sex-ed? I guess technically it's never stated as a requirement but the assumption is certainly implied.

It wasn't until I started having sex more often with older men that I learned a starting secret - men can have orgasms without being erect! Or at least not rock hard like I'd become accustomed to until then. It was amazing to suck on a guy and feel him soft in my mouth and then suddenly the precum would flow followed by a flood of sperm!

Granted, this might be good news for the guy but there WAS a rather glaring problem so far as I was concerned in that it could be next to impossible for him to fuck me without at least being semi-rigid. Indeed, there have been a few cases where it never got stiff enough to push its way into me and thus all I got was a mouthful of cum.

So it appeared to be the case on this day. While there WAS some reaction stirring in my uncle's dick, it was getting more obvious by the minute that so far as being fucked... not gonna happen. It was about as sharp a contrast as you could imagine when compared to what my much younger cousin had done to me a couple of hours earlier but then that's like I suppose.

"Touch yourself," Uncle Paul whispered in a voice husky with lust, "Let me see you play with your cunt."

Ugh, there was the "c" word - cunt. Do guys have any idea how degrading that sounds to a woman? While "vagina" sounds cold and clinical when compared to "pussy", "kitty" or other similar nicknames, it was a LOT better than it being referred to by such a skanky name. Nonetheless, I knew what he wanted and why. Since I first let a guy watch me in the front seat of his parents' car back in high school I've know the power I have over men who can't seem to get enough of watching me masturbate. Hey, if it helped my uncle get off, why not? It's not like I minded! That and who knows, maybe it might motivate him sufficiently to where he might get stiff enough to actually fuck me?

"Shit you look so hot when you play with yourself," he murmured as I continued to suck on his dick with every trick I had in my arsenal.

Alas, with each passing minute I became more resigned to the understanding that it just wasn't going to happen. On the other hand, it DID feel pretty damn good to finger myself while I sucked on him! As occupied as I was with his dick I wasn't about to cum myself but from the resulting wetness there wouldn't have been any doubt if someone was watching that I was feeling pretty darn good!

"Oh my god!" he groaned. Precum began to ooze from the tip of his dick onto my tongue. Unlike when a guy came and it would spurt into my mouth, this was more like a continuous oozing of fluid over my tongue and taste buds.

He was close and none too soon as I figured there had to be somebody needing to use the bathroom sooner or later after dinner. It would be sort of difficult to explain why the two of us had been in there together, especially if the person had any idea for how long.

The distinct taste of precum in my mouth signaled his arousal was about to reach the critical stage. Then without further warning my uncle's hips pressed into me as he began to cum. The first load shot out and hit the back of my mouth, followed quickly by another. Early in my sexual "career" this would have caused me to choke or gag resulting in total embarrassment. Those days were long behind me though as I am much more experienced, to say the least, and was ready to handle it.

"Ohhhhhh," he groaned as he held me head in against his crotch as he finished ejaculating. It really wasn't necessary as I had no intention of letting him escape until he was done. The last thing I needed as an errant cum shot staining my dress or landing somewhere on me that I didn't know about only to be in full view of everyone later. One last shudder and he stopped, leaving me to let his dick slip past my lips and flop down.

"Damn you're good," he whispered with a smirk. My own smile in return was if to say. Yeah, like I didn't know!"

He quickly dressed as I stood up and straightened myself out. I washed my hands as I checked myself out in the mirror just to make sure I hadn't missed anything. Looking back at him, I couldn't help but think that there was at least one thing good about his condition - he didn't have to wait for his cock to shrivel before leaving the room.

We both stood there in an awkward silence as neither of us seemed to have anything to say. Finally he just shrugged and said, "Well, I guess I should say thanks. I feel really bad though that I couldn't do more."

Yeah, it WOULD have been nice to have had him fuck me after all the work I'd gone through. Still, it wasn't like it had been a total waste of effort. I'd had one guy ages ago that not only couldn't get it up but he never came either. The difference being was that for him it was all about a major guilt trip in that he couldn't deal with cheating on his wife. Oh sure, adultery was a great jerk-off fantasy for him but when it came to real life and having sex with a real woman he couldn't get past his guilty conscience.

I smiled and leaned up on my heels to kiss him but he shied away.

"Sorry," he apologized," Not 'till you use some mouthwash."

Why is it that every man in my family is a homophobe? I don't mean just when it came to sex with other men but anything related to the male sex act. Just because my mouth probably had a bit of an aftertaste following the blowjob, he was freaked out totally! Oh and it was HIS cum! So you can just imagine what his reaction might have been had it been after I'd been with another man.

Just then there was a knock on the door. Damn! Had we just been a minute or two faster this sort of situation might have been avoided. My heart raced as I wondered who was on the other side of the door.

"Just a minute," I called out.

"It's ok, no real hurry," said the voice from the hallway. Oh great, it was my cousin Tammy! Well, at least it wasn't her sister.

Decision time... oh well, it wasn't like she didn't know about some of the things I'd done although I was pretty sure she didn't know our Uncle Paul was on my resume. Heck, even if she didn't her own father had fucked me numerous times so why would it be a big deal. For that matter, I wondered if SHE had been fucked by our uncle in the past. If her dad had used her to get my dad to agree that he could fuck me, then who knows what he might have used Tammy for when it came to something in return from his brother-in-law. The only thing I was pretty sure of was that it didn't involve his daughters although I could be wrong there (but I REALLLY doubted it). Still, the very idea was pretty hot!

Uncle Paul was zipped up and ready to go so I took a deep breath and slowly crack open the door. I was OK with Tammy seeing the two of us together I the restroom but I had to be sure nobody else did, at least nobody that would matter.

The coast was clear so I opened it wide enough see my cute cousin standing there impatiently. She was about to say something, probably some smart remark about me taking forever, when I saw her eyes widen after seeing who was standing behind me.

Oh.... my... god," she whispered. I couldn't help but cringe as if you ask me, that's become the most worn out and cliche phrase in the English language today. It seemed I was always correcting my students whenever the situation arose.

"You saw noth-ing," I said with a grin in my best Sergeant Shultz impression.

"You slut!" she said hoarsely, trying to keep her voice down, "Uncle Paul?"

Few words but her expression and tone of voice spoke volumes. It was like she wasn't shocked that I might be having sex in the bathroom (the slut reference came out more as a compliment) but rather that she couldn't believe I'd done it with our oldest uncle.

"Hey, don't knock it until you try it," I taunted her as I moved past her and into the hallway.

That's when I saw it - the conspiratorial glance and eye contact between the two of them. Damn, he HAD fucked her, I just knew it. Well, this was definitely going to be a topic of discussion someday in the future but for now it was more important to clear the hallway before an unexpected visitor arrived.

I turned and went into the kitchen while my uncle made his way back to the living room so we wouldn't both return at the same time from the same direction. This might not fool everyone but for those without any knowledge of our true relationship it should be enough to keep inquiring minds from knowing.

My husband was in the kitchen, snacking on leftovers as usual.

"THERE you are," he greeted me, smacking me playfully on my bottom.

"Steve!" I hissed, moving my eyes towards the others across the room. Well, even if they HAD seen him it wasn't anything to talk about. After all, he WAS my husband.

"Where the hell have you been?" he asked, "Been looking all over for you."

"In the bathroom."

Steve rolled his eyes saying, "What happened, fall in?"

I glanced around briefly and seeing the coast was clear I grinned naughtily and opened my mouth to show him my tongue. My uncle's cum was long gone by now but Steve took the hint quickly enough.

"You're shitting me," he said softly with a grin. I knew he'd be turned on. The only complaint Steve would ever have about me sucking another man's cock was that he didn't get to watch. "Who?"

I just grinned but didn't answer him. Let him stew over it a bit. It was getting close to the time for us to leave and I knew the more he thought it over, the hornier he would be and the better sex we'd have when we got home.

As things turned out, I was right on the money!

(May 19) A Father-Daughter Time Together[12]

My husband was spending the day with his mother so I figured why not do the same with my dad? It's been a long time since the two of us spent a some quality time together and it wasn't long before I realized how I'd been derelict in my duties. Well, I'm pretty sure I'm back to being a good and proper daughter in my father's eyes.

1. Duties and Responsibilities

It's an unsettling sign of the times that the divorce rate among so-called Christian couples is greater than fifty percent and growing every year. Like, should this be telling us about our decaying moral values? I mean, to think that less than half of all Christian couples stay true to the sacred vows they took before their families and God really bothers me. Not only is it an affront to God, but what sort of message is being sent to the non-Christian communities? Little wonder that Christians are being treated the way we are these days. I guess you could even say that we deserve it based on the hypocrisy that seems so rife within the ranks.

It's not just the religious implications but also the impact that divorce has on families as well that concerns me. Indeed, as an 8th grade teacher in a large public school I witness every day the results of this alarming epidemic when I count the growing number of children in my classes who hail from single-parent families. Another disturbing point is that I'm fortunate enough to be employed by an upper-income community where the "problems" of the inner city are supposedly minimalized. If that's the case then I can only imagine the situation in some of the inner city districts. While exceptions always exist to every rule, anyone who's had any exposure at all to kids these days will tell you that having two parents is generally better than one.

So what's led to this decline in family values? Well, everyone has their opinion in the matter and I suppose it wouldn't surprise anyone when I say that I do as well. No doubt I could probably write an entire thesis and barely scratch the surface so instead I'll just focus on what I consider to be one of the most critical foundation of a successful marriage - the establishment, understanding and practice of clearly defined roles and responsibilities.

---

[12] This is not an official chapter.

Although nothing can guarantee a marriage's longevity, I firmly maintain that without this crucial element a marriage is almost certainly doomed to fail sooner than later. Even if it doesn't result in divorce, failing to establish roles and responsibilities may create a situation where it might be better that the marriage DID fail. Based on what I've seen where a warring couple doesn't separate and instead allow their marriage to disintegrate to the detriment of their children's health and well-being.

For me to simply state that roles and responsibilities are critical is easy. Putting it into practice - now that's where the problems lurk. It would be impossible to spell out everything that each member of a family should and should not do in detail. Making things all the more complicated, no two families are exactly the same so it only makes sense that no two families would necessarily have the same assignments. Thus I would maintain that what's REALLY important is that each couple have general roles established and that these are well understood. If the basic concepts are agreed upon thereby forming a firm foundation, the rest can be built on top of them using less restrictive definitions.

Like most things in life, there's always the risk of going too far. This is especially true when dealing with what are really trivial issues. For example, decisions regarding who takes out the garbage, who does the dishes, and so forth will almost certainly change over time. Like really, so long as it doesn't lead to unnecessary bickering and fighting, who really cares? Indeed, as I've already stated I believe that there's a real danger of going TOO far when it comes to the establishment of responsibilities to where people feel like they're boxed in.

OK... so when it's all said and done, by now I imagine any reading this is asking just what does all nonsense this have to do with anyone who might be considering incest? Well, roles and responsibilities are critical for a successful marriage and a successful marriage is a non-negotiable prerequisite to the proper practice of incest. I mean like technically anyone can just jump into incest but there's some pretty darn good reasons as to why it's illegal in most societies and generally considered taboo even when it's not. "Proper" incest is not what you see on the TV news or porn sites. In fact, if it's indeed "proper" that means you'll never hear about it in most cases. The crap we see on the television news and the Internet is all about pornography and exploitation, not love and respect. It's about perversion and selfishness, not true biblical submission and giving. If you think about it, it only makes sense that incest is the natural RESULT of a proper marriage, not the driver.

Thus each partner in a successful marriage must have successfully dealt with the issue of their family roles BEFORE taking any steps toward actually engaging in incest. Even if they both have, the strain that incest can place on these roles can lead to quite severe and complex issues even in cases where a solid foundation is in place so just imagine the potential for disaster when these are missing!

When it comes to determining our roles in life, whether it be in marriage or at work or even amongst friends, it always helps to have a mentor. As a daughter and a wife I've always tried to emulate my mother. After all, what better role model can a girl possibly ask for than her own mom? Thanks in no small part to my mom's firm convictions and broad understandings, my parents' marriage lasted more than 25 years before their unfortunate divorce. Even though in society's eye their marriage technically "failed", the reason for their separation had nothing to do with their love for one another (indeed, they remain best friends even today). Instead, it was the sexual addictions that my father was unable to contain after a lifetime of battling the siren's lure of child pornography. It's really no different than how an addiction to drugs or alcohol will typically lead to a divorce.

Over the years my father's weakness grew until eventually my mother was forced into a situation where she had to make one of life's cruelest decisions - to either totally compromise her most sacred ethical and moral beliefs or leave her husband of over a quarter century. Though I feel sad for the result, I'm incredibly proud of my mom for having such strong moral convictions such that she was able to make such a terrible choice. To this day I am absolutely certain that she made the correct decision. Hopefully I'll never have to face such a situation myself but if I should, at least I have her example to follow.

To summarize what I learned from my mother, and what I hope someday to pass on to my own daughter, is that in a Christian marriage the man is the head of the household. It is then the duty and responsibility of the woman to submit to the biblical authority of the man. (Please, let's not go off on a tangent regarding gay and lesbian couples, the same principles still apply). Neither my mother or I had a brother so in our cases this applied only to our fathers but I know that someday if I have a son that he will assume his rightful place in our family authority structure watched them together but she DID keep everyone happy without them having to hide anything or feel guilty about it.

All this leads me to the other person to whom most every girl will eventually submit - her husband. Just as with her father this has nothing to do with bondage, slavery or anything weird or perverted. It can be as simple as acknowledging his place as the head of their home and affording him the proper respect and actions he deserves. It could also mean providing sexual relief at a time when she's really not in the mood but knowing and acknowledging that his needs come first.

One point that's VERY important - submission is a two-way street. Yes, the woman is tasked with yielding herself to the men in her marital family (by which I mean father, son, grandfather, uncle, cousin) but at the same time a HUGE burden and responsibility is placed on them as well. This point is conveniently forgotten by those who would use the Bible as an excuse for their debauchery. The Bible not only tells a woman to submit to her husband, it ALSO instructs the husband to love his wife as Christ loves the Church. Like wow, can anyone even really comprehend what that means? Thus to abuse his wife or daughter by forcing anything on them against their will or beliefs would be a total violation of this incredible responsibility placed on him. Just because he has the AUTHORITY over his wife and daughter doesn't mean it's he has the RIGHT to use it.

That is where the line gets drawn between submission and abuse. For example, my father LOVES anal sex but he also knows that I hate it. Yes, if he ever insisted I would allow him to fuck my ass without hesitation but at the same time I never worry about it because I know he respects me enough never to force me to make that choice in the first place. You see... submission is a two-way street...

So how did this submission thing work out for me as I grew up? Let's be real - I wasn't a perfect daughter and by no means was I some sort of angel. There were times when I didn't always obey my dad. Many times I'm sure I did things that frustrated him or even upset him. That's only natural in the growth and maturity of any human being - to rebel against authority and to question everything, especially the typical teenager. Still, it's one thing to leave your bed unmade or to come home after curfew from a date but quite another to say "no" to your dad when he comes to you all horny and needing your help. Indeed, I'm extremely proud to be able to say today that I have NEVER refused to satisfy my father's sexual needs. Now if only I could say the same about my curfew... LOL

So I guess you could say that more or less describes my relationship with my dad today. There is much less spontaneous sex and more reliance on traditions to maintain. For example, when I was in high school he would come to my room every morning for a BJ or a quick fuck, sometimes just jerking off if I was sound asleep. Often I'd awaken with cum all over me or to the feel of his fatherly hard dick pushing against my lips (mouth and pussy versions!). These days though the spontaneity has become much less and instead we meet regularly every Sunday just before church for a quickie. It doesn't really matter in that while our "traditions" may have changed it's the principle that really matters.

Now with my husband Steve it's a whole different ballgame. While Steve makes love to me at times, there are plenty of others when he just "fucks" me like he would any other woman. Another key difference between my father and husband is that Steve loves to watch other men fuck me whereas my dad is happy to have me all to himself. Yes there have been times when he's watched but in almost every case the guy doing me has no idea that he fucks me later whereas with Steve the other guy knows - Steve IS my husband after all!

I can't say that I ever seek out my dad just to satisfy my own arousal needs as Steve is the first place I look when I need to get laid. Like WOW, nobody satisfies ME the way my husband can - not even my dad. With my dad sex is a responsibility to the point of even being a burden at times (not often but yes, there have been those rare times). While as a wife I have similar responsibilities when it comes to pleasing my husband, I never feel that way when we're doing it.

Another area where my roles and responsibilities vary between my dad and husband is one more relevant to what happened this day - public sex. Of course both men like it - they ARE men after all and what man doesn't want to take a woman in a public place? The real difference is HOW they want to do it.

My dad has always been all about me and him in public areas doing something without other people catching is or even having a clue as to what we're doing. Dressing rooms, behind clothes racks, parking lots, restaurant booths, you name it. The more we can observe other people as he fucks me, the better for him but never to where we are seen. I personally think this goes back to when he was fucking me as a teen and the legal ramifications would've been quite significant, to say the least. Although he wouldn't go to jail today, old habits can be really engrained.

On the other hand, Steve is all about watching me getting fucked or whatever else he can dream up for me in public. Whether it be dancing half naked on a stage for a wet T-shirt contest, sucking and fucking other men (and women) at a party, teasing the guys at a bar, or just wearing a ridiculously skimpy bikini at the beach, he's never happier than when he sees other people (men AND women) watching me and visibly lusting for me.  Oh sure he enjoys his road head as much as the next guy but he never gets off from it as much as when a trucker is alongside watching and honking his horn.

Steve shared with me the week after Mother's Day that he was feeling guilty about not paying enough attention to his mother since moving out to live with me after our wedding.  Considering that the two of them had lived under the same roof for twenty eight years all the while dealing with her divorce, his brief marriage and subsequent dissolution, the cross-country moves, and all the other challenges faced during those years, it did have to be a bit traumatic for her to suddenly become an empty-nester.  So I offered a suggestion that he took up immediately - to spend a day with his mother.  Just the two of them without me being the wet blanket.  It's not like anything serious was going to happen - I was quite confident of THAT!  Still, a son and his mother SHOULD spend some quality time together every now and then.

The next weekend was one of Steve's "split weekends" where he was off duty all day Saturday and then had to work the full day on Sunday.  Like the other weird shifts he often works, the goal was to maximize time off while still providing full paramedic care to the community on a 27/4 basis.  I hated it most of the time but in this case it worked in our favor as normally he wouldn't be getting anything off this weekend.  So although I would have loved to spend the day with him, I was happy that he had the chance to spend some private time with his mom for once.

Rather than spend the entire day alone, I called up my dad only to have my Aunt Linda answer the phone.  Oh well, I explained the situation to her and asked if my dad was going to be home this coming Saturday.  She paused as she checked out their calendar on her iPhone and then came back with the all-clear although I learned later she DID have plans for the two of them but kindly deferred to me instead which I thought had been quite sweet of her.  Little wonder she's my favorite aunt!

The rest of the week went by like a blur.  Gosh, I couldn't hardly even remember the last time I'd spent an entire day with my dad.  I wondered if he would want me to stay the night as well.  Indeed, I hadn't slept an entire night with my dad since I'd been married!  Well... it's not like I'd be getting much sleep if I did but you get the idea.

to come to grips with it and even now I still find myself shaking my head in disbelief at times.  Perhaps the easiest way to explain their weird relationship would be to imagine two middle-school kids making out on the living room couch at a party. Yep, lots of groping and kissing but nothing actually happening.

The first time Steve's mom watched him fucking me after we got married I was hoping for a repeat of what had happened over a dozen years before... and then maybe more.  Well, nothing could be further from what happened in that ALL she did was watch.  Heck, my own mother at least usually at least masturbated when she watched my dad fucking me but Steve's mom wouldn't even do THAT!

Watching Steve and his mom kissing and fondling each other, I've always marveled at the self-control each of them exercise.  I know both of them are very sexual in nature but yet somehow their wandering hands never go under the other's clothes, at least not down to the skin.  Like maybe under her blouse but only if she had a bra underneath.  True, there's not much difference in fondling a boob or rubbing a pussy through a thin piece of sheer lingerie as compared to directly I contact with bare skin but apparently to them it DID make a difference.  There may not be much of a line for them but what little bit there is, they never cross it.

Deep down I keep hoping that one of these days they'll choose to stop with the facade and have sex like a normal mother and son.  Did I think it would happen this weekend?  No.  Still, that didn't mean I couldn't have a nice day with my own dad and trust me, I was planning on LOTS of incestual sex!

4. Getting Ready for My Dad

Given it was a Sunday, showing up at my dad's place in the morning before church wasn't going to be any sort of surprise.  Actually it would've only been worthy of note if I DIDN'T show up.  If there's one thing my father has tried to instill in me over the years it's the importance of family traditions.  Visiting my dad just before church and allowing him to fuck me and deposit his cum in me literally just minutes before the service was a tradition we'd established over the past few years and neither of us wanted to break from it unless absolutely unavoidable.  Of course it didn't hurt that I absolutely love the naughty feeling I get when sitting in church just minutes after we've had sex, sometimes even leaking a little bit as we sit in the pews looking so prim and proper.  Just imagine if the people around us had a clue as to the truth!

At the start of this day things were no different than any other Sunday morning with me standing in front of my closet debating with myself over which outfit to wear. Dang, like how many years of my life have been wasted in this very situation? Probably no more than any other woman I suppose.

Looking in my closet, it was like I had two wardrobes - one for work and one for everywhere else. Although I keep them separated I doubt anyone would have any problems distinguishing between them. My work clothes are what I guess you could call "necessary evils". Teachers in public schools are under more scrutiny than ever these days when it comes to teacher-student relationships and heaven help any teacher that doesn't conform to the strict rules imposed by the school board. Basically the dress code for teacher forbade anything that could possibly be construed as "sexy" or "suggestive". Needless to say underwear, both bras and panties, was a non-negotiable requirement. Even though they should never be visible, just in case even these had to be conservative which meant no thongs, lacy decollate bras or the like. Nothing strapless for sure and sleeveless tops and dresses were generally frowned upon and worn only at your own risk. Dresses were preferred for women over skirts and in either case, the hem had to be below the knee. No plunging necklines and absolutely no cleavage was allowed to be on display - especially when leaning over. I could go on in more detail but I think everyone should be getting the picture by now.

On a more positive note, the one good thing, if you could call it that, was that the public school is a lot less strict than the private Christian school I'd worked at prior. Dang, back then it was like we the cast for Little House on the Prairie! At least now I can show a LITTLE leg, LOL.

Well, so much for the boring side of my closet. One point of interest now that I think about it... I've bought everything on that side. In comparison, the rest of my closet is filled with various outfits of which over half have been bought by someone else. When I was younger that would have been my dad and while he still enjoys giving me the occasional new outfit to model for him, these days my husband is the one bringing home the sexy outfits. As he does most of his shopping on-line in reality it's really the FedEx and UPS man doing the actually delivery but the principle's the same.

Today I would be going to church after seeing my dad which meant I wanted to choose something that would catch people's eye but at the same time, nothing TOO inappropriate as it WAS church after all. Since I first entered puberty I've always love seeing the guys stare at me, even more so the older married men chained to their boring wife and kids.  While I love seeing the desire in their eyes, in some ways I almost get more of a thrill from the evil eye looks I get from their wives.  Their looks of disdain, sometimes even to the point of disgust, tell me everything I want to know when it came to the impact I'm having on their husbands!

It was a nice day in May so typically on such a day I might choose a light sundress or something similar - something just inappropriate enough to get the men looking and the women clucking but not TOO inappropriate to where I would get yet another talking to by the church leadership.  It has been years actually since my last little "discussion" with the church elders.  After the last incident we seem to have reached a truce when it comes to my church attire and I really didn't want to reopen the topic.

Today though I wanted something special for my dad so I figured it was time to perhaps push the line just a little.  Hopefully not go flying over the line as I was prone to do when I was younger but still enough to give my dad a special day to remember.  Pushing aside one outfit after another, suddenly I saw the perfect one...

It was a strapless dress, sort of a "peasant girl" style that my dad had bought for me many years before.  These days it barely contained my boobs and definitely emphasized what I had without actually exposing anything TOO overtly.  One of the things I'd always liked about it was how easy it was to just pull it down and over my boobs when I wanted to tease a guy.  The dress was more of a wrap than a skirt such that it came together at my right hip and overlapped just enough that when I was standing it didn't even look like there was a separation in the cloth.  But then when I would sit or twist it would part of show off my upper thigh almost all the way up to my hip in some situations, depending on how I moved myself.  I loved it because it had that element of surprise in that when a guy first saw it the assumption was it was relatively conservative but then with one crossing of my legs I could practically expose my entire leg!

Underneath I chose a simple black thong with a high hip cut so it wouldn't be seen no matter how I allowed my dress to part.  Of course there was no bra suitable for such an outfit so there wasn't any issue for me in choosing one.  Not that I ever wore one away from work for that matter anyways.  I was about to put on a new pair of peach colored high heels when I hesitated...  Hmmmmmm, hose or not?

Now I love the topic of panty hose when I chat as it's probably the one thing that most fakers aren't ready for.  Most guys know the basics of women sizes when it comes to pants and tops but when asked for a pantyhose size they're stumped. When I ask someone who I suspect to be a man pretending to be a woman what "her" pantyhose size is (usually after I've led up to the question by talking about lingerie and such) I get one of three responses:

1. "I don't wear any."  Yeah right.  This is such a BS answer as EVERY woman knows her sizes regardless of whether or not she wears that particular item.  This serves as an instant exposure as a fake.
2. A wrong size.  Typically I get a pant size as a response.  Another instant exposure of a faker.
3. A right size but only after a long delay.  This tells me they were smart enough to know they didn't know the answer so they looked it up on-line before getting back to me.  Yep, another faker.

Like most women, I don't LIKE pantyhose per se.  If I knew nobody would see me then I'd never wear them.  I mean no woman wears them around the house when they're all alone!  That said, I DO like how they make my legs look, particularly until I get my summer tan going strong.  Pasty white legs just don't go with an expensive new dress.  Also, when it's cold outside they do offer at least a LITTLE bit of warmth, especially when wearing a short skirt.

Church and school are usually the only places I wear pantyhose with church being the more rare case.  Still, today I wanted to look my best so with a shrug I dug out a pair of nude pantyhose and pulled it on before dropping my dress over my head.  Checking myself out in the mirror, my legs DID look a lot better.  It would unlikely draw a sigh from my dad when I arrived at his house in just a few minutes but at the same time I think some guys are turned on more when they have to undress me before having sex.  Granted, my dad wasn't one of these guys - he'd simply have me nude around him 24/7 if given the choice, yet somehow I doubted he would complain TOO much!

Looking through my jewelry box, I picked out the beautiful gold ankle chain he'd bought me as well as a gold and diamond cross which was another gift from my dad.  One thing I learned early... if you want more jewelry, be sure to wear what he's already given you.

Hmmmmmm, shoes?  I must have a couple dozen pairs of heels of one sort or another but then can a girl EVER have too many?  With the outfit I was wearing and the venue where I'd be wearing it the "appropriate" choice would be something open toed with a moderate heel, maybe just an inch or two at most. But then when had I ever conformed to wearing anything "appropriate", at least when I had a choice? Rummaging through them, I pulled out a pretty black pair of pumps I hadn't worn in quite a while. There wasn't much to them which of course made them one of my more expensive pair. Funny how most women's clothing works that way - the less there is the more it costs! The four inch spike heels didn't qualify as my highest pair but they were at least walkable in that I didn't stumble over each minor imperfection on the floor. At the same time they definitely sent out the message "slut" that I was looking for.

Grabbing a clutch that matched my outfit, I checked in on my sleep-head husband. As usual for a Sunday morning, he was sound asleep and no doubt would be until noon. I smiled as I gazed lovingly at his nude body stretched out on the bed before me. Never one to keep the covers on, he was laying more or less on his side which gave me a great view of my favorite part of his anatomy. Granted, it wasn't much to look at for the moment but memories of how it had felt in me the night before made my pussy tingle. As tempting as it was to lean over and give him a little kiss on the tip, I knew better. Once that train left the station it was all but impossible to stop until it had made it to the next stop!

Car keys in hand, I headed out to the parking lot where the summer sun was already heating up the interior. Turning out of the lot, I bit my lip in anticipation. No matter how many times my dad and I may have sex, I don't think there will ever come a time when it's "just another time". There's something special about giving yourself to you own father that makes it different from anything else in the world and each time it was like we were doing it again for the first time. Well, maybe not THAT special but you know what I mean!

Arriving finally, I parked on the street in front of my dad's house as I knew he'd want to take his SUV to church and the driveway was only a single car wide. Stepping out onto the brick street, I stood there for a moment looking at my old home. Wow, the memories that came flooding back! While I may not live there anymore, I don't think I'll ever think of it as anything but "home". Taking a deep breath, I walked deliberately up the sidewalk to the front porch and rang the doorbell...

5. Tradition Satisfied

"Good grief Kelly, since when do you ring the doorbell?" my aunt chastised me playfully as she opened the door almost before my finger was off the ringer.  Then she looked at me closer and raised her eyebrows.  "Damn girl, looking hot today!"

I just smiled sweetly as I stepped into the house and then turned to her and kissed her.  Of course in my family, a kiss is never just a peck on the cheek so as our lips pressed tightly together her tongue reached out for mine and we made out for a few minutes before separating.

"I suppose you're anxious to get to your father," she said with a matter of fact tone such that it wasn't a question so much as a statement.

"Well, he's upstairs and I KNOW for a fact that he's anxious!"

She just grinned after dropping that little nugget and even if I HAD wanted to ask her for an explanation I figured it was best not to rise for the bait as I was sure she was hoping I would.

"So you coming with us this morning?" I asked her.  Sometimes my Aunt Linda would attend church with us, sometimes not.  Lately it seemed the "not" was winning out though.  Before long she'd be as bad as my husband when it came to attending church.  I knew someday I'd have to address this with Steve before our kids got older but for now it just wasn't worth the debate.

"Nawwwwww, really not in the mood to get dressed this morning."

By getting dressed she meant putting on ANY clothes as at the moment she was nude, as usual.  Aunt Linda was the designated family nudist of sorts in that she was always running around the house naked.  For one reason or another she was the only one in our family to have that penchant and I sometimes wondered where she'd picked it up.  Her sister, AKA my mother, was a definite bra and panties girl which were usually further covered by a shirt, robe, or something similar.  Her daughter, my slutty cousin Kristen, was the topless one in the family, always running around in a tiny thong or whatever suited her fancy but usually without anything on top.  Now if anyone was going to take after her mother I would've thought it would be Kristen given her previous successful career as a prostitute but then she would always remind me that typically she wasn't nude even back then.  As for me, my dad likes to call me his bare-ass girl.  It's a little weird how each of us has come to have our own "style" when it comes to what we wear around the house in private but then it seems to work.  Not like my dad has ever complained.

Aunt Linda wiggled her bare butt at me almost defiantly as she disappeared towards the kitchen in back.  I had to say, for a women approaching her late forties her ass was looking pretty darn good!  As for me, the stairs leading to the second floor were right next to the entrance so up I headed up without wasting any more time.  There was less than an hour to go before church started and while that was actually a pretty good margin compared to most days, I didn't want to have to feel rushed today.

Pausing at the landing about two-thirds of the way up, I found myself debating as to whether wearing panty hose had really been such a good idea.  Regardless I still had the thong on so it wasn't like I needed them for any public decency concerns - as if THAT ever deterred me. Unfortunately at this point it would be a pain to have to undo my heels to get them off so instead I just went up the remaining four steps until I was standing outside his bedroom door.  Peering inside, I was momentarily disappointed to find it empty.  Now where the heck was he?

"Hey baby girl!"

I almost peed my panties!  He must have been just inside the bathroom behind me and startled the crap out of me.

"Daddy!" I huffed in exasperation, "You trying to give me a heart attack?"

"Sorry, couldn't resist," he chuckled, "You must have jumped a foot!"

My dad had such a grin on his face that I couldn't be mad at him.  Besides, when could I ever be made at my dad when his dick was as hard as it was right now and I knew it was that way because of me, his daughter.  He must've just stepped out of the shower as his hair was still wet and from the fog in the bathroom I could see the vent fan was working as poorly as ever.

Reaching down instinctively, I took his erection in my hand and just held on to it as he pulled me up into him with one arm around my neck and the other hand planted firmly on my ass.  We kissed like teenage lovers as he pulled up my dress to find my pantyhose-covered butt.

"Pantyhose?"

A single word but the tone of his voice spoke volumes.  It wasn't just a question but more like he couldn't believe what he was saying.  Immediately I regretted my decisions - first in picking them out to begin with and second, for not taking advantage of my opportunity to remove them on the landing just moments earlier.

"Damn, that's sexy. You haven't worn these in ages."

Surprise! Well, maybe I wasn't going to regret my decision after all.

"God I'm so fucking horny!" he whispered to me as our lips barely parted, "It was all I could do in the shower to keep from cumming just thinking about you and that sexy ass."

"I love you daddy," I responded, thinking to myself I was glad he had managed such self-control. No matter how horny he might be, he was almost fifty now and mind over matter only went so far these days.

With that he reached under me and lifted my off my feet and carried me to his bed, carefully lowering me down after which he immediately lifted my dress and surveyed the challenge before him.

"You know, you look incredible but these still just have to go!"

With that he grabbed the top of my hose and began to work it down over my butt and thighs. I lifted my ass up to make it easier for him which was also being a little selfish on my part. As hard as his dick was I had no doubt it was all he could do not to just tear them open and ruin yet another expensive pair of pantyhose of mine so I didn't want to frustrate him sexually any more than he was already. Soon he had them rolled down to my ankles. I figured he would work on my heels next but patience wasn't one of my dad's strong suits when he was uber horny.

"Daddy!" I squealed playfully as he pulled my thong to the side, all but ripping it in the process.

"Oh shut up, you love it!" he grunted as he twisted me so I was laying with my legs over the edge. He lifted my feet up and over his shoulders as he descended to my crotch and started to lick me.

"Oh Daddy!" I sighed with delight as his tongue worked on me. I could feel his nose pressing against my clit as he pushed one finger inside of me. I was already pretty wet and all he did was make me go from being wet to soaking wet.

His finger was joined by a second as his lips encircled by swelling clit and then his tongue teased the tip of it. Oh damn it felt good!

My father wasn't the only the one who was horny and it didn't take a lot of effort on his part before I had my first orgasm. It was one of the "holy crap" ones that just hits you and quickly overwhelms you before you even realize what's happening. It was like one minute I was loving the feel of his fingers in me and his face pressed against my wet crotch and the next the fireworks went off all at once, like I went straight to the finale.

"OH MY GOD!" I cried out as he relentlessly continued his assault on my pussy, elevating my orgasm even higher. Just as I thought I couldn't go any higher, suddenly he stood up, push me back onto my back even more and without hardly missing a step he was in me.

It happened so quickly I barely even realized what he was doing. As wet as I was his hard incestuous cock easily slid into me and next thing I knew my pussy was clamping around him like a vise as my initial orgasm was followed by another of even more magnitude.

With my pantyhose holding my ankles like they were tied together I straddled my dad's neck with my legs. He already had his strong hands under my all but bare butt, lifting me up into him as he drove his incestuous erection into his daughter's willing pussy over and over again with increasing lust.

Somehow I managed to open my eyes and look up at my father as he fucked me. The look on his face reminded me yet again of why this was one of the most precious times we could spend together. It was at moments like this, those special times when he was inside of me and all his most base instincts and desires were set free, when I became more than just his daughter to him and he saw me as the ultimate prize that made me feel more special and loved by him than at any other time.

Also, in some ways it was almost scary. I don't mean that in a bad way but at the same time it goes to show much I trust him and love my father. When a man gets so deep into his most animal-like lust, as my dad was at this moment, I know that all he cares about is fucking me and mating me. It's like being at the bottom of a mountain and seeing an avalanche heading your way. It's going to happen and there's nothing that can stop it. Not that I would even dream of wanting him to stop, it's just the point.

"Fuck me daddy," I begged him, "Give it to me... cum in me, please daddy!"

One thing I LOVE about when my dad fucks me - 99% of the time he cums in my pussy. None of this squirting on my face or boobs like I was some whore in a porn flick. When my father comes he gives me his sperm where a man should when he wants to demonstrate his love and respect for me - in my pussy. To feel this incredibly satisfied and then have a man pull out of me just as he is about to climax has to be one of the most selfish things a man can do. From a girl's perspective it makes it all about him without any consideration for her. Since the very first time my dad fucked me and came deep inside of me, it's almost like an unwritten pact between us that he never pulls out. Well, almost never but then he's a man and sometimes men do things without thinking when they get horny!

My dad hadn't been fucking me for more than a few minutes before he couldn't hold back any more. Damn, he really WAS horny! I was on the verge of cumming again when suddenly I felt his cock slam deep inside of me and then he held himself there, a sure sign of what was to come... or should I say cum?

"God I love you Kelly!" he groaned as he ejaculated as deep into my pussy as he could.

As he came I tried to imagine the streams of cum emerging from the tip of his cock, propelled even further up inside of me. With my eyes tightly closed, I could only think of how much my father must love me to give me the most intimate gift a man can possibly give a woman.

Exhausted, he dropped down on top of me, barely keeping his full weight off of me as he caught himself on his elbows with his dick still pushed into me as far as he could. I could feel the base of his thick shaft pressing up against my crotch, pressing against me and pushing me up onto the bed more. It was like now that he had mated me he didn't want it to leave me and if anything, I wanted him to stay in me even more.

"Oh daddy, you're cock feels so good in me."

"Yes baby girl... I could just be like this with you forever."

As rapidly as he was dwindling that wasn't going to happen but I took in as much as I could before he finally slipped out of me, followed by a small flood of sperm and cum that I could feel dribble down over my ass on top the bed covers. Oh well, not like it was the first time it had been soaked in cum and surely not the last!

"Hey, do I need to remind you two what time it is?"

I lifted my head as best I could to see my aunt standing nude in the doorway. I suppose it's redundant to say she was standing there nude as she always stands there nude, LOL.

"Now THAT was quite the show I have to admit," she grinned.

"Couldn't resist, could you Linda?" my dad retorted seeming a little ticked off. It's not like he didn't like anyone watching him fuck me - my mom use to all the time when I loved at home. It was not knowing she was watching that I think sort of pissed him off.

"Hey, not like either of you would've cared."

She was right but then my dad wasn't about to agree with her. Rather than argue though, he reached for his clothes so he could get dressed. I looked at the clock on the dresser and damn, we only had about fifteen minutes to get to the church! Looked like we were going to be "fashionable late" yet again.

My aunt entered and wrinkled her nose. "You really need another shower John. You don't want to go to church smelling like sex, do you?"

My dad started to say something and for a moment I thought he was going to follow her suggestion.

"Dad!" I interjected, nodding my head towards the clock.

For a moment he hesitated and then looked at my aunt and shrugged.

"Well, guess if my own daughter doesn't mind then why should I?"

Rebuked by my dad, she turned her attention to me and stepped up closer to the bed where I had my feet held close together on the edge by my panty hose with my knees spread wide apart.

"Really?" was all she said, her eyes glancing down to my cum-spilling pussy.

"Please, just give me a wash cloth and I'll be fine."

With a bit of melodrama she rolled her eyes and hurried to the bathroom and quickly returned with a warm damp wash cloth. I reached for it but she waved me off and went to work on my crotch, cleaning off my dad's mess.

"Jesus John, I'm impressed!" she giggled seeing the flood of cum that had drained from my well-fucked pussy.

She had most of me cleaned up when she moved forward and dropped her head between my legs, licking my pussy with her tongue and sucking out whatever cum was left that she could gather. Wiping her face off with the cloth, she turned to my dad again.

"There, that should keep her decent."

My dad just laughed as he buttoned his shirt. "Any excuse to lick her pussy, eh Linda?"

"What can I say John? Looked too delicious to pass up."

I finally managed to sit up and then started to work on getting my hose back up again. It didn't take long to realize it was a useless effort as all my dad's fumbling with it had left several runs. Crap, another pair ruined! Oh well, so I finally took off my heels, pulled off the hose and dumped it in the small garbage can in the corner of the room, and put my heels back on again. Rearranging my thong, for a moment I contemplated leaving it off as well but then figured it might come in handy should any more of my dad's cum try making it out the exit while I was sitting in the pews at church.

"Well, you too look great," my aunt complimented us as we hurried out of the room. Church would be starting in a few minutes and if we hurried we could get there before the first hymn was over.

Actually we made it at the end of the second one but nobody really seemed to notice. The sanctuary was rather sparse and we had no problems finding a pew with plenty of space remaining about half way down. As we took our seats when the organ music died, I sat up tight against my dad and crossed my legs to give him a nice view. God, my pussy felt like it was on fire! I glanced down at his crotch and it was almost impossible to imagine that just a few minutes earlier and he had been buried deep inside of me!

Looking around, I spotted a family in the pew ahead of us with a cute teenage daughter parked between mom and dad. She looked to be maybe sixteen or seventeen and I couldn't help but wonder if he had fucked her this morning? If he had, who would know? Why would anyone suspect that my dad had fucked me any more than him fucking his daughter? After all, when I was her age my dad was doing me and nobody in the church had a clue!

After the service was over, we started to make our way out of the sanctuary when I spotted someone I knew ahead of us. When I say "knew", I mean that in the biblical meaning in that he had fucked me a couple of years before. It was just one of my typical conquests in that at the time he had a daughter who was a freshman in high school plus two younger boys and a shrewish wife, putting him right in my crosshairs. To be honest, it hadn't been all that hard to seduce him, almost to where I felt guilty afterwards... almost! He'd tried several times to get me to do it again with him but I knew that doing so would only lead to complications and besides, for me it's all about getting him to cross the line. Once he was there then what was the point after that? I wasn't sure why - maybe his wife had found out, but I hadn't seen him in church much after that. I was pretty sure his daughter was now married - pregnant I believe if the rumors were true, and judging from the body language things with his wife hadn't improved either.

"You OK?" my dad asked, giving me a nudge and I realized I was sort of holding up the line getting out.

"Sure, why?"

"You just seemed distracted, that's all."

I grinned and nodded just ever so slightly towards the direction of the wayward husband.

"Really?" my dad grinned, "You and him?... when?"

"Oh it was a couple of years ago at least."

My dad rolled his eyes slightly but then he leaned over to whisper in my ear, "Ahhhhhh yes, I remember his daughter... damn she was hot."

We both smiled and then continued our way out until we finally got to shake the pastor's hand. His wife was standing next to him and although she shook my hand, it certainly wasn't an enthusiastic one. Then again, she and I had never gotten along very well. She didn't like the way I dressed and acted in church and I didn't like the way she was always prying into my business so it was sort of a mutual dislike. Still, we both faked a smile and greeting, just enough to be proper if not sociable.

Back in the car my dad turned to me and laughed.

"You two are never going to bury the hatchet, are you?"

I looked at him as if I had no idea what he was talking about so he just sat back in the seat and started the SUV.

"Don't give me that innocent look."

"She's a bitch daddy."

"Yes but she's the pastor's bitch so you need to behave with her."

Reaching over to his pants as he waited for the cars to clear before pulling out of our space, I unzipped them and started to undo the belt buckle and pants as well.

"I just wish the old hag could see me sucking your dick in the church parking lot."

"Oh sure, like THAT would solve anything."

Although he was trying to act like nothing was happening, his "lie detector" hadn't gotten the memo. Reaching into his underwear, I felt his stiff cock and pulled it out enough for me to get a firm grip on it. It had been well over an hour since he'd fucked me and while sometimes these days it took longer for him to recover fully, he wasn't doing a bad job of it today.

Well, it may not have been any help regarding my on-going feud with the pastor's wife but it certainly didn't seem to bother my dad! Although he hadn't cum yet by the time we pulled into the driveway, since he was in the garage and able to sit back without the distraction of traffic I was rewarded for my efforts within minutes.

6. Satisfying My Father's Needs

Usually after church we would go out for lunch but today we didn't even discuss it and instead he headed straight for home.  After finishing my blowjob, we got out of the SUV and headed into the basement to which the garage was attached.  The house was a typical Pittsburgh style home meaning it was built on a hill such that the front entrance was at street level but the driveway plunged down one story to where the garage was on the back of the house at the level of the basement.  I guess back when the house was built about eighty years before the garage was actually IN the basement but sometime in the past someone had added an external garage.  In any case, to get in the house from the garage you entered the basement where the family room was.  Actually this was often handy as the laundry was there was well so if the weather was bad or we were returning from a trip we could just drop out stuff off without havening to carry it further into the house.

Closing the overhead garage door and then the entrance to the basement behind us, my dad reached out for me and took my arm, turning me around and pulling me back into him.

"You are the most wonderful daughter a father could ever ask for Kelly."

My heart swelled as he leaned over to kiss me.  It wasn't like the kiss of my husband or even that of a boyfriend or lover yet at the same time it wasn't like what most girls share with their father.  Just as sex with my dad was special, so was kissing him.  It was my father loving me as his daughter as only a father can - I don't know how else to describe it!

"I guess we sort of messed up on lunch today," he apologized, "Seems someone was distracting me after church."

I just grinned at him and licked my lips as naughty as I could for him.  I could still taste the cum in my mouth from when he had filled it in the SUV just a few minutes before.  While my dad was about as straight as any man could be and as such he normally avoided even touching his cum, I knew when we kissed he had to taste himself on my mouth and it just showed me how much he loved me knowing he somehow managed to put aside his feelings on the matter and kissed me anyway.

"I'm sure Linda has something we can fix or whatever," he mused and then he got this look in his eye which I knew all too well.  Uh-oh, now what?

"So with your hubby out does that mean you'll be staying the afternoon?"

Technically I guess I'd never come right out and said it but that had been my plan all along but still, it didn't hurt to have him think he had just talked me into it. Men are easy to manipulate and one of the most time-tested methods was to let them think something was THEIR idea, even when it wasn't.

"Sure daddy, anything for you. Anything..."

I let the last word drag out slowly, my meaning obvious. My dad can take a hint and he just smiled at me as we kissed yet again.

"Will you do something for me then?"

I just looked up at him and nodded. Like I was ever going to say no to him?

"I want you to be naked for me... I mean totally nude. All day until you go home."

Now THAT was a rather unusual request. In fact, I couldn't even recall him ever asking me to do this, at least not in quite this way. Oh well, not like it would kill me to run around nude for a day.

"So like right now?"

He grinned and nodded eagerly, more like a teenage boy than a grown man.

It only took me a few minutes to strip. Actually it would have been faster except I hung up my dress and laid out my thong to air out - a bit of my dad's cum had leaked out of me during church obviously. I was left in just my heels, ankle bracelet and necklace.

"You can ditch the heels Kelly, I know they have to kill your feet."

Well, I didn't give him a chance to change his mind and quickly dropped them off as well leaving me standing barefoot and naked in front of my father. I struck a pose and smiled at him.

"Like what you see daddy?"

Like duh! He WAS my father after all so what would he ever say but that he loved seeing me naked? Still, it's always nice to hear.

"You are the most beautiful daughter a father could ever ask for," he answered me smiling, "And the sexiest to boot."

"So what, am I the only one being nude here or what?"

He took my not-so-subtle hint and hurriedly undressed. His dick hung limp and I knew after the activities so far today it was going to be a while before it was ready to go back into action. A few extra pounds and a little hairier than I normally would prefer but for a guy pushing fifty he didn't look all that bad.

"So now what?"

It was more to maintain the conversation yet I was also interested in his plans. What was the point in getting me naked so quickly anyway? It's not like he really cared in the past when I had something on. After all, a cami doesn't exactly interfere with him poking his cock in me!

"Well, why don't we take a seat and see what comes up?"

I pretended to grimace at his poor attempt at humor. Yeah, like I couldn't figure THAT one out! In any case, we made our way into the family room area. Our basement was laid out long before "open concept" became the buzz word for home renovations. The only real separation of the so-called "family room" and the rest of the basement was just the way the furniture was laid out such that anyone seated had a good view of the huge flat screen TV. I don't know how many inches it is, just that it's HUGE! It was a lot better than the old projection-style monster that we had when I was living here, taking up only a fraction of the space yet with a much better picture.

I stretched out on the couch. Mmmmmmm, this couch and I shared a LOT of memories. It was pretty ragged but like an old friends, I hoped my dad would never get a new one in its place. I suppose some people might find it pretty gross considering the stains but like scars, each was like a historical marker for something that had happened in the past.

My dad took his assigned seat in the Lazy-Boy. Unlike the couch, this had been replaced numerous times over the years and I noticed the latest version was different from the all the rest in that it was leather, or at least faux leather. There was a bath towel though covering the bottom which undoubtedly made it more comfy at times like this when he was naked. Then again, my dad was hardly ever nude except the usual places - bedroom, bathroom, and back deck (primarily for the hot tub). I figured it was probably there more for my aunt's use than his but for today it was coming in handy.

Reaching to the side or the bottom shelf of the lamp stand beside his chair, my dad pulled out his DVD collection, or at least the ones he kept handy. Not like they were exactly Oscar winners though. My dad only bought one type of movie - porn movies. Anything else you might find around the house would have had to be purchased by someone else. With all the on-line downloading these days you would think he would have converted to a less cumbersome means of storage but in some ways my dad was old-school, especially when it came to technology. Heck, I think he still listened to music on cassettes in his SUV!

Leaning over, he dropped the heavy case in front of me saying, "Your turn to choose."

I almost laughed but contained my mirth. My turn? Yeah right, like it was EVER my turn. Had it truly been my turn we would have watched something with at least a hint of redeeming value. While I don't necessarily find porn disgusting or degrading per se, I do feel about some forms that I WOULD feel that way regardless of what the plot was. I take porn for what it primarily is intended - masturbation fodder for men. Do I feel it degrades me as a woman? That's just silly. Like who takes porn seriously?

Looking through his DVD collection (at least he finally had converted over all his VHS tapes!), I skipped by all the newer stuff. To me, it's pretty much all the same. Either just pointless sex or the latest fad of "reality" porn with fake job interviews, calendar shoots, etc. Working my way towards the back, I came across some of the old-school stuff from the 70's and 80's. Well, if nothing else at least back then they TRIED to pretend to be actors and actresses. True, the plot lines were ridiculous but at least you got some entertainment instead of just one sex scene after another.

Ahhhhhh, "Taboo IV", one of my favorites. If I had to pick a favorite porn star that it would be Ginger Lynn. In her better days she was pretty and "innocent", at least as innocent as a whore can look on camera because face it, she WAS nothing more than a whore. Still, for someone like me who comes from an incest family the movie was almost comical. Like I would ever crawl into bed and fuck my dad while my mom slept, totally clueless. OK, so maybe I HAVE done that but it wasn't like my mom would have been surprised if she woke up. The only reason we kept quiet was so we wouldn't disturb her sleep!

I handed the disc to my dad with a smile.

"Again?" he asked with a sigh, "Thanks god it's digitalized now. I think you would have worn the tape out by now otherwise.

What could I say? Back when I was just starting to date I must have watched this one dozens of times, especially some of the blowjob scenes by Ginger Lynn and Karen Summers. Damn, talk about two experts! To this day I'll readily confess to stealing many of their techniques. While the last thing I would ever be is a porn star, I have to say there are times when I would watch and be jealous because they seemed to so thoroughly enjoy themselves being fucked to where it was like they weren't even acting.

her sister too so she won't squeal on them.  OK, so the plot gets pretty thin about then but I felt myself getting hornier buy the minute as we both watched silently.  My hand went between my legs and I started to masturbate.  At first I wasn't in the best of positions though so I twisted up onto the couch and laid with my back against the arm rest so I could still see the TV screen but with my legs spread apart, have easy access to my wet pussy.  Mmmmmmm, my fingers felt so good on my clit!

Glancing over, my dad was stroking himself too and I was pleasantly surprised to notice he was even starting to react, albeit only about half-hardness so far.  I smiled to myself.  Some people get so up-tight when it comes to masturbation yet it was such a natural reaction.  If you're horny and in need, why hide it?  When I was little and my dad would masturbate I just pretty much ignored him.  When something is handled openly without the taint of taboo then it tends to lose the sense of excitement that some people get when they see something they "shouldn't".

We watched the rest of the movie in silence and over the course of time I came several times.  I LOVED the scene where the son fucks his mother for Ginger to see and then she walks in and he fucks her.  God, every time I see that I think of my husband and how much I would love to be able to surprise him and his mother as he fucks her against the wall in her bedroom.  Yes, it's why I enjoy these old movies!

One of the final scenes where the father finally caves into his desires and lust and fucks his daughter has to be one of the greatest porn movies scenes of all time.  At the same time, it almost brings me to tears every time I watch it as I wish that was how my dad had taken me for my first time. Indeed, after the events so far today I had more than a few tears as I saw the joy on her face as her father fucked her for the first time.  Oh sure, they were just acting but for me it was a special moment.

Oh my god, I started to cum so badly as I closed my eyes and remembered the first time my dad entered my bedroom with the intent to fuck me.  The look in his eyes was almost terrifying.  After having teased him and "seducing" him (little did I know at the time that there was no seducing necessary) I knew by that intense gaze that he was going to fuck me... and nothing in the world was going to stop him, not even me - as if THAT would ever happen.

I felt exhausted yet at the same time my entire body was tingling like when you hit your funny bone, except in this case my entire body felt this way.  I panted deeply as I worked to catch my breath.

"Nice job."

"God your pussy's so fucking wet," he groaned as I ground down on it.

"What do you want daddy... tell me what you want."

I could only imagine how desperately he must have wished that I would have uttered those words back when I was a little girl but there was no question today what he wanted!

"Daddy want to fuck you... I want you to ride my dick."

"Mmmmmmm," I moaned as I turned and wrapped my arms around his neck, leaning into him so my boob pressed into his chest as I started to kiss him yet again. Oh yeah, I loved kissing my dad!

"That's it daddy... tell me more," I whispered in a husky voice filled with my own lust and emotions, "Tell me what you want."

He groaned as I swiveled my hips to tease the tip of his dick that had almost found its way into me.

"God I want inside of you. I want to fuck you so god damn badly right now. I want to cum in you, fill you with my cum."

Good enough for me! I turned on his lap and straddled him, my knees squeezing in between his legs and the arm rests as I lifted myself up and positioned my pussy directly over his hard dick. His eyes were fixated at his lap where I held his shaft in position just outside his daughter's wet hot pussy. Then slowly, oh god ever so slowly, I descended until the tip was now pressing hard into me. Moving my hips in small circles, I started to press down onto him and I could feel the head of his dick begin to split me apart, filling me with his manhood. Then I had his whole dick head in me and at that moment I just stopped and let us both revel in the moment.

"Oh daddy, that feels so good inside of me."

There was no response, at least nothing verbal. Just a low series of grunts as I felt his hands on my bare hips, pushing me down further onto his dick. Inch by inch my father's cock disappeared into me as each of us stared down where the distance between our crotches slowly diminished until finally he was all the way into me and my full weight came to bear on the base of his dick, driving him into me as far as he could go.

"Oh fuck!" he groaned as I ground my bare pussy against his hairy crotch.

I started humping him slowly, as slowly as I could by rising up until just the head of his dick remained in me, pausing for a moment, and then dropping down again as slowly as I could bear myself to do it. As I fucked my dad, I started to move a little faster until I was bouncing on his lap with his dick inside of me. Oh god I loved to feel my dad's incestuous dick inside of me!

From the way he was starting to react I knew he was getting close. When a guy has fucked you literally hundreds of time you get to know these sort of things! Still, I wasn't really anxious for that to happen quite so fast. Besides, my legs were starting to tire a bit so taking a breather would be good for both of us. Settling down on his lap, I sat there motionless for a moment, both of us looking each other in the eyes without saying a word. I could feel him throbbing inside of me, his crotch involuntarily jerking now and then upward against me as his dick seemed to want to push even further into my pussy.

"I love you daddy," I whispered, smiling at him.

"I love you too baby girl."

Oh god, I was going to cry! It was like everything in my life was just perfect at that moment. My career, my marriage, my family... what more could a girl ask for? Yet as blessed as I was by all that, here I was with my father's arms around me, my arms wrapped around his neck as we kissed yet again. I could feel the strength of my father's hands as they gripped my ass, pulling me into him as his wonderful cock filled my pussy. Yes, I knew he loved me. Oh my god I knew he did! True, he didn't have to fuck me to prove it. If my dad never fucked me ever again it wouldn't diminish his love for me in any way. My dad wasn't inside of me right now, about to explode and fill me with the most intimate expression of his desire for me, to PROVE he loved me. No... my dad was about to cum inside of me BECAUSE he loved me and he wanted to do this for me as an expression of that love. Tears filled my eyes as my emotions threatened to overwhelm me!

"Oh yes!" he suddenly groaned as he began to orgasm and spurt his cum inside of me. Evidently the sentiment of this moment was enough to drive him over the edge without me even having to work more to stimulate him further. Over and over I felt him surge into me, each time knowing yet more of his love was filling me.

I've often said that sex is 20% physical and 80% emotional. Well, right now make that 95% emotional and 5% physical. Of course I loved the physical sensations my father was giving me but that wasn't what made the tears stream down my cheeks. Moments like this happen all too rare in life, moments when two people become so close and intimate it's like they're merging into one body. In some ways that was almost true considering a portion of my father's body was no firmly lodged inside of mine. But it was more than just him fucking me... it was the incredible feelings of love and honor that had me speechless and crying like a baby. I loved my father SOOOOO much and at this moment I don't think I've ever felt closer to him.

"Love me daddy," was all I could barely squeak out as I hugged him tightly, my pussy clamping down on his now spent dick. God, I never wanted him to pull it out of me!

We remained like that for what seemed to be hours but I knew could only have been maybe ten or fifteen minutes. A father and daughter linked together in love as only a father and daughter can be. No, he wasn't my lover and it was nothing like what I shared with my husband. He was my father which meant it was like nobody else in the world could ever be with me. No matter what ever happened, I only had one father and nobody could ever take his place.

7. Closure

"Kelly... Kelly..."

Startled, I opened my eyes and for a moment felt totally disoriented. I guess somehow I'd fallen asleep, totally exhausted physically and mentally drained. My head was on my father's shoulder as I felt his fingers tracing lines up and down my back making me tingle as he slid them down my spine and into my butt crack. I started to stir and then felt him still inside of me and everything came back to me in an instant.

"I love you daddy," I whispered after clearing my throat.

"I love you too Kelly."

I almost cried again. He didn't call me his "baby girl" or "daddy's little slut", his typical terms of endearment for me. It was a rare moment like this when he used my actual name and I knew that meant he wasn't teasing me but rather he was being quite serious for the moment. Calling me by my name just seemed so much more personal and intimate than even the most endearing nickname.

Any other time after we'd have sex like this I most likely would have gotten down on my knees in front of his chair and sucked his dick clean, enjoying the unique flavor of his cum mixed with mine that coated his cock. Somehow that just didn't seem necessary this time, or even appropriate. What we had just shared had been so personal, so intimate, that to just suck his dick seemed wrong as it would defile the memory.

was more strings than material with tiny triangular pieces that were supposed to cover my nipples and pussy slit. What little bit was in the crotch quickly pulled together to slide into my pussy slit so for all practical purposes it may not have even have been there.

